Meager War News. Russians Still Retreating.

MUKDEN, Sept., 10.—The Russians are continuing the retirement to Tie pass. The Japanese advance is slow, though the military situation is not unfavorable with them. Many Russian companies now consist of only thirty men. Notwithstanding the Russian reverse, the retreating troops are cheerful.

The Russian Defeat.

A Liao Yang report says many foreigners who observed the Russian troops at Liao Yang before the battle which resulted in the Japanese occupation of the city, are of the opinion that the Russian reverse was the result of the last four months of failure in the field; or what they term "demoralization of the army," which began at the battle of Chiu Lien Cheng.

The task of General Kuropatkin seemed to be hopeless. The railroad during the month of July scarcely sufficed to bring into Liao Yang enough Russian troops to replace those who were lost by death, sickness or wounds during the month, and it was estimated that the Russians would have to outnumber the Japanese two to one in order to be successful against them. On account of the scarcity of wood the Japanese are burying large numbers of their dead instead of burning them.

The Japanese looting was of short duration and now the comparative quiet and temperance of the Japanese troops is in strange contrast to the noisy and bustling activity of the Russian occupation, which for many months past has made Liao Yang more like a western than an eastern city.

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—General Kuroki reports that after last Monday's battle the Russians moved over 10,000 wounded to the northward to Mukden, and that the Russians left 3,000 in the vicinity of Liao Yang.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept., 12.—No fresh light has been thrown on the situation at the front. Unofficial information tends to confirm the reports General Kuropatkin is withdrawing the bulk of his army northward from Mukden. Rain continues at the front. Three armies of Field Marshal Oyama are reported united north of Laitse river, but there is nothing to indicate they are sufficiently recuperated to resume the advance. The best unofficial opinion is Kuropatkin does not contemplate making a serious stand at Mukden. The spirit animating the Japanese troops is shown by the translation of a letter written by a Spartan Japanese mother to her son which reached the war office. The letter was found on the body of her son. It adjured him to fight nobly for the mikado and his country and informed him his capture would be considered everlasting disgrace on his family ancestors, but that if he died on the battlefield it would be an honor which the family would celebrate for a week.

Russian Cruiser At San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept., 11.—Considerable excitement was occasioned this afternoon by the totally unexpected arrival of the Russian converted cruiser Lena, direct from Vladivostok. She claimed facilities of this port, because her boilers were in such condition as to make her unseaworthy. Her officers declared she would be dismantled and might stay here a month. Her master is Capt. Bertinsky, and she carries 24 guns, 488 men and 16 officers. Commander Rytschooff said the Lena three weeks ago was ordered to proceed from Vladivostok to San Francisco in response to an urgent request from the Russian Consul General at San Francisco.

Manager Harnett of the Japanese steamship line, who was promptly warned of the arrival of the Russian cruiser, cabled to his company in Yokohama to hold the America Maru until the cruiser departed. The America Maru is now between Shanghai and Nagasaki on her way to this city. Harnett's theory is that the Russian cruiser was sent out from Vladivostok on a roving commission to see if she could capture any Japanese vessels. He regards the trouble with the boilers as a ruse to permit the vessel to stay here and dismantle. Then at a day's notice, she could resume her guns and sail out to hold up any Japanese ship. This theory is borne out by the fact that she ordinarily makes nineteen knots, but at a pinch can steam twenty-three knots, which would allow her to overhaul any vessels of the Japanese lines, as well as most of the Pacific Mail and Occidental and Oriental steamers. She is of 8,000 tons and 480 feet long. Of her twenty-four guns three are 8-inch, twelve 6-inch, eight 4-inch and one 3-inch.

Admiral Goodrich of the Pacific Squadron notified Washington of the cruiser's arrival, and he received prompt orders to hold the squadron here until the departure of the Russian vessel. The local Japanese colony is widely excited over the cruiser's arrival.

MUKDEN, Sept. 10.—Chinese reports which are partly confirmed by the information received by the Russians are to the effect that the Japanese at Liao Yang had a total of 300,000 men with 700 guns. The rear guard consisted of 40,000 Koreans and 30,000 Chinese, but as far as can be judged only a portion of these participated in the fighting. The troops on both sides are resting.

The most intensive methods of farming are practiced in Japan, where 45,000,000 people are maintained on the production of an area about the size of the state of Illinois.

Judge Parker denies that he will move to New York as soon as his letter of acceptance has been published, and will be in the city until the November election.

STATE NEWS.

A six-year-old son of W. M. Ricketts was suffocated by burrowing into a pile of seed cotton, which fell in on him, in Navarro county Saturday.

John B. Denton, a brakman employed on the Texas Southern railway, was killed at Gilmer Friday. Denton was engaged in switching some freight cars, when his right foot got caught in a frog, and before he could extricate himself the cars knocked him down and passed over his body.

A news item from Lubbock says a few yearling steers have changed hands lately at $10 per head. There is no demand for stock cattle or dry cows. It also says that the business men of that town are offering $1,000 bonus to any responsible party who will erect a good gin and grist mill there.

Sixty Years Ago--A Dream.

BY ST. CLAIR LAWRENCE.

I'm dreaming of the meetings
Way sixty years ago,
In the backwoods as they call it,
Where religion made no show,
When our parents, now in heaven,
By the Spirit's promptings led,
Met fraternally to worship,
And in Jesus' footsteps tread.

Our churches without steeples
Or bells to loudly ring
Were made of hewn logs mainly,
Beside some shady spring;
The preacher, called divinely,
Oft came from far away
On horseback with his Bible
And hymn book stowed away.

His saddlebags were opened,
Soon then with hearty thanks
Was sung that glorious melody
"On Jordan's stormy banks,"
Till old and young were seated,
Then all were asked to bow,
Invoking Heaven's blessings
Upon the service now.

And then began the sermon,
Plain, practical and clear,
A cheer with gospel tidings
For mourners everywhere,
Till some got shouting happy,
And others seemed to weep,
While love flowed like a current
Pure, redolent and deep.

While dreaming of those meetings
And of meetings yet to be
My heart runs out for sinners
Who seek God's wrath to flee,
Till progress seems to falter,
Pride, arrogance and show
Fall prostrate in our musings
Of sixty years ago.

THE steam ship lines now bring steerage immigrants to this country for $7.50 and an ignorant, depraved lot of humanity who have been living as abject slaves are pouring into the country at an alarming rate, despite our immigration laws. A writer says of the Galicians, a large percent of whom the flood of immigrants is composed: "Their heritage has been slavery. Preceding generations have been stunted and made abject through powerful wrongs. Taxed and dragooned now by the house of Hapsburg, bastinadoed by the ruffians of a Turkish pasha, robbed of women destined to glut the harems of Constantinople and then scourged by the Muscovite. Dumb hatred remains for the Cossack who tore the thatch from the wretched hovel and carried off the life sustaining cow as a tribute to the czar. Today this son of sorrow and blank ignorance with some reason sees in all public institutions only something to hate. As a farm laborer he makes 25 cents per day in summer. In winter he makes practically nothing and it is always a struggle to fill the mouths of the family. His brother in Russia makes from 15 to 25 cents on a farm, in Hungary on farm or in factory 30 to 40 cents per day is made while in Prussia farm laborers get 10 cents in cash and 50 cents worth of products per day." The element as, this element is dumped, is it any wonder, riots, thieves, crime of all kinds is cease?

The Clarendon Herald is not the statements made to its "carnival," being willing to deny and only criticize a typhographical error in one made in this paper, wherein a letter of a word was omitted. Fish up your microscope and try again.

Heavy rains fell at Ennis, Sherman, Plano, Mineral Wells, Alvord, McKinney and Rhome on Saturday and Sunday. The rain in most cases did no good at all and in many cases has worked a hardship to the crop. The cotton which was open and ready to pick can not now be gathered until the plants are dry, and as this will be several days, the crop will fall in many cases from the stalks.

A common failing among farmers is to attempt too much. This makes it necessary to spread their efforts over so much ground that they cannot accomplish anything well. This makes hasty preparation of soil, hasty planting, poor tillage and an unsatisfactory harvest.

Some people wonder why newspapers charge for publishing "cards of thanks." They are compelled to do so as a matter not of business, but self protection. The following is a sample card of thanks that reached an editor's desk to "print" it: "I take this occasion to thank my friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of my beloved wife, also to announce that I have for sale a Jersey bull calf and ten head of Berkshire hogs and a second set of work harness, that will be sold cheap for cash, and may heaven reward them."—Ex.

Bryanites Are But Populists And Are Kicked Out.

The New York World regarded as the personal organ of Judge Parker, discusses the relations of the Bryanites and the populists to the present campaign with very great frankness. As a first premise the World can see no difference between the Bryanites and the populists. It declares that under the leadership of Bryan the democratic party was populist in every essential feature. Its dictum is that "if Judge Parker's candidacy means anything it means that the democratic party is democratic again and no longer populist." And when it speaks of the populists, it wishes to be understood as speaking of all those democrats who do not accept the policies and doctrines of the "rejuvenated democratic party" as the true democratic faith.

In discussing the speech of acceptance made by Thomas E. Watson, populist nominee for president, the World quoted the part in which Mr. Watson declared that "the democratic party, after stealing the populist platform in 1896, has stolen the republican platform in 1904." "If," said Mr. Watson, "you believe in republican doctrines, why vote for Parker? Why not vote the whole hog or none and vote for Roosevelt?" And to this the World said:

"In a sense Mr. Watson is right. Persons who wish to vote for populist men and measures cannot very well support Judge Parker. Their place is either with the more conservative populists under Mr. Roosevelt or the more radical populists under Mr. Watson. They can have no community of interests with the constitutional democrats who are supporting Judge Parker's candidacy."

In the East this sort of utterance will meet with considerable favor. Neither the Bryanites nor the populists have ever had much real strength east of the Alleghany mountains. But we may be curious to know how the Western wing of the democratic party will feel when it finds itself thus coolly read out of fellowship with the faction in power. What the World has said, when in direct language, is that the supporters of Bryan may vote for Roosevelt for all the Hill-Belmont-Parker wing of the party cares—in short, that the dominant faction of democracy would feel pleased if the Bryanites withdrew from the party for good.—Kansas City Journal.

Another Cotton Pest.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 11.—An insect resembling the Mexican boll weevil has appeared in the cotton fields of Georgia and South Carolina, and judging by the damage done, should rival the weevil's destructive force. The only difference between the new pest and the weevil is that the former seems to sting the cotton boll, instilling in it a certain poison. This poison first dries up the boll, then it begins to rot it until finally the boll crumbles to pieces. Bolls affected by this pest have been sent to State Entomologist Newell, who in turn sent them to Washington. There they are being examined and the Government will shortly make a report on them.

The insect has been found in North and South Georgia and South Carolina. Where found it was noticed that it destroyed as many as four bolls to the stalk.

The Country Paper.

Who can know all the reasons why many a city man likes to read over and over the country weekly from his old home? It is enough that his own heart knows.

The country editor's calling is not one which promises vast riches. He must have devotion to his work, and, considering what he gets out of it, he delivers a surprisingly high-class of goods.

It is doubtful if the country editor always realizes just how great an influence he has and his opportunities. As a matter of fact, he is nearer to the people to whom he appeals than any other man who spreads black ink on white paper.

The men who make city dailies do not repose for a large portion of the time on downy beds of ease, but after all, the editor of the country weekly has the hardest work to do of any man in the newspaper business. He is generally his own printers' foreman, press foreman, advertising manager, collector, editor, in-chief and whole staff of reporters. When he has nothing else to do he can kick off hand bills or business cards. In such cases he is his own power plant also.

The country editor may not just exactly come up to the ideas of the editor of a big city daily, but he suits his own subscribers and even some editors of city dailies know that that is the highest test.—Telegram.

Panhandle Crops and Seasons.

W. E. Sterley, general freight agent of the Denver road, is quoted by the Ft. Worth Telegram as saying: "Crop conditions could hardly be better. Cotton, and, in fact all kinds of crops, never looked better than now. Especially is this the case with Indian corn, Kaffir corn and sorghum, all of which are looking just fine, and will give unprecedented yields."

"Another feature in the Panhandle that is giving the Denver road officials much gratification is the growth of young trees that were planted one year ago. They are doing nicely and are thrifty. Little groves of these trees are noticeable all over that section of the state in the plains country. Farmers are taking a deep interest in the tree-planting industry in the Panhandle and it will not be long until the whole country is dotted with groves of fine shade trees."

LIVER TROUBLES

"I find Thedford's Black-Draught a good medicine for liver disease. It cured my son after he had spent $100 with doctors. It is all the medicine I take."—MRS. CAROLINE MARTIN, Parkersburg, W. Va.

If your liver does not act regularly go to your druggist and secure a package of Thedford's Black-Draught and take a dose tonight. This great family medicine frees the constipated bowels, stirs up the torpid liver and causes a healthy secretion of bile.

Thedford's Black-Draught will cleanse the bowels of impurities and strengthen the kidneys. A torpid liver invites colds, biliousness, chills and fever and all manner of sickness and contagion. Weak kidneys result in Bright's disease which claims as many victims as consumption. A 25-cent package of Thedford's Black-Draught should always be kept in the house.

"I used Thedford's Black-Draught for liver and kidney complaints and found nothing to excel it."—WILLIAM COFFMAN, Marblehead, Ill.

A Thousand Ways Of Lying.

There are a thousand ways of lying, but all lead to the same end. It does not matter whether you wear lies, tell lies, or live lies, your character is ruined all the same.

There is no more demoralizing influence in modern life than the unnatural straining to seem other than we are. Nothing else so quickly lowers self-respect, takes the fine edge off honor and blunts the conscience as the sense of being a sham, a gilded fraud, or an unreality. It cheapens standards, lowers ideals, saps ambition, and takes the spring and joy out of living. No man can make the most and the best of himself until he is absolutely honest with his own soul, and unflinchingly true to his highest ideals, and this is impossible while he is living a lie.—Success.

EXTRAORDINARY ARRANGEMENT FOR TRAVELERS TO CALIFORNIA.

By reason of special arrangements which have been perfected it is practically conceded in many quarters that to and from California either one or both ways via "The Denver Road" will be the choice of those attending both the Triennial Conclave of the Knights-Templar and the Sovereign Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. to be held in San Francisco during September on account of which round-trip tickets will be on sale August 15th to September 10th, inclusive, at the rate of $45.00 from nearly all points in Texas and the Southwest.

The choice of the route mentioned for these trips is largely attributable to the fact that it is the only line reaching that territory from Texas directly through Panoramic New Mexico and "Cool Colorado" passing enroute and allowing stop-overs at any of the numerous magnificent and popular priced resorts of the northwest, including those of California as well as Ogden and Salt Lake City, Utah, in addition to such as Denver (for Boulder), Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Trinidad, Colorado. It is understood that tickets for this occasion may be secured to go via one route and return another, and in view of the superior attractiveness of the routes via the several Colorado tourist gateways, it may be fair to presume that approximately ninety per cent of those living in the southwest will traverse the rails of "The Denver Road" through the great and fast developing "Panhandle of Texas" in at least one direction.

Poor Girls.

The poorest girls in the world are those not taught to work. There are thousands of them. Rich parents have petted them and they have been taught to despise labor and to depend upon others for a good living, and are perfectly helpless. The most forlorn women belong to this class. Every daughter should learn to earn her own living, the rich as well as the poor. The wheel of fortune rolls swiftly around; the rich are likely to become poor, and the poor rich. Skill added to labor is no disadvantage to the rich, and is indispensable to the poor. Well-to-do girls should learn to work. No reform is more imperative than this.—London Gentlewoman.

If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will tumble into dust; but if we work upon immortal minds, if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God and love of our fellow man, we engrave on those tablets something that will brighten all eternity.—Daniel Webster

PHILIPPINES AT WORLD'S FAIR

Complete Exhibition of Island People and Industries Covers Forty-seven Acres and Is Independent of Larger Show.

Not even in the heart of Manila city could there be found forty-seven acres of Philippine territory as interesting as that amount of space covered by the islands' display at the World's Fair. Here is an exposition within an exposition, a little wheel that revolves independently of the larger one encompassing it.

Scores of buildings are filled with exhibits, native life is depicted by as many different villages as there are tribes on the islands, military drills are given by Philippine troops, and concerts are rendered by native bands. For its amusement features the Philippine exposition has the humorous Igorrote, who dines on dog meat, and actors are entertained by Visayan and actresses. Nothing is lacking to make the show complete.

The administration building is a reproduction of the government offices in Manila. The Art and Education reproduces in miniature the city within the walled city, even showing tints of age being faithfully rendered. A section of the ancient still serviceable town wall has been reconstructed to serve the purpose of a gateway to the show museum of arms and war relics. Other main edifices are types of homes, being built of undressed bamboo and rattan, with red roofs and broad verandas.

There are the tribal villages nestled under the trees, some of the houses perched high up among the boughs, others on piles above the waters of the Arrowhead lake, all of them actual dwellings fashioned of native materials by native workmanship and illustrating the manners, customs and pursuits of their occupants. Here are women weaving a coarse cloth on a rude hand loom, others making baskets, others tending irrigated fields of rice. One group of men are in village council, trying an offender according to their tribal laws; others are slowly moving in a circular dance to the thump of tom-toms and the clang of brass gongs; others, again, are smelting iron by the aid of a primitive but most ingenious bellows, the constituent parts of which are a bamboo tube and an airtight mop of feathers working therein like the piston of a syringe. And these are but a few of an almost endless variety of life pictures.

The ethnological problem is a somewhat complicated one; but, although there are no fewer than sixteen races represented among the village dwellers, the scouts and the constabulary, each race speaking its own dialect and following its own customs, all may be roughly classified into four groups—the true aboriginals or non-Malays, the pagan Malays, the Christian Malays and the Mohammedan Malays.

The first are the dwarf Negritos, with dark skins and woolly heads, wearers of scanty raiment, proficient in the use of the bow and poisoned arrow, a race of nomads and forest dwellers, pagans pure and simple. They live in their own stockaded village.

Next to them are the Igorrotes, whose origin is traced back to the first wave of Malay invasion. Here, again, we have scanty clothing, amounting almost to nudity, but copper colored skins, long wavy tresses, pleasant featured faces and fine physiques, even though the stature be small. Among these pagan Malays are the head hunters and the dog eaters. They are savages, yet have their code of laws and a knowledge of several primitive industries.

The Christian Malays, produced by the second wave of invasion, are represented by the Visayans, a tall and handsome race, dressing well, living in pretty homes, skilled in weaving, dyeing, basket making, hat making, wood carving and other handicrafts, musicians of no mean merit, the one group of natives who came early and thoroughly under the influence of the early Spanish settlers.

Very different are the Moros, who swept into the islands from the Malay peninsula last of all, bringing with them their Mohammedan religion, also a knowledge of gunpowder acquired with the Koran from the Arabs—fanatics like their teachers, pirates, bloodthirsty, treacherous and vindictive fellows, ever at war among themselves and with the whole outside world. Despite their ferocity they are a clever race, dress handsomely, have their sultans and their slaves and are expert seamen, while long continued pillage on the high seas has surrounded them with many of the luxuries and conveniences of western civilization.

The buildings of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries show all the varied natural products, also the extremely primitive processes as yet in vogue, while in the Women's building we are introduced to a number of native manufactures, including the beautiful fabrics from the jute, banana and pineapple fibers. This information is collated in the Building of Commerce, where a unique and most effective method of exhibiting is followed. In one hall are samples of all the articles produced for export, among which manilla fiber, of course, holds the chief place of prominence, while in a second hall are all the manufactures from every country that are imported and find a ready market among the populace. Thus the business man gets a dual lesson. He sees what he can profitably take from the islands, and also what he may profitably send to them. When it is added that a large number of representative Filipinos have been brought over to visit the Exposition and study American business methods and manufactures, it will be recognized that great benefit both to the islands and to the world at large must result from this work of mutual enlightenment.

Had Performed His Part.

Sir William Russell, who was a British war correspondent in this country at the time of the American civil war, says he met a northern volunteer about two miles from the field while a battle was still going on, but the man was going away from the fight, and he stopped to ask what news there was. Russell asked, "Why are you not up at the front?" The man answered, "I have fired away seventy-two rounds of ball ammunition, and if my general cannot win the battle on that I am not going to stay till he can."

REMARKABLY LOW RATES TO COLORADO

Via the Rock Island.

The lowest round trip rates to Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Boulder that have ever been in effect from Texas, are announced by the Rock Island Railway. Tickets will be sold August fifteenth. The rate from Fort Worth to Denver is $16.10; from Dallas, $16.75, with a proportionately low rate from other points.

Speak of Colorado, and the chances are someone will say: "Oh, yes, Colorado is all right, but if you want to see real mountains you must go to Switzerland."

Must you? Here are the facts: In the Alps are two peaks more than 14,000 feet high. Colorado has thirty-five. The highest village in Europe is Avers Platz, 7,500 feet. Leadville, with a population of 15,000, is over 10,000 feet above sea level. The highest wagon road in Switzerland is the Stelvio; altitude, 9,170 feet. At four points in Colorado railroads cross the continental divide at a height of more than 10,000 feet.

So much for Switzerland; so much more for Colorado. Will you not give us an opportunity of placing before you additional information about Colorado—its climate, its resorts, its hotels, its outdoor life—and the way to get there? Also about our low rate excursions to California and Oregon, August 15 to September 10? PHIL. A. AUER, G. P. A., Fort Worth Tex.
