Cattle Market.

Kansas City Price Current. THE past few days has witnessed a run of cattle to market unprecedented at this time of the year. In Chicago Tuesday there were 8,000 in, Wednesday 9,000 and Thursday 8,000 again, while here at Kansas City the arrivals were nearly double the same last year. A desire to save corn is doubtless having something to do with this early marketing of cattle, but it at the same time proclaims an unusual crop of winter fed cattle in the western states. There is no western feeder of experience but that knows this is a bad time of the year to market profitably. The old year is just dead and the new one not yet fairly opened and our markets are full of substitutes for beef, and if feeders were not fearful of the future no such receipts of cattle as reported would have been had the past week. As the supply increased prices declined, until values have reached algaudy much lower figures than this time last season. On Jan. 12, 1882, shipping steers sold in this market at $3.75 to $6.00 and yesterday $3.50 to $5.25. That a much lower beef market must obtain the coming season than last is apparent to all, and the excitement so conspicuous last spring give place to a more cautious feeling in the trade. The excitement last year in the cattle business stimulated cattle raising in an unusual degree resulting in an increased supply of beef both East and West. The demand of consumers this season and there is every evidence of cheaper beef during 1883.

The Digestion of an Ostrich.

It has commonly been made to appear that ostriches are so stupid or so greedy as to be totally indiscriminate in the matter of food; but this is a mistake. When two kinds of food are placed before them they will prefer the one, and are notably fond of certain kinds, such as apples and prickly pears. Many of them even show delicate choice. But a hungry bird will eat anything. His system requires food in large quantity, but he always prefers the suitable kinds. It is a fact, however, that the ostrich often dies a victim of over-indulgence. On the farms birds also die by the score from apoplexy, brought on by their keepers stuffing them constantly with all they can eat. An incredible number of pebbles are sometimes found in an ostrich's stomach, where they serve the same purpose, in triturating the food, as sand in a pigeon's gizzard. Mr. Tillbrook, a farmer of the Graaff Reinet district, once found a carcass, the gizzard of which contained some nine hundred and thirty stones of sizes varying from that of a pea to that of a walnut. Most of them were bright and hard, and all more or less rounded by constant rubbing. We may see the reason of that instinct which prompts an ostrich to stretch his neck over the fence and pick off a gold stud or a diamond pin from the breast of the unsuspecting visitor, or in default of a jewel so attractive, to attempt to pull a button off his coat.—E. B. Biggar, in the Century.

The soy bean approaches more nearly to animal food in its proximate composition than any other known vegetable production, being singularly rich in fat and albuminoids. This bean forms an important article of food in Japan and China, where a dozen or more varieties are known. Of late numerous attempts have been made to acclimatize it in several European countries, some of the experiments having been reported quite successful.

TRUE Temperance

Is not signing a pledge or taking a solemn oath that cannot be kept, because of the non-removal of the cause—liquor. The way to make a man temperate is to kill the desire for those dreadful artificial stimulants that carry so many bright intellects to premature graves, and desolation, strife and unhappiness into so many families.

It is a fact! Brown's Iron Bitters, a true non-alcoholic tonic, made in Baltimore, Md., by the Brown Chemical Company, who are old druggists and in every particular reliable, will, by removing the craving appetite of the drunkard, and by curing the nervousness, weakness, and general ill health resulting from intemperance, do more to promote temperance, in the strictest sense than any other means now known.

It is a well authenticated fact that many medicines, especially 'bitters,' are nothing but cheap whiskey vilely concocted for use in local option countries. Such is not the case with Brown's Iron Bitters. It is a medicine, a cure for weakness and decay in the nervous, muscular, and digestive organs of the body, producing good, rich blood, health and strength. Try one bottle. Price $1.00.

The Substitute For Genius.

Youth's Companion. A young man who wishes to rise sometimes finds himself weighed down by the consciousness that he is not a genius. Such a one may be encouraged by an anecdote of an eminent Scottish artist, David Wilkie. While he was a student of art, his instructor quoted a remark of Sir Joshua Reynolds, one of the foremost of English painters: "If you have genius, industry will improve it; if you have none, industry will supply its place."

Wilkie treasured up the words. "I will be very industrious," he said to himself, "for I know I have not genius." Acting upon this resolution he gave himself to his art, and in a few years the public recognized that he had both a genius and industry.

Another anecdote shows how thoroughly he carried out his habit of industry even in those things which are considered trifles. His pictures brought him into notice, and he was invited to London parties.

When a lad he had danced reels and country dances, but he was ignorant as to the quadrilles just then introduced. With characteristic energy he set himself to study them under the instruction of a dancing-master.

Knowing that his mind was not quick in learning, he drew ground-plans and elevations of the new dances to aid his memory in retaining the lessons of the master. He acted on the wise maxim, that what was worth doing at all was worth doing well.

Perhaps some youth may be encouraged by the success of the best substitute for genius, and without which genius often proves a Jack o' Lantern.

Newspapers Sold.

Fort Worth Daily Gazette. The material formerly used in the publication of the Fort Worth Republican was on yesterday sold under a deed of trust, by the trustee, E. M. Doe, and bought by the GAZETTE for $400; $241 of the amount was paid to Mr. Doe to satisfy his claim, and the balance to J. C. Martin, Esq., for his interest above the claim. The material will probably be moved from its present location.

Yesterday afternoon Colonel Carey W. Styles bought the Evening Democrat of George B. Holland, and will take charge on Monday next. It is understood that the paper will continue to be an evening publication, and Democratic in politics.

Dodge Times. Forty years ago it was not considered bad for men in the South and West to get drunk at social gatherings. Twenty years ago a man could not safely get drunk at social gatherings without losing caste, but he could get drunk three times a day anywhere else and be a perfect gentleman. To day a man cannot get drunk anywhere without losing the respect of solid men and women. Twenty years hence a man who gets drunk will be placed on a level with a pickpocket and a sneak thief, too dangerous and useless to have lying around loose. The world changes.

Kansas will in all probability, after this session of its legislature have a uniform system of text books for its schools that cannot be changed at the option of teachers and local superintendents, making extra and unnecessary expense for parents and scholars whenever there is a change instituted. It is time, seemingly, that other states should follow this excellent plan.

An statistician computes that one hundred and fifty tons of human hair annually change owners in France. This does not include the locks that change owners in conjugal unpleasantness.

The Journalist.

Nothing is truer than the following from Chambers Journal: "There is no profession in which a man stands more supremely on his merits than in that of journalism. In many others promotion is more a question of influence, of good fortune, or of time, than of actual working capacity. In journalism, influence goes for little or nothing, unless there be on the part of the aspirant real efficiency to perform the work that has to be done. There never was a greater competition in the press than there is at the present day, and that competition is more likely to become keener than to diminish. It is becoming more and more a question of the survival of the fittest, and special eminence is ever more difficult to attain. The incompetent and inexperienced therefore, must inevitably go to the wall."

In the newspaper business, distinction is won not by favor but by hard work and natural adaptation. In any life which is strictly professional, a man may be advanced through favoritism and by consulting associates he is able to hold his position, but in journalism no consultation will aid him. It is the experience of yesterday that helps him to-day. If he be employed in the news department, he must know which article to condense and which to extend. Some subjects which a "raw" though well educated man would dilate upon can be disposed of in ten lines, while an occurrence which the student would regard as trivial, a kind of five line occasion, would demand two columns "spread." Every experienced newspaper man knows that there are others of which too much cannot be said.

Several attempts have been made to make the newspaper business professional. Colleges have added journalistic courses to their intellectual programmes, but in every instance failure has resulted. It astonished the presidents of the colleges that the professors of Greek literature could not successfully instruct the young man how to write up an account of "how Mr. Gitson knocked the liver out of Captain Slug."

THE fox is a literary bird; he was a genius long before academic honors flourished; he was a poet, skoller and sage before the days of Homer and Herodotus; and in our times he is the Ben Butler of diplomacy and the Brigham Young of matrimonial ethics. The fox has no moral honesty, but he has got a grate supply of political honesty. If another fox in his parish wants a good phat goozie, he will work hard to get him the goozie; and having cleaned the meat oph the suburbs of the goozie, give his political friend the bones, telling him with a smile in his eyes, "that every thing iz lovely and the goozie hangs hi."—Josh Billings, in Poultry Nation.

The Bank of California lately receive a bar of gold weighing 511 1/2 pounds troy, and valued at $114,000. Its length was 15 inches, width 6 in., depth 7 inches. It was shipped by the North Bloomfield Hydraulic Mining Company, of Smartsville Nevada County, California, and is said to have been the largest gold bar ever cast in the United States.

A Quaker's advice to his son on his wedding day: "When thee went a-courting I told thee to keep thine eyes wide open. Now that thee is married I tell thee to keep them half shut."

It is stated that some kinds of woods, although of great durability in themselves, act upon each other to their mutual destruction. Experiments with cypress and walnut and cypress and cedar prove that they will rot each other when joined together, but on separation the decay will cease, and the timbers remain perfectly sound for a long period.

Machinery and Labor.

Scientific American. Mr. Edward Atkinson says that it takes 160,000 men, women, and children to make the cotton cloth, the use of which is now enjoyed by the people of the United States, who are the best clothed people in the world. If those who do this work were obliged to use machinery no more effective than the spinning wheel or hand loom, it would require, he computes 16,000,000 persons continuously employed ten hours a day to do the necessary work.

According to the view of a certain class of self-called "labor reformers"—of whom we hear less now than formerly, and less than we are likely to when hard times come again—modern labor-saving cotton machinery must be depriving 15,840,000 men, women, and children of steady work; the "reformers" would assume, remunerative work.

Where are they, and what are they doing? In every department of productive labor, machinery has been and is having a corresponding effect. The displaced millions of mythical hand workers cannot have starved to death, or have been otherwise exterminated, for there has been a rapid increase of population in all manufacturing countries, and the average length of human life is greater than it used to be.

The obvious truth—obvious, that is, to all who can see things as they are—is, that so far from displacing labor, or the demand for it, labor-saving machinery furnishes more and more varied opportunities for remunerative work, larger pay for

For Fence Posts.

A writer in an exchange says: "I discovered many years ago that wood could be made to last longer than iron in the ground, but thought the process so simple that it was not well to make a stir about it. I would as soon have poplar, basswood or ash as any other kind of timber for fence posts. I have taken out basswood posts after having been set seven years that were as sound when taken out as when first put in the ground. Time and weather seemed to have no effect on them. The posts can be prepared for less than two cents apiece. This is the recipe: Take boiled linseed oil and stir in pulverized coal to the consistency of paint. Put a coat of this over the timber, and there is not a man that will live to see it rot."

The North American Review for February opens with a symposium in which six prominent theologians, representing as many religious denominations, give expression to their views upon the question of the "Revision of Creeds." Prof. Alexander Winchell, in an article entitled "The Experiment of Universal Suffrage," institutes a profound inquiry into the essential conditions of stable popular government, which he finds to be, substantially, virtue and intelligence. Bishop McQuaid writes of "The Decay of Protestantism."

"The Political Situation" is the joint title of two articles, the one by Horatio Seymour, the other by Geo. S. Boutwell, who offer their respective views upon the causes of the recent overthrow of the Republican party. An article by Dr. D. A. Sargent, on "Physiat Education in Colleges," treats a subject of prime importance to the welfare of the youths in our higher educational institutions. Finally, there are two articles on "The Standard Oil Company," Senator Camden of West Virginia defending that corporation against its assailants, and John C. Welch setting forth the reasons for condemning it as a dangerous monopoly. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York.

Our Chicago Letter.

Dear Mac.

An occasion of more than ordinary interest, in connection with the College of Physicians and Surgeons, has lately occurred, a few notes of which may not be uninteresting to the readers of the NEWS. I refer to the banquet given by the Faculty of the institution to the students. This may be unusual, except at commencement time; nevertheless, it was a most agreeable affair and unanimously voted a success.

Prof. Harper, of the eye and ear department, than whom there is not to be found a more genial or popular instructor or successful operator, was the prime mover in the affair. The other professors readily seconded the suggestion, and the banquet was given, in the evening, in the large hall of the Dispensary of the College. The hall was brilliantly illuminated, the tables groined under their burden of delicacies, liveried waiters were every where in attendance, and all were most bountifully served.

At the appointed hour, 7.30 p. m. about one hundred and seventy five gentlemen, students and professors of the College, sat down to the repast. All were in the best of spirits, and each did ample justice to the magnificent supper, while conversation, jokes and repartee ruled the hour.

We mention with some degree of pride and satisfaction that the strongest beverage on the table was coffee, while both professors and students seemed to rejoice in the fact that a first class banquet could be had with speeches were the order of the hour. President Jackson occupied the chair and announced the toasts and called out the speakers. The responses and short addresses showed that doctors could talk as well as practice.

It was proposed by Prof. Rea and unanimously voted by the faculty to give another banquet, of a similar character on the evening of the 14th of February.

There are about one hundred and sixty-five students now connected with this College, and it is on the high road to splendid success. Prof. King, of the Madison Insane Asylum and Prof. Palmer, of Janesville, members of the faculty of this College, fairly represent and do credit to the state of Wisconsin.

President Jackson is eminent in his department of Gynecology, or diseases of women. He has performed a number of important operations before the class this term. Several Practitioners, of which the writer is one, have organized themselves into a class for private instruction in this department, which now ranks as a distinct branch of medical science. In the large cities medical practice is divided up into departments, and practitioners become specialists. This is undoubtedly well, as few men can now compass everything in Medical practice. In a frontier town like Clarendon, however, a man must be a specialist in all departments.

Special advantages for instruction in surgery are afforded in this College. This branch is divided up into several departments, with a competent professor for each department. Each member of the senior class is expected to perform capital or important operations on the dead subject. These operations are performed in presence of the whole class and under the immediate supervision of the professor. This gives confidence, precision and deftness in surgical work.

Chicago now presents the greatest center of medical learning in the world. The various Medical Colleges here are gathering about them the most eminent men in their profession and the best facilities for instruction the world affords.

Washington Letter.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., January 22, '83

Just at present it is the Navy that Congress is talking about. The Navy mark you, the NAVY, wants itself increased because, forsooth, it is the "laughing stock of Europe." If there is any role the Navy cannot endure it is the role of a laughing stock, hence every year is repeated this catapult argument: "our Navy is the laughing stock of Europe."

From a naval point of view the Navy of the United States lives, moves, and has its being as the cynosure of European admiration. And to be laughed at by Europe. Oh! horrors. It is fortunate for the United States that this morbid love of admiration is confined mostly to the official personnel of the Navy. All of them have been to Europe at Government Expense, and the most that their travels has taught them is to be ashamed of their country because it does not live for war, and has fewer and less imposing ships and guns than the monarchies of Europe which live to fight and fight to live. If the United States should endeavor to remodel itself in every line in which it is the laughing stock of Europe it would have a stupendous task before it, and our naval Bunthornes may as well face their share of European derision. But there is a lesson that both the Army and Navy official personnel should begin to learn: Our traditions are not warlike; our chief industry is not warring; the flower of our population is not under arms; we have not and cannot have a personal interest in the armed balance maintained by the colossal, demoralizing, life and treasure sapping establishments—removed from us, thank heaven! by three thousand miles of heaving sea. If our Army and Navy officers feel themselves de-tropt without war ships and armies for a setting, so much the worse for their profession, and so much the better for our country. The United States can well afford to be laughed at for beating swords and spears into any great European power, we, on the other hand, have more threshing machines than all of them combined.

There are at least three branches of public service for which we pay a great deal and for which we have very little use. They are the Diplomatic, the Military, and the Naval establishments. It may be well to maintain skeleton military and naval establishments as a nucleus of National defence, but the diplomatic corps is an antiquity, utterly useless in modern times. We had no use for it before the laying of the first atlantic cable, but since, then it has had no shadow of excuse for remaining above ground.

There was a spirited debate in Congress on Saturday relative to the Naval bill and the discussion will be continued to-day, but no real reform need be expected until another party has control of legislation, and executive matters.

During the course of the debate Mr. Knott of Kentucky said there were in commission thirty steaming vessels, and for them there were 293 engineer officers at an aggregate pay of $642,000 for sea duty. Though these gentlemen understood their duties theoretically, he undertook to say that with the exception of a few men like Melville, none of them had ever had a monkey wrench or an oil can in their hands since they had been in service. Twenty five officers of this engineer corps were so loaded down with rank and dignity that there was not a ship in the Navy big enough to hold them. If some indiscreet secretary of the navy should order a chief engineer, a pay director and a medical inspector for duty on the same ship, the vessel would inevitably sink.

There was another corps of which the country had heard a good deal—the marine corps—which had a long list of officers. The duties of every one of these officers could be as well performed by an officer detailed from the line of the navy; and if he had an opportunity he would offer an amendment looking to that result. He would also offer amendments for the gradual abolition of the pay corps, and for a reduction in the engineer corps.

HOME NEWS

We acknowledge a call from Charlie Hinsdale.

John Edmanson has been in town for several days. He is from the breaks of Blanco.

The well defined countenance of Lorain Wakefield was seen on our streets, Wednesday.

District Court sets next Monday. There will probably be but few cases on the docket at this session.

A portion of the East line of the Carrollton Range fence was surveyed last week. Murdock is at work on it.

Reports from friends in the East are to the effect that several parties will accompany them to the Panhandle.

Mrs. N. D. Freeman has been seriously ill during the past week. We are glad to hear that she is rapidly improving.

A. C. Sherick, foreman for Richard & Sacra, returned from the East on Tuesday of last week to resume the duties of the ranch.

L. G. Coleman and L. R. Dyer passed through town on the 27th, they were en route to Mobeetie and stopped here over night.

Mr. Jas. T. Otey has been ailing, having caught the prevailing cold and chills, which in his case took a severe form. He is improving.

The young people enjoyed a jolly time at the School House. On Wednesday night, a neck-tie party was instituted. On Saturday night a spelling school was organized in which Johnnie Clarke "turned down" the house.

Wilbarger county has a newspaper, the Guard, published at Vernon. We acknowledge the receipt of a copy and gladly accepted as an exchange. It is gotten up with taste and does great credit to the town, and Vernon can well be proud of having a good newspaper at so early a day in its career.

ITCHING PILES—SYMPTOMS and CURE.—The symptoms are moisture like perspiration, intense itching, particularly at night after getting warm in bed; seems as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are often affected. Swayne's Ointment is a pleasant, sure cure. Also for all skin diseases.

Prairie fires are again raging around about us. The reflection of a large fire was seen for several nights of last week and also of this week in the vicinity of the Goodnight range. Since then reports have come in that the fire was burning across the head of Bear Creek and in that vicinity and on the plains beyond the Palo Duro Canyon.

It is a dangerous thing to neglect a cough or cold or any difficulty of the throat or lungs. Lose not a moment in getting a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. You can rely upon it to cure you. It is also a sure preventive of diphtheria.

A fine lot of new dry good just received at the Drug Store. Everything in the Dry Goods line is now displayed for sale at the store. Call and examine for yourselves and you will be surprised at the excellent quality of the goods and the reasonable prices for the same. The fine stock of JEWELRY in addition is just the style to meet the requirements of the community and cannot be surpassed.

In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given for 10 cts. than in any 15 or 25-cent dyes, and they give faster and more brilliant colors.

H. L. Wright pulled in Wednesday, loaded down with goods for the Drug Store and the White House. He was accompanied by a freighter, Mr. Robison. They started on their return trip Friday and will bring out more goods from the Falls.

Skinny Men. "Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility. $1.

We are indebted to Hon. J. N. Browning for copies of the Texas Legislative Record and also papers mentioning briefly of the proceedings at the State Capitol.

W. P. Williamson, of Mobeetie, has been stopping in town for a few days, the guest of Mr and Mrs Geo. T. Osborn. We were pleased to make the acquaintance of Mr. Williamson and found him to be a gentleman of high degree. He left on the 28th for Goodnight's ranch to pursue the duties of his office in that direction as Assessor elect of Wheeler and attached counties.

Dr. J. W. Carhart is attending Medical Lectures at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Chicago, Ill., where he is enjoying every facility, for obtaining the latest discoveries in Medical science, and in the College and Hospital he is favored with the best methods in operative surgery. He expects to remain there until March 13, when he will return to Clarendon to resume practice in his chosen profession.

As we stated in a former issue, the sound of the Tinner's hammer would soon be heard, and that the sheen and glimmer of newly made tin-ware would soon be seen. Such is now the case, Gus Hartman has just received a full set of tinner's tools, and also a large stock of tinner's goods. These are now on exhibition at his shop north of the News office. He is now prepared to turn off any kind of work in his line. Give him a call.

G. A. Jackson, of Mobeetie, has been putting up ice in town. He commenced operations Monday, the 23d and finished on Tuesday of the same week. He succeeded in securing about thirty ton of ice, packing it in the old Straight dugout, north of town. Mr. Jackson, we believe, has the honor of being the first to put up ice in Clarendon. When the heated days of midsummer come, the cooling effect of an ice cool drink will cause many to thank the one who was thoughtful enough to reap while the harvest was ready.

A note from Wm. T. Carhart, of St. Louis, who left here on the 3d of January, says that he arrived safe and sound in the city. He reports that the people are becoming thoroughly interested in the "great Panhandle country," and that the attention of the public in general is being attracted by the fine openings for capitalists that the Panhandle affords. We are indebted to him for papers containing descriptions of this great country as seen by a visitor passing through the Panhandle for the purpose of investigating and writing up its resources for one of the large dailies. The descriptions are very accurate but there seems to have been forgotten the fact that the foremost and great industry of this country and for which the country is best adapted is that of stock raising.

Pure blood makes good health. Acker's Blood Elixer, endorsed by eminent physicians. At druggists.

What old residents call a "right smart of a norther" came off on Friday and Saturday, two weeks ago, and froze everything up nice and solid, not excepting the warm hearted News office the occupants of which gently dropped their shooting sticks pulled their freight up to the hotel and abode with the good people of that house until the storm abated.

Messrs. Reed and Briggs who were camped near the head of Mulberry on their way home, suffered severely, they were obliged to pull camp at about 1 o'clock, fearing that they would freeze if they remained longer in camp. Mr. Reed succeeded in getting to town all right, while Mr. Briggs' team gave out and he was obliged to leave them and come on afoot, he succeeded in reaching home although badly frostbitten.

We advise every farmer or stock raiser to invest in Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders and feed them out to their herds this winter. Depend upon it it will pay big interest. Don't buy the large packs as some of them are worthless.

We were honored with a call from Mr. Geo. Smith on Wednesday evening. He has just returned from Mobeetie and reports everything lovely in that corner of the hemisphere. He informs us that he is about to leave our little village and seek fortune and pleasure elsewhere, and that next Monday he will close his business relations with Mr. Van Horn whom he has served long and faithfully with complete satisfaction to all concerned. We are sorry to lose Mr. Smith from our midst as he has, on every occasion, proved himself a gentleman, and won many friends. We wish him a successful future.

Dr. Jaques' German Worm Cake stand unrivaled as a worm medicine. Give them a trial. Sold by all Druggists.

The well known cattle firm of Curtis, Atkinson & Lazarus, is reported as about to close a trade with northern capitalists, from Louisville, Ky., for their stock of cattle. The Henrietta Shield says:

A couple of capitalists from Louisville, Ky., are here prospecting, with a view of investing in cattle. We learn they are on a trade with Curtis, Atkinson & Lazarus, which made will amount to about $100,000. This stock of cattle is well known, and regarded by the stockmen as cheap at that price.

Dyspepsia, the insidious foe to health, disappears by using Dr. Acker's Dyspepsia Tablets. At druggists.

The New Year has but just opened and yet the papers have to record some of the most terrible disasters that have occurred in many years. The burning of the Newhall House of Milwaukee, on the morning of the 10th in which about one hundred persons perished, was of the most appalling character. Since then comes the news of the terrible ocean disaster of Borkum on the evening of the 20th.

At 6 o'clock in the evening of that date the steamer Cimbria was run down in a dense fog by the British steamer Sultan. Out of a crew numbering 110 and ship load of passengers numbering 380, only sixty-seven have been rescued.

"Facts speaks plainer than words." Proof:—"The Doctor told me to take a blue pill, but I didn't, for I had already been poisoned twice by mercury. The druggist told me to try Kidney-Wort, and I did. It was just the thing for my biliousness and constipation, and now I am as well as ever."—A. P. Sanford. Sold in both dry and liquid form.

The Milwaukee Daily Sentinel comes to hand filled with the choicest news of the day.

Dr. S. C. S. Durham, Albany, Tex. says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is giving general satisfaction in this section of the country."

ABOUT FOOLS.—It is said that the biggest fools of the day are those who are fools and don't know it. But the "boss" fool is the man who pays hundreds of dollars on account of sickness in the family every year, when by keeping a box Swayne's Pills in the house, ready for use, no other medicine would be required. The Pills contain every medicinal property desirable in a purifying and strengthening medicine. They are entirely vegetable. Ask your druggist for them and take no other.

Clark Mills, America's great sculptor is dead.

"Rough on Rats." Clears out rats, mice, roaches, fleas, gnats, bed-bugs, skunks, chipmunks, gophers. 15c. Druggists.

Specimen copies of the Evening Telegram, published at Chicago are at hand and carefully noted. It is made up of the latest and best news of the day.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Elgia, Bastrop Co. Tex.

Dr. Clarke Johnson.—I was afflicted with Dyspepsia for two years and was unable to keep food on my stomach. The use of your reliable INDIAN BLOOD SYRUP cured me.

W. P. McDAVID. It is reported that several families will move to Clarendon in the spring.

"Buchupaiba" Quick, complete cure, all annoying Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Disease $1. Druggists.

The Foreman has "blowed in." He has bought himself a new "bandana."

DIPHTHERIA JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

MAKES HENS LAY. An English Veterinary Surgeon and Chemist, now traveling in this country, says that most of the Horse and Cattle Powders sold here are worthless trash. He says that Johnson's Condition Powders are absolutely pure and immediately valuable. Nothing on earth will make hens lay like Sheridan's Condition Powders. These 1 keep fresh to a pint each. Sold everywhere, or sent by mail for 8 letter-stamps. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., BOSTON, MASS.

After contributing your support to your home paper, your next duty is to secure for your household that publication from which you can gain the most information—a paper which instructs while it entertains, and amuses while it imparts knowledge. No paper in the United States more nearly meets the requirements of a first-class family paper than THE ARKANSAW TRAVELER, a large forty-eight-column weekly, replete with the best literature and the choicest and most original humor.

THE ARKANSAW TRAVELER is under the editorial control of MR. OPIE P. READ (late of the Little Rock Gazette), who has a reputation throughout the whole country as a writer of pure original humor.

Texas Siftings says: "We have no doubt THE ARKANSAW TRAVELER will be a success; for as a humorous and satirical writer Opie Read has no superior."

The Little Rock Gazette says: "To say that THE ARKANSAW TRAVELER meets public expectation, complimentary as is the assertion, is doing scant justice. It has not only met, but exceeded, the anticipations of the most zealous friends of the enterprise, and the initial number went forth to thousands, stamped 'success.'"

Stock Notes.

The Drive of 1883.

Fort Worth Live Stock Journal.

As the bulk of the young cattle have been contracted for the next spring drive we can form a close estimate of the total number to be driven, the class of cattle, and their destination. We estimate the total number of cattle to go up the trail at 220,000 head, of which 140,000 will be yearling steers, 55,000 two year-old steers, and 15,000 three-year-old steers and female cattle. Of the total number driven not more than 120,000 head will be on the open market. At Dodge and Ogalalla the other 100,000 have been or will be sold for ranch purposes. The prices at which these cattle have been contracted on the ranches where they start from varies from $10.50 to $12.50 for yearlings, and $14.50 to 16.50 for two year-old steers; the three-year-old steers ruling at $18 and $19. The few female cattle to be driven are nearly all for ranch purposes and sold at fancy prices. The demand for two year-old steers has been largely in excess of the supply and the entire crop will, in all probability, be brought out by the high prices offered. The demand for young steers for ranch purposes in the state is greater by one-half than it was last year, owing partly to the fact that female cattle are worth as much money on Southwestern ranches as they are in the North, and are really not for sale. The tendency to hold on to breeding stock, evidences the fact that Southwestern ranchmen prefer to breed cattle than to grow beefs, and that for breeding purposes no country in the world excels Southwest Texas. The small number of three-year-old steers to be driven this year, shows that the demand for beef has been unusually great and that the one and two-year-old steers were driven out very closely for the past few years. While it may be all right to keep as many breeding cattle as the country will sustain, we think there is going to be just as great a profit to those who hold back their young steers and let them grow into beef; there are so few aged steers in the Southwest that the local demand for beef, will give holders a good market for everything fit for use, and the profit on holding young steers until they are ripe, is about as great as in raising cattle. While we would not advise breeders to hold all their young cattle, we are satisfied that the habit of driving all the young steers will eventually prove detrimental to the interest of the country, as it will cause us to raise a larger number of calves than usual and there may not be demand enough to sustain present prices.

There is no question that the present high prices of young steers is largely owing to the fact that the demand exceeds the supply and whenever we grow as many cattle as is needed by Northern ranchmen we expect to receive lower prices. The opening of the refrigerator meat trade will give us a new outlet for all surplus beef cattle and it will pay in the future to own fewer female cattle and raise more steers.

Ford County Globe.

Western live stock men will be pleased to learn that the United States supreme court has decided that animals imported for breeding purposes must be admitted free of duty, regardless of the treasury regulation that only animals of "superior stock" will be admitted free.

The total value of the live stock importations to the United States in 1881 was $3,665,518. A large per cent, of this amount was on Scotch cattle imported to the country. Polled Angus cattle constitute the largest number and greatest value of animals imported. We are paying to European raisers a very heavy tax on imported blood.
