CLARENDON IS HOST TO CANADIAN HERO

Friday morning of last week, Capt. Saer of the Royal Canadian Artillery made two addresses to Clarendon people which thrilled our people to the point that the closing hours of the Liberty Loan campaign saw redoubled energy on the part of the many workers.

Capt. Saer went out with the first Canadian army that now sleeps the last sleep around Ypres and on the road to Calais in France and Flanders and saw the awful carnage of the first six months of the war. He was blown from the trenches by an explosion of one of the huge trench mortar shells of the Germans and suffered so many injuries added to the racking of his nerves that he has been sent to America and is in the South on the advice of the army surgeons. He spoke first at Clarendon College, where he confined himself more to description of the great war, and at eleven o'clock appeared at the Pastime Theatre, where a great crowd of our people had assembled to hear first-hand, the gruesome details of the horrible struggle. After the singing of the Star Spangled Banner with Mrs. McMurtry at the piano, Judge O'Neill introduced the speaker, who is typical clean-cut, Canadian, but who bears unmistakable evidence of the terrors and hardships of that first campaign in which the little allied army suffered so terribly at the hands of the overwhelming German forces.

The distinguished army officer was in the trenches 19 months at the beginning of the great war and one time a prisoner of the Germans. After staying in the trenches 19 months he was wounded by shrapnel explosion and was sent back to Canada for recuperation, later being advised by physicians to come to the south. He is in very poor health at the present time, but greatly improved since his arrival in America.

The Canadian captain told in a very graphic manner of the many experiences that are known to the men in the trenches and of the most detestable and cursed crimes that the world has ever witnessed, which are being committed by the German armies in France and Belgium. He explained the condition in which the Allies found themselves at the beginning of the war, stating that the enemy had ten guns to their one during the first part of the conflict and how the men were forced to stay in the trenches for weeks at a time without a chance for rest or a leave from the trenches.

In picturing life in the trenches on the firing line the officer said: "Imagine yourself in a trench from four to six feet deep, all the way from knee deep to waist in water, the machine guns pouring an incessant sheet of fire all around you, the artillery never ceasing with their bombardment, shells bursting about you, comrades and friends falling by your side, and a cold relentless rain falling on you, your clothes wet and no chance to change and in this condition for maybe weeks at a time and you can imagine some of the things with which the troops of the Allies had to stand at the beginning of the war. Now we have more men, more supplies and when a man has been in the trenches for a few days he is sent out to the rear for rest and recuperation."

He told in a very explanatory manner the different kinds of attack and at what time of the day each of the measures are carried out by the opposing forces. "At midnight, the main hour of the charges, every man is at his post, bayonet fixed, gun in hand, sentinels are re-enforced and everything is on the alert. At this time the never ceasing roar of the machine guns are at their

GERMANY HAS LOST SIX MILLION MEN

Washington, October 30.—Germany lost 6,000,000 men in the three years of war, according to a declaration made in the Reichstag by the Independent Socialist Ledebour. A report of his speech reaching Washington through Switzerland states that contemplating the prospects of a fourth winter campaign the Socialist leader said:

"You have not evidently, gentlemen, an exact conception of what war means. We have had 1,500,000 dead; three or four million wounded, of whom 500,000 are crippled for life and two million absolutely invalided. That makes altogether 6,000,000 men lost during three years."

It is stated that official information confirmatory of these figures have been in possession of American officials for some time.

Monday's extreme cold weather was rather severe for this early in the season.

Sentinels crawl out on "No-Man's Land" to observe the operations, as far as possible, of the enemy. This portion of the land known as "No-Man's Land" is lighted by the flash from the guns that are being fired, as light as the White Way on Broadway at any time.

But what caused the crowd to listen with the most breathless silence was the crimes and atrocities of which the captain had seen the Germans commit in his own presence. He told of going to a French town back of the lines, while on a leave from the trenches and finding a room full of children with their hands cut off; also the first gas attack which the enemy turned loose on the unsuspecting Allied troops. Practically the entire front on which the attack was directed was cleared of all living beings. The town in which the innocent women and children, the old men and all the inhabitants were stripped of the entire population. When the troops returned to the village they found it razed to the ground, with the exception of one building on the door of which building was nailed the body of a baby that looked as if only a few weeks old. This and numerous instances in which he has seen for himself the atrocious manner in which the enemy treats the helpless inhabitants of the conquered countries caused the breathless hundreds to listen to what they knew were true stories of what the world did not think for a while could be committed by a people who claim to be civilized.

He paid a great tribute to the Red Cross, saying that the work of this division together with the medical corps was one of the most important divisions of the war. That the life of the nurses and the doctors was more gruesome than the life of the men in the trenches, for they handled the wounded men constantly and saw nothing but the horrors of the war, while the men in the trenches at times were joking with each other and had leaves for enjoyment.

Captain Saer, a young man, was finishing his work in the McGill University at Toronto when war broke out. He volunteered in the officers' training camp and was one of the first to go over to the front in the first expeditionary forces from Canada.

After lunch the Captain and his party returned to Amarillo and went on to Canyon, where he lectured that night.

Our people were very fortunate in having heard this earnest young man and many of us have a better conception of what war really is since having listened to his story.

JAMES D. JEFFRIES BURIED MONDAY

It was a shock indeed that the telephone spread early Sunday morning to our citizens, that one of nature's Noblemen, the embodiment of Honesty, Chivalry, Noble Manhood, the devoted friend of Humanity, James D. Jeffries, was dead.

Born back in the old Commonwealth of Kentucky and educated there under highly refined influences and in its best institutions, he came in his early manhood to Texas and into the Panhandle section and was ever a leading factor in the development of this section. He had attained the age of sixty-six years at the time of his death and had made his home in Clarendon for nearly a quarter of a century and was well and favorably known to all of our citizens. He was a man of large affairs and although engrossed with his own affairs he nevertheless was always willing to share his part of public duties and our people commanded his services as School Trustee and County Commissioner for years. He was personally concerned about the best interests of his country and fellow citizens and especially did the condition of the unfortunate in life's affairs appeal most strongly to him and throngs of these will rise in the day of Judgement and acclaim of his sympathy and Charity of which the world never knew, for his benefactions were of the Scriptural kind which let not the left hand know what the right hand did.

His noble life, filled with the deeds of human kindness, in conformity with the higher ideals of true citizenship and exalted manhood and a devotion to his friends and love for his own family that bespoke the true greatness of his soul.

Thousands of friends will regret the death of "Jim Jeffries" as he was familiarly known by his many intimate friends.

Six years ago he was stricken with paralysis and then for awhile his life was despaired of, but he grew better though he never fully recovered, yet he so improved as to be about and give considerable direction to his business affairs, the practical management of which he transferred to his son. His death was wholly unexpected by his family and friends at this time, hence the greatness of the shock to them.

An overflow crowd attended the funeral services at the home and contributed a wealth of floral evidence, attesting their friendship for the man who was the friend of humanity. Religious services were conducted by his friend, for many years, Rev. S. E. Burkhead, of Clarendon College, assisted by Rev. J. W. Story, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. G. E. Burton, pastor of the Baptist church after which the Masonic order took charge, his body being interred in the Citizen's cemetery with Masonic ceremonies.

He leaves a devoted wife, his son Allan T. Jeffries, his daughter, Mrs. Hazel Jeffries McDonald, as his immediate family.

Passionate sympathy is extended by hosts of friends here and elsewhere to the sorrowing family, his devoted wife, son and daughter who during the many months of his affliction has given to him every care and attention that love could lavish.

Miss Jesse Smith returned to Hedley Tuesday after spending the week with her parents.

JAPAN PLEDGES AID TO UNITED STATES

New York, Oct. 30.—Japan's full cooperation with the United States in the world war until Germany is crushed was pledged by Dr. T. Masao, chairman of the Japanese parliamentary mission of five, at a luncheon given in honor of the mission here today by the Japan Society.

"The Japanese are determined to cooperate with the United States until the last," Dr. Masao said, "and will not stop until our monster enemy—Germany, the pirate of the seas, the assassin of the air and violator of all decencies on land, has been completely crushed. When this monster enemy of ours has been thoroughly beaten down, then, and then only, shall we have a lasting peace."

In explaining that the purpose of the mission's visit to this country was to enable the Japanese to get better acquainted with the United States, the speaker said:

"There is no reason why there should ever be any lack of knowledge, mutual confidence and mutual respect between Americans and Japanese. Let us hope that our association and fellowship as allies in this war will produce so perfect knowledge of each other, so perfect confidence in each other and so perfect respect for each other that the Americans and the Japanese shall always be allies—after the war as well as during the war."

Lindsay Russell, president of the society, in his address of welcome urged upon the members of the mission for their consideration on their return to Japan the following three constructive ideas:

A reduction of cable tolls between the United States and Japan; the extension of Japanese publications printed in English for foreign consumption, and a more general knowledge by the people of Japan of the English language to foster commerce and international intercourse.

Viscount Ishii was elected an honorary life member of the society.

STUDENTS RECITAL WINS APPLAUSE

Monday evening, last, the students of the Conservatory at Clarendon College rendered a most excellent program in the College auditorium to a most appreciative audience. From the first number to the rendition of Spindler's "Hussars" by the orchestra the minutest attention of those present was held, and the general verdict was one of approval.

The pupils from every department gave evidence of careful training and coaching and their work had the usual finish that marks the work of instructors in the Conservatory of Clarendon College. This is the first student's recital of the year and with such an auspicious beginning the music and reading loving public of Clarendon are assured of high class entertainment for the coming season.

Every participant on the program with their teachers are entitled to high praise and the audience is congratulating itself on having attended.

PHILATHEAS ENTERTAINED

Miss Gertrude Miller was hostess to the Philathea class of the Methodist Sunday School Tuesday afternoon.

The afternoon was very pleasantly passed, sewing for a little orphan girl, which the class will dress this year. She is at the orphanage at Waco, but garments will be made as needed and sent to her.

The class is undertaking more activities this year than ever before, but each one is unusually enthusiastic and putting forth her best effort to make it a great success. In addition to dressing the little girl, a Liberty Bond has been purchased, and twenty-five dollars pledged individually, for the support of missions.

After a short business session, Miss Miller served refreshments to the following: Mrs. W. R. Silvey, Misses Meta SoRelle, Alberta Hilburn, Zoe Glenn, Francis Roach, Anne Davis, May and Ina Naylor, Gertrude Miller and Leta Warren.

Mrs. Henry Parks returned to her home in Amarillo after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barnett.

Mart Emmins of Chillicothe is visiting here for a few days.

THE GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND

We used to think her frivolous, you know how parents are, a little quick to see the faults and petty flaws that mar the girl their son is fond of and may share his life; But the girl he left behind him when he bravely marched away Has blossomed into beauty that we see and need today.

She was with us at the depot, and we turned our backs awhile, And her eyes were sad and misty, though she tried her best to smile. Then she put her arms around mother, and it seemed to me as tho They just grew to love each other for they shared a common woe. Now she often comes to see us, and it seems to me we find A heap of real comfort in the girl he left behind.

"She's so sensible and gentle," mother said last night to me, The kind of girl I've often wished and prayed his wife would be. And like to have her near us, for she understands my sighs And I see my brave boy smiling when I look into her eyes. Now the presence of his sweetheart seems to fill our home with joy. She's no longer young and flighty—she's the girl who loves our boy. —Selected.

LIBRARIES FOR THE SOLDIERS.

Superintendent W. P. Silvey has received a special commission from Gov. Hobby as chairman of the Texas Library War Council in Donley County. The object of this undertaking is to raise funds for the purpose of establishing libraries in each of the Camps in Texas. It is estimated that $250 from each community containing 5000 inhabitants will be sufficient for this purpose.

If you are interested in our boys who are now in the training camps of the State to the extent that you are anxious to contribute to their comfort, before they go to the front, see Superintendent Silvey and make a contribution for this cause. All loyal citizens in this nation of ours feel such obligations as this resting upon them.

An active campaign beginning Nov. 5th to 7th will be instituted throughout Donley County for the purpose of equipping the training camps of Texas with libraries. The sum required of Donley County will be in excess of $250. Think this matter over and make a voluntary contribution before you are solicited.

PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT OFFICE OF THE FEDERAL FOOD ADMINISTRATOR FOR TEXAS

Houston, Texas, Oct. 25, 1917.
To all active workers, Family Enrollment Campaign:

Uncle Sam is mighty big and strong, but he is not so big and strong that he can afford to break a promise. There is not a real American in this country who would not fight to make good one of Uncle Sam's promises. When Uncle Sam says anything, that means that all his loyal sons and daughters have said it. The honor and the interest of this nation are in the keeping of our splendid citizenry.

Here is the proposition: We have promised to "grub-stake" the Allies. We said: "You need not farm—you fight!"

They did not farm, but how they did fight! Winter is coming on. There were few for the sowing and there are fewer now for the harvest. The pinch has come. In France they are looking across the sea and saying: How about that "grub stake," Uncle Sam how about that "grub stake?"

They are not whimpering, the Frenchmen, they are not that kind, but they are hungry and if we fail them with our "grub-stake" they will S-T-A-R-V-E! Thousands of them men, women and little children. Gnawing at a mere empty promise will not help them. Nothing will help them but food.

It is food that will win the war! How are we going to get it? We are going to save it—save it to save our pals, because that's what the Allies are in this fight.

We are going to make good Uncle Sam's promise that he would furnish the "grub-stake" for this war.

The Allies need more wheat, more meat, more sugar. It is either wheatless and meatless days for us or wheatless or meatless months for them.

And we are going to help—every one of us. There is no mistake about that. We will make good on the "grub-stake" promise for the sake of the folks who trusted us for the sake of our soldiers as well. Just remember that they are bound for France—the land where we are sending the "grub-stake."

We want no regrets after this war. We have had ample warning of the condition which awaits us, unless every American citizen responds to the call of duty. You and I want to feel, when the regiments of our boys return from the battlefields of Europe, some of them possibly broken, but all victorious, that we have done our part, even to the last detail, and we may not have to lay upon our own conscience the loss, through our neglect, of a single American.

Very Truly Yours,
U. S. FOOD ADMINISTRATION.

WILHELM AND THE DECALOGUE

Julius Chambers, a journalist of Manhattan island, has made the discovery that Kaiser Wilhelm and his ministers of state have violated every injunction in the decalogue. Julius is a pious man and he loves the decalogue. This is his indictment:

1. They have set up the god of war on a pedestal beside the Living and True God.
2. The Kaiser caused his people to bow down to the god of war and to worship him.
3. They have taken the name of the Lord God in vain and cannot expect to be held guiltless.
4. They have desecrated the Sabbath day and destroyed the holy temples of the Christian God.
5. The emperor has failed to honor his mother in countless ways, chiefly because she is the daughter of an English queen, and secondly, because he was born with a withered arm; his agents have dishonored countless Belgian and French mothers.
6. Wanton murder of the aged and of babies in arms has been done in thousands of instances.
7. The record of rapine and lust made by German officers and men has not been equaled since the days of the Hunnish invasions.
8. Everything of value has been stolen from the cities and chateaux of Belgium and France and sent home to decorate and enrich homes in Germany.
9. The emperor and all his ministers have borne false witness against their neighbor states and against the people of the United States.
10. Monarch and minion have coveted their neighbors' lands, ports and everything that belongs by right to other people of this earth.

McLENDON-SHEID.

From Claude News.

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 14, a large number of friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Sheid to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nora, to Mr. William McClendon.

The home was made beautiful by loving hands; every room being tastefully decorated in pink and white, the bride's graduating class colors.

The pretty wedding march, played by Mrs. Kate McClendon-Falkner, reminded the guests that the hour, 5 o'clock, had arrived in which these two were to be made one. Mr. Olin Slay, as the best man, led the groom to an improvised altar where were waiting the bridesmaid, Miss Marene Patterson, and the bride, each dressed in going-away suits with hats and accessories to match, and carrying each, a large bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums.

The ring ceremony was very impressively performed by Rev. J. R. Hucks. Congratulations were copiously showered upon this new "one" couple. Following this, pink and white cream cake and mints were served to the merry crowd which soon dispersed, carrying with them pleasant memories of this great occasion.

They went to Amarillo to visit Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Lacy; thence to McLean to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Falkner.—A Guest.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. White returned last week from Fort Worth and Dallas where they have been visiting.

We have arranged for a series of six interesting articles, "War Talks, by Uncle Dan," written by Mr. Howard H. Gross, president of the Universal Military Training League, of which this is the first. They tell in a graphic way why military training is of value, both to the nation and to the individual, and our readers will find them of unusual interest.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number One

America Must Fight Hard or Germany May Win—Necessity for Military Training.

"Now, Billie," said his mother, "your Uncle Dan is coming tomorrow to spend a week with us on the farm, and if you want to know about the war, here's your opportunity. Uncle Dan is probably one of the best-informed men in the country." Billie clapped his hands and gave such a whoop that he awakened the baby, but what could you expect of a fifteen-year-old boy who is a living interrogation point and wants to know about war?

Uncle Dan arrived in due time and time waited for an opportunity. It came that evening after dinner when Uncle Dan had lighted a cigar and taken a seat on the porch.

"I'm mighty glad you came, Uncle Dan. I want to talk to you about the war. We have just put military training in our township high school, but we had a hard time to do it. The Joneses and the Greggs objected. They said the war wouldn't come over here. Grandpa Jones said: 'They ain't no use to worry, it will soon blow over.' Well, we put the training in just the same. You order heard Judge Brownell, the president of the school board, do the slackers up. He said unless we take off our coats and go to it, Germany may yet win, and if she does, she will take over the great British fleet as a war trophy and compel us to do what ever she wants to; that she could make us pay all the cost of the war; the kaiser could tax us as he pleased and that we couldn't help ourselves. He could make every one pay over a part of what he earns; that he could make the farmers pay rent for their own farms, etc. Now, Uncle, what do you think of that?"

"Well, my boy," said Uncle Dan, "all that Judge Brownell says might easily come true and may unless we go quickly to the aid of the allies with large numbers of men and help them break the submarine line. Unless we can beat the submarines, they may prevent us from getting enough food to the allies to keep them going. In that case Germany would win. As matters stand today, our greatest need is trained men. If we had had several millions of men with military training in our industries and on our farms when the war came, who could have been called at once for service, I do not believe the kaiser would have forced the war upon us. As it was, he had no respect for us, and now we are in it and must go through with it. But never again must we be caught so wholly unprepared.

"There is only one safe way," said Uncle Dan, "and that is to adopt permanently universal military training, apply it to every young man who is physically fit, say in his nineteenth or twentieth year. The training can be carried forward in the United States training camps that are now being established for training men called by the selective draft. As soon as these men vacate these stations, they should be filled by younger men, and this should be made the permanent policy of the country."

Billie's mother, Mrs. Graham, had overheard the conversation. She came out and said: "Really, Brother Dan, are you serious as to the dangers of our country? If it is as bad as that, it is high time for us to wake up and do something about it."

"Exactly," replied Uncle Dan. "It is better to wake up now than to be rudely awakened later. We may as well understand, sister, that this is our war and we must win it or God help America. Everything that we have or hope to have—our liberties, our blessings, our opportunities are all involved in the great issue before us. Nothing must stand between us and winning this war. It is a question whether the peoples' right or the kaiser's might shall dominate the world. If there ever was a holy war, this is it. We are fighting for world liberty. We are fighting for the freedom of humanity. We are fighting for the right of men to govern themselves instead of being governed against their will by a war-mad overlord. Perilous times are ahead of us. We must be prepared to make any sacrifice, to perform any service that may be required of us."

"Oh, Uncle Dan," exclaimed Billie, "may I bring my chum, Jimmie Collins, when we have our next talk? He is a bug on this war business and just crazy to see you."

"Certainly," said Uncle Dan, with a hearty laugh. "If we are to have more talks, I shall be glad to have Jimmie join us."

Billie clapped his hands and ran to the phone and told Jimmie to be over at seven o'clock the next evening.

CITIZENSHIP TO BE TAUGHT

In order to bring the lessons of patriotism and of national and international regulations within the comprehension of children, the instruction in conversation which is to be given in American schools this year at the instance of President Wilson will begin with and emphasize home and local problems. A series of lesson leaflets will be issued monthly by the Food Administration and the Bureau of Education throughout the present school year.

During the past summer the Food Administration supplied its bulletin, "Ten lessons on food conservation," for courses given to adults in every State university and agricultural college having a summer session or teacher's institute. These courses emphasized the fact that the food problem will remain as a permanent factor in our community life.

For the Rising Generation.

President Wilson's recommendation that school children be enlisted to study problems of community and national life was instantly approved by students of conservation. The Food Administrator and United States Commissioner of Education, P. P. Claxton were designated by the President to secure the support of school authorities. The plan is to educate a rising generation that will know better than its predecessors how to conduct the business of living.

The lessons will consist of reading matter to be put directly into the hands of the pupils. Leaflets of 32 pages each will be issued every month from October to May. Each month's issue will be divided into three lessons, printed separately, one for the three upper classes of high school, another for the first high school class and the seventh and eighth grades, and a third for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

For Use in Reading Lessons.

These lessons will be used for reading in English classes, and for material for discussion or compositions. The subject matter is so closely correlated with geography and history that it can be profitably used at least one hour a week in periods drawn from the allotment made to these subjects. It can be used in civic or current-topics work, or can justifiably be given a place on the program as a major course in itself.

By beginning with the simple relations and processes of the home, the editor of the leaflets, Prof. Charles H. Judd, of the University of Chicago, expects to work outward from a center familiar to all pupils into wider fields.

There is one department of the paper that every true and conscientious editor guards with jealousy. That is the editorial columns. It must be so, for if it becomes known that any person or faction can control that column, then the paper's reputation and usefulness is at an end. No people has respect for a subsidized paper, be it great or small and strange as it may seem, occasionally people have the gall to approach the editor and "suggest" that such and such a statement be made through the editorial columns of his paper. A person ought to be sure that he is on the firmest plane of friendship with the editor before he attempts such a course, and if the editor disregards a "suggestion" from his closest friend, that friend has no sort of right to be peevish about it. The editor is alone responsible for his editorial utterances, therefore he must be the sole judge of what they shall be. The editor may be a fool and make blunders from week to week but he is not half so dangerous as one of the spineless variety whose policies are shaped by some outside interest. If it were possible for some "great mind" who has felt the call to journalism to map out to the editor some policy that would please all the people, then for the sake of argument, it might be admissible to take the suggestion, but since no policy has been enunciated since the foundation of the world that has received the unanimous support of any people, then it were super-foolish to even consider it. Don't tell the editor what to put in his editorial columns—one fool may be safer than two.

Secretary Daniels used very plain language in a recent address dealing with the venereal diseases of men and the "double standard" for men and women which is so largely responsible for the sins which bring on the diseases. The "double standard" is a relic of the dark days of when might was right and free love abounded and it is time for the people of this country to put it down. Ask any man if he believes in the "double standard" for men and women and he will say "No," yet it is practiced by thousands and tolerated by millions. Whiskey eliminated it too much to curb this evil but it will never be eradicated until men and women of all walks of life class the male prostitute with his sinful sister. The "double standard" of morals for men and women is a double-barrelled lie.

The campaign for Food Conservation is on this week. There is in some localities a wrong conception of what food conservation means. Some erroneously believe that it means to skimp ourselves here at home in our eating, even to go on half rations. That idea is totally wrong. What the government expects each and every household to do, is eat all it needs—but ELIMINATE THE WASTE. That is food conservation for it is a well known fact that the average American family wastes enough to feed a family in Europe. On account of the location of the battlefields in Europe the burden of the fighting must fall upon the European nations, but since we are removed from the actual scene of the conflict it necessarily devolves upon us to furnish the food. We can do it if we will SAVE THE WASTE.

The fall business is beginning to boom in Clarendon. Merchants are laying their plans to get a larger share of the business this year than ever before and some of the brainiest men of the county are using their ability in preparing for a great advertising campaign to get more business than ever before. Advertising is becoming the greatest force in the economic life of the nation and a business man who does not advertise is fast losing out to his more alert competitors. The public forgets a man who doesn't think enough of their patronage to use every means of legitimate advertising in going after it. If you are going to get your share, get after it now.

How short a span it is from our fire-sides to the bloody trenches in France. Only a few weeks ago a stalwart young son of Donley County stood in the News office and conversed with this editor about his expected trip to France and in this week's issue will be found a letter to his parents after having landed in the old world. Let us not assume that the war is so far away that it cannot effect us here. Such is not the case and the sooner we realize it and use our every effort to conserve food and finances for the successful prosecution of the war the sooner will the horrible affair end, and the sooner will American boys be home again.

The action of our merchants in agreeing to accept the war bonds in exchange for merchandise at their stores is being generally adopted the nation over. Soon these bonds will be just as current as five and ten dollar bills, and rightly so, for there is no better security upon the face of the earth. Our merchants are loyal Americans and as such deserve your support, especially since they will give you better values, dollar for dollar, than any other set of merchants known to the civilized part of the Panhandle.

The over subscription of the Second Liberty Loan is the greatest victory ever recorded against the Kaiser. It gives the lie to the German propagandists who claimed that this was not a popular war in America. It forever refutes the silly and disloyal claims of hyphenated citizens who say that America loves the dollar better than it does its honor. It is, in fact, the second and next to the last sign-board that points the way to destruction and everlasting annihilation to the Kaiser and all his henchmen.

Every man who did his duty in the great campaign for the Second Liberty Loan, will be proud of his efforts until his dying day.

Just as certain as other people see the faults of your children when you are blind to it, just so certain will it make you mad for them to tell you about it.

LEGAL PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Donley County Greetings: You are hereby commanded to summon by making publication of the citation once in each week, for eight consecutive weeks previous to the return date hereof in some newspaper published in your county, the unknown heirs of Thirsa Austin Gardiner, deceased, and Angeline Douglas, deceased, to be and appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Donley County to be begun and held at the court house in Clarendon on Monday, the fourteenth day of Jan. 1918, then and there to answer the petition of Mary Austin Williams and husband, J. A. Williams, Clara Austin, Mariam Austin, Thirsa Austin Henderson and husband, Fred Henderson, in cause No. 991 pending in said court wherein the said petitioners are plaintiffs, and the unknown heirs are defendants, then and there to make answer, if any they have to plaintiff's demands; for cause of action petitioners say as follows:

That Albert Austin is dead: that at the time of his death he owned all of section No. 23, in Bk. C-8 in said county and state, and all of the north half of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section No. 2 Bk. C. 8, C. D. Ferris, in said county; that Frank Austin, Carloline Wheeler, Therisa Gardiner and Angeline Douglas during their lifetime, for a valuable consideration, conveyed to the said Ralph and Frank, their interest in said lands; that said Ralph and Frank and plaintiffs claiming under them have controlled and used said premises exclusively for more than twenty-five years; that all the immediate heirs of Albert Austin are dead save Carloline Wheeler. That the said Ralph Austin conveyed to plaintiffs his interest, and that they are the sole owners thereof, and pleading the statute of three and ten years limitations, and asking that plaintiffs be adjudged to be the legal and equitable owners of such lands, and that defendants be adjudged without interest therein. Said petition filed October 31, 1917.

Herein fail not, but have you this writ before said court at the first day of the next term thereof showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of court, this thirty-first day of October 1917 at office in Clarendon.

Clerk of District Court of Donley County, Texas. 51c.

WAR'S FIRST VICTIM RELATIVE OF A CLARENDON MAN

When a German submarine torpedoed the U. S. Destroyer Cassin somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean, Gunner's Mate, Osmond Kelley Ingram was blown from the ship into the waves and his body was never recovered. The ship limped into port and reported the attack and the loss of the first life on board ship in the American Navy since the Spanish American war. Kelly Ingram is a near relative of C. B. Ingram and John Ingram of Clarendon, which goes further to prove that this war is not very far removed from us. The editor of The Clarendon News knew Kelly Ingram at Oneonta, Ala., having played with him often when we were both children, and we regret very much to hear of his loss. Ingram's mother lived at Pratt City, Ala., and is bearing her grief silently, tempered with pride that her son died in so just a cause.

Advances Come Thick and Fast

THE GOVERNMENT has become a great buyer of all kinds of building materials. Shipbuilders and factory men are searching everywhere for every sort of building materials. When the war is finally over the market will be glutted with orders and all building will be done regardless of cost, and the cost will be higher than now.

THE SENSIBLE THING TO DO

Is to buy your lumber and materials this month, this week, now, for your saving will be greater the earlier you buy. Let us help you plan for that building or alteration.

NEWS ADVERTISING SERVICE COMPLIMENTED.

Not every merchant and reader of The Clarendon News realizes that the advertisers of Clarendon have access to one of the best advertising mediums and accurate services to be had in any town of near the size of Clarendon. The News isn't bragging about it, although it is proud of such recognition, especially when it comes from one of the highest salaried advertising managers in the United States. We take pleasure in reproducing below a letter from the advertising manager of Hart, Schaffner & Marx, the great clothing house, to Hayter Brothers of this city:

Chicago, September 24, 1917. Messrs. Hayter Brothers, Clarendon, Texas.

Gentlemen: The first fall newspapers are beginning to come in, and especially good ad of yours that we noticed was in the News of September 13. It was headed "The all-wool call for fall." The newspaper set this up beautifully and secured an excellent reproduction of the cut. Work like this cannot be improved on.

We hope you will keep up this splendid pace thru all of your fall campaign, and we want you to be sure to keep us in touch with every bit of your work.

Yours truly,

Hart, Schaffner & Marx. Several of our merchants realize their opportunity of getting results through the advertising service of the News and we invite the others to try it out. It will help business. The best is none too good for patrons of The Clarendon News.

LOCAL RED CROSS NEWS

Thanks to the courtesy and kindness of the Woodmen, the Red Cross headquarters are now in the Woodmen's Hall over the First National Bank. This is a most desirable and convenient location, and the room is cheerful and bright at all hours of the day. The kindness of the Woodmen is greatly appreciated.

The Red Cross Members wish to extend sincere thanks to Mr. Lee Swearingin for his kindness in hauling all of their belongings from the Court House down to the new headquarters free of charge. Also to Mr. Liesberg for his generous donations of coal and to Mr. A. O. Bauer for painting the sign to be placed at the door of the entrance to the work-room free of charge.

The ladies greatly appreciate the work of two of their members, Mrs. Tom Kennedy and Mrs. Chas. McMurry in taking the whole responsibility of putting the new headquarters in order and supervising the moving.

Workers are badly needed. Surely there are more women in our town who can and will spare a few hours each week to help in the noble, vital work of the Red Cross.

The uniforms of the surgical dressings workers is not obligatory and no woman who can spare the time for the work should stay away because she has no uniform, as any wash-dress and a square-piece of white cloth or a small towel for a head covering is all that is needed.

Workers are requested to remove their hats, cloaks, gloves, etc. in the ante-room where the hands may be sterilized before the work is commenced.

Miss Maud Glenn succeeded in securing the donations of all the articles allotted this chapter for the National Army Cantonments and National Guard Mobilization Camps. These articles and the money contributed for same will be sent to their destination as soon as possible.

A request comes from the Martin School House Community for a delegation to come out on Friday, November 2nd, in the interest of establishing an auxiliary.

A Red Cross cotton bag is being placed in Lella Lake this week.

CLARENDON COLLEGE NEWS.

The football team met with their first defeat when they journeyed to Roswell, New Mexico and played the New Mexico Military Institute a game. The score was unanimously in favor of Roswell to the tune of 63-0. One may well ask where our team was during the time the game was going on. As a usual thing they were pinned down under the superior weight of their opponents. The lightest man on their team was only seven pounds under the weight of our heaviest man. All other members were heavier than our team. The Clarendon bunch played good ball for the first two quarters but during the last half the superiority of the Roswell squad enabled them to make a race-track out of the gridiron. A clean game is reported.

Rev. Franklin was a visitor Wednesday morning and gave a very interesting talk in chapel on the theme of making ourselves master-workmen.

Capt. Saer of the Royal Canadian Artillery, late of the Western Front and now instructor in military affairs at S. M. U. made a very instructive talk upon the manner of waging war in the present world-wide war. He described the different divisions of the army, the daily routine of the soldier in the front line trenches, the sights of cruelty and barbarity meeting the eyes of the Canadians as they pushed the Germans back, and the relative equipment of the Central Powers and the Allies.

The town girls of the Junior and Senior Classes gave a masquerade party last Tuesday evening at 8:30 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Letts. A very enjoyable occasion was had. Some of the characters depicted were very amusing in their originality. Farmer Jim, with a Big Ben for an Ingersol, an assortment of generals and privates, a large number of shrouded figures and even Death itself were present.

SITNER'S STYLE SHOP IMPROVEMENT.

Keeping pace with his fast growing business, Harry H. Sitner has had quite a bit of alteration, addition and improvements made at the Sitner Style Shop the past week. New suit and cloak cabinets have been built in, full paneled mirrors have been installed and the entire wood work of the interior finished in French grey. This improvement adds much to the looks of the establishment and is in accord with Mr. Sitner's announced policy of keeping abreast of the times when he opened up some months ago.

PLUMBING

Has advanced out of proportion to other necessities owing to the great war demands made on brass, copper, lead and iron. Anticipating prices would advance so we bought heavy sometime ago, and are still able to quote you reasonable prices. Do not put off having that job done expecting cheaper prices next year or the next. Europe will have to be reconstructed after the war. The United States will be the chief factor in doing so. Your auto proved to be a necessity, instead of a luxury, yet its cost to maintain. Your plumbing will prove a necessity and costs you practically nothing to maintain. A last word—take notice of the number of steps your wife makes each day carrying fresh water and also the waste-water. The total will surprise you.

Come around and talk it over with us.

KANSAS CITY STOCK MARKET.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Oct. 29.—Cattle receipts were 20,000 head, steers weak to 10 lower, best here $13, cows strong, stockers and feeders strong to 25 higher. Hogs today 6000, market 10 to 20 higher, top $16.00. Sheep and lambs today 7000, market steady, lambs to killers $16.90.

Beef Cattle

Beef cattle advanced steadily last week, closing 50 cents higher for the week, cow sales up 75 cents frequently a string of 14 cars of cows arriving from New Mexico late Saturday selling in the afternoon of that day at $5.50 for canners and $7.50 for good cows. Ordinarily these would have been held for today. Some Kansas grazed steers sold at $13, others downwards to $9.50, a good many cattle back at noon. No good natives were included in the early arrivals. Colorado beef steers sell at $9 to $11, cows $7.25 to $9.00. Buyers demanded concessions on steers today because receipts at other markets were heavy. A drove of Panhandle canners sold at $5.85, medium cows at $6.75, bulls in this shipment, $7, good Panhandle cows worth $8, best native cows $10, veal calves $10 to $13.50.

Stockers and Feeders

In spite of the embargo against shipping stockers and feeders a good many of these classes arrived and there was a good market for them. Panhandle yearlings sold around $9.50 plain native yearlings $7.85. Fourteen loads of Herefords of not a very good kind weighing 700lb brought $8.25, and good Herefords weighing 875lb brought $10.25. Panhandle yearlings sold Saturday at $9.75, 650 pounds average. Illinois and Iowa want weighty steers to consume soft corn, and paid up to $12 last week.

Hogs

Light hogs sold 20 higher frequently and the top was 10 higher, both medium and heavy weights selling at up to $16.60, best light weights $16.25, bulk of sales $15.50 to $16.50, pigs $14.25 to $15. There appears to be good strength for the moment, but lower prices are expected as receipts increase, and some shippers are content to talk about hogs at 12 cents after the first of the year. However, the run is light at all points today, and there was no material increase in supplies anywhere last week.

Sheep and Lambs

Five cars of Colorado lambs sold at $16.90 to killers, the best here, other Westerns at $16.75, plain natives $16.35, a steady market. Feeding lambs sell at $16.50 to $16.75 in most cases, choice Westerns worth around $17. Breeding ewes are in fair supply, are much lower than a short time ago, and it is a good chance to buy.

Useful aged ewes sell at $10.50 to $12, ewes three to five years old up to $14, choice yearling ewes not much lower than formerly, up to $17.

AMERICANS' HELMETS DENTED BY SHRAPNEL

With the American Army in France, Oct. 30.—The Americans in the trenches and in gun pits in France saw the sun for the first time today since taking their places in the line. The weather was clear and cold and a frost covered the hills during the night.

The favorable conditions gave the gunners a better opportunity to do shooting, the observers being able to spot the targets and shots.

The Germans also took advantage of the conditions, but the firing on both sides was more or less sporadic. Some of the American shells burst over the enemy trench positions. A few German projectiles exploded near the American positions, sprinkling fragments, but doing no serious damage. However, more than one American soldier was able to show dents in his shrapnel helmet. The condition of the first wounded American arriving at the base hospital is excellent.

The infantry and artillery took advantage of the sunshine to dry their soaking clothing. Notwithstanding the bad weather conditions of the last few days, there is no report of a single case of sickness resulting from this cause. The perfect physical condition of the men is declared to be responsible for this.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN

Number Two

Jimmie Collins Tells What He Saw—
What Military Training Does for Boys.

"Well, here we are!" exclaimed Billie, presenting his chum, Jimmie Collins.

"Very glad to see you, Mr. Collins," said Uncle Dan with a smile.

"Aw," said Billie, "Just call him Jimmie. That's the only name he knows. He's the pitcher of our baseball nine, and he's some pitcher, too. Just feel of his arm."

"Well," said Uncle Dan, feeling, "That's a mighty good arm!"

"Now, boys," said Uncle Dan, "what do you want to talk about?"

"Well," said Jimmie, "I was down to Galesburg a few months ago when the boys came home from the Mexican border. They looked fine. Everybody was surprised to see how straight they stood and how manly they were. The boys seemed proud to wear the uniform. I tell you their muscles were as hard as nails. I heard Banker Haskett say that the training and discipline the boys had had was exactly what every boy in the country ought to have, and that now these boys could get a better job at higher pay than they could have had before. Do you think that's so, Uncle Dan?"

Uncle Dan replied: "I have a friend who employs hundreds of young men. He always gives boys having had military training the preference; he says it pays to do so. He finds they are more alert, more prompt, more courteous; they know how to carry out orders; they are quicker to think and to act than those without training. He said from his experience he believed that six or eight months of intensive military training would add at least 20 per cent to a man's

AFTER FIVE MONTHS.

The two pictures are of the same young man. The first was taken the day he enlisted and the second after he had had five months' military training. His home is in North Carolina.

earning capacity, and that it was the best investment any young man could make.

"Billie, if you will go up to my room and bring my small handbag, I will let you see two photographs of the same young man, showing what only five months of intensive training on the Mexican border did for him."

The bag was brought. Uncle Dan, showing the pictures, said: "Well, here they are. They tell their own story and it is a mighty interesting one. The young man, before training, has a discouraged look; he has seen but little of the world. There was very little in his surroundings to bring him out. When he joined the colors and Uncle Sam took him in charge, life for him took on a new meaning. He saw a chance to do something and be something. He woke up. His captain says he is twice the man he was when he joined the army. This may be one of the extreme cases," said Uncle Dan. "I can tell you, though, that war or no war, no one thing will do the young men of this nation so much good in so short a time as a few months of intensive military training. It fits a man to fight his own life battles in the business world as well as to defend his country and its flag."

"Nearly every civilized country gives its boys military training. It is compulsory. It is based upon the fact that it is the duty of everyone to help defend his country; and as war is now carried on, no one can do much unless he is trained. Also, the records show that the killed and wounded among untrained troops is nearly three times as great as it is with well-trained men who know how to fight and how to protect themselves. By this plan a nation has trained men to defend her and the individual is a stronger and better man for the training."

"If the Chamberlain Bill for Military Training is passed by congress, as it ought to be, the same thing would be done for millions of other young men throughout the land. Everybody ought to demand of his congressman and senators the passage of this bill."

"All right, sir, exclaimed Jimmie, we will see Judge Brownell, Mr. Haskett, and Professor Slocum, and get them busy."

AGENT KENNEDY SPRINGS A WORTHY MOVEMENT

Much interest was shown in the Donley County Exhibit at the Fair as many people in other sections of the State had gotten the idea that all the panhandle country was drouth-stricken. There appeared to be a universal belief that the word panhandle and dry weather always go together, but that idea is now a thing of the past with people who visited the agricultural displays at the Fair. I took occasion to inform them that farms in Donley County were producing sufficient crops to pay for the land this year, and that we would have sufficient feed for ourselves and plenty to spare for other counties in the dry districts. Just here it occurs to me that Donley County farmers could render a great service to some of the dry districts by donating from one to five bushels of maize and kaffir for planting purposes next spring. If 1000 farmers would donate 2 bushels each and on a set day bring or send it to Clarendon, I am sure that Judge O'Neill will gladly arrange for the distribution through the County Judge of some county needing it the most. True this will be a small item, but it will be a wonderful help to farmers needing good planting seed, and besides it will do us good and will return four-fold. Let's get busy and render this service to those needing help. Just write me a postal saying how much you will give and I will advise you when and where to bring your offering.

I want to call attention at this time to the fact that here are a good many acres of rolling farms in his county that need terracing, and as soon as your crop is gathered if you will advise me I will be very glad to do this work for you. A large number of farmers have already requested me to terrace their farms, and if you will let me know at once I can work more systematically and get a large amount of this work done before the holidays. The sooner the work is done the better it will be for you as winter rains and snows will establish your terrace more firmly and will also prevent the loss of the winter moisture. Don't put this matter off, but let me know at once.

Yours very truly,
L. A. Kennedy,
County Agent.

FOOD CONSERVATION WEEK

This is food conservation week all over the United States. The campaign has been well organized in Donley County and every housewife will probably be asked by one of the workers to sign the pledge card and accept the membership card which should be hung in the window and the kitchen card which is made up of suggestions offered by Mr. Hoover who is food Administrator of the United States Government.

The Government does not expect its people to deny themselves one particle of food that is necessary for their best health, but does ask that the waste of food be eliminated in so far as it is possible. The question of the value of food is not material at all in this campaign but it is a question of conserving our food supplies to the best of our ability in order that the armies of the Allies as well as our own together with the population of the devastated countries of Europe and the people in the neutral countries may have food at all to eat. Let everyone therefore do everything he can to conserve the food supply, thereby standing as the army behind the army at the front.

Presiding Elder A. W. Hall, Rev. J. W. Story, Pres. Geo. S. Sloyer of Clarendon College and Rev. R. V. Reavis went to Memphis the first of the week to attend the session of the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, convening at that place this week. All go with good reports and it is hoped by our people that all will be returned to their several charges in and around Clarendon.

Rev. G. S. Hardy, formerly of this place, but now of Sweetwater was here the first of the week visiting his son and looking after business interests before going to the annual meeting of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Church at Memphis, which convened Wednesday. Rev. Hardy is an old friend of this editor, and we were elated to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mayes made a trip to Hollis and Altus, Okla., last week making the trip in a car. Mr. Mayes has a farm near Hollis where the drouth was so bad. He only received $4.00 rent on the entire 160 acres.

News has been received that Capt. Simpson of Co. H, 142nd Texas Infantry had the misfortune to break his arm when he was thrown from his horse on the parade grounds recently.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hayter returned to their home in Archer County the first of the week after visiting at the homes of their sons, Silas and W. T. Hayter.

BRYAN SPEAKS AT HOUSTON

Houston, Texas, Oct. 29.—Fully 4,000 people listened to William Jennings Bryan for more than thirty minutes tonight in the city auditorium as he explained the necessity for food conservation and how the United States must save sufficient food products to assist in feeding its allies. Mr. Bryan accompanied by his wife, reached Houston at 9:30 o'clock from New Orleans on a late train, and during the delay the crowd listened to E. A. Peden, state food administrator; Colonel Jake Welters and Congressman Joe H. Eagle.

Mr. Bryan was introduced by Colonel Thomas H. Ball, who lost no time in presenting the speaker to the audience as "a friend to all humanity." Mr. Bryan began by explaining that when Mr. Hoover asked him where he would be on the opening day of food conservation week he found that he could stop off in Houston for his only speech in the state. "I am glad that I by accident was thrown in Houston tonight, for I have been here many times before by design," said Mr. Bryan. The crowd received this compliment with much applause.

"We are now entering the biggest war the world has ever known," said the speaker, "and this war is costing more than all the world wars put together. No president has had to bear the burdens now on President Wilson's shoulders, and no congress has ever had to solve the weighty problems presented to our present congress. About 1,000,000 of our young men are now being trained to take their places in the battle line, and they will soon be sent to offer their lives to make the world safe for democracy."

"Under the present circumstances surely we at home can do our part by supporting the government in every way required, willingly loan our money and render the many services now possible. No loan we can possibly make to the government is equal to that of offering of life. On this day I want to remind the people that it has been said that food will win the war, and I believe that it is true. We must first feed soldiers and then feed ourselves, and save enough to feed the allies."

"This is a time of co-operation, and Herbert Hoover is now at work bringing about this co-operation and coordination that is absolutely necessary. We must increase those who are producing. Mr. Hoover is appealing to the boys and girls of the nation, and they are responding by joining the corn, canning, pig and other kinds of clubs. They are doing their part. We must produce more pork, and I suggest that American cities for the time of the war repeal their ordinances forbidding pigs in the city limits. Allow city dwellers to keep pigs in the city under regulations formulated by the city health departments."

"We are told that in one year's time people of this nation waste food valued at $700,000,000. This will go a long way toward furnishing the allies with what they need. We must conserve our wheat, and use corn, rice and other cereals. Our allies know all about wheat, but they can not use corn and rice to the same advantage that we can."

"Then we have been allowing $145,000,000 worth of food products to go into the manufacture of liquor each year. The government has stopped one-third of this waste by closing the distilleries, but they let the breweries live. I can not understand this. The breweries and the distilleries have been partners for years in this manual waste of food products, and just why one-third of the wastage should be killed and the other two-thirds allowed to live is a problem to me. They should have been allowed to die together, as they have lived and prospered."

E. A. Peden,
Federal Food Administrator for Texas

LETTER FROM DONLEY COUNTY BOY IN FRANCE.

We reproduce below a letter from Lieut. Paul Dunkle, of the U. S. Artillery, who left here some few weeks ago to join his company at an eastern port from which he sailed for France. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Dunkle of Lelia Lake and is a fine specimen of manhood. Read the letter:

Sept. 28th, 1917.

Dear Folks:

I don't know whether my letter, written in Halifax, was ever mailed or not. The authorities are so everlasting close-mouthed about everything that one can never tell just what's going on or what's in store for us. We do not even know for what port we are headed, although many of us are able to make reasonable guesses. This happened to be my seventh day out of Halifax and still we are probably many days from shore. I am starting this letter ahead of time in order that I can mail it immediately after landing. I wish that it were possible for me to fully explain everything, but there is so much that will not pass the censor.

We have had several days of rough weather and the boat at times has rocked very freely, however my stomach has maintained the proper equilibrium and I have escaped the terrible sea sickness that so many of the boys have had to endure. I am not going to brag just now, however, for fear that we may still have some shaky weather that will work the "props" from under me. I attribute my safe keeping thus far to the fact that I have been feeling unusually well, with the exception of a slight cold.

I have stayed on deck a great deal in the fresh cold air, which greatly sharpened my appetite. There hasn't been a single day out of the 16 that I have been at sea, that heavy woolen underwear and an overcoat failed to be comfortable. Our ship is a large one and well equipped for safety and comfortableness of the many American officers on board. The state-rooms are clean and well equipped, although somewhat small for the real comfort of 4 big men. The food is exceptionally good as you will notice by the day's menu which I am sending. Plenty of reading material aids materially the flight of time but since I am a land dog and a clod-hopper at that the bewitching waves of the deep blue sea keep me gazing over the "landscape" with my chin in my hands and my elbow resting on the railing. Often I find myself in the stern of the boat, watching the beautiful sun set and dreaming of what might have been had I had have stayed in dear old America, and then again my heart pounds with joy in the feeling that I am serving the Stars and Stripes in a great war for a worthy cause. I didn't feel this quite so much as I did the afternoon we left the beautiful harbor at Halifax and while the many transports with their convoy and human cargo passed the English battleships in harbor, and also the city on the water's edge near the neck of the harbor. Everything was a wild and joyous "God be with you on the other side." People stood on house tops and waved, bands played the "Star Spangled Banner," and horns and whistles hooted. Much different from our New York "Farewell" because very few knew when we left.

We entered the war zone sometime last night, but so far no excitement has happened except a little target practice with the 4 and 6 inch guns mounted on some of the transports. Some of the boys have taken the precaution of sleeping in their clothes and even some have passed the last few nights on deck. So far I haven't felt any apprehensions for my safety. As one of the precautions, we are made to carry our life belts with us wherever we go.

September 30: It is said that we are now about 100 miles west of Ireland and will probably get into port sometime Monday night or Tuesday. We are in the home of the submarines, but thus far it seems that they have been afraid to show themselves and I don't blame them, for yesterday we met up with a large convoy made up of American and English destroyers. You can well imagine our delight when we saw them approaching on the horizon. Worried looks turned to smiles and everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

I am getting anxious to again set foot on "terra firma" as this broad expanse of blue water is becoming very monotonous. I never would make a good sailor.

October 2: Just arrived in a port in the old country without a scratch. Will write you more later. Am also going to send cablegram. Let me know if you get it. Must mail this on boat before leaving. Lots of love, Paul.

SONE-ANTHONY

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season occurred last Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock, at the lovely residence of C. L. Sone and wife, who gave in marriage their daughter, Miss Allie, to Mr. Ross Anthony, of Clarendon.

This wedding was the culmination of "Cupid's wiles," which began in an acquaintance formed several years ago at Clarendon College. It was not expected to thus terminate so soon, however, as Mr. Anthony decided to render his services, as a soldier, to his country, and the uncertain future brought about by the war conditions, caused the happy couple to reverse their ideas and to feel that the opportune time was "now."

There were only a few neighbors and friends present to witness the important event.

Amidst the hush and solemnity of the hour, Rev. W. M. Pope pronounced the sacred words which made them man and wife.

The bride was becomingly gowned in pure white messaline. In her arms she carried a lovely bouquet of roses, and the folds of the bride's veil fell gracefully from her head to the bottom of her skirt. Orange buds adorned her hair and altogether the bride presented a fair specimen of sweet girlhood. The groom was dignified and handsome in the conventional black.

Just before the bridal party entered the parlor, Miss May Belle Tisdale sweetly sang "I love You Truly."

To the soft low notes of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Miss Mary Grundy, the bride and groom entered the parlor.

After the ceremony, congratulations and good wishes were in order, and after this the intervening time was spent in pleasant conversation and in listening to sweet music.

That the scene might be more indelibly impressed on the minds of the friends who would be left behind, several different pictures were taken of the bride and groom.

The kind mother, assisted by friends, served delicious plate refreshments.

The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young lady. She has made her home at this place for the past three years. Last year she was the popular teacher of the third grade in our public school, and was again honored by being elected to that position for 1917-18. During her residence here she has made many friends, who love her for her real worth.

The groom is a young man of exemplary life. He has lived long at Clarendon, and he is a teacher of rare ability. He is well known at this place, as he taught a successful term of school near here last year. He is now in the employ of our government and is stationed at Camp Travis, near San Antonio.

The bridal party, consisting of C. L. Sone and family, Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Pope, Mr. and Mrs. McSpadden and Misses Anna McSpadden, Mary Grundy, Celeste Ellis, Nell West, and May Belle Tisdale, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Anthony to the depot, where a large number of the other friends and acquaintances of the town had gathered.

Amid a tremendous shower of rice, the happy couple boarded the 5:30 north bound Santa Fe for Amarillo, Dallas, Houston and other points of interest, before reaching their final destination, Camp Travis, San Antonio.

The best wishes of their many friends at this place go with them, for a long and happy life.—Tulia Herald.

ACT QUICKLY.

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Clarendon evidence of their worth.

I. W. Carhart, Third and Jefferson streets, Clarendon, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have always found them fine for lameness across the loins and other signs of kidney trouble. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at McKillop's Drug Store, for uric acid in the system, rheumatic pains and bladder trouble."

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER Mr. Carhart said: "I haven't had to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I endorsed them before. I think just as highly of them now as ever."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Carhart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Y. M. C. A. KEEPS THE HOME FIRES BURNING

THIS COUNTY WILL TAKE PART IN STATE CAMPAIGN FOR $400,000 WAR WORK FUND.

Texas War Work Council Organized Will Send Executive Secretary Here for Campaign.

To keep the home fires burning in the hearts of the 100,000 American troops in France during the long, cold winter that faces them in the trenches and to preserve the high moral and social life of the 1,700,000 men under the colors at home, the Young Men's Christian Associations of America are raising a national war work fund of $35,000,000.

This County to Aid.

Texas has agreed to give $400,000 to this amount, and this county has been asked to do its part in the campaign.

At an organization meeting of the Texas War Work Council in Dallas recently, at which practically every county in the state was represented, the following men were named as members, with Rhodes S. Baker as chairman, and L. A. Coulter of Dallas, as state campaign director: H. H. Simmons, Hillsboro; R. E. Burt, Houston; E. R. Brown, Dallas; W. C. Paige, Houston; W. S. Mosher, Dallas; C. A. Nichols, Georgetown; James Kapp, San Antonio, and J. P. Milligan, Fort Worth.

A district executive secretary will be sent to this county in the interest of the campaign which will start Nov. 11 and continue through Nov. 19.

Keep Home Fires Burning.

Millions of soldiers each month thank God for the friendly Y. M. C. A. centers as a relief from the hard cold life of the camps and trenches. But it takes millions of dollars to continue and to extend this vital home touch—to keep these home ties from breaking.

$35,000,000 Apportioned.

It is proposed to distribute the $35,000,000 to be raised as follows: For work with U. S. army and navy men in this country, $11,120,000; for work with U. S. army and navy men overseas, $11,994,000; for Y. M. C. A. work in the Russian army, $3,305,000; for Y. M. C. A. work in the French army, $2,649,000; for Y. M. C. A. work in the Italian army, $1,000,000; for work among prisoners of war, $1,000,000; for extension work, $3,932,000.

SOLDIER BOYS REGARD Y. M. C. A. AS GODSEND

PROVIDES SUBSTITUTES FOR HOME LIFE—GOOD CHEER, SOCIABILITY, CLEAN LIVING.

Texas Boy Says Can't Resist Writing Mother and Home Folks With Materials Furnished.

One of the most humanizing organized activities of war time is the work of the Y. M. C. A. in army training camps, in prison camps and in camps behind the firing line. Wherever your boy and the other boys may be sent that big organization will be close beside them with its tonic atmosphere of good cheer, sociability and clean living.

Can't Resist Writing Home.

Any one of the 75,000 Texas boys in the cantonments, or any one of the "Sammlies" in France, would tell you the same thing this Texas boy wrote to his folks at home:

"I feel as if you ought to know something of the work of this lifesaver—the Y. M. C. A. Since the 'Y' shack was opened, the Mess bar and Bill's place are pretty well deserted. If you have loved ones at home, you just can't resist the open ink bottles and the pens and paper. It makes you ashamed to think that your loved ones than you are. It hands you out religion in doses a man can take. It tightens up the halter that gets loose when a man gets away from home. Who says? I don't know, but whoever it is, God bless them. They are the fathers of thousands of boys."

Look to Y. M. C. A.

President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of Navy Daniels are looking to the Association to afford them wholesome recreation, opportunity for study, substitutes for home life and manifold other comforts and necessities. The Y. M. C. A. program is designed to do just this thing for our boys from the time they enlist right up to the firing line—for they must die clean or come back straight if the yearnings of hundreds of thousands of homes are to be realized. To provide these few touches of home, whatever be the money cost of doing so, is in reality an insignificant service compared to the sacrifice these men are making for us.

Texas to Help Generously.

Texas is expected to give more than the $400,000 allotted as her share of the $35,000,000 national Y. M. C. A. war work fund to be raised in the campaign from Nov. 11 to Nov. 19.

MAGNOLIA MAN GAINED 22 POUNDS

"Tanlac Ended My Troubles Of Ten Years Standing," Says E. O. Johnson.

One of the most noteworthy features in connection with the sale of Tanlac throughout the South is the large number of letters from well known men and women telling of the benefits they have derived from its use.

Among the number recently received none are more interesting and remarkable than the one from E. O. Johnson, Magnolia, La., which was written to Saenger Brothers, wholesale and retail druggists, Shreveport, and which reached the Tanlac office through the kindness of this well known firm. Mr. Johnson's letter follows below just as it was written.

Magnolia, Ark. Jan. 22, 1917.

Saenger Brothers, Shreveport, La., Dear Sirs:

"If you will look you will see where I ordered six bottles of Tanlac from you last fall to Soropta, La., I ordered four bottles for myself and two for my friend and I want to write and tell what it has done for me.

"I want to tell you that Tanlac is the most wonderful medicine in the world, for I bothered with stomach trouble for ten years, and got so I could hardly eat anything at all but what my stomach would hurt. I would swell up and my heart would bother me so bad I would think I was going to smother to death. I just had to quit eating supper at all, for if I did eat anything for supper I could not sleep any at all and I fell off until I weighed only one hundred and twenty pounds.

"I read the advertisements of Tanlac in the papers but as I had taken so much medicine without it doing me any good that I did not have any faith in it, but I finally decided to try it. So, I ordered four bottles and went to taking it and now I am sound and well and can eat anything I want to and can sleep all night long without any trouble. And I now weigh one hundred and forty-two pounds, a clear gain of twenty-two pounds on four bottles. Can you beat it? Yes I am sure there is no medicine in the world like Tanlac.

Respectfully yours, E. O. Johnson, Magnolia, Ark., Route 3. Tanlac is sold in Clarendon by Stocking's Store, in Hedley by J. F. Tomlinson Drug Co., and in Jericho by O. C. Brown.

BRICE DOTS.

On February 8th, 1840, there was born, somewhere in Germany, little Dora Engle. After spending her early girl-hood there, at the age of thirteen she immigrated to America with her parents.

She was married to Mr. Kemp. To this marriage was born twelve children, nine of whom are still living. All of them having large families, of highly respected children, all of whom were present when Grandma Kemp was summoned to come up higher.

On October 28th, she was called to go into the Great Beyond from which no traveller returneth. She is not dead—her works and life will always, to the end of time rest a sweet benediction on the large circle of relatives and friends.

Let each of us exemplify her life—that we like her, can say, "Dear Lord take me as I am when the end of this life shall come."

At an early period in life she joined the Missionary Baptist Church and ever lived a consecrated Christian. Always striving to do the Master's will and thus she left us perfectly resigned to his sweet will.

Her two grandsons from Camp Bowie, Baylis Williams and Jack Biggerstaff, in full uniform acted as honorary pall bearers when she was quietly laid to rest at Claude, Texas, to await the coming of the Savior again.
