Sold Their Cotton.

Sept. 25.—The meeting of the cotton buyers of Greer county yesterday was decided to hold a market for a 12-cent market. This is the most productive cotton growing country in Oklahoma. The plan is to have the cotton ginned, weighed and stored at home. The weighing checks are to be used as collateral on which to borrow money until the crop is sold.

Austin News.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 25.—The deficit in general revenue is now $310,492. Another payment in Government circles will occur on Friday of this week about $75,000 will be added to the deficit when all accounts are in and registered. The deaf, dumb and blind school for negro youths reports an enrollment of forty-two and expects fifty more within a month. The cotton season has delayed sending the pupils.

STATE NEWS.

The Benvenue correspondent of the Henrietta Independent says the boll weevil has reached that part of Clay county.

Between 2000 and 3000 people from Archer, Wichita and Wilbarger counties attended a Rebekah picnic and anniversary at Wichita Falls Saturday.

C. C. Estill, manager of the Grapevine cotton yard, has ginned over 1,100 bales of cotton already this season. Cotton is turning out some better than it was thought for some time it would.

F. L. Thomas, an old esteemed citizen of Foard county, died last week from the effects of being thrown out of his wagon in a runaway. He was 72 years old and leaves an aged widow.

John Burson returned from Ft. Worth Monday night, where he had been with a car of cows for himself and a car for Gathings. Burson's brought from $2 to $2.30. Gathings' brought $2.35.

Wednesday Sheriff A. L. Henson turned over to Sheriff Jasper Nelson of Mangum, Loyd Fletcher who was wanted at Mangum for cow theft. Fletcher was arrested at Groom last week by Constable Whatley and brought to Panhandle by Deputy Sheriff J. M. Cox, and lodged in jail here until the arrival of Nelson.—Panhandle Herald.

Dalhart.

W. J. Lewis, a well known cowman of Clarendon, was here Tuesday.

S. B. Kutch returned Thursday morning from a business trip to Clarendon. He stated that crops are fine down there and lots of lands selling at prices which seem very high to the Dallam county people.

Mr. E. J. Morris a prosperous farmer living near Tascosa, forty miles east of Dalhart, is now shipping big red apples into this market which would be a credit to Missouri or northern Arkansas. If any one tells you that the plains cannot raise big red apples just tell him to visit the orchard of Mr. Morris.

To Make Gold Standard "Irrevocable."

Judge Parker goes one step farther than the Republicans in tying the welfare of the people of the United States to the bit of yellow dross that is owned several times over by the Rothschilds and a few others, if not by the Rothschilds alone. He declared in his telegram that the gold standard had been "irrevocably established" and said in substance that if he were elected and congress should pass a bill interfering in the least with the gold standard he would veto it. On the other hand the Republicans admit, and in fact intimate, in the law passed by their congress March 14, 1900, that bimetallism is desirable and that it may yet be adopted. The closing section of that law reads as follows.

Sec. 14. That the provisions of this Act are not intended to preclude the accomplishment of international bimetallism whenever conditions shall make it expedient and practicable to secure the same concurrent action of the leading commercial nations of the world and at a ratio which shall insure permanence of relative value between gold and silver.

Upon the theory that the two old parties are really two, the Democrats have flopped from opposition to the Republican gold standard to favoring it to the extent of declaring that it must last forever, must never be repealed, that any attempt of congress to repeal it or interfere with it in any way will be met with a presidential veto if the Democratic candidate is elected, while the Republicans are still on record favoring bimetallism under international agreement and certain conditions. But as a matter of fact the same monopolist who control the national policy of the Republican party control the national policy of the Democratic party. In effect the two old parties are but one monopolist party, not by the consent of the rank and file, but in spite of the rank and file. The only way for the people to get their rights is for the millions of Republicans and Democrats who want a government in the interest of the people to unite outside of the old parties. This a million of them did a few years ago and formed the People's party, and the programme then adopted is the only way to overthrow the rule of monopoly.—Mo. World.

J. M. Willborn moved Wednesday to the W. E. Slater place near Giles, which he has rented for the following year. We are glad that Mr. Willborn has secured such a good place and predict for him many bushels of kaffir corn, sorghum, etc., for next year. Likewise dollars. * * * J. W. Morrison of Clarendon, was in town Wednesday and made our office a pleasant call. He says that Geo. Crisman, on his place 12 miles west of town, has cotton that will easily make one bale to the acre, provided the bolls that are now on the stalk all open. He reports Clarendon on the move with fine schools.—Memphis Leader.

Uncle Sam's Boys.

Eleven thousand young men, specially trained in the science of war, are going out in the world this month from the civil schools and colleges of the United States. Their instruction has been accomplished under the direct supervision of the Government, and to make it as thorough as possible, the War Department has furnished them, during the period of their tuition, with rifles, ammunition, targets to shoot at, and even field guns for practice work.

Under the system by which the Government is striving to give all possible encouragement to education for war, 11,000 young fellows trained in that art are annually entering upon the serious activities of life in this country. The knowledge gained may never be put to practical use; but, if we should be plunged into war, there would be an enormous advantage in having ready at hand, scattered all over the country, a great force of citizens instructed in the profession of arms, who could serve efficiently as officers of newly recruited regiments.

Massachusetts, with 33 military schools and 4,279 cadets, leads all the States. Next comes New York, with 50 schools and 3,623 cadets. Pennsylvania is third, with 17 schools and 1,807 cadets, and California is fourth in the list, with 11 schools and 1,448 cadets. Ohio is fifth, with 15 schools and 1,231 cadets, and Texas is sixth, with 15 schools 1,231 cadets; Minnesota is seventh, with 17 schools and 1,163 cadets; Missouri is eighth, with 17 schools and 1,088 cadets, and Wisconsin is ninth, with 7 schools and 1,087 cadets.—The Lantern.

The statement of the admissions at the World's Fair for the six days ending Sept. 24 was 770,418. The grand total to date is 11,792,848.

Baptist Convention.

Vinita, I. T., Sept. 25.—The Indian Territory Baptist convention, which has just closed three days, meeting here, elected officers as follows: Dr. Cameron, South McAlester, president; Wiley, Atoka, vice president; W. P. Blake, Emattary and treasurer; up, South McAlester, singing secretary.

Japanese military authorities according to a Seoul report, have executed 100 Koreans who were caught August 27 wrecking the Seoul-Wiju Railway. Investigation showed that these Koreans were employed by Russian sympathizers.

The first settlers were largely tillers of the soil, which ought to convince our farmers that their calling in America is an ancient and honorable one. "Since Adam delved and Eve spun" and Washington, Jefferson and Webster were farmers, and the fore-fathers had to toil in the fields, why should not agriculture be considered one of the noblest of pursuits? And if the Pilgrim Fathers about 280 years ago could be grateful for their little crops, we should be more thankful for the immense advantages in yield we have over them in these progressive years.—Ex.

Surveyor Clark is in receipt of a letter from the Land Commissioner informing him that the field notes and plat of the Rockwall county... have been examined, found correct and filed in that office. This is of interest to persons living along the lines of Donley and Gray who wish to know "where they are at."

CLARENDON, TEX., SEP. 28 1904.

In Austin, District Attorney Warren Moore makes the positive announcement that he proposes to put a stop to gambling in that city. He says that if he cannot stop it by prosecuting the gamblers, he will make legal warfare on the owners of the buildings who lease or rent the same for gambling purposes and that if necessary he will institute injunction proceedings against them. He says that he is in earnest about the matter. If this can be done in Austin, why not in every city of Texas.

Because it is believed that foreign governments are learning entirely too much regarding the workings of the American navy, and are picking from annual reports of the bureau chiefs too much information which should be of a confidential character, a change will be made this year in the preparation of the annual reports and much which hitherto has been included in these papers will be omitted. It also has been decided to omit the un-revised estimates of the bureau chiefs.

Three negroes and three whites killed in a crap game in Indiana. Whenever a white man lowers himself to gamble or carouse with negroes he lowers himself to their scale, just as much and more so than they who mix in a social way, and are no better than the negroes they associate with. In the above case, it was fit that all bit the dust together, it was a good riddance.

No joint debate is to be held between Tom Watson and Joe Bailey in the campaign. Mr. Watson has so far failed to come to the scratch. He knows more than he has been given credit for.—Memphis Herald.

If you don't believe Watson will debate to your sorrow, just trot out your man Parker, who is a nominee for the same office. Every body knows of Bailey's petulance, and how at Denison a few years ago when thoroughly whipped in debate with Mr. Browder, Bailey completely lost his temper, drew his pocket knife and made a disgraceful spectacle of himself. Some papers don't know as much as they are given credit for.

Joe Bailey says he has good reason for not meeting Thos. E. Watson in joint debate at Houston tomorrow. Yes, no doubt he has excellent reasons after reading Watson's Atlanta speech. Joe knows, when an iron is too hot to hold, and after Watson's Houston speech is published Joe will congratulate himself that he had good reasons for not meeting him.—Jeffersonian Democrat.

We had a pressing invitation from Rev. Thomas of Goodnight to dine with the college force yesterday. We would have been greatly pleased to have been with them but could not leave our business, which we regret, knowing we would have had a good time.

A fearful headend collision occurred between two passenger trains on the Southern near New Market, Tenn., Saturday in which about 70 lives were lost, including both engineers, and 160 were injured.

If you want to hear a speech from an orator, be on hand when Cyclone Davis comes.

What A Newspaper Should Publish.

In commenting on the fact that no case could be made against the Houston Chronicle, which had published news that a certain judge had forbidden it to publish, the Rio Grande Republican says:

"The people can be trusted so long as they are informed and are left free to draw their own conclusions. The newspaper is here to inform them. Any news that is of public interest and is couched in proper terms is legitimate. To abridge the power of the paper to publish such news and to comment thereon is to curtail the power of the public to form the correct conclusions. Truth is never hurt by discussion and people are never hurt by knowing the facts.

The more the light is turned on social and political evils the more those evils shrink from sight and disappear.

"The attempt to hold facts from the public in nine cases out of ten does not come from a disinterested motive. Any court that seeks to futher such attempts is out of its place."

Mississippi Broke.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 22 — There is just exactly 70 cents in the state treasury tonight. This money consists of two quarters and two dimes. This is all Mississippi has at present in its strong box, which was made to hold thousands of dollars.

The treasury will not be replenished until the money for the bonds is received, which is hoped will come in some time this week.

Prof. W. G. Stewart will begin teaching a night class about Oct. 10, in business arithmetic, penmanship, bookkeeping and such studies as are usually taught in a first-class commercial school. This will be done in response to a demand for a school of this kind. Arrangements for a room have not yet been made, but the commercial room used heretofore by Prof. Williams at the college will likely be procured. Special stress will be put on penmanship and arithmetic in connection with bookkeeping. Prof. Stewart's qualifications in this line are of the very best, having had considerable experience and he holds a diploma from one of the best commercial colleges in the South.

Tom Jarrell was fined $10 and costs last Saturday in justice court for disturbing the peace and he is now in jail with three more serious charges against him. John Smith and Howard Lipe failed to appear, and it is said their bond is defective and cannot be collected. A former fine of Jarrell's for some of his misdeeds has never been paid. As long as criminals can go free of punishment, through defective bonds or otherwise, our town will be a rendezvous for a class that will give trouble.

Mrs. R. A. Chamberlain and her daughter, Miss Bessie, are attending the St. Louis Fair.

The Disgraceful Land Scramble.

An exchange in telling of the scramble for a few sections of school land in Crockett county recently says:

Charley Lewis and H. M. Pegues owned a lease hold ranch in the vicinity of Monahans; upon which the lease expired Tuesday night at 12 o'clock. They had been holding the chute at at the court house for several months in order to fight application to purchase when the lease expired. Tuesday afternoon, a party of men, fifteen or twenty strong, stepped into the court house and took the Lewis and Pegues crowd, ten or twelve in number, and by force put them out of the court house and took possession of the filing chute. The remainder of the day and all through the night were put in recruiting forces. Wires were used and fifteen to twenty men were called from Midland and Monahans and attempted to break the line up. The other side looked like a real army.

The sheriff and a good corps of deputies had searched every man and not one was permitted to retain even a pen knife. Thus stripped of every weapon of offense, at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning the two factions went together in a mighty struggle for supremacy.

The window of the filing office was to be opened at 7 o'clock and by brute force the party to file on the land must reach the window. H. M. Pegues, with applications properly signed stuffed into his boots and without a thread of his shirt left on his body, finally scrambled over the heads and shoulders of the scuffling mass of humanity, and after 7 o'clock landed his filings first, which was announced as a signal for hands off and peace.

Hardly a single man could be found who had not lost some and most of his clothes. Jce Dawson of Odessa had one arm broken; several others had joints sprained and there were many bruises. Only a few persons got angry, good will generally prevailed and no further trouble came of it.

Commenting on the above incident the Ozona Texan says:

The land rush out at Odessa a couple of weeks ago was a disgraceful affair. It was not a matter of right as to who won, but brute force. Men tore one another's shirts off, peeled heads and scrapped like a pack of half-starved wolves over a pound of raw liver. And all for what? A little bit of school land that we are told is "absolutely worthless". Gentlemen, the Texan editor is not out for a foot of land; he has no visions of a cotton field on the western platte, or of red bull yearlings to roam the hills, but a blind woodpecker has sense enough at birth to know that the present manner of filing on school land is wrong, and an insult to justice and civilization. God Almighty intended for all of his creatures to have enough of this big old earth to make a living on by the sweat of their brows. But we do not believe that He, or the Father of Texas either, had any intention of putting a premium on physical strength, intimidation or violence. The law should be so amended that every honest man wanting a home would have a chance to secure one, without the loss of an eye ball or a lock of hair, or what is a thousand times worse—his manhood. Over at Junction City a few years ago we attended a land rush; it was a hummer. Two men wanting homes fought to a bloody finish, beating each other into insensibility with six shooters. The court room after the melee looked like a butcher house and the poor fellows' heads resembled sasage meat. It was horrible! Just think of an American citizen, in this land of the free and home of the brave, having to depend on the thickness of the bark on his head to win a shelter for his loved ones. It should not be tolerated. The human hand is by nature grasping, mortal man reaches out for everything in sight, but a just God and a just nation demand laws that are equitable, laws that will give the weak a fair play with the strong.

A man who is fully alive to his own interests will take his Local Paper, because he gets a class of news and useful information from it that he can get nowhere else.
STRONG-MINDED
Up-to-date men also want a Good General Newspaper in order to keep in close touch with the outside world. Such a paper is The Dallas Semi-Weekly News. A Combination of THE CLARENDON CHRONICLE and the Dallas Semi-Weekly News is just what the farmers of this section need in order to keep thoroughly posted upon Local News, Home Enterprises, Personal Items, State News, National Affairs, Foreign Matters. In short this combination keeps the farmer and his family up to the times on information.
For $1.75 we will send the two papers one year—208 copies. The Farmers' Forum in The News is alone worth the money to any intelligent Farmer or Stockman of this locality, to say nothing of other Special Features.

Mr. Norris of Rowe was in town yesterday and he says the gin firm struck water at 210 feet, but they are not certain yet that the water can be used, as it was somewhat gippy. There is talk of putting down a well in another place.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Washington returned home from Albuquerque, N. M., Sunday. Mrs. Washington has improved a little, one side of her body being partially paralyzed. Mr. Washington says N. F. Peters, formerly here, is in Albuquerque.

In our makeup of the paper Saturday Judge Morgan's name failed to get into the announcement column, but his card to the voters is convincing enough to all our readers that he is in the race. The name is properly placed in this issue. In the ninth line of his reader the word "expatiate" was made to read erroneously, "expiate".

J. D. Singleton's bricklayers were detained in Amarillo last week with work, and Friday night Mr. Singleton went up to hurry them up, and his men arrived here Saturday morning, but they lost the day, as Mr. Singleton was not here to direct the work.

Mrs. Hattie Cole's Trip to The World's Fair.

DEAR MAMA:—We are home after our Fair visit. There is some real pretty scenery along the Rock Island route. That is, the route we took. The big trees and flowing streams looked so cool and inviting. Rail fences are plentiful in Kansas and Missouri. It has been a long, long time since I saw them, but it seemed to me that I could see the old rail fences in Tennessee. We saw a big log raft on one stream and log houses are quite plentiful still. We were tired and worn out when we got to St. Louis but the hotel to which we went was just a little more than a block from the Forsyth Station.

The first day we did not take any lunches and our meals cost about a dollar and a half. After that we took our lunch with us. And we could get nice lunches, enough for us both two meals for fifty or sixty cents. They would give us sandwiches, cake, pie and choice of fruit. It seems like "Pandemonium broke loose" as one approaches the Fair gates. There are newsboys of every description just outside the gates, all yelling at the top of their voices and all saying something different. Some are selling papers, some guide books and daily programs. Inside the grounds there are souvenirs and souvenir dealers of every kind imaginable. Near the main entrance inside is stationed the automobile service. The chauffeurs take their passengers on a three and one half mile tour and explain or tell all the places of interest that they pass. The first thing we did on entering was to take an auto spin. We got off at the sunken garden, and the garden is certainly pretty too. It is several feet below the surrounding ground, three I believe. The four sides slope downward and are covered with thick grass. There are no really fine flowers in it but everything is so harmonious in color etc., and there are so many different sizes and shapes of beds. This was near Festival Hall in front of which is the grand basin and the cascades; the prettiest sight on the grounds.

Away up high in the central front of Festival Hall, is a waterfall. The water comes down flights of stairs until it flows into the grand basin. There are numerous statues on the Hall itself and all along the stairway to the water. Some of them are boys riding fish and water is spouting out of the fish's mouth. There are two large fountains on either side down in the grand basin. These spout water several feet in the air, some ten to twenty, I suppose. All the falling water is called "the cascades". They are certainly grand at night when everything is illuminated with electric lights. Every step has electric lights a foot or two apart all across the Festival Hall front. And every building on the grounds is outlined in electric lights. The lights on the Festival Hall steps are green and those on the Hall itself and the restaurants on either side change from green to red, red to white and vice versa.

Each of the 14 states that have been erected out of the territory of the Louisiana purchase is represented by a splendid statue of a seated woman, all in different positions. These are made on the heroic scale so that if standing, each woman would be twenty feet high. Festival Hall is used for orchestra concerts and organ recitals. The largest pipe organ in the world is in there. It fills one side of Festival Hall from top to bottom and side to side.

There are 90,000 gallons of water pouring over the cascades every minute or nearly 130,000,000 gallons in 24 hours. The gardens are mostly grass but all around the edge the beds are made in rainbow shape and at either side of F. Hall is a bed made in the shape of a shield and the letters L. P., entwined in different colors are in it; Louisiana Purchase you see.

Four large buildings make up the Art Group. A central building, east and west wings and an annex behind, all representing an outlay of more than $1,000,000. The central building is the only permanent building on the grounds. It is made of Bedford limestone and is to be used as an art museum for St. Louis. It is 348 x 166 feet. The side pavilions are each 422 feet long and contain over fifty galleries. The total number of galleries or rooms is 135.

The best works from European countries, Italy, France and Great Britain are exhibited. The exhibit of British art is the finest ever brought together in any country and is exceeded in interest to art critics only by the American section.

When one thinks of the vast amount of thought and energy expended in one place to entertain and instruct the people, it is indeed wonderful. One little mind like mine cannot conceive it all.

We went through Jerusalem and Morocco next. We did not see much of interest in Jerusalem as we didn't stay there long.

In Morocco we saw the dancing girls but never saw them dance. They are said to be very graceful, in fact the most graceful dancers in the world. We saw the largest horse in the world in Morocco, but I'll send you a picture and description of it and you can see for yourself.

We went through the Manufacturers building. We saw them making shoes, from cleaning and tanning the hide to the finished article.

The costumes and dresses from France were more beautiful than I ever imagined dresses could be. We saw so much in such a short time that I can scarcely remember anything. In the Varied Industries building we saw them making everything most from candy to electricity.

The principal exhibits in the Manufacturers building are, stationery, cutlery, clocks, watches, jewelry, marble productions, bronze, iron, brushes, leather goods, toys, ornamental woods, carving, all kinds of furniture, stained glass, hardware, carpets, plate glass, window glass, plumbing and sanitary materials, radiators, etc.

In the Transportation building we saw every known means of conveyance, from the old stage coach and the first steam engine to the very latest contrivance in air ships, automobiles, motor cycles, etc. One motor cycle, a new kind of bicycle, cost $2500. We saw the old stage coach in which Horace Greely rode to view the glories of the Louisiana Purchase.

To see the crude engines etc., of one hundred years ago and those of today side by side, it seems that the people then should have had more sense. The progress in a century is simply wonderful.

We took a ride on the Ferris Wheel. It is certainly a monstrous wheel, 264 feet high and weighs 4200 tons. It took 75 freight cars to move it from Chicago to St. Louis. There are 36 cars, each 27 feet long, 13 feet wide, and 9 feet high, with a capacity of 60 persons to each car. The best view of the grounds can be obtained from it.

The Floral Clock is certainly pretty when seen from the wheel. It is on the side of a hill and the dial is 112 feet across. It is laid out in flowers and plants of bright foliage. Each hand weighs 2500 pounds. The minute hand is 74 feet long and moves 5 feet every minute. The 5-minute spaces are clearly marked off into minute spaces by different colored foliage. Unlike other clocks, this one moves rapidly for a few seconds, then stops on a mark. This is repeated every minute. When one looks at the machinery which runs the clock, he can see why it moves in this manner. There is a master clock under glass, and at the beginning of each minute it sets in motion a compressed air piston which moves the mighty hands. Hours and half hours are struck on a bell weighing 5,000 pounds.
