Few cattlemen will argue with the statement "Something has to be done for a long-term solution to the sad shape the cattle industry is in right now." This June and again in July cattle producers will have a chance to do something about the cattle price crisis through the Beef Research and Information Act referendum.

The roller-coaster events of the last four years left many cattlemen feeling there was something "fundamentally wrong with the cattle industry." When the industry sustained losses in 25 out of the last 36 months it raised questions about future investments.

There is no way to underestimate the importance of beef to the Texas economy. Texas continues as the ranking state for cattle on feed. The feedlot industry supplies direct employment for 4500 people and the feedlot industry alone multiplies its spending into a $6 billion impact on the state's economy.

In many ways the deepening financial crisis of the cattle industry has hit the cow-calf producer the worst. The immediate effects struck the feedlot industry first but recovery seems to be coming last to the rancher.

For many supporters of the Beef Research and Information Act the provisions seem to safeguard the interests of the cow-calf man because the cost of raising the estimated $30 to $40 million is spread equally across the board.

There seems to also be agreement cattle raisers need to talk to their customers directly in a radical new way. At last fall's Amarillo gathering of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

There are people in this country convinced that vegetable matter could be better used directly by humans ciation Elinore Guggenheimer, a consumer advocate from New York City, said "Cattlemen are doing a damn poor job of selling their own product." There is a growing awareness that beef producers must move from the defensive on such issues as boycotts, suspicion of colon cancer, heart disease, meat substitutes, environmental concerns and "eat less beef" campaigns.

There are people in urban centers in this country convinced that cattle are consuming vegetable matter that could better be used directly by humans shortening the food chain," says Charles Ball of TCFA.

Because much of Donley County's land is fit only for grazing animals it's important that consumers understand that about the only way to obtain that scant annuity from the land is through cattle ranching.

Cattlemen have traditionally done a poor job of getting their story to the public. Oil companies have made us aware of their special interests and made us glad to have the gas they produce.

Right now cattlemen spend .015 percent of product market value on research, education and promotion of their product. Compare this figure with 2.300 percent for Florida Citrus or even .430 per cent for Long Island ducks it becomes apparent cattle raisers don't reach their consuming public with much industry originated information.

The beef industry currently spends the least amount by percentage on promotion and education and beef promotion Wrigley & Company spends 12.1 per cent as an investment as a percentage of sales while the entire beef industry spends only .015 percent.

The Beef Research and Information Act calls for this massive program to be funded out of a uniform collection. The program must be approved by two thirds of the producers voting in the July referendum.

The rate of collection would be set at 0.3% (3/10 of 1%) of sales value. At each point of sale purchaser deducts collection based on value of transaction and retains it until animals are sold. Only the packer sends any money to the Beef Board.

Each time cattle are sold, the seller contributes 0.3 percent of the value he adds to the animal. For example, a cow-calf producer sells a calf to a stocker operator for $100. The purchaser deducts 0.3 percent (30 cents) when he writes the check. The producer receives $99.70.

Can producers get their money back if they don't wish to cooperate? Yes. If any owner does not wish to participate, he can get a refund of the amount he contributed upon request.

The Beef Board, a 68 member body, will collect funds and contract with other organizations to conduct promotion, information and research programs Texas should be well represented on the board with a member for each 500,000 head of cattle in each state. Texas should have around seven members on that board.

There has been concern over the freedom of the board since they will serve with the confirmation of the Secretary of Agriculture. Actually, the members who eventually serve on the Beef Board will be nominated by industry organizations.

"If there's anything the past years have taught cattlemen it's the need for more unity in a business that is threatened by a number of external forces," says O. J. Barron.

Bike-A-Thon for Cancer Society

School children will bicycle again this year for funds in the Donley County Cancer Society's Bike-a-Thon. The pledge riders will follow a twenty-mile route on the farm to market road west of Clarendon and will have a police escort.

All bikers participating in the Bike-a-Thon will receive a patch to show they helped in the struggle to wipe out cancer in our lifetime.

Plaques will be presented in three categories for the youngest biker, the person getting the most pledges and the person who receives the most money from those pledges.

Those wishing to make the bike trip will meet at the Clarendon High School cafeteria at 10:00 a.m. Saturday, May 7th.

All interested contributors pledging are asked to pledge at least 20 cents a mile or $4.00. Pledge cards may be obtained from Jeff Walker at the school administration office during weekday office hours.

The amount of blood that is donated in Clarendon will last the needs of the Red River Region about 20 days," said Hamilton. "The Red Cross depends on numerous communities for continuing donations to make this no-limit availability of blood possible."

Once taken, the blood donated in Clarendon is taken to Wichita Falls for storage to be made available on demand.

Assisting in the spring's blood drive will be Allen Estlack, Vice-Chairman and Paul Hancock who will be seeking potential donors. Mrs. Paul Bell is professional volunteers chairman; Cynthia Manning is non-professional volunteers chairman.

"It's your chance to lie down and be counted," said Hamilton. "We can keep the availability of free blood for Donley County residents if we'll all chip in this time again."

LEATHERS HIGH INDIVIDUAL, TEAM SECOND IN STATE DAIRY CONTEST

David Leathers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Leathers, was named high individual and the Clarendon FFA team captured second place in the state FFA Dairy Products Judging contest Saturday at Texas A & M.

Bill Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith, was sixth high individual in competition at College Station. Leathers, Smith, Ken Slavin and Brent Hardin judged samples of milk, cheeses and cottage cheese grading them on quality, flavor and sediments in competition against 41 other top rank area winning schools.

The team missed capturing first in the state by nine points. The national finals will be held in Nashville, Tennessee. The team was coached by Milton Mann, Clarendon agriculture instructor.

Bloodmobile Comes to Clarendon May 16

Donley County will again participate Monday, May 16, 1:45-5:30 in Red River Regional Blood Program to insure blood supplies for county residents in time of emergency. Now in its second year and fourth blood drive the program can insure every resident of the county access to blood if the county continues to meet its 90 unit donation commitment according to Pettigrew Hamilton and Allen Estlack, blood drive coordinators.

"If we continue to donate these 90 units of blood each drive, county residents and this includes college students who reside at the campus will continue to have free blood," said Hamilton.

Hamilton pointed out that recipients who participated in the program at the Collegg Auditorium would be liable only for the cost of administering the blood and the cost of laboratory fees in cross matching and other procedures.

Should the need for blood arise at some hospital in the area recipients in the program need only to contact either Hamilton or Estlack who will verify proper crediting from local blood bank records.

The amount of blood that is donated in Clarendon will last the needs of the Red River Region about 20 days," said Hamilton. "The Red Cross depends on numerous communities for continuing donations to make this no-limit availability of blood possible."

Once taken, the blood donated in Clarendon is taken to Wichita Falls for storage to be made available on demand.

Clarendon College Third in Nation to Offer Electronic Organ Repair

Clarendon College has become the third school in the nation to offer a comprehensive course in electronic organ and guitar amplifier repair.

"Interest in our two year course has come from as far away as Canada and India," said Lee Roy Jackson course instructor. "We've had letters of inquiry from Delaware, Massachusetts, Colorado, Florida, Ohio, Kansas, North Carolina, California... the number has been astonishing."

The college's organ repair course first received national attention when a leading manufacturer of electronic organs listed the college in its January-February service newsletter this year.

"Some of the inquiries have come from organ dealers seeking trained technicians to employ in their service departments," said Jackson. "Interest in electronic organs is growing faster than the supply of trained technicians to service them."

The college's technical course is designed to work in cooperation with major organ manufacturers so that students have the latest models to work with during class sessions. Local organ dealers are also participating to aid the newly created course at Clarendon College.

Organ companies believe the market potential for electronic organs is just now being realized. Lowrey Organ Company, Chicago, estimates only ten per cent of the market for organs has been penetrated.

"What's vitalized the organ industry is the introduction of electronics to organ music. No longer is the organ thought of as a musical instrument just for churches and other institutions. It's become popular in homes and of course rock music's discovery of its potential has made it enormously popular with younger people now," said Jackson. "Naturally people are going to have to have organs serviced periodically and that's where we come in."

Jackson and his students recently attended an organ servicing seminar in Dallas during April. Sponsored by Lowrey Organ Company, the seminar pointed out the growing demand for specialized technicians to service this instrument.

"Our course is a two year curriculum. During the first year organ repair students study basic electronics just like our radio and TV repair students. During the second year they cover organ and guitar amplifier techniques using many models and learning devices supplied through cooperative assistance from organ companies."

From the number of inquiries directed to the college's Radio and TV Repair Department, interest in organs shows no sign of subsiding for some time to come.

The Registration will run from 9-12 a.m. and will include informative sessions for parents as well as students.

Anyone planning or interested in attending Clarendon College next fall is invited to attend.

The cafeteria and dormitories will close on Friday the 13th. Summer school will start on May 31.

Local Nurse to Graduate

Mrs. Cindy Ellis, wife of Mr. Frankie Ellis and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Anglin, will be among 74 graduates to receive diplomas from Northwest Texas Hospital of Nursing on Thursday, May 12, 1977.

College Biology Students, Advisor on Field Trip

Thursday morning, April 21, six Clarendon College biology students and their faculty advisor, Prof. David Lowrie and his wife, Paula, left for a four day field trip into South East Texas. The trip was designed to include observations and study of some of the more unique vegetational areas of the state.

Thursday afternoon the group spent about four hours with Henderson County Junior College Biologist Vernon Price studying the trees of the "piney woods" in and around Athens, Texas. Friday morning they travelled to Saratoga, Texas to begin a day and a half tour of the "Big Thicket". Thicket Naturalist and Curator of the Lamar University Herbarium at Beaumont, Mrs. Geraldine Watson conducted the lectures and tours. In addition to the common flora of the region the party observed such exotics as the carnivorous Pitcher plants and Sundews and at least two species of orchids, all of which are indigenous to the area.

On the return trip stops were made at the Alabama-Coushatta reservation near Woodville, Texas, to visit the reptile gardens and at Glen Rose, Texas to see the famed Dinosaur Valley. The group arrived in Clarendon about 10:30 p.m. Sunday night, April 24.

Rattan Brochure Design Wins First in Arkansas Festival

Kent Rattan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rattan, submitted the winning design for an alumni brochure to be printed and distributed to more than 15,000 alumni of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock.

The 1969 valedictorian graduate of Clarendon High School, now teaching at the Prep School, a school for exceptional 8-13 year old children in Little Rock, was chosen for the State Festival of the Arts award because of the brochure's functional design and attention given to format.

Kent, a 1973 cum laude graduate of Trinity University, also won second place in the Festival held in April, for his magazine cover design.

Rattan is married to the former Kathy McHugh of San Antonio. She is also a graduate of Trinity University and is presently employed in the neuropsychological department of Veterans Hospital at Little Rock, Arkansas.

Rattan will begin graduate studies at the University of Texas toward his masters degree this fall.

The Beef Referendum

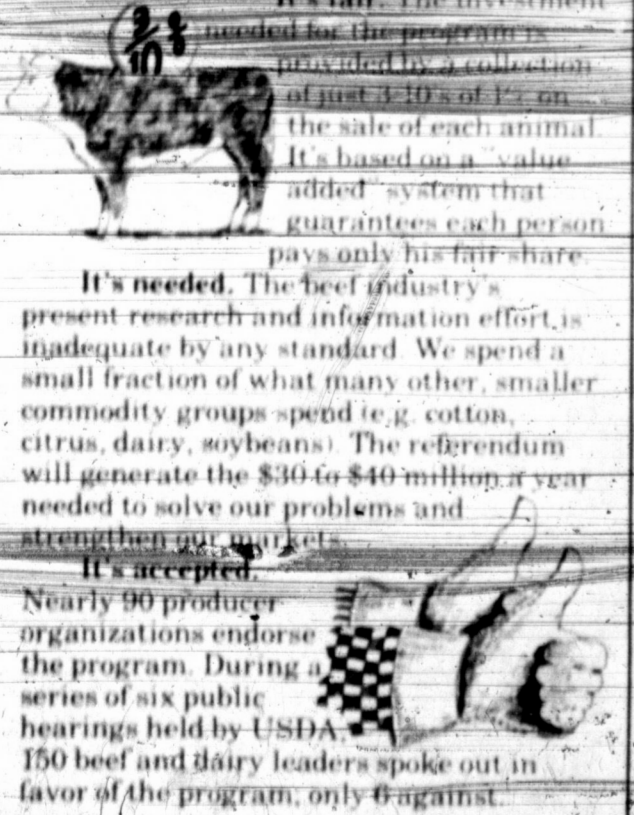

What it is.

Soon you'll have an opportunity to vote on the beef research and information plan. Here are some facts to consider:

- It's a self-help program. If the beef business is going to get more profitable, producers themselves are going to have to make it more profitable. The beef referendum provides the tools—promotion, research, foreign market development, marketing information—to do the job.
- It's producer-controlled. The plan will be run by a Beef Board made up of cattlemen who have been recommended by their fellow cattlemen. Every state or region will be represented in proportion to its beef production.
- It's fair. The investment needed for the program is provided by a collection of just a 10's of 1's on the sale of each animal. It's based on a "value added" system that guarantees each person pays only his fair share.
- It's needed. The beef industry's present research and information effort is inadequate by any standard. We spend a small fraction of what many other, smaller commodity groups spend (e.g. cotton, citrus, dairy, soybeans). The referendum will generate the $30-to-$40 million a year needed to solve our problems and strengthen our markets.
- It's accepted. Nearly 90 producer organizations endorse the program. During a series of six public hearings held by USDA, 150 beef and dairy leaders spoke out in favor of the program, only 6 against.

What it isn't.

- It's not a government program. This is a producer program. Producers wrote the law. Producers are paying for the referendum through voluntary donations. And producers will run the program from day one, once the referendum passes. The government's involvement is limited. The Secretary of Agriculture formally appoints the Beef Board members, who are nominated by producer organizations; he is also responsible for seeing that the money is spent according to producer wishes, as set out in the law.
- It's not a tax. The program is voluntary. The collection is automatic. But if anyone, for any reason, doesn't want to participate, he can ask for a refund and get it promptly. With no red tape. That's the law.
- It's not just an advertising program. The program is comprehensive. Some of the money will go for consumer education. Some for foreign market development. Some for production research. Some for new product development. Some for improving marketing and distribution. And some for advertising and promotion whatever producers, through the Beef Board, decide they need.
- It's not just for the big guy. Beef Board members will be both big producers and small, from all across the country. Cow-calf operators, Farmer-feeders, Stocker operators, Feedlot people, Dairyman (dairy cattle account for 20% of beef production). This program will help everybody.

The Clarendon Press Editorial Comment

The Clarendon Press does not make editorial comment a regular aspect of its weekly coverage of the community but for an event that occurred last week that would continue to be the policy. We would like to congratulate the students, faculty and administration of Clarendon College for the initiative shown in planning and staging the College Spring Festival. From the seed of an idea planted by a college student the festival emerged as an example of what persistent attention to an ideal can produce. We want all at the college to know the community was impressed with the event and that it showed the college's ability to provide an interesting format for people of all ages to become involved in a group endeavor. On behalf of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce board of directors the Clarendon Press would like to express its appreciation of Sandy Skelton's devotion of time and effort in making the festival the success it was. Sandy, a newcomer to the college campus as student counselor and high school fratman, has brought some fresh new ideas to the college and a welcome interest in the student body. The Chamber unanimously voted its expression of appreciation for his efforts and hope the festival will become an annual event.

AN Amazing DEMAND

What did Jesus mean when he told Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3)? When Nicodemus expressed astonishment at this demand of the Lord, Jesus explained by adding, "Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again" (John 3:5,7).

Do you wonder how it is possible to be born again? Nicodemus thought Jesus was speaking of a second physical birth, and could not understand how such a thing could be accomplished. Jesus was, of course, speaking of a spiritual birth: "That which is born of the Spirit is Spirit" (John 3:6).

The New Testament speaks of people who were children of God. They had been born of water and of the Spirit. It is possible for us to determine what happened that made them children of God. We, therefore, may know specifically what it means to be born again.

Paul writes, "For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus: For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ" (Galatians 3:26,27). They had been baptized into Christ. Paul said this is what made them children of God by faith.

In Paul's letter to the Romans, another case illustrates what Jesus meant by the new birth. The Romans were called children of God—"The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God" (Romans 8:16). They had experienced the new birth. Paul made reference to their conversion when he wrote, "Know ye not that so many of us as were baptized into Christ were baptized into His death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the father, even so we also should walk in newness of life" (Romans 6:3,4).

This is the will of Christ for you; You, too, must experience this birth of water and the Spirit before you can be in God's spiritual family.

You must be born again!

scouts along with an additional 100 adults. The Cubs came from twenty Panhandle communities including one contingent from Guymon, Oklahoma.

Cub Scoutmaster Tom Rogers stated he was very pleased with the crowd and believed few problems developed in this first gathering.

"We could not have accomplished running the various athletic events staged had it not been for the splendid help we received from Clarendon College students," said Rogers.

"They helped us in so many ways that it's not possible to begin thanking each one of them individually."

PRPC Outlines Application Procedure

The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission will submit an application to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for renewal of the Health Systems Agency's conditional designation to serve the Panhandle Region. The application must be submitted to the Regional Office by June 10, 1977.

In fulfillment of the application requirements for public involvement, the Health Systems Agency is requesting letters of support from public officials, health related groups, organizations and agencies, and interested persons. Letters of support regarding the Agency's first year of activity and the role of the Agency in improving the health care system will help secure approval of the application for renewal of conditional designation.

The Panhandle Health Systems Agency would like to receive the letters of support prior to May 20, 1977, to allow the letters to be included in the application. Letters should be addressed to: Mr. Frank Nelson, President Panhandle Health Systems Agency, P. O. Box 9257, Amarillo, TX 79105.

Mr. E. L. Melin, Director Panhandle Health Systems Agency, P. O. Box 9257, Amarillo, TX 79105.

Your help in this matter will be greatly appreciated.

Use Fertilizer-Herbicide Mixes With Care

Gardeners often purchase a combination of fertilizer and herbicide (weed killer) because it is so easy to use and saves extra work. But such a mixture can also cause lawn and garden problems if not used properly, says Ronald Gooch, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The problem with a fertilizer-weed killer mix is that the user often applies the material without regarding the fact that a weed killer must be used much more carefully than fertilizer.

Weed killers can be especially damaging if misused since they will kill trees, shrubs and vines as well as weeds, cautions Gooch.

Since tree roots stretch out many feet, a tree can often receive herbicide damage. Thus a herbicide should not be used near a tree. Weeds around trees are best dealt with by digging them up and planting a ground cover such as English Ivy if grass will not grow in the shaded area.

Any time a herbicide is used, special attention should be given to the time and rate of application. Carefully read and follow the manufacturer's recommendations on the label, advises Gooch.

Natural gas does far more than heat your home!

GAS FIRES THE BRICK THAT THIS AREA'S CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY WILL NEED TO BUILD A STRONGER ECONOMY.

As the building industry goes, so goes this area's economy. And the benefits of construction starts are all the greater when locally manufactured materials are used. Because more of the money stays at home to create more jobs.

Brick manufacturers in the Lone Star service area employ more than 10,000 people in making, distributing and selling brick. Many of these jobs depend directly on natural gas as the most efficient and economical source of heat for firing the brick.

Temperatures in the kilns run as high as 2,600 degrees F the year around, and this takes a lot of gas. Brick plants served by Lone Star require more than 1.6 billion cubic feet annually. Now, with so many jobs at stake in this one industry alone, future gas supplies must be considered.

It's time to build job security.

Vast basins of natural gas, yet untapped, are crossed by Lone Star's pipeline system. A fact that puts Lone Star in one of the most favorable buying positions of any gas company. But, with steadily rising prices, the new gas will be expensive.

The risk is that companies in energy-short areas of the nation could wind up with the lion's share of these reserves as they are developed.

Buying enough gas to last this area far into the 21st century adds up to one inescapable fact. Both you and Lone Star will have bigger gas bills, because Lone Star cannot make the purchases without a fair return on the necessary investment.

But we're ready to invest in this area's future. If you are.

College Exes Meet for Festival Weekend

Over one hundred ex-Clarendon College students and their spouses gathered at the campus over Spring Festival weekend, April 29-May 1. Highlighting the reunion weekend were performances of the Fine Arts Department's "Deadwood Dick" musical drama, Saturday night's banquet and a Sunday morning brunch sponsored by the Fine Arts Department.

Alumni voted to charter the association with the Attorney General of Texas in order to set up the present scholarship fund as an endowment to be handled by a bonded trustee.

Mrs. Florence Baker, present secretary-treasurer of the Ex-Student Association, was named to be the bonded trustee in charge of oversight for the endowment. Cited as advantages for the restructuring of the fund was the self-perpetuating nature of an endowment. Nine college students currently are receiving assistance through the association's Scholarship Fund.

New officers and directors were named for the coming year. McHenry Lane of Pampa was elevated to president and Mrs. Lucille Polk Naylor of Hereford was elected vice-president. Mrs. Florence Baker of Clarendon was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Beryl Clinton continues to serve as parliamentarian and college liaison.

Hold over directors include Lee Nowlin of Plainview and Edgar Mae Mongole of Clarendon. New directors named were Enoch Darnell of Plainview, Leon Schafer of Pampa and Allen H. Estlack of Clarendon. Mrs. Mildred Koerner joins the board as retiring president.

Special recognition was paid to Jim McKee of Studio City, Los Angeles, California for traveling the greatest distance to attend. Mrs. L. N. Cox of Hereford was recognized as representing the oldest class, 1915. J. N. Weaver of Dumas was the oldest ex-student present. Mrs. Koerner, retiring president, was presented a plaque by Dean Clinton in recognition of her contribution to the association.

Mrs. Lucile Polk Naylor, chairman of the Memorial Committee led a memorial service and submitted the names of those ex-students who had departed since the last meeting. A solo by Rev. Paul Hancock, "Face to Face" concluded the memorial service.
