Johnston passes hospital administrator exams

Having completed the required 200 clock hours of training at the University of Texas in Austin, Billy Ray Johnston was entitled to take the examinations held January 23, in Houston.

These examinations were the State standard and the oral examinations given by the Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators. Also, he took the national examination for the NAB at the same time.

He has received letters stating that he did have a passing score. Having passed the examinations, his preception will end April 30, 1979 and he will receive his license at that time.

Clarendon College has record enrollment

Final statistics released by the registrar's office of Clarendon College shows the college has 705 students enrolled for the spring semester, the largest enrollment ever for the panhandle college. The enrollment is a 34% increase over the 536 students enrolled at the institution this past fall.

Clarendon College - Pampa Center opened for the first time this spring with 328 students. The center is offering 33 academic courses and a number of community service programs. In the past, the college has offered evening classes only at Pampa High School and had an enrollment of 171 this past fall. The center has scheduled both daytime and evening classes this semester. Enrollment for other area towns that Clarendon College is offering courses this spring are: Shamrock - 21; Childress - 30; and Memphis - 24.

The college has steadily grown over the past years as new program offerings have been added to the curriculum and out of town schedules have increased. This is the third time in the past six years that the spring semester enrollment has increased over the fall at Clarendon. Traditionally, colleges experience a decrease in enrollment from fall to spring semesters.

Officials at Clarendon College are elated with the progress the institution is making. Dr. Bob E. Riley, Dean of Instruction, stated that "the opening of Clarendon College - Pampa Center is going to be a tremendous asset to Clarendon College, however enrollments are up in many other areas of the college. We feel this is a direct result of our attempts to meet the educational needs in our service area. We feel that individual attention and concern for the welfare of our students is paying off when many of our students transfer to Clarendon College from larger institutions."

Several guests attend Commissioners Court

In other than business voted upon and recorded, the Donley County Commissioners Court saw several persons who had requested an audience.

Discussion with the commissioners court by Sheriff Behrens and Doug Wright concerned Donley County joining other counties in the criminal justice district in regard to a juvenile officer. As this was a discussion session, no definite action was indicated at this meeting.

The two Texas Highway Patrolmen station in Donley County asked that their request for use of the brick building across the street from the old courthouse as an office be considered and explained the limitations of their present space.

Jack Clifford, accompanied by Richard Finch, discussed his position as an owner of commercial office space, remodeled at a considerable expenditure, as opposed to the free space currently being planned for his tenants in the proposed addition to the courthouse annex.

Clifford reported that, to his knowledge, no courthouse in the Panhandle area is providing space for their county welfare departments. Clifford made a statement of his priorities for Revenue-Sharing monies as repairing the existing courtroom and proceeding with plans to get a jail we can use, and for needed up-keep on the property of the old courthouse.

The money, Revenue-Sharing, has been earmarked for an addition to the courthouse annex after the public meeting held Wednesday, August 31, 1977 at 10 a.m. in the Conference Room of the Courthouse Annex.

This notice appeared in the August 18 issue of the Clarendon Press. To change the designation of money which has been earmarked for a specific use, application for the change must be made.

Johnson reports on AAM in Washington

In a telephone conversation last weekend, Max Johnson, Donley and Hall County representative of the American Agriculture Movement, reported a definite change in the attitude of the man on the street in respect to the farmers' presence and rally in the city.

Many of them (farmers) were stopped on the street and were engaged in conversation by persons who explained they were just now aware of the situation the farmers faced. The same thing happened in a restaurant where a group of farmers were dining.

On board the plane on the return flight from Washington D.C. more sympathizers asked for details.

Johnson reported a much improved outlook for prospects of the farm representatives to at least be allowed to present their case and views. Public interest expressed by letter, wire and telephone calls to legislators has done this for the effort.

For Commissioners Court

In view of the article by Fred Clifford in last week's issue of the Clarendon Press, we say AMEN to any citizen who will diplomatically express his opinion where civic matters and local government are concerned.

We are highly aware that some people have approved and some have disapproved of the ideas brought out in that article. There are always arguments both for and against any phase of progressive development, either civic or governmental; otherwise, there is no democratic system. Keeping this in mind, we will make a statement or two; then, ask some questions.

First, we understand that the Revenue Sharing Funds are received quarterly; also, that Donley County's share is approximately $11,000.00 per quarter, about $44,000.00 per year. This program of revenue sharing was enacted during the Nixon administration.

We also know that it is a stipulation that these funds be advertised, and meetings be held, giving all citizens of the county or a particular locale a chance to discuss and consider the most beneficial way such funds should be used.

Now we would like to know: 1. Why members of Commissioners Court have not complied with the above stipulations?

2. What has been done with monies received some five years prior to 1977-1978?

3. What will be the expense of the proposed annex for Court room and Welfare Office? (We have been informed it will be, at least, $230,000.00)

4. How will this annex be paid for if the Bentsen Bill is introduced, enacted by Congress, and Revenue Sharing funds are cut off?

5. Why not use the funds the County now has, and any it may receive, to renovate and preserve the court house we now have? We think it could be made stately again, and with less expense.

Donley County needs a jail much more than it needs a new Welfare Office (especially since the one already in use is adequately sufficient and most convenient). The jail has been condemned and cannot be used legally. Most of the streets need repair or paving. In fact, there are a number of projects which we feel, deserve more consideration than another annex to the new court building.

Signed by Gladys Baten, Marie Hill, Mrs. Earl Williams, Wanda Dromgoole, Alyce Munden, Veda Elliott, Clara Hodge, Louveta Estes, Dale Hill, Earl Williams, Connie Dromgoole, Cecil Munden, O.H. Elliott, and Pauline Jones.

Donley County Citizens:

When I ran and was elected for Commissioner of Justice, Precinct #4, I said I would serve each and every person in Donley County to the best of my ability.

I am not against progress, but I am opposed to money being spent that we do not have or wasteful expenditures in any event.

Yes, I am against building a new courtroom. Yes, I did vote against giving the architect the go ahead to proceed with his drawings (plans) for a new courthouse addition. My reasons for voting against these measures are that we do not have enough revenue sharing money to complete this project now, nor will we have it two years from now.

The only way to acquire the balance of money needed for this project would be through a bond. This would mean higher taxes; that we do not need.

This same Revenue Sharing money could be used in several ways: to build a jail, repair the old courthouse, repair sidewalks around the courthouse, steps, etc. These things, in my opinion, Donley County needs.

Why not let the people of this county help make this decision. Thank you for your time.
William Chamberlain
Commissioner of Precinct #4

More on Revenue Sharing Funds

The response to my letter of last week as published in the Clarendon Press has been overwhelming. I had been told by numerous people that the response would be minimal because citizens of Donley County just do not care so long as you don't bother them with it. I have found this to be untrue. People do respond if they feel that they have any chance of doing anything about a situation that concerns them.

In this instance it is felt by most people who have contacted me that the irresponsible county situation can be reversed and should be. It has been recommended to me by most of these people that no action should be taken until the County Commissioners respond and give their point of view in some statement through the Clarendon Press.

A lack of response on their part, either individually or collectively, would indicate that they don't care what the citizens of the county think, they are going to do it their way. A proper action, on their part, would be to set a date for a community meeting to discuss ways to spend this money which would be of maximum benefit to the county.

One correction I would like to make to my letter of last week was the statement that no announced meeting had even been called as required by Federal Law. I was wrong about this and apologize to both the commissioners and the citizens for my error. The meeting was advertised in the Clarendon Press. The date set for this meeting and the date on which it was held was at 10:00 a.m. August 31, 1977. It is my understanding that it was attended by only two people, other than the Commissioners Court members.

This poor attendance would be reprehensible if it were not for the fact that most people did not understand what the meeting entailed nor even what Revenue Sharing funds were at that time.

I feel the attendance would be much better and a more proper method of spending this money would be resolved if the County Commissioners will call another meeting now that the citizens are better informed of its importance. I have every confidence that the Commissioners will call this meeting as they will be, or should be, anxious to fulfill their promise to the people of responsible government.

Most of the people who contacted me this week were concerned primarily about a new jail or the future of our historically important court house. What are your thoughts on this?

Again I solicit your ideas and help in this project. Thank you for your concern up to this point, but please stay interested.

Lions Tale

by Gene Alderson
The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at the Lions Hall at noon on Tuesday with twenty-one members and no guests present. Boss Lion Courtney read a letter of condolence from Ralph A. Lyman, President of the International Association of Lions Clubs in regard to the recent death of Lion Carl Allmond.

Lion Homer Estlack then gave us a report on the Mid-Winter Conference which he recently attended. He said he listened to a lot of reports and routine business being transacted; however, three projects supported by Lions Clubs stood out as being highly important to Lion Estlack. One was the Lions Camp at Kerrville. At different times of the year, this camp accepts both crippled and diabetic children. There is no charge to children attending the camp. Anyone desiring more information on this camp can contact any member of the local Lions Club. Another project which stood out was the Hi Plains Eye Bank. Twenty-two people have received sight benefits from eyes which have been donated this past year and there are thirty-five more on the waiting list. It was mentioned that if you wish to donate your eyes, you not only need to sign a donor's card, but must also notify your next of kin of your wishes as their permission has to be obtained at the time of death.

College awards night

The Harned Sisters Theatre was the scene of the Clarendon Junior College Awards Night on Tuesday, February 6, 1979. Despite the cold weather and snow, it proved to be a gala event and there are some young men and women at Clarendon Junior College who deserve acknowledgement. We the students are very proud of these people and the community of Clarendon should be as well.

The M.C.'s for the program were Dr. Bob Riley, Dean of Students, at Clarendon Junior College and Miss Leslie Schnauer, Head of the Clarendon Junior College Fine Arts Department.

The stage was designed and decorated by the Green Masque Drama Club in bright festive colors, adding to the excitement of the evening.

Bronchos win two close ones on a Justin Lemons last shot

The Clarendon Bronchos are winning but struggling. Poor shooting and poor free-throw percentages are keeping the Bronchos from running away with the district race.

On Tuesday the Bronchos faced a White Deer club that ran a semi-stall after mounting a four point lead over Clarendon early in the game. The Bronchos showed maturity, discipline, and patience during the final quarters while chipping away at the White Deer lead which was as much as nine points mid-way through the second half. At the three minute mark the Bronchos found themselves in a tie ballgame and in position to take charge. After an exchange of baskets the Bronchos went for the last shot up a tie ballgame.

Billy Gardner missed the last shot with two seconds on the clock but Justin Lemons rebounded and connected on the buzzer to give the Bronchos a two point win.

On Friday night the Bronchos hosted Wellington who had defeated Clarendon in overtime by two at Wellington earlier this year. The game was slowed down by numerous called fouls with both teams getting into foul trouble early in the game. The game was close the entire game with neither team taking charge. Wellington controlled the boards while Clarendon played good defense at the end. With a four point lead Clarendon due to serious foul trouble, went into a lay-up offense to pull Wellington out of its zone defense. The Bronchos missed some crucial shots and found the game tied with less than a minute remaining. The Bronchos went for the last shot with Justin Lemons getting the call. With six seconds on the clock the Bronchos pass went to Gary McClellan who hit Justin at the free throw line. Justin drove, shot, and missed but was fouled. He missed his final free-throw but hit his second one to give Clarendon a 45-44 victory.

Bronchettes upset Wellington 56-43

The Clarendon Bronchettes had a busy week while winning two games and moving into first place in the second round of district play. The girls improved their district record to 7 win against 2 losses while upping their season record to 18 and 9.

Tuesday night the Bronchettes traveled to White Deer and had a close encounter. The girls couldn't seem to get things together. Having beaten White Deer girls twice previously, the girls were chalking up another win before the finish and looking ahead to Wellington. In the end, the score was tied with the Bronchettes going for the last shot. The Bronchettes freshman Angela Gardner took the last shot, missed it, but was fouled. With the game over except for a one and one free-throw attempt by Angela, the teams and fans alike watched the freshman calmly sink both shots to give the Bronchettes a two-point victory.

This Tuesday the Bronchettes take on Panhandle to determine the second-round champ.

Westminster here they come. And while in New York City at Madison Square Garden they might even say "Good Morning America" on T.V. The dog fancy is familiar with this really big show and the goal of many who attain the high honor of even qualifying to show there. All have begun in similar surroundings and with the same conditions as the Clarendon obedience training class. For those who are taking the basic obedience training for themselves to train their dogs to become better citizens and companions they are learning to also appreciate the fine qualities of the show dog and their handlers.

Kathryn Berry with her Collie Sunny Lady C.D. was assisted by Mary Beard in putting the class through their paces. The class was encouraged to keep up their excellent progress as it was quite evident the handlers have really been practicing. Coursing the basketball floor the class was drilled with the commands "Forward, about turn, right turn, left turn and halt. Forward, come front and finish."

The sixth lesson will be held February 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the high school gym with Mary Beard assisted by Kathryn Berry sponsored by the Amarillo Obedience Training Club. Mary has attended a number of training clinics and seminars, studying with some of the very best instructors the last five years. She is an accomplished judge getting her experience with FUN Matches. She owns an Irish Setter Lady who is a Companion Dog. She is a member of the Panhandle Kennel Club and the Amarillo Training Club.

Visitors in the gallery were Laura Harbert with Glenn Taylor Ann and Chet, Mrs. Ken Fincher, Mrs. Max Johnson, Margaret Alderson, Tiny, and Karen Alderson; Sam McAnear, T.W. McAnear, Kelli Hardin, Lactacia Petty and Rhonda Butler.

Visitors welcome.

The United States has about one-sixth of the world's coal resources. Not all coal has been of high enough caliber for industrial use, but the good news is that a new process of coal enrichment, developed by the EMC Corporation, upgrades some types of coal enough so that they can be used economically by utility companies. This coal, which is naturally low in sulphur, has an additional benefit. Because it burns cleaner, it cuts down air pollution.

Carter's Goal: Abolish Family Farms In Favor of Megafirms

WASHINGTON—The dispossession of America's family farmers and their replacement by immense, stateless, international "agri-business" conglomerates is now recognized as one of the primary policies of President Jimmy Carter and his Trilateralist advisors.

In recent months, implementation of Carter's anti-farmer policies has accelerated. The stepped-up campaign against American family farmers by the Carter administration coincides with the complete takeover of the Agriculture Department by David Rockefeller's Trilateral Commission.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland is now reported to have been formally inducted into the Trilateral Commission, although while speaking in Wilcox, Ariz., on October 3, 1978, Bergland publicly denied being a member of the Rockefeller created commission. The SPOT LIGHT (June 5, 1978) reported Bergland's nomination for full membership in the commission by Vice President Walter Mondale, a fellow Minnesotan.

Bergland's elevation to the commission guarantees that the full power of the Establishment will be used against America's family farmers. While the use of federal power by the Carter administration against farmers pre-dates Bergland's full Trilateral membership, observers point out that increased anti-farmer activity at the Agriculture Department has been apparent in recent months.

Bosworth made this amazing declaration during a conversation last May with Wayne Peterson, a representative of the American Agriculture Movement, reported the "American Agriculture News."

The "News" reported that Bosworth told Peterson that the administration knows American farmers are going broke, but that it is federal policy to drive down drastically the number of farmers in the U.S.

Bosworth, the "News" reported, said that federal policy is to deprive American farmers of what remaining purchasing power they have. Then, having broken the farmers, the federal government will whip industrial workers and labor union members into line.

Bosworth was "unavailable for comment" during January.

CREATING DESERTS

In a draft report issued by an Agriculture Department task force last November, for example, sweeping sanctions were proposed to drive more family farmers off the land.

The task force recommended that legislation be passed to drive down the prices received by farmers for their produce; that prices paid by farmers for energy be increased, that fertilizer, pesticide and herbicide use be limited; and that ground water be used by farmers be heavily taxed.

These measures, if enacted, would drive many more farmers into bankruptcy and force them from the land. This, in turn, would open the way for international corporations to seize the land for a pittance.

The task force report was ordered produced by Carter in July, 1978. Carter—without explicitly saying so—ordered both the Agriculture and Interior Departments to recommend methods of driving farmers off the land.

The draft report also urged that many land conservation programs be abandoned, thus transforming productive, fertile land into desert. The task force recommended that irrigated acreage be forced out of production by legal sanctions and that federal crop insurance be disallowed in some areas. This move would leave farmers open to financial devastation due to freak weather or other circumstances.

FARMERS FIND TRUTH

Fortunately, tens of thousands of American farmers are increasingly aware of the power wielded by the Trilateral Commission. This knowledge, in turn, serves to lessen the commission's influence. The Rockefeller's, particularly David, have always preferred to work behind the scenes, knowing that public knowledge of their activities might cause their downfall.

Credit for this tremendous educational achievement goes to a number of AAM activists, including Jerome Fremel, Texas state AAM leader; Gerald McCathern, author of "From the White House to the Hoosgow" (SPOTLIGHT, January 15); Tommy Kersay, an AAM leader in Georgia; and J.C. Lewis, a nationally-known speaker who has personally alerted thousands of farmers to the nature of their oppressor.

A farmer in Guymon, Okla., Lewis speaks five or six days a week, sometimes as often as four times a day, to audiences throughout the Plains states and beyond.

"I think the only thing standing in the way of one-world government is the American Agriculture Movement," Lewis said at a farmer's rally in Panhandle, Tex., last autumn.

COMMISSION ASSAILED

Lewis' evidence against the Trilateral Commission is familiar to readers of The SPOTLIGHT, which first identified Jimmy Carter as a tool of the Rockefeller's in early 1976 (SPOTLIGHT, April 5, 1976). After being chosen by David Rockefeller for the presidency in 1976, Carter appointed Trilateralists to virtually every major post in his cabinet and throughout his administration.

Lewis points out that it is Rockefeller policy to drive family farmers off the land, buy up the land at rock-bottom prices and then raise the price of food sky-high. In addition the Rockefeller's are promoting the use of "manufactured foods" in order to cripple farmers and control their population.

"Who diversified into the food business at about that time (1975, when farm prices plummeted but retail food prices remained high)?" Lewis asked. "In 1975 the bottom fell out of the market for us, but the price of food stayed high."

"They got the excess profits. They want to keep farm prices down and their profits high, at the expense of the farmer... If the government lets the farmer go under, you know who's going to buy the farm. And if you think the price of oil went up, wait until you see the price of food when that happens. And along with that you'll have world government."

"It's late," Lewis said, "it's real late. We have to get active. You know, when I was leaving home today my 15-year-old son told me, 'Dad, tell the people that freedom isn't free.' And that's right. If you're not willing to sacrifice for it, you're not going to get it. America's asleep. A lot of people die in their sleep. When are we going to wake up?"

PRaises TRILATERAL COMMISSION

Bergland in fact, has outdone himself in praising and defending the Trilateral Commission.

During his appearance in Wilcox, Ariz., Bergland lauded the commission and claimed that it is "only a group of church leaders." This silly claim left listeners perplexed.

Speaking in Lincoln, Neb., in February, 1978, Bergland criticized farmers and said that meeting farmers' requests would be bad for large, multinational megabanks. Bergland specifically cited David Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan as one bank which would lose if pro-farmer federal policies were adopted. The "American Agriculture News" reported that Bergland quickly realized his blunder and attempted unsuccessfully to extricate himself.

Bergland, however, is not the only top Carter appointee to favor bankrupting American farmers.

ANTI-FARMER POLICY ADMITTED

Barry Bosworth, director of the Council of Wage and Price Stability, and a top economic advisor to Carter. Carter has reportedly stated frankly that it is Carter administration policy for American farmers to go broke.

Farmers Seek Patriotic Coalition in Washington

WASHINGTON—Nearly 15,000 farmers from throughout the country rallied here beginning February 5 in a bold effort to secure the support of patriots nationwide for a new coalition of producing, taxpayer citizens.

The immediate goal of the farmers' protest, spearheaded by the American Agriculture Movement (AAM), is to bring pressure on Congress to mandate full implementation of the 1977 farm bill as well as to pass legislation providing for full parity for American farmers. The AAM was intensively examined by The SPOTLIGHT (June 5, 1978) last year.

The 1977 Farm legislation contains provisions which would help family farmers cope with skyrocketing inflation, soaring interest rates, declining commodity prices and other hardships brought about by President Jimmy Carter's inept economic policies and anti-farmer actions.

Thus far, Carter has refused to implement sections of the legislation designed to provide relief for farmers. Resolutions demanding full implementation of the act have already been introduced in both the House and Senate.

Parity, while unfamiliar to most Americans, is nevertheless not a complicated concept.

Parity is an equivalence between farmers' current purchasing power and their purchasing power at a selected base period maintained by government support of agricultural commodity prices. It is designed to maintain market equilibrium among commodities.

Parity prevailed in America until the early 1960s, when government interference in the market place disrupted the agricultural economy. The free interplay of market forces had produced parity from the early 1940s until early '50s.

"Parity is not a revolutionary concept," explained an AAM activist. "It merely means equivalent buying power for the family farmer, who in the final analysis is the source of wealth in this country."

"One hundred percent of parity is not a handout. It is an investment for without it the family farm system of agriculture in this country will disappear and the ultimate cost to society will be immeasurable. Parity allows the producer to keep pace with his cost of production."

AFBF SUPPORTS 'DUMPING'

Amazingly, the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF), one of the nation's largest farmer groups, announced January 25 its support for new trade agreements that will permit the continued dumping of foreign goods in the U.S.

The AFBF had earlier criticized the proposed pact, and President Allan Grant gave it "a low D rating." Mysteriously, the AFBF reversed itself, and orchestrated at its press conference what the far left Washington "Post" described as a pep rally for the agreements.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland admitted that the new agreements would not help American farmers this year at all and would assist only minimally in boosting farm exports in the future. On the other hand, foreign countries received as a concession an agreement that the U.S. would continue to permit them to dump their agricultural products here.

The above items, except for bread, have no value added by the middleman. They are as raw as they come off the farm. It takes the farmer a whole season to make his cents. The middlemen make theirs in a matter of days. If the farmer gave his produce away, your grocery bill would go down very little. Does the farmer cause inflation? These commodities were bought in three different stores in Stillwater and Perkins, Okla., by Wayne Allen. The farm prices were reported by Marcus Wick of McAllen, Tex. (From the "American Agriculture News.")

Many pro-free trade libertarian conservatives will likely also support the pact, despite its harmful effect on the U.S. economy and farmers.

FREE OF INFLUENCE

The AAM, on the other hand which is not controlled by David Rockefeller's Trilateral Commission, urges immediate import restrictions be placed on all agricultural products which are being dumped in the U.S.

Many patriots say they are hopeful that a new coalition of producers, consumers, and taxpayers can be forged. This coalition would include farmers and other blue collar and white collar workers who produce America's wealth. Many observers say that only such a coalition can challenge the Trilateralist liberal-minority stranglehold on the government.

MR. AND MRS. R.H. MOSLEY

Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Mosley, of 806 S. Bivins St., Amarillo, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on February 5, and were honored with a reception on Sunday, February 4, in their home, with their children as hosts and hostesses.

Mosley is a retired painter and employee of the Amarillo Hospital District. The couple are members of the Fairview Baptist Church and the Senior Citizens Association of Amarillo. Honoring their parents with a reception on the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary were their children: Mrs. Johnson of Amarillo and Bob and Leonard Mosley, both of Clyde.

Pathfinder Club meeting

The Pathfinder Club met at the Patching Club House February 9th. A short business meeting was held with Miss Mabel Mongole presiding. The program leader for the afternoon, Mrs. C.J. VanZandt, gave a very interesting program on the flags that have flown over America. The word 'flag' is from the Anglo-Saxon meaning 'to float in the wind'. The first flag believed to have been raised on the North American continent was the banner with the strange device of a raven with outstretched wings on a white field. This flag was flown in a colony of 160 Norsemen, established in Vineland (probably Nova Scotia) by Leif Ericson's brother, Thorfinn Karlsefni, in 1003 A.D.

Columbus brought the Spanish flag which was composed of four sections, two with yellow castles upon red and two with red rampant lions on white. The English flag was brought to America by John Cabot in 1497, by Capt. John Smith and his group at Jamestown in 1607, and by the Pilgrims at Plymouth in 1620.

The first flag to be reflected in what is now the world famous New York Harbor - and the third principal European flag to fly in America - was the Dutch flag, brought to this country by Henry Hudson in 1609. The Golden Lilies of France were borne by many intrepid explorers anxious to expand the dominion of the Bourbons in the New World. Joliet and Marquette, the pioneer missionaries, LaSalle, Iberville and Bienville, who figured so conspicuously in the history of the exploration and colonization of Louisiana, all bore the Fleur-de-lis in the wilderness.

Others are the Taunton flag raised at Taunton, Mass. in 1774; the Bedford flag - a mailed arm extending from a cloud - the arm clasping a sword - on the scroll are inscribed the words 'Vince Aut Morire' - Conquer or Die. It was carried at Lexington and Concord by the Minute Men. The pine tree was used as a symbol on a number of flags during this period to show the great love the colonists had for the pine-clad hills of New England. John Paul Jones used the Rattlesnake flag with the words 'Don't Tread on Me'.

Fifteen stars staggered and fifteen stripes was the design of the flag that flew over Ft. McHenry, Maryland, during the bombardment the night of Sept. 13 and 14, 1814, and inspired Francis Scott Key to write the 'Star Spangled Banner.' Since the first Stars and Stripes was made in 1777, stars have been added as new states entered the Union, now totalling 50 stars. The number of stripes has been reduced to the original thirteen - seven red and six white. Miss Mabel Mongole closed the program reading 'The Miracle of America' by Wilfred A. Peterson and Mrs. Kunz read George Washington's Inaugural Prayer. Hostesses were Mrs. Rolle S. Brumley and Mrs. Pete Kunz. Twelve members and two guests, Miss Edgar Mae Mongole and Mrs. Walter Lowe, were present.

Delta Kappa Gamma meets

Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met for the February meeting at the Lions Hall in Hedley on February 10, 1979. Marjorie Bain, vice-president, called the meeting to order. During the business session it was voted to change the April meeting from April 14th to Thursday, April 5th. Helen Madden was in charge of the silent auction sale which was for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Refreshments of cherry loaf cake, coffee and spiced tea were served to fifteen members. Donley County members attending were: Inez Blankenship, Evelyn Messer, Ivy Dea Hinkle, Mabel Mongole and Edgar Mae Mongole.

Clarendon school board meets

The board of trustees of the Clarendon Independent School Board met in regular session Thursday, February 8, 1979 in the school administration office. In other than routine business the following business was transacted: Recommendation was made for EPCO personnel to Shamrock for 1979-1980. An election to elect two trustees was called for April 7, 1979. Willard Skelton was appointed as election judge with Cula Jo Trout as absentee clerk and Mary White as deputy. A custodian was hired. An aid in Title I Reading Program was hired to finish the school term. Contracts for Floyd Gunn were extended one year; for Clyde Noonkester, two years; and for Jeff Walker one year.
