Two local men finish Para-Medic training

With the completion of instruction which began about the first of October, and the testing over the I.V. training, two Clarendon men will be prepared to administer I.V.'s just like Johnny and Roy do on television's Emergency.

Phil Vargas and Patrick Robertson are just two of some 52 persons who are receiving training and will help man and operate the Emergency vehicles on their errands of mercy to hospitals.

Pat and Phil have been attending classes for the last two and a half or three months at Radcliff Hall at Northwest Texas Hospital. Forty clinical hours of training are required and they have amassed 60 by attending 8 hour classes for approximately 9 weeks.

With the completion and final testing on the first unit of work, I.V. training, Pat and Phil will be fully qualified to administer intravenous medications under the directive of a doctor.

The Emergency Medical Services ambulances are all interconnected to maintain constant contact with Poison Control Center, Emergency Receiving Center in Amarillo, Suicide Crisis Center and other life saving units.

Just as it is done on T.V.'s Emergency, all medical aid is done under the supervision of a doctor or the scene and in the ambulance enroute to Amarillo or other medical destination.

The ambulance here in Clarendon, as are others in the program, is fully equipped with life support equipment.

This is the first time for the program in the panhandle. It is composed of three parts, The I.V., Airway Management, which will begin classes on January 20, and Advanced Cardiac Care slated to begin about the first of March and end about June 1.

When the training program is complete, 50 para-medics will graduate if all trainees remain with the course. This number represents the panhandle area.

Only 10 or 12 towns will go from Basic Life Support to Ambulance to Advanced Life Support. Included in the 50 persons in training are a number from Amarillo.

Following is information concerning the Emergency Medical Service of interest to all area residents.

The Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System was fully implemented in 1976. Prior to that time, the ambulances which existed were only minimally equipped. Most had no radio contact with hospitals or doctors; a few had contact with local law enforcement agencies. Most of the vehicles themselves were station wagons which were inefficient for patient transport. Today, most of the ambulances in the Texas Panhandle are vans, high top vans, and the larger modular ambulances. Nearly all of the Panhandle ambulances have UHF radio contact with all hospitals and other ambulances in the Panhandle as well as most law enforcement agencies. Through the Communicator in Amarillo, they also have "patch" capabilities with Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center, Neonatal Intensive Care unit, Suicide Prevention & Crisis Intervention, and the Poison Control Center. A toll free consultation line for the area doctors and nurses is available as well as a toll free hot line to Parkland Hospital's Burn Unit in Dallas. The Communicator has also installed a telewriter for deaf persons in the Panhandle to use when needing weather or other information or when needing medical assistance. This is used in conjunction with the telewriter equipment the deaf person has in his home.

I.V. fluid therapy is absolutely necessary to effectively treat cardiac arrest, burns, severe shock, severe hemorrhage, insulin shock, burns, and severe dehydration. It greatly enhances the chances of patient survival, and ultimately, his quick recovery.

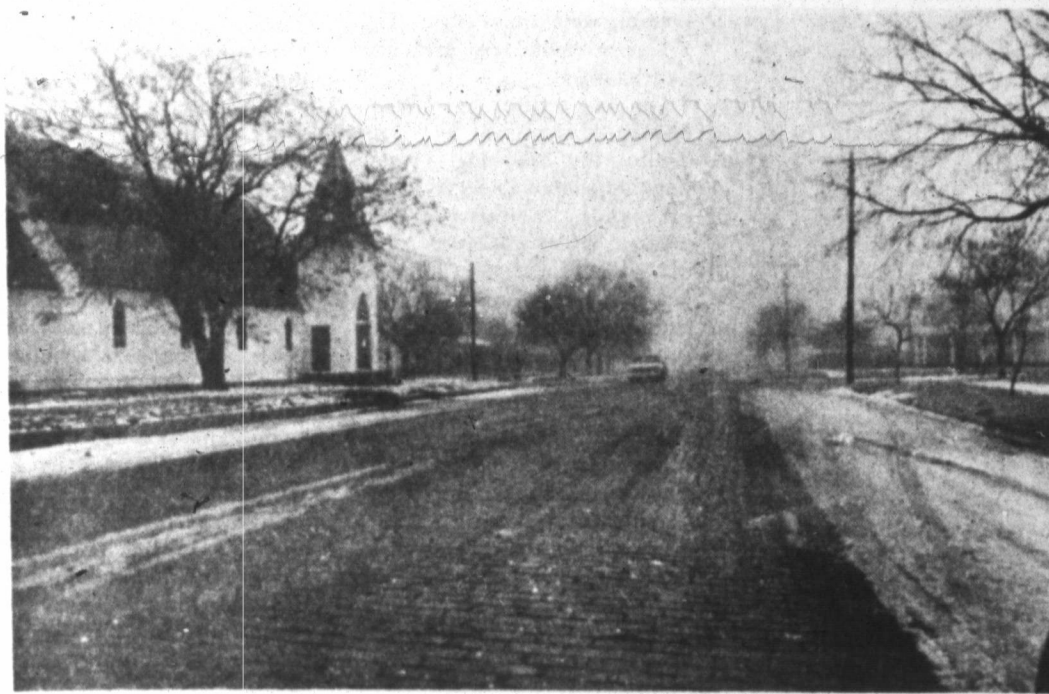

As intensive training procedures are increased, so are the number of lives saved increased. In the last several months, the Doctors and Nurses in the Emergency Departments in the Panhandle have commented that patients arriving at their Departments are in much more viable condition; they are usually much improved on hospital arrival compared to their condition at the scene.

Myocardial Infarction (Heart Attacks) May-December 1977 81% died before reaching the hospital. Feb-July 1978 27% died before reaching the Hospital. Deaths from Acute MI decreased 15.3% post-EMS compared to a 9.5% decrease statewide.

Vehicle death injury rates decreased 18.82% post EMS vs pre EMS. Pre-hospital deaths decreased from 46% to 15% from 1977 to 1978. In 1975 there were 4354 vehicular injuries with 113 deaths. Although there were 475 more injuries, there were 10 less deaths resulting from these.

In 1978, 41 communities had Basic Life Support Ambulances. In mid 1979, 14 of these communities will have Advanced Life Support Paramedic Ambulances. Clarendon will be

USDA - ASCS farm program provisions

1979 Farm Program Provisions Program Signup-February 15, through April 16

1979 WHEAT PROGRAM

1. National Loan Rate - $2.35 per bu.

2. Established (target) Price - $3.40 per bu.

3. National Program Acreage - 57.1 million acres

4. Target Price Guarantee - A program participant will qualify for a target price guarantee on all the wheat for harvest as grain when it is at least 15% less than the 1978 acres.

5. Set-Aside - 20% of the 1979 acreage for harvest as grain.

6. Grazing on Set-Aside - Grazing will be permitted for a 6 month period. Dates will be announced later.

7. Grazing and Hay Wheat Acreage for Payment - Does not Apply for 1979.

8. Cross compliance, offsetting compliance, and care of set-aside, NCA, and other program provisions will remain essentially the same as for 1978.

1979 FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

1. National Program Acreage -

A. Barley - 6.5 million acres

B. Corn - 63.7 million acres

C. Grain Sorghum - 13.2 million acres

2. Set-Aside Requirement -

A. Barley - 20%

B. Corn & Grain Sorghum - 10%

3. Voluntary Diversion

A. Does not apply to Barley

B. Is 10% of the 1979 acreage for corn and grain sorghum, optional for one or both commodities.

C. Payment will equal $1.00 times the established yield times the voluntary diversion.

D. There are no restrictions to the prior year acreage as in 1978. Any corn or grain sorghum producer meeting NCA requirements may have voluntary diversion.

E. No advance payments on voluntary diversion will be made.

4. Target Price (Bu.) -

A. Barley - $2.40

B. Corn - $2.20

C. Grain Sorghum - $2.30 - $4.11 cwt.

5. Loan Rate (Bu.) -

A. Barley - $1.63

B. Corn - $2.00

C. Grain Sorghum - $1.90 -

$3.39 cwt.

6. Deficiency Payment Guarantee - Deficiency payment, if any, is guaranteed on all the acreage when the 1978 acreage is underplanted in 1979 by:

A. Barley - 30%

B. Corn & Grain Sorghum - 10%

Wheat and feed grain low yield

Payment is made on any production loss below 60% of the farm payment yield, multiplied by the acreage of wheat or feed grain affected by natural disaster. Payment rates are:

Wheat - $1.70; Barley - $1.20;

Corn - $1.10; Grain Sorghum - $1.15 (Bushel)

1979 Upland Cotton Program

1. National Program Acreage - 10,634,181

The National Program Acreage (NPA) is an estimate of the number of acres needed to meet domestic needs, export demand and provide a desirable carryover. It may be revised later for purposes of determining the national allocation factor, but it cannot be reduced below the statutory minimum of 10 million acres. The 1979 allocation factor will be determined by dividing the final NPA by the estimated, national harvested acreage of the 1979 crop. This factor cannot exceed 100%.

2. Established (Target) Price - 57.7 cents per pound.

3. Set-Aside Required - NONE for 1979

4. National Loan Rate - The preliminary loan rate is 50.23 cents per pound based on strict low-middling 1-1/16 inch cotton (micronaire 3.5 through 4.9) at average U.S. locations.

5. Deficiency Payment Guarantee - If deficiency payments are made, producers who voluntarily reduce their 1979 upland cotton acreage from their 1978 acreage planted or considered planted, by at least 15% will receive payments on their entire planted acreage. Producers who do not reduce their planted acreage will receive deficiency payments (provided such payments are made) subject to the allocation factor times the planted acres of upland cotton. Deficiency payments will be made if the national average price received by farmers during calendar 1979 is below the target price. Cotton producers will receive a deficiency payment at a rate equal to the difference between the amount received at spot markets over the nation and the target price, not to exceed the difference between the target price and loan rate. The maximum per pound deficiency payment that can be paid is the difference between the target price and the loan rate.

6. Low Yield Payment - For low yields, payment is made on any production loss below 75% of the farm payment yield, multiplied by the acreage of upland cotton planted for harvest. The payment rate per pound is one-third of the target price or 19.2 cents.

Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) Requirements -

If wheat, corn, grain sorghum, or barley is

Sorority to have Queen of Hearts Ball

This year's Queen of Hearts Ball will be held February 2, 1979 at the Clarendon Country Club from 8 - 12 p.m. Cost of the tickets will be $10 per person. Music for the dance will be provided by a D.J. from Amarillo.

Proceeds from the Charity Ball will be divided equally between the fund for the Community Center and the Gabie Betts Burton City-County Library.

Anyone wanting tickets may contact any member of Beta Sigma Phi or Xi Lambda Xi chapters of the sorority.

CHAMBERLAIN COMMUNITY CENTER

Chamberlain Community Center will have their regular meeting Friday, January 19, at 7 p.m.

Bring sandwiches, chips, dips and cookies and come.

Hosts and hostesses for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Pete Darnell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dangler.

After record breaking freezing weather -- it clears

Weather weary residents of Clarendon and the immediate area saw a full day of sunshine Sunday for the first time in so many days the sunshades came out to protect unaccustomed eyes.

Monday the temperatures really began to moderate and for most residents it was an end to being shut in, coping with frozen plumbing and generally warming up.

Weather related events have taken their toll of health due to numerous falls, broken bones and exposure to severe low temperatures.

Plumbers have been in demand to thaw or repair broken pipes and city crews have worked to chaw mains and meters, repair leaking lines and mains and pick up trash where the ice slick streets and alleys permitted.

An electrical short due to high winds left Greenbelt Water Authority without power about 3 a.m. Saturday and city water superintendent Bill Weatherly was advised of the situation shortly thereafter. He started pumping water in Clarendon until the repair was made at the plant about 8 a.m.

The system which left Greenbelt Water Authority without power left many communities in the panhandle without electric or telephone service and sub freezing temperatures prevented firefighters from giving much needed aid to fires that broke out during this time.

City Secretary Bill Weatherly wishes to express, on behalf of the City of Clarendon, sincere thanks to the city's residents for their understanding and patience during the unprecedented cold weather and the inconvenience they personally endured.

Lone Star Gas Company customers were informed early Monday morning of curtailed gas supplies due to a transmission line break.

The monitoring system discovered trouble about 3 a.m. Monday and the break was found between Benjamin and Chillicothe. Service was affected from Wichita Falls to Clarendon, and company personnel began to notify customers of the situation and ask for their cooperation in the reduced consumption of gas while repairs were being made.

The line which broke was a 12 in. line. The line had to be bled, cleared of all gas, before repairs could be made. These repairs were made quickly and service was resumed in the line in about eight hours from the time the trouble started.

Gene Swearingen wants it to be known how much Lone Star Gas Company and their employees appreciate the immediate response to the request to reduce the consumption of gas until repairs were made.

Thermostats were cut back, and in some instances business curtailed, schools were closed and with these measures in effect the situation was soon taken care of, thanks to users cooperation.

It is not known whether the line break was weather related or not. One thing is known, when the break did come the weather had warmed up and no one was in danger of suffering the effects of the cold.

Service for Clyde Mooring Held in Lubbock

Mrs. Edna Clyde Mooring died January 13 in Lubbock. Services were held in Lubbock at Franklin-Bartlett Funeral Home and interment was in San Antonio on Wednesday under the direction of Porter-Loren Funeral Directors.

Mrs. Mooring was born in 1899 in Bastrop County, Texas. She married Edd Mooring in 1954. He preceded her in death in 1978. They had made their home at Lelia Lake.

Mrs. Mooring had recently sold her home and moved away from the Clarendon area.

She is survived by four sisters, one brother and eight grandchildren.

Joe Burr benefit pancake supper

There will be a Joe Burr Benefit pancake supper in the Hedley School Cafeteria beginning at 5:30 p.m., Friday, Jan. 26.

Two basketball games between the Hedley and McLean High School boys and girls will follow the supper. The girls' game will begin at 6:30. These are conference games.

This supper, sponsored by the Hedley Lion and Lioness Clubs, is to help the Joe Burr family meet the extensive medical expenses of Joe's illness. Proceeds from the concession stand and a sale of baked goods will also go to this cause.

Price of the supper is $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12. Come out and enjoy a good supper for a good cause.

City receives $2,272.45

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Monday said the January allocation of the local option one percent sales tax to Texas cities will exceed $18.1 million.

This month's rebate is about $300,000 less than the state paid to some 900 Texas cities during the same one-month period last year.

Texas cities received a record $424.8 million during 1978 as their share of the city sales tax, an increase of 17 percent over the previous year, Bullock said.

Clarendon received $2,272.45 as compared to $1,518.76 for this same period last year. This amounts to a 49% increase over this period last year.

Compared to other area towns of comparable size, Clarendon is in an enviable position.

PRPC to review service system for older persons

The Panhandle Area Agency on Aging would like to invite the residents of Donley, Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Briscoe, and Hall Counties to participate in the public review of the 1979 Area Plan for Progress Toward a Comprehensive Coordinated Service System for Older Persons.

Review copies of the Plan and forms on which to make comment will be available at the Donley County Senior Citizens Center, 103 East 4th, Clarendon, Texas, on January 17, 19, 22, 24, 26 and 29, 1979, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Staff from the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging in Amarillo will be at the Clarendon Center from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon, and 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m., Wednesday, January 31, 1979, to answer inquiries about the Plan and to receive the written comments and suggestions of interested parties.

Public reviews of the Plan are also being held in other areas of the Panhandle on other dates.

one of the 14 in the Texas Panhandle to have this. Paramedic Class (I.V. Fluid Therapy Module) started October 7, 1978 and ended December 16, 1978. The Airway Management-Intubation module will begin on January 20, 1979 and run through approximately the first of March 1979, at which time, the first Paramedic class will join us and we will all complete the Advanced Cardiac Care module on approximately June 1, 1979. At that time, approximately 50 Paramedics will graduate, being the first Paramedic Class in the Texas Panhandle ever.

The EMS Communications Center (Comcenter) is located at 4th and Taylor in the basement of the courthouse annex in Amarillo. The dispatcher is on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week. All ambulances in the Panhandle making runs, coordinate their runs and check in and out with the dispatcher on duty. All calls are logged, all radio patches are done there, and all telephone and radio communications are recorded and logged. In addition, all of the area Law Enforcement agencies, Amarillo Fire Department, and Amarillo Department of Public Safety radio calls are monitored and acknowledged when Emergency Medical Services are needed. The public is invited to go by there anytime they are in Amarillo and let the dispatcher show you around, explain what is going on and why. Feel free to stay as long as you want. The door is usually open on weekdays during the day. Due to the downtown location, it is usually locked nights and weekend but you can call ahead by dialing 372-4121 and letting them know when you will arrive. Please feel free to go by anytime, day or night.

At this time EMS is in need of ambulance drivers. The number has been short and two of the drivers are moving soon. Rev. and Mrs. McGarity who will be sorely missed. If you are interested please contact Phillip Vargas or Patrick Robertson for details.

On the front page of the Clarendon Press beginning this week readers will find the telephone number of the EMS (Emergency Medical Services). This is the same listed in the telephone directory on page one. This is a toll free number, there is no charge to the person calling, and is to be used only in a medical emergency. Learn the number or put in near or on your telephone.

Imogene King service held

Services for Miss Imogene King were at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church, of Memphis. The Rev. Paul Hancock of Clarendon officiated. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery.

Miss King died Sunday in Duncan, Oklahoma.

Born in Farmersville, Miss King was a retired funeral director. She was a member of First Baptist Church, Eastern Star and the Atlantean Club.

Survivors include a nephew, Dr. C.H. Smith of Duncan and four nieces, Mrs. Art Bralley of Amarillo, Mrs. Charles Jones of San Bernardino, California, Mrs. Harold Phelps of Clarendon, and Mrs. Harry Boswell of Memphis.

Probably the most difficult time an author ever had trying to place a book was experienced by Gilbert Young. His "World Government Crusade" received 106 publishers' rejections.

TECHNOLOGY ON THE MOVE

The Well-Dressed Astronaut Of The '80s

When America's new Space Shuttle enters service, the astronaut aboard will use an advanced space suit developed for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The two-piece suit consists of a flexible pants portion and a hard upper section. A permanently attached backpack contains the suit's life-support system; the control unit on the chest regulates and monitors the system.

The demonstrator space suit, below, is mounted on a simulated Space Shuttle bulkhead to illustrate how actual suits will be stowed when not in use. Both its backpack and control unit are mockups, but the suit itself can actually be pressurized.

The engineer in the photo is modeling an undergarment that will cool and ventilate astronauts, inside their space suits. Excess body heat is removed by water circulated through thin plastic tubing woven into the garment's fabric, and by oxygen carried through the hose-like tubes along the legs, arms, and back.

Because of its two-piece design, the new suit is easy to don. The entire process — from pants to helmet and gloves — takes about five minutes.

Arsonists Beware: Arson Now On FBI Crime Reporting List

Arson is a crime that cost approximately $2 billion annually in property losses, plus $500 million and 10,000 injuries, said Senator John Glenn (D-Ohio).

Recently, the Federal Government took a major step toward combating arson when President Carter signed a bill...

Senator Glenn and Charles Percy (R-Ill.) should be commended on their nearly two-year effort to have arson reclassified as a crime...

The bill making arson a major crime status means several things. The FBI will now list arson as a major crime for the purpose of the FBI Uniform Crime Reporting Statistics...

However, more needs to be done according to Jackson. "Reclassifying arson is an important step, but just one of many that must be taken to combat this crime."

Another area of concern is the historical debate between fire and police officials about responsibility for arson investigation. Fire fighters are seldom trained in law enforcement work...

Only cooperation among these groups, along with increased training of fire and police departments and local fire departments, can combat this rapidly spreading crime, concluded Jackson.

time in prison. "Now that the new arson bill has been signed into law, police and fire departments need to upgrade the arson training of their employees as well as cooperate in building better communication with each other."

Insurance companies, too, are looking for ways to control arson. Studies estimate that insurance losses due to arson exceed $2 billion annually.

An increasing number of insurance companies are successfully refusing to pay suspicious fire claims, regardless of the expense and vulnerability to punitive damage.

These companies are convinced that a major factor in reducing arson losses is to get together with suspicious claims and show that insurance fraud is no longer a low risk money maker.

In order to successfully remove arson expenses from its balance sheet, some companies, such as Allstate, have formed cooperative relationships with a growing number of individuals and agencies concerned with arson.

Anti-arson committees composed of fire fighters, police, prosecutors, state fire marshals and insurance industry representatives have formed in 22 states. These groups seek to share information on arson and to develop solutions to the problem.

Power Shortage Would Affect

Fortunately, America already has the domestic resources and the technology necessary to meet our growing energy needs by the year 2000. A leading energy expert points out how critical it is to our economic well-being that we waste no time in making good the road to energy independence.

This article is excerpted from a report given to the American Association of the World's largest single supplier of electricity, the American Electric Power Co., Inc. by Dr. Thomas A. Vanderslice, Senior Vice President with General Electric.

The United States will face an electric power shortage that will short circuit up to 2 million jobs and generate higher electricity prices if projected needs for nuclear power and coal production are not met by the 1980's.

Most forecasts of electric load growth in the U.S. for the next decade are in the 11 to 15 percent range. To meet even the low end of this demand would require that 200 plus new units of generating capacity in addition to 200 units already in order be installed by 1990, requiring some 70 new sites.

If these sites are not approved, we will have about 17 percent less capacity in 1990 than we believe is necessary to avoid serious curtailment of service and widespread economic dislocations.

Coal and nuclear combined are expected to account for some 70 percent of all electricity produced in the U.S. in 1985. At this time, there exists, in effect, a de facto moratorium on new sites. In addition, three quarter million barrels of oil per day in 1985 and would cause actual electricity shortages by 1990 over much of the nation. Electricity reserves margins would drop to 13 percent. Since 20 percent is generally considered the minimum safe margin, the likelihood of serious brownouts and curtailments of service, particularly in those areas that are especially dependent upon coal and nuclear, such as industrial heartland, the entire Central U.S. and New England.

The increased utilization of oil-fired generating facilities would further fuel inflation with a national average rise of electricity prices of 15 percent. Nuclear is still the lowest cost way of generating a kilowatt hour, with coal next. Oil is the most expensive.

But an electricity shortfall is only part of the overall picture.

We also found what would happen with just a 15 percent shortfall in total domestic energy supplies including those used in transportation, heating and other nonelectric applications.

Such a shortfall would result in a 25 percent drop in the average annual growth in GNP for the period from 1978 to 1985, and a decline in the average growth rate of business investment from five and a half percent to a little over two percent. In dollars, that decline would equal $160 billion.

It would also increase the unemployment rate two points from just under five percent—which is what is expected by 1985—to at least seven percent. Three million fewer jobs would be available to the work force. This is particularly critical because the U.S. will have to create about 18 million new jobs in the next 10 years.

This is by no means a worst case scenario. The electricity shortfall case previously presented would account for about half of the total domestic energy short (all of 15 percent). We can and must afford the costs which are necessary to make energy production and use compatible with the environment, but the cost of implementing environmental goals can only be shouldered if we have a robust economy.

new nuclear plant orders, and new fossil plants are encountering similar opposition and delays, with large-scale mining and burning of coal coming under environmental guns.

DRI, one of the nation's leading independent economic forecasting organizations, points out that a moratorium on new nuclear plants and a slowing in the growth of coal production would require the importa-

TOOTH Facts & Fancies

While many people struggle to maintain the health of their teeth because they know they can't grow new ones there actually have been a few cases of people late in life growing a third set of teeth. There was even a report in 1896 of someone growing a fourth set.

A new way to maintain the health of your teeth is called ToothPro, a home dental care system that cleans teeth like a professional dental machine. It was developed by dental scientists including the developer of Crest. Clinical tests at a leading dental school showed that it cleans and polishes teeth safely and more effectively than a regular or electric tooth brush.

According to superstition if you drink from a dirty pool your teeth will fall out. Not only that but anyone finding your teeth will be able to control your every action.

It may set your teeth on edge to know that early Mexican doctors told toothache sufferers to eat an armadillo twice a month.

Facts from a pro on driving to survive.

Q: During the recent ice storms I noticed highway crews often put sand or gravel on freeway overpasses, but not on the ground level stretches of highway. Why?—N.B., Waco

A: It's a matter of priorities. Overpasses and bridges get colder and freeze faster because the air is cooling them on both sides. They can freeze even when the rest of the highway (partially insulated by the ground beneath) remains unfrozen.

Icy roads are rare in much of Texas and motorists lack experience with that kind of hazard. Always slow your speed in freezing weather, even without other traffic on the road. Remember, your tires don't have much traction on that slippery surface. Be especially cautious on bridges, curves and hills.

Q: Is a wet road more slippery the colder it gets?—B.R., Houston

A: No. Conditions can be most dangerous just at 32 degrees, when unfrozen water may be found on top of a layer of ice. You simply must reduce your traveling speed in such weather. Also, avoid sudden braking or steering movements; they can trigger a skid. If you do slip into a skid, don't slam on the brakes; you'll only make things worse. Let up on the gas and steer into the skid until you regain control.

Q: Obviously the faster you are going when you have a wreck, the more dangerous it is. But are there statistics which show how much more so?—R.M., San Marcos.

A: Plenty. The probability of a fatality in a crash roughly doubles as travelling speed increases from 45 to 60 mph, and doubles again as speed increases to 70 mph. They didn't just pull the 55 mph speed limit out of a hat. In 1974, the first year of 55 mph, national highway deaths dropped by 9,393.

County 4-H'ers are exhibiting their livestock projects in Amarillo

Donley County 4-H'ers are exhibiting their livestock projects at the Amarillo Livestock Show in Amarillo this week according to County Extension Agent Ronald Gooch. The 4-H'ers will exhibit 22 steers, 4 heifers and 1 barrow.

The 4-H'ers showing steers are Phil and Melody Moreman, Jamie, Lisa and Rodney McAnear, Jay Lindley, Jack Craft, Dean and Doug Hawkins, Starla and Susan Mann, Lance and Drew Thornberry and Mary Héfmesmeyer.

The steers will be judged on Friday, January 19 at 8:00 a.m. by Dr. Gary Minish. Phil and Melody Moreman will exhibit Hereford heifers and the judging will be at 9:00 a.m. Saturday, January 20. Lori Robinson will exhibit a barrow. The barrows will be judged starting at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, January 19 and at 8:30 on Saturday.

A 4-H and FFA livestock judging contest will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, January 21. The 4-H and FFA livestock auction sale for prize winning animals will be held at 1:00 p.m. in the new Rex Baxter Exhibit Building, Gooch said.

4-H'er place at Sand Hills Hereford Show

Donley County 4-H'ers won some top awards at the Sand Hills Hereford Show in Odessa last week according to County Extension Agent Ronald Gooch. Melody Moreman placed 2nd with her summer yearling, with the champion heifer coming from this class. Melody also placed 2nd with her junior heifer calf standing behind the reserved champion heifer. Phil Moreman placed 4th with his senior heifer and 5th with his summer yearling.

In the Hereford steer show Phil Moreman placed 5th with his heavy weight that was grand champion of the Donley County Steer Show. Lance Thornberry placed 20th and Rodney McAnear placed 21st in the heavy weight class. Drew Thornberry placed 7th with his medium heavy weight. Ray Lindley placed 11th, and Doug Hawkins placed 18th in the same class. Susan Mann placed 22nd with her middle weight steer. Mary Héfmesmeyer and Starla Mann also exhibited steers.

The 4-H'ers were accompanied by Jerry Hawkins, Jack Moreman, Don Thornberry and County Agent Ronald Gooch. The following people from Donley County attended the judging on Thursday: Mr. and Mrs. Bud Héfmesmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindley, Mrs. Jack Moreman, Mrs. Don Thornberry, Mr. and Mrs. James A. McAnear, Jr. and Lori and Mrs. Ronald Gooch and Donald.

Drew Thornberry and Ray Lindley sold their steers in the auction sale for 85 and 88 cents per pound.

Medical Center news

On Wednesday, January 10, 1979, we had a belated birthday party for Irene Gray. She was born January 6, 1895.

Irene moved to Donley County when she was 19 years old. She is the mother of two sons, Vance Gray of Clarendon and Winston Gray of Amarillo. Irene has seven grandchildren, and eleven great grandchildren.

Irene had a beautiful cake decorated with pink roses that read "Happy Birthday Mother". She had three candles on the cake. One for the future, one for the past and one for the present. Her wish was "That everything would be good for all of us."

We played ball games, and one game for thought. We all pretended that we were going on a trip, and what we would take. Some were taking food, water, a cow, pig, canned food and dishes, coffee, beans, a First Aid Kit. So, we were going well prepared for our trip.

Sixteen residents and staff were served cake and punch. All reported a good time.

We also sang 'Happy Birthday' to George McKee who was 87 years old. His birthday was January 2. He was in California visiting when he celebrated his birthday. George was born January 2, 1892.

Skunk rabies - pet "Time Bomb"

In the coming year a few Texans will find or buy a cute skunk kitten and decide to have the animal de-scented and made into a family pet. They may find that their Veterinarian will strongly advise against the skunk as a pet and will probably refuse to de-scent the animal. The Veterinarian knows that his unsuspecting clients may be taking a live "time bomb" into their homes.

Skunks are extremely susceptible to rabies. There were 323 laboratory confirmed cases of skunk rabies in Texas from January 1 through August 31, 1978. Skunks accounted for 80% of all of the positive cases of rabies diagnosed in Texas. People cannot protect their pet skunk from this disease as they can a dog, cat or other domestic animal. Many people do not realize that there is no rabies vaccine approved for any wild animal, including skunks. Skunks that have been pets and isolated from the wild for as much as 18 months have been known to develop rabies. In other words, this animal can incubate the rabies virus for an extremely long time. Skunks are also dangerous since they tend to bite and then hold on tenaciously, and in the case of a rabid skunk it would assure that the victim would receive a large amount of rabies virus in the wound.

A survey has shown that 21% of pet skunks bite members of the family and 58% will bite a non-family member. Skunks are also extremely dangerous carriers of rabies since they can excrete the rabies virus in their saliva for periods of time up to 18 days before death and as long as 8 days before they show clinical symptoms! Furthermore, the amount of virus secreted is extremely greater than in other wild or domestic rabid animals.

In September of 1978 the Texas Department of Health found that a skunk kitten trapped and raised in Texas and then purchased by an Arizona family became rabid. Over 20 people in Arizona took the post-exposure rabies vaccinations and over 120 skunks that had been in possible contact with the first skunk had to be traced to notify their owners of the possible exposure to rabies. The investigation revealed that skunks from Texas had been shipped not only to cities within the state, but also to Arizona, Missouri, Michigan and Mexico City. Fortunately most of the possibly infected skunks were found and humanely destroyed and no cases of human rabies resulted.

The traditional pet, which are more domesticated, make better pets and can be protected against rabies, thus affording greater protection for the animals' owners against this deadly virus. The Texas Department of Health strongly advises everyone against having pets which are exotic and/or wild animals. When in doubt about the type of animal to be a family pet, persons should contact their veterinarian or the Texas Department of Health, Box 908 West Texas University Station, Canyon, TX 79015 (Telephone 806-655-7151, Ext. 38).

While today a baseball pitcher is considered terrific if he wins 20 games, back in 1884, pitcher Charles (Boss) Radbourn of Providence of the National League won 60 games.

New Hope For Cataract Patients

Potentially blinding eye cataracts can now be removed by a revolutionary new surgical program that sharply reduces hospitalization and recuperation time.

A cataract patient can be admitted, operated on, and discharged within a 22-hour period under a new surgical program developed by ophthalmologist Dr. Joseph Spina, Jr. at Bryn Mawr Hospital, Bryn Mawr, PA. Using space-age microsurgical techniques, the clouded-over lens or cataract lens is removed virtually without pain. No five-to-seven day hospital stay or long recuperation period, common to conventional cataract surgery, is needed.

A patient may be admitted to the Hospital early Friday, be operated on, be discharged

DR. JOSEPH SPINA, JR., pioneer of a new quick-recovery cataract removal program.

the same day or Saturday morning. In many cases, he'll be back at work on Monday. The new surgery is called Phacoemulsification. It involves a Phaco emulsifier machine placing a small ultrasonic probe or needle into the eye through a microscopic incision. The probe is then vibrated at an ultrasonic speed, liquifying the cataract inside the eye. The probe then draws out the cataract. Only one or two stitches are required.

According to 36-year old Dr. Spina, Medical Director of the Cataract Research Institute, "The advantage is that the amount of trauma to the eye is minimal and the incision heals quickly because it is so small."

To compensate for the loss of the lens, patients are fitted with special glasses, contact lenses or an intraocular lens implant, a tiny lens which fits inside the eye.

For further information call the Cataract Research Institute at 215-353-5357.

Al Morrah Shrine Club news

Al Morrah Shrine Club met at 7:30 p.m., January 15, at the Clarendon Country Club for their monthly meeting.

Our club sweetheart, Dee Williams, entertained at the opening with beautiful music at the piano. Invocation was given by Noble Cecil Matthews. Forty-one members and guests were present and enjoyed a fine meal served by the Clarendon Country Club.

Noble Darrell Harper and his lady were introduced as new members. President Luther Butler thanked everyone for helping him through his year.

New officers were nominated for the coming year 1979: Noble Emmett Simmons, President; Jerrell Martin, Vice President; Place #2 Director—John Sarrich; Secretary—Goodwin Bray; Director Place #1—J.M. Caldwell, Jr.

New President Emmett Simmons gave a fine speech on our new goals for 1979. We have 84 members. We need to work for 100 members this year, and we also need to try to raise $2500 for our Burns Clinic & Crippled Children's Hospital through our 4th of July Barbecue. In the last three years Al Morrah has raised $4800 through our barbecue. Nobles, we can be proud of our hard work. We need to keep it up.

Entertainment Director Noble Robert Brown introduced Jack Daniel who sang some very fine songs for us.

Noble Billy Powell introduced Margaret Holland and her daughter Judy Clendenen from Hedley. Mrs. Holland's granddaughter was severely burned and was taken to the Burns Clinic at Galveston. Mrs. Holland told how well the baby was treated and how well the Shriners have brought her through her burns. We all thank her for her testimony about Shriners. Nobles, this is what it's all about. Again, Noble Luther, thank you for a wonderful year.

Billy Powell, Reporter

The Department of Pediatrics of the Harvard University School of Medicine has found that babies tend to increase the amount of thumb, finger or fist sucking they do between the ages of three and seven months. Then, as the babies learn to creep, hold toys and sit up, the sucking slackens off by itself.

Texas Arbor Day is Jan. 19

Texas Arbor Day, the day traditionally set aside to plant trees, will be observed this year on Jan. 19.

"What better way to aid in preserving our environment than by planting a tree adapted to our area of this great state," emphasizes Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Arbor Day was once a special event in the lives of many Texas citizens. In many communities, the trees that are so admired today are the direct result of the labor and attention given so readily by children and interested adults of by-gone generations, notes Janne.

"In recent years, much has been written about the value of trees for purposes other than to provide lumber and shade. Research reports indicate that tree barriers can reduce noise levels as much as 50 percent. They also serve as giant air cleaners filtering out the dust, as well as using the carbon dioxide in the air to produce the lumber and shade we need," says Janne.

"Too often we take the majestic beauty of our trees for granted; we forget the benefits they give us. As a gift to future generations, we should initiate programs in our community to plant trees in our home yards, parks, public grounds and many of the so-called waste lands, contends the landscape horticulturist.

When planting a tree, give some thought in selecting varieties and species suited to the area, advises Janne. Too frequently people are impatient and want immediate results, so weak, fast growing varieties are used. All too often the silver maple, cottonwood, Siberian elm and other rapidly growing trees grow, mature and die out in one or two generations. For permanent plantings select oak, pecan, magnolia, bald cypress, Deodar cedar and similar species.

"Remember, Texas Arbor Day occurs during the prime tree planting season. The cold, usually moist soil at this time allows tree roots to become established before top growth occurs. Trees are usually in prime condition for transplanting at this time and the chances for success are greatest," says Janne.

Ordinance

An Ordinance establishing a Police Reserve Force for the City of Clarendon, Texas, providing for the appointment, powers, and duties of reserve policemen.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Clarendon, Texas:

SECTION 1. There is hereby established a Police Reserve Force for the City of Clarendon, Texas.

SECTION 2. Members of the Police Reserve Force shall be appointed and/or relieved at the discretion of the Chief of Police or City Council and shall serve as police officers during the actual discharge of official duties.

SECTION 3. The Police Reserve Force shall not exceed twenty (20) members in number, and must be certified and authorized by the City Council and the Chief of Police.

SECTION 4. Members of the Police Reserve Force shall serve at the discretion of the Chief of Police and may be called into active duty at any time the Chief of Police considers it necessary to have additional police officers to preserve the peace and enforce the law.

SECTION 5. Members of the Police Reserve Force may serve without compensation. Uniforms and uniform compensation may be provided to the reserve police officers at the discretion of the Chief of Police. The uniform compensation shall be based solely upon time served by the member of the police reserve while in training for or in the performance of official duties. The City of Clarendon may provide hospital and medical assistance to members of the Police Reserve Force who sustain injury in the course of performing official duties, in the same manner as provided by the City of Clarendon for its full time officers, and reserve officers shall be eligible for death benefits as set out in Chapter 86, Acts of 60th Legislature, Regular Session 1967, as amended, [Article 6228f V.T.C.S.] provided, however, that nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to authorize or permit a member of the Police Reserve Force to become eligible for participation in any pension fund created pursuant to state statute, to which regular officers may become a member by payroll deductions or otherwise. Reserve police officers shall act only in a supplementary capacity to the regular police force and in no case shall assume the full time duties of regular police officers.

SECTION 6. This action does not limit the power of the Mayor to summons into service a special police force as provided by Article 995 of Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925.

SECTION 7. Reserve police officers must comply with the minimum training standards established by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education for all reserve law enforcement officers identical to the standards so established which must be fulfilled before a person appointed as a reserve law enforcement officer may carry a weapon or otherwise act as a police officer. The Chief of Police shall establish qualifications and standards of training for members of the Police Reserve Force and shall establish rules and regulations governing reserve police officers.

The Chief of Police may establish minimum physical, mental, educational, and moral standards as used by the regular Police Department but in no case shall the standards be less than that established by the Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Education.

If any portion of this ordinance should be in conflict with any portion of Article 998a, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, as amended, or any other laws of this state, the terms and provisions of those laws will govern.

Passed and approved this 9 day of January, 1979.

Leonard Selvidge
Mayor, City of Clarendon

COLD-WEATHER driving's easier if you keep flares, flashlight, sand, long-handled brush, and plastic windshield scraper in your car. And an anti-freeze solution in your windshield washer.

COLD-WEATHER starting's easier with one of science's newer "man-made" oils in your engine. A synthetic like Mobil 1 flows freely at extreme temperatures, helps start cars at 35 below F, and saves battery power.

New name for 'HD' clubs

A new name for "home demonstration" clubs - Extension Homemakers Clubs - will go into effect January 1, across Texas, and Donley County clubs will join the effort.

For their new names, Donley County clubs will change the words "Home Demonstration" to "Extension Homemakers".

These include the Early Bird Extension Homemakers Club, the Late Edition Extension Homemakers Club, the Young Homemakers Extension Homemakers Club, also the Lakers Extension Homemakers Club.

This change is affecting the statewide network of Extension Homemakers clubs at all organizational levels - including community, county, district and state, according to Mrs. Gary Harbert, Donley County Extension Homemakers Council chairman.

To create the new name, members of the statewide Texas Home Demonstration Association recently voted to change the state organization's name to Texas Extension Homemakers Association - a 20,678-member organization of community club members from across Texas. Each club and county council will be considering a local name change to coincide with the state organization name. Their new name reflects the state association's affiliation with the National Extension Homemakers Council, Mrs. Harbert added.

An intriguing glimpse of Pettigrew V. Hamilton

by Jeanice Weatherly

Internationally educated, multi-lingual and one of twins, Pettigrew Verner Hamilton, whose ancestors for nine generations have lived within the environs of Charleston, South Carolina is a resident of Clarendon by design and an Episcopal minister by choice.

Once he and his twin brother represented the United States at an international youth group rally in France by preparing Southern fried chicken as a representative U.S. food and introducing the "Bunny Hop" in lieu of a folk dance.

An intriguing glimpse of family, background and the environment that produced Pettigrew Hamilton is to be found in the grouped wall hangings tastefully arranged in his home.

One of his prized possessions is an obi, given as a wedding present by his godmother, the granddaughter of Admiral Perry. This elegant work of art is hand woven of pure silk in an intricate pattern of geometric design. The colors are pearly beige background with soft orange, violet and black worked into the heavy silk.

Several etchings—a copper plate used in the etching process, and a print of an etching are displayed. These pieces are the work of Elizabeth O'Neill Verner, internationally known and recognized etcher and the maternal grandmother of Hamilton.

This lady was widowed early in her marriage when her chemist husband died. She was left with the responsibility of providing for her family. With a determined goal she made a name for herself and gave to all the beauty of her fine work. Her subjects, a black Dah, a handsome black entertainer she met aboard ship and the many historic places in and near Charleston reflect her interests and surroundings. Pettigrew Hamilton was named for his grandfather, Pettigrew Verner, husband of this remarkable woman. Today she is 96 years old.

Mrs. Verner lives in a home with a long history behind it. It was built in 1670 by the French Huguenots of red brick and is four stories high. Originally, as was the custom, the ground floor was used for the family business. This structure housed a candy business.

Today Elizabeth O'Neill Verner lives in the two center floors and leases the top floor as an apartment.

Pettigrew Hamilton is one of four sons born to Dr. and Mrs. John A. Hamilton, presently of Charleston, S.C. Dr. Hamilton received his PHD from Harvard University where he majored in Romance Languages. Dr. Hamilton was professor of French at the university of Spartanburg, S.C. where he stayed until he became part of the United States Foreign Service.

Also displayed are water-colors done by Antoinette Hamilton, a pen and ink of native grasses done by a friend of the Hamiltons and a small sand-painting, each sharing a special part of the varied interests of Pettigrew and Antoinette Hamilton.

Pettigrew and his twin brother, Lewis Wardlaw, were born December 1, 1941. Two years later his father changed jobs and joined the foreign service. With the move to the Dominican Republic in 1943 a new way of life began for the family and for the hardly three year old Pettigrew it was a series of experiences not usual for one so young.

Because of the nature of his job, the elder Hamilton never spoke of his work, but the Hamilton children associated with other American children and attended private schools that were maintained for the children of the diplomatic community by the government. It was in the Dominican Republic that Spanish, the first foreign language introduced to Pettigrew, became part of his life, and at home the language was a mixture of English and Spanish. He attended these schools for the 1945-1949 scholastic terms.

Havana, Cuba was the next foreign service assignment and was the place most loved by Hamilton as a youngster. The house they lived in was palatial with enormous rooms, twelve foot ceilings and glazed tile floors. The architectural style was Spanish with French doors and large bathrooms. With the luxurious dwelling the Hamilton family inherited an old furniture maker who already inhabited the site. He remained in his quarters on the grounds, an interesting if unusual character.

Another unusual thing about Cuba was the black sand beach. The sand was volcanic-ash granules and the water was warm and beautiful. Such a combination must have indeed provided happy times for a young boy.

During the years Pettigrew lived there Castro was not unknown in Cuba, but Batista was in power. Years later his mother made mention of the unrest in the country which she sensed in the music they heard and which preceded revolution in Cuba and later in other countries as well: the voice of the people expressed in the only audible avenue left open to them, apparently. This was the time when the Rhumba was THE dance.

Summers during the years in Cuba were quite a contrast to the rest of the year for they were spent at the Hamilton mountain home in North Carolina.

Shortly after the Hamiltons left Cuba and returned to the United States and Washington D.C. where they were to live five years. Cuba fell to Fidel Castro.

Pettigrew was reluctant to leave the Cuba he loved and at his tender age the name Washington brought the laundry to mind and the nation's capitol had no image at all.

A number of events made a lasting impression during the time in Washington D.C. Here he attended elementary and junior high school and in 1955 attended one of the nation's first racially integrated schools. He went canoeing and swimming in the historic Potomac River. He learned to love the city and spent hours walking about all over the area. This he still does whenever he is in the vicinity.

Paris was the next assignment for Pettigrew's father in the USA. At this time he was involved in libraries abroad but still he did not talk of his work. This was to be a three year position and young Hamilton was 13 years old. It was in Paris he lost his Spanish language and began French.

French as a language did not come easily as it might have and the second summer in Paris Pettigrew was sent to a summer boarding school in the Loire Valley. Here he studied French and spoke it, he spoke French only because no one spoke anything else. He recalls vividly struggling with calculus - in French. In his own words, "I learned never to be lost in French (language)", he summed up that memorable summer.

He did a lot of studying in all the regular classes which also included music. Literally hours were spent on solfège as the teacher put them through the monotonous drills. It was good for the voice though.

Afternoons at the school were spent playing soccer, an enjoyable pastime. The school itself was historic having been built in the 10th century. The chapel of the Roman Catholic Church was erected in 950 A.D. and was the original building. It was attached to the other part of the ancient stone structure which was built later and had bats enough to frighten or impress almost anyone.

It was at this school that Hamilton won a talent show and received a bag of candy as a prize. When he offered the headmaster some of the candy he addressed him in a manner used for his peers and considered less than respectful to ones elders. It was apparent that he had not mastered the language at that point.

During the Parisian residence a French woman of considerable acumen organized an International Youth Movement for the purpose of learning about other people and countries to dispel the traditional distrust and doubt of foreigners. She created clubs where members were able to come to know about those other than themselves with some understanding. Every two years there was a 2 week meeting of the representatives in France at a chateau.

Pettigrew and his twin brother were chosen to represent the United States at two such meetings. In the exchange of cultural ideas they, with preparation, cooked and served Southern fried chicken as a representative U.S. food. They saw with some consternation that the folkdances of other countries were far more exotic with an activity and zest that made the United States folkdances seem characterless. With youthful insight they demonstrated the Bunny Hop as their dance. It became an immediate hit and was the favorite of the dances. So avidly did some of the dancers perform it that a Dutch girl friend of Hamiltons sprained her ankle.

Next the family moved to Belgium, and life in Paris was a memory of beauty, thrifty cooking and of a people with a gutsy head-on approach to life. He liked and admired the French people who had learned to live in a style of ease.

In Belgium the Hamilton family lived in Brussels or Brussels as it is written there when they were settled. Hamilton spent one year in Georgetown, South Carolina because the family was broken up for lack of living facilities. During this time his father lived in Brussels and his mother was building a house in Washington D.C. This was a year to rediscover America, to become all-American and he enjoyed it to the fullest. Georgetown was near the ocean and he knew a girl who lived on the beach. They spent a lot of time enjoying the fine beaches.

With the time in Paris and two years in Brussels, Pettigrew became fluent in speaking the French language.

In Brussels Hamilton studied clarinet, which he had begun in elementary school, at the Conservatory of Brussels in his senior year of high school before returning to the United States for college.

A rare opportunity presented itself when a Catholic priest of the Dominican Order let it be known that he desired to learn the English language because he was going to the United States and was in need of a tutor. So it was that Father Georges Dominic Pire met Pettigrew Verner Hamilton who sought the job as tutor. It was not a paying position, nevertheless Pettigrew felt he was the one who profited from the experience.

The pair, a high school senior and the Catholic priest, went to a small town in Switzerland for the two week spring break and the instruction was done then. Hamilton used as his teacher's text a basic English book and gave the priest a 60 word vocabulary list each day. At the end of the lessons he had learned 900 words, 60 a day. It was an exchange of learning and as Father Georges Pire learned from Pettigrew the language was English. When Pettigrew learned the language was French. At the onset of the lessons Father Georges Dominic Pire spoke no English at all.

He was most interesting and was the recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1958 for his work with hard core war refugees and their rehabilitation.

He wore a white habit and referred to himself as the Devil and to Hamilton as an Angel, with all sincerity as this was his religious teaching and belief. He died recently and Pettigrew was saddened to learn of this remarkable persons passing.

To compensate for what his parents believed was a lack of physical exercise, Hamilton's parents encouraged his participation in a survival school in rural Scotland the last spring he spent in Europe. This was a dangerous and exhausting enterprise across the open tundra, from east to west across the rugged stretches of Scotland.

Using maps and compass the group trekked for 10 days across beautiful country which looked very much like the hills on the Bill Craft Ranch near Clarendon.

One difference was the rough knobby clump of the grass which covered the country, making walking hazardous with the incidence of sprains and breaks to ankles. To prevent this the group was instructed in the Highland Gait which requires the walker plant his foot securely to make a footprint before taking a step.

Hamilton returned to the United States and entered the University of South Carolina, majoring in French and completing the work in three and a half years.

Shortly after graduation he married Antoinette Quincy Siddall, Dec. 26, 1964 in New Orleans. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T.H. Siddall of that city. Soon after this he was faced with a physical problem when a malignant melanoma was removed from his neck with radical surgery. The overcoming of the effects of the surgery was a personal victory for Hamilton.

At this point Pettigrew made his decision to enter theological training, after toying with the idea off and on for several years. He entered Virginia Theological Seminary, in Alexandria, Virginia and graduated in 1969 with a M. Div. degree.

which Pettigrew had originated.

When they returned home Hamilton wrote to his Bishop and asked if there was an opening in the area. When he was given a chance to come to Clarendon he did and he and his family love it.

Another year and a half was spent in New Orleans where Hamilton worked as a plumber for therapy, before the final move to Texas.

Today after living in Clarendon about six years Pettigrew Hamilton remains a "man who wears many hats". He is the minister for three Episcopal Churches, one in Childress and one in Shamrock in addition to the historic St. John the Baptist Church in Clarendon; he is a teacher at Clarendon College and will have a class in World Religions and another in Church History for the spring term; has a class every other Saturday at Berger in a Lay Theology School; and is a free lance photographer in his spare time. There are some other things he does too. He is the leader for the Cub Scouts, and enjoys the company of his 10 year old son, Josh, and 8 year old daughter, Sally.

Or, to state it briefly, the hats all fit.

High Plains quail season nears end

Quail hunters have less than two weeks to hunt in the Panhandle and South Plains as the season winds down to the final day Jan. 28, 1979.

The 78-79 quail season has been good for some hunters and poor for others according to reports from hunters and personnel of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Both blue (scaled) and bobwhite quail populations were generally good in the Panhandle. Farther south onto the South Plains, quail hunters found isolated bird populations.

The inclement weather has slowed many hunters and it is likely the bad weather has further reduced the overall quail population across the state.

A few landowners and sportsmen are already beginning supplemental feeding following each successive ice storm.

The quail season in regulatory counties across central Texas will continue through Feb. 18, 1979. A quick check in the 1978-79 Texas hunting guide is recommended if there is any question as to the closing quail date in your county or area you plan to hunt.

Eula Merrell area foreperson attends Green Thumbers

Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb worker Eula Merrell Area Foreperson from Clarendon recently attended an appreciation luncheon for over 140 Green Thumbers in the Lubbock Civic Center. The luncheon was provided by the Lubbock Title VII Meals Program under the direction of coordinator, Ms. Dorothy

Former Clarendon College graduate receives BA degree

Virgil (Bud) L. Kidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kidwell, Wheeler, received his BA Degree in Social Psychology in December, 1978, from Concordia Teachers College, River

Forest, Illinois. Virgil has been pastoring Bethany Baptist Church in Oak Park, Illinois for the past three years. Rev. Kidwell has accepted a Dailey. Workers from sixteen surrounding counties were recognized for their outstanding contributions to their communities and to the success of the Green Thumb program.

Texas Green Thumb, sponsored by Texas Farmers Union, is a federally-funded employment program serving the rural elderly. The program provides older workers the opportunity to exhibit their skills and years of experience through worthwhile community betterment and conservation projects for non-profit organizations.

Keynoting the group was Ms. Gail House, Professor, Home Economics, Texas Tech University, Lubbock; who spoke on the topic "Aging: The Fulfillment of Life."

James Brunson, Debra Smith the sponsor for the Green Thumb workers from Briscoe and Hall Counties were in attendance also.

Christopher - Wortham wedding vows exchanged

Karen Ann Christopher and Buster Lee Wortham were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on December 16, 1978, at 3:00 p.m. in Anna Moores Chapel of the First Baptist Church, Clarendon, Texas.

Karen Ann is the daughter of Mrs. Ernestine Christopher and the late Mr. Christopher of Clarendon. She is a graduate of Clarendon High School and attended Clarendon College.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wortham of Hedley. He attended school in Groom. He graduated from T.S.T.I. in 1977 with a degree in Auto-Mechanics and is currently employed by a contractor of General Telephone Co.

For her wedding dress, the bride chose a high empire waistline style made of white bridal satin with a lace overlay, scoop neckline, and long full sleeves. Her train was made of matching lace and her veil was a finger-tip length of bridal illusion lace. The bouquet was a cascade of small white mums and apricot roses. The bride's dress was made especially for her by her aunt, Mrs. Houston McDonald. According to tradition, for "old" Karen Ann wore a cameo necklace belonging to her maternal grandmother, for "new" she wore a veil, for "borrowed" she wore a pair of earrings belonging to her sister, Barbara and for "blue", she wore a dainty garter.

The bride was escorted to the alter by her brother, Larry Christopher. She was given in marriage by her mother who chose a long pink dress with black patent accessories. The groom's mother chose a turquoise blue dress with black accessories.

The bride's attendants wore identical dresses of apricot crepe with brown velvet trim. Miss Barbara Christopher of Clarendon was her sister's Maid of Honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Corky Patterson of Clarendon and Miss Bonnie Sanders of Northfield, Texas. Each carried a single, long-stemmed apricot rose of silk. Flower-girls were Trina Judd, niece of the bride, and Jeanee Wortham, daughter of the groom. They too, wore apricot dresses trimmed in brown and carried brown flower baskets.

J.B. Wortham served his brother as Best Man. The groomsmen were Daniel Spier of Amarillo, and Tony Painter of Groom. The groom's attendants were in brown tuxedos complimented by apricot shirts. Candelighters were Keith Christopher, nephew of the bride, and Derek Howard. Ushers were Randy McDonald, cousin of the bride, and George Howard, III. Roben Hanes, minister of the Church of Christ, Red Oaks, Texas, officiated the ceremony.

Presiding at the registrar was Miss Ronda Sanders of Northfield. Music was provided by Mrs. Terry Scoggin at the piano and Miss Lisa Stewart at the organ. Miss Tamra Day sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Always and Forever."

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Decorations were done in the bride's chosen colors of apricot and brown. The three-tiered cake was white with apricot flowers of icing and white doves. The crowning decoration was a bouquet of satin wedding bells, flowers, and net. Presiding at the bride's table were Mrs. George Howard III and Miss Terri Sparks, both of Clarendon. Presiding at the groom's table were Mrs. Ronnie Fields of Groom and Miss Janet Coker of Clarendon.

Just 'hoping for the best' could be very costly. Farm Bureau Insurance prepares you for fire, windstorm, accident or other liability, with protection that's built around your way of life...covering the things that make your operation go.

Call your Farm Bureau Insurance Agent and ask about plans that cover your operation from the ground up, including life, disability, auto, fire, and liability coverages...and enjoy that good feeling of security.
