and the American eleven coached by President Roosevelt. All three are undefeated, untied, and determined to snag the world championship. The Swastikas smothered the Poles under a devastating air attack, took a surprised Austrian team with a breeze, the umpires played the dickens with a good Czech eleven, Norway was so well scouted that the Nazi outfit knew the plays before they were called.

DOES FORD PAY GOOD WAGES?

though the British have been backed deep into their own territory on a number of occasions. "Drive" Bomber left guard, Submarine, has been doing some damage in the line. "Red" Raider, Nazi quarterback, has been able to gain little yardage because of the brilliant play of Britain's line-backer, Jack Fleet.

Coach Churchill's outfit stands in need of equipment - - - and order was placed some time ago but has not been delivered. Churchill told a sports writer, "If we can stand 'em off the first half I figger we can uncork an aerial attack of our own, and this Jack Fleet is some ball carrier. We'll wear them down this half and run over them the next - - - of course we need to borrow some equipment."

Coach Roosevelt was sitting in the press box told writer, "Coach Hitler has a good team - - - had lots of practice before he got to this British outfit but I don't figure he has a conference champion. I don't want to say nothing, but if his team licks England, I think we can hatch up some tricks to stop his power, and passing attack. I think we'll loan Britain our equipment at half time."

A telegraph reporter stated that an underdog Greek team was chasing a big Italian team all over the field in one of the year's biggest upsets. The Italian "B" team is having a rough afternoon with the British "B" team. The British were leading 13 to 7 in the first quarter.

Coach Stalin is scouting the German-British game as his eleven has an open date after flattening a stubborn Finnish team last week. Stalin told reporter that he might scrimmage the Japs soon just for practice.

CHEVROLET SALES SHOW BIG GAINS

DETROIT, Jan. 14.—The second greatest sales year in the history of Chevrolet was announced here today by W. E. Holler, general sales manager, with the report that a total of 1,046,069 new Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars were retailed by dealers during the calendar year 1940. This figure represents a gain of 32 per cent over 1939, he said, when dealers sold at retail a total of 791,886 new cars and trucks. Chevrolet sales topped the preceding year in all departments and were second only to 1936 in company history, Mr. Holler said. Used car sales totalled 1,909,972, an increase of 21.7 per cent over 1939, when dealers sold 1,569,201 units. New and used car sales combined were 2,956,041. Truck sales, likewise, showed a substantial gain during the year, the report shows, totalling 197,202, an advance of 11.9 per cent over the 176,090 sold during 1939. During the final month of the year, dealers retailed 95,119 new cars and trucks, a gain of 6,395 units over December 1939. They sold 138,581 used cars, an increase of 12,356 over December 1939, and 18,896 trucks, a gain of 33.7 per cent.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By The Apostle

CANNED SWEETS.

After much experimenting, we are now to get canned watermelon juice in a highly concentrated form. The manufacturers claim this juice may be used in many forms including flavors for cakes, pies, ice cream and soft drinks. No method has yet been found to make a syrup from the juice that is palatable. The new dope is said to be a howling success in cocktails.

ANOTHER COMMONER.

When Gene Worley was here the last time, I was batching as usual. Gene went up to the house with me for supper. Both being commoners, we naturally eat dinner at the noon hour according to the good old American custom. Well, you should have seen old Gene handle the eggs and the bacon! He hit that kitchen like a veteran. The old Apostle was astounded until he asked, "Where did you learn to juggle the eats in this manner, Gene?" That same old smile that Gene always wears broadened a bit and he said, "By golly I batched for three years to cut expenses while in the University!" That told the whole story in one sentence. With all the natural talent and training that Congressman Gene Worley has had up to this date, he will make a fine, fine record in Washington. It's those boys who come up from the ranks who make a record worth while. The man who coined the phrase, "commoner," was William Jennings Bryan, the greatest commoner of them all. The man who is possessed of common sense is a commoner. Congressman Gene Worley of our district is a great commoner by nature. His district is solidly back of him. He's already making tracks around Washington in receiving official recognition and committee appointments. He's a fellow you can tie to.

AUTHOR IS BORN.

There is to be another author in the Panhandle, and he is none other than the old Apostle. He's writing a book, or at least collecting manuscript. This new book will be different in that it will contain only facts. The title of the book will be:

Predicaments Pave Panhandle
(Without Bond Issues)

That's the title. Back for half a century, folks have been getting into "predicaments" in the Panhandle just as they have in other sections. A very prominent man of today was arrested for 'stealing' wood Feb. 23, 1902 from a pasture near his meager holdings. Another 'very prominent' man was arrested for leaving a gate open. It later developed that his wife left the gate open March 3, 1908. She paid a fine of $11.80. Today that woman is known all over the Panhandle. The county records give the date and this pioneer-born lady says, "tell all you know and can find out and excuse no one, not even myself." Then there is a most prominent bank president who, as a guest, became covered with bedbugs. His host suggested that he might have more comfort if he would wait until the bedbugs all got aboard, then go outside and shake his clothing. The guest followed instructions but stepped into pricklypear and remained up the rest of the night picking thorns from his feet and legs with the aid of a lantern.

That will be the last story in the book because the author will likely be shot on sight because of divulging a deep, dark secret. This notice of impending exposure may partly depopulate the Panhandle, but the Apostle needs the money the book sales will bring. Grasping at a straw, we would like to know what our readers think of the idea before the battle starts. The bullet-bomb proof cellar is already in the making.

POEM FROM VIRGINIA.

Our thanks to Miss Mary Lucile James of Richmond, Virginia for a copy of the poem, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes." This poem was requested two weeks ago, and printed last week from a copy kindly contributed by Mrs. J. T. Warren. Thanks a lot, Miss James.

Now we are looking for another poem for another kind old lady. The title is "Put My Little Boy's Shoes Away." If any one has this poem, please let us print it in the Leader. I am told it is a great favorite among the older women, and many of the younger ones.

FINE RAIMENT.

Uncle Andy Jack Stricklin, ramrod of the Terry County Herald down at Brownfield has finally gained a well-deserved recognition. Judge J. W. Oliver of his town gave Andrew Jackson Stricklin a shirt—a brand new one at that. The recipient at the head of his editorial column bursts forth with true West Texas appreciation in this sentence: "The editor of this sheet is wearing a nice shirt this week for the first time, complimentary of Judge J. W. Oliver, our fine Justice of the Peace. It was a Christmas present, and wholly unexpected." Going without a shirt for a half century in that sandstorm belt is "some" feat, believe you me! The Apostle was ramrod of the Lovington Leader across the state line just west of Brownfield more than twenty years ago. He knows just how scarce shirts were in that section. They were an oddity—especially a nice one like Jack's. Back in our pioneer days in that section, it was no uncommon sight to see a real "he man, armed with a club, racing across the sandhills in his shirtless garb chasing the elusive jack-rabbit. The mollyhairs were too slow for practice. Being from Tennessee, Jack will readily recognize the "cotton mollyhare."

TRAIL BLAZER.

It is an item of momentous history to recall the life history of old Shazo. A monument is soon to be erected to his memory by the Old Trail Driver's Association at San Antonio. Shazo was a steer, originally owned by Jose DeShazo, according to history, about the time that the Chisholm and Dodge City trail driving was in full blast from 1850 to 1880. This longhorn steer led the herds going north to market. It is told that he always followed "the wagon" back to south Texas after helping deliver the herd in Kansas or Missouri. They fed old Shazo on hot tamales in San Antonio, and took a stock along while he was enroute to market. When they cut off the hot tamales, which they always did at the end of the trail, the steer immediately began the return trip to San Antonio. He liked his tamales most of all things, and knew there was a plenty in San Antonio.

LIZARD FAMILY POSITIVE MENACE IN LONG AGO

In colonial Texas, alligators were a real menace along the Gulf coast, workers in the University of Texas Library have found. Alligators often caught dogs at river banks, and eyewitnesses have recorded several instances of their catching and eating men and women, some even as they slept in their tents at night.

AND IT WASN'T A SARDINE

T. F. Head, Aransas Pass boat builder went duck hunting recently but brought home a fish in a bottle! The fish went to its doom by attempting to ape sardines.

Mr. Head was wading shallow water on the Gulf coast when he noticed a commotion ahead of him. He found an eight-inch mullet had stuck its head into an empty mustard jar. Instead of backing out, the mullet tried to swim forward, pushing the mustard bottle in circles and scooping out a shallow hole in the bottom of the bay. Head, according to the Aransas Pass Progress, opines the fish was either a mustard lover or its reverse gear was jammed.

THERE'S REJOICING AT THE JOYCES!

In spite of the big reduction in electric rates in recent years, many folks say their bills have not been reduced. In many homes that is true because today people are using bigger lamp bulbs, they have radios, refrigerators, washing machines, and in many cases ranges and water heaters they didn't used to have. Their bills are about what they've always been, but today they get from twice to three or four times as much Electric Service for their money. For example, in 1928, $5 bought about 20 kilowatt-hours but today it buys 100 kilowatt-hours, or five times as much for your money.

OH, I MUST SHOW THEM MY NEW ALL-ELECTRIC KITCHEN!

WELL, YOU GET FIVE TIMES WHAT I GOT FOR MY MONEY!

COLLEGE STATION—A supplement to the Department of Agriculture's 1941 cotton mattress demonstration program will enable low income rural families in Texas to have cotton comforts—one for each mattress made under the program.

Every Texas family eligible to receive mattress materials under the current program will also be eligible to receive 10 yards of percale and four pounds of cotton for making a cotton comfort...

Bess Edwards, assistant state home demonstration agent for the Extension Service of Texas A&M College, added this would probably mean the making of 400,000 new cotton comforts within the next few months.

Materials for the program will be furnished by the Surplus Marketing Administration.

Under the regulations, comforts must be made in community centers set up as in the mattress program. A family must first have received a mattress before it can obtain materials for making a comfort.

Quoting Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Grover B. Hill, Miss Edwards said that the comfort provision of the mattress program is another means of "turning the cotton surplus into a national blessing."

HOMER MULKEY 1875 - 1941

Coming to the upper Panhandle of Texas in 1899, there was but one source of employment for the young man. That was punching cattle. Homer got a job on the XIT ranch on the Buffalo Springs division forty miles north of Dalhart...

Having married Miss Lema Duke at Claude in 1901, he came to Clarendon in 1904, and with money borrowed from his step father-in-law, he purchased the only "photograph gallery" here. Homer paid the $250 of borrowed money back within less than a year...

measure of that usefulness cannot be ascertained until its effects have been traced through all the other lives that are influenced by it.

Such a life was that of Homer Mulkey. Through his philanthropy and daily acts of kindness in so many forms opportunity was opened to many who might, otherwise, have found it closed.

Homer Mulkey's life was a triumphant life. And the full measure of the triumph is yet to be ascertained.

In closing this personal tribute to you, Homer, we cannot say farewell. We will just say bon voyage till we meet again.

Homer, as he was affectionately known to his thousands of friends, was not "against" anything so much as he was "for" something. His genial disposition, untiring energy and charitable instincts fitted him into many places where he rendered faithful and efficient service to his people far beyond the ability of the average individual.

As a faithful member of the First Christian church, he always put his church first. Possessed of strong sympathies, he devoted time and means unstintingly to the cause of crippled children and charitable needs.

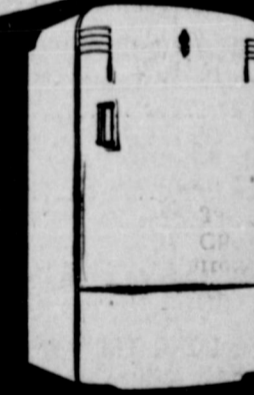

His people whom he served loved Homer Mulkey. While a patient in Harris Memorial hospital in Ft. Worth where he passed away on January 9, 1941, he was showered with letters, telegrams and flowers.

There is something both beautiful and ominous in the Christian belief that a record is kept, somewhere, of our daily deeds. The ledgers of our lives, we are taught, are posted against the day when the balance must be struck, when an answer must be found to the question whether there is profit or loss in the accounting.

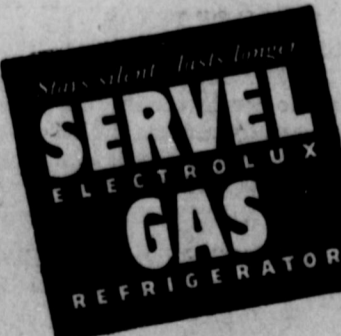

It is difficult sometimes for the Bookkeeper to close the account. There are lives whose usefulness does not end when the courses of their years have been run. The
