Jail inspector views Donley jail

Joseph C. Slater of Sweetwater, an inspector for the Texas Jail Commission, was in Clarendon Wednesday to inspect the Donley County Jail.

Joseph C. Slater, an inspector with the Texas Jail Commission, was in Clarendon all day Wednesday inspecting the Donley County jail and interviewing Sheriff Truett Behrens and his deputies.

"He measured that whole jail with a tape measure from top to bottom," Deputy Jimmy Thompson said.

Slater is one of six inspectors in Texas who are comparing existing jail facilities in all 254 Texas counties with standards established by the nine-member commission.

"These statutes largely stem from federal court decisions," Sheriff Behrens said. "If we don't build a jail and lockup that complies with them, we'll find our jail being run by federal judges instead of by the people of Donley County."

Thompson said, "The standards have actually been in existence for 20 years. They're just beginning to enforce them."

"Some people who should know better are misrepresenting what the standards really say," Behrens said. "They talk about 'coddling criminals' and 'Holiday Inns' and 'television sets' and such as that. But if you read the standards, you'll see that the only place television sets are mentioned is in a sentence that has 'may' as part of the verb."

Behrens was referring to the fact that at the beginning of the published standards, three distinctions are made concerning the relative necessity of each standard. If a particular item, such as 40 sq. ft. of cell space for the first inmate and 18 sq. ft. for each additional inmate, is required by law, then the standard uses the auxiliary verb "shall" to indicate that such is mandatory.

If an item is strongly recommended but not legally required, then the word "should" is used in the suggesting sentence, as in the following:

"Where practical, separate jail buildings should be in near proximity to, or connected to, local courtrooms by a secure means of pedestrian passage. This provision does not apply to facilities housing only low risk inmates." 217.05.014

The third auxiliary verb, "may," according to the standards "...simply indicates a suggestion and is not intended to compel the thing or action mentioned now to preclude consideration of other possibilities."

No one in the Sheriff's office expected the jail which was built in 1910, to meet the standards. "To remodel the old jail would be a waste of time and money," Behrens said.

Thompson said, "I tell you, one time a boy dug out of that walkaround with a spoon, the floor was so rotten."

Behrens then recalled an incident in 1946 when a prisoner tied a wetted and twisted cotton blanket between the bars of the cell window and bars of the cell door and, using a broom handle to twist the blanket, pried the window bars loose. "He was never seen again in Donley County," Behrens said.

Behrens said that when Jack Gray was county judge there had been enough money accumulated in the jail sinking fund to have built a new jail.

"I'm not saying the jail they could have built then would pass all the requirements now, but it would have been good enough to get by with some remodeling," Behrens said.

Behrens said that the commissioners during Gray's term appropriated the money in the jail sinking fund for other purposes.

"That jail sinking fund had been started in 1930," Behrens said. "I don't know what they did with it."

There are presently three options for Donley County, as for many other counties in Texas.

The first option is to vote enough funds to build a jail and lockup within Donley county that would meet the Texas Jail Commission's standards. (A "jail" is defined by the standards as "...a facility that is operated by or for a county government for the detention of persons for more than 48 hours, who are charged with or convicted of law violations" and a "lockup" is defined as "...a facility operated by a county government for detention for no longer than 72 hours of persons charged with or convicted of criminal offenses.")

The second option is to build only a lockup and take prisoners to another county that has a larger facility when they must be held longer than 72 hours. Such a system would require paying rent to the hosting county.

The third option is to join with one or more other counties and build a complete facility to be used by all of them.

If this third option is taken, each county would still be required to maintain a suitable "holding room," which is "...a cell used to hold one or more persons temporarily while awaiting processing, booking, court appearances, or discharge, or a cell or tank used to temporarily hold one or more persons until they can be moved to general housing areas after booking."

Donley, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Hall Counties have had a feasibility study done to determine the cost and advisability of a combined facility to be built in Collingsworth county.

"I would urge everybody in Donley county to study this problem," Behrens said. "Pretty soon, within the next several months, we'll have to have a vote on a bond issue to pay for whatever option we wish to take, and it'll naturally be better if everybody is well informed. "In thirty days we'll get a letter from Austin explaining in what areas our jail doesn't meet the standards. From the day we receive that letter we'll have only a year to do something about it."

Taxpayers crowd county courthouse

Donley County residents thronged the Donley County Courthouse Annex Monday morning to find out how much their property taxes would be raised or lowered. Everyone seemed to anticipate a raising, however.

Mrs. H. T. Warner of Clarendon, who was waiting outside the conference room to see the commissioners, said, "I don't think they ought to raise the taxes. The farmers and ranchers are paying all they're able to pay."

Mrs. Warner said she has both farm and ranch property near Clarendon. Luther Butler of Lelia Lake said he was waiting to see whether his property taxes would be equal with his neighbors'.

Ernest Kent came out of the conference room saying, "I've been nailed to the cross."

Kent said the commissioners had raised the taxes on his pastureland from $4 to $6 per $100 assessed valuation and on his farmland from $13 to $15.

"You'll beat your brains out going in there," he said as he walked out.

Mrs. Doris Rieken was at the courthouse to see about not only the taxes on her land but also the taxes on her autos. She said that, despite the fact she has a notarized abstract declaring her land to be clear, she had been charged with delinquent taxes going back to the 1950's, when the property had been owned by Tom Tate and Jimmy Taylor.

Concerning her cars, Mrs. Rieken said, "They put seven or eight cars on our taxes. We've always had three cars. We never had an Opel. They've got cars down we never heard of."

Mrs. Rieken said that her taxes had been raised four times during a three week period in June of 1976. "They went up from $135 to $150 to $177 to $215," she said. "I'm sure it's $300 now."

She said she had sold her freezer for $150 to pay the taxes. "They took $130 out of that, but the taxes had already gone up again."

Mrs. Rieken said that the woman clerk (who no longer works for the county) had told her there was nothing that could be done about it, that it's already in the books.

Not everyone leaving the conference room was unhappy, however. Doyle Littlefield, who lives 10 miles north of Clarendon, said

"They raised the assessed valuation on my property because of $1,000 worth of improvements. It'll cost me $10. But they lowered the taxes on some of my grassland, which had been listed at $11.56, to $7."

Although the line of people was moving with apparent expedition, the number of persons waiting made it probable that the process would last all day.

Collisions and fires increase in mid-July

A rash of minor accidents and grass fires have kept local police and volunteer firemen busy this week.

On Tuesday Jo Lane of Clarendon, driving a motorcycle, ran into the left front wheel of a car driven by Lucille Parker Swinney, also of Clarendon. The accident, occurring at an unmarked intersection at 7th and Parks, happened when Lane failed to "yield to the vehicle on the right." Lane was treated for minor lacerations to her right leg and released.

A second accident occurred Tuesday night when a station wagon driven by Herbert Wheat of Amarillo ran into the rear of a car owned by Larry Richard Hight of Los Fresnos, Tex., while Hight was stopped at the stop sign facing Hwy 287 at Hwy 70. Wheat plead guilty of a first offense driving-while-intoxicated. No one was injured in the accident, but both cars were totally damaged.

On Saturday another accident occurred this one involving a car driven by Grace Jane Midkeff of Clarendon and a car driven by Clyde Putman, Midkeff's next-door neighbor. According to the police report, the accident happened when Midkeff, assuming Putman intended to turn left onto Hwy 287 from Goodnight St., pulled up by his right side. Instead of turning left, however, Putman turned right, into Midkeff's car.

At about 9:00 p.m. Saturday William Paul Smith of Clarendon ran his car into the rear of Richard Lynn Thompson's car as Thompson was about to execute a left hand turn in front of Allsups. Smith was given a ticket for following too close and Thompson one for not having a driver's license.

On Sunday at about 5:15 p.m. a car driven by James Lloyd Albert of Lelia Lake struck head-on the left front fender of a station wagon driven by Oscar James Skelton of Amarillo. Albert told police he had dropped a cigarette and was reaching to pick up when the accident occurred. No one was hurt.

"This month has been pretty bad for accidents, although there have been few injuries," said Patrolman Steve Rogers of the Clarendon Police Department. "It'll probably be even worse next month when many people will be returning home from their vacations and students will be returning to school."

Volunteer firemen also were frequently occupied during the week with a total of four grass fires and one fire at a city residence, according to fire department records.

A storage room outside the Clarendon home of David Jones caught fire Tuesday. Insurance adjustors said that, although the fire damage was total, nothing of much value was kept in the store room.

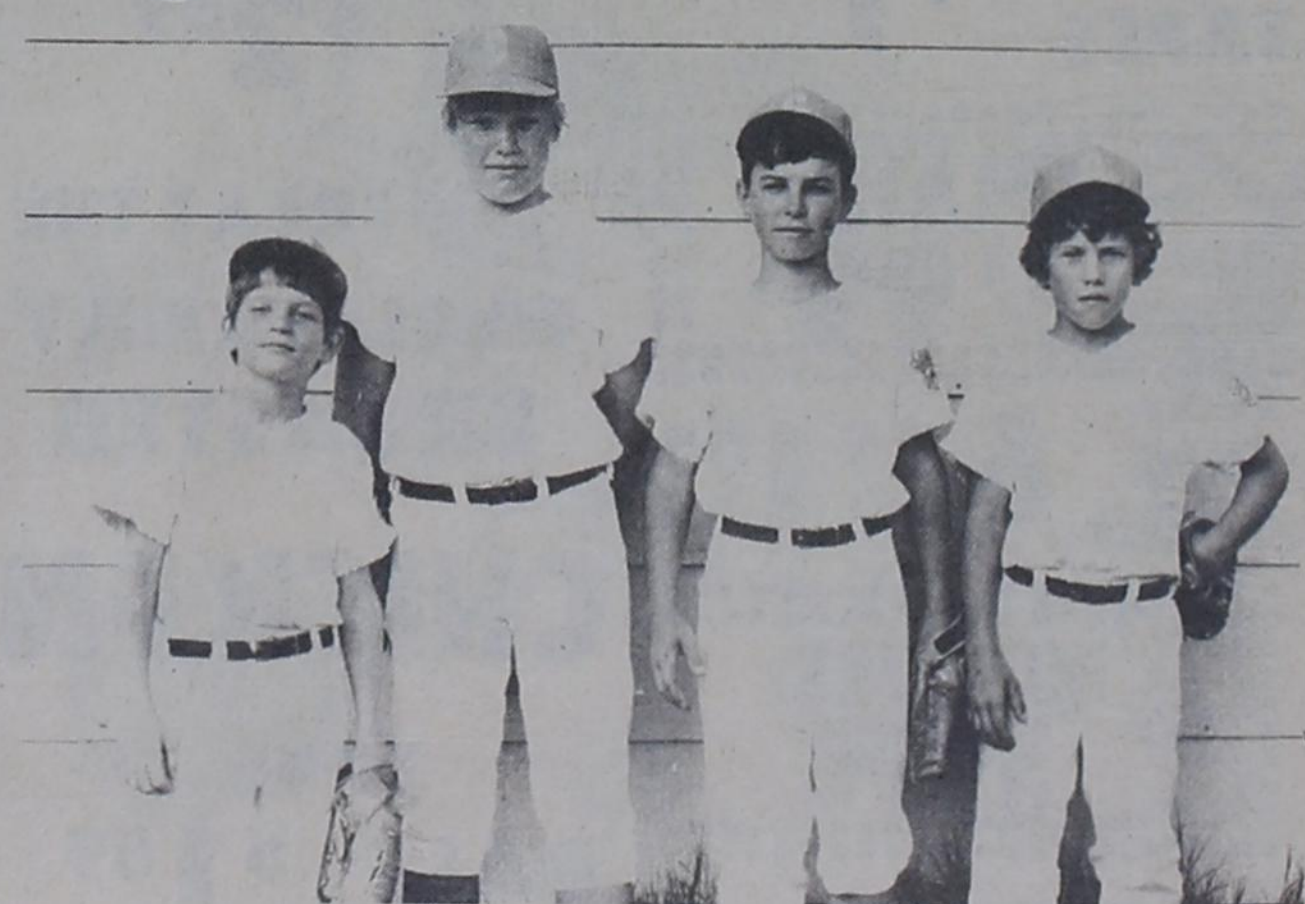

The most extensive of the grass fires occurred on the Hagy Ranch where 500 acres of top grassland and trees were destroyed.

High Plains wins twice

Clarendon All-Stars in Borger were: (l. to r.) Doug Walker (11); Arlis Thomas (12); Ray Lindley (12); and Gary Lewis (12).

Four youths from Clarendon were on the High Plains All-Stars team that won against the Phillips All-Stars in Borger Saturday night and against the Fritch All-Stars Monday night.

Doug Walker (11), Arlis Thomas (12), Ray Lindley (12) and Gary Lewis (12) were on the High Plains All-Stars team which won in a closely fought game against the Phillips All-Stars. The final score of 5 to 4 came in the bottom of the sixth after two periods of ties, 1 to 1 for the first three innings and 4 to 4 in the first of the sixth.

On Monday night Clarendon pitcher Arlis Thomas led High Plains to a 11 to 6 win over the Fritch All-Stars.

The game moved rather slowly until the fifth inning when High Plains scored six runs in the fifth inning.

On Tuesday night the High Plains All-Stars were to play the winner of the Borger-Canadian game for the area title. The winner of that contest will return to Borger next Monday for the regional tournament.

TOTAL FOR MONTH SO FAR .25
TOTAL FOR YEAR SO FAR 16.03

The Editor's Desk

By Bob Litton

This cup won't pass

"The sound of that cell door slamming to affects me!" a local public official told me last week.

No, he hasn't been put in jail. He is just sensitive to what it means to be locked up and to be at the mercy of someone who doesn't necessarily have a prisoner's health and well-being on the top of his mind.

"Whenever you lock someone up you're taking the responsibility for them into your hands," he said. "It has happened that deputies have gone off and left somebody in that jail for a whole day. What if a prisoner were to have a heart attack?"

The official insists -- and I'm quoting him in this column because I agree with him -- that to pay attention to a prisoner, to give him reasonable supervision, is not to "coddle" him. To provide a prisoner with basic sanitary, nutritional, recreational, medical and legal needs is actually an obligation you are fulfilling, an obligation you assumed when you took away his means of satisfying such needs for himself.

A jail is a public facility, yet people don't like to think of it in the same terms as they think of their public library or city parks. They would like to forget it exists and hope that they will never find themselves in a jail cell. They imagine that only hardened criminals and alcoholics wind up behind bars.

The truth is, said the official, that any of us could find ourselves spending an hour or more in a jail cell. One doesn't have to be arrested just to be incarcerated, and just think of the times you have done something that was at least a misdemeanor -- but nobody saw you -- like throwing trash on the highway. If you can't pay the fine when the justice of the peace wants it, he can legally lock you up until you get the money or spend an equivalent amount of time in jail.

Whatever our personal perspective of the "hoosegow," events are taking place fairly rapidly now that will force Donley county residents to look at the jail and make a decision as to what and where they want it to be.

The inspector for the Texas Jail Commission was in town last week, and within 30 days a list of the inadequacies in the jail and in the procedures used to handle inmates will be sent to Sheriff Truett Behrens. Supposedly, Donley county will then have a reasonable period of time to take corrective action, whatever a "reasonable period of time is." According to the standards, one year is "reasonable," but as another official told me, "The Texas Jail Commission is not out to harass counties, but to help them; in the Lubbock suit, the state was named along with the county as a defendant."

The problem here, as I see it, and it's probably the same in most other Texas counties, is that a lengthy spell of study and discussion will be required just to decide what to do. I emphasize the words "study" and "discussion" because I hope that is how the problem will be handled. I love to argue but I hate to quarrel.

There are three basic options open to the people of Donley county: (1) Build a complete facility here that will meet the standards set for a county this size; (2) build a "lockup" and "holding facility" and take longer term prisoners off to another county having a larger facility; or (3) build only a holding facility here and join with other area counties in building a complete facility (the one for which a feasibility study has been done would include Collingsworth, Donley, Hall and Wheeler counties and would be located in Collingsworth). Some variations on these are possible, but these are the basic options.

I will try in a future issue -- perhaps it will take more -- to enumerate the pros and cons of each of these options, and they all do have pros and cons. I will not editorialize for or against any approach because (1) I am not a property-owner in this county, (2) I may leave six months or a year from now, and (3) since this is practically the only county-wide newspaper it would be inappropriate for me to monopolize its voice for only one position.

I do think it is appropriate for me, however, to try to inform the public of the options as fully as I reasonably can. In fact, although I wish this problem hadn't come upon me so suddenly, I consider it my responsibility to do what I have said in the foregoing I will try to do.

Cheerleaders inspired at camp

The Clarendon High School Varsity Cheerleaders of 1977-78, Susan Bright, Kristi Wilson, Teresa Hill, Janice Ariola, Belinda Bryant and Kim McAnear returned this week from the Thunderhawk Cheerleading Camp at the Univ. of Oklahoma.

More than 800 girls attended the camp June 27 through July 1, the largest group so far to attend Thunderhawk.

The Clarendon Cheerleaders won one Superior, two Excellent and one Outstanding ribbon. To achieve these ribbons the girls used home yells and also yells they learned at camp.

The girls also won a Superstar ribbon by doing special activities during the week.

The cheerleaders learned new yells, pom pom routines, chants and tumbling techniques. Most importantly, they learned the responsibilities, the sportsmanship and leadership that a cheerleader has to know to be a cheerleader.

The cheerleaders also appeared in the July 4 parade, winning a 3rd place trophy in the "miscellaneous" category.

The cheerleaders said they would like to thank all the Clarendon supporters who have helped them in their fund-raising activities this summer. They said they were looking forward to an exciting year of spirit and victory.

Country Club plans pool party

Invitations are in the mail for the pool party and dance this Saturday night, July 23, from 9:00 - 1:00. There will be door prizes, live music and everything so come on out and have fun.

Duplicate Bridge met Monday with Billie Chauveaux as hostess. Sandi Wallace was first with Kathryn Cain, Lea Tyler and

Nell Barnhill tied for second. (Everybody tried to be a winner!)

Seems like there's been quite a bit of activity this week -- people out to eat or play golf, or both. The food is delicious and the golf course is in great shape.

In the Mixed Scramble Thursday evening Bill

Mooring's team won first place. Other members of the team were Steve Jarigan, John McVickers and Diane Chamberlain. The teams of David Mooring and W.E. Hawkins tied for second place. Other members of those teams included Troy Lemley, Mickey Fowler, Willard Skelton, Shelby Bell, and Lois McVickers.

There will be another Mixed Scramble July 28 at 6:00. If you didn't win this time, come out for revenge; or, if you haven't played in one, try it -- you'll like it!

The Men's Partnership July 30-31 still has some places left. Call Jerry for details.

Class of 1961 holds reunion

The 1961 graduating class of Clarendon High School had a reunion at Ernest and Beth Johnston's home July 2, 1977. Eighteen classmates and their families attended. It had been sixteen years since they all had been together.

Oveta Garman Neilson baked two cakes to go with tea and Koolaid for refreshments. We found out that Oveta was quite a cake decorator.

A short business meeting was held. Dr. Phillip Abel was elected president by acclamation. Bobby Hutton was elected vice president by acclamation. Wilma Mann Lindley was elected treasurer by acclamation and Beth Johnson Johnston was elected secretary by acclamation.

They decided to have a 20th year reunion in July 1981. After that they will meet every five years sometime during the week of July 4th.

Class members donated $5.00 each for dues to have for upcoming reunions and memorials.

Class members and their families attending the reunion were: Gary Logan of Gallup, New Mexico; Martha Jo Risley Schollenbarger of Amarillo; Bobby Hutton of Pampa; Oveta Garman Neilson of Littlefield; Jackie McClellan Clark of Miami; Frances Mann Kennard of Amarillo; Gay Watson Cole of Clarendon; Judy Thompson McCully of Lelia Lake; Frances Wallace Johnson of Clarendon; Dr. Phillip Abel of Saginaw, Texas; Mike McClesky of Denton; Tommy Messer of Gruver; Ronnie Hall of Amarillo; Sarah Antrobus Kendall of Plainview; Wilma Mann Lindley of Clarendon; Neel Carter of Elkhart, Kansas; Alice Johnson Davis of Clarendon; Beth Johnson Johnston of Clarendon.

Some of the classmates who could not attend sent letters and pictures for all to read and enjoy. These were: Johnny Rattan of Columbia, S.C.; Sharon Moore of Sacramento, Calif.; Vicki Barker Estey of San Diego, Calif.; Carolyn Taylor McKenzie of Brownfield; Norma Self of Chinle, Ariz.; James Kay of Arkadelphia, Ark.; Sherry Montgomery Semrad of Bloomington, Ind.

Where has the time gone? Much visiting and reminiscing went on. We want to thank God for pleasures like visiting with old friends once more.

Ladies plan golf tournament

Last Thursday we played low rough shots. Winners were: Championship flight - Bonnie Gooch, Medalist, Frances Skelton, Playday, 1st flight - Kay Hayes, medalist, Kathryn Cain and Diane Chamberlain tied for playday. 2nd flight - Helen Estlack, medalist, Lea Tyler and Evelyn Moore tied for playday.

Monday evening we had a "Scramble" so the working girls could play with the others. After playing most of us went upstairs and had delicious hamburgers. Winning teams were: Sandi Wallace, Peggy Minkley, Lea Tyler and Diane Mooring first; Claudia Thompson, Diane Chamberlain, Tiny Bernabe, Anita Speegle, Shirlee Hawkins, Bonnie Gooch, Lois McVickers and Thelma Waters tied for 2nd. Don't forget there's to be a call meeting (no regular luncheon) July 28 at 12:00 to discuss the tournament Aug. 4-5.

Farm Bureau to host picnic

The Donley County Farm Bureau Chicken Barbecue will be held July 29th, 7:00 p.m., at the Lelia Lake Community Center.

Please leave 1/2 chicken per person of your family at one of the following locations: Hedley Grocery at Hedley; Bylows or Cliffords Grocery in Clarendon. Chickens will be picked up by 12:00 noon the 29th.

Entertainment will be provided courtesy of Mike and Judy McCully at the organ and piano. All members are cordially invited.

Jeanie (Porter) Landreth of Denver was a recent visitor in the home of her sister, Mrs. Bill Lowe of Clarendon. Another sister Ann (Porter) Stuckman of Pontiac, Mich. was here for the visit. Ann and her husband were here for the 4th of July, and Mrs. Stuckman remained for a longer visit.

D. R. Lowe, of Columbia, Mo., son of Mrs. Walter Lowe has been dispatched to Damascus, Syria by the Soil Conservation Service. Lowe's purpose is to assist in the information that is expected to aid the Syrian producers in their per acre crop increase. He will spend about one month there.

Vera Lewis raises champions

Story and photos by Bob Litton

"You better grab the twitch, Jimmy. She ain't gonna like this," said Burl Hollar, 32, as he plugged a shearing machine cord into an electrical outlet.

The sorrel yearling filly tossed its head nervously as 19-year-old Jimmy Stewart brought two small steel rods, connected together like a pair of pliers, up toward the yearling's head. He patted her nose briefly and then clamped the rods around her nostrils.

Hollar stuffed a cotton tassel into her ear and started trimming the hair-growth within the ear of the colt. After finishing both ears, Hollar trimmed and curried the mane.

"She's never had this done to her before," Hollar explained. "That's why we had to use the twitch. After she gets used to the shears, we won't need the twitch anymore. I put the pompon into her ear to prevent hairs from falling inside and starting an infection."

When the haircut was completed, Stewart led the prancing yearling into a sandy pen within the breeding barn, tied her halter to the back wall and then turned a hose on her at slow speed.

The filly obviously wasn't used to water either. She tensed her muscles, flared her nostrils, whinnied and stomped about as much as the short halter's length would allow. As her hide wetted, gleaming highlights gave depth to her musculature. Her eyes were at their widest, and short wheezing snorts came from her flaring nostrils. All the vitality of Nature seemed concentrated in that one being.

"This is her first bath, too," Hollar said. "We're getting these yearlings ready for a sale in Ruidosa Downs this coming Labor Day."

Burl Hollar is the stallion manager and resident trainer on Vera Lewis' 160-acre horse breeding farm in Ashtola. He's the archetypal trainer: tall, lanky, affable and patient. He wears high-topped boots with his jeans stuffed into them and a red baseball cap while working.

Hollar loves horses enough to take exception to any suggestion that horses are less intelligent than cows. "I guess what they mean by that is that a cow wouldn't damage itself like a horse will," Hollar said. "A horse will run straight into a fence."

"Still, you can't train a cow to cut out calves -- or colts. You can train a horse to do a lot of things, and then he'll seem pretty intelligent to you. It's all in the training."

"Of course, I get mad at them, and then I'll call them the dumbest creatures alive. But usually, when they do something that makes you mad it will all be because of something you did that was wrong in the first place."

"Horses have personalities just as people do. That's why you can't say it takes such-and-such a time to train a horse. They're just like children. If they've been trained to do something and they don't do it right and you spank them, why, they'll know why you hit them."

GOLDFINGERS, a stallion at the Lewis farm, is an AQHA Champion.

"But if they don't know what they should have done and you spank them, then they won't know what the spanking's for."

He held up his right forefinger, which was swollen. "A mare kicked me there," he said, "and I was mad, but later I realized it was all due to something I had done wrong, not the horse."

Besides being stallion manager and resident trainer, Burl Hollar also functions as medic. He filled two hypodermic needles with a sulfa drug and gave one to his visitor to hold, saying with a grin, "If you stick around here long enough we'll put you to work."

Then he walked over to a chute where a 4-month-old colt nervously stood with flies about its eyes and a thin line of foam along its lips. Hollar injected the sulfa into the colt's neck and rump and set it loose.

"Distemper in a colt is just like the cold or flu in a human baby," Hollar said. "The sulfa will help him get through it."

Stitched on the front of Burl Hollar's cap is a patch with the words "You can believe in Sonoita Blue, AQHA Champion." Sonoita Blue had served as a stud on the Lewis farm for four years before he died last year after eating a rare poison weed. He was seven years old at his death.

The top stallion on the farm now is Goldfingers, whose titles include: AQHA Champion; National High Point Steer-roping Stallion; World's Champion Heeling Horse; and High Point Halter Stallion of Nebraska in 1976. He has serviced 80 mares this year on the Lewis farm.

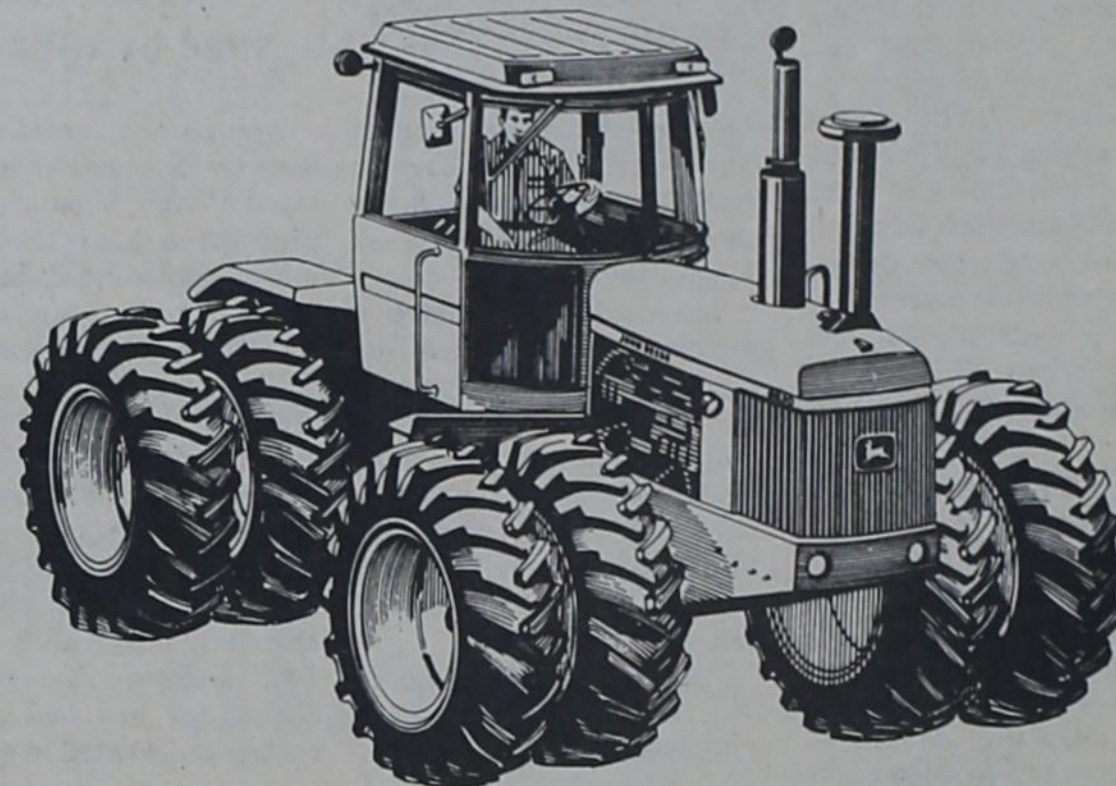

"Mrs. Lewis keeps one to two stallions here," said Bob Boston, general manager of the farm. "She has about 30 brood mares of her own, and about four years ago we started accepting mares from other places for breeding. We get mares here from as far away as Maryland. Last year we had one from Florida.

"Most breeding takes place around the first of February because the gestation period is 11 months and all the registering of new colts is done in January," Boston said. "But we get stragglers in until mid-July. Most people quit breeding their horses by the first of July."

According to Burl Hollar, however, it "just ain't natural" to breed horses in the late winter. "The mares aren't settled yet," he said. "From April to July is when the mares are more settled."

Hollar said that determining when a mare is in heat is probably the hardest part of his job. "Every once in a while you'll get one in 'silent heat,'" he said, "some are so quiet about it. And some might stay in heat for as long as 90 days after they've been bred."

"Ordinarily," said Bob Boston, "it takes 20 days to breed a mare and another 40 days to tell if she's pregnant. We don't like to keep them in these stables and corrals any longer than we have to because it wears a horse down to be out of pasture too long," Boston said.

In one of the stables a yearling colt whinnied excitedly, bucked and rammed against the gate as she watched another yearling being led out of the stable yard by Jimmy Stewart. Shortly, however, Stewart returned and took the excited colt out, too.

"Jimmy's taking them to the hotwalker," Hollar explained.

Around one corner of the barn under some shade trees stood a large metal-and-ropes contraption that resembled a merry-go-round. In the center of the "merry-go-round" or "hotwalker," as Hollar termed it, stood Stewart. Around him trotted four yearling colts.

"They use hotwalkers at race tracks to cool horses down after a race," Hollar said. "Here we use it as an exerciser. That's all that colt was making the ruckus about. She just had excess energy and wanted to get out and play."

A colt's way of saying, "Let's go out and play!" certainly differs from a pup's scratching on the screen door. And giving a colt a bath seems in no way to compare with dunking a kitten in the tub. Yet it's all a matter of magnitude. A full grown stallion pawing at the ground and letting out a hearty whinny is a good antidote for a man who, used to manipulating pups and kittens, has come to assume he can easily master the entire animal kingdom.

DONLEY COUNTY 4-H'ers ATTEND LEADERSHIP CAMP

Three Donley County 4-H'ers attended 4-H leadership Electric Camp at Camp Scott Able near Cloudcroft, New Mexico, July 11-15, 1977. Starla Mann, Mary Hermesmeyer, and Jamie McAneer were among the group of ninety-five who attended the camp from District 1.

Southwestern Public Service Company sponsors the camp each summer for 4-H'ers, ages 14 and up. Officials from Amarillo conducted classes on (1) Wise Energy Use of Appliances, (2) Home Wiring and Electric Generation, and (3) Home Insulation and Crafts. Each 4-H'er attended the sessions on electricity during the day.

District 1 4-H Council members planned recreation for the remaining time at camp. Tournaments were conducted in ping pong, volleyball, shuffleboard, washers, and horseshoes. Training for all boys and girls was given in recreation and citizenship.

Agent Cynthia Manning accompanied the Donley County 4-H'ers to Camp Scott Able.

Medical Center gathers $450 toward fence

Monies generated by the Medical Center Nursing Home's Stanley Party on June 22, 1977 totaled $240.00 coupled with $210.00 donations. These monies will be used to fence an area around the patio and purchase a cover.

This places us well on the way to our goal of an estimated $1500.00 for the project. The Medical Center extends its sincere thanks to those individuals who purchased Stanley Products or made a donation and request that anyone willing to donate money or labor for the project, contact the Business Office.

Mrs. Eugene (Taylor) Stevenson has been visiting here the last ten days with Mrs. Walter Lowe. They spent the time doing lots of visiting with friends. Mrs. Stevenson is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Crockett Taylor. Mrs. Stevenson departed Friday for her home in Houston.

Ernie Houdashell

KGNC promotes Houdashell

Ernie Houdashell, a 1965 graduate of Hedley High School and son of Mrs. Della Lindeville of Hedley, has won promotion at KGNC Radio in Amarillo from his present position of farm editor to Farm and Ranch Director.

The advancement was announced by newly appointed General Manager Royce Bodiford who takes over as GM July 18 with the reassignment of present manager George Logan to WIBW-TV as general manager of the flagship of the Stauffer Communications chain.

While attending HHS, Houdashell was active in FFA and attended the State FFA Dairy Judging Contest in 1964. He was later a journalism major at WTSU in Canyon and studied radio-TV at Amarillo College before joining KGNC in 1973.

Working as a KGNC farm editor, Houdashell has travelled widely both in Texas and throughout the Cotton Belt. He produces a daily feature for the KGNC-based American Cotton Network, "Cotton Close-up."

Houdashell is married; he and his wife Sandra have two sons, Clay, 6, and Scott, 3.

Farm safety week

1. The tractor to tumble. Stay as far away from the edge as the drop-off is deep. Operate at a safe speed while turning and towing heavy loads. If necessary, use front end weights to balance the load for tractor control.

2. Display the Slow Moving Vehicle (SMV) emblem when operating on a road or highway. Check lights and reflectors periodically.

3. Keep the power takeoff shaft guarded and shields in place. This shaft can be a merciless killer and crippler.

4. Prevent tractor rear-up or flip by hitching loads low or at recommended points on the drawbar. Don't hitch high or wrap chains around the axle; a backward flip can happen in less than a second.

5. Kill the engine and set brakes while servicing equipment. You can not control the tractor after you leave the seat.

6. Carry a chemical fire extinguisher, a first-aid kit and other protective equipment you might need.

7. Train tractor operators in safety.

8. Check tractor operator manuals for safety information.

Remember: you, your family and employees are responsible for safe operation of equipment. Plan now to avoid an accident this summer.

McAnear twins celebrate birthday

Todd and Jennifer McAnear, 7 year old twins of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie McAnear, celebrated their birthday July 14th. A party was held in the home of their parents. Approximately 25 guests enjoyed games, cake, ice cream and punch.

Mrs. Ronnie McAnear and children, Todd, Jennifer and Elizabeth spent the weekend at Hilltop Lake. Mrs. McAnear's brothers and their wives, Jim and Loyce Moore of Austin, and John and Cathy Moore of Waxahachie met them at the lake. Todd and Jennifer returned home with Jim and Loyce for a few days. Jim then flew the twins to Abilene, where they were met by their grandfather Dr. R. L. Gilkey, who brought them home.

Gooch urges farm safety

Editor's Note: The week of July 25 through July 31, 1977, has been proclaimed National Farm Safety Week by President Jimmy Carter.

Large round balers are proving to be a useful addition to many farm and ranch machine sheds. However, operators should be aware of the hazards associated with their use, cautions Ronald Gooch, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Recently, a Texas farmer was injured when he lifted a big round bale too high with his front-end loader and the bale rolled down the arms of the loader onto the driver. In another mishap, a Kentucky farmer did not escape with injuries but was crushed and died from a similar accident. Remember, a round bale weighs from 800 to 1500 pounds.

Other injuries have also been recorded. In one case, a farmer amputated one arm when he attempted to clean the clogged intake of a big round baler while it was operating. In another case, a farmer watching the discharge of bales was killed when the machine operator failed to notice him inspecting the machine and lowered the rear gates of the baler.

Gooch emphasizes that these tragedies and others might have been prevented through the use of recommended work procedures regarding big round bales:

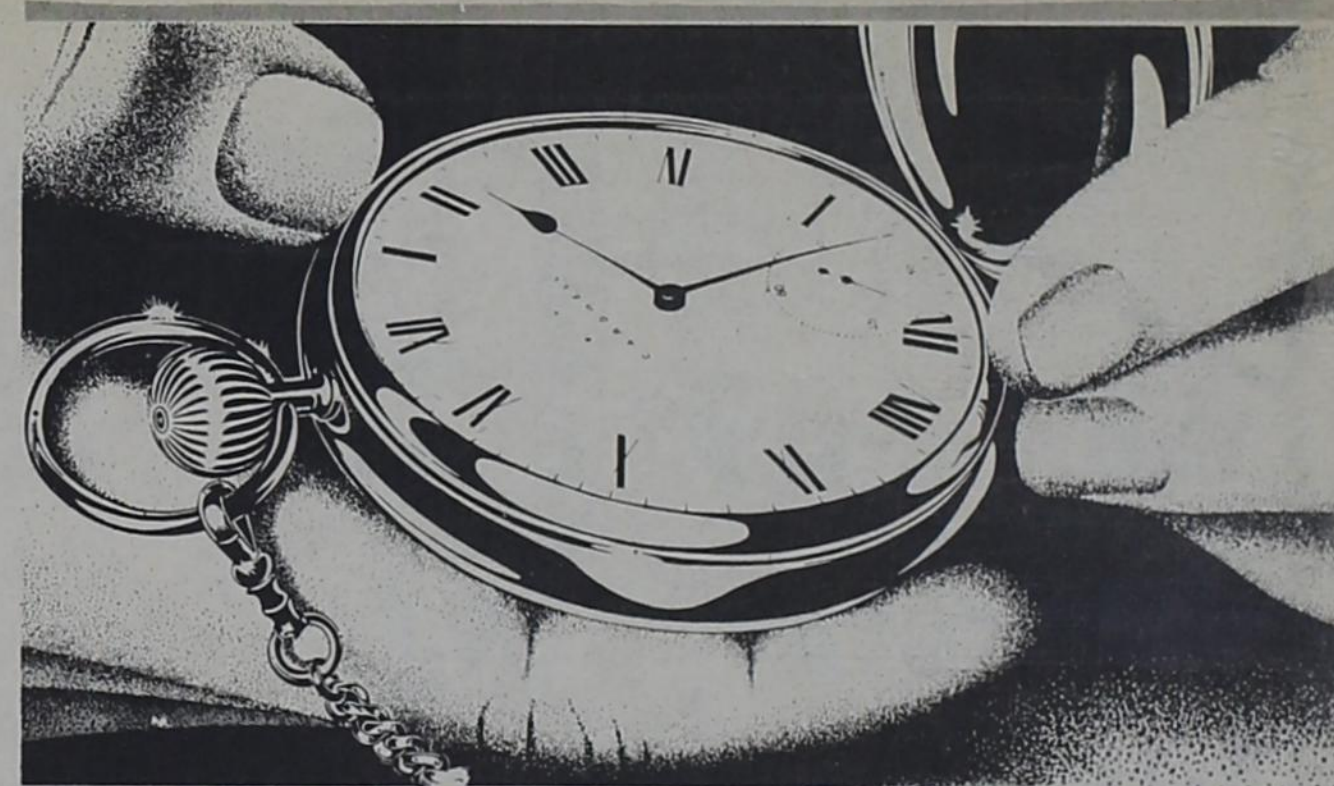

1. When possible, use a rear-mounted bale transport device.

2. Keep the load low and the speed slow if a front-end loader is used to transport heavy round bales.

3. Ballast the rear of the tractor to improve traction and stability when using a front-mounted loader.

4. Don't raise the bale high enough on a front-end loader to see underneath--the next thing under the bale may be you.

5. Watch for bystanders when operating baler gates. Stay away from moving parts.

NO TIME FOR GOD?

It's a busy world teeming with millions of busy people . . . coming and going, eating and drinking, laughing and crying, being born and dying.

Most folks in our age find themselves engulfed in extremely tight time schedules . . . involving many and varied activities . . . and the tempo of such a busy, hurried life seems to increase each day. Some can't take it and crack under the strain. Others seek refuge through tranquilizers and still others through alcohol.

Time is the most precious commodity on the market in such a swirling civilization. Who has enough time? Most readily confess to lacking the time to accomplish the really important things in life. Yet many of us do have plenty of time but never seem to get around to doing the things we know we ought to do.

Many resolve to seriously read the Bible to learn of its truths, its commands, and its promises . . . but the sacred volume is seldom investigated and rarely picked up . . . except at dusting time. Not enough time.

Many express an interest in becoming a Christian but to date remain out of Christ. Too busy. Not enough time.

Many parents want to become closer to their children and take more of a personal interest in them . . . only to see the little ones grow up and go away with the best time for real understanding and companionship gone forever. Too busy. Not enough time.

The Bible was written for the present. No man knows what tomorrow will bring. One thing the Bible does not promise any man is another day . . . or even another hour . . . or even another minute.

Man's most important mission in life is to learn the will of God, to submit completely to its teachings, and to be governed by the eternal spiritual values rather than the fleeting material things of life. This is our supreme challenge.

Do you have time to learn of God? Do you have time to obey his will and thereby glorify your Maker? Every man will have time to die and to be judged by Christ. To be prepared will require time, our best time.

A life with no time for God is both foolish and tragic.

To such a covetous farmer, the Lord once said, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee . . ." (Luke 12:20).

I was misinformed on some of the Lions Club members and their perfect attendance pins. They should have read: Neal Mann, five years; Glenn Doty, six years; Jim Corgill, three years; Will Corgill, three years; Lynn Cherry, three years; Mel Mills, three years; Albert Moore, two years; B. F. Crossland, one year; Frank Mahaffey, one year; and Wilson Maxey, one year. I hope I didn't leave any one out. Sorry about last week. Please don't forget Lions Club this Saturday evening.

Visitors in the home of the Ed Castners and Mrs. Boon this week were their brother and son, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beasley of Fresno, California with their grandsons, Scott and Robin of Bakersfield, California. Sunday visitors were the M. A. Beasleys of Memphis, the Milton Beasleys and children, Allen, Mary Alice and Billy of Memphis, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Collins of Estelline and Mr. and Mrs. Don Beasley of Amarillo. Everyone had a joyful time visiting and reminiscing.

The Howardwick community building was the scene of the Weightman reunion last week. The brother and five sisters of Lois (Weightman) McVicker and their children and grandchildren totaled sixty-one who attended. Those who enjoyed the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Weightman, Concord, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. John McVicker, Howardwick; Mr.

and Mrs. Darrell McQueen, Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thatcher, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Conway, Sweetwater, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Music, Sayre, Okla.; Mrs. Wilbert Lowry, Sayre, Okla. Children and grandchildren were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Keeney, Karen, Jim, Tally and David of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Corbin, Steve and Shelly of Dumas; Mrs. John Gay, Kim, Kyle and Kelly of Amarillo; Mr. John Mike McVicker and Becky of Amarillo; Cheri, Monte and Misti McVicker of Tucson, Ariz.; Mary Rameriz, Amarillo; Wendy McQueen, Graham; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gross and son, Liberal, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. Barney Neeley and their three children of Sayre, Okla.; Mrs. Randy Cline, Fredrick, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Music, two children also of Sayre; Jamie and Diana Music, Sayre; Deanna Thatcher of Ft. Worth; Troy and Gwynna Conway, Sweetwater, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Weightman and three daughters of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lowry, Jr. and son of Elk City, Okla.

John and Lois McVicker had all children home over the Fourth and all twenty-four attended the Saints Roost barbecue in Clarendon for the Fourth. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Boone had their granddaughter, Robin Roundtree of Amarillo for a few days. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boone of Amarillo.

Velma Collins had her granddaughter and family, Lou and Charles Crockett and girls, Chandra and Beck of Wheeler for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon Moore enjoyed their granddaughter, Jane Thompson of Pampa for four days being here.

Albert and Trula Moore's son, Larry Moore of Oklahoma City brought his son, Thad, to spend the weekend with his grandparents.

Jim and Thelma Corgill put in a full day Saturday, canning. Their daughter, Martha Matlock and granddaughter, Brenda Ray and children, Misty and Jason of Amarillo came down to help can peas, beans, cucumbers and peaches. Jason is spending some time with his great grandparents.

Norma and Will Corgill's sister-in-law, May Lorraine, with daughter Ann Moore and granddaughter Carren Floyd of Mulshoe were visitors Saturday night and Sunday of the Corgills.

Sharon Mills had a checkup Friday and received a very good report.

Approximately forty attended the community covered dish supper Friday evening. Those of you who are missing these get-togethers are really missing a good meal.
