Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame

The 21st annual Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame installation ceremonies and presentation of awards will be held on Sunday, January 28th, at 2 p.m. in the Amarillo College Gym. Four new members will be installed along with a presentation of awards to the outstanding coaches and athletes of the year. Jean Kelley will be the master of ceremonies.

The 46th member to be installed will be the late Harley "Burr" Burton of Clarendon. A highly respected football coach at Clarendon College from 1920 to 1926, Burton's teams won 41 games, lost 16 and tied 4. His 1922 team was undefeated and untied. Coach Burton never experienced a losing season. He coached all of the sports at Clarendon College except tennis. He became president of the college and superintendent of the Clarendon Public Schools in 1927.

After he left the Clarendon educational institutions Mr. Burton served the City of Clarendon as mayor. Another of his achievements was to author a book, "JA Ranch", which he wrote for his thesis while working on his masters degree.

The material contained in his book is so factual and clearly presented that it is a prime source of material for contemporary researchers. It is a portrayal of cowboy life on a ranch.

Mr. Burton died on October 8, 1964, after sustaining injuries in an automobile accident on the south plains. He was 76 years old.

He had one daughter, (Nelda Sue) Mrs. John Norris, who resides in Midland, and two granddaughters.

H. T. Burton

The 47th member to be elected into the Hall of Fame is Clifford "Red" Keith, now a resident of Belen, New Mexico. Many people claim that "Red" Keith was all conference in football and basketball, outstanding in track and a regular in the outfield on the baseball team. He was an all-around athlete at Ralls High School. After graduating from West Texas State, he had one of the top coaching records at Perryton, Las Cruces, New Mexico, and Belen, New Mexico.

The 48th member elected is James Saunders, the first tennis player ever to be installed in the Hall of Fame. He was destined for greatness even before entering Amarillo High School according to many followers. James won the Texas Junior College singles championship in 1948, while competing for Amarillo College. He was named to the National Junior Davis Cup team and was ranked nationally in both singles and doubles. Saunders played on three Southwest Conference championship teams while attending the University of Texas, where he was number one singles player and also team captain. He now lives in Fort Worth.

Dandy Randy Matson of Pampa will become the 49th member to be installed. The shot put career of Matson is known all over the world. He won the Gold Medal in the 1968 Olympic games with a toss of 67 feet, 4 and 3/4 inches. Randy held the world record for many years with a throw of 71 feet, 5 and 1/2 inches set at College Station while competing for Texas A&M in 1971. Matson was outstanding in football, basketball, and track at Pampa High School. He and his family now reside in College Station, and he is working with the Texas A&M Association of Farmer students.

Coaches of the year to be honored are as follows: Football- Eric Roanhaus, Clovis, New Mexico. Basketball- Bob Schneider, Canyon and Denton. Baseball- James Lee Robinson, Borger. Golf- Mrs. Terry Miller, Borger. Tennis- David Kent, W.T.S.U. and Texas A&M. Track- Bob Kitchens, W.T.S.U. Athletes of the year to be honored are as follows: Football- Kenny King, O.U.

Kenny King, who graduated from Clarendon High School in 1975 has played since he was a freshman student at OU and this year participated in the East-West Shrine game. During this game he continued to show his value as a running back and blocker.

In a conversation with his high school coach, Clyde Noonkester, Noonkester said, "Kenny was a super football player, a blue chipper. He had a fine attitude and was a fine young man." He went on to add, "King was a better than average player and a three year letterman." Noonkester is now High School principal at Clarendon.

Clarendon has had prior awards from the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame. Tommy Shields received the athlete of the year award for football, in 1969 Clarendon won the Outstanding Achievement Award and in 1973 Clyde Noonkester was honored as a football coach.

Basketball- Fred Mitchell, N.T.S.U. and Amarillo. Baseball- Bret Jordan, Amarillo. Golf- Teena Foxhall, Memphis. Tennis- Sonja Hutchenson, Memphis. Track- Joseph Kemei, W.T.S.U.

The annual Dee Henry Award will be presented this year to David Trotter of Hale Center. This award is annually presented in memory of the late Dee Henry to the athlete who has shown the most courage and desire in coming back from an illness or injury to continue participating in sports. Two special achievement awards will be presented this year, one to Bus Dorman of Wheeler and J.I. Kimmons from Phillips. Both of these men have given a great deal of time and effort to further sports in general in their communities.

The Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame invites all interested sports fans to attend. There is no admission charge. The event is co-sponsored by the Amarillo Y's Men's Club and the Sports Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. A public reception is held following the presentation of awards and installation ceremonies.

State tax representative to be in Clarendon Jan. 17th

State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Amarillo Field Office to Clarendon on Wednesday, January 17, 1979 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about State Taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer John Hodges will meet with local taxpayers at the County Judge's Office in the Donley County Courthouse from 2:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m.

"If Donley County - area merchants, or any one else for that matter, have any questions about State Taxes or need help in preparing tax forms Mr. Hodges will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on January 17, 1979 that they can still get their question answered quickly by calling his Toll-Free Tax Information Number in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Amarillo Field Office, headed by Claudia Stravato, serves the twenty-six counties of the Texas Panhandle.

Government payments

received by Donley County farmers and ranchers

Donley County farmers and ranchers received $21,124,000 in marketings and government payments during 1977, the Texas Department of Agriculture has announced.

The total included $12,137,000 in cash receipts from all crops and $8,436,000 from livestock and livestock products. Government payments made up $551,000 of the total.

Across the state, agriculture added $7.1 billion to the economy last year, Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service surveys showed, with receipts from all crops almost balancing those from livestock and livestock products. Livestock receipts totaled $3.5 billion, followed by $3.3 billion for crop receipts. Government payments made up $206 million of the total, including over $120 million through drought and flood assistance programs.

"With improved livestock prices this year, particularly cattle, we are optimistic that 1978 cash receipts will be higher," commented Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown. "These figures only tell half of the story, however. In any discussion including agricultural statistics, the true picture is only presented when you can balance the cash receipts against the actual production costs. During last year, unfortunately, those production costs outstripped most of the profit margin for many farmers and ranchers.

Texas maintained its third place national ranking in cash receipts, despite problems throughout the year. Other first place rankings included: number of cattle and calves, 14.5 million head; Upland cotton production, 5.5 million bales; wool production, 21 million pounds; mohair production, 8 million pounds; number of farms and ranches, 197,000; and farm and ranch land, 139.8 million acres.

The state ranked second in the production of grain sorghum, grapefruit, cantaloups, carrots, rice, green peppers, cabbage, onions, American-pima cotton, pecans, honeydew melons and cucumbers.

A Manifesto

The Commissioners' Conference of The Salvation Army in the United States of America, having proclaimed 1980 as the Centennial Year and announced the convening of a great National Congress at Kansas City, Missouri, June 12-16, desires to set forth the purposes and goals of this event.

The National Centennial Congress will provide an opportunity for a CELEBRATION of: The spiritual heritage of our past century of services to God and man.

The spiritual imperatives that have been the hallmark of all of our programs and services offered in Christ's name.

The power and might of the Holy Spirit who has helped us to build upon the excellent foundation laid by pioneer Salvationists.

The National Centennial Congress will provide a forum for the PROCLAMATION of:

Our faith in the might and power of Almighty God and in the grace of His Son Jesus Christ to provide salvation for all mankind.

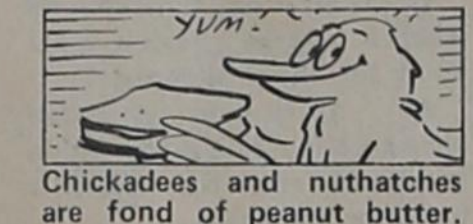

Our renewed commitment to the high and holy ideals that have inspired and guided this Salvation Army since its inception.

Our unchanging spiritual motivation as we strive to achieve God-given goals through proven practices and methodology.

The Commissioners' Conference therefore calls upon all of like mind to join with The Salvation Army in rejoicing in the blessing of God upon this nation and upon The Salvation Army in particular, in recognizing the success we have had under God while realizing the greater tasks yet to be done, and in rededicating all that we have and are to the continued building of God's Kingdom on earth.

Rev. Bob Brown new committee chairman

There have been some changes made this week in the local Salvation Army Service Unit as announced by Dale Maret, Service Unit Field Representative for this area.

Owen McGarity, Jr., resigned as chairman of the local unit. Mr. McGarity is moving to Gonzales, Texas to pastor the Presbyterian church there.

Robert W. Brown, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Clarendon will be the new Committee Chairman.

Mrs. Wilma Leffew, Campaign Chairman of the Salvation Army fund drive now in progress reports that the drive is moving along in spite of the holidays and bad weather. Over $500.00 has been received to date. Those who have been missed and wish to contribute can still do so by contacting her at 874-2505 or Bronnie McNabb, Jr. at the Farmers State Bank. O'Neal Weatherly, Hedley City Manager, is the one to contact in Hedley.

Emergency loans available from Farmers Home Adm

Emergency loans for farmers, ranchers, or aquaculture operators are available through county offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Robert A. Keown, FmHA county supervisor, said today.

Mr. Keown asked that those who need farm credit as a result of drought, excessive rain, and hot, dry winds make their needs known at the Farmers Home Administration office at Clarendon.

Applications for assistance in the disaster stricken counties will be accepted by Farmers Home until October 2, 1979 for physical losses and January 7, 1980 for production losses.

FmHA loans covering actual physical and production losses may be used to replace installations, equipment, or building, (including homes) lost through this disaster. Funds may be used to buy feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, or to meet interest and depreciation payments on current real estate and chattel debts. Other loans, beyond actual losses, can be made for annual operating expenses or to make major adjustments in a farming or ranching operation.

"Funds can be used for essential operating and living costs," Mr. Keown said.

Loans covering actual losses are made at an interest rate of three and five percent and are scheduled for repayment as rapidly as feasible consistent with the applicant's reasonable ability to pay. Loans beyond actual losses have various maturities, depending upon the purpose of the loan.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, an applicant must have suffered losses from the disaster and be unable to get credit from other sources.

Emergency loans can be used to help the farmer restore damaged farm operations and additional loans based upon the emergency designation can be used to reorganize the farm for great efficiency and better production.

Weather 1979

Weatherwise 1979 started off like a lion and the thermometer began its downward trend on the last day of 1978 and dipped to the one figure mark, 6 degrees on January 1, and down to 0 degrees on January 2.

A relatively small amount of moisture accompanied the severe cold but there was enough to cover the ground and prevent stock from grazing. Most stockmen were feeding some anyway but the snow and ice cover stepped up the pace. In some cases water had to be hauled because of frozen wells and burst pipes.

This is one of the longest sustained low temperature periods on record and some residents of Clarendon have been without water in their homes for four or five days due to frozen meters and/or mains in addition to private freeze ups. City crews were hampered in their efforts to thaw the meters and mains when the electric torch they use burned out. The purchase of a new one was quickly made but a part needed additionally had to be ordered out of Dallas. When it did arrive early this week city personnel again went to work in an effort to thaw supply sources.

A spokesman for the city said residents were most understanding of the situation and the city really appreciates the patience of those persons so inconvenienced.

There have been no serious weather related accidents during this slick icy spell as compared to several for a comparable period last year.

The average temperature for this time last year was 47 degrees for a high compared with 24 degrees for the high this year. The average low temperature for 1978 was 20 degrees and for 1979 was 8 degrees. For the first nine days of 1979 the average low temperature is a frigid 7 plus degrees.

In spite of the discomfort of the bad weather, the frozen moisture made picture pretty sights of many ordinary objects, some of which caught the camera's eye.

R for your child's safety

A child's mind is a highly impressionable one, and many of his actions are merely an imitation of what he has seen his parents do, says Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co. Noting this, he warns that parents who show disregard for safe driving fundamentals in front of their children may be steering them toward a serious accident later in life.

"Watching daddy drive the family car is a delight for most youngsters," says Dr. Domm. "But if he drives recklessly, lasting impressions are left on the youthful mind which may be difficult to correct in later years."

He reminds parents that driver training begins not with that first course in high school, but from the very first day a child rides in the family car. "Parents should be aware of this and make sure they are careful and considerate drivers at all times," he cautions.

Dr. Domm stresses that parents should practice good safety habits in every situation, not merely while driving. "Indeed," adds the doctor, "all phases of safety education should start with the parents setting good safety examples for their tiny ones."

Millionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt couldn't sleep unless the four legs of his bed were planted in dishes filled with salt to keep malevolent spirits from attacking him.

Windbreaks for conservation

Severe windstorms can make life difficult on rural areas of the Texas Panhandle. One of the most economical ways we can tame these high winds is through the use of windbreaks.

A great deal of soil moisture is lost during wind storms. Windbreaks are designed to reduce the wind velocity and conserve soil moisture which is so important to farming in this area. This extra moisture at planting time can play a major part in getting that good stand that farmers hope for every year. Then, after the crop is up, the dense stand of trees will protect the plants from strong winds that could destroy crops in their early stages.

Farmstead headquarters is another area where windbreaks play an important role. The trees effectively block the wind to provide excellent working conditions within the perimeter of the windbreak on even the windiest days. It is estimated that a well-planned, established windbreak can also save up to 30 percent in heating and cooling costs. Two or three rows of trees not only protect the farmstead from high winds but also improve the beauty, privacy and overall quality of life within their boundaries.

One last benefit derived from windbreaks is their importance in providing good wildlife habitat. Strips of trees can provide year round cover for upland game bird species such as dove, quail and pheasant.

A windbreak consisting of two rows of evergreens such as Arizona Cypress, Eastern Red Cedar, Rocky Mountain Juniper, Ponderosa Pine or Colorado Blue Spruce can provide adequate protection. The beauty and effectiveness of the windbreak can be greatly enhanced by the addition of one or two rows of hardwoods such as Green Ash, Russian Olive, Osage Orange and Plum.

The cost of establishing a windbreak is surprisingly small. Potted conifer seedlings cost 50 cents to one dollar each. Bare root hardwoods sell for about half that price. The trees grow rapidly and will begin offering protection in as little as four or five years.

Anyone interested in establishing windbreaks on their farm should contact District Conservationist Jim Donaho at the Soil Conservation Service office here in Clarendon.

New Documentary

Drinks, Drugs, Double Driving Hazards

DETROIT -- Drinking, driving and drugs can be a dangerous mixture and one that is potentially lethal.

That's the message of a new 25-minute documentary film from Chevrolet entitled "Driving, Drinking and Drugs -- a Research Report."

Aimed at educating the high school driver education student, the film features local college-campus volunteers legally "drunk" and "high" on alcohol and marijuana trying to "drive" in carefully controlled laboratory experiments.

The documentary introduces the latest available laboratory research conducted by the Southern California Research Institute at Los Angeles. Tests measure a volunteer's ability to "track" or control a vehicle and search for hazardous situations at the same time. Volunteers' actual statements and reactions to their impaired capabilities are dramatically recorded.

The message is clear. Alcohol and drugs do affect one's ability to drive. According to SCRI's data, "a major problem with most drivers, concerning alcohol, is that they think unless you're legally drunk as shown by Police Intoximeter tests -- it's okay to drive. Research at SCRI shows just the opposite. Driving skills may be lowered long before you reach the stage of being legally drunk."

The results of these laboratory studies are in line with accident surveys in the field that show alcohol increases the probability of having accidents.

"These accidents begin at very low blood alcohol levels -- sometimes after only a couple of drinks." For example, the institute points out, "the chance of having an accident is increased 100 percent by having a blood alcohol level that's only half the legal limit in most states.

You could pass a police Intoximeter test with no problem but still have twice as much chance of having an accident as when you're completely sober!

"Consider this, too. Half of all deaths on the road are alcohol-related. One out of every two drivers that die in accidents has been drinking." This film is Chevrolet's second generation version of the highly popular "Driving and Drugs" and "Drinking and Drugs," seen by an estimated 45 million persons (including television telecasts) between 1968-70.

Texas inaugurations

By Sandra Mintz

One Texas governor refused to wear socks to his inauguration; another wouldn't trim his shoulder-length hair.

One former chief executive had to walk alone to his swearing-in ceremonies and one refused to show up for the inauguration on principle.

When William P. Clements, Jr., places his hand January 16 on the worn Bible used to swear in Texas governors, he will be following one of the few traditions connected with gubernatorial inaugurations. Many of the state's chief executives have contributed some unique approaches to that solemn ceremony.

Jack Maguire, Executive Director of The University of

Texas Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, has been researching Texas governors and their inaugurations for many years. Here are some of the facts he has turned up:

When Texas joined the Union, the first gubernatorial inauguration was held on February 19, 1846 in front of the frontier structure that served as the State Capitol. As the Lone Star flag was lowered and the American flag hoisted, President Anson Jones stepped down with the words, "The Republic of Texas is no more" and James Pickney Henderson was sworn in.

The present Capitol, completed in 1888, could proudly lay claim to being the seventh largest building in the world. The first swearing-in ceremonies in that structure took place in 1889 with the well-dressed guests filling the galleries and the House of Representatives. However, they were forced to sit on the floor because furniture was not yet installed.

One writer observed that Texas inaugurals have been "bigger'n Dallas, better'n any other and bragged on from here to Alaska." However, Governor Sam Houston's 1861 inaugural didn't begin to live up to this reputation. Houston, opposed to secession from the Union, refused to sign the Confederacy oath of fealty. In protest to

Texas' entry into the Civil War, he didn't attend his second term inaugural, so Lieutenant Governor Edward Clark stepped in and Houston returned to his Huntsville home.

The first native son sworn into office was James Stephen Hogg who became governor in 1891. The event was marked with fireworks shot from the Capitol Dome, a torch parade, dances and the only inaugural banquet to be served at the Capitol.

Miriam Amanda "Ma" Ferguson became Texas' first woman Governor in 1925. And her reporters dubbed the event "epoch making," they couldn't resist a thorough description of her swearing-in attire, making her the only governor so well described. "Mrs. Ferguson wore a black silk gown trimmed with wide gray fur and gray beads. Her hat was a brown, close fitting creation with a turned down brim and black goose quills. She wore a black coat. Black satin slippers completed the costume."

The inaugurations have had humorous sides. The second governor, George T. Woods, refused to wear socks, not only at the 1847 swearing-in but throughout his term. His successor, Peter Hansbrough Bell, sported shoulder-length hair. But the standard gear of the former Texas Ranger, a Bowie knife and two pistols, stifled any snide comments.

In 1903, Governor-elect S.W.T. Lanham and family were forced to walk unescorted to his ceremonies from his hotel. In the excitement of the occasion, the inaugural committee neglected to make more seemly travel arrangements for the state's new governor.

W. Lee Pappy O'Daniel, the state's 33rd governor, took the oath of office in The University of Texas Memorial Stadium with some 50,000 Texans in attendance. His second inauguration in 1941 was also a tradition-breaker with mass invitations issued through the press and all Texans in attendance were invited to stay for the barbecue on the Executive Mansion grounds. They ate some 19,000 pounds of beef, mutton and buffalo.

Inaugural balls have run the gamut from a Civil War period celebration where corn meal cake was served because of flour shortages to a square dance at Beauford Jester's Ball. John Ireland, the Governor in 1883, waltzed 22 times with his wife at his ball and still made room on his card for several other ladies. Preston Smith's inauguration was marked by country music and retiring Governor Dolph Briscoe insisted on non-alcoholic beverages at both of his inaugurations.

Austin's historic Driskill Hotel saw the inaugural Ball of the popular Governor Lawrence Sullivan Ross in 1887. High society was in attendance but the new Governor's father kept them aware of their frontier roots. Shapely Prince Ross, a tall, rough Indian fighter with a love for hard living and drink, was a Texas legend in his own right.

In the mid-1880's he was known as the ablest Indian fighter in the State. And he played as hard as he lived. Fearing his frontier-brand of fun, a guardian was assigned the old man to keep him sober. But "Old Shap" proved the stronger willed of the two and they wove their way to the Driskill with stops at the bars lining Capitol Avenue. A hotel doorman, not recognizing the Governor's father, refused him entrance without an invitation. Not to be stopped, the crusty old frontiersman bellowed for the man to stand back or

"I'll call my boy, Sul, out of there, and we'll wreck the place." He was admitted.

With this kind of variety, Governor Clements will be hard-pressed to raise an historian's eyebrow. But given the Texas penchant for the unusual, he may just find a way.

Texas inaugurations

By Sandra Mintz

One Texas governor refused to wear socks to his inauguration; another wouldn't trim his shoulder-length hair.

One former chief executive had to walk alone to his swearing-in ceremonies and one refused to show up for the inauguration on principle.

When William P. Clements, Jr., places his hand January 16 on the worn Bible used to swear in Texas governors, he will be following one of the few traditions connected with gubernatorial inaugurations. Many of the state's chief executives have contributed some unique approaches to that solemn ceremony.

Jack Maguire, Executive Director of The University of

Texas Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, has been researching Texas governors and their inaugurations for many years. Here are some of the facts he has turned up:

When Texas joined the Union, the first gubernatorial inauguration was held on February 19, 1846 in front of the frontier structure that served as the State Capitol. As the Lone Star flag was lowered and the American flag hoisted, President Anson Jones stepped down with the words, "The Republic of Texas is no more" and James Pickney Henderson was sworn in.

The present Capitol, completed in 1888, could proudly lay

claim to being the seventh largest building in the world. The first swearing-in ceremonies in that structure took place in 1889 with the well-dressed guests filling the galleries and the House of Representatives. However, they were forced to sit on the floor because furniture was not yet installed.

One writer observed that Texas inaugurals have been "bigger'n Dallas, better'n any other and bragged on from here to Alaska." However, Governor Sam Houston's 1861 inaugural didn't begin to live up to this reputation. Houston, opposed to secession from the Union, refused to sign the Confederacy oath of fealty. In protest to

Texas' entry into the Civil War, he didn't attend his second term inaugural, so Lieutenant Governor Edward Clark stepped in and Houston returned to his Huntsville home.

The first native son sworn into office was James Stephen Hogg who became governor in 1891. The event was marked with fireworks shot from the Capitol Dome, a torch parade, dances and the only inaugural banquet to be served at the Capitol.

Miriam Amanda "Ma" Ferguson became Texas' first woman Governor in 1925. Although reporters dubbed the event "epoch making," they couldn't resist a thorough description of her swearing-in attire, making her the only governor so well described. "Mrs. Ferguson wore a black silk gown trimmed with wide gray fur and gray beads. Her hat was a brown, close fitting creation with a turned down brim and black goose quills. She wore a black coat. Black satin slippers completed the costume."

The inaugurations have had humorous sides. The second governor, George T. Woods, refused to wear socks, not only at the 1847 swearing-in but throughout his term. His successor, Peter Hansbrough Bell, sported shoulder-length hair. But the standard gear of the former Texas Ranger, a Bowie knife and two pistols, stifled any snide comments.

In 1903, Governor-elect S.W.T. Lanham and family were forced to walk unescorted to his ceremonies from his hotel. In the excitement of the occasion, the inaugural committee neglected to make more seemly travel arrangements for the state's new governor.

W. Lee Pappy O'Daniel, the state's 33rd governor, took the oath of office in The University of Texas Memorial Stadium with some 50,000 Texans in attendance. His second inauguration in 1941 was also a tradition-breaker with mass invitations issued through the press and all Texans in attendance were invited to stay for the barbecue on the Executive Mansion grounds. They ate some 19,000 pounds of beef, mutton and buffalo.

Inaugural balls have run the gamut from a Civil War period celebration where corn meal cake was served because of flour shortages to a square dance at Beauford Jester's Ball. John Ireland, the Governor in 1883, waltzed 22 times with his wife at his ball and still made room on his card for several other ladies. Preston Smith's inauguration was marked by country music and retiring Governor Dolph Briscoe insisted on non-alcoholic beverages at both of his inaugurations.

Austin's historic Driskill Hotel saw the inaugural Ball of the popular Governor Lawrence Sullivan Ross in 1887. High society was in attendance but the new Governor's father kept them

Shapely Prince Ross, a tall, rough Indian fighter with a love for hard living and drink, was a Texas legend in his own right. In the mid-1880's he was known as the ablest Indian fighter in the State. And he played as hard as he lived. Fearing his frontier-land of fun, a guardian was assigned the old man to keep him sober. But "Old Shap" proved the stronger willed of the two and they wove their way to the Driskill with stops at the bars lining Capitol Avenue. A hotel doorman, not recognizing the Governor's father, refused him entrance without an invitation. Not to be stopped, the crusty old frontiersman bellowed for the man to stand back or "I'll call my boy, Sul, out of there, and we'll wreck the place." He was admitted.

mothers and babies

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
Some baby specialists recommend taking your baby out in winter during the middle of the day (between the 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. feedings in the early months). If you live in the country or have your own yard, more than three hours is not too long in reasonable weather.

An eight-pound-baby can go out safely when its 60° F. or above. A 12-pounder can be comfortable in a sunny, sheltered spot for an hour or two—even when the temperature drops below freezing.
