By the most conservative projections, world oil prices -- at today's dollar value -- will reach at least $25 per barrel by 1985. If we allow for a modest inflation-adjusted dollar (5.5 percent) with which to purchase that oil, the price has been projected to be in the range of $35 per barrel.

for youth age 9-19. Objectives of the program include helping 4-H youth to build self-confidence through developing (1) understanding of one's self in order to select and make clothing and to express the personality, skills in planning, selecting and constructing clothing; (2) an ability to select and use suitable and becoming accessories for a total look; and (3) an awareness and interpretation of current fashion for the individual.

The program also helps 4-H'ers make and model a garment that is an asset to the wardrobe and to develop poise, good posture and habits of good grooming.

Experts estimate that fully 50 percent of all blindness can be prevented, and that 90 percent of eye injuries are avoidable.

Wearing effective safety eye wear in school and on the job has saved the sight of over 63,000 people.

Mr. and Mrs. T.A. Sullivan enjoyed having four of their children at home Sunday when they had their Thanksgiving dinner. Here were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Brazille and Don, Joe Sullivan and Rodney, Jimmy Sullivan, all of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Sullivan and Debby of Claude.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Welch and Cindy of Pampa have been recent visitors in Clarendon, visiting Mrs. Harry Brumley and other relative and friends.

for the completion of the program. Charcoal hamburgers and home made ice cream were served to the employees and their families. Achievement certificates were presented by the Administrator, Billy Ray Johnston, to each employee for completing the required hours of the orientation and training program.

Billy Ray Johnston, Administrator of the 43-bed-long-term care facility stated that a Training Coordinator, Linda Kay Bell, a Registered Nurse was designated and that orientation, job specific training and on going in-service training of personnel was completed June 15, 1979. "Each employee who has any contact with residents of the facility was enrolled in the training classes. This includes nurses aides, dietary personnel, social service, maintenance and laundry employees." A total of 40 personnel of the various day and night shifts at the facility have received the training. The instructors were Sue Leeper, Director of Nursing and Lee Welch, Dietary Supervisor. Billy Ray Johnston, Administrator, and Linda Kay Bell, R.N. were also instructors.

The required hours of training in the basic program varied according to the staff position held. Nurse aides must develop the required competencies by successfully completing five hours of orientation and 35 hours of job specific training. All aides are then required to receive a minimum of 3 hours of continuing education each 3 months thereafter. Mrs. Vera Johnson received 80 hours at Amarillo Junior College toward her Activity Director's certificate. The Dietary Department received 20 hours of training and is required to receive continuing education thereafter.

"Knowing that our staff is specially trained for their duties gives them more prestige with patients and their families, and, we will all feel more competent in our jobs," said Billy Ray Johnston. "Our goal is to serve the individual resident's psychological, physiological, and social needs to the best of our ability."

Twin Elms Estates

Developers of Twin Elms Estates, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Knorpp, (Walt and Janice) have begun the development of an exclusive residential acreage at the west edge of Clarendon.

There has been no promotional sales work undertaken as they have proceeded carefully and with deliberation to have a permanent development which is exclusive and private. Some rigid restrictions will apply as set down by the developers.

Such restrictions will include the prohibiting of chickens, cows, horses, unsightly vehicles of any kind, (but which may be kept in a suitable facility out of sight) persons or any other thing creating a noise level so as to impose a noise nuisance on neighbors.

Water and gas lines, have been laid, as have electrical, cable T. V. and telephone lines, and all underground. Below-ground lines have a dual purpose, to insure uninterrupted service due to weather hazards and to leave the view clear of poles and lines.

Paving, curbs and gutters will be finished by the end of August as negotiating for the work is under way. When the work is complete there will be an offering of the property to local residents and later in Amarillo papers or "Texas Monthly", perhaps.

The development will be done in two parts. The first section of the development consists of 14 lots. Of these, three lots have been sold. One has a completed home on it, another is about 70% complete and work will begin on a third in about three weeks.

All construction has to have a minimum of 51% masonry and be built on the premises. Construction must have a minimum of 1,600 square feet of living area and house plans must meet with the approval of Walt Knorpp, the developer.

"Basically we are trying to keep the quality of the area high," Knorpp said, "residents have paid for the privilege of an exclusive area and it will be maintained."

Part of the seclusion will be a result of a single entrance and exit to the development and since there will be no through-traffic will be reduced to residents and their visitors.

Scenically the site is unspoiled. The natural fall of the rolling terrain has not been altered and is incorporated as part of the landscaping for the entire development.

Early buyers will realize a substantial savings on their purchases since the property will sell for more with the addition of paving, curbs and gutters which does increase the price.

Knorpp, who was born and raised in Clarendon stated, "I expect to continue to live here for the rest of my life, move to the sub-division shortly, so everything done will be on the highest level."

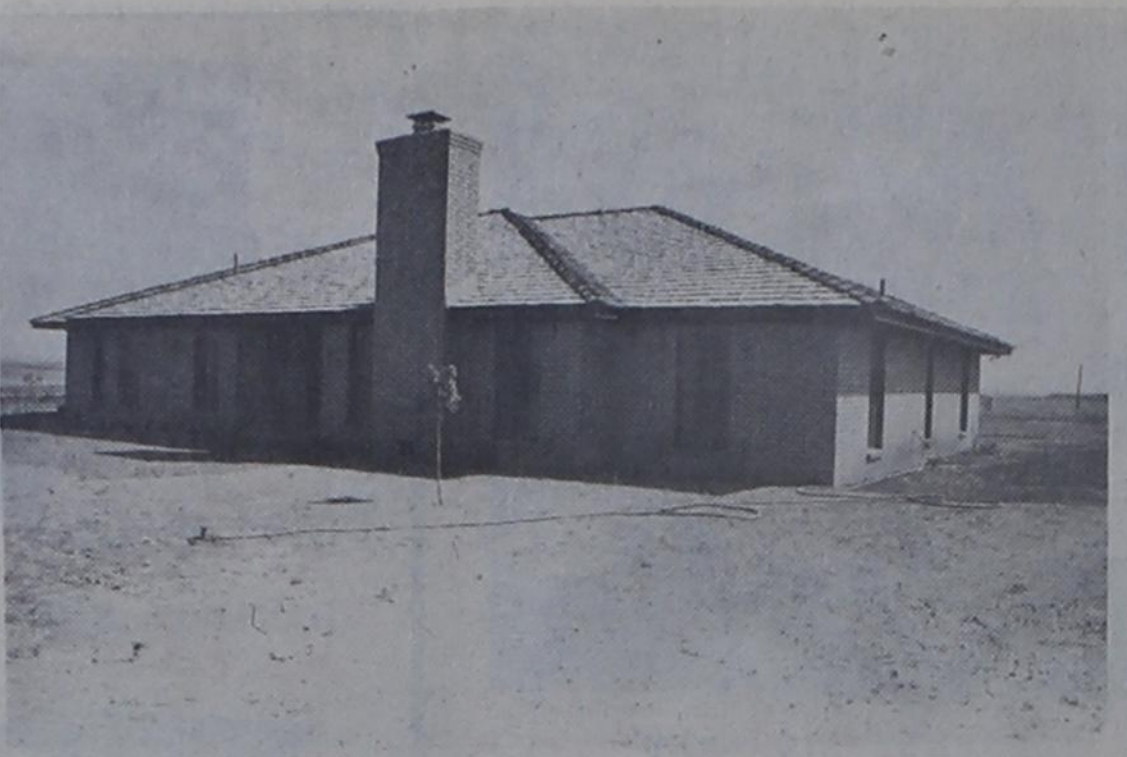

Shelter Belts Benefits Still Last

Agriculture suffered such a crippling blow in the form of dust bowl damage and depression prices that some growers despaired of the time when the farmer-stockman would prosper again. The 1930's are never to be forgotten times for them.

One of the measures which was instituted to help the dust bowl problem, but which was not overnight aid, was the planting of tree shelter strips begun in 1936 by the U.S. Forestry Service, as a soil conservation measure. 1,779,008 tree sprouts made 170.39 miles of shelter strip on 1,408 acres of 234 farms in Texas.

By 1938 the program had almost tripled with 40 crews and 600 men planting or replacing trees from Wheeler on the north and Vernon to the south in the Clarendon region.

Trees suitable to the area were planted and although many land owners have removed either some of all of the plantings green bands of fruit, ornamental evergreen and deciduous trees grow tall and protective across the wind and sand ravaged land of the 1930's.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective August 3, 1979.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 6.09 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

The highway did not always come straight through town

It will come as a surprise to some of the readers to know that the highway did not always come straight through town and was indeed on the north side of the railroad as it came into Clarendon from Amarillo.

As the driver approached Clarendon from the west the highway, which was not paved, paralleled the Ft. Worth and Denver railroad tracks on the north side of the tracks. The highway then made a turn right and crossed the track at about the same spot as the present 70-287 intersection west of Clarendon.

From there it continued across what is now Highway 287 and down Bugbee Street to Third Street where it made a left turn. On third street it went past the football field, the Episcopal church and the Courthouse to Kearney Street. At Kearney Street is turned left again and at the corner where the banks and Bivens Drug Store are now turned right again and continued on more or less the present course out of town.

There were none of the gas stations which are on Hwy 287 today and instead John Martin, who had the Ford Agency in the present Chevrolet building, had gasoline pumps with his business. R.L. Biggers had a station where the Green Light is and Mr. Crabtree was the proprietor of one on the corner where Mack Stavenhagen has his Goodman's Furniture Store.

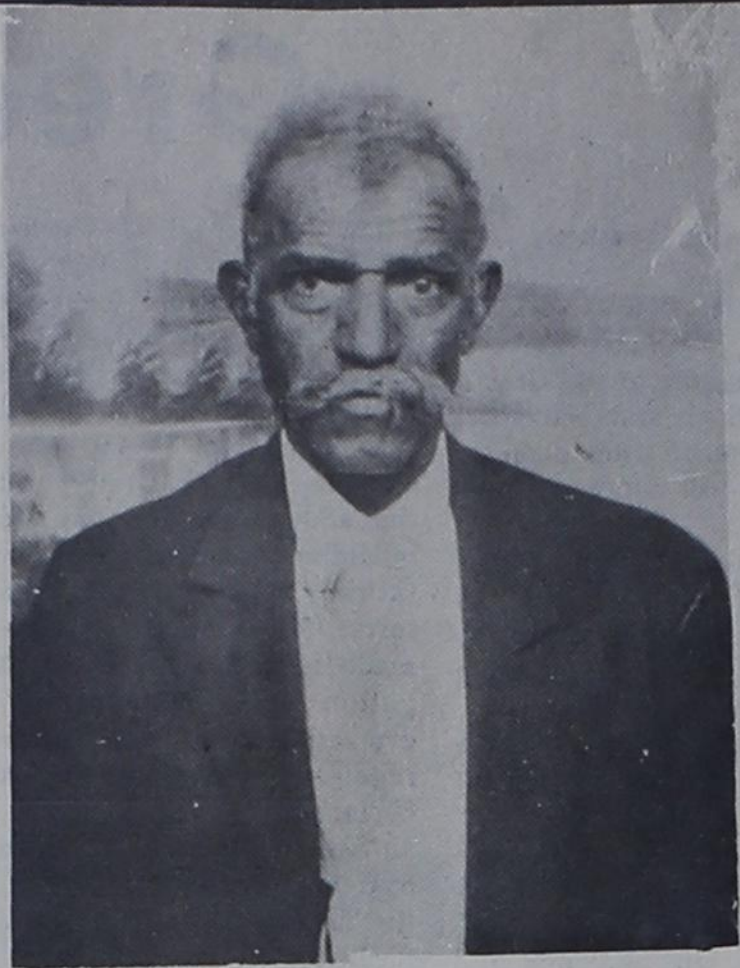

The only reminder of the old route is the building diagonally across from the jail which was a Phillips 66 station.

When the highway was re-routed, paved and modernized these stations were in an out of the way spot and today are replaced by a number of modern service stations to keep the traveler in good shape.

Howardwick Lakeside Community

On Lake Greenbelt's north shore is the community of Howardwick, population 341 recorded in 1975, 1978 - 589.

But for a town its size, it has plenty of activity including an active Lions Club, volunteer fire department, a Friendship Club and Howardwick Home Makers Club.

Largest organization in Howardwick is the Lions Club with a membership roll of about 43. The club meets the second and fourth Saturday of each month in the Howardwick City place for Howardwick residents Hall at 6 p.m. Each regular every weekday. Coffee is meeting is also ladies night, ed and domino games are with members bringing their always played. The hall is open wives for dinner. A program is from 7 early morning to 5 p.m. presented at each meeting. each week-day.

In addition to their regular meeting, the Lions sponsor Bingo each Saturday night in progressive community recently the City Hall. Prizes sometimes sold the Water Department at up to $100 with all proceeds Howardwick to the Red River donated to the Lion's sponsored charities.

Howardwick's Volunteer Fire Department is also active with 17 volunteer firemen. Equipment used includes a 2 1/2 ton truck with a 1,000 gallon water storing capacity. A 1930 model Seagraves fire truck was sold to Trukey, restored and is used as an attraction in the Turkey annual Bob Wills Day parade in that city.

In place of the Seagraves a that city.

In place of the Seagraves a 1974 model one ton Jeep with 4-wheel drive and a 350 gallon capacity water tank, equipped with a 5 horse motor is used.

Howardwick's fire alarm system also doubles as a severe weather warning alarm and can be heard from anywhere in the Howardwick vicinity.

Firemen meet for practice drills the first Thursday of each month as the Howardwick fire station beside City Hall.

Fire chief is Albert Moore and Fire Marshall is J. F. Cole.

Howardwick's Friendship Club is open to both ladies and men. Its 45 members meet at 7 p.m. each third Friday night of the month in the City Hall. Those attending bring covered dishes and dinner is served. After the meal, members play a variety of cards and domino games.

City officials for Howardwick in 1979 are E. H. Patton, mayor and a five member board of aldermen including Herman Green, Mrs. Willie Moore, Oscar Engel, Neal Mann and Lawrence Whitehead. James Dunn is the Howardwick city secretary.

In addition to all Howardwick's planned organization, the City Hall serves as a meeting

Water Authority of Sherman. Although water from Howardwick comes from wells there is a similarity to the Greenbelt Water Authority-Clarendon position. An overhead tank will provide storage for the water from the two city wells. The local manager is Carrol Rip-petoe of Howardwick.

A REASON TO SMILE are the fish caught by Lawrence Overcast, David Blake and Mike Johnson.

Country Club news

The report for the month of June:

Hostess for the Duplicate Bridge June 4 was Nell Barnhill. Mabel Dean Porter ran away with first place, Nell was second. On June 18 Sandi Wallace was hostess and Lea Tyler won first, Sandi Wallace was second (must the hostess always win!!) and Anis Benson and Susie Bell tied for third.

The golf course is getting in better shape all the time (and the weather for golfing has improved too). I think there are to be some Scrambles next month, so watch for them.

The Ladies Golf Association had its June luncheon a week late so that Pioneer Telephone employees might have their annual luncheon the first week of June.

On June 12 seven ladies went to Shamrock to a tournament. Sandi's team came in 2nd and Claudia's and Maxin's played off a tie for 3rd. Claudia's won. All of us came back with door prizes.

June 20 five ladies from here played in Childress' Invitational Tournament; Peggy Minkley was our only winner there except for several door prizes.

This Monday six of us played in Tulia (Lea and Maxine won 2nd in their flight and then went to Lubbock and played in the Hillcrest Country Club Tournament Tuesday. We won't talk about our golf there, but we did have a good time anyway.

DOYCE, BILL & Robert Graham.

Old timer - Doyce Graham

One of this areas best farmers, Doyce Graham, came to Donley County in the early thirties with his family from all County. When he entered Ashola School, Viola Barker, a little dark-eyed beauty, caught his eye, and he never recovered. They married in 1937, raised three strapping sons, and still farm in Ashola community. Doyce is doing grandfather to 2 girls and 2 boys. Doyce thinks Donley County is the best place in the world to live and would live no where else. He operates a large acreage of cotton and milo and a small herd of cattle. In his late teens he "cowboyed" with Lu McClellan and has fond memories of ranch life. He is pictured (age 14) with his two brothers, Bill and Robert.

Bugbee known as Cowboy Artist

Harold Bugbee, Museum curator of art at West Texas State University in 1955, was known as the "Cowboy artist", and was a loyal resident of Clarendon for most of his life. By 1955 he had completed 13 murals at the museum in Canyon and although he was a prolific painter with oils, he was famous for his pen and inks. He did his sketches on the site, knew the men whose figures were in the chuck wagon scene or upon the horses working cattle or riding home in a snow storm. Bugbee was a familiar figure in Clarendon with the stetson and boots and ready greeting. He accepted invitations to civic and social functions where art was a subject and most of the old timers were used at some time or another in his oil paintings. He liked the people of Clarendon and they in turn liked and admired him. Bugbee was born in Lexington,

Mass. and moved with his parents to Texas as a child. He finished high school in Clarendon, attended Texas A&M, was a member of ROTC and enlisted in the armed services in WWI. His health kept him from active duty in that war, but he was a member of the Army Engineers Corp in WWI. His formal training included studies in Taos and Des Moines Iowa, under Charles A. Cummings. A mural of Charles Goodnight's entrance to Palo Duro to found the J.A. Ranch is one of his best known works. Most persons who knew him have some of his works and many have collections picturing an era almost reduced to just memories.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.

JULY 4th INDEPENDENCE DAY

Since 1775, brave men and women, both members of the Armed Services and civilians, have pledged and sacrificed their lives so that we can live in a free nation. As we enter our third century, it is only fitting that we honor the millions of Americans who have fought for this country. We must remember to be grateful for the valiant efforts of the Continental Army under the command of George Washington who endured the winter at Valley Forge. That same army, along with the new Navy and Marine Corps, defended the young nation of the United States of America against the British, winning independence in 1781. Since that time, Americans have pledged their allegiance to this country and their lives for the preservation of freedom so that this nation could forever endure.

J. A. Ranch anecdotes and lore

J.A. RANCH ANECDOTES AND LORE

Mrs. Adair, the esteemed lady and benefactress of the J.A. Ranch made an annual trip to the United States from England and came to Texas and the ranch to visit her employees and friends, as well as go over the business affairs of the great J.A. Ranch.

From the east coast where her ship docked upon arrival from England, Mrs. Adair transferred to her private railroad car and continued her journey to Texas in her own car.

Once she arrived in Clarendon the car was side tracked for the remainder of her stay and became her residence in town. It was here that she entertained the managers and other officials of the ranch.

Mrs. Adair had great poise but was not aloof and had the respect of all the ranch personnel. Those who had a chance to know her had a sincere fondness for this gracious person and some of the ranch families, such as the J.W. Kents, visited with and were visited by Mrs. Adair.

J.W. Kent spent many years with the J.A. Ranch as manager and superintendent in later years. He had big responsibilities, not the least of which was finding adequate water for the huge sprawling ranch. After numerous futile attempts at one time he got the services of a "water witch" when all else had failed to find a new well. At the place designated by the water witch a test hole was dug and water was there.

LIFE ON A RANCH CAMP

Camps on a large ranch were not for greenhorns! Isolated by distance and lack of communication at all times they became inaccessible with heavy rains and flooding or when deep snows came.

Taking care of the animals was the primary job of every camp and weather not withstanding 'chores' were done, early and late.

Living was easier in the summertime with no ice to chop so the stock could get water and with pastures to graze instead of feeding from the wagon.

Spring was the time the chuck wagon was loaded and gathering to ship. Cow pokes exchanged tales of the winter past and any tall story which can be thought up to entertain their companions.

Lights out was a banked fire and a bedroll spread beneath the stars and night sounds were crickets and the restless stirring of the cattle or horses in the remuda. Ever present was the sound of the coyotes wail, come dark, calculated to petrify the uninitiated, and at times the swish of night flyers in pursuit of prey.

The cowboy, and his wife if he was married, led a social life restricted to the most part to each other, the horses a dog perhaps and an occasional visitor who always was invited for the next meal and most always accepted. Cowboys working from one campsite to another often had a favorite among the camps where some cowboys wife made his favorite pie, or had fresh vegetable salad-a real treat.

All the inconvenience of infrequent trips to town, lonely days and hard work were reduced to trivial status as one and all made preparations for the 4th of July celebration in Clarendon. Picnics, dances, visiting, horse-racing, ice cream and other urban luxuries were experienced to remember for another year. The schottische, polka, waltz,

"Put your little foot" and other popular dances were the order of the day. Many cowboys practiced for weeks before the dances, with each other, so they were in fine dancing form for the 4th of July.

By the time the dancers stopped the musicians were also exhausted and ready to put the fiddles, guitars and banjos away.

Not all celebrating was of the toe-tapping variety and some of the boys' with too much to drink usually ended up in jail.

One of the tales told about the early days was about the poke who always put a kink in things because of his overfondness for the bottle. It seems, according to the story, that his buddies hit upon what they hoped would be a sure cure for his overindulgence. Instead of a place on the floor of the supply wagon to sober up in he was tied to the wagon with a rope, tossed out on the ground and walked back to the ranch as long as he could stay conscious.

CHARLES GOODNIGHT AND WATER

Early in the life of the J.A. Ranch settlers came in to settle on some of the land not owned by Adair and Goodnight. The settlers picked choice spots around the creeks, springs and where good wells could be dug.

Although cattle grazed far from the watering places they came up to water often-as long as it was not fenced. Goodnight would offer to buy the settlers out some sold some did not but none remained to be nuisance and keep the cattle from water.

SHIPPING CATTLE

Today no cattle are shipped from the J.A. at Ashtola (known once as Southard) but the old corral remains and the loading chute. Even the railroad tracks have been taken up where they previously ran across US Hwy 287, but the scars where the highway was filled when the track was taken up can still be seen.

Pages from yester-years

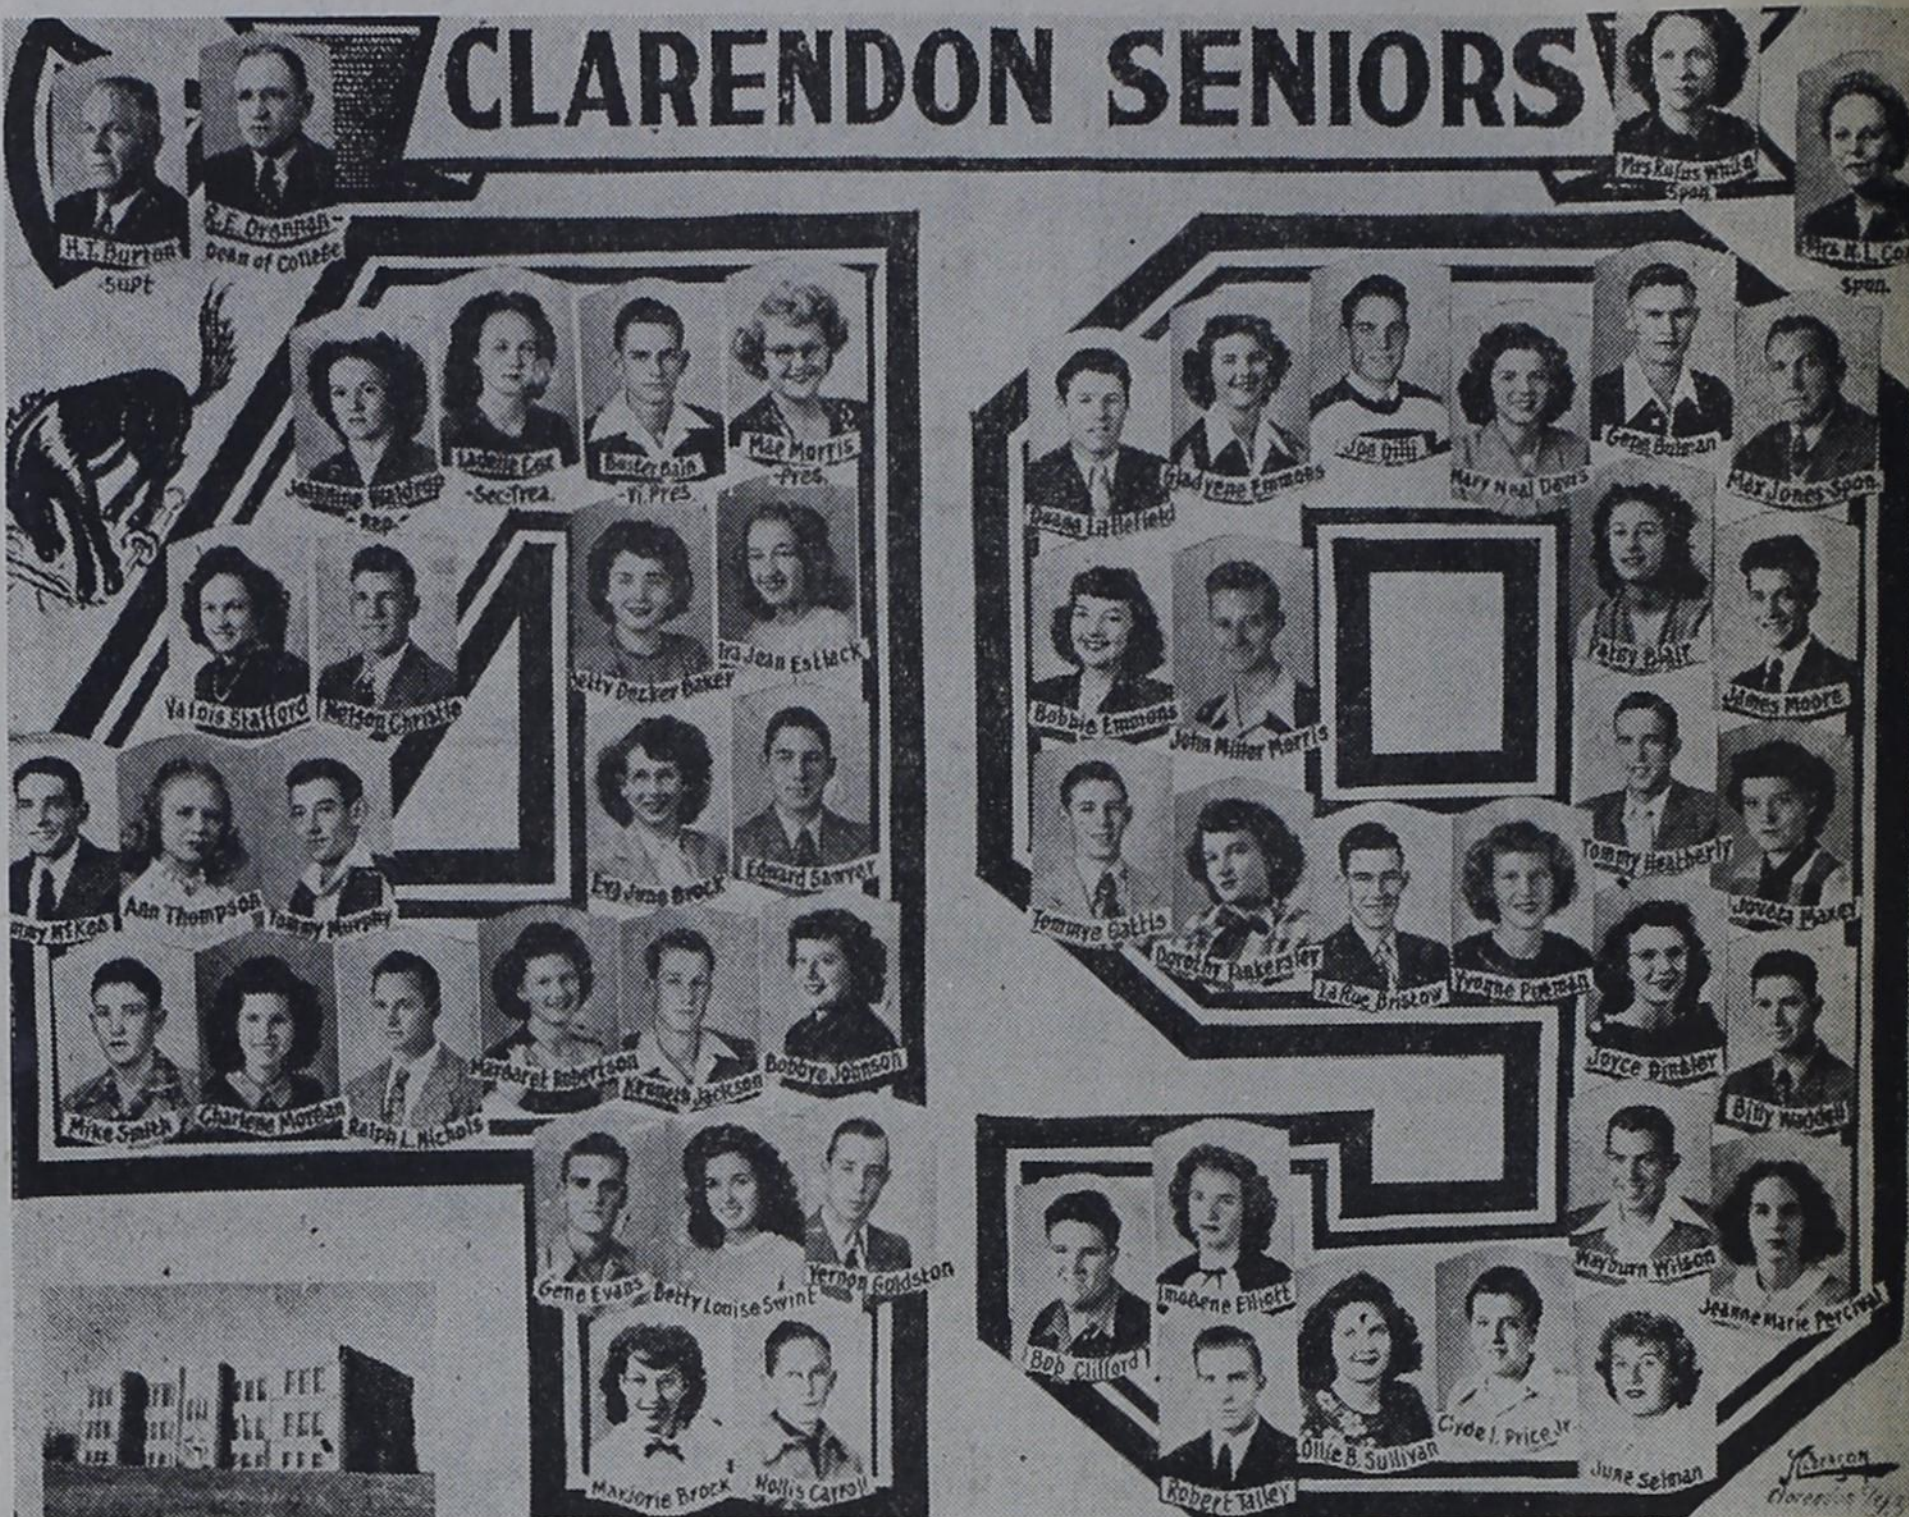

The largest number of Indians ever engaged in battle with Americans was the first "Dobe Walls" fight in 1864, according to Judge R. C. Crane, Sweet-water historian.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Blocker and son, John, Jr., have returned from their trip to California and Colorado. Mrs. Dorr Ellis and baby returned with them from a trip to Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kerbow and Miss Lela Mae left Monday of this week for Fort Worth and Dallas, where Mr. Kerbow will buy furniture for the Fall and Winter seasons.

R. L. Bigger left Friday of last week for Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where he will spend a week or ten days visiting with old friends.

Mrs. Geo. L. Green and daughter, Miss Helen Louise, are visiting relatives in Dallas, Lancaster, and Ferris. They will probably return to their home here in the next week or ten days.

First Texas' rodeo was in Pecos

Pecos was the site of Texas' first rodeo. The date, July 4, 1883. The rodeo was a result of an argument between cowhands as to which ranch had the best ropers, and to settle the argument, the contest was held before an audience of about 1,000 people. Among the ranches represented were the "Lazy Y," the "101," the "Hash Knife," and the "W". Cash prizes were awarded the winners. The rodeo was followed by a big Texas barbecue.

VAN ALLEN, Ernest (l to r) and Fain Kent, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kent.

Ft. Worth has largest western rodeo

Each year the largest all western parade in Texas is held in Fort Worth in conjunction with the Stock Show. The 1978 parade featured 91 different groups ranging from riding clubs to high stepping drill teams. A total of 1,064 horses participated. No motor vehicles allowed.

Largest indoor college rodeo

The largest indoor collegiate rodeo is produced by the Texas Tech University Rodeo Association. Each year 300 college students in the southwest region of the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association compete on professional rodeo livestock in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Andis have anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Andis, of Amarillo celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary on June 20. Ben Andis suffered a stroke on the 4th of July last year while the Andis' were in Clarendon enjoying the centennial celebration. He is improved and is getting around with the aid of his canes but they did not plan an open house for their anniversary date this year. All their friends in Clarendon and the area wish them many more happy June 20ths.

Donley County Soil and Water Conservation at Work

This year 5690 trees were planted in Donley County as field and farmstead windbreaks. This is only a small portion of what can be done to conserve our natural resources.

Our native rangelands are a vast resource of the Southwest. It takes a great deal of skill and knowledge to manage them. With proper management and grazing they will continue to be productive indefinitely.

Aerial spraying sandsage is an inexpensive practical way to improve rangeland. Spraying will result in increased production that will more than offset its expenses.

SPECIALIZING IN TERRACES

Wildlife such as these turkeys are a resource we do not often utilize. With management and good conservation we can develop wildlife into an income producing resource that is often overlooked.

Strip cropping and contour farming will reduce wind and water erosion. Increased yields will be a byproduct of these conservation practices.

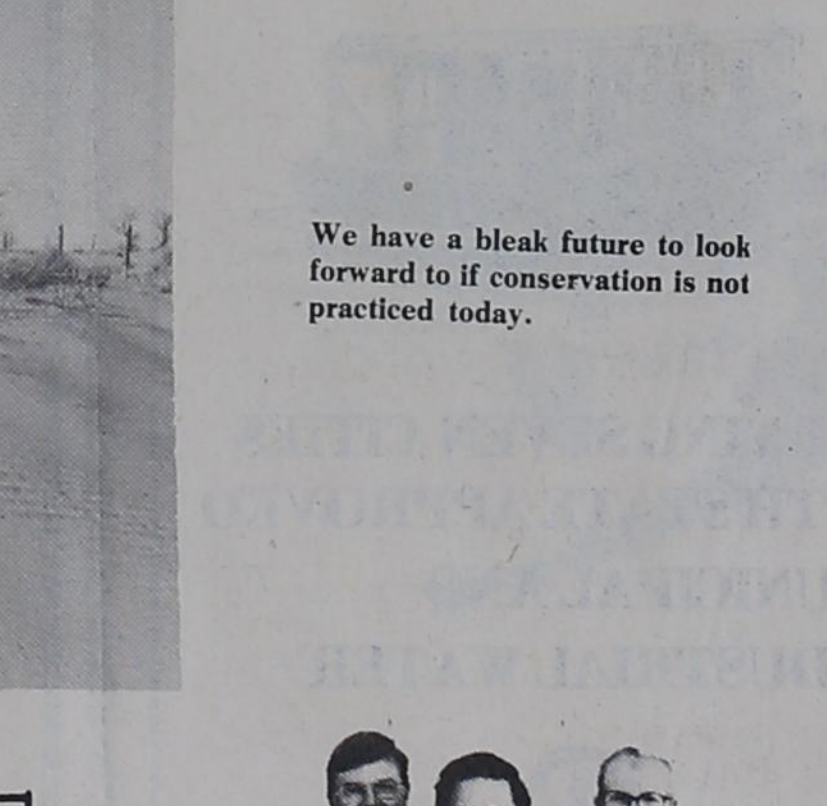

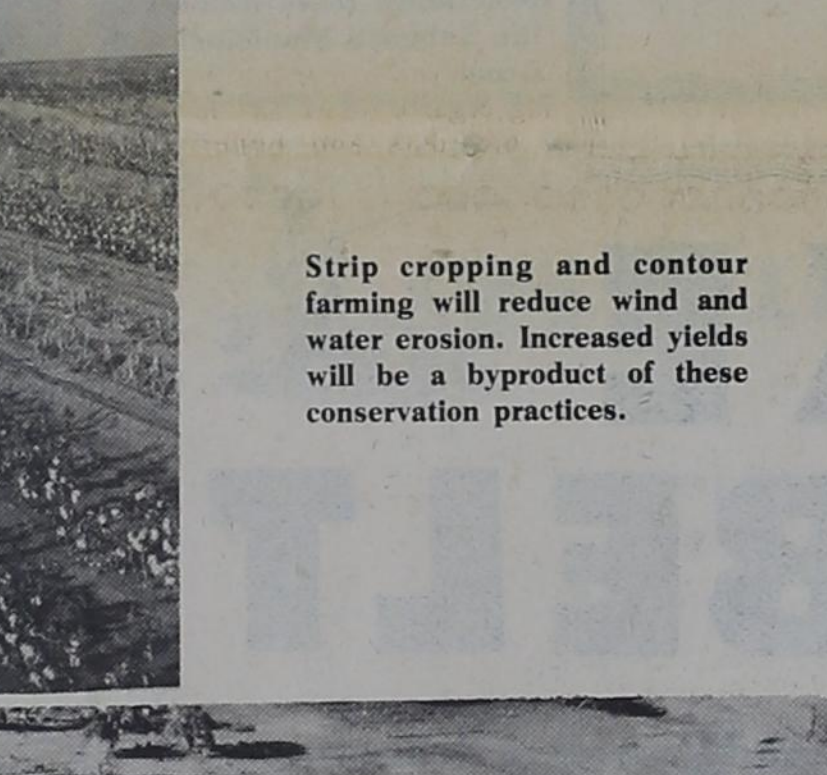

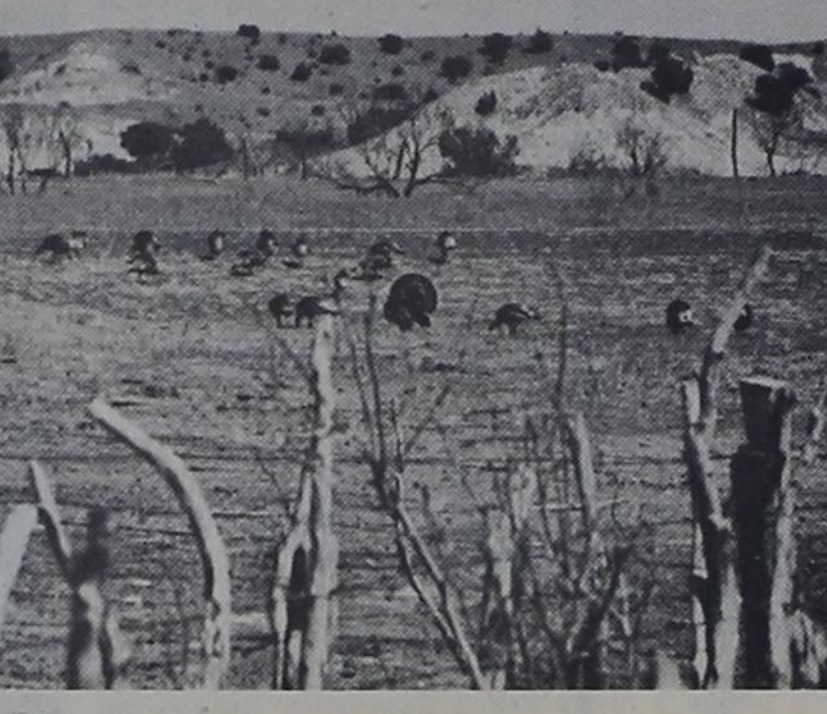

Water erosion can be reduced to almost none with properly designed, installed and maintained terraces.

We have a bleak future to look forward to if conservation is not practiced today.

Let the years slip away as you see familiar faces, and let us recall the doin's of the real days when you and I were at old C..C., was it in '22? And did you know the little man in the big pants - third from top, page 64 in the '22 "Wester."

When the Honor Council met more frequently just after exams than any other time in 1914 - why?

When one point made Cornelius head of the student body, October, '25. And in January of '26 the football captain lost his sweater and, incidentally, his heart?

When those girls were campused for meeting the "handsome" sex in town in April '25? And the Bulldogs beat the "Sandies?"

When in 1912 Clay Thompson was champion essay writer? When Lucy Story wrote poetry in 1913 and J. C. Mahan won medals for orations somewhat after this fashion: "Young man, let us now resolve to so live that each day will weave a strand in that golden cable..."

Did you know the "Avenging Angel," page 148 of the 1921 "Wester?"

In 1916 did you wonder why Paul was always out of town when Clarice went home? Why

Dr. Slover lectured on "The Evils of a Pool Hall?"

And when you were around did you know who the 13 young men were who on a warm September evening in 1898 founded the Adkissonain Literary Society. And the 13 young men who two years later founded the Panhandle Literary Society?

Shattered Ruins Mark Disaster's Path . . .

A bomb blast could hardly have done worse damage to the wing of the Clarendon College girls dormitory building, shown above, than was done by the tornado. Other sections of the building did not collapse, but were torn and wrecked. The building caretaker, Tom Tucker, occupied the wing of the building seen at far right. An almost completed $30,000 WPA project was ruined, below, when the tornado blew down the east wall of Broncho stadium. The wall was of concrete and rock construction, more than a foot thick and eight to ten feet high.

The Panhandle's oldest institution of higher learning, Clarendon College, was hard hit by the tornado blast. Destruction to the main building was much more severe than can be seen in the picture, above, as the rear of the structure apparently took most of the force of the tornadic wind. Walls and partitions throughout the building were cracked and distorted, and much valuable equipment was damaged by wind and water. Typical of a number of nearby residences was the home of Mrs. O. L. Fink, shown below, with the roof half gone, windows out, and walls shattered.

June 1941 - City raked by three storms

Clarendon tonight was clearing the wreckage left by the early morning twister that claimed one life, seriously injured several others and damaged property to the extent of between a quarter and a half million dollars.

The third violent storm experienced during Sunday night struck about 5 o'clock this morning. It was accompanied by a violent lightning display and heavy rain.

"The twister was preceded by a sudden shift of wind," Arthur Chase, secretary of the school board, related. "There was a driving rain from the east. It quickly shifted and started falling from the west. Then it stopped suddenly and in the lull you could have heard a pin drop. Then like the roar of an approaching train, you could hear the wind coming before it struck with its full fury."

The twister did slight damage to buildings on the L.T. Shelton ranch, 15 miles southwest, before it hit the town.

HIT DRENNAN HOME

The first home it struck was that of Dean R.E. Drennan at the edge of the city. It picked up the six room house, dashed it to the ground a short distance to the north and spread debris for a distance of several yards.

Mrs. Drennan, who was sleeping in a bedroom in the south side of the house was hurled out into the middle of the street just north of her home. Rescuers pulled her from beneath the wreckage.

Mr. Drennan was found in a dazed condition wandering in the wreckage. Their 18-year-old daughter, Ethlyn, a student at the college and who had been sleeping in an east bedroom, was found beneath the main wreckage. She was trapped by a falling wall, and neighbors had to saw through the window of the wall in order to release her.

Mrs. O.L. Fink, about 65 years old, who lived across the street and just north of the Drennans, heard the wind approaching. Fearing a tornado, she started to the basement, but as she reached the door she was struck on the head. The next thing that she remembered she related later, was that she was lying on the floor of the basement. Her injuries were confirmed to cuts on the head and scratched and bruises, and her condition was not considered serious. Her home was badly damaged. The roof was blown off and furnishing carried away.

CUTS NARROW PATH

The twister cut a swath only a few hundred feet wide and moved almost directly from south to north in the western part of the city, the oldest and best residential section of the city, and across "College Hill."

Houses on the west side of the blocks along which the twister traveled suffered only minor damage, and across the street from the demolished homes, damage was confined to a few broken trees and a few lost shingles.

Moving northward from the Fink home, the twister completely unroofed the Joe Holland residence, a four-room stucco home, and smashed all windows.

Mr. Holland, sleeping in the southeast room of the house, heard the wind approaching and rolled off onto the floor and under the bed. He escaped with minor injuries. No one else was injured at the Holland home.

In the kitchen of the Holland home, bricks crashed through the plaster, leaving only the ceiling joists; however the kitchen light, attached to one of the joists, was unbroken. Likewise, the ceiling was blown almost completely out of the living room but a bulb in a chandelier was unbroken.

STORM DELAYS WEDDING

Mrs. Frank Bourland was badly injured when the wind struck their brick home, just north of the Hollands. She suffered severe cuts. Their roof was blown completely off but the walls were left standing.

It was the $40,000 home of J.L. McMurtry, located in the block just south of the college, that received one of the heaviest blows. Parts of the top floor or the large two-story brick home were blown in and the roof carried away. The furnishings of the top floor were badly damaged by the wind while those of the first floor were damaged greatly by the heavy rain that accompanied the storm.

The home, one of the finest in Clarendon, had been decorated for the reception that was to have followed the wedding of the McMurtry's son, Alfred McMurtry, to Miss Flora Katherine Westmoreland. The wedding which was set for noon today was postponed.

None of the family nor guests staying in the McMurtry home was injured.

Timbers picked up by the wind punctured a wooden water tower, set about 30 feet in the air, at the McMurtry home. While the wind did not over turn the tower, the timbers that pierced it drained out all the water. A barn and carriage house at the McMurtry home were demolished.

School closed for high heat

Around 1924 Drennan Says School Closed For High Heat

Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Drennan and baby returned last week from Norman, Oklahoma, where they had been for the past eight weeks in attendance on the summer session of the University of Oklahoma. The usual term of schools in this school is twelve weeks, but authorities in charge of the instruction stated that they must close for the last four weeks as the extreme heat prevented their reaching their usual standards of scholarship and instruction. Mrs. Drennan did not attend this session of the school.

Chase family history

The Arthur L. Chase family and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Chase spanned a period in Clarendon dating from 1912 to October 1957.

In 1876 Effie and Liola W. Chase moved to Texas from Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where they lived at Waco and Coyote, in Bosque County, until 1892 when they moved with their young son, Arthur, to Cleburne.

In 1892 Liola built the water works system. From 1903 until 1914 he was associated with a syndicate owning public utilities companies in Clarendon, Amarillo and Taylor, Texas.

In 1895 Arthur married Jessie Schudder of Pasadena, Calif. and in 1912 moved with their two children, Rhodin and Manette to Clarendon to manage the first light and water company. He was Water Commissioner for many years.

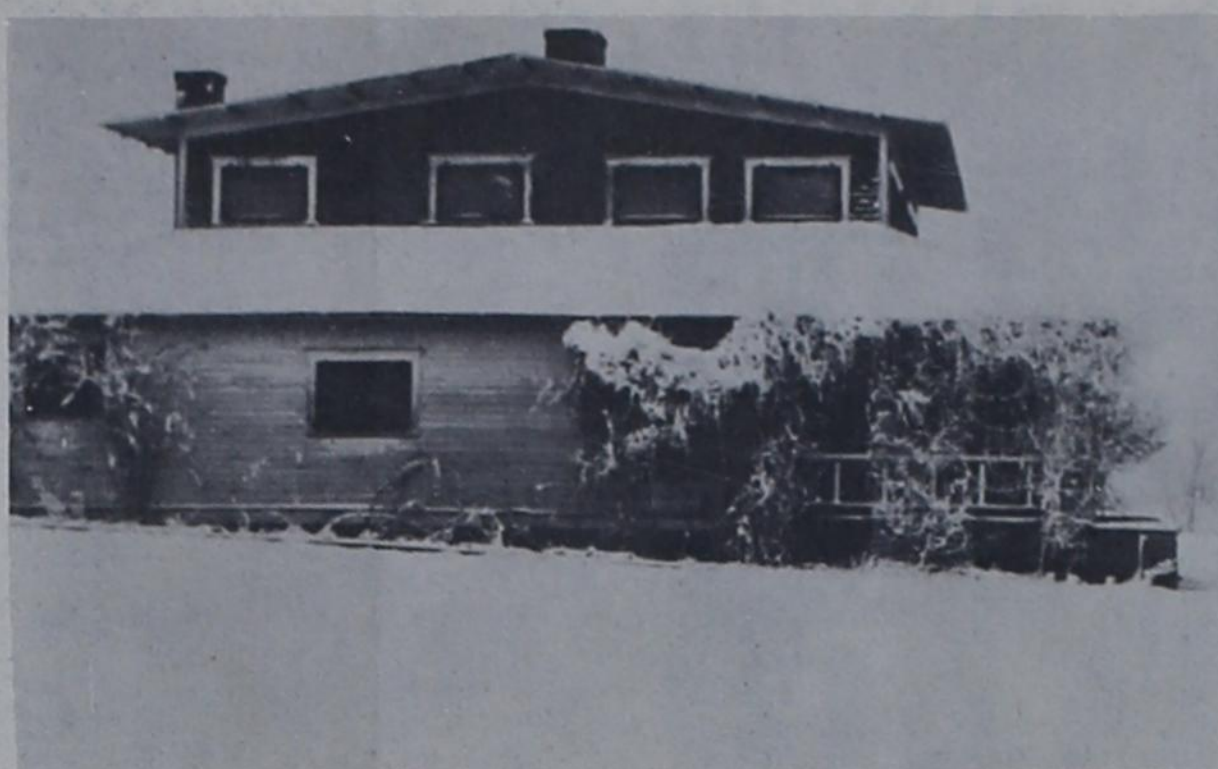

In 1917 another son was born, Arthur L. Chase Jr. the three children all graduated from the Clarendon schools and completed B.S. degrees, Rhodin from University of Colorado; Manette from C.I.A. (now TWU in Denton, Texas) and Arthur from West Texas at Canyon.

In 1923 Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Chase moved to Clarendon where they were caretakers at the Clarendon Country Club for several years. They moved into town to a new little home just a block away, north, from Arthur's home on Third Street. Liola died April 16, 1935 and Effie died November 30, 1944.

Arthur Chase was a charter member of the Clarendon Lions Club. He had the Conoco Agency for several years, but had operated an accounting and tax service business for many years before his death January 19, 1951. His wife, Jessie, died October 26, 1957. Their children survive. Rhodin now lives in Las Vegas, Nevada. Manette, who married Keith Stegall in 1930 has lived in Gunnison, Colorado since 1944. They have three children, eight grandchildren and one great grand-daughter. Arthur, who married Dorothy McCormack in 1958 lives in Houston, Texas.

The writer of this short history, Manette C. Stegall was pleased to see the old home place well kept and improved on her recent trip through Clarendon.

Lots Of Fun At Lake Greenbelt

Greenbelt Lake has a variety of recreational programs to offer.

Kincaid Park has picnic tables, water fountains and rest rooms for the use of lake visitors.

Lake properties are for lease to persons who will build or put a trailer or mobile home on permanent foundations. Of the 151 lots for lease only two remain. Cost of lease on the property is surprisingly low, with the first years lease on a 70 by 100 lot.

Permits issued to boaters average 800 per year and 7500 on a daily average. For recreational permits the yearly average is 2600 and the daily average is 4100. The figures quoted are computed on sales from Barney's Marine, Milam's Canteen, Mooring Place Marina and the Filter Plant.

Strictly enforced safety regulations have made Greenbelt Lake desirable as a family recreation area. Greenbelt regulations are more stringent than the state laws. Persons on any floating device need a personal flotation device (life jacket) life guard approved for wear at all times on the water.

Each boat must have a paddle, a bailing bucket, a few tools, a fire extinguisher, a coast guard approved flotation device or life jacket for every person on board and a four by eight mirror if a skier is being pulled. Boat drivers must be 16 years old. Failure of persons to comply with regulations may be subject to fines of from $10 to $200.

A state fishing license is required for anyone fishing in public waters. The fee is $.25 and there is no non-residency requirement. Exemptions to this requirement are persons under 17 and over 65, a person fishing in his own county and not using a winding device. Greenbelt Lake and state regulations are the same regarding fishing.

Greenbelt Lake allows duck hunting only-no other hunting is allowed at any time.

Clarendon

Country Club

Located on Lake Greenbelt Clarendon Country Club is a rural country club serving the area.

Memberships are in Pampa, Childress, Turkey, Silvertown, Claude, Amarillo and Memphis in this area and from as far away as Dallas and Houston.

Rushed to its completion the club opened in June 1969 just in time for a wedding reception for Tina Moore, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rip Gilkev.

Clarendon now has two air connections

Reprinted from the Clarendon News Aug. 15, 1929.

Clarendon citizens who have need for the use of the air mail will be glad to learn that two trains daily may be used to give connection with the air mail planes out of Fort Worth and Dallas. The first of these leaves Fort Worth and Dallas. The first of these leaves Fort Worth at 7:30 in the evening and arrives in Chicago the following morning. The second of these is an all day service and leaves Fort Worth at 9:30 in the morning, making the route to Chicago in daylight hours. Stops are made at all prominent centers and mail is sent both east and west at a number of intermediate points in the country between Fort Worth and Chicago. The saving of time is in the neighborhood of twelve hours from Clarendon and is more when one lives nearer the air port. In some instances, the saving in mail time will amount to almost two days.

To secure the best service on the mail planes, it is suggested that letters be mailed here that they may catch the train that leaves here at 7:35, arriving in Fort Worth or Dallas in sufficient time to catch the daylight plane out of these centers. Mail placed on the train leaving here in the morning at 7:04, catching the night mail from Fort Worth. The rates are such that one may well afford the added expense in order to receive the benefits of the time saved in using the faster service.
