New Tax Pamphlet available

Pauline Leggett and Mary Neeley, tax assessor/collectors for the Hedley Consolidated Independent School District, today announced the availability of a new 12-page pamphlet which may help district residents save on their property taxes.

The pamphlet explains how the property tax system in Texas operates, and highlights possible tax savings available to citizens.

The publication was developed by the State Property Tax Board in accordance with the provisions of Senate Bill 621, passed by the Texas Legislature in 1979.

It is to be noted that homeowners are eligible for a $5,000 school homestead exemption, and that certain disabled persons and those aged 65 or older may qualify for additional exemptions from the value of their property.

Also, farmers and ranchers have the option of having their agricultural land taxed at its productive rather than market value.

To qualify for exemptions and productivity valuation, however, applications must be made to the school tax office before the districts' rendition period ends on April 30, 1980.

District residents are encouraged to review the pamphlet and make application for all tax relief to which they are entitled before the rendition period ends.

The pamphlet and applications for exemptions are available in the Hedley School Tax Office, located at the School Building, Hedley, Texas.

Day Care funding cut

Some 3,000 Texas children may be denied day care, forcing their low-income working mothers to stop working, or leave their children at home alone and unsupervised. Most of the mothers will be forced to seek welfare grants.

"This is a blow to those mothers who have been progressing toward economic self-support," said Jerome Chapman, commissioner of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Chapman explained that new federal guidelines regulating day care for children have been revised, adding additional costs to the day care program. Federal spokesmen said the increase would be $90 a year to the cost of caring for each child in a center.

"I think it'll be more than that," Chapman said. Texas has 15,079 children being cared for in subsidized day care centers.

Federal-state financed day care is offered working parents whose income is less than 56 percent of the state median income so that they can train, work, and gain skills to advance to being self-supporting.

Chapman said the new guidelines will have the effect of reducing state participation in the day care program by 20 percent, or about 3,000 children.

Some of the factors mandated by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare that will increase day costs include:

Altering child-staff ratios for infant care by decreasing the number of children one adult can care for from four to three; allowing the care center to charge on the basis of enrollment rather than attendance; a breakfast if the parents request

Results of the Volley Ball Tournament held by the Donley County Day Care Center amounted to $505.58, and those persons who are working to keep the Day Care Center going are so pleased. Wanda Smith, wishes to extend to each one who had a part in any way with the tournament a very special Thank You. Everyone who relies on the Day Care Center for child care is most aware of the need for continued operation of the organization and appreciates the help and support of the community.

Winners of the Volley Ball Tournament were: Mens Front Line-1st place; Gneppers-2nd; Riggs-3rd, and Paymaster, consolation in the mens competition.

In the womens competition Evans Fertilizer-1st; Royal

Blue-2nd; Osburns-3rd, and Clarendon Women, consolation.

Fundraisers for the Donley County Day Care Center have been planned to raise money to fill the gap left by the cutback in funding for Day-Care Centers.

One of the activities is a Pie Supper and Auction to be held April 25, in the Clarendon College Cafeteria. Clovis McCrary will serve as auctioneer for this event.

For a $4.00 ticket-donation, all of which goes to the Day Care Center, anyone may have their photograph taken by Anderson Studios, at the Art Studio, 311 S. Carhart, April 26, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. and April 27, 1-5 p.m. Also pictures will be taken on May 10 and 11 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

All pictures will be taken of persons who hold tickets. Anderson Studios have been well received in Clarendon, with some of their work on display at the Art Studio.

Tickets may be purchased at the Day Care Center or from the parents of children who stay at the center.

A bar-b-que has been planned for May 3, election night, as a popular repeat from the last election primary. Watch the returns come in and eat delicious bar-b-que at the Donley County Day Care Center. That way you benefit two, yourself and the Day Care Center.

Scouting the road to manhood

It is important to our youth and to America that the young men of this city become citizens of fine character, physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

Boy Scouting is designed to help our young men become just that kind of citizen. But also scouting will give them fellowship and fun.

It is a well known fact, that scouting is fun! Its fun to go hiking and camping with your best friends...to swim, to dive, to paddle a canoe, to wield an ax...to follow the foot steps of the pioneers...to stare into the embers of a campfire. But scouting is more than that. It teaches a young man to stalk a deer without being noticed, to find your way across country with a map or compass...to cook a meal when your hungry... to take a safe swim and to make yourself comfortable for the night under the stars. In scouting you become an outdoorsman. Scouting becomes a way of life. Scouting is growing into responsible manhood, learning to be of service to others. Scouting makes our young men become strong and self reliant and helps them become the leaders of our city and country.

If this sounds like something you would like your son to become involved in, then the next step would be to contact either Tommy Saye at 874-3844 or Ray Walker at 806-856-3392.

Scout Troop 433 meets every Tuesday night at 6:30 p.m. in the basement of the First Christian Church. The only requirements for membership is that a boy be at least 11, no older than 18.

Troop 433 has a fun packed summer ahead. There are several camping trips planned in the near future. So don't hesitate. Get that young man involved now and give him the time of his life in scouting.

Troop 433 is now involved in rechartering its troop. All scouts and scouters who are presently reg. with the troop, and wish to remain active in the troop are asked to be present at the May 6 meeting of the troop. Those unable to attend are asked to contact Tommy Saye, no later than May 5.

Meat will be provided for the meal and those attending are asked to bring a covered dish.

Contact Cecil Mathews for more information at 874-2812.

Almost is but to Fail

By REV. WAYNE NAYLOR

After Paul had delivered his sermon to Agrippa by literally pouring out his heart and his own personal testimony Agrippa said to him, "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." Acts. 26:28 There is the likelihood that Agrippa who was touched by this sermon was never touched again. It is the work of God and remarkable however how he does speak. Elwood Doss of Mississippi had considered special ministry for his life because God was calling him, but he wanted to see the end from the beginning until he read the last sentence of a church bulletin. It said, "Many a Christian has missed a rich Spiritual experience with God because they wanted to see their way clear too far ahead."

God touched the Theology of a young college student when as Dr. Davis, Head of the Department of Religion at Howard Payne College, was asked, "Dr. Davis, what is the ultimate good in man?" Dr. Davis replied: "Young man, there ain't no ultimate good in man. He is as mean as the devil and getting meaner all the time. And unless God gets hold of him, he's a goner."

In 1974, pitcher Tommy John of the Los Angeles Dodgers was sailing along with an outstanding record, his best season ever. Then, in midseason, something snapped in his pitching arm during a game. A tendon in his left arm gave way. He could no longer even grip a baseball, much less throw one with accuracy. Even the team doctors were not encouraging; they urged John to investigate another line of work.

Yet, Tommy John was determined. Surgeons transplanted a healthy tendon from his right arm to his left. Even so, they still doubted that he would ever play baseball again. Indeed, the surgery itself was of the pioneering nature. It took agonizing months for John to regain the use of his left hand. He sat out the entire 1975 baseball season, and few people ever expected to see him in uniform again.

But Tommy John is a man of faith in God and in himself. He worked hard, first at home and then in the Arizona instructional league. He came back to spring training in 1976 and won back his starting pitching job with the Dodgers. He pitched well enough to earn "Come back player of the year" honors in 1976 and then paced the Dodgers pitching staff in the pennant winning years of 1977 and 1978.

There is something stirring about a comeback story. Perhaps this is because most of us have experienced - or feared - the agony of defeat, the frustration of failure. How encouraging to see somebody bounce back from utter failure. The Bible too, is full of comeback stories - stories of men who failed but came back to God. Moses fled Egypt as a murderer, yet he returned to deliver God's people from bondage. Peter denied his Lord three times yet came back to serve God as the prince of the Apostles. John Mark washed out as a young Missionary yet came back to become especially useful to both Paul (2 Tim. 4:11) and Peter (1 Pet. 5:13). And of course the story of the prodigal son is really a comeback story, coming out of sin and back to his father.

Even the finest of us may fail God and others. Yet, failures can make a comeback! They can make new beginnings with God. Don't insist that your opportunities are gone, God will give you another chance. (The story about Tommy Johns was out of Proclaim Magazine written by Dewey R. Sauvres)

Cotton farmers "Crystal ball"

Cotton farmers now have a "crystal ball" which lets them look 12 to 14 days in the future.

It's called petiole analysis. By examining the mineral content of a cotton stem (petiole), a biochemist can tell how healthy and fruitful a farmer's cotton will be 12 to 14 days in the future—and give him time to change that future if it doesn't look too bright.

The laboratory which does the analysis may tell him to add nitrogen, zinc, boron, sulfur, iron, manganese or calcium to his cotton. It may even prescribe ordinary table sugar—an element which slows or stops vegetative growth and helps set bolls.

Or the analyst may tell him his cotton is fine, check again in a week to 10 days.

The idea of petiole analysis began about 13 years ago, when a Phoenix, Ariz., biochemist named Dr. Al Lengyel discovered the inverse relationship between nitrogen and phosphorus in cotton.

For example, if the sample shows drops in both nitrogen and phosphorus, the plant is usually telling you that it's thirsty. Conversely, when both of these elements are going up, there's too much moisture. Insect pressure is often indicated by a climb in nitrogen and a drop in phosphorus.

And anytime the plant, by the use of petiole analysis, indicated that it's close to or outside the 20 to 1 carbon-nitrogen ratio, sugar is prescribed. This means the carbon is too low and the nitrogen is too high—a condition that leads to vegetative growth and poor fruiting.

Dr. Lengyel was the first scientist to prescribe sugar for cotton. He now runs a 12-man laboratory which offers petiole analysis to growers in 14 states, and he's seen it work.

"A pure carbon source, sugar stops vegetative growth, helps set bolls and increases yield," he says. "There's also an indication that because sugar matures the cotton plant faster, makes it tougher, it actually becomes less attractive to insects."

Dr. Lengyel has found that petiole analysis can help increase cotton yields from 150 to 450 pounds per acre. "I have seen it go as high as 800 pounds," he said.

Since his discovery, the USDA, extension services and Cotton Incorporated have learned to monitor cotton plants.

"Petiole testing has surely caught the interest of the farmers and looks like it will be a very important management tool in the near future," says Herbert Willcutt, associate director of systems research and implementation for Cotton Incorporated.

Cotton Incorporated has been involved in petiole analysis projects since the organization's inception, and plans to continue to work with growers who are interested in adding the technique to their management program. For example, CI expects to use petiole analysis as part of upcoming integrated management system programs in South Carolina and Georgia, primarily as an extension of soil testing.

One of the most successful commercial companies involved in petiole analysis is Helena Chemical Company, which now has over 600,000 acres under its program, which is centered in its Mid-South Division at Memphis. Helena is the only

Club meets

The Les Beaux Art Club toured the Square House Museum in Panhandle on Thursday, April 17th in lieu of an annual art exhibit. A special exhibit on Freedom was on loan from the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C. Permanent exhibits such as the Square House, the Wild Life Annex, the Half Dugout and the Caboose were also toured by club members. A luncheon was prepared and served by the Square House Museum Directors in the Heritage Room of the First National Bank. Guests were Elmonette Bivens, Marie Bell, Pat Thornberry, Betsy Landers, and Oressa Delaney.

Mrs. C.W. Bennett Jr., of San Angelo visited last week with her brother, Bill Weatherly, and family and returned home Sunday.

company that makes products tailored specifically for petiole analysis: NitroZn, a combination of nitrogen, zinc and sulfur; SugarTrol, mixture of sugar, calcium and boron; and IronOn, a combination of iron and manganese.

All of these elements affect the nutrient balance of the cotton plant and help it achieve maximum production.

To take petiole samples, growers normally pull the fourth stem from the top (usually the tallest) because it is the most recently matured. (It will be the leaf that breaks with the fruiting branch 12 days later). A couple dozen petioles are enough to diagnose an entire field, if all the plants are similar in appearance; separate samplings are required for areas where the plants look different.

Helena, for example, requires nine samplings (eight nitrogen-phosphorus analyses and one micro-nutrient analysis) taken seven to 10 days apart, and Dr. Lengyel recommends a minimum of seven weekly samplings. Helena tells growers to start taking samples after the plant has 10 to 12 true leaves; the first of June is the starting date recommended by Dr. Lengyel.

After the samples have been mailed or sent by bus to the lab, the grower receives a reply in graph form, usually within a few days. This shows him what his cotton will be doing 12 to 14 days in the future, and tells him what he can do to change that future, if needed.

One discovery the scientists have found is that growers tend to use too much nitrogen.

In fact, Bobby Webster of Waynesboro, Ga., said he was able to reduce his nitrogen input from 85 units to 55 units per acre, because petiole analysis revealed a surplus of the element.

"I had a lot of residual nitrogen in the soil, so it wasn't necessary to add as much after planting," he explained.

Another advocate of petiole analysis is farmer Dan P. Logan of Caddo Parish, La. "It's just as practical for a cotton producer to take a plant tissue test," he figures, "as it is for a medical doctor to take a blood test. The plant needs daily attention to its diet."

Employers value basic work skills

Basic skills developed during years of housekeeping and farming are among skills most valued by employers, a rural job specialist said at a Texas Green Thumb meeting last week in Clarendon.

Green Thumb On-the-Job Training Specialist Susan Armstrong, Waco, said people with basic abilities—such as dealing with people, staying calm in a crisis, giving good directions, following instructions or using the eyes and hands to adjust controls—are needed in many jobs such as aides, clerks, dispatchers, house officers, guards and machine operators. Ms. Armstrong explained Green Thumb's training program as an opportunity for advancement into private employment for the older worker now on the Green Thumb program or for other older Americans needing job opportunities. "Green Thumb has an on-the-job training program which benefits both the older job seeker and the employer," Ms. Armstrong said. "An employer gains a valuable employee when hiring an older worker in addition to receiving partial reimbursement of the wages paid to that worker during the first few months. The older job seeker receives assistance in finding a suitable position and the opportunity to enjoy needed financial and personal rewards."

Green Thumb helps older people discover what skills they have or develop new skills needed to pursue their job interests.

Older Americans are also encouraged by Green Thumb to assert themselves and to express their needs and problems in society. During the recent meeting, local workers were encouraged to attend local forums on the White House Conference on Aging.

"Local forums will provide the best opportunity to express to our government what problems or needs older Americans have regarding employment opportunities, adequate incomes, independence, dignity and quality of life," said Karen Barlow, Green Thumb Rural Job Development Specialist, Waco.

The Area Agencies on Aging are coordinating community forums and Green Thumb workers are encouraged to contact their local AAA's for information.

Ms. Barlow, also a speech pathologist, spoke to the group on "Speech Disorders and Aging". She particularly addressed problems associated with strokes and gave advice on communicating with family members or friends when there are speech or language problems.

Eula Merrell, of Clarendon, is the Area Supervisor and she spend most of her time out of town in behalf of the Green Thumb Program. Her Senior Supervisor is JoAn Mahaffey, of Lubbock.

Local Green Thumb workers and sponsors attending the seminar at Farmers State Bank and Trust Company, Clarendon were: (from Donley County) Inez Skinner, Ruby White, Quata Phillips, Kate James and Eula Merrell of Clarendon; Mollie Dickson, Eva Hansard and Viwon Winn of Hedley.

Rural or small community residents age 55 or older who need work may contact Green Thumb, 1701 Metro Tower, 1220 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas 79411.

Employers may contact Green Thumb about the wage reimbursement program available to them when they hire older workers. Green Thumb is an equal opportunity employer.

Sales tax rebate reported

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said city tax rebates for April totaled $24.1 million, about $10 million less than Texas cities received in April last year.

He said 1980 rebate payments of the optional one-percent city sales tax from the first of the year now total $162.8 million, compared to rebates of $135.2 million over the same period in 1979.

Because year-to-date payments are up over last year, it's too early to say whether the decreased monthly payments reflect a downward trend in taxable sales or simply seasonal adjustments, Bullock said.

"The next couple months bear special attention and may give us a clear x-ray about what's happening and what to expect from the Texas economy," he said.

Clarendon's net payment this period was $2,494.94 as compared to $3,111.62 for the same time last year.

To date payments for 1980 are $25,391.16. For the same period last year the amount was $18,753.32. This is an increase of 35% over the same time last year in spite of a decrease in the last period.

Area towns percentage wise varied from the last report as listed: Claude, 2%; Groom, 16%; Memphis, 19%; Pampa, 131%; Wellington, 116%; and Panhandle, 124%.

New ways of financing agriculture

Due to tight credit and high interest rates, Texas farmers and ranchers are having a tough time finding credit to finance their operations. But there are ways Texas banks can obtain additional loan funds to better service their rural customers.

Some of these methods were highlighted at the 28th Texas Farm and Ranch Credit Conference for Commercial Bankers at Texas A&M University.

"As the demand for loan funds for farmers and ranchers continues to increase, banks will continue to encounter problems servicing customer needs," points out Dr. Richard Trimble, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and conference chairman. New methods by which banks can better meet increased agricultural loan demands was discussed by James Rodgers, senior vice president, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston; Vernon L. Peckham, senior vice president, Republic National Bank of Dallas; and George Shiver, executive vice president, Seminole State Bank. The speakers looked at both opportunities and problems presented to country banks by new developments in financing agriculture.

Conference participants also learned about new legislation concerning taxation of agricultural land in Texas. Ken Graeber, executive director, School Tax Assessment Practices Board, Austin, discussed "Taxation of Open Space Land" and what impact the new legislation may have on Texas farmers and ranchers. Rounding out the conference, sessions on loan documentation for various types of agricultural enterprises, commodity outlook information, and a discussion of current legislation and what it holds for agricultural producers. Conference planning is handled by the Agricultural and Rural Affairs Section of the Texas Bankers Association, which sponsors the event along with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Mrs. Carl Pittman, Mrs. Glen Adkins, and Mrs. Cecil Thomas went to Dimmitt on business last Thursday. They came back by Plainview, where they visited Mrs. Noel Harvey, who is a patient in the Plainview Hospital recovering from a stroke, suffered early in April. Mrs. Harvey is a former resident of Donley County and Mrs. Adkins aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thomas, of Grants Pass, Oregon spent last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Adkins. They were supper guests of Miss Athelée Dodson on Wednesday night, and on Friday night of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pittman. They visited with many of their longtime friends at the Senior Citizens Center. Cecil and Pauline lived in Clarendon from 1930 until moving to California in the early 1950's and later to Oregon.

Your 'Fly Rights' know them

Airline passengers have rights and need to know them, especially with the deregulation of the airline industry, says a family resource management specialist.

This is especially true of delayed and cancelled flights. Here, your 'fly rights' can really work for you, if you're aware of them, says Bonnie Piernot.

Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Airlines don't guarantee their schedules, so remember this when planning a trip. Even though schedules aren't guaranteed, most airlines will pay for a telephone call or telegram to your destination to announce a delay.

They'll arrange and pay for hotel accommodations and food if you're stranded overnight, and they'll pay for transportation between the airport and hotel. Ask about these policies BEFORE you travel, since different airlines have different policies.

If you are stranded by a long delay without help from the airlines staff, keep track of these out-of-pocket expenses and write to the airline's consumer office for reimbursement when you get home.

Above all, remember that patience can work for you as effectively as your 'fly rights.' In many cases, airlines have little control over some delay factors, such as bad weather, air-traffic delays and mechanical repairs. Sometimes the airline employees do not have the answer for a delay, such as problems that delay incoming flights. Patience can be a valuable resource in many of these cases.

Alpha Upsilon Epsilon meet

Almost every person in the Amarillo area who has permanent kidney failure and needs maintenance dialysis treatment or a kidney transplant is eligible for Medicare health insurance, Jim Talbot, social security district manager in Amarillo, said recently.

Medicare helps pay for kidney transplant surgery and related inpatient hospital services. It also covers outpatient maintenance dialysis and helps pay for doctors' services including surgeons' services for transplants, outpatient self-dialysis training, and home dialysis equipment, supplies and periodic support services. Medicare also helps cover the costs of a donor for kidney transplant surgery.

To be eligible for Medicare because of kidney failure, a person must have worked under social security long enough to be insured, from 1 1/2 to 7 1/4 years depending on age, or be the wife, husband, or dependent child of an insured worker.

Only the family member with kidney failure is eligible for Medicare; others in the family are not, Talbot said.

For people with kidney failure, Medicare protection generally begins with the third month after the month the person's course of maintenance dialysis begins.

Medicare protection can begin earlier if the person takes part in a self dialysis training program in a Medicare approved facility and the person is expected to complete the training and self-dialyze thereafter. Protection can also begin earlier if the person is admitted to an approved hospital for a kidney transplant.

Medicare generally ends 12 months after a person no longer requires maintenance dialysis treatments or 36 months following kidney transplant. Medicare can, however, be resumed if it transplant fails.

Anyone with permanent kidney failure who is not covered by Medicare, should apply at the Amarillo social security office, located at 3119 S.W. 27th. The telephone number is 376-2241. The people there will be glad to answer questions about Medicare protection.

Walt Skinner employee of week

Walt Skinner, sales manager for Texas Saddlery has literally worked his way up with the company, from the not too responsible tasks he handled at age 12 to the vastly important job of pleasing buyers today.

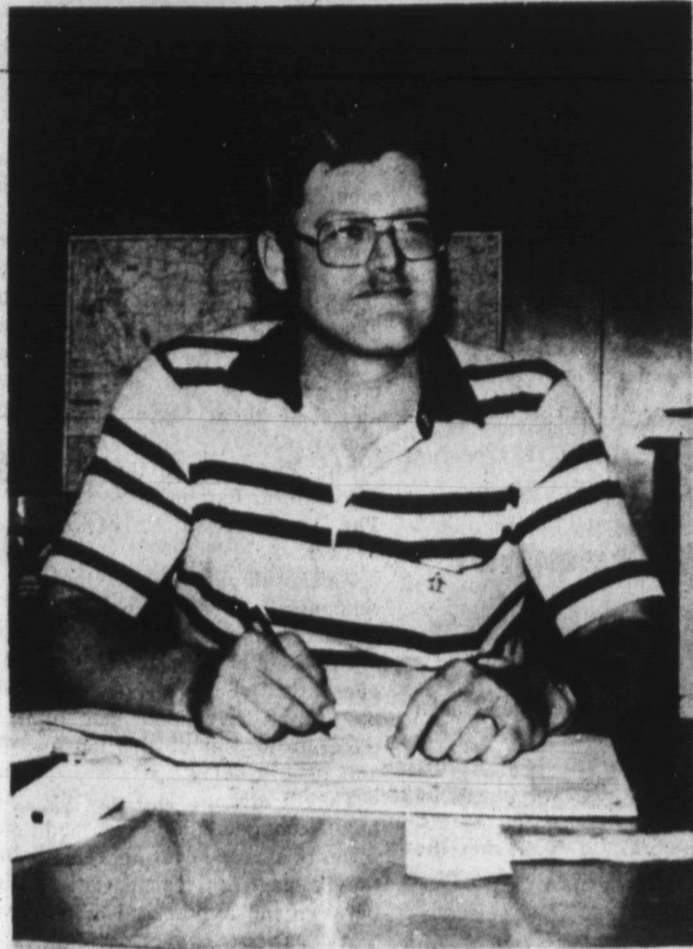

As the junior member of the Skinner family working at the business, Walt, as well as his father, Troy Skinner and his uncle Gary Skinner, has learned the business by working at the various jobs and becoming familiar with each piece of equipment and with supplies by constructing and using the items.

Walt has 10 years of experience to his credit with Texas Saddlery and an additional two years experience working away from the company. As sales manager his position and that of his staff is vital to the maintaining and growth of the business.

Except for trips to market almost all of the sales are conducted by telephone. There are 7 wats lines in the building and much of the time all of them are busy. This has proven to be the quickest, easiest and most profitable method of selling with a company which handles sales in all 50 states and overseas. Overseas calls are made monthly for confirming orders which are usually handled by letter.

An unusual reference library, and an absolute necessity to Texas Saddlery, is the impressive array of telephone directories which fills a book case dimensions are approximately 40" wide, 12" deep and 72" high. None of them is unused.

Other members of the sales staff are Doug Wright and Mike Spier. Edie Robertson is the office girl Friday and Walt insists she is in training for sales. Another member of the staff and the No. 1 assistant (according to Walt) is a big Boxer named Buster. Buster makes sure the corner near

WALT SKINNER

Walt's desk is kept in A-1 shape for napping by trying it out a lot of the time.

Walt has had a large part in the expansion of the volume and area of the sales for the business with 400 new customer in the last year, many of whom are repeat customers.

Skinner's Texas Saddlery is one of the reasons the Clarendon economic climate is healthy. Manufacturing companies of wholesale merchandise do well in small towns, if handled properly.

Walt has a new addition to his family with the birth of a daughter, Torie Lynn who is welcomed by a brother Walter Scott, and parents Kathy and Walt Skinner. She arrived on April 19, 1980.

Kathy Skinner has worked with the business and Walt says he will encourage her return to the company when demands are not so great at home. He feels the women have much to offer and their talents, proving they agree, should be used in the business.

Diets...Diets...Diets!

It seems that every time you turn around, people are talking about a new diet. Some of these diets say to eat only one kind of food, such as rice. Others tell you to eat as much as you want — as long as it's protein, or fruit, or whatever.

But most of them promise one thing: By following that diet, you'll lose more weight faster than on any other diet. Don't believe it!

There's only one way to lose extra body fat. That's to eat less and exercise more. To lose one pound, for instance, you have to eliminate 3,500 calories. That means cutting out or using up 500 extra calories every day for a week — or 100 calories every day for a month.

But in order to stay healthy, it's still important to eat a basic variety of foods, even though you are cutting down on the amount of those foods. And it's especially important to eat less of the high calorie, low nutrient foods, such as sodas, candy, cookies, cakes and fried snacks.

If you think you want to lose weight, the first thing you should do is see your doctor. If he or she agrees with you, then go ahead. But remember: A calorie is a calorie is a calorie. So to lose weight, eat less and exercise more.

When you're growing its a good idea not to follow drastic diet plans. If you cut down on the extras and add some vigorous exercise to your daily activities, you'll slim down. Use your common sense. And even if you're at the right weight, exercise is important to get the most from your food. □

JIMMY THOMPSON A FULL TIME WORKING SHERIFF

I believe that there are important issues involved in this election.

- 1) A sheriff should work.
- 2) A sheriff should be a full time sheriff, not just an advisor.
- 3) A sheriff should be willing to take full responsibility for the honest and efficient operation of his office, and not pass the buck.
- 4) A sheriff should tend to the sheriff's business; not to things that are none of his business.
- 5) A sheriff should use good common sense and be fair and impartial to all persons.

If elected as your sheriff, I will give you an honest, hardworking, and effective sheriff's department.

Texas twisters can hit anytime, weathermen warn

COLLEGE STATION — Although the peak tornado season in Texas traditionally runs April through June, experts at the State Climatologist's Office at Texas A&M University remind Texans that tornadoes are a year-round concern. The climatologists' reports indicate an average of 109 tornadoes touch Texas soil each year. The state ranks at the top nationally in number of storms sighted — 1,425 of the 8,560 total for the decade occurred here. Because of its size, however, Texas ranks 11th in number of twisters per 10,000 square miles.

Slippery Pan Liner
This is a recipe guaranteed to let the cake, brownies or whatever you bake in a pan, slip right out without having to use wax paper. Just smear it in, pour in the batter and bake. 1 c shortening
3/4 c flour
1/4 c oil
Mix real well with mixer. Cover and keep in refrigerator. Pour Minerals onto your house plants
After you have cooked hard boiled eggs, don't pour the water down the drain. Remove the eggs from the water and put them into cool water to help get the shells off later. Let the boiled water cool down then pour it over your houseplants. The minerals that come off of the shells of the egg is better for your best house plant than tap water.

Remove some of the chlorine before you water house plants
If you save those plastic gallon milk jugs, fill them up with water then leave the lid off for 24 hours to let the chlorine evaporate. Room temperature water is better for your house plants. You may want to let water stand over night in any container, just don't put any lid on.

mothers and babies

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS
It is generally recommended that baby's teeth be brushed for the first time between the second half of the first year, when the molars are usually in, and the first half of the second, when young children tend to want to do what their parents do.

A toothsome miss can learn to look her best by wearing pretty but practical clothes such as this corduroy jumper with ribbon yoke in royal blue or red from Mothercare, retailing specialists for mothers-to-be, babies and children under five. It's shown with a polyester and cotton turtleneck available in red, white, navy or gold.

Dentists point out that any tilting of the baby teeth caused by thumb-sucking has no effect on their permanent teeth that come in about six years of age. If thumb-sucking is given up by six—and it usually is—there's little chance of hurting the teeth.

Many fine clothes for mothers-to-be, babies and children can be found at Mothercare stores.

The earliest recorded instance of a newspaper was the Roman Acta diurna, founded by Julius Caesar and posted daily in public places to inform the public of the news.

4-H Club

"Twelve dollars and seventy five cents ($12.75) per 4-H member returns benefits worth a half a billion dollars," Senator Larry Pressler (R-S.D.) told the Annual National 4-H Congress in Chicago Sunday, November 25, "and that is the best bargain in the country."

In the keynote speech for the 4-H event, which brings to Chicago over 2,000 4-H delegates and their leaders from across the nation, Senator Pressler explained that the Federal Government contributes $64 million for the support of 580,000 volunteer 4-H Club leaders. Each volunteer, however, spends the equivalent of more than a thousand dollars in time, supplies, and gasoline. It would therefore take at least $580,000,000 to purchase that which is donated by the 4-H Club volunteers. Thus the 4-H program returns nearly $10 of volunteer value for each Federal dollar invested. The additional value of 4-H members is immeasurable.

Senator Pressler grew up on a small family farm in South Dakota and was very active in 4-H activities for 9 years. In 1961 the 4-H Clubs sent him to the World Agriculture Fair in Cairo, Egypt.

Summer camping

4-H youth from 9 to 19 will have an opportunity to "expand their horizons through camping" at the Texas 4-H Center this summer. And the 1980 summer camping program is better than ever.

Seven camps are planned from July 6 to Aug. 2, points out Leslie Garnett, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Activities include living and learning in the outdoor environment that encompasses 78 acres of wooded land on the shores of Lake Brownwood in Central Texas. Skills training will be offered in such subjects as canoeing, archery, handicrafts, swimming, shooting sports and ground sports. Youth can participate in all activities.

"Like 4-H, camping is 'learning by doing'. 4-H'ers will develop skills and will grow into more productive citizens as a result of their camping experiences. Learning to adjust in a camping environment, learning to appreciate natural surroundings, and participating as a responsible member of a democratic camping environment are just a few of the experiences offered to campers.

Experienced resource teachers and qualified college-aged counselors will conduct classes. County Extension agents, adult leaders and counselors will supervise campers at all times. Educational activities are planned for 4-H'ers, leaders and county Extension agents that can be adapted to local 4-H programs.

Additional information about summer camping at the Texas 4-H Center, is available from the county Extension office, adds Miss Garnett.

America's Farmland... Plant the Best • Save the Rest

Did You Know?

Did you know that erosion by water strips away 2 billion tons of American soil each year? Average losses are from one ton per acre per year in Pacific coast states to nearly 11 tons in the Appalachian states. The average annual soil loss in the Corn Belt is about 8 tons per acre—twice the rate at which soil can be renewed.

Did you know that erosion by wind occurs in the 10 Great Plains States? Periodic drought takes its toll there every other decade. Hardest hit in the 1970's were Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Did you know that in parts of Iowa, farmers lose two bushels of soil for every bushel of soybeans harvested? That's on some of the state's best cropland! On unprotected sloping land, losses run as high as 26 bushels of soil for each bushel of soybeans produced.

Did you know that many soil conservation practices also save fuel? Conservation tillage, which leaves the residue from previous crops on the surface of the soil, can cut fuel costs and soil loss in half. Last year, it was used on more than 52 million acres, compared with only 4 million acres 15 years ago. Other effective conservation measures include plowing on the contour, stripcropping, terraces, grassed waterways, windbreaks and deep plowing.

Information on financial and technical conservation assistance is available to farmers, ranchers, and other land users from local offices of the U.S. Department of Agriculture—Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Soil Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration, Forest Service—or from the local Cooperative Extension Service or conservation district office.

A Century Of Service To Man And God

When seven women and one man knelt on the cobblestones of New York City in 1880, few onlookers realized the great amount of good works they were bringing to America.

Those eight people were Commissioner George Scott Raiton and his officers from England, and they were holding the first officially authorized open-air meeting of The Salvation Army in the United States.

America was unfriendly to The Salvation Army at first. There was violence, and several officers even gave their lives, but three years after the arrival of Raiton and the seven ladies, the Army was operating in seven major cities. The men and women of The Salvation Army persevered in their task of helping the poor, combining the vigorous preaching of the Gospel with practical social work. Recent decades have seen expansion into a federation of services stretching from crowded inner cities to isolated rural areas and growing suburbs. Today's Salvation Army serves millions each year in many ways, including corps-community centers, day care centers, summer camps, senior citizens clubs and residences, emergency disaster services, rehabilitation centers for alcoholics and drug abusers, maternity and general hospitals services to unwed mothers and their children, counseling, correction service programs and much more.

Attorneys give estate advice

Attorneys should stay abreast of changes in estate planning matters for the benefit of their clients, according to Houston attorney Charles Giraud.

Speaking at the 1980 Estate Planning Seminar at Texas A&M University, Giraud said, "Attorneys have a duty to advise clients of changes in estate tax laws. Due to continuous changes in such laws, clients should review their wills at least every three years."

The two-day seminar was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Reviewing effects of the 1976 and 1978 tax acts on estate planning, Giraud noted that the overall intent of the 1976 act relating to gifts was to make the tax impact of a gift "relatively neutral." "While the $3,000 per year gift exemption still exists, there is not much incentive (taxwise) any longer in making major gifts," the attorney pointed out. "Making gifts is sort of a pre-payment on your estate tax at death."

Giraud emphasized the use of trusts in helping people save on estate taxes as well as offering professional management. Through the Texas Uniform Gifts to Minors Act, contingency trusts can be set up to protect minor beneficiaries. Trusts can also help the surviving spouse with property management and can help plan for children and subsequent generations. "A trust is the most desirable form of management of assets by a fiduciary (one administering a trust) since it permits deferral of principal distribution until a child reaches a designated age," noted Giraud. The attorney also emphasized the use of a "by-pass" trust for a surviving spouse in which he or she receives needed income throughout the remaining years and only the unused portion of the trust will be taxed at death. "The use of discretionary distributions of trust income (rather than mandatory distributions) can produce substantial income tax savings," Giraud noted. He also advised those attending the seminar to keep clients posted on such estate planning points as marital and orphan deductions, the new Generation-Skipping Tax (tax on future generations), and the new Charitable-Lead Trust (in which a charity receives income from an estate to reduce taxes and only part of the trust goes to the surviving spouse).

Cankerworms hurt trees

Remember the tiny little worms that devoured the leaves of oaks, elms and other trees early last spring over much of Texas? Well, they are back again this spring.

Adult moths of the tiny worms have been found in parts of South Central Texas and other locations. This is a signal of infestations by the leaf-eating worms this spring and should warn us to be on the lookout and to take action if necessary, points out Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Cankerworms are about an inch long and are slender. They vary in color from light brown to nearly black and from green to brown. The worms feed on buds and unfolding leaves. Cankerworms are also called inchworms or measuring worms because of their spanning or measuring action as they move about. They move from branch to branch or drop from trees on silken threads, explains Hamman. When disturbed, they may stand nearly erect and remain motionless, resembling small twigs.

What can be done to control

this cantankerous pest? One method of control is to band tree trunks with a sticky material such as tanglefoot since female moths must climb tree trunks to lay their eggs. This may be effective in northern areas of the state where egg-laying has not yet started. Place a 3-to-4-inch wide strip around the trunk about 4 feet from the ground, suggests the entomologist.

While this method offers some control, spraying a tree with a residual insecticide soon after worms become active is the surest control practice, points out Hamman. He recommends spraying only those trees where foliage damage is evident and worms are present. Give particular attention to newly transplanted trees, special landscape trees and fruit or nut trees.

Insecticides registered for controlling cankerworms include malathion, carbaryl (Sevin), Orthene and methoxychlor. A biological insecticide called Bacillus thuringiensis (Dipel, Bactur) is also effective and is non-toxic to humans, pets or wildlife. After using a biological insecticide, worms should stop feeding on foliage immediately but will live for about three days.

A key to whether or not the spray for cankerworms is the condition of the trees involved, emphasizes Hamman. Trees in good condition and not under stress due to drought, disease and insect damage may withstand partial defoliation by cankerworms early in the season.

Ten reasons for Baptism in the Name of Jesus

Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Matthew 28:19

United Pentecostal Church, Mrs. N.W. Thompson-reporter

In this message I am not dealing with the Mode of baptism which is by immersion, but the Formula which is in the name of Jesus. Here are ten reasons:

Reason No. 1: Jesus is the name (singular) of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost. It is wholly impossible to obey Matthew 28:19 unless you are baptized in the name of Jesus. A minister has the choice of repeating the words of Jesus or obeying them. Which will it be?

Reason No. 2: Scripture never contradicts itself. Those who would say that they would rather take the words of Jesus than the words of Peter, as stated in Acts 2:38, are admitting that they believe that the Bible contradicts itself. However there is no contradiction in the Bible. Both Matthew 28:19 and Acts 2:38 are correct. They do not contradict one another. There is no error in the Scriptures, rather the fault is to be found in your understanding of the Scriptures. When Peter told the multitude on the Day of Pentecost to repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ, he actually was not contradicting the words of the Great Commission, but rather explaining just how we might obey what Jesus told us to do.

Reason No. 3: In the sixteenth chapter of Matthew's Gospel we read where Jesus entrusted to Peter the keys to the kingdom. Now Jesus would have known whether or not He could trust the great apostle. Remember, Peter had heard the words of Matthew 28:19 spoken by Jesus just a few days before. Now on the Day of pentecost he had just received the Holy Ghost who was to guide him into all truth. Remembering the words of Jesus spoken so recently and coming down out of the Upper Room where he had been waiting in prayer for ten days, was it possible for Peter to make a mistake? No, never, absolutely not! Please remember that when Peter stood up to preach, the other eleven apostles stood up with him. Matthew was included in that number. Not only did Matthew hear the words spoken by Peter, but by standing there with him Matthew gave his assent and approval to them. Peter made no mistake but he spoke the truth, and he turned the key in the lock which opened the door of the kingdom.

Comptroller office report

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said a new single-step rapid-deposit system developed by his office has increased the potential of additional interest earnings on state tax dollars.

Bullock said the new remittance processing system deposits tax money through a single-step operation 72 hours faster than the previous system and in a six-day period in late March the system accounted for a projected $47,700 interest windfall.

"The quicker tax dollars move through our department, the quicker they end up in a bank earning taxpayers extra interest," he said. Agency records show that the remittance processing system made deposits of $235,873,835.01 between March 13 and March 31.

"You don't have to be Secretary of the Treasury to see the interest potential on that kind of cash flow," Bullock said, adding that the interest paid on state deposits is one positive way to stretch tax dollars.

He said the key to the remittance processing system was adoption of a computer program to handle tax receipts, taxpayer accounts and fund allocations all in a single step. The previous method processed tax revenue in batches, assigned deposits to suspense funds for clearance, and cleared suspense funds to revenue funds after the money was deposited in the treasury.

The single-step operation means multiple deposits can be made each day and allows additional interest to be drawn on the earlier deposits.

Bullock said during the week of March 21 through March 27, the department was able to make $106.9 million in deposits on an average of one to three days sooner using the new system.

People's choice in 1978 election. Carried 241 counties over 4 others.

VOTE

My campaign time is limited, for I too hold down a job. With the May 3 primary just about a week away there will be voters who I will not be able to contact—much as I would like to. I do need your vote and support and will appreciate your influence on May 3, 1980.
