HUNDRED FIFTY BARREL WELL IN HATCHETT POOL

Baird Shallow Oil Field, May 23, 1929.—Moutray Oil Co., Callahan county, P.G. and Bill Hatchett No. 19, well record D and DA survey section 23, elevation around 1500 feet, drilling commenced 5-22-29, is producing 150 barrels per day of high gravity oil, total depth 405 feet.

Moutray Oil Co., Callahan county P.G. and Bill Hatchett No. 20, well record D and DA survey section 23, drilling commenced 5-20-29, No. 20, is expected to be drilled in Thursday.

Several new wells in the Hatchett addition with no report.

H. D. Barnhart et al, Callahan county, J. R. McFarland No. 2, location John-Gillespie survey section 340 spudded in 5-22-29.

The production in the Baird shallow pool Tuesday was more than twenty-one hundred barrels of high grade oil. A number of oil producing companies raised the price of oil the first of the week from 10 cents to 41 cents per barrel owing to the gravity or grade of oil. In the Baird field in the vicinity of Belle Plaine the new raise will be 31 cents, making oil here $1.65 per barrel.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company gets the production from the Baird shallow pool and started the ball rolling, with its announcement from Independence Kan. of increase, ranging from 17 to 41 cents on grades including north and central Texas.

Mrs. Rawson and her grandson, Johnie Rawson, of Tucson Ariz., spent several days here the guest of Mrs. J. B. Cuthbert. She visited her old ranch home and Mrs. Jim Denham and Mr. and Mrs. Ples West, near Belle Plaine. Mr. and Mrs. Rawson were among the early pioneer families. Mr. Rawson was a professor in the Belle Plaine College and taught in a large number of other schools in Callahan county. Mrs. Rawson is on her way to visit her old home in Des Moines, Iowa, and several other cities in the northwest, 4000 miles in all.

"TAPS"

In the passing of C. C. Seale, Jr. Callahan has lost its most famous soldier and adventurous son. I have watched him all through his manly career, rejoiced with him in his victories and sympathized with him in his sorrows.

This young and fearless youth on the fields of Flanders covered himself in glory and brushed the wings of fame and now in his final reward, I envy him, but with a spirit divine akin to glory. The reward that comes to all brave soldiers and good sons of God, eternal peace and rest. To his good and gracious wife and sister, I extend my sympathy.

HAVE A LOOK

All-right Fans and fens, here it is—The Lid Buster, the official openings of the 1929 struggle in the Great National Pastime in Baird, and of course it's the Coyotes of yesteryears, with many new additions to the personnel that will attempt to uphold the dignity of our fair-city. The business management of the Coyotes were very optimistic and felt confident of the ability of the Coyotes, so they matched a game with one of the hardest aggregations in West Texas—the Breckenridge Magnolia Team, this team has played four games this season, winning all of them; it's now up to the Coyotes to break this string of victories. Sunday May 26th, 3:30 p. m. T. P. Park, the Baird Coyotes vs Breckenridge Magnolia Team, and the admission will be 25 and 35 cents, with Ladies Free with each paid ticket. The Coyotes have been working out for the past two weeks, and the management, Mr. H. M. Dudley, business manager, Mr. Frank McGraw playing manager and coach Charles Fiedler are beaming with optimism and pep, in fact the entire 'gang' of players are cavorting around like a bunch of two-year-olds. Just take a peep at the following aspiring Ruth Cobbs, and Speakers, that will represent Baird this coming season: Jim Strickland, Cross, Cotulla, Meadows, Three Ray boys, Wristen, Kehrer, Hammons, Finley, Chappell, Pruitt, Boucheite, Bell, Bowlin, Bailey and two other old reliable Earl and Gus Hall. Some of these names are new to most of the fans, but we assure you that they will show you some speed and class playing during the coming season, so Be There.

ACE HICKMAN BUYS THE BROYLES RANCH IN SHACKELFORD COUNTY

Col. Dick McCarty in Albany News.

Why doggone, yes, things are picking up over here in grand old Shackelford county—O yes, folks are coming here from a distance and buying this fine grass lands, the best on earth—Yes, as cow country its fame has gone abroad—The Home of the Hereford, and they are coming here from far and near to buy our steers—Coming here to buy our grass lands—O yes, this lucious mesquite grass, nice clear water holes, warm winters, and other ideal climatic conditions makes it the greatest cow country in the world, and they are coming our way. Now there's that Irishman, R. E. Burns, he's camping over at Abilene, temporarily, but he gets his bacon and beans over here in grand old Shackelford county and good clear sparkling water out of Hubbard Creek. Yes, he owns a fine ranch down there on Hubbard Creek—And you just ought to hear him make a talk on this county, the fertility of its soil, nutritious mesquite grass, its ideal climatic conditions. Yes, he's got one that will put you in fever heat to buy a Shackelford county ranch—Now there is another fine ranch lying along side of Brother Burn's ranch, known as the Billie Broyles ranch. Well he went over to Baird the other day and got to bragging about Shackelford county's ranch lands, and a feller by the name of Ace Hickman heard him make the talk, and when he wound up this said Ace Hickman walked up to him and ran his hand down in his pocket and pulled out a five dollar bill and said make that talk again—He did so, and it sure did touch the spot, made the butter come, and this said Mr. Hickman had fifty thousand dollars down in his jeans, it sure was burning his pocket—It was oil money, silk velvet stuff, an he was hunting for a hold to put it in—Well, to make a long story short, Brother Burns relieved him of the pain, took the money off of him, letting his hot pocket cool off, and giving him in exchange for his easy oil money, one of the finest ranches in Shackelford county, that of the Billie Broyles ranch—O yes, no wonder that doggone Irishman was smiling—A nice fat commission on fifty thousand dollar deal would make a stone post laf.

BIG GASSER ON HENRY LEASE DRILLED IN FRIDAY

The Lone Star Henry No. 1 came in Friday of last week, and is reported to be making about 8 or 9 million feet of rich gas from a depth of 2100 feet. This well is an offset to the R. W. Brooks well, and the sand was found at 100 feet nearer the surface than in the Lone Star Ross Elliott No. 2 that came in some time ago. The Ross Elliott gas well was found at 2200 feet and is producing about 10 million feet of gas. This makes the fifth producer in that field thus far, with no dry holes in the territory. There are two other wells being drilled at the present time according to report, and other locations have been made.

The Lone Star Gas Company, commercial distributors of gas over Texas and Oklahoma, are drilling these wells for gas, and from their activity here, are greatly interested in the Moran gas fields. The gas in unlimited quantities can be found in this territory and it is expected that in time Moran will be some of the largest gas producing areas in the state. Gas is found at various depths on all sites of Moran and practically every well drilled passes through gas sands that could be made into commercial wells should there be a close market for the gas. The Lone Star Company is now furnishing a splendid market.

The Lone Star wells on the Brooks, Elliott and Henry leases are located six miles due east of Moran. The wells are being drilled by Galligher and Lawson, drilling contractors.—Moran News.

THE SENIORITIES

Remember Inez Halbrook,
 This to the girls only though,
 For she is married now,
 and the boys would be dangerous
 you know.

And Lucibel Mitchel,
 The baby of our Senior class,
 will remember this girl,
 Maybe least, but not last.

Remember Hazel Nichols,
 the kind that is hard to find,
 always ready for lots of fun,
 but nice, gentle, and oh! that kind.

And there is Fonda Hughes
 with us, but not very old,
 a friend to everybody
 with a heart as good as gold.

And of course there's Grace Jackson.

a great help to all of us,
 Altho she's always seen with another

We love her just as much,
 Miss Dorothy Mae Scott,
 For twelve years has been here,
 and each one of these long years
 To us has grown more dear.

Remember Steph.n Warren,
 A boy who is good and true,
 He's so kind to everybody
 To like his isn't hard to do.

There is Miss Myrtle Starr,
 More intelligent as the days pass,
 it's too bad she is so interested in someone out of our class.

And there is Carrie Lou Gibbs
 We all like her 'tis true,
 She likes her Senior Classmates,
 But she likes a junior too.

Think of Curtis Sutphen,
 Tall, graceful and slender,
 A boy who is liked by everyone,
 A boy we will always remember.

Sometimes think of Bonnie Bill
 (James)
 A browneyed girl so dear,
 She is with us, and will be with us to the end of the year.

I know you'll remember one boy
 Vernon Johnson, by name,
 The president of our Senior class,
 For football and all other games.

There is one, Thelma Lois Boatwright,
 Real intelligent, but rather shy,
 But you just wait a few years,
 You'll hear from her by and by.

Think of Howard Stephens,
 A hero in our plays,
 A hero too in real life,
 But just "Steve" to us always.

Remember Aline Crutchfield
 A member of our Senior class,
 A girl we will always like,
 As long as life shall last.

Impossible to forget A. T.
 Vestal,
 Who spends his evenings in Clyde,
 Can't he see the Baird girls?

Maybe he has never tried.

Remember Glenn McGowen,
 Who plays for us music each day,
 Her smiles are like the sunshine,
 And drive our worries away.

Think of Weldon Varner,
 The annual manager this year,
 A boy of truth and faith,
 Who is outspoken and clear.

Little Miss Edith Hammons,
 So bashful and rather shy,
 Maybe she will change, however,
 At the days pass by.

Think of R. L. Elliot,
 A boy we all "look up to"
 A boy to our Senior class,
 We know will always be true.

There is Fannie Baum,
 A girl so good and true,
 We hope she can't scare Harry,
 As she did us in "The Hoodoo"

And please when thinking of Harry Dunlap,
 Remember the good he has done,
 Forget how he pestered the teachers,

It furnished us heaps of fun,
 Remember Christine Hall,
 With the wonderful alto voice,
 We will think of her singing,
 As always our first choice.

And there is Bill Hamlett,
 A boy from a northern state,
 He liked our Senior class so well,
 He came back to graduate.

And remember Donna McGowen,
 A little blonde haired girl,
 Who always made the grade,
 And put all brains in a whirl.

Our thoughts go to Wilburn
 Walker,
 The red-haired boy so dear,
 We think so much of "little Willie"
 And he's been here only one year.

Think of Willilla Hensley,
 A brown eyed girl so sweet,
 She is always good natured,
 And very small, jolly and neat.

Captain Durard Elder,
 A football duty would never shun,
 He was always in the right place,
 And many a victory for us won.

Doris Foy is graduating this year,
 With another easy time,
 How she always "gets by"
 Will never be able to learn.

Ira Putnam, a true sport,
 Has spent two years in Baird
 school,
 To see Ira when "dated"
 One can easily tell he is no fool.

It would be difficult to forget
 Maude McGowen,
 Another girl of our "Lone Star
 State"
 She has been here eleven years,
 And is sure to graduate.

Violetta Wylie,
 A member of the Senior class,
 She has been with us four short years.

And will be with us to the last.
 Billie Wright and Barbara Mc
 Caffity,
 Graduates at mid-term,
 Billie is attending McMurry,
 While Barbara's out for some fun.

Willard Kelton,
 The real brain of our class

Through few seem to realize it,
 They will as the years pass.

There was Jack Chappell,
 With us but a short while,
 He was great in football
 And is welcomed back with a smile.

Dorothy Barnhill and Beatrice
 Green,
 Lovable girls and tall,
 Some of us may be forgotten
 These girls never at all.

Think of Rayford Guffey,
 Star of the football season,
 He is loved by all the school
 But that isn't the only reason,

Remember Josie Lois Ivey
 The girl with the long curly hair,
 Always studious in school
 So obedient, honest and fair,

Miss Wilma Nell Sykes,
 In Baird only temporarily, She'll return home when she graduates,
 We'll miss her so, really.

And now just one more,
 Lucille Robinson, known by many,
 She tried so hard to write poetry,
 But never has written any,

And please when thinking of us,
 Remember the good we have done,
 Forget how we lost some battles,
 Just remember the times we've won.

 CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS
 ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels contain the choicest tobaccos grown

They have a welcome mellowness and mild-ness that you will find in no other cigarette.
 Smoke them as often as you like, Camels never tire your taste.

The quality of Camels is never permitted to vary.

Only a superior cigarette could have won and held world leadership for all these years as Camel has done.

PASSING OF JOSEPH D. SAYERS

Above the dome of the capitol of Texas the flag of a common-wealth half-masted tells of the passing of a remarkable son of the southland who was an invincible in war time and a rugged and fearless servant of the people in peace time.

Joseph D. Sayers has gone to his reward. Many mile posts were his. Many golden memories were his. Many friendships in high and humble life were his. He had been a maker of history for decades. He had been a public life for more than a half century.

He had been a gallant soldier in the long ago. He had worn the gray and followed the flag of the planter's republic until that flag had perished in the smoke of battle. He was born in Mississippi, in 1841. He was ten when his father moved to Texas and became a resident of Bastrop county.

He was 19 when the toxin of civil war sounded. He was one of the first to volunteer in defense of the Bonnie Blue flag. He bore the scars of honorable conflict won on the battle field. He fought from the beginning until the close of internecine strife.

Then he laid aside the sword and began to battle for the rehabilitation of a land made desolate by the fortunes of war. He became a lawyer. He was called to local office. He was elected to the state senate.

He was one of the gallant men who drove from capitol hill carpet buggars and renegades and their black cohorts. He was one of the dauntless sons of the southland who restored a white man's government to the sorely tried people of the Lone Star commonwealth.

He was a lieutenant governor of Texas when the gray haired men and women of the Texas of today were boys and girls.

He was elected to the American congress before Grover Cleveland had been elected president of the U.S. He was one of the big dome on the banks of the Potomac.

He was one of those who declared that the sons of the southland who had lost when they appealed to the sword had returned again to the house of the fathers. He had been a follower of Samuel J. Tilden, who was elected and then counted out.

He had been a follower of Grover Cleveland and saw that great democrat elected president and counted in He was the close friend and confidential advisor of Grover Cleveland.

He became nationally known as the "Watchdog of the National Treasury." He saw Cleveland defeated by Benjamin Harrison and four years later the return of Cleveland to the high office of president and the retirement of Harrison to the shades of private life.

He saw a democratic secretary of the navy name a mighty battleship "Texas" in honor of his adopted state and a republican secretary of war confer the name of Sam Houston on perhaps the greatest military post under American skies.

For years in congressional life, he associated with the mighty of all political parties, the giants who trod the stage of action in memorable years of the history of this republic and who now sleep the sleep that comes to all men born of women.

Then he was called to the office of governor of the state he loved so well and a people whom he had served so loyally as a national lawmaker. He was governor of Texas four years. There were no scandals attached to his administration. He believed that no servant of the people could serve two masters.

He believed with the great president whom he had served faithfully at all times that "a public office is a public trust." He believed that a people the least governed are the best governed.

He believed that crime should be eradicated and that the transgressor should pay the penalty. He believed in economy in government, simplicity in government and the rule of the many and not of the few.

After his retirement from the highest office in the gift of the people of Texas he filled many places of honor and emolument. He never feathered his own nest. The lure of gold never dazzled the eye of this public servant.

He had been in harness for many many years. He believed in efficient service as well as honest service. He was as true to his clients as he was to the people who had called him to high place.

He was frugal, he was fearless, he was just and he was honest. Intellectually honest as well as having that integrity of purpose which bars those who have it from the accumulation of wealth gained by methods which are dishonest but within the law.

He was in harness at 19 as a soldier, so continued in harness all the days of his remarkable career, he died in harness as a servant of the people of Texas and when death called him it called an illustrious representative of that rugged and indomitable race of men who knew Texas as a wilderness and made it the empire state of the American republic founded by Washington.—Cisco News.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR C. C. SEALE

Funeral services for C. C. Seale, who died in El Paso on Tuesday, of last week, were held at Belle Plaine cemetery on last Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Rev. Willis P. Gerhart of Abilene, conducted funeral services, and a lone bugler blew taps over the flower laden grave.

Although one of the first men to answer his country's call in the world war and a veteran of several campaigns, services at the grave at the request of the family, were simple.

Mr. Seale was typical soldier of fortune and had traveled practically all over the world. He enlisted in the United States army to go to Mexico with Pershing's men after which he entered an officers training camp in the aviation department. He served considerable time as an aviator in France and saw active service on several fronts.

After the World War he returned to Europe and served as an aviator with the Spanish army in the Morocco war. He also spent some time later in Rumania as an oil specialist.

During the World War Mr. Seale was gassed and also had the sleeping fever while in Europe. His condition made it necessary for him to spend considerable time in a hospital in Paris. While there he married a French girl, Miss Jeane Guillet, and they came back to America. The couple made several trips to France but owing to his health moved to New Mexico and later to El Paso where he resided until death Tuesday evening.

Mr. Seale won several citations both in the American and French army. He was a charter member of Post No. 1 of the American Legion, Paris France. A large number of Legionnaires and ex-service men attended the funeral.

DEEP CREEK CAMP MEETING TO BE HELD IN AUGUST

On Friday of last week, the people of the Deep Creek community met at the Lone Star Tourist Camp for a basket dinner and to meet with Rev. W. E. Harkins, Jr., to discuss plans for a camp meeting to be held. A large crowd was present and the day pleasantly spent. At the noon hour dinner was spread and there was plenty and to spare after dinner services were held by Rev. W. E. Hawkins, of the radio revival, and it was decided to hold the meeting in August beginning on Wednesday the 15th, and closing on Sunday 25th. A large crowd was present at the meeting Friday among them Rev. Joe R. Mayes of Baird and Rev. Baker of Putnam.

DEDICATION OF NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH

Dedication and blessing of the new Holy Rosary church, was fittingly celebrated on Sunday, May 12th, "Mothers Day" with a concurrence of faithful worshippers, Catholic people, mostly Mexicans, had come from Baird, and the neighboring towns for the occasion, beleaguering the church premises in colorful variety. The church property was beautifully decorated at the entrance of the chapel.

Promptly at 10:30 o'clock a. m., the dedication services began with the formal recital of prayers and blessings in latin, which is the official and universal language of the Catholic church. The Rt. Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, D. D., of Dallas was assisted in this by the Rev. H. Krufer, pastor, and the Rev. B. Rodarte, assistant pastor, both of Abilene, and the altar boys of Clyde.

The Rev. B. Rodarte, formally in charge of the Cathedral in the city of Zacatecas, Mexico, and professor of mathematics and science at the Episcopal Seminary of the same city, and now one of the exiled Mexican refugee priests is laboring here among his people to preserve in them the inheritance of the faith of their fathers and to keep them law abiding and useful citizens.

In his sermon, the Rt. Rev. Bishop explained the sacrifice of the Holy Mass (non-Catholics call it the celebration of the Lord's Supper) and its importance in the economy of the Christian faith and gave also a historical outline of it, with which he showed that it was the essential Christian service and the real first one ever celebrated on our virgin soil after its discovery, the first one celebrated in Texas to which the famous Franciscan Missions, south and west from here still bear testimony, and in all truth the first Christian service 'per excellence' which started in the upper chamber of Jerusalem with the consecration of bread and wine by our Lord, Jesus Christ, Himself. God can just as well dwell under the form of a piece of bread on our altars, the Bishop said, as he could become man and walk among us.

Father Rodarte spoke to the Mexicans in their Mother tongue, explaining to the first communicants the white veil they were wearing as a symbol of the purity of soul and body with which they must approach the communion table. "He who is unworthy, eats and drinks Judgement to himself, not discerning the body of the Lord, according to St. Paul. He further explained the burning candle the communicants were carrying in their hands, saying that it signifies their faith, enlightened faith by which they believe in the real presence of Christ in the blas-sed sacrament. The Mexican priest concluded his sermon by saying, Be good Mexicans. In order to be good Mexicans it is necessary that you be first a good Christian, second that you practice your religion and third, that you honor your celestial Mother as Christ honored her, the Mother of God, under whose patronage this beautiful Mission Temple is placed.

I the afternoon Rt. Rev. Bishop Lynch administered the sacrament of confirmation to 102 children and adults assisted again by the local priests from the neighboring towns.

Thus ended a blessed day for the Catholic people of Baird. At Abilene a "Mother's Day" Banquet had been arranged in the K of C Hall in loving gratitude and memory of our dear mothers, the Catholic Bishop presiding as honor-guest. A beautiful program was rendered in this occasion by members of the local Catholic church there with selected songs, music, readings and appropriate addresses by prominent citizens of Abilene.

We must yet say that the Rt. Rev. Bishop Lynch left Baird with the very best of impressions of the progress shown by the many new buildings and the paved streets.

ENIGMA

We haven't been saying much about it, but we have one of the best classes for children (ages from 5 to 15) it has ever been my privilege to know. This class meets every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Recently, we decided to give them a Bible Enigma to work out each week for a while; and since they are proving to be quite interesting, we are passing them on, with the hope to stimulate a general interest in Bible study amongst the children of our town and community. Please read this carefully, and I will make it as plain as I can. Every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock every boy and girl present, whose ages run from 5 to 15 years, assemble in one of our upper class rooms. Eachone writes his (or her) name on a slip of paper and drops it in a box. This box is shaken by one of the older ones present until the class says "enough". Then one of the younger ones, blind folded, draws one name from the box; this name is read (silently) by another member of the class, and handed to the teacher. Just one member of the class, and the teacher, know whose name has been drawn. This is kept a secret during the week, when the teacher makes out a list of Bible questions, the first letter to the answer of each of these questions will reveal the name drawn. Here goes the list of questions, try your hand. Everybody. Get a pencil and paper, write out the list of answers, giving book, chapter and verse, then arrange the first letter of each be present. Personally, and hand to the teacher at the above named place next Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Your name may be drawn at next meeting.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

That De Leon shipped a car load of Southern junior and senior calves to Lake Charles, La. is an indication of what that territory is concentrating on. J. Doss Miller, Jr., and C. M. Caraway shipped the car consisting of 25 bull calves to Henry Gray a breeder of Short-horns in that state. The animals were all registered stock and represented a considerable value.

Hanlin has completed plans for a cream route that makes a loop around the town, and then goes into Stamford, and collection will start upon the arrival of a sufficient number of cream cans and will be under the direction of T. A. Carter. The producers will receive a premium of 10 cents per pound above market price for sweet cream.

Canyon has started a campaign to raise $50,000 for the erection of the first unit of a museum building to house the relics of the Panhandle—Plains Historical Society. Archer County's chamber of commerce has made plans to establish a higher grade of cattle in the county with the purchase of 26 high bred registered animals to be shipped from Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana breeders.

Muleshoe continues to ship car after car of maize, kaffir and corn to outside markets every day. The demand for these feeds is good because of the high quality. Much of it is used for planting.

Friena, in following up the work of Better Home Week, has inaugurated a Better Homes contest for Friena and vicinity during the coming summer to end August 15. Prizes will be awarded for the three best kept homes. Two classes of homes will be considered, those in the city limits and those within a six-mile radius.

Iowa Park will sponsor a Community Work Day on June 4, at the Fair grounds in order to get the grounds ready for the proposed erection of a grand stand for general use. Labor and the use of tractors, teams and other equipment will be donated so that the work may be completed in one day.

Crosbyton is experiencing a new residential building boom. One block recently sold by B. W. Ellison there is to be built six brick veneer homes by his new owner, G. H. Johnson. Johnson has already built four homes in Crosbyton.

Ralls, in being chosen the place of meeting for the 1930 South Plains district convention of the West Texas chamber of Commerce, brings the meet to Crosby County for the second time, as it was held in Crosbyton in 1927. Ralls had an enormous delegation at the recent convention at Tahoka.

Pampa's Chamber of Commerce recently conducted a poultry and dairy school at which 50 students from the vocational agricultural class of the High school, and about the same number of farmers from the territory were present. The school was in charge of Prof. K. M. Renner, and Prof. R. C. Mowery of Texas Tech.

Seymour will entertain the delegates from the Lower Panhandle district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in convention on May 16. A fish fry and golf at the Seymour chamber of commerce park at Lake Kemp under the auspices of the Lions Club and a band contest with $160.00 in prizes will be features of the convention.

Olney's proposed street lighting system is about to become a reality. The present plans provide 40 standard lights, and 60 bracket lights to be placed where standards are not appropriate. This system is subject to change and the exact number of each to be installed will be determined by a committee appointed by the council.

Borger's Little Symphony orchestra held its first meeting and formed a tentative group recently. This will be enlarged and officers at a later meeting. Miss Hilma Hart is organizing the group.

Osprey Was Pirate

Attempts were once made to train the fish-hawk or osprey to catch fish for its master's table, but as this bird could not be persuaded to relinquish its habit of flying to the top of the nearest tall tree with its catch, these attempts soon ended.

Let It Pass By

House centipedes are not such pests as many people think. They do not feed on household goods, but on flies, roaches and other household pests. They are ugly things, but really helpful, so if you see one in your home shudder a bit if you feel like it, but let it go peacefully on its way.

Needed a Change of Viewpoint

By LEET STONE

YOUNG Mr. Clive Williams, prominent legal light, sat with his eighty-dollar coat sleeve resting on his three-hundred-dollar mahogany desk, and anthematized the extravagance of women.

He had no wife; but he had a very modern mother and two very modern sisters. The problem of how to stretch thirty-five thousand dollars a year so it would compare with their domestic budget was agitating.

His mother and the girls must have between them twenty or thirty gowns a year from Paris, a touring car and a town car, to say nothing of periodical reinforcements against boredom such as extended jaunts to the Riviera, Palm Beach, Bar Harbor and Lakewood. No wonder Clive Williams pondered with his fourteen-dollar shoes tightly pressing the four-hundred-dollar Turkish rug in front of his desk.

A neat blonde head appeared at the softly opened door.

"Hello, Miss Fane! Want to see me?"

"There's a man from the garage to see you, Mr. Williams," said the attractive secretary.

How bright and comfortable, how cheery she looked, thought Williams, as he bid her send the man in. So neatly and tastefully dressed. How in the world could his secretary appear so charming and desirable, and above all so serene, on thirty-five dollars a week when he could not even approach equality on thirty-five thousand a year?

The garage man had a refreshing bit of news, Williams' chauffeur "had been pinched for slicing a pie truck," and "if you don't mind running up to the police station and giving a hundred dollars security you can get him out tonight. They won't take a check, you know."

"All right, Stevens. I'll go right up. Thank you."

Williams pressed a buzzer for the office boy.

"Tell Mr. Jones to come in," he ordered.

"Cashier's gone, sir. It's quarter past five."

"Then the safe's locked. I suppose?"

"Yes, sir. Mr. Jones always locks it before he leaves."

"Well, somebody must open the safe. I need a hundred dollars at once."

"Sorry, sir; but nobody can open it but Mr. Jones and the managing clerk."

Dismissing the boy, Williams dug in his pockets distractedly. They yielded thirty dollars and three nickels. The banks were closed.

No one in the office knew who would not faint at being asked for a hundred dollars. He telephoned some acquaintances in nearby offices. All had left for the day.

Clive Williams whistled softly and rcked his brain. He couldn't let Johnson, the chauffeur, remain in jail overnight. Some witty reporter would get hold of it and make a silly story which would let him in for no end of chaffing at his clubs.

"The boss is in a fine stew," announced Henry, the office boy, to Miss Fane, the serene secretary, with juvenile glee. "He can't get in the safe and he's gotta have a bunch of buck in half an hour. I ain't got more'n a hundred in my clothes or I'd oblige him—what? How much does he need? Aw, what's the use of tellin' you? Had your envelope padded this week? It's a hundred he wants. If you must know—"

Miss Fane hurried toward her employer's private office and met him rushing out with hat, stick and gloves, his face a study in vexation.

"Just one moment, Mr. Williams. It's about the money. I've just heard you need some for something important. If you don't mind I'd be glad to let you have a hundred dollars."

Clive Williams could not help it. He laughed in sheer appreciation of the situation. Miss Fane smiled. Here he had been digging in pockets and desk drawers for a stray, forgotten ten-cent note, and now came his enchanting secretary offering it on the spot.

"Just happened to have it with me today," Miss Fane still smiled. "because I've been saving a long time for a player piano, and I was going to pay this amount down this evening."

Somehow, Williams did not realize that he should be expressing appreciation instead of standing in front of this girl, silently admiring her, and wondering over all manner of amazing economic puzzles. Thirty-five dollars a week and able to have lovely clothes and buy pianos! Thirty-five thousand a year and never out of debt!

What he realized most emphatically, however, was that he, Clive Williams, needed education and a change of viewpoint; also, that standing before him holding out a crisp note was the most perfect teacher that he had ever seen.

Fearing to give immediate vent to his emotion, Williams took the money and thanked the donor.

"Tomorrow, Miss Fane, when I return this, I have an important question to ask you. It deals with high finance. And tomorrow evening while you're motoring with me in the park, I have another, much more important question to propound. Meantime don't forget me!"

Fox's Adventures

"We have all had our experiences and our adventures and our narrow escapes," said the gray fox in the zoo, "but I am wondering if I haven't had one which none of you have had or have ever thought of having."

Finnan Haddie

The fisher folk of Findon, Scotland, were responsible for finnan haddie. Many years ago they discovered the secret of salting and smoking haddock rather better than other coast dwellers. Findon is pronounced "finnan"; haddock were called "haddie." Hence to the little Scotch hamlet goes the honor of originating the name of this popular sea food.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As I look into my book of the future and turn its snow white pages, which represent various parts of the world, I see a number of familiar faces, the most outstanding of which are the classmates of "1929"

First, I see Harry Dunlap, who went to the Sahara Desert to strengthen his delicate constitution. He is now a very prosperous farmer on the Sahara.

I turn another page of my book and see Donna McGowan raising chickens on a beautiful poultry farm while Bill Hamlett is caring for the babies. This is a result of woman suffrage bill.

The next page of my book shows a beautiful picture of Glenn McGowan punishing school kids to the tune of "My Isle of Golden Dreams" The next classmate that I see is Wilma Nell Sykes a good natured old maid who is matron of an Orphan's home in Genoa, Italy.

The next page I turn I find myself in Paris, France, and I often meet Dorothy Barnhill selling pencils on the street.

The next classmates I see are Ira Putnam and Lucile Robinson who are married and living in Moran, Texas. I was surprised to see that Lucile had beaten Dorothy Mae's time, but not to see that Ira was a prosperous banker in his home town.

I turned another page of my book and find myself face to face with Howard Stephens, who is living in Egypt with his wife, Lucibel Mitchell. He sells peanuts for a living.

Next I find myself walking down the streets of my home town, Baird, Texas, when I hear three familiar voices, and who do you suppose it is but Stephen Warren, Bonnie Bell James, and Dorothy Mae Scott who are taking the places of Mr. Boren, Mrs. Clyde White, and Mrs. Boren, respectively, in B. H. S., Stephen said he finally got to be superintendent after fifteen years of waiting and that Mr. Boren had retired to the home of aged professors.

Again I turn a page of my book and this time I am in a beautiful place in the mountains of Colorado, where I meet our old president Vernon Johnson and his wife, Thelma Lois Boatwright, who are successful goat herders in the mountains.

The next classmates I see are Carrie Lou Gibbs and Willella Hensley, who are in partnership business, selling shoe strings on the streets of Fort Worth.

On turning the next page of my book I am astounded to find that I am in the asylum for insane. In a safely locked padded cell I discover Doris Foy. The matron tells me Doris has been there since three weeks after her graduation from high school losing her mind from the practice of writing up Home Economics Note Book.

The next place that I find myself is in Trent where I see Myrtle Starr teaching Grace Jackson a music lesson on the Jewsharp.

My book takes me from Trent to a country home near Baird where I find Maude McGowan living with husband, A. T. Vestal. Maude tells me she makes more from the poultry than her husband does from the rest of the farm.

On the next page of my book I find myself in a newspaper office in Rowden, asking for the editor I do not even recognize Weldon Varner. When I inquired if he was married he replied affirmatively and said the former Patricia Green is out trying to get prescriptions for their paper, "The Headlight."

The next page of my book takes me back to my home town and I walk into the hardware store and find Wilburn Walker now owner. He and his wife, Edith Hammons are the clerks.

Next, I find myself walking down the streets of Abilene where I meet Curtis Sutphen and R. L. Elliot. Curtis informs me that he has become a gospel preacher and R. L. is his singer. They were holding a revival at the time in Negrotown of Abilene.

On the last page of my book I find myself in an opera house in Southern California, where I hear five bright members of our dear old Senior class of '29 singing in a well organized sextette. To my surprise it was Fonda Hughes, Josie Lois Ivey, Willard Kelton, Hazel Nichols, Christine Hall and Viletta Wylie.

The next page does much credit to the Baird high school. A scene is shown from a London cabaret and Barbara McCafferty is doing a "tango" and receiving much applause.

On the next page of my book I hear familiar voices of two classmates, who have wondered far from home. They are no other Durward Elder and Aline Crutch-

NEWSPAPER AND SALES

Modern life is much different today from what it was decade ago. Today, a great deal of buying is done over the telephone.

This, in turn, means that opportunities for purchase advantageous to the buyers are not almost completely centered in newspaper advertising.

The modern housewife knows what she wants, knows by brand name, and orders in that manner—because advertising has taught her how she should do it and why it is profitable for her to do so.

Imagine ordering from an unknown grocer "some breakfast food," "some bread," and so on, as in the olden days before natural advertising became the powerful force it is today.

THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Callahan County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon, Z. J. Malone, A. G. Malone, J. H. Florian and Porter Oakes, by making publication of this Citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 42nd Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 42nd Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the 42nd Judicial District court of Callahan County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Baird, Texas, on the second Monday in June, A. D. 1929, the same being the tenth day of June A. D. 1929, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the fourth day of April, A. D., 1929, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 7419, wherein O. B. Greathouse, is Plaintiff, and A. G. Malone, Z. J. Malone, a partnership known as Malone Brothers, L. B. Benton, Carlton Meredith, J. H. Florian, Porter Oakes, Midson Oil Corporation, a corporation, and the Farmers State Bank of Putnam, Texas, are Defendants, and said petition alleging as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that on the 6th day of December 1928, the defendants, Malone Brothers, claimed to be the owners of an oil and gas lease on the South Eighty (80) acres of Survey No. 70, Bayland Orphan Home Survey situated in Callahan County, Texas, fee title owned by Robert Lee Berry, and on said date defendants Malone Brothers entered into a contract with plaintiff to drill an oil, or gas well on said land to a depth of 1050 feet unless oil or gas was found in paying quantities at a lesser depth, at the price of $1.75 per foot, said Malone Brothers agreeing to furnish all casing necessary to drill said well and to furnish the same when needed, the contract price to be paid to plaintiff when said well had been completed to a depth of 1050 feet or oil or gas found in paying quantities at a lesser depth.

Drilled said well 620 feet deep when it became necessary to run 8 inch casing and he demanded that said casing be furnished by Malone Brothers, but that said Malone Brothers neglected to furnish said casing for several days at a cost of $20.00 per day; that said 8 inch casing was finally furnished and plaintiff set same, and drilled said well to a depth of 20 feet where it became necessary to run 6 inch casing and demanded of Malone Brothers to furnish said 6 inch casing, but that said Malone Brothers never furnished said six inch casing and had not done so up to the time of filing this suit; that Malone Brothers kept plaintiff waiting with his machinery and helpers at this time at a cost of $20.00 per day.

Plaintiff sues Malone Brothers and each and all of said defendants or the total sum of $2160.00, being the amount of shut-down time at $20.00 per day and 720 feet of hole drilled at $1.75 per foot.

Plaintiff alleges that J. H. Florian and Porter Oakes, two of the defendants in said suit are claiming some interest in the oil and gas lease upon which said well was contracted to be drilled and which was drilled by plaintiff to a depth of 720 feet and which would have been completed according to plaintiffs' contract with said Malone Brothers, had they not breached their contract.

Plaintiff further alleges that said Malone Brothers breached their said contract and failed to furnish plaintiff the 6 inch casing necessary to complete his contract.

Plaintiff further alleges that by reason of a forfeiture of his contract as hereinbefore alleged he filed with the County Clerk of Callahan County, Texas, a contract of lien against all parties claiming any interest in said lease and said casing, and for an order authorizing the sale of said lease and casing against all defendants claiming an interest therein as well as the defendants J. H. Florian and Porter Oakes, and that the proceeds of said sale be applied to the payment of his account of $2160.00.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return hereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Baird, Texas, this the 29th day of April, A. D. 1929,

42nd, Judicial District Court,

DRIED MILK WILL HELP CURE CHICK

Part of Treatment for Flocks
With Coccidiosis.

For chicks affected with coccidiosis, a diet rich in milk is one of the measures advocated for the cure and control of the disease by the poultry husbandry department of the Texas State University. Not that simply feeding lots of milk is a sure or complete control measure. It must be employed as one of the features of a general treatment of which sanitation and prevention are the outstanding practices.

In combating coccidiosis in a flock the poultry husbandry department recommends four steps, giving epsom salts at the rate of one pound to four gallons of water; confining the chicks to the brooder house or moving the house to clean sod so that there is no reinfestation from the soil; cleaning the brooder thoroughly and disinfecting it every three days, and placing the chicks on a diet which is rich in milk. Quick relief from a diet of liquid milk is not likely because the birds will not consume enough of it. In using dry milk, best results are obtained when the mash is composed of 40 parts of dry milk. No other source of animal protein should be used in the mash.

The following mixture has been found to give satisfactory results when fed as soon as the disease appears and kept before the chicks as long as it is in evidence: dry skim milk, 40 pounds; wheat bran, 10 pounds; yellow corn meal, 20 pounds; ground rolled oats or barley, 20 pounds.

Selection of Breeding Stock Helps Turkeys

One of the most important steps towards successful turkey production depends upon the proper selection of the breeding stock. Weak poults, small, scrubby turkeys and unhatchable eggs are often traced to carelessness in the selection of the breeding stock. Turkeys that are used as breeders must possess those physical characteristics, showing strength and vigor. These characteristics are manifested as a general rule by a deep and wide body, the back broad and the breast round and full. The head shows certain physical characteristics of strength, namely: the eyes should be fairly short, broad and deep and of good size, showing a clean, healthy appearance. The legs of the birds should be well apart, showing a strong, sturdy shank and straight toes. Considerable emphasis should be given in the selection of the male bird. This in itself should improve the stock from year to year. Early hatched chicks, as a general rule, are sufficiently matured the first season. One should avoid using the late hatched male birds for breeding purposes.

Sufficient Range for Success With Turkeys

A range of one acre of sod is considered sufficient for 100 turkeys from the age of eight weeks to marketable age. This area should also be divided into four sections and then each section used for only one month. The secret of successful turkey raising rests largely in providing fresh ground and the proper feeding of all feed. In the selection of range it should be one which has not been frequented by chickens and should not be situated where drainage from the poultry yards may result in infestation. It is, of course, desirable to have all the turkeys of the same age. There is no question but that turkeys can be successfully raised in confinement and that it does not pay to allow turkeys to range for their feed.

Hatch Chicks Early

Much has been said for or against early hatching of chicks. It is a question that every breeder and producer will need to answer according to his own circumstances. In making the decision he should take into consideration not only the immediate convenience, but also the future usefulness of the birds. It is a fact that early hatched chicks are more profitable winter layers, the same as fall freshening dairy cows are the most profitable milkers.

Skim Milk for Hens

On many farms skim milk is used with stock that will not pay as great a return for its use as when fed to poultry. Most records indicate that it is worth more when fed to poultry than to any other class of live stock. In fact, more poultry men are feeding different types of condensed milk, than all other classes of live stock. This indicates that poultry responds particularly well to milk feeding. The minerals in milk are also beneficial to the fowls.

Green Feed Source

The great increase in the sale of head lettuce in many cities gives some poultrymen a fine source of succulent green feed for their hens. The heads of lettuce often require quite a little trimming before they are placed on the counters. Sometimes bushels of the leaves can be obtained for the hens, and the grocers are glad to get them out of the way. It often pays a poultryman to do his trading with dealers who have such products for disposal.
