

Work Projects Progressing In WPA District 14

Airport, Charity Institutions Are Included In Program For Area

Designed to care for the needs of the county's aged indigent, two cottages and a dormitory, joint projects of Brown county and the WPA, are rapidly being constructed on a tract of county-owned land in northeast Brownwood. Fifty men are busy on the project, which was started December 7.

Brownwood will have a municipal airport as modern as any in the state when work is completed on three runways, 300 feet in length, and running in the direction of the prevailing winds. The project was resumed on December 10 after having been delayed for several months. City officials anticipate construction of hangars and other equipment after the runways are completed. WPA representatives, aiding in the project, estimate that work will be completed by early spring on the runways.

Other WPA projects being operated at the present time or which are to be started in the near future include construction of a 10-mile caliche surfaced road between Owens and May through Holder. The work will employ 140 men and will start the latter part of January.

In order to prevent recurrence of another flood like that of October 6, 1930, which inundated the entire business district of the city of Brady and resulted in losses estimated at $3,000,000, the city of Brady, with the cooperation of the WPA, has built a flood wall approximately a mile long. The project will be completed this month. The wall varies in height from one to fifteen feet, and is constructed from native rock.

Other projects sponsored by Brady include deepening and widening the channel of Brady creek, and several blocks of asphalt street paving. The street project, to start the first of January, will employ 80 men.

Extension of paving on Commercial Avenue in Coleman will be resumed in January by WPA workers. Approximately 46 blocks have already been paved in Coleman through WPA cooperation.

Surfacing of an all-weather farm to market road between Eola and Pafford in Concho county will start in January.

A 200-foot span bridge of reinforced concrete across the Llano river in Mason county will make connections complete on a new all-weather road recently constructed in that county.

Construction of a concrete low-water bridge in northwest Mason county will begin the middle of January.

Modern Woodmen Elect Officers At Last Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Bayou Camp, Modern Woodmen of America, Thursday night, new officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year. Installation of the officers will be held in January.

New officials are as follows: H. T. Powers, consul; C. A. Hays, adviser; Sam L. Head, banker; R. D. Edwards, escort; M. F. Flowers, past consul; Elbert Chambers, watchman; Roy Vaughn, sentry; Mrs. M. J. Flowers, and Rance Pettit, trustees. Appointment of A. D. Murphy as secretary was made from the head office of the order.

Bundle Babies in Cellophane

When babies at the Memphis, Tenn., Baptist hospital go "calling," they are bundled in a cellophane taily-ho and trundled out before fond parents and friends. The taily-ho is a wheeled rack with an eight-baby capacity. Each infant has a compartment, cellophane-covered, to prevent infection. Above a nurse has just placed a baby in its berth in the vehicle.

BISHOP H. A. BOAZ WILL SPEAK HERE AT CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Sunday evening at 7:30 the congregation of the First Methodist Church will celebrate the Christmas season with special services.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, president of the Annual Conference and one of the outstanding preachers of the Southwest is to be the preacher for the occasion.

The First Methodist Choir, under the direction of Miss Mavis Douglas has prepared a program of special Christmas music and will render a concert just before the Bishop preaches.

Bishop Boaz, who is well known in Brownwood has contributed in a large measure to the development of the Southern Methodist Church in the State of Texas. He was for many years president of Polytechnic College which is now Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth. More than any other single person he was instrumental in the founding of Southern Methodist University at Dallas. He was at first vice-president of that institution and later became President, from which position he was elevated to the episcopacy.

Bishop Boaz is one of the most influential and active of the members of the College of Bishops. His Episcopal area is one of the largest in area and membership in the whole connection, including three Texas conferences and all of New Mexico and Colorado as well as the Texas Mexican Mission Conference. Brownwood enjoys an unusual privilege in securing the Bishop for this occasion.

OLD AGE MEETING

The Old Age Assistance group of Brown county will meet Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the court house, it was announced this week.

SECRETARY APPROVES GENERAL PLANS FOR 1937 FARM PROGRAM

General plans for the 1937 Agricultural Conservation program have been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture after conferences of representative farmers and Extension staff members had gone over the 1936 work and suggested needed changes.

Cotton and wheat, peanuts and rice, the crops listed as soil-depleting in which Texas is most interested, have been subject to very few changes in the revision.

Cotton is again rated at five cents a pound and the base will be determined in about the same manner as in 1936 but with provision for adjustments such as those indicated by measurements made in 1936. The maximum cotton acreage upon which payments will be made for soil-conserving crops is 35 per cent of the base.

Peanuts have a 15 per cent limit and a 1.25 cent per pound payment. Rice has a 20 cents per hundred pounds payment which will be conditioned on carrying out certain practices or growing certain specified soil-conserving crops or both. Reduction from general soil-depleting base will be approximately the same; with the 15 per cent limit still applying.

County Group to Govern No farm will be eligible to earn a payment for diversion from the soil-depleting base except upon approval of the County Conservation Committee. This approval must include the fact that home consumption needs of the farm are taken care of before any diversion of acreage is made.

Each state will have a handbook giving details of the program as they apply to that state with no reference to exceptions applicable to other states. This will enormously simplify the administration of the program. The handbook will be prepared by the State Conservation Committee and approved by the Secretary of Agriculture.

In issuing the new program Secretary Wallace said, "Despite drought and other handicaps, the majority of farmers who took part in the 1936 conservation program approved its principles. Hundreds of community and county meetings were held at which the growers discussed plans for next year. Many suggestions for program improvement and for simplifying administration were made. We considered all of them carefully and incorporated as many of them as could be well fitted into a national program for agriculture."

"The modifications are intended, for the most part, to adapt the program more closely to the needs of the various regions. As you will recall, this is in line with the statement made by H. R. Tolley at the time the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program was announced."

Soil Building Stressed "For the 1937 program, additional emphasis has been placed on soil building and more money will be available for soil building practices. Such practices, together with the shifting of acreage to soil-conserving crops on land previously devoted to soil-depleting crops, are essential to any sound plan for restoring soil fertility and preventing erosion."

"The new program should not only improve the soil but it also should protect the interests of consumers and help to preserve the economic gains which farmers have made during the past four years."

"The fact that funds for the 1937 program are not yet available should be pointed out. The Congress, at the time the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act was passed in 1935, authorized an annual appropriation of $500,000,000 for carrying out a program under the Act. The actual appropriation for 1937 remains to be made, however. The program we have drafted, therefore, is dependent upon the action of Congress."

SOIL CONSERVATION ASSOCIATION NOT TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

The meeting of the Brown County Soil Conservation Association scheduled for Saturday, December 19, has been postponed until a later date. It was announced this week by O. J. Orton, secretary of the association and technician in charge of soil conservation work in Brownwood CCC camp. Announcement of the new date for the meeting will be made later.

The postponement was caused by a meeting of the technical staff of the SCS, to be held on the same date at the Dublin camp.

SPANISH WAR VETS HOLD SESSION HERE

Addresses by John L. Cramer of Dallas, commander of the Department of Texas United Spanish War Veterans and other state officials, and a turkey dinner were principal features at a meeting Sunday attended by more than 60 Spanish War Veterans, Joe Wheeler Camp.

Included in the group were veterans from Comanche, Dublin, Goldthwaite, San Saba, Richland Springs, Voss and Brownwood.

Others who addressed the assembly were State Senior Vice-Commander Arnold E. Deats of Austin; State Junior Vice-Commander R. L. Vaughn of Beaumont; C. P. Kitchen, Brownwood, immediate past; State Commander; Mrs. Cramer and Mrs. Kitchen.

John M. Dennis, local camp commander, presided. Ben W. Jones, commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Chapter, was introduced and extended greetings from his organization.

New Camp and auxiliary officers were elected at a business meeting which climaxed the convention. I. S. Gingrich was named commander, J. L. Thomas, senior vice-commander, and Wade Mercer, of Comanche, junior vice-commander. E. F. Skeritt was appointed adjutant and Geo. B. Savage was appointed quartermaster. Other officers will be appointed at the next meeting of the camp on January 10.

Auxiliary officers are as follows: Mrs. Geo. B. Savage, president; Mrs. I. S. Gingrich, senior vice-president; Mrs. J. P. Bohlin, junior vice-president; and Mrs. C. P. Kitchen, historian. Mrs. Bohlin is also secretary of the organization.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY MARKET BRINGS 13 CENTS IN BROWNWOOD

Turkey growers for the Brownwood market received 13 cents per pound top price on the Christmas market, which closed December 12. Cooperators with the Southwestern Poultry Association were advanced ten cents per pound when the 38 carloads of dressed birds were shipped to northern markets.

Checks totaling $59,123.91 covering the remaining three cents on each pound are being made with this week and will probably be ready for distribution by Saturday, December 19 or the following Monday, according to Mrs. Lila Salyer, manager of the Association.

The Association's new year pool opened December 16, but the present market is light since most growers sold nearly all their turkeys on the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets. Although the market price increased from eleven cents at one time during the season to the present thirteen cents the price is unusually low this year. Larger scale turkey raising in the northern and eastern states is credited with the lower markets in the south.

Lions Entertain At Ladies Night Program Tuesday

Lions club members entertained with a ladies' night party in Hotel Brownwood Tuesday night. J. R. Stalcup served as toastmaster for the affair, which was attended by approximately 50 guests.

It was announced during the meeting that plans have been completed for the community Christmas tree banquet to be held in the Memorial hall next Tuesday evening, December 22, beginning at 6:30. The event, sponsored each year, is for children of the city.

Abalone shells are used in manufacture of toilet articles and novelty jewelry.

Ethiopian Lads Turn Fascist

FRIENDLY, SHY, PUGILISTIC--BUT 45 CHILDREN ARE HAPPIER AND HEALTHIER IN WPA NURSERY

Some are shy, some are friendly, others are hostile—but it would be a safe guess that everyone of the 45 children enrolled in the WPA nursery school, sponsored by the American Legion, on Melwood Avenue, is a happier, healthier person than he was before he started to school.

One could almost see through some of the tots' little bones, so thin and undernourished were they before they were enrolled. But such is not the case today! The biggest per cent of them are chubby, husky youngsters, full of fun, and unfortunately for some, fight also.

Little Quita, aged two, is so shy that she cries when a stranger approaches her. Then Vivian, aged four, her sister, runs to her side, no matter where she might be, and quiets the child's tears.

"Quita tiene las lagrimas," she explains apologetically. All the children are daily given a quantity of milk. According to Mrs. Annie Riggs, who presides in the spotless kitchen where wholesome meals are cooked each day, most of the children as might be expected, rebelled against milk the first few days of their enrollment. But that was because so many of them weren't used to it, she thinks. But now they all drink it and enjoy it. The same circumstances were experienced with spinach.

A typical noon lunch menu, prepared by Mrs. Riggs, is as follows: liver loaf, peas and carrots, buttered beets, stewed apples with whipped cream, whole wheat toast and milk.

The children daily go through the following routine: 8:30-9, arrival and inspection; 9:10-15, outdoor play; 10:15-11:15, indoor play; 11:15-11:45, music, games, stories; 11:45-12, rest period; 12-1, lunch; 1-2:30, naps; 2:30-3, milk and crackers; 2:30, depart.

Each child shows a gain in weight of from two to five pounds since attending the school. Officials in charge give credit to daily doses of cod liver oil, taken with fruit juices, and wholesome meals.

All the tots are looking forward to their very own Christmas party, which Santa Claus himself will attend. Staff of the school includes Mrs. Meiba Johnson, head teacher; Miss

CREWS WINS TROPHY IN FAST TOURNAMENT AT BUFFALO SATURDAY

Buffalo, prosperous farming community in eastern Coleman county, was host Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Third Annual Invitation Basketball Tournament held in the school gymnasium. Thirty-six teams from 8 counties battled for trophies.

A band of fast-breaking ball carriers from Crews, in Rannels county, carried off the boys' trophy when they defeated Carbon in the final game Saturday night before a record crowd of 1,100 that filled the big gymnasium to capacity. The final score gave Crews, 39, Carbon 15. Although the games were hotly contested, no excessive penalties marred the playing.

In the girls' division, the strong team from Cross Cut went down to defeat before the last-half onslaught of the Buffalo girls. At the half the score was knotted 17 all, but as the Buffalo forwards shelled the basket in the last half, a stubborn Cross Cut defense wilted and Buffalo went ahead to win 32-17.

Defense Rests In Beckham Case Thurs. Morning

Accused Contends He He Was Not Looking For Slain Man On Day Of Shooting

The defense rested its case Thursday morning after Beckham was called to the stand and testified as to his feelings toward Raymond Thompson, with whose murder he was charged. Beckham stated that he was "mad" at Thompson for beating his daughter, Louise, and thought he was due an explanation from him.

He contended that he was not looking for Thompson at the time of the shooting, but was looking for his son, Rudolph. He further stated that he did not desire to see Thompson until his anger cooled.

Toi G. Beckham, 66-year-old Zephyr cafe owner on trial in 35th district court for his life for the fatal shooting of young Raymond Thompson, also of Zephyr, pleaded that he fired the shot "because I thought my life was in danger" when he took the witness stand in his own behalf Wednesday morning. Beckham took the stand at 11 a. m.

Testimony of Luke Kimmons, formerly deputy sheriff at Zephyr, concerning a fight in Beckham's cafe in Zephyr, was heard. Kimmons said he, Donner Thompson and Raymond Thompson, who were

FIRST ANNUAL POULTRY, EGG SHOW AT MAY DRAWS WIDE ATTENTION, HEAVY COMPETITION IN AREA; F. F. A. PLANS NEXT YEAR'S EVENT

The first Annual Poultry, Turkey and Egg Show, sponsored by the May Chapter of Future Farmers of America at May on Saturday, December 12, was declared a great success by the visitors as well as participants. All 60 coops prepared by the Chapter were filled and some pens had to be doubled.

Plans are already being made for the show next year, and an even more successful event is anticipated. According to FFA members at May, large numbers of people are already asking for hen house specifications, proper feeding rations, where to obtain good stock and many other questions pertaining to next year's exhibit.

The May chapter sponsored a community fair in the fall and is now making plans for a livestock show to be held in the early spring. All interested farmers are urged to help make the show a success.

STUFFINGS ARE IMPORTANT ON HOLIDAYS

Recipes for a Few Favorites Given by Well Known Home Economist

In many homes, the stuffing is considered only a little less important than the meat itself for the holiday dinner, because there is so much sentiment connected with it that it is chosen for this occasion. But what is the proper kind of stuffing?

A new Englander, without a doubt, would choose a moist but not soggy bread dressing with plenty of minced onion and poultry seasoning for flavor. An Englishman would require sage for seasoning, and plenty of it. A southerner would insist that rice, rather than bread, should form the basis of the stuffing. And so it goes! Here are some favorite holiday stuffings suggested by Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Sausage Stuffing
 1/2 pound bulk sausage
 4 tablespoons grated onion
 4 tablespoons chopped parsley
 2 cups bread crumbs
 Salt and pepper
 Meat broth or water

Fry the sausage with the onion and parsley, stirring constantly until the meat is cooked enough so it separates into particles. Add the bread crumbs and seasonings, and enough liquid to make a moist dressing.

Apple and Raisin Stuffing

(For pork shoulder or crown).
 2 slices salt pork diced
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 1 cup dry bread crumbs
 1/4 cup chopped parsley
 5 tart apples diced
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup seedless raisins
 Salt and pepper

Fry the pork until crisp, then add the diced apples. Sprinkle them with sugar, cover and allow to cook slowly until the apples are tender. Add the chopped celery, onion, bread crumbs and raisins. Season with salt and pepper. Pack into crown roast of pork. Lay bacon slices over the top and roast in a slow oven until the pork is done.

Rice Stuffing

(For Pork or Lamb)
 4 slices bacon
 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1 cup white or brown rice
 1/2 cup cooked mushroom pieces
 1 small green pepper, diced
 Salt and pepper

Cook the rice in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and remove excess starch by letting cold water run over it. Dice the bacon and brown this, together with the chopped onion. Add celery, rice mushroom pieces and green pepper. Pile lightly into cavity and let roast with the meat.

Speeded Cranberry Stuffing

(For pork shoulder or crown)
 2 cups ground (uncooked) cranberries
 2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
 1 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 Cold water

Sweeten cranberries and combine with bread crumbs. Add spices and baking powder, and mix well. Add enough cold water to moisten and pack lightly into cavity in pork shoulder or crown. Roast meat as usual.

Swiss Steak Is Man's Favorite

Whether the Swiss steak itself or the rich brown gravy served with it is more popular with the men-folk, together they are an invincible combination, enough to change any grocer to a grin.

The round of beef, cut at least one inch thick, is the usual choice for a Swiss steak, although there is no reason that a thick chuck steak could not be cooked by the same method with equally satisfactory results. Flour may be panned into the steak if desired. Then it is browned in hot lard, a small amount of liquid added, the pan covered tightly, and baked in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until done.

It may be necessary to add more liquid, but if so, add only a small amount at a time, as this allows the meat to brown and makes the gravy even better.

PREPARE NOW TO LOOK BEST AT CHRISTMAS

BY ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

This is the season when everyone who has a beauty problem is anxious to solve it BEFORE the holidays.

"I want my hips and waistline to be inches smaller when I buy a Christmas party dress."

Well, it's not a simple gift you have picked to give yourself. There is no easy way to lose weight. You must eliminate from your diet a good many things that you love to eat. Rich pastries, fried and starchy foods, for example. Substitute fresh and stewed fruits, crisp salads and fresh vegetables.

Also you must exercise, vigorously and regularly. Take a long, brisk walk every day. Map out a routine of reducing exercises, especially designed to take inches from waistline and hips, then do them! Finish each exercise session with a brisk massage of waist and thighs. Of course, this is going to take time, and it isn't going to be much fun; but, if you really want to be slimmer by Christmas, you will have to sacrifice food and leisure.

"I want a beautiful coiffure for a New Year's dance."

That's not as easy as it sounds, either. Your favorite hairdresser can't do your hair up in breath-takingly lovely swirls and curls if you present him hair that is dry and dull or oily and stringy. Begin immediately to give your hair a hot oil treatment once a week and to brush oftener and longer. See that it is healthy and glossy before you make an appointment for a new permanent, trim and hairstyle.

"I want to wake Christmas morning with clear, smooth skin."

You can, too. But you must walk at least a mile a day, sleep regularly, eat sensibly and take your cleansing routines more seriously. Many a skin looks dull and faded simply because it isn't cleansed properly. Next to cleansing, adequate sleep is of paramount importance. Average eight hours a night from now until Christmas and, unless there is something organically wrong (in which case you should see a doctor), your skin will be much lovelier.

U. S. FACES FUTURE AS COUNTRY OF THE AGED

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

Because of an observation by Dr. Louis I. Dupplin, insurance company executive, that the decreasing fecundity of American women has alarmed students of population trends, a great many people have jumped to the conclusion that there'd be a time when we will be a nation of old people, on pensions, without sufficient progeny to contribute appropriately.

According to Dr. Dupplin, by 1980, unless new forces increase the birth rate, 36 per cent of the population of the United States will be more than 50 years old.

At present births exceed deaths by 700,000 a year. When we consider that, as Dr. Dupplin says, the population now includes "an unnaturally large number of women of child bearing age, resulting from the fecundity of prior generations," the population is not increasing in just proportions. He warns of the sharp decline in birth rate, and the increase in death rate that must follow inevitably. Since the marriage rate remains high and young people marry earlier than they did 50 years ago, there is understandable perplexity as to why families are growing smaller.

Poor Keep Up Birth Rate

We are familiar with the fact that those whose standards of living and whose heritage are finest are hesitant about childbearing and rearing when they cannot give their children all comforts. We know that the poor have the most children. Considering the fact that the tenements sleep them three four or half a dozen in a bed, while one wealthy and exclusive apartment house in New York tenants are reputed to have 200 dogs and only two children it isn't hard to substantiate the fact that the most fertile areas from a population standpoint, as Dr. Dupplin says, are the poorest economic spots.

There is another reason, too, one which interests every woman and every man who wants a family. So long as one out of 175 women bearing children die in childbirth, the birthrate will stay down. Fear holds back other women from undergoing such a risk.

This problem can be remedied so easily, with proper prenatal care. It is here where America has failed. Two out of every three women who die in childbirth could be saved. If expectant mothers and their husbands would insist that they be placed under medical care and abide by normal, health-bringing rules, the dangers of child-bearing would be so far lessened that motherhood would lose its inherent terror.

Mortality Must Be Curbed

Whether or not birth control has been influential in keeping down the birth rate is a much discussed question. It has little to do with the larger issue. Certainly education should be given concerning the preventability of maternal deaths. Children should be spaced. In this way, a woman who has not yet recovered sufficiently from bearing a child to give birth to another one, will be spared. She will grow strong and able to give birth several more times.

If we would increase our population, we must look first to the conditions surrounding childbirth. When women are so protected and aided during the time prior to delivery, when two out of three who now die are saved—and the third death is in not wise due to external conditions, physicians say—women will be fearless. They will have children.

Maternal mortality presents a problem that must be solved if we would rear sons and daughters to carry on the proud heritage of our nation. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service Inc.)

Easy—When You Know the Trick

Here is one for jigsaw picture puzzle fans to try out as a starter for their winter season. The smile belongs to Eve Evans, but those legs she is holding belong to someone else, proving that it takes more of a contortionist to figure out the trick than it does to illustrate it. The conspiracy was plotted on the sands at Tampa Bay, Fla.

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING GOOD? EGGPLANT IS TREAT FOR WINTER DINNERS

By NEA Service
 Eggplant makes a good winter treat. It combines richly with many meats and adds considerably to menus that are threatened with dullness.

Lamb and Eggplant

(For 6 Servings)
 One small eggplant, 1 pound ground raw lamb from shoulder, 1 onion, 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, salt and pepper to taste.

Select a firm eggplant. Peel. Cut into small pieces. Mix with ground lamb shoulder. Chop onion fine and add to mixture with green pepper and seasoning. Grease casserole and fill with mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 1/2 hours.

Eggplant Stuffed With Corn and Ham

(For 4 to 6 servings)
 One medium eggplant, 1-3 cup tomato sauce, 1/3 cup minced can-corn, 1/4 cup minced ham, 1 tablespoon butter, salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

Cut eggplant in half. Boil in salted water until tender. Then drain and take out all insides. Chop this pulp and mix with corn, tomato sauce, ham and butter and seasoning. Fill the scooped out halves and dust top with bread-crumbs. Then place upright in pan and bake in hot oven until the crumbs are browned. That's a dish.

Chestnuts make another variation on the theme of winter vegetables. This is a French idea and will please any good American family.

Vegetable Stew with Chestnuts

(For 6 servings)
 One pound chestnuts, 3 carrots, 1 turnip, 2 potatoes, 3 large cabbage leaves, 1 large stalk celery, Seasoning.

Parboil the chestnuts after shelling. Remove brown inner skin. Cut each chestnut in half. Cut the carrots into long thin slices, the turnip and potatoes into pieces as long as possible, shred the cabbage and slice the celery into long sticks. Mix all together with the chestnuts and simmer together in a little beef stock until tender. Arrange in hot shallow dish. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve with a broiled steak.

New Ladies' Store To Open Business Before Holidays

The LaMode store, exclusive ladies' popular price store, will open in Brownwood on Center avenue in the location formerly occupied by Henry Rosenberg's store Friday.

The store will feature dresses, coats, suits, millinery, hosiery, underwear, shoes and will operate with the newest merchandise at the lowest possible prices, states Albert Garbaty, formerly of Fort Worth, who will be manager of the establishment. Daily shipments of latest styles from New York will comprise the stock of the store.

Garbaty has been in the retail business for the last ten years, operating stores in Fort Worth, New Orleans, and Houston. He is familiar with all details of the New York markets and is able to secure the latest merchandise at all times. A complete stock of new spring merchandise will be a feature of the store's opening, as well as a large variety of holiday gifts.

Interior of the store has been remodeled, making it one of the most modern in the city. Corbals are animals.

TEXAS CONFERENCE PLACES WEDEMAN, FLETCHER, JACKETS, AND S. HOWARD, HILL BILLY, ON ALL-STAR ELEVEN

Official All-Texas Conference eleven for the 1936 football season was selected at the semi-annual meeting of the conference in Dallas the past week, the selections being made by pooling all opponents (conference clubs) teams named by conference members. Those honored will receive gold footballs.

Although Austin College finished fourth in the 1936 Texas Conference campaign, the Kangaroos led in men selected for the mythical Conference eleven, having placed three men. Two backs, Ab Pruitt, full back, and Cameron Harris, half back, and Maurice Harper, their 200-pound senior center.

Howard Payne, 1936 champions, and McMurry, third place winner, placed two each on the all-conference team. Daniel Baker, runner-up in 1936, and three other schools, placed one each on the star team. St. Edwards was the only club that failed to place.

Bob Anthony of McMurry, Skipper Howard of Daniel Baker, Mule Stockton of McMurry, Clovis Fletcher and Houston Wedeman of Howard Payne were unanimous choices for positions on the team.

The complete and official team is as follows: Center—Maurice Harper, Austin College.

Guards—Clovis Fletcher, Howard Payne, Waiton Simmons, Southwestern.

Tackles—Mule Stockton, McMurry, Pete Cole, Trinity.

Ends—H. Wedeman, Howard Payne, Frank Parker, Abilene Christian.

DEDICATION HELD FOR FARM CENTER IN FREDERICKSBURG

Fredericksburg added to its reputation as one of the most progressive and prosperous farming sections of the state Saturday when it dedicated its Agriculture Building, a structure of tile and brick built at an expense of $13,400 to the WPA and Gillespie county.

The building will be the center for all agricultural meetings in the county, and also contains the offices of the county agent and county home demonstration agent. Also situated in the new structure are a laboratory, well-equipped for various demonstrations of interest to farm folk, a library and a large auditorium with stage and dressing rooms.

"Agriculture is the keystone of prosperity in Gillespie county," said County Judge J. B. Weiser in the main address of the dedication. Judge Weiser spoke after having been presented with the keys to the building by District Director Karl E. Wallace, of the WPA.

Brief addresses were also made by C. W. Hardin, regional WPA representative from New Orleans; S. S. Tucker, director of the finance and statistics department of the state WPA office located in San Antonio; Maurine Hearn, district home demonstration agent; C. B.

WPA Conference, Banquet Will Be Held on Saturday

All project supervisors and time-keepers in WPA employ in District 14 will meet at Hotel Brownwood Saturday for a district-wide conference. About 100 are expected to attend the meeting.

The meeting will be climaxed Saturday night with the annual Christmas Banquet for all WPA employes, to be held at the hotel. Congressman Charles L. South of Coleman will be principal speaker at the event.

It is estimated that Great Britain receives an average of about 22 billion tons of water annually in the form of dew.

Boles, district county agent from A. & M. College; and H. D. Biersch-wale, area supervisor of vocational agriculture.

The building, the only one of its type in the state of Texas, was built according to plans and specifications of A. & M. college, and college officials are well pleased with the work done, it was stated.

BUY YOUR CHRISTMAS PRESENT ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN

What can be a finer present of lasting value than improvement to that home? A new sun porch, a new roof, a new porch, a new built-in Kitchen Cabinet, new windows, new doors, new floors, a new paint job inside and outside, new wallpaper and, yes, plumbing fixtures and electrical wiring. All this can be done under the Weyerhaeuser Title One loan plan, which we handle. It will pay for these improvements and you needn't be out one cent for labor or materials of any kind because this loan will care for it all. Cheap money for this work, too. It costs you a 5 per cent discount charge and you pay the loan back in small monthly payments which care for the principal, reduction and discount charge. Furthermore, you do not create a mortgage against your property. Consult us about this method of buying a fine Christmas present for your loved ones. Hurry it up, too, if you have it in mind, for unless Congress acts to continue the FHA insurance feature the Federal Housing Act (under which these loans are made) will expire April 1st. Three and one half months to go to do that needed work.

Our new Spring patterns of Bluebonnet Wall Paper will be here by Christmas. Thirty-five distinctive new patterns to add to our present stock and others to follow. Prices on Wall Paper, like everything else, is advancing in price, but thus far, we are able to maintain most of our old prices but will be forced to increase the price on all new stocks of merchandise to meet the increasing costs. Now is the time to secure a fine Christmas gift at a substantial saving to you and pay for it in monthly payments.

We sell that good Bluebonnet Wall Paper, Blue Ribbon Paint, all types of insulation boards, Certigrade Red Cedar Shingles, and all other types of building materials of quality grade. See "Red" or "Glen" before you buy — they'll save you money.

Mrs. Mallow was for fifty years a resident of Blanket. She was born March 25, 1845, and was the widow of W. A. Mallow, who preceded her in death 26 years ago.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. J. F. Milner of Blanket and Mrs. L. C. Sadler of San Antonio. Twelve grandchildren and six great-grandchildren also survive.

SOIL EROSION MUST BE CHECKED BY WORK ON EVERY WATERSHED

Stressing the fact that cooperation of all agricultural workers and organizations will be necessary to reach the ultimate goal of success desired in the national program of soil and water conservation, Louis P. Merrill of Ft. Worth, Regional Conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in an address before the annual Agricultural Conference for the Southwestern States in Texarkana last week, sounded a ringing warning to agricultural workers and farmers that the challenge of soil erosion must be met if the Southwest would keep its place in the agricultural sun.

"In this country there are approximately 510,000,000 acres of tilled or tillable land," Mr. Merrill said. "About three-fourths of it has already been affected in some degree by erosion or is susceptible to erosion when used in a manner which does not provide protection from rain and wind."

Work Too Isolated
"While much good has already been accomplished in the Soil Conservation Service project and camp areas, it is evident that the problem of erosion control cannot be solved entirely by work in more or less isolated areas. For the problem to be adequately dealt with, all the erodible land in every watershed must be brought under some form of erosion control. Information and direction of activity by technically trained soil conservationists must be made available to all of those farm owners or operators who are now outside of project or camp areas if we are to finally arrive at the desired goal of having all the land in any given watershed or watersheds under a coordinated erosion control program."

"Some headway in this direction has been made by the spread of erosion control practices to numerous individual farms as a result of field work done by various agricultural agencies," Mr. Merrill said. "While none can deny the value of this work, I am confident we all agree this is a slow process that can hardly be expected to overcome in a national or statewide way the ever-increasing rate of soil erosion."

Cooperative Plan
Giving one indication of the possible trend of soil and water conservation work in the future, Mr. Merrill said, "It appears that the best way to get at the problem effectively and rapidly would be to work out a cooperative plan of operation which would be sponsored jointly by national, state and local governments, in cooperation with land owners and operators, and put into effect on a complete watershed basis. Such an approach, I feel sure, would be practical and workable once it had the wholehearted support of such representative groups as is gathered here tonight."

Speaking of the work of the Soil Conservation Service in Region 4, which is composed of the states of Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, except the high plains area, Mr. Merrill pointed out that from the standpoint of field activities that the Service is concerned with that control of rainfall which would reduce, (a) runoff, (b) erosion of agricultural and grazing lands, (c) covering of fertile valley lands with comparatively unproductive erosional debris, and (d) the filling of stream channels, reservoirs and ditches with the products of erosion. Such control has an important direct effect toward reducing the volume of water entering the streams, thus minimizing the hazards of floods, he stated.

"The desired control," he continued, "is secured by the retirement of excessively erodible land from cultivation, the practical use of various adaptations of thick growing vegetation, the use of engineering structures and mechanical procedures where applicable, and the use of soil conserving cultural practices."

Dr. Sleeper Accepts Call To Presbyterian

Rev. Julian S. Sleeper, supply pastor for the past few months at First Presbyterian Church in Brownwood, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Batesville, Arkansas Presbyterian church.

Dr. Sleeper was for more than 10 years pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Texarkana, but had been temporarily retired the last year because of ill health. He and his family have been in Brownwood on an extended visit with Mrs. Sleeper's parents, Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Chandler.

Dr. Sleeper will assume the pastorate in Arkansas the first Sunday in January.

LAKE ROAD PAVING NEARS COMPLETION

The highway to Lake Brownwood, which has been under construction as a WPA project since early summer, will be completed Thursday night it was announced, and immediately opened to traffic. Last of the asphalt was being poured Thursday afternoon.

The road, in Commissioner H. I. Stapp's precinct has been completely paved from the city limits to the Walton Park on the south side of Lake Brownwood, near the dam.

Football in the Southwest has made one very definite and laudible contribution to the betterment of the country the development of splendid school bands, and making a show-loving people band-conscious. Without football games at which to display their wares, the bands would have progressed more slowly, and certainly would not have been the colorful, spectacular units we have come to associate with up and coming schools.

The school band has reached its greatest perfection in the Southwest. In the East and on the West Coast, the appearance of a Southwestern college football team is hailed as much because of the musical units accompanying the football players as for the team itself. This was evidenced last week when San Francisco citizens wired Fort Worth authorities asking that the T. C. U. band be sent to the West Coast with the football team for the Santa Clara game. When S. M. U. played Fordham in New York, the band got as much attention on the field and in the press as did the Mustang team. The band is an essential part of a football game when a Southwestern college or high school game is to be played.

And it is a good thing. Nothing stirs enthusiasm like band music. No other form of music approaches it in universal appeal and understanding. Possibly no other form of music education is so easily attained or so useful to the individual when mastered. Brownwood has been particularly fortunate during the past years in the splendid bands which the local schools have developed. The appearance of the uniformed bands has contributed to many occasions. They are a credit to the institutions they represent and to the city. The introduction of band music into the public school curriculum was a wise move. Put us down as committed to more and better bands.

Only those who have followed the sad record of the relations between the United States and the governments of the countries to the south can really appreciate the epochal change that President Roosevelt has brought to the inter-American scene." So wrote David Lawrence—one of the President's severest critics so far as domestic policy is concerned—in the United States News of November 30.

About all the average citizen knows about U. S. foreign policy as related to the other countries in this hemisphere is that it is governed by something celebrated and vague called the Monroe Doctrine. Probably not one citizen in fifty could accurately tell you what the Monroe Doctrine provides. And probably not one citizen in a hundred realizes that the Doctrine has been virtually a dead letter for several years and, as well, has caused a vast amount of unfriendly feeling toward this country in the Republics of the south.

Briefly and roughly described, the Monroe Doctrine meant that the United States would not permit any European government to take over territory in Latin America—that the U. S. would act as a "Big Brother" in protecting Latin American territorial rights as well as its own. This seemed fair enough—but the Doctrine had not been in effect for long before discord arose. More than a century ago, Brazil requested that the doctrine, in David Lawrence's words, "be made international, that it become a sort of offensive and defensive alliances in which all Latin countries should join with the United States in keeping European armies and navies out of this part of the world."

That request was refused, as were similar requests made periodically in later years. Consequently, the Latin Republics came to feel, rightly or wrongly, that the U. S. was taking advantage of the Doctrine to rule their countries. This feeling was strengthened by sending U. S. Marines south whenever trouble appeared in a Latin American nation.

There are no marines in Latin America now—and it seems doubtful if any will be sent there again. It is a curious fact that both Hoover and Roosevelt took the initiative in withdrawing the last of these agents of what Latin America considered "U. S. Imperialism." No longer does Washington take the position that it will back up any foreign ventures of American citizens with armed force is necessary. Our citizens now travel in Latin America at their own risk, and are subject to the laws of the countries where they go. Diplomacy will be used to help them in difficulties—but not force. In other words, their status is exactly the same as if traveling in England, France and other European countries.

What is the result of all of this? In the eyes of many American observers, the result will be a genuine feeling of friendliness for us on the part of the Republics to the south—and there are signs that such a feeling is now developing, though much suspicion remains. There is also the hope that dormant trade will be revived, and that by example the Western hemisphere will show the world how nations can live without war, setting differences by amicable conferences. Furthermore, it is hoped that treaties will be effected whereby European powers wishing war materials will find the raw material markets of North and South America—the greatest in the world—firmly closed to them.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech at the recent Pan-American conference is generally considered one of the best he has ever made—he handled a delicate task well. Credit for the ground-work is given to Secretary Hull, who has spent his public life working quietly for peace, and for better commercial and diplomatic relations between powers.

Last month the automobile shows were held throughout the country.

The new cars are more beautiful in design and finish than ever before. They offer much in the way of improvements and gadgets. Their power plants deliver staggering performance—you can push the throttle down and run up to the mechanics of your car are concerned.

However, the emphasis placed on speed has been productive of one of the gravest national "troubles" America has known—the growing accident toll. And the driver who thinks that seventy is safe because it seems as slow as thirty used to, should think again.

The new, super-performing cars are out. Maybe you are lucky enough to be able to buy one. Have a good time with it—but treat it with respect and remember that 36,000 that list.

Like fowls, various fishes, reptiles, crustaceans, insects, and other invertebrates have gizzards.

Don't say there is no Santa Claus I know there really is. I've walked and talked and sung with him, He's really quite a whiz! If blackest clouds should hide my sun And all my stars grow dim I know whose love could make them shine Should I but call to him.

Gals, did you ever know Santa Claus to come three weeks ahead of the "night before Christmas?" Did you know he doesn't have to wear a long white beard nor a red coat? Did you know he doesn't pay a speck of attention to whether your socks have runners in them or not when he goes to putting in the gifts? Well, well, I was afraid you didn't. That's because you don't know E. E. Kirkpatrick of Tulsa and Brownwood, Texas. I introduced him to you and proudly told you how he belongs to me just after he had written "Crime's Paradise," acclaimed as the most thrilling, moving drama of Oklahoma's most sensational crime, the Ur-schel kidnapping. But you're still seeing quite a bit of him if you're keeping up with Melvin Purvis in the Oklahoma. Well, you've heard of dream-makers, miracle-workers, and the like. E. E. or "Kirk" as he is called is the man who makes dreams come true. I told you I'd tell you all about it. But for the hundredth time since last week's Peep Show, I have realized what poor things words can be when you want to find the right ones.

You remember how the little boy climbed upon his magic carpet and saw the old and beautiful places that his heart had so longed for? Well, last Thursday morning, a much more beautiful carpet was spread for me leading back over twenty-two years. A beautiful, wonderful carpet that stretched back to Brownwood, Texas, where the sun spends the winter, where the tall spires of Old Daniel Baker, my alma mater, haunted a welcome that I could see from a far off; where the old house, wide flung and protecting still stands on 1111 Durham street, housing its loved ones, its treasures and its memories. There, too, I found that dear one, unchanged by the years and what they have brought her, who once found remnants in bargain basements, dyed cloth, gathered laces, putting in tiny stitches with weary hands that a little girl might be able to go to college. . . . found them all, those lovely persons, each holding a special place in my heart, the same useful splendid citizens. Unspiced and warm hearted as they were in the old days. Money has only been the means of helping somebody else, for them.

My only sister from Northeastern Kansas, had the same lucky star as myself and again we walked hand and hand over the old trails we once knew together. At dawn each morning we headed for the ranch. Not one of these two-by-four concerns you read about but a real Texas layout of 14,000 acres. A long low rambling ranch house overlooking a 210 acre lake was the gathering place of some thirty or forty relatives every day. We rode down trails bordered with thorn bush and chapparal, carpeted with the green and crimson filree. We shouted for joy as we greeted our old friends the waxen leaved algerita bushes, it had been so long since we had met them on a friendly trail, Mistletoe hung thick and inviting on every old mesquite. Even the prickly pear stepped back from the trail and refused to stick their thorns out lest they should prick the rosy hued bubble of happiness. Rounding up white faced herefords, cutting out the calves to be branded and dehorned did something to my heart that is unexplainable.

The camp fire holding in its heart the searing irons, the circle K's; the pens filled with bawling calves, sweating men and laughter as they bull-dogged the objecting animals; the smell of the wood smoke and white-hot irons on hair made me find again the little girl who had so often in the old days perched upon a rail corral and watched her own daddy and "the boys" enact this lively scene.

The call to "come and get it" was another joyous note in the day's symphony. Barbecued calf just at sundown. . . the smoke lazily drifting out to the lake from the barbecue pits. Great wedges of duck flying in from Canada to rest and take advantage of this southern hospitality and hold their rendezvous with peace and quiet.

After the song of the day's work was done and the barbecue over, there came the refrain—the soft lowing of the cows, their first night away from their calves, the answering echo from the calves, their energies expended yet drowsily responsive, then far away like a fall-selta voice cameounds on the trail of a fox. A few minutes more and we were at the chase. . . . sore muscles forgotten, the exciting and thrilling music of the hounds inciting us to hurry, to watch and be in at the finish. Low bending stars. . . a Texas moon floating high and dodging soft clouds and a silver streak flying past pursued by baying hounds is the picture I have of the hunt. . . I didn't know how to appreciate "The Voice of Bugle Ann" until now.

After the day's music there came the postlude. Back to the music room of the town house. . . soul stirring music of the long ago and far away, old college songs, songs our mothers sang, a heart's melody of memories. . . tears mingled with tears, hearts communed, laughter and loving entwining it all into a grand finale. . . To bed whispering exciting secrets and don't-you-remember. . . a low strumming a guitar with a serenading troubador. . . "Good night. . . good night beloved, I come to watch over thee." The song is ended but its melody lingers on. . .

ON TEXAS FARMS

BANDERA—In the course of a culling demonstration with the 125 hen flock of Mrs. John Langford of Bandera, 48 birds were removed as boarders, according to R. F. Hartman, agricultural agent of Bandera county. The 48 hens were placed in a pen and fed for six days before being sent to market and during this period layed a total of only four eggs.

EL PASO—J. W. McAllister of El Paso makes silage out of his alfalfa by adding 75 pounds of black strap molasses to each ton of silage. The resultant silage, according to W. S. Foster, agricultural agent of El Paso and Hudspeth counties, is of excellent quality. In the past McAllister has run the alfalfa through a chopper and added the molasses as the alfalfa leaves the machine, but he has found that he can put the legume into the silo without cutting and sprinkle the molasses, thinned with water, over the alfalfa as it is put in.

ROBERT LEE—Of the 19 men who observed a trench silo demonstration on the L. T. Youngblood farm in Coke county, 10 returned home to dig and fill trench silos on their own farms, according to H. E. Smith, agricultural agent. The Youngblood silo had a capacity of 240 tons and was filled with second growth hegart run through a silage cutter.

BRADY—"The first thing I did to my bedroom," reported Mrs. Aaron Dameron, bedroom demonstrator of the Lohm home demonstration club to Miss Jewell Patterson, home demonstration agent of McCulloch county, "was to build my wardrobe to the ceiling. "The old wardrobe lacked about 2 1/2 feet of reaching the ceiling," she continued, "and the top of this closet was used as a 'catch-all,' for it caught all the boxes, hats, and so on, that had to be put out of the way, but most of all it caught dust."

Mrs. Dameron saved boards of the length needed to reach the ceiling and built a door. Thus she converted the top of the closet into a good storage place for quilts. The planet Mercury has a year only 88 days long. Flesh-colored reflections are now given by tinted mirrors. Birds are sensitive to light changes. They awaken at the first break of dawn and nest at dusk. A New York barber advertises that he cuts hair according to a client's features. An automaton in a Northampton, Mass., barber shop delivers a can of worm-bait on insertion of a coin. Fishermen use the service so much that 10 children are paid to dig the worms. Insect life exists as high as four miles above the earth's surface. The Tennessee river flows twice across the state of Tennessee. The Bank of England commenced active operation on Jan. 1, 1695. The River Rhone is regarded as the swiftest river in the world, attaining a velocity of 40 miles an hour in certain parts of its course. Farmers raise 70 per cent of their own food. In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What were President Lamar's views with reference to relations with the Indians? G. D.

A. They were expressed as follows in his inaugural address: "The only means by which Indian hostilities can be brought to an end are the extinction or total expulsion of United States Indians who are domiciled in Texas."

Q. Did John W. Smith hold any other position in the Republic except that of Mayor of San Antonio? T. E. J.

A. He was elected to Congress from Texas and met with the Congress at Washington in January, 1844, but became suddenly ill there and died within a few days. He was buried in the little cemetery at Washington.

Q. Were the presidio of La Bahia and the Espiritu Santo mission established originally near the present town of Goliad? M. L. G.

A. Built by Marquis San Miguel de Aguayo in 1724 on the site of La Salle's old Fort St. Louis, they were removed to the valley above Victoria in 1725, and to the Goliad sites in 1749.

Q. What were "Turtle Bayou Resolutions"? T. W.

A. Resolutions adopted by Texans in 1832 declaring opposition to the policies of Bustamante, elected president of Mexico in 1830, and affirming allegiance to Santa Anna in his efforts to sustain the Mexican constitution of 1824 as it related to Texas.

Q. How old is the Menger Hotel at San Antonio? F. C.

A. It opened for business, January 31, 1859. The original building cost $16,000.00.

Q. How did San Antonio secure its Federal military post? J. W. M.

A. In 1870, the city council passed an ordinance donating 40 acres of land to the military for use as post and corral, following which the post was moved from Austin.

Q. Where did Larry Chittenden, the Texas poet, live? B. K.

A. He began ranching in Jones County in 1886 and wrote most of his poems there. He donated a great part of his unusual library to the Anson schools.

Q. When was Jackson county organized and who was its first presiding judge? H. J. K.

A. It was organized Dec. 20, 1836, with Patrick Usher, a San Jacinto soldier, as chief justice. It was named for Pres. Andrew Jackson, for whom the municipality of Jackson had previously been named.

Q. What is La Lomita Mission and where is its location? T. B. X.

A. It is a small chapel, recently restored, five miles south of the present town of Mission. The first chapel was built in 1845 by the Oblates of Mary Immaculate and was replaced by the present chapel about 1889-90. Its use was discontinued about ten years ago, some years after St. Peter's. No violation was built on a nearby hill overlooking La Lomita. The town of Mission was named for the old chapel.

Q. Who was Father Keralum? T. B. X.

A. A beloved Catholic priest, who disappeared from sight in 1872 while on his way from Brownsville to Roma. Ten years later his bones were found by cowboys, his saddle hanging from a mesquite tree, his belongings undisturbed. It is thought he died of illness. His remains were buried at Mercedes and his belongings placed in a case at Immaculate Conception in Brownsville.

Q. Where was Mound Prairie located? K. L.

A. Near the present town of Neches, Anderson County. It was an important trading point about 1848, and was the site of a machine shop that made guns for the Confederates during the Civil War.

Q. How much money has been appropriated for the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District? F. K. L.

A. President Roosevelt has approved an appropriation of $30,000,000, of which $3,001,598 has been made available for the Possum Kingdom Dam in Palo Pinto county, near Mineral Wells.

Boy Scout News

Troop No. 6 is making progress with their Troop Cabin as reported by Scoutmaster Bill Jessop. He says that they almost have the walls completed and that the boys are enthusiastic about finishing the project.

Troop No. 8 and Troop No. 5 of Brownwood have just been presented with their Ten Year Veteran Troop Charters. This signifies that the Troops have had ten years of continuous and active service.

Members of Troop No. 6, Eastland partook of a very delicious feast: several evenings ago, in the city park. This "feast" as the boys usually term it, was a turkey barbecue.

Last Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock Scouts of Troop No. 18, Breckenridge, met their Scoutmaster J. Raleigh Banes, in the First street building.

The Ebony school will dismiss for the Christmas holidays Friday and will resume again Monday, December 28.

Mrs. Hubert Reeves, teacher of the Ridge School, and Miss Bernice Wilmoth, teacher of the Ebony School, attended a teacher's meeting at Goldthwaite Tuesday night.

Little Betty Lou Crowder, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crowder, is very sick. She had to be taken to Brownwood for treatment Sunday.

We wish to thank the one who kept up the correspondence from Ebony in our absence. Her assistance would be appreciated any time. We wish that all would remember that the reporter is glad to get all the news items from the community.

THE TEMPERATURE TELLS

Quick roasting may mean economy in time, but it is actually an extravagance in both meat and fuel, say cookery experts of the state colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The two rib roasts above show the results of experiments which prove this point. They are attracting much interest at the International Live Stock Exposition being held in Chicago from November 25 to December 5.

The two roasts were both cooked to the rare stage of doneness. The roast on the right was cooked in a 450° F. oven; the one at the left at 250° F. The first roast lost 4 pounds; the second only 1 1/2 pounds. The ribs roasted at the low temperature were juicier, more uniformly done, and more attractive in appearance. It took more time in the oven at the low temperature, but 50 per cent less gas. A low temperature causes little or no spattering of the oven, such as takes place when the heat is turned on full blast. And so, on all counts, a low temperature in roasting is best.

DURING THE DUCKS

Each season an elder duck will produce about half a pound of elder down, but it must be tricked into doing so, says Samuel J. Beckwith, in "A Wayfarer in Norway." Artificial nests are placed in the rocks in the haunts of the bird, and there the ducks lay their eggs. As the eggs are systematically taken away, the bird continues to sit for long periods, all the time plucking the valuable down from her breast for the nest. Lokia is one of the centers for the elder down industry.

GAME MONDAY NIGHT BETWEEN BAYLOR, DANIEL BAKER TO USHER IN '37 SEASON OF BASKETBALL

Basketball, one of the most popular winter sports in this section of the country, will occupy the limelight of sport fans' attention until March 1, date of the final game of the season.

Opening Monday night with two games between Baylor University and Daniel Baker, Brownwood's two college basketball teams will be seen in action on their own courts at least 23 times between now and March 1.

Schedules for the 1937 season were arranged by Coaches Gene Taylor and McAdoo Keaton at the winter meeting of the Texas Conference in Dallas Friday and Saturday. A total of 46 basketball games were definitely scheduled by the two Brownwood coaches and at least two more between Howard Payne and John Tarleton will bring the total to 48.

Billies Have 28
The games Monday and Tuesday night between Baylor and Daniel Baker are the only games on the schedule before Christmas holidays.

The season will get underway in earnest in January.

Coach Taylor at Daniel Baker booked 28 games for his quintet of players, with 13 of the games to be played on home floor. Of the 18 games booked by Coach McAdoo Keaton, seven will be played at home.

Both the home teams have fairly bright prospects to equal their record of one-two in the conference last year. Howard Payne's team was hardest hit by graduation, but three lettermen, Red Reese, Glenn Knudson and Elbert Whitehead, will be on hand with their services. A few good sophomore prospects and a flock of first year men will augment the lettermen nucleus.

Schedules
The Billies lost only two games last season and have four regulars as a basis for this year's team. The four are Hubert Davenport, all-conference center and leading scorer of the circuit; Carl McCurdy, Charles Crane and Jake McCulley.

The complete 1937 basketball schedule for Daniel Baker and Howard Payne follows:

- Dec. 21-22—D. B. C. vs. Baylor in Brownwood.
- Jan. 6—D. B. C. vs. Texas Wesleyan in Brownwood.

DEFENSE RESTS

brothers, took part in the fight. The witness said he received a wound in his right temple during the altercation which he believed was caused by a knife.

Beckham told his story of the shooting. R. D. Woods, his son-in-law, who is under five years sentence in connection with the Thompson murder, came to his home late in the afternoon of June 30 and told him his daughter, Louise Beckham, had been beaten by Thompson. He left with Woods, taking his pistol, he said for protection, because he believed Thompson to be a "dangerous man."

To Mrs. Oliver's
Beckham said that he went to Woods' filling station and there talked to his daughter, who told him her head and side were hurting badly. They went to the car and passed the home of Charlie Thompson, Jr., and there saw Raymond Thompson and Tommy Fessler. Beckham said he told Woods to drive to the home of Mrs. May Oliver, his daughter. The defendant said he went around the Oliver house to see if anyone was at the rear. When he returned, another car had stopped in front of Woods' car and he saw a group of people a short distance down the road. The only one he recognized, he continued, was Mrs. Oliver.

As he walked to within a few feet of the group, Beckham said, Raymond Thompson and Tommy Fessler turned around facing him and he recognized them for the first time in the gathering darkness. "Raymond took a step toward me and said, 'What is it, Mr. Beckham?'" the defendant related. "I said, 'How come you beat my girl like you did?'" "Raymond took a step toward me and said, 'What are you going to do about it, you old —?'" and raised his right arm and I saw the gleam of a knife in his hand. Then I shot

Target of Public Clamor

(Radiophoto copyright 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

"Resign!" "Down with Baldwin!" "Boo-oo-oo-oo!" The clamor of disapproval assailed Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin whenever he was recognized in his dashes about London to confer on the "constitutional crisis". He's seen here leaving his car at No. 19 Downing Street to attend the cabinet meeting that decided not to rush King Edward's decision on abdication.

G-MAN LIFE NOT WITHOUT EMBARRASSMENT SAY LOCAL POLICE AFTER DARING CHASE

The life of a "G-Man" has its thrills—but members of the local police department are qualified to give another side of it.

Last week two Mexicans were convicted of shop lifting. Both were sentenced to $25 fine, to be worked out by hard labor, Tuesday morning the men were working on a gas line in the city and escaped, late in the morning.

"They'll probably be a headin' for Round Mountain," thought Police Chief James L. Sandlin. So Sandlin started a headin' for Round Mountain himself. His hunch was right. From a secluded place near the hills, he spotted two men, shabbily dressed and darting around in the brush. An immediate call to the police desk was followed by the arrival of C. S. Thigpen, assistant chief; T. P. Fields, traffic policeman; and Buck Keith, water superintendent who wanted a taste of the thrilling life of an officer of the law.

Hurriedly, the grim "laws" made their plans for capture. They were each to go separately around the mountain and close in upon the Mexicans, still delinquent in their debt to the city.

So running, stumbling, tearing their clothes and tripping in cactus which pierced their shoe leather, they closed in. Scratches or no scratches, duty is duty. "Halt, in the name of the law!" they blurted exhaustedly as they reached the two fugitives. And very mystified fugitives they were. But their mystification soon changed to disgust, for they decided that it had got to the point where two white, law abiding strangers to a town can't even look the place over without getting scared out of their wits by a bunch of men playing cops and robbers.

Two Mexican shop lifters are still at large, and the police department is worried because they didn't leave a forwarding address and they don't know where to send their mail.

Drive to Brownwood

Beckham said he then went back to the car and he and Woods drove to the filling station, got Louise and the three drove to Brownwood where he surrendered to Sheriff Jack Hallmark.

Fred Sullivan, thresher employe was the first witness called by the defense after the court had excluded testimony relative to a fight in which Thompson had participated. He was an eye witness to the shooting, saying Mr. Beckham approached Thompson and spoke to him.

Sullivan said Thompson mumbled an unintelligible reply to Beckham's challenge. Thompson's right hand was raised as high as his shoulder. Beckham being in front of Thompson and a few feet away. Beckham's left hand was on his chin, his right hand at his side. The defendant then brought his hands together and fired, and then Thompson walked a few feet and the second shot was fired. Sullivan said he was excited and ran away when the first shot was fired, then turned and started back when he saw the flash of the second shot in the darkness.

"Ball" Durham, center; Frank Coker, line captain; Scott Whitaker and Cullen Perry, tackles; Jake McCulley, Hubert Davenport, Joe Byrnes and Chubby Walford, ends; S. J. Howard and Charles Crane, co-backfield captains; Alvin Stanford, Preston Watson, Medford Conger, John Little and Jim Snodgrass, backs.

Eleven of the nineteen will be lost to the 1937 team. Those graduating this year are Trammel, Webb, Coker, Whitaker, Perry McCulley, Davenport, Howard, Crane, Conger and Little.

EXTENSIVE PROGRAM OF FARM REHABILITATION PLANNED BY R. S. A.

"Reports from all over the state and nation showed that rehabilitation activities have grown steadily in efficiency and in public favor," stated George O. Green, supervisor of rural rehabilitation in Brown County who returned from a state-wide conference of Resettlement employees held in Dallas.

Green pointed to the fact that land ownership is the final goal there are 286,000 tenant farmers in Texas alone, and providing land for these will require a program covering many years.

Most ambitious of all the plans yet suggested calls for an appropriation of fifty million dollars of federal funds each year, the supervisor declared. Texas' share would be around one thousand farms a year. Meanwhile, workers are busy helping the low-income tenant farmers to improve their present status.

Phrases of the projects designed to aid the tenant farmer include longer terms of leasing, in order that the tenant may become more closely attached to a specified piece of land, in the care and improvement of which he will take a personal interest. Another step, which has been taken in Texas for more than 32,000 tenant farmers, is to assist them in purchasing teams and tools.

Only the highest type of tenants are now being selected for purchase of farms, the supervisor said. Fifty have been selected for purchase of farms, out of 588 to be provided with farms under this year's allocations.

"These fifty nominees have been located on their present farms an average of six years, as compared with the fact that less than half of Texas' tenant farmers have been on their present farms more than one year," he said. These nominees have average net assets of $1,421, mostly in teams and tools. Their average age is 49 years, and the average family includes two or three children.

New State Auditor

Tom C. King of Dallas, who becomes state auditor, succeeding C. B. Sheffield December 1. King's appointment announced last week by Governor Allred is a promotion from the position of assistant state auditor. Prior to his connection with the auditor's office he was with the RPC in Washington.

King attended Vanderbilt and Tulane Universities and received his law degree at Washington University in St. Louis. He was admitted to the bar in Texas in 1927 and received his Certified Public Accountant certificate in November, 1931. He is a member of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and has resided in Washington University.

King's appointment was highly popular with capitol newsmen.

FOUR HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS PREPARE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP WAR

Amarillo, North Fort Worth, Kerrville, and Port Arthur—semi-finalists in the 17 Texas Interscholastic League football championship, dug their cleats in the sod and practiced winning plays this week for the last two weeks of the 1936 season. The above four are the only remaining teams in the race, all four having trounced opponents in games last Saturday for regional titles.

Amarillo, state champion for the past two years, is heavily favored to repeat their victories this year. The Golden Sandies, coached by Blair Cherry, added to their odds by scoring a smashing 46-12 victory over Abilene. The powerful thrusts of the Amarillo ball carriers cranked the Abilene defense wall repeatedly.

North Fort Worth, whose goal line has been crossed only twice by 11 opposing teams, displayed a jarring set of running plays, and drubbed Gainesville 31-0.

Kerrville, unbeaten eleven in the lower bracket, walloped Lufkin 31-

6 and exhibited a qualified candidate for all state honors in quarterback Holbrook.

In the closest game of the four, Port Arthur defeated Corpus Christi 17-7. The loss was the first of the year for Corpus Christi.

Three Have Perfect Records

Three of the four semi-finalists, Amarillo, North Fort Worth and Kerrville, have maintained undefeated records.

Amarillo has ripped through 12 opponents to emerge the champion of West Texas.

North Fort Worth has defeated the best teams of North and North-Central Texas.

Kerrville has built a perfect 11-game record defeated teams of Southwest, Central and East Texas.

Port Arthur, alone of the four, has been beaten. Port Arthur lost an inter-sectional game to Amarillo 21-10 early in the season, a game played against the strong Byrd high school of Shreveport ended in a scoreless tie.

In games Saturday, Amarillo, whose driving attack has scored 413 points, will play North Fort Worth, whose stout line has given up only 13 points.

In the south Kerrville will clash with Port Arthur on its home field. Kerrville will be seeking to maintain its unbeaten record and enter its first state finals. Port Arthur, twice a state finalist and once a co-sharer of the state championship, will be fighting for a third chance to bring South Texas its first state high school football crown.

The schedule: Amarillo vs. North Fort Worth in Amarillo Saturday. Kerrville vs. Port Arthur in Kerrville Saturday.

FFA Points Way To Better Farm Life, States Congressman

"As a result of the F. F. A. movement, farmers in a few years will be living in better homes, tilling better lands, raising better livestock and enjoying life to a greater extent," declared Congressman Chas. L. South, when he spoke at the annual banquet of the Brownwood chapter of the F. F. A. Thursday night.

Congressman South was honor guest at the banquet, which was held in the basement of the First Christian Church. More than 100 persons, including the F. F. A. members, their fathers and other guests attended the banquet.

Honorary F. F. A. memberships were conferred upon Senator E. M. Davis, J. R. Stalcup, C. F. Wesner, J. R. Shelton, Walter Emison, and Miss Colleen Pate, Chapter sweetheart.

Brief addresses were made by each honorary member and A. N. Thomason, Supt. E. J. Woodward, Clark Coursey, Dr. H. B. Allen, C. P. Barnes, R. C. Brooks, Henry Wilson, J. K. Wilkes and R. R. Holloway.

The local chapter has grown from a membership of 29 boys in 1932 to a membership of 78 at the present time, a fact pointed out by Charles Sheppard, member who outlined the history of the local chapter. Thomas Bynum explained the requirements of the Lone Star F. F. A. degree. J. M. Binion, chapter adviser, also spoke briefly.

Wilbur Smith gave guitar selections.

Invocation was pronounced by the Rev. D. A. Chisholm, pastor of the Central Methodist Church. Fred Abney, president of the chapter, was toastmaster and introduced speakers and other guests.

Senator E. M. Davis spoke to the chapter on "The Forgotten Commandment," which he said is "Six days shall ye labor."

Machine Gunners Wait Rebel Push

Back of the sandbag barricade in their machine gun post, soldiers of the Spanish loyalist army here are shown awaiting the onslaught of the rebel hosts smashing toward Madrid. Hundreds of posts of this kind encircled the capital, in the desperate stand made against the advancing forces of Gen. Francisco Franco.

HOWARD PAYNE WILL LOSE 12 LETTERMEN FOR NEXT SEASON

The Jackets will lose 12 of their 21 lettermen with graduation. Hardest hit of the positions will be the forward wall, with Vickers, Fletcher, Simmons, Crahe, Harlow, and Whitehead departing.

The four remaining line lettermen are Westerfield, at center, McDonald and Dandy at tackles, and Barbee at end. Five veteran backs will graduate, and five return. The senior backs are Marshall, Gene Sunderman, Miller, Nunnally and Thomas. Returning are Rodgers, Price, Wilson, Knudson, and Earl Sunderman.

Between 150 and 200 people were present at the banquet honoring the squad and coaches, and the senior members of the Brownwood High School team. Rev. James M. Bradford, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church, presided.

The program was informal, with short talks by Yantis Robnett, Bob Harlow, Ray Nunnally, Brooks Dozier, McAdoo Keaton, Nig McCarver, Dr. Jewell Daugherty and Bob Bettis. Motion pictures of the Howard Payne-Southwestern game were a highlighting feature of the evening's entertainment.
