With this plan of procedure in view, the trustees appointed a committee from its membership to draft a petition for an election for the levying of a twenty-cent tax on the hundred dollar valuations assessed by the state and county in the present Claren-don Independent School District, for the maintenance of the jun-ior college. OUR HOME TOWN EDITION

You are reading now a page from the annual Home Town Edition of the Clarendon News, and the editor and staff sincerely trusts that you are enjoying all its pages. We have striven to produce an edition better than any we have ever published before, and of such interesting content that our readers will deem it worthy to file away for future reference after this day and generation is past.

The News has had a particularly successful business year in 1929, in that it has sold more thousands inches of advertising, gone weekly to more homes in Donley and adjoining counties, and pleased more customers than in any other year of its history, for which we desire to return humble thanks. We have extended our newspaper service and we have enjoyed our work with the aggressive and progressive citizenship of Clarendon and this county.

Events of the year have caused editor and staff to more deeply appreciate the people of this community and section than ever before, and the labor incident to this edition has been zestful in that we dealt with a people, a community and a county than which there is none more esteemed. We love this people and this section of Texas, therefore we enjoy working for its upbuilding and advance-

If we have pleased our family of readers and those hundreds to whom this issue goes for the first time and if we have sketched the advantages and spirit of Clarendon and this section of the Panhandle in a creditable manner, then we are doubly repaid.

May the Holiday Season be joyful and happy to all.

"LET US ALONE, WE WANTA STAY DEAD!"

Henry Ford, "the upstart," certainly raised Ned with the carriage business. The carriage-makers had no use for him. Let's see, can you remember the name of a carriagemaker? Yet you know Ford.

Thomas Edison certainly raised Ned with the gas jet business. The gas jetters had no use for him whatever. Whom do you know among the big gas jet men? Nary a one.

On the other hand, we see the railroads starting bus lines, and supplying fast trans continental passenger service by combining rail and airplane. The railroads can absorb new ideas. We see the Victor Talking Machine Co. accepting radio into its bosom rather than not have any bosom. Victor says, "Come over and bother us, but don't leave us dead!"—"Spinal Colyums."

"PAYING BACK"

Paying back is one of the great virtues-if it's good you are paying.

And it is a virtue essential to good sportsmanship.

You can't be square if you take without giving. It just isn't done by regular guys.

I haven't much patience with the theory that children should be grateful for their bread and butter. It's as foolish as the modern youngun's argument that he didn't ask to be born and therefore has a right to raise the devil.-Robt.

Up at Dalhart, our good friend, John L. McCarty, editor of the Dalhart Texan has announced a "Cuss-The-Editor Week", and proposes to print all criticisms and verbal missles directed at his editorial tripod. John says this is something new-and it is insofar as an additon to the every-kind-of-week known in America, but we have known of such weeks many, many years. In fact, we have seen more than one a year—sometimes they come two at a time—and they originate with the people and not with the editor. Good luck, John-we hope your critics get it all out of their system in one week, so you'll be safe for a whole twelve months. If it does that, John, we'd like to try it, ourselves.

You ought to study the Constitution of the United States as soon as you are able to study history, because the Constitution of the United States is a part of the history of your country and has much to do with making your country what it is. Of course you cannot become a consti-tutional lawyer by reading the Constitution, but you can get some idea of what the instrument is, upon which the government is founded and the longer you study it in connection with the history of the country, the more you will begin to understand its operation and its usefulness.—William Howard Taft, Chief Justice, U. Many Outstanding Structures Are Completed Here During Year With Numerous Others Planned For 1930

DESPITE CONDITIONS PREVALENT IN DONLEY COUNTY DURING YEAR PAST, BUILDING IN CLARENDON HAS CONTINUED IN ALL PARTS OF TOWN. OTHER CHANGES ARE CONTEMPLATED FOR EARLY IN COMING YEAR.

Approximately $200,000 has building a splendid little filling been spent in Clarendon during the past year in permanent building, according to a check made last week. This is only an estimate as no record of building has been completed and occupied.

Two buildings of an outstanding nature have been erected here. POLITICS THIS WEEK

A fresher, more rested, but no less belligerent Senate came trooping back to Capitol Hill this week to resume operations on the Tar-iff bill and other things. It is by no means the same Senate that reconvened for the second lap of the extra session. In the first place, its personnel has undergone shakeup. Two members have died, and one has been replaced by a new solon from Ohio. Wyoming has not so far designated a representative to take the place of the late Senator Warren, and there is an exciting possibility that former Governor Nellie Tay-loe Ross will obtain that place. Pennsylvania's senatorial representation still hangs in the bal-ance, but the long delayed out-come is scheduled for this session. New Jersoy's David Baird, will succeed former Senator

ADDRESS YOUR MAIL CORRECTLY

A wise suggestion made to the Postmaster General, regarding the huge amount of improperly addressed or misdirected mail sent annually through the Post Office, is that a fee of one cent be charged for every piece of mail requiring directory service, that is, correction of or supplying street addresses. This service, as has been repeatedly pointed out, costs the Post Office Department nearly one million dollars per year. This small fee, payable by the sender, is believed to be a good plan to decrease the carelessly addressed still, remembering mail, and also to correct the custom—supposed to indicate the conspicious character of firms of placing no street addresses on letter heads. etc. This latter habit, it may be added, also costs their correspondents considerable loss in the time of clerks who have to look up addresses when writing such firms.

The example of the city of Buenos Aires, which has an admirable postal system, might well be followed. No mail whatsoever is delivered unless it bears the alphabetical lists, which are posted in cases around the lobby of the city post office, and address-

NO PASSING OF PLATE IN PRESIDENT'S CHURCH

Persons desiring to view President and Mrs. Hoover at religious worship should not be made to pay for that simple privilege, it has been decided by trustees of the Friends Meeting House in Washington, the church that our Quaker President and his wife attend. Therefore, they have discontinued this week the universal custom of passing around the collection plate passing around the collection plate during services. It was thought that exacting a conribution from those who crowded the church, largely through curiosity, might give an impression of commercialism, somewhat akin to the process of selling tickets at places of entertainment. Regular members of the church from now on will mail their contributions to bers of the church from now on will mail their contributions to the authorities.

In responce to the question that immediately arises—no, President Hoover had nothing to do with the decision of the trustees. It is taken for granted, however, that the action naturally meets with his just approval.

MR. FORD COLLECTS A HOUSE

The "collecting bug" has bitten Mr. Henry Ford on a larger scale than that accorded most men. He wants for his museum at Dear-born nothing less than a house. The only qualifications specified by the automobile magnate are that it must be from Alexandria, Virginia, and it must be at least 100 years old. Are we four times as extravagant as our forbears? The answer s yes, to some extent, but more significant than that, we are increasingly progressive and scientifically minded. Based on land values, the present system of taxation bears heavily upon owners of real estate, and the Commissioner forsees a return to something like the nomadic life of the past ages.

indicate the high cost of traveling over so-called low type roads. According to their calculations the cost of driving over gravel and so on is one third greater than driving over smooth concrete.

For the sake of convenience, let it be conservatively considered that the cost of driving a car over concrete is five cents a mile. A dollar will then buy 20 miles of travel on hard pavement. The average motorist now travels some 6,000 miles yearly at, therefore, an estimated cost of $300. If the motorist's traveling were all to be done over intermediate type roads rather than concrete, the additional cost for this "privilege" would be $54. But if the motorist were compelled to bump over low type roads the extra travel cost would be $114—which is $114 that could be better spent.

A motorists' association has just pointed out that sixteen states this year spent less money on highway improvement than they did last year, even in the face of mounting car registrations. Obviously, this cannot be called economy, for every mile of unimproved road a community televitors exert the tax payer hard tolerates costs the taxpayer hard cash through extra car expenses which have to do with fuel and oil, car depreciation, tire wear and allied items.

The Outdoor Living Room An Essential Part of Every Well Planted Home Grounds These Days

MODERN OUTDOOR LIVING ROOM INSPIRED BY YARD AND GARDEN CONTEST

Trees and shrubs are being made use of this fall to build outdoor living rooms in the back yard for the enjoyment of the family next summer. The home grounds are modernized thru such planting, for these days everyone wants to live out in the open air as much as possible. This year's Yard Beautiful Contest gave a big impetus to building and use of outdoor living rooms.

Outdoor living rooms can be provided by furnishing sufficient shade, for one thing. Trees of good size are successfully set out by the modern nurseryman. Then too, shade trees grow quickly, particularly if the right varieties are selected in the beginning. They are something that is always growing in value, a pleasing thought to any home cowner.

Some home owners prefer fruit and ornamental trees for the outdoor living room and a proper space for at least one of each of these kinds of trees can nearly always be found in the home yard. Fresh fruit always tempts one out into the garden. It makes a delicious dish on the table and, is healthy for both children and grown-ups between meals. And at canning time fruit grown on the home lot is a big money saver.

In addition to the strict utility that comes from fresh fruit, the sweet-cented blossoms of springtime are desirable in themselves. They brighten and make enjoyable our yards and gardens for several weeks of the year.

Strictly ornamental trees are frequently used for their decorative effects and can well be included in the homeowner's planting plans. They also furnish considerable shade.

Trees give protection in a larger sense than merely breaking the rays of the burning sun..
They stop the force of the storm winds, of seasonal prevailing gales. They provide a quiet of atmosphere which is necessary for the average person's enjoyment of the out-of-doors.

Shrubs are the principal assistants of the trees in providing us modern outdoor living rooms. They frame in our grounds giving us the necessary amount of privacy. They screen out objectionable views, soften architectural lines, blend in the views, soften architectural lines, blend in the ward. And shrubs are so graceful. views, soften architectural lines, blend in the house with the yard. And shrubs are so graceful. We would plant them for their rounded contours alone, in many a spot. Most shrubs are more than graceful tho. They are a mass of beautiful bloom in their flowering time. They help to make outdoor living room attractive year after year for shrubs are permanent features. Proper selection in the first place is of course necessary. By consulting first place, is of course necessary. By consulting a nurseryman or visiting a nursery and making our selection of plants there, initial mistakes can be prevented. Unless we ourselves are experienced gardeners or have the benefit of expert advice we may use tall branching shrubs for foundation plantings instead of the low-growing varieties. And for our screens and garden frames, without knowing shrub types and characteristics we may not make suitable selections.

This conference, Mr. Fry stat-

In planting an outdoor living room now, or in modernizing one that has been built, it is always well to have the advantage of competent knowledge.

Practical and often almost daily use can be made of the outdoor living room during the summer. Supper may be frequently served, picnic-style, on the lawn. Intimate guests may be entertained in the garden for that is really the most private part of a home. Friends may be invited to inspect the changed back yard as they would be to ride in the new car or listen in on the radio just installed.

In the outdoor living room milady, sans the sunbonnet her mother would have worn, may acquire that fashionable coat of tan which no cosmetic can simulate. She may tend choice blooms at her elisure, a few minutes at a time, a welcome rexaxation from household cares, and a practical modern combination of work and play.

OVERCOAT FOR WINTER NEEDED BY YOUR GARDEN

PALL PLANTED TREES WITH SMOOTH BARK NEED TRUNK PROTECTION

WATERING IS IMPORTANT

ROSES AND TENDER PLANTS NEED SPECIAL SHIELDS OR THEY WILL SUFFER.

With the approach of winter amateur gardeners who have gained much valuable information thru the Clarendon Yard and Garden Contest will do well to bear in mind that in climates where severe freezing temperatures pre- vail, some protective covering for plants is necessary.

This protection, however, is not against the cold as is commonly supposed, but rather against the heat of the winter sun which stirs into early activity the sap of otherwise dermant plants.

Where winter temperature goes to 30 below zero, and the ground freezes to a depth of several feet it is obviously impossible to keep the cold out. But it is possible to keep the cold in by placing a screen between the sun's rays and the plants or the ground about the

the plants or the ground about the base of plants.

It is also important that plants go into the winter well watered, for considerable winter kill of otherwire hardy plants is caused by the drying out of plant tissues. The roots of plants are naturally encased in frozen soil and if the encased in frozen soil and if the sun's rays are severe they cause undue evaporation from the exposed stems, moisture which cannot be replaced by the frozen roots. To remedy this the tops, or parts of them, are shielded from the sun by a protective covering. This winter protection takes only on many farms, varying with the plant type, tho essentially the methods and reasons for them are identical.

Fall planted trees with smooth bark, mountain ash, maple, etc. should have their trunks protected too. Burlap strips, bundles of straw or corn stalks may be used.

Fall planted evergreens may suffer too. Right after the holidays, when old or unused Christmas trees are available, a wigwam of these about the newly set tree will break the direct sun's rays and prevent to rapid evaporation of moisture from the street with the sused in the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grind their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 35c a bottle, and can be bought from Douglas & Goldston Drug Co.

American is Now King Gambler of The Whole World

Paris, Dec. 9—(UP)—Frank Jay Gould, owner of three of the principal gambling establishments in France has become the gambling czar of the world. Sir Basil Zaharoff and the mysterious "Monsieur Andre" overlords of Monte Carlo, Cannes, Deauville and other dasinos, now appear like small time gamblers in comparison with the vast cstablishment whereby Gould hopes to lure a fortune from those who stack their chances against the

In comparison, the famous Monte Contact of the comparison of the famous Monte Contact of the comparison of the contact Carlo casino appears tiny. Gould himself speaks of his venture as "A palace the ceasars would not have built."

One hundred million francs ($3,900,000) went into the buliding of this palace. It is solid mar-ble and steel, the baccarat room and steel, the baccarat room of Italian marble, valued and high. This gambling room, with it's bank of Gould millions there it's bank of Gould millions there to be "broken" if that is possible, is the best guarded place of all Europe.

In the two-acre establishment, Gould has a city of attractions. His restaurant seats 2,000 dinners at a time. The marble dance hail an architectural dream. The theater is as fine as any Paris

Gould, scion of American railroad kings, who has been living in 1857.
The first practically all of his fortune here. He has made some very fortunate deals which have doubled and trebled his capital.

He discovered a beautiful plot of land at Juan-Les-Pins on the Riviera, overlooked when the Riv-ira was built up, but suited for the site of the American's first casino. His wife designed the large hotel there and it is estimated that Gould's profits were at least $4,000,000. Then on his way to Deauville, he stopped at a restaurant at Evreux, liked it and bought it. It has become the most famous roadhouse between Paris and that resort known as the "Millionaires' Delight."

Later Gould bought a lake and a hotel at Bagnollesde-L'Orne. By publicity he brought the elite of French society to his new resort. It paid him 900 per cent on his invesement. He expects his Mediterranean Palace to do the same.

1930 TO BE HEAVY BUILDING YEAR IN TEXAS ACCORDING TO ESTIMATES

Conservative Estimate Shows $400,000,000 in Prospect For

By Stuart McGregor Any estimate of the amount of construction work to be done in Texas in 1930 would be hazardous; contingencies to be taken into consideration are many. Yet there the classification mentioned above in may be made from a survey of funds available from taxation and bond issues. Here, too, a decided increase in construction expenditures is indicated.

In the first place, it is estimated that commercial and residential construction in the State will be about $230,000,000 during next year. For the current year, total tentative projects in this to slightly more than $72,000,000 to municipals (binds) has been deferred. New bond issues in Texas in 1926 amounted to approximately $49,000,000; in 1928 total tentative projects in this class amounted to $300,000,000. total tentative projects in this class amounted to $300,000,000 actually developed. This is a nortually developed. This is a normal shrinkage. Present estimates indicate projects totaling some $350,000,000 or $360,000,000 which would indicate actual construction of about $225,000,000 or $230,000,-

This figures includes industrial, commercial and residential structures and permanent equipment of such, and is based upon reports from practically every city and town in the State. It also includes certain other improvements, nota-ble outside improvements of utilities, which are to be made within ities, which are to be made within the corporate limits of cities. It does not include an estimate for smaller structures outside city limits, nor engineering contracts such as highways, railroads, pipe lines, transmission lines or reclamation projects. It is based upon the reports on building permits in cities issuing such and upon private reports from other points.

An estimate of a large amount of construction to be done outside consideration are many. Yet there seems to be good reasons as present for believing that there will be a response to President Hoover's appeal to the Nation to speed up production, within the borders of this State. And probably a guess of $375,000,000 to $400,000,000 as the figure would not be far wrong. Such a figure would be very appreciably above that of any year to the present date. In the first place, it is estimated that commercial and residential construction in the State ending Aug. 31 and exclude refunding issues.) In addition there is about $6,000,000 annually in warrants. Though there was a decline in issues from 1928 to 1929, yet it is probable that actual expenditures will be greater next year than in any previous year.

Of course, some of this expenditure will be reflected in the figures on building permits and should be included in the esti-circulation through the channel of highway improvement during the coming year.

Prospective Road Improvement A number of road bond issues been offered recently and while there have been several rejections of all bids, bonds have been marketed in most instances. Bids are being received on a number of issues. Reports of the last two weeks include $550,000 of El works which are not included in works which are not included in the street and highway improvement, reclamation projects and miscellaneous other public two weeks include $550,000 of El works which are not included in Paso County, $700,000 of the El Paso-Hudspeth road district, and $2,700,000 of Tarrant County. Elections on road bonds to be held in the near future include $985,-000 in Haskell County Dec. 21; $200,000 in Ector County, Dec. 14; $991,000 in Lubbock County, Dec. 17; $375,000 in Crockett County, Dec. 21; $1,250,000 in County, Dec. 21; $1,250,000 In Dawson County, Dec. 21. Road bond issues, aggregating more than $10,000,000 are under consideration in Brazoria, Jefferson, Falls and other counties. In the last few weeks road bonds have been voted in a number of counties including Jim Wells, Fisher, Travis, Colorado, Gillespie, Brazos, Hutchinson, Chambers, Nueces and

Many Reclamation Projects
Next year undoubtedly will break all records in the matter of mated $230,000,000 mentioned above, but most of it will fall without that classification as being applied to highway and street conservation projects. Work will improvement and the construction continue throughout the year on the levee construction at Dallas of levees, reservoirs and irrigaand the two lakes being built in Tarrant and Wise counties for the Highway Improvements Bond issues for highway improvement have increased rapidly during the last three years. During the last fiscal year total contracts for highway work awarded amounted to $34,436,108, the largest single year's record. Actual expenditures amounted to a little less than two-thirds of this

Big Railroad Program And there will be much con-struction that will not fall under either general heading. For several years Texas has led all States in railroad construction and the same will undoubtedly be true during the coming year; indeed, it seems probably that Texas will set a record for recent years.

At present the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient, now owned by the Santa Fe, is making two important extensions. The San Angelo-Sonora line probably will be completed early in 1930; about forty miles of the Alpine-Presidio line has been graded and work on this difficult project will probably extend well into next year. Con-struction of the railroad from Abi-lene to Cross Plains should begin shortly. Only last week, the Interstate Commerce Commission au-thorized the Gulf & West Texas line from Fredericksburg to Brady and the other sector connecting Eden and San Angelo may be authorized in time for the begin-

Other pending railroad projects which may be started in 1930 include the Santa Fe extension from Amarillo northwest through the new properties. Of course, much Summing up the situation, it would seem that there is good prospects that $95,00,000 of construction will be done during the cluded in the estimate of $230,-000,000, but anywhere from $10,-000,000 to $25,000,000 could be spent for intercity trackage, not including replacements on existing lines. Large Utility Expenditures

Utility improvements city limits are included in the classification for which permits are issued, but there will be vast amount of work done outside corporate bounds. Practically every one of the fifteen or more arge power and light companies of Texas with intercity systems contemplates the extension of its ransmission lines, the erection of witching stations and other improvements. Construction work will be in progress on several petroleum and gas pipe line projects of first magnitude. Extensive intercity improvements will be made in telephone lines, and there will be large expenditures for airplane landing fields. Just how much will be added by such utility improvements could hardly be estimated accurately, but it will be over $25, The total estimate of $400,000,-000 is a guess, but it would seem o be a conservative one-and would seem that an estimate of 15 or 20 per cent in-crease over 1929 would be a con-amount. About one-third of this money comes from bond issues, the remaining being from revenues direct to the State highway fund and Federal aid. That he is still intensely interested in the prog-ress and welfare of Donley Coun-ty and anxious that it ranks with the foremost in better county government is brought sharply to the fore in his recent letter to The News, which we reprint herewith: Mr. Sam M. Braswell Clarendon, Texas.

Dear Mr. Braswell:-

I have just received the Novem ber 21 issue of the Clarendon News. It is always out most wel-come visitor because it brings up news of home and friends.

I have clipped out an editorial and filed with other papers I am collecting looking forward to good government and this is the one dealing with the proposed change in Highway administration. Some one has recently called American county government, the Dark Continent of American politics. What ever the author had in mind in making this statement, to me it means that we inherited a system of local government just after or even before the American Revolution and while changes have taken place every where else, in this field we continue to conduct business in the same unbusiness like fashion. This plan seems to me like a step towards a real solution of a long standing problem. If the County Court can carry this project to fruition it carry this project to fruition, it will lead in a movement that may encourage other counties to follow suit and let us hope that it will spread to other phases of county and local administration.

As a side issue I am devoting the year to a study of county government as found in Texas. I have talked to members of the Legislature, county officials and former county officials. They all declare there is a great room for improvement. There is just as much need for change and reform as there was need for a change in education, medical practice, business methods, etc. Because a certain system was satisfactory one gested the ease that all business of a county could be carried on if counties were about four times as large as they were. Not that he was ready to start a campaign to consolidate them now-but if big business had control it would consolidate and thereby save a great overhead charge in county government. Another man was talking yesterday, a member of the Legislature and lamented the fact that about six new district Courts were established this year when at least half of the existing District courts were not more than half efficient or busy if that much. And so on it goes. The old idea is the larger number of units of government we have the more jobs there are to pass around. When the same effciency is demanded government officials as is now demanded of a modern bank executive or big business official, then we will have conceived the way to a more efficient and more responsible political life. The park idea surely appeals to me. I met the group while they were here and hope that ways and means may be provided for a real honest to goodness park can be set aside and developed home when I can get away and Best wishes.

Sincerely, S. H. CONDRON.

I would not be misunderstood here—I am not one to proceed to tear down the fundamentals of a structure just because it is old and tried. But I do think we lose much by refusing to adopt more modern machinery in government to meet modern problems.

MODERN HOUSE IS A MACHINE FOR

HOME LIFE ENRICHED BY SAFETY, BEAUTY AND and throat. CONVENIENCE.

By Wyatt Brummitt

Home is a factory for the production of shelter, safety and happiness for the family. There is no reason why a home should be a less efficient factor in Machine Age life than a plant built for the protection of an individual investment.

Modernism in home architecture does not imply bizarre or freak-ish architecture, for modernism is ica, it was announced at head-quarters of the Texas Public Health Association in Austin.

Distribution of 32,000,000 Christmas seals began Thanksgiving Day in cities and towns of the state and will continue until Christmas.

Ish architecture, for modernism is essentially a matter of utility, comfort, convenience and economy. There is no reason why a small English cottage type of house cannot be truly "modern": similarly. American colonial architecture may be utilized in a home that is as modern as next year's motor car.

Modernism in a home means, first, that from a purely structural standpoint the house is built to stand the gaff of weather and to afford its occupants the ut-most comfort and security, no matter what may be happening outdoors

Second, modernism means freedom from the hazards of fire, whether those hazards are firebrands from a neighbor's house or of interior origin. Fire is an expensive and out-of-date luxury. Third, the modern house is light, airy and easy to clean and

Fourth, modernism in a home minimum of waste pace; for waste space costs as much as used space and doesn't ay dividends.

Fifth, the modern house is an investment; shoddy construction, with its inevitable following of early depreciation and high maintenance, has no place in the truly modern scheme of things.

Finally, the modern home is beautiful, inside and out. It is a beauty more of design than ornament, of carefully designed proportions rather than elaborate scroll-work tacked on at random. Strength, firesafety, cleanliness, utility, permanence and beauty—these are the factors which make these are the factors which make a home honestly modern. With modern materials, handled by skilled workers, a modest house can be made as modern as the most self-conscious effort of a hobby-riding millionaire. Few materials are better suited to the needs of modernism than cement. For cement enters into the making of hollow, fire-safe masonry, basements that are liv-able, roof tile that are impervious to fire, floors that prevent struc-tural distortion and offer unlimi-ted decorative, possibilities, stucted decorative possibilities, stuc-co that can spell individuality and beauty, cast stone for permanent

WINTER CAMPERS DON'T CATCH COLD

Many mothers of scouts are afraid to let their boys go camping because of the fear that they shall catch cold. How de we catch cold? Is there some little implying in wait for us, ready to bite us in a vulnerable spot? No, exposure may be a predisposing cause but the base is of it all is the presence of germs in the nose

These we have with us all the time, we usually get along pretty well with them. We learn to ignore them and really pay no attention to them. But supposing our neighbor has a different family of germs in his nose or throat, breeders in the area covered by the sessinition have signified lowered resistance, and by that we mean insufficient food or rest, exposure or overwork.

When we go out into the snowy wet woods, hike along, get our feet wet, sleep outside—the things that make mothers hair gray—we might think that cold would be frequent, but just the opposite is ing in the Panhandle is indicated by the fact that the Panhandle true. Arctic explorers rarely have colds. We will wager that Paul Siple, the American Eagle Scout who is with Commander Byrd in the Antarctic will not catch cold. But don't think that just being outside with snow and ice will keep you from catching cold. You must be strong, in good health and accustomed to outdoor exercise. A hot house plant fares very poorly in a blizzard. But if a scout will get outside, take hikes in the winter, romp in the snow, you will be much better for it if you can be warm and dry at

PEDESTRIANS MAY HOPE FOR BETTTER BREAK

SIDEWALKS FOR RURAL BIG CUT IN ACCIDENTS.

By E. E. Duffy

Most of the breaks that pedestrians have been getting in this motor age have had to do with bones. But when the plans of many communities are carried to completion the pedestrian will fare better.

Accident records show that an all too large portion are due di-rectly or indirectly to pedestrians walking on highways. This is par-ticularly true in thickly populated areas and in districts where children are forced to walk along the road to school.

The obvious solution to this problem is the construction of sidewalks along paved roads. Communities such as Allegheny county, Pa., and Wayne County, Mich., have constructed rural sidewalks with a noteworthy success that points the way for the country as a whole.

Naturally the first objection to the building of rural sidewalks is in regard to the practiability of spending funds for such construction when so many miles of roads need paving. That, of course, is a question for the community itself to answer. Accident prevention is a moral obligation; certainly children should be protected at all costs. So far, rural sidewalk building has been a local affair, and if money can be made available where pedestrian protection is needed there should be no hes-Naturally the first objection to the building of rural sidewalks is able where pedestrian protection is needed there should be no hesitancy as to the course of action.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT MARRS WANTS HOUSTON HOMESTEAD SAVED

Austin, Texas, Dec. 9—Texans owe their ancestors and their descendents the protection of the state's most sacred and historic shrines, according to S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of spheels.

Mr. Marrs said in an interview Wednesday that the home of general Sam Houston in Huntsville and other important places in Tex-as history schould be venerated and protected and that all children as well as adults in the state should take interest in this

"Many of our citizens are not native Texans," Mr. Marrs said, "but some of the adopted citizens are more interested in the glorious history of the state than our native sons. The state owns the Sam Houston home at Huntsville, and should see that it is protected. It is a wooden structure and the least spark of fire would destroy one of our most treasured momentos of Texas' fight for freedom, and of Texas heroism and statesmanship."

Several other prominent Texans have expressed their concern over this old monument to freedom and have declared that structural tile or some other effective fire proof-ing material should be used to make sure the permanence of the old homestead.

Mr. Marrs pointed out that some years ago some of the public spirited women of Texas, through a concerted effort, saved the Alamo in San Antonio from being destroyed and now the state is proud of this shrine. watchman is employed for Houston home but he would be powerless against a sudden fire engendered in the ancient wood of the building.

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers — washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. Dan Moody Denies He Will Run For Governor in 1930

Austin, Tex., Dec. 9-(UP)-Gov. Dan Moody took occasion to squelch beyond a this week doubt the intermittent rumors that he has been in conference with friends, discussing the posannouncing himself candidate for a third term in the executive chair.

I have not discussed such matter, the Governor said curtly today when interviewed. He also denied that he had told friends he will not be a candidate for office again. This rumor also had gained

The date for the special session of the legislature, he said, will not be announced until he receives a report from the committee authorized by the legislature make a report on the state pris-on situation. The report is being prepared under the direction Senator Edgar Witt of Waco. It it reported to favor an industrial prison to be located within 20 miles of Austin. A minority report, favoring erection of the in-stitution on ground already owned, probably will be submitted, it was apparent today.

Having vetoed former efforts of the legislature to punish "Hoovercrats," Moody is not expected to submit election legislation to the special session. Meantime, the state Democratic committee continues to hold its silence as to how the Republican-voting Democrats will be treated. The race for Governor will begin to take shape when this becomes known

The capitol generally is assuming that Former-Governor Pat Neff will not be rushed into the executive's race by hostility to former Senator Earle B. Mayfield but probably will announce him-self as a candidate for election as a railroad commissioner as soon as he finishes the appointive term given him recently by the governor. It is taken for granted that Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt will be out for re-election. Senator Morris Sheppard paid Austin a short visit recently. He left seemingly unworried regarding the possibility of a dangerous opponent for his position in the 1930 primary.

The impressive thing, however, is the tendency toward modern surfaced roads."

The A. A. A. club executive de-clared that these local or secon-dary roads are an important part of the nation's highways and serve to develop new areas of

"In addition," said Mr. Gatton, "these secondary highways play an important role in increasing the prosperity of the farmer, adding to the happiness of his family and facilitating delivery of mail and parcel post. They also have an untold value in providing safe operation for school buses which are now recognized as an integral part of the educational life of the

At the outset of 1929 the Plan of Work Committee added three good successive and the second successive and the

A continuation of the Five Year plan of promoting the dairy industry was carried out and 48 farmtry was carried out and 48 farmers from Donley county were carried to the Panhandle Plains Dairy Show in Plainview last spring. Several prizes were awarded to the clubs of the county com-

210,000 Camp Fire Girls Give First Aid To Santa Claus This Christmas

Convalescents in a Doll Hospital. Camp Fire Girls dressing dolls which they have repaired for Christmas

By VIOLET MOORE HICGINS

Author of "The Real Story of a Real Doll"

The Christmas season is one of work for the 210,000 Camp Fire Girls of the Country. And many imes this number of poor children depend upon their work to make Christmas the bright season in an etherwise drab year. Everywhere Doll Hospitals are eing organized and to them are rushed the emergency cases of Toyland. Armless dolls, legless olls, dolls with disconcerting optical troubles, are brought in thousands for treatment. Their small mothers surrender them to less fortunate children with an altruism never to be achieved by grown-ups. For even mother-hood must not be taken too seri-busly in Toyland. There are also the dolls, perfect physically, but who sartorially, have seen better days. Their finery

High and low, fashionable and dowdy, the doll baby with wonder-filled eyes, and the imported French Doll, with set and supercilious smile—they are all fumigated. Missing limbs and hair are supplied, and they regain, magically, that school-girl complexion. Camp Fire modistes cut and sew busily, and Fashion again makes them her own. At Christmas time they go forth into new homes with the consciousness of looking their Christmas tree decoration and carol singing are on the programs of many groups. Open house is held at some camps where crackling fires, beautiful trees and good things to eat, spread Christmas cheer. Candy making and the fill-ing of stockings alternate with orphanages, and hospitals. And through it all is the happy rattle and Clatter of the Doll Hospitals and Toy Repair shops.

All these are a few of the activities of the 210,000 Camp Fire Girls

"It is extremely gratifying to learn from the most recent reports that public acceptance of the 1930 Buick line of automobiles has not only maintained Buick's position of leadership in the fine car field, but has increased its sales percentage to 42 percent of the entire price class", says Mr.

Churchill. Mr. Churchill attributes the increase in Buick's sales percentage to the unusual popularity of the 1930 models, which has brought into the Buick column many purchasers who have heretofore owned and driven other makes, and to the loyalty of those who have been Buick owners.

In this connection another starting statement of fact was included in Mr. Churchill's public announcement—the fact that Buick sells, each year, more than half of its output to old Buick owners, which constitutes a record of owner loyalty unparalleled in the entire automobile industry.

Secretary Hyde Reports On Conditions In Agriculture

should equal, if it does not exceed that of the previous year, not-withstanding the fact widespread drought reduced crop yields ma-terially, says Secretary of Agri-culture Arthur M. Hyde in his annual report to the President, made public today, (December 7). Following are a number of extracts from the report:

Widespread drought during the growing season of 1929 dried up pastures and reduced crop yields below those of any recent year. the standpoint of the producers, reduced yields seemed likely to be more than offset by price ad-vances. It is probable that the total income from agricultural pro-duction for the 1929-30 crop year will equal, if it does not exceed, that of the 1928-29 season. Though this season's wheat crop is considerably smaller than that of 1928, it may return the growers a larger income. Wheat prices have been substantially higher so far this season than they were during the corresponding period of the 1928-29 season. A reduction in our wheat output is offset by an increase in the carryover from the previous season. Stocks on July 1 totaled 245,000,000 bushels compared with 128,000,000 bushels on the same date in 1928. Income from wheat according to the reports now available, is about 3,400,000,000 bushels, or 500,000,000 less than the record crop of 1928. As the carryover was larger than that of the previous crop year, the total world supply for 1929-30 is only about 360,000,000 bushels less than the suppy avaiable in 1928-29. Nevertheless, the indicated reduc-tion has raised the world price level.

Further improvement was made estate, by the livestock industry in 1929, though favorable trends were not our ha as sharply defined as in 1928. Certain branches of the industry showed losses, but gross returns to livestock producers in the first combines. This machine eliminates the previous year. Gains were grain the corresponding period of 1928. Figures showing net returns are not available, but undoubted by the current year has been profitable for the livestock industry on the whole. Gain in gross income was effected despite a decrease of 1,187,000 head of meat animals slaughtered under Federal inspection in the first eight months of the year as compared with the number slaughtered in the corresponding periof of 1928. The increased return from a reduced volume of sales was partly the result of higher average prices and partly of the higher average prices are provided and partly of the higher average prices are provided as a combine of the grain may have and the previous year. Gains were the grain binder, the shocking of the shocking of the wheat, stacking, and the ase of the threshing machine. It reduces the cost of harvesting to a small fraction of what it formerly was. A serious problem connected with the use of the combine is the fact that much combined grain contains more moisture than grain may safely contain when put in a bin. Accordingly, means are being studied whereby the moisture content of grain may be reduced before it is placed in storage. Indications are that a solution of this problem will be found.

Under the agricultural marketand partly of the higher average weight in the animals slaughter-

In general the position of the dairy idnustry has been favorable this year, though not as marked-ly so as it was in 1928. Prices of butter, cheese, and other dairy products have not averaged as high as they did last year, largely because dairy production increased generally during the spring and summer months. In the fall, however, dry pastures anytailed production Consumption the fall, however, dry pastures curtailed production. Consumption during the year held up fairly well as compared with consumption in recent years. In the last eight years, despite a generally upward trend in dairy production, our domestic consumption of dairy products has consistently exceeded our omestic production by about 1 per cent. There is reason to beour omestic production by about 1 per cent. There is reason to believe that this close adjustment will continue. The dairy industry is very stable. It is not showing any immediate prospect of a marked expansion.

American agriculture's total in-come for the crop year 1929-30 country to the town declined, and country to the town declined, and the rate of depreciation in farm land values declined also. Aggregate gross income from agricultural production in the United States for the crop season 1923-29 is estimated to have been $12,-527,000,000. Net income of the farmers did not The losses in prouction, however, were so evenly distributed for the country as a whole that no large area had either very bountiful or very short crops. Moreover, from the standards of the producers. living on the farm, including the value of the farm products used by farm families, was only about $16,000,000 greater than in the previous year. The return earned on the current valuation of agricultural property was about the same, namely, 4.7 per cent, compared with 3.1 per cent in 1922-23 and 1.4 per cent in 1921-22. In the last two seasons the current value of agricultural property has increased. Land values in the season 1928-29 declined slightly, but the value of per-sonal property, including livestock on the farm, increased sufficiently to raise the estimated current value of agricultural real estate and personal property to $58,-645,000,000. This was an increase for the year of nearly $40,000,000. In view of the drastic decline that depends, however, on the world wheat situation as well as on the situation in the United States. The advance has been largely due to rise in the value of live-stock on the farm and an increase n lovestock production may mean a lower valuation for this item. Under the agricultural marketing act rapid progress in the coordination or co-operative marketing may be expected, inasmuch as greater unity of effort among producers' organizations is a leading chiest of the act Support leading object of the act. Support is not to be given to the upbuilding of unrelated co-operative units in the same branch of agriculture, since to do so would increase wasteful competition in marketing between producing groups and be-tween producing regions. Thinking in local or regional terms, neces-sary in the early stages of the co-operative movement, must now be supplemented by thinking in commodity terms. Such a view of co-operative requirements is en-tirely consistent with the continued growth of local and regional associations, provided these become units in a coordinated move-ment. Time will be required to work out the necessary details of this principle. But when it is applied, an important step will have been taken toward placing agriculture on a parity from a business standpoint with other in-

of Agriculture covering 1928. Our farm population at the end of 1928, according to this estimate, was the smallest in more than 20 years. Though the gross move-ment of persons from the farms was somewhat smaller in 1928 was somewhat smaller in 1928 than in 1927 and 1926, it comprised the formidable total of 1,960,000 persons. This figure was largely offset, however, by the movement of 1,362,000 persons from cities, leaving a net movement of 598,000 persons from the farms to the cities. The corresponding net movement for 1927 was 604,000 persons; for 1926, 1,020,000; for 1925, 834,000; for 1924, 679,000; for 1922, 1,120,000; No estimate was made for 1923. Farm population as of January 1, farm population as of January 1 1929, was estimated at 27,511,000, as compared with 32,076,960 as stimated by the census for Jan-In the last eight years the de-partment has accumulated considerable data on family-living standards on the farm. Though sufficient progress has not been nade to permit a thoroughgoing comparison between farm stan-dards and city standards, much has been learned about the living standards of certain groups of farmers. It has been demonstrated, for example, that family-living standards are deficient on a large proportion of the small farms i he country. Family living stanlards are of course not low on al small farms. Many small farms devoted to varying types of agriculture produce net incomes qual to the average on larger laces. It is nevertheless true that majority of the small farms in the United States are low in-come producing and low-value

Effective action to raise living andards on our small farms is cessary not only in the interest the farm people immediately oncerned, but in the interest of he Nation. These farms are a ource of population as well as of ood supply. They send their surdus population to the towns and ities. Hence the entire Nation suffers when living conditions on the small farm make it difficult rear and educate young people dequately there.
