

Nation Votes Tuesday; New Deal Is Issue

Texans Also Will Vote on Six Proposed Constitutional Amendments

Everything is in readiness for the general election next Tuesday, November 3, when the Nation will vote for a President and Vice President, and Texas will elect a full slate of officers, as well as ballot on six proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

Interest in the election has been more intense this year than in recent times. The attack upon President Roosevelt has been unusually bitter, and during the early summer months unusually effective. The campaign has been enlivened by the most intense campaign seen in many years, by both Democratic and Republican leaders, including the two major candidates.

With Texas secure in the Democratic column, efforts in this state have been devoted to getting out a big vote, and to raising funds for the party, to be used largely in doubtful States. Both Texas Senators, Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, and practically all members of Congress from Texas, have been called upon to speak for the Democratic ticket in doubtful states. Senator Connally particularly has been called upon to carry a heavy load, and has spoken in the Eastern States, in the Middle West and lately on the Pacific Coast. In addition, Attorney General William McCraw and Governor James V. Allred of Texas have made numerous campaign speeches in nearby states. Sam Rayburn, Texas congressman, is chairman of the speaker's bureau for the party.

New Deal At Stake
The national campaign has centered around attacks on and defense of the New Deal and the Roosevelt measures to curb the depression. Immediately after the nomination of Landon and Knox, there appeared to be a reaction against Roosevelt in many states, and for a time the outcome looked extremely doubtful. In the past few weeks, however, after the President began a speech making tour, the Democratic cause has looked more cheerful, and most observers now feel certain of a Democratic victory. Roosevelt apparently has the West Coast states, combined with the South, safe in the Democratic column. Republicans are conceded most of the New England States, with the Middle West including such large states as Illinois and Michigan, considered doubtful. If the conceded Democratic states are safe, Roosevelt needs only one or two of the large doubtful states to insure election.

The campaign has been featured by the large number of straw votes taken by various agencies. The most popular of these, taken by the Literary Digest, is the only one which predicts a Landon victory. All of the others have predicted a safe majority for Roosevelt. It should be remembered, however, that the Literary Digest has taken four or five polls of presidential campaigns, and in every instance has predicted the outcome with uncanny accuracy.

Also a feature of the campaign has been the defection of many prominent Democrats, who are actively supporting Governor Landon. Most prominent of these are Alfred E. Smith of New York, and John W. Davis, both of whom have in the past been Democratic candidates for the presidency. Other Democratic prominent supporters of Landon include Joseph B. Ely, former governor of Massachusetts, James A. Reed of Missouri, former United States Senator, and others. Republicans supporting President Roosevelt include Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin, Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace of the

Farmers Estimate '36 Peanut Yield At 55,000 Bushels

Production of 55,000 bushels of peanut on approximately 4,500 acres is the estimated Brown county crop for this year. Dry peanuts are selling for around 90 cents per bushel, while green peanuts are bringing 80 cents. Harvesting of the 1936 crop was greatly delayed by rains.

Proposed Amendments
The six proposed Constitutional Amendments upon which Texans must vote in the Tuesday election, in the order of their appearance on the ballot are:

1. A proposal to establish a State Liquor Monopoly, and have hard liquors sold directly by the State through its own package stores.
2. A plan to provide retirement pay not to exceed $180 a year, to public school teachers who have had 20 years service, half to be paid by the teachers and half by the State.
3. Allowing the State to provide workmen's compensation insurance for State employees.
4. Establishing a new board of pardons and removing the pardoning power from the Governor.
5. Increasing the salary of the Governor, the Attorney General, the Comptroller of Public Accounts, the State Treasurer, the Commissioners of the General Land Office and the Secretary of State.

LIVESTOCK GROUP TO HOLD MEETING; PLAN BEEF SHOW NOV. 4TH

A meeting of the members of the Brown County Livestock Improvement Association has been called by W. H. Simmons, President, for next Saturday October 31, at 2 o'clock at the Court House. The purpose of this meeting is to conduct a 4-H Baby Beef show Nov. 4th.

At this meeting a report on the plebe final arrangements for the held in the spring will be made and matters pertaining to the sale will be discussed.

Another important matter to be discussed will be the advisability of holding a feeder calf sale next fall.

"The Highland Feeder Association sold feeder calves to Illinois buyers ranging from 8 cents to 10 cents per pound," said County Agent C. W. Lehmburg. "Why did they get this fancy price for their calves? Because they cooperate and advertise. Brown County can do as well if our livestock producers give this matter as much thought and effort as the Marfa ranchmen."

Every one interested in the improvement of livestock is urged to attend the meeting Saturday at 2 p. m.

FT. WORTH TO SEND HUGE DELEGATION TO BROWNWOOD IN SPRING

Fort Worth will show its appreciation to Brownwood for its support of the Frontier Centennial by sending the largest delegation to the WTCC convention here next May that it has ever sent to a similar meeting, according to I. R. Lines, publicity representative of the Ft. Worth Chamber of Commerce.

Lines, who was in Brownwood Friday, stated that the Fort Worth club has set a goal of more than 1,000 persons to attend the May convention. Fort Worth is also planning to contribute talent for the convention program from the Casa Manana Revue, provided the proposal to re-open the show next spring is carried through.

TAX ROLL SUMMARY REVEALS COUNTY'S CITIZENS ARE DELINQUENT $266,126.62

Brown county citizens are delinquent $136,175.30 in county taxes; $62,261.40 in state taxes, and $67,658.92 in common school districts, according to a summary of county tax rolls recently completed by Tax Assessor-Collector Winston Palmer. The total amount does not include city, city schools and water district taxes.

The county's total taxable valuation is $13,617,530, while the total taxes by state valuation is $10,642,220. The difference in totals is caused by the state homestead exemption law, which went into effect in 1933.

A total of $10,148.25 has been assessed in poll taxes. Of that amount the county will receive $8,698.50, and the state $1,449.75.

Assessed valuation in Brown county had dropped $5,000,000,000 in the last five years. By years the assessed valuations were: 1930, $18,884,080; 1931, $16,358,435; 1932, $14,645,657; 1933, $13,955,854; 1934, $14,867,900; 1935, $13,788,685.

A summary of the rolls shows renditions in the county as follows:

GARNER URGES ALL TEXANS TO VOTE IN NOVEMBER 3 ELECTION

Breaking his usual campaign silence, Vice President John N. Garner this week directed a personal appeal to Texas Democrats for funds with which to carry on the Presidential campaign and for votes to give his home state an overwhelming victory.

Vice President Garner predicted President Roosevelt's re-election by a majority that "will satisfy the most enthusiastic Democrats." "What concerns me most is what Texas will do," he said. "We must maintain our fine Democratic record. To do that, we must raise our quota of $250,000 and see to it that every loyal Democrat goes to the polls and votes."

He expressed thanks to members of the campaign organization in Texas "for the fine and effective service they have already rendered," and urged them to continue their efforts until election day.

"If they will, I am sure the entire amount of our quota will be raised," he said. "I cannot help but feel that every loyal citizen will be glad to contribute if given the opportunity to do so. I ask our committeemen to give them that opportunity by contacting them personally."

Mr. Garner also pointed out the importance of Texas of the large Democratic vote, explaining that Texas hereafter "will be measured representation in National convention that vote."

"Every Democrat, therefore, should consider it a solemn duty to go to the polls," he said.

LOUISIANA MINISTER RECEIVES CALL FROM LOCAL PRESBYTERIANS

The Rev. S. E. McPadden, D. D., of Rustin, La., who visited the local First Presbyterian Church recently and preached twice, has been invited by members of the church to become its pastor. The invitation was extended Sunday morning after church members had met at the 11 o'clock worship hour with Rev. R. G. Davis as moderator.

Dr. McPadden has been pastor of the Louisiana church for the past 17 years, and is a leader in the Synod of that state.

Vincent McCormick, a referee of 1876, gives final instructions to Paul Brown, Pennsylvania captain with the pigskin under his arm, and George Kelliker, Princeton leader, before an old-time mock game celebrating the 60th anniversary of the football competition between the two institutions. The game was played on Franklin Field between halves of the 1936 edition of the real thing. Penn students composed both clubs.

Radio Hearing Is Set For Saturday

A hearing on the application of the Brownwood Broadcasting Company's application for a permit to establish a radio station in Brownwood will be held here Saturday October 31, it was announced by the Federal Communications Commission. Depositions will be taken to determine if public necessity and convenience require the establishment of the station.

H. F. Mayes, publisher of the Brownwood Bulletin, is head of the broadcasting company making the application.

BOARD OF CONTROL TO ADMINISTER NEW OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

The financial problems of Texas' aged seems a bit nearer solution this week as the third called session of the 44th Legislature adjourned after passing old age assistance legislation. The new legislation abolishes the Old Age Assistance commission, and places administration of the state social security measures with the Board of Control. Orville S. Carpenter, director of the old age commission, was recommended by about 100 members of the Legislature to continue as director of the new set-up.

While both the House of Representatives and the Senate passed the de-liberalization measure, designed to make old age assistance laws more stringent, there is some question as to whether material changes have been made. Study of the law by administrative officers will be necessary before it is determined just what changes are specified.

The new act says none shall receive aid but those in "necessitous condition." Guides to administration were given in a declaration of policy and elimination of the former property exclusions that prohibited payment to a person with $500 cash or property worth more than $5,000. By making those prohibitions the act indirectly authorized payment to any one with less than that amount of property or income.

The same general rules for age and residence are retained. There are clauses against aiding habitual criminals, habitual drunkards or inmates of state institutions.

Must Be Dependent
In addition the applicant must show self-support impossible and inability of a spouse to give support or absence of "other means of support."

If that showing is made this direction then is given:

"In determining the eligibility of an applicant for assistance under act, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to consider and take into account all facts and circumstances surrounding the applicants, including his earning capacity and his opportunity to obtain support from other sources, and if from all the facts and circumstances the applicant does not appear to be in a needy and necessitous condition, assistance shall be denied. In calculating income and resources of the applicant, the commission shall take into account all money received by gift, devise or descent.

Concurrent resolutions were adopted by House and Senate saying that in considering income, the bill meant "net" income and that in considering gifts there should not be included aid to support given by relative and friends.

The new measure will be financed by the "omnibus" tax measure passed earlier in the week.

COTTON MARKET LOWER; GINNINGS ARE HEAVY

The cotton market sagged perceptibly the early part of the week following the issuance of the government ginnings report, on Monday, October 26. The government bureau showed cotton ginned to October 18 as 8,567,675 as against 6,500,402 to corresponding date last season.

This was larger than the trades general expectation and caused the prices to ease off about 25 points, part of which was recovered however Wednesday, although the price is about ten points lower than at this time last week.

Less favorable trade news, also contributed to the depression of values. It is said that the cotton mills are holding back on purchases until after the election, and sales of cloth goods have fallen off and mills are withholding their orders for yarns to fill their requirements.

Exports of cotton this far this season are 1,507,026 vs. 1,301,461 to even date last year. Weeks takings by spinners, 392,900 vs. 394,000. For the season 2,945,000 bales against 2,700,000 bales last year. Cotton brought into sight for week 803,406 vs. 733,208. For season 6,020,841 vs. 5,570,656.

Weekly crop reports show temperatures subnormal in western half of belt with above normal prevailing in eastern states. Heavy rains occurred in most northern sections of belt from the river valley westward causing quite a lot of damage to staple, picking made good progress in Missouri Valley states while in Texas and Oklahoma picking is almost completed.

Rain in Brown county has held bringing of cotton to gins the past few days. It is estimated that the county has ginned about 4,000 sales to date with the probable total crop perhaps around 5,500 bales. Middling cotton in Brownwood is 11.75.

Work On Park Buildings At Lake Planned

Architects Complete Preliminary Work; Barracks Are Being Repaired

Construction work at Lake Brownwood State Park, reoccupied October 17 with a CCC company from Casper, Wyoming, will start within the next week or so, according to H. C. Cordell, acting superintendent for the National Park Service. N. H. Lee, superintendent, at present is on vacation leave, will return Monday, Mr. Cordell said, to take active charge of work at the park.

Meanwhile, National Park Service architects were in Brownwood drawing plans for a bathing beach and bath house. The bath house probably will be the first construction work undertaken. G. T. Patrick, architectural inspector for the NPS, drew the plans for the building, which will be sent to Austin and then to Washington for approval. Mr. Patrick left the first of the week, after spending two weeks here working on plans for the park.

J. T. Roberts, landscape inspector, has remained in Brownwood to complete landscaping plans. He also has been preparing a master plan for the Brownwood park, to include all proposed development. Included in this plan are the beach and bath house, caretaker's cottage, fishermen's barracks, revision of present cottages to include a bathroom in each, construction of storage docks for boats and a boat repair shop, additional cottages, a game warden's cottage and fish rearing ponds, a pecan tree planting project and remodeling the present club house into a concession building and pavilion. Other improvement probably will be suggested as the work progresses.

Meanwhile, the army is repairing and reconstructing the existing buildings at the camp for winter occupancy. The barracks are being lined and re-roofed and made more comfortable, and other improvements are being made. Major Throckmorton of Fort Worth, district commander of the CCC, together with members of his staff, inspected the work Tuesday and expressed satisfaction with progress being made. The work on the army buildings, for housing and feeding the enrollees, will be completed before park work is begun.

Facilitating buildings will be constructed during the next few weeks. These will include a garage to house the trucks and equipment, a blacksmith shop and an office for the National Park Service.

W. P. Ayres, inspector for this district, was in Brownwood Monday, to check up on progress of the work.

TOWNSEND TO SPEAK

Dr. Francis M. Townsend, old age pension advocate, will speak over the radio Sunday evening at 9:45, according to announcement made by G. J. Hutcheson, chairman of the Brown County Old Age Pension Club.

INTERNATIONAL PARK TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING IN EL PASO

Boundaries of the proposed Big Bend International Park, combining 750,000 acres in Texas with about 400,000 acres in the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila, will be discussed in El Paso November 8th and 9th at joint meetings of commissions appointed by the American and Mexican Governments.

Arno B. Cammerer, director of the National Park Service, will be there from Washington with Assistant Directors Conrad L. Wirth and G. A. Moskey to head the American delegation. The commission from Mexico will be under Daniel F. Galicia of the Department of Forestry, Game and Fish.

The international park would be formed by a bridge over the Rio Grande linking the proposed Big Bend National Park, the entire area of which would be in Brewster county, with a National Park the Mexican Government plans to establish in contiguous territory south of the river.

Boundaries the American Commission have tentatively adopted for the Texas park would provide entrances reached from Alpine and Marathon. From Alpine, it would be about eighty-five miles to a point in the boundary line through Paint Gap, in the Christmas Mountains, on a spur of the road that leads to Terlingua and Study Butte mining camps.

The approach from Marathon—about 10 miles—would enter the park through Persimmon Gap and Dog Canyon, in the Santiago Mountains. From there, the park line would go south to Boquillas, and west through Johnson's Ranch and Castellano to Lajitas; thence north and east to Paint Gap on through the Rosillos Mountains to tie in at Persimmon Gap.

This area would take in the entire range of the Chisos Mountains, together with the Santa Helena, Boquillas, and Mariscal Canyons.

Lucas Denies Charges By GOP Committee Concerning Soliciting

Charges by the Republican National Committee that H. G. Lucas, prominent agricultural leader of funds from county agents of Texas for the Democratic campaign were denied by Lucas last week, following publication of a United Press story from Washington on October 23.

In his statement, Lucas said letters soliciting funds had been mailed farmers by the "Farmers Roosevelt-Garner" committee, and that the Texas Agricultural Association, of which he is president, is in no way connected with any federal agency.

The newspaper story stated the committee charged that county agents are being "coerced and intimidated" into contributing to the Democratic fund.

Democrats of County Raise $500 for Fund

Brown county has raised approximately $500 for the National Democratic campaign, stated J. Edward Johnson in a brief address to the Young Democrats Club of this county at a rally last Thursday night. Congressman Charles L. South attended the meeting as guest speaker, and pointed to the fact that the well-informed Republicans know they cannot defeat Roosevelt this year.

Carl Blasing presided at the program. Short talks were made by J. Piner Powell, president of the club; Buster Guber, Ben Denman, Sheriff Jack Hallmark, H. G. Lucas, Linsey Dublin, D. L. Connally, Charles Fowler, Edward Henley, Jr., Judge E. J. Miller, Billy Baker county attorney of Coleman county, and Johnson.

Waiting in Vain to Hear Simpson Divorce Trial

Disappointment awaited the crowd pictured by this NEA radiophoto in line at the door in the shire hall at Ipswich, Eng. where Mrs. Ernest Simpson (inset) was divorced from her ship-broker husband in a 10-minute trial. Not only were they denied admittance to the courtroom under a last minute ruling, but the arrival of Mrs. Simpson's car was so unexpected, and it was rushed through the gate into the court yard so quickly, that only the most fleeting glimpse of King Edward's charming American friend was obtained. The cordon of police in the foreground kept the crowd away from the door of the shire hall.

AMENDMENT SIX, TO LIMIT LEGISLATIVE QUOTA IS ENDORSED

All voters in this district are urged to vote for amendment six in the general election November 3, in a statement issued this week by E. M. Davis, state senator for the 27th Senatorial District.

"Unless this amendment is adopted," Senator Davis said in the statement, "in the course of the large cities of Texas will completely dominate the legislative branch of our State. Most of the States in the Union recognize geography, as well as population, in the allocation of representatives. There are good reasons why Texas should follow this same plan.

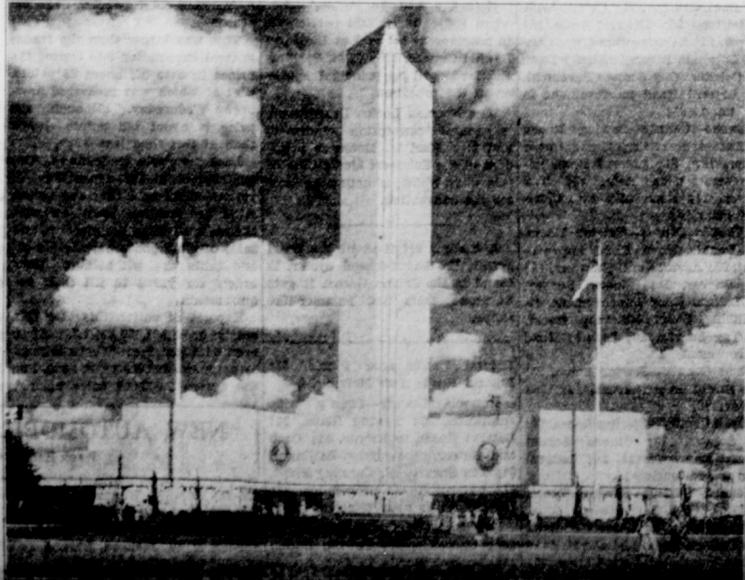

"In a State containing 254 counties, it is self-evident that the law makers should not be grouped or clustered, but should be widely scattered in all the 254 counties.

"Amendment No. 6 limits any one county to seven members, and this should certainly be enough. Unless this Amendment is adopted, however, by 1940, Houston and Dallas will be entitled to twelve or fourteen members each, with other large cities not far behind and this will leave fewer members to distribute among the smaller counties. As time goes on this condition will become more unbalanced. Thirty states have already placed this balance wheel in their Constitution and Texas should do likewise.

"Some of the metropolitan dailies have complained that this will be unfair to the larger cities, but I submit that Dallas and Harris Counties now have six representatives each, and have six votes to voice their claims on every bill.

"In my judgement all voters who live in rural sections and in small towns and cities, dependent upon agricultural activities, should certainly give this Amendment their attention and ask their friends to support it."

New Chevrolet Will Be Shown To Public On November 7th

The finest Chevrolets in the company's quarter-century of automobile manufacture will make their bow here and throughout the country on Nov. 7, J. R. Holley, of the Holley-Langford Chevrolet Co., Chevrolet dealers, announced this week, upon his return from Dallas, where 1,000 dealers and salesmen from this section obtained official news of the new product from H. C. Howard, manager of the Dallas zone, and members of his staff.

Mr. Howard has just returned from Detroit, where 1,500 members of Chevrolet's wholesale organization from coast to coast spent four days inspecting and driving the new car and reviewing with factory executives the program to be followed in presenting it. The new models adhere closely to time-tried Chevrolet engineering principles, he reported, but combine greater power, economy, safety, and durability with striking new beauty and grace.

M. C. Coyle, president and general manager of Chevrolet, announced during the convention that the company had shattered all previous records during 1936, selling more cars and more trucks than in any previous year in its history, and leading the world in sales for the seventh time in the last 10 years. The total for the year will exceed 1,125,000 units, he said, and the objective for 1937 is 1,200,000.

NEW TIRE WITH FLEXIBLE TREAD

WRINKLES WHEN BRAKES ARE APPLIED

GRIPS and STOPS

● The General Dual-10 tire is built with a tread so flexible it wrinkles when brakes are applied. These tread wrinkles act like a squeegee. They SWEEP water and surface dirt to one side — CLEAN a dry track — GRIP on any road surface — STOP the car quicker on wet pavement than ordinary tires can stop on dry. Dual-10 Tires stop in much shorter distance on dry roads, too. And every stop is straight in line — no skid-swerve or tail spin.

NEW WRINKLE

The General Dual-10 tread is flexible — it wrinkles into a squeegee action when brakes are applied — sweeps the pavement clear of water and loose dirt — provides firm traction footing — GRIPS and HOLDS — without tail spin or skid. The World's Quickest, Safest Stop.

TAKE A RIDE

Prove to yourself that the General Dual-10 will give you safety you have never known before. Come in and take a ride on Dual-10's. Drive the car yourself. Demonstration is FREE.

These refinements are expected to substantially widen its appeal. The sedan is pictured above. Characteristic Lincoln-Zephyr body lines are retained. The car has a smart new frontal appearance. Lower left, the new instrument panel and grille. This is the most striking feature of the interior. The grille, reaching to the top of the transmission housing, is designed to screen installation of car radio and heater. Lower right shows the new luggage compartment.

LIEUT.-GOV. WOODUL URGES ADOPTION OF SALARY AMENDMENT

By WALTER F. WOODUL
Lieutenant Governor of Texas

In 1876 Texas wrote into its Constitution a salary of Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars for the Governor, Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars for the Attorney General, and Twenty-five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars each for the Land Commissioner, Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State. In those days this might have been an adequate salary, but today those holding these high offices are not paid as well as they were in '76, and no man can carry the burden of the office and justly care for his family during his incumbency. Being Constitutional provisions these salaries have remained the same and I am sure that if the thinking people have the matter called to their attention they will vote for one proposed Constitutional Amendment in the November election of this year raising the salary of the Governor to $12,000 a year, the Attorney General to $10,000, and the other four constitutional officers to $6,900 each. This will only cost Mr. John Citizen less than a half cent each to do justice by these leading officials of our great State Government.

Texas is the fastest growing State in the Union, the largest State and the fifth in population and wealth. The demands on State officials are many and we ought to pay our public servants a reasonable living wage while they transact the business of the State.

Take the Governor for instance. No Governor can live up to the requirements of the office and raise his family, excepting that he have private means, without having to spend one-half of the month wondering about where he will borrow money at the end of the month to pay the bills for the month. We all admit that this is not good business. The same is true of the other officials. The Attorney General ought to be, and always is an outstanding lawyer, and in the great number of cases in which he appears many lawyers on the other side of the docket from him are often paid more in the one case than the Attorney General earns in two years.

To think of the State Comptroller responsible for several hundred employees and having to make a State campaign every two years, rearing a family in Austin on the pitiful sum of $2,500 is a crime and ought to be corrected. This is true even if we don't think of the millions of dollars' responsibility he carries for the state.

Although fifth in rank in the United States, there are only three other States in the Union, to-wit: North Dakota, South Dakota and Tennessee of the forty-eight states that pay their Governor as little as we do in Texas. Even Rhode Island, Montana, Idaho, and all of these other States recognize the importance of the office and pay in excess of what we do in Texas. Texans, when they think of it, are not adverse to paying a living salary. Take the salaries we pay Mayors of our larger cities; the $14,900 and $16,000 paid City Managers in some of our larger cities. We pay the

Superintendent of Schools in Houston $10,000 a year and that after the depression cut. The Federal Judges in Texas get $10,000 a year and a job for life. Members of Congress are paid $10,000 a year plus allowances. Washington sent a capable engineer to supervise the work on the Colorado River Project at a salary of $20,000 a year and the engineer on the Port Arthur Bridge construction is to receive

Pastor Announces Preaching Dates

Fourth quarterly Methodist conference of the Indian Creek charge will be held Friday at Johnson Memorial Church, Rev. H. D. Tucker, pastor, has announced.

Rev. Tucker will conduct services Sunday at 11 a. m. at Brooksmith and at 7:30 p. m. at Johnson Memorial church.

$12,000 a year. In private business the smart business institutions like our banks, railroads and other large institutions pay much better salaries than are proposed here, but these are for public service. There is no executive of a private institution in Texas that has the responsibilities or duties calling for ability such as do those offices.

I am sure that the thinking men and women in Texas, after the matter is put up to them, will see the justice of the proposed amendment and will talk to their neighbors and will talk it at Sunday School, their lodges, and at social gatherings and say a good word to the end that the proposed Constitutional Amendment will be overwhelmingly carried at the November election, and in this great Centennial year we can right a wrong that has long existed, and do it to the glory of Texas. If every good Texan will speak his mind upon this worthy Amendment between now and the November election, we have no fears for the final outcome.

INTERNATIONAL PARK TO BE DISCUSSED AT MEETING IN EL PASO

Boundaries of the proposed Big Bend International Park, combining 780,000 acres in Texas with about 400,000 acres in the Mexican states of Chihuahua and Coahuila, will be discussed in El Paso November 8th and 9th at joint meetings of commissions appointed by the American and Mexican Governments.

Arno B. Cammerer, director of the National Park Service, will be there from Washington with Assistant Directors Conrad L. Wirth and G. A. Moskey to head the American delegation. The commission from Mexico will be under Daniel F. Galicia of the Department of Forestry, Game and Fish.

The international park would be formed by a bridge over the Rio Grande linking the proposed Big Bend National Park, the entire area of which would be in Brewster county, with a National Park the Mexican Government plans to establish in contiguous territory south of the river.

Boundaries the American Commission have tentatively adopted for the Texas park would provide entrances reached from Alpine and Marathon. From Alpine, it would be about eighty-five miles to a point in the boundary line through Paint Gap, in the Christmas Mountains, on a spur of the road that leads to Terlingua and Study Butte minor camps.

The approach from Marathon—about 70 miles—would enter the park through Persimmon Gap and Dog Canyon, in the Santiago Mountains. From there, the road line would go south to Boquillas, and west through Johnson's Ranch and Castellan to Lajitas; thence north and east to Paint Gap on through the Rosillos Mountains to tie in at Persimmon Gap.

This area would take in the entire range of the Chisos Mountains, together with the Santa Helena, Boquillas, and Mariscal Canyons.

Lucas Denies Charges By GOP Committee Concerning Soliciting

Charges by the Republican National Committee that H. G. Lucas, prominent agricultural leader of Texas, denied by Lucas last week, following publication of a United Press story from Washington on October 22.

In his statement, Lucas said letters soliciting funds had been mailed farmers by the "Farmers Roosevelt-Garner" committee, and that the Texas Agricultural Association, of which he is president, is in no way connected with any federal agency.

The newspaper story stated the committee charged that county agents are being "coerced and intimidated" into contributing to the Democratic fund.

Democrats of County Raise $500 for Fund

Brown county has raised approximately $500 for the National Democratic campaign, stated J. Edward Johnson in a brief address to the Young Democrats Club of this county at a rally last Thursday night.

Congressman Charles L. South attended the meeting as guest speaker, and pointed to the fact that the well-informed Republicans know they cannot defeat Roosevelt this year.

Waiting in Vain to Hear Simpson Divorce Trial

Disappointment awaited the crowd pictured by this NEA radiophoto in line at the door in the shire hall at Ipswich, Eng. where Mrs. Ernest Simpson (inset) was divorced from her ship-broker husband in a 10-minute trial. Not only were they denied admittance to the courtroom under a last minute ruling, but the arrival of Mrs. Simpson's car was so unexpected, and it was rushed through the gate into the court yard so quickly, that only the most fleeting glimpse of King Edward's charming American friend was obtained. The cordon of police in the foreground kept the crowd away from the door of the shire hall.

AMENDMENT SIX, TO LIMIT LEGISLATIVE QUOTA IS ENDORSED

All voters in this district are urged to vote for amendment six in the general election November 3, in a statement issued this week by E. M. Davis state senator for the 27th Senatorial District.

"Unless this amendment is adopted," Senator Davis said in the statement, "in the course of time the large cities of Texas will completely dominate the legislative branch of our State. Most of the States in the Union recognize geography, as well as population, in the allocation of representatives. There are good reasons why Texans should follow this same plan.

"In a State containing 254 counties, it is self-evident that the lawmakers should not be grouped or clustered, but should be widely scattered in all the 254 counties.

"Amendment No. 6 limits any one county to seven members, and this should certainly be enough. Unless this Amendment is adopted, however, by 1940, Houston and Dallas will be entitled to twelve or fourteen members each, with other large cities not far behind and this will leave fewer members to distribute among the smaller counties. As time goes on this condition will become more unbalanced. Thirty states have already placed this balance wheel in their Constitution and Texas should do likewise.

"Some of the metropolitan dailies have complained that this will be unfair to the larger cities, but I submit that Dallas and Harris counties now have six representatives vote for six members and have six votes to voice their claims on every bill.

"In my judgement all voters who live in rural sections and in small towns and cities, dependent upon agricultural activities, should certainly give this Amendment their attention and ask their friends to support it."

Big Hands for Big Batters

STATE BSU ELECTS KENNETH HINER AS '37 VICE PRESIDENT

Baptist students in convention at Austin last Friday and Saturday elected Kenneth Hiner as vice-president of the state Baptist Students Union. Hiner, who is president of the Howard Payne BSU, was one of the 38 representatives from the local college attending the convention.

Hope Parker, Lily Albertson and

Winn D. Marshall, who composed the Howard Payne trio, appeared on the program at a special service Sunday morning. Among the outstanding convention speakers were Dr. L. R. Scarborough, Dr. J. B. Tidwell, Dr. R. C. Campbell, Dr. T. C. Gardner, and Dr. John L. Hill. Delegates to the convention, which was the sixteenth meeting since the organization of the state group in Brownwood in 1920, were taken on a sight-seeing tour of Austin and visited the Historical Exposition of that city. The students returned to Brownwood Sunday night.

New Chevrolet Will Be Shown To Public On November 7th

The finest Chevrolets in the company's quarter-century of automobile manufacture will make their bow here and throughout the country on Nov. 7, J. R. Holley, of the Holley-Langford Chevrolet Co., Chevrolet dealers, announced this week, upon his return from Dallas, where 1,000 dealers and salesmen from this section obtained official news of the new product from H. C. Howard, manager of the Dallas zone, and members of his staff.

Mr. Howard has just returned from Detroit, where 1,600 members of Chevrolet's wholesale organization from coast to coast spent four days inspecting and driving the new car and reviewing with factory executives the program to be followed in presenting it. The new models adhere closely to time-tried Chevrolet engineering principles, he reported, but combine greater power, economy, safety, and durability with striking new beauty and grace.

M. C. Coyle, president and general manager of Chevrolet, announced during the convention that the company had shattered all previous records during 1936, selling more cars and more trucks than in any previous year in its history, and leading the world in sales for the seventh time in the last 16 years. The total for the year will exceed 1,125,000 units, he said, and the objective for 1937 is 1,200,000.

NEW TIRE WITH FLEXIBLE TREAD

WRINKLES WHEN BRAKES ARE APPLIED

GRIPS and STOPS

The General Dual-10 tire is built with a tread so flexible it wrinkles when brakes are applied. These tread wrinkles act like a squeegee. They SWEEP water and surface dirt to one side - CLEAN a dry track - GRIP on any road surface - STOP the car quicker on wet pavement than ordinary tires can stop on dry. Dual-10 Tires stop in much shorter distance on dry roads, too. And every stop is straight in line - no skid-swerve or tail spin.

TAKE A RIDE

Prove to yourself that the General Dual-10 will give you safety you have never known before. Come in and take a ride on Dual-10's. Drive the car yourself. Demonstration is FREE.

Lincoln-Zephyr Shows "First Anniversary" Series

Smarter exterior appearance and pleasing improvements in interior treatment mark the "first anniversary" series of Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars (or 1937, now being shown). These refinements are expected to substantially widen its appeal. The sedan is pictured above. Characteristic Lincoln-Zephyr body lines are retained. The car has a smart new frontal appearance. Lower left, the new instrument panel and grille. This is the most striking feature of the interior. The grille, reaching to the top of the transmission housing, is designed to screen installation of car radio and heater. Lower right shows the new luggage compartment. It is reached through the rear deck hatch by swinging the spare tire and rack down out of the way.

LIEUT.-GOV. WOODUL URGES ADOPTION OF SALARY AMENDMENT

By WALTER F. WOODUL
Lieutenant Governor of Texas

In 1876 Texas wrote into its Constitution a salary of Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars for the Governor, Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars for the Attorney General, and Twenty-five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars each for the Land Commissioner, Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State. In those days this might have been an adequate salary, but today those holding these high offices are not paid as well as they were in '76, and no man can carry the burden of the office and justly care for his family during his incumbency. Being Constitutional provisions these salaries have remained the same and I am sure that if the thinking people have the matter called to their attention they will vote for one proposed Constitutional Amendment in the November election of this year raising the salary of the Governor to $12,000 a year, the Attorney General to $10,000, and the other four constitutional officers to $6,000 each. This will only cost Mr. John Citizen less than a half cent each to do justice by these leading officials of our great State Government.

Texas is the fastest growing State in the Union, the largest State and the fifth in population and wealth. The demands on State officials are many and we ought to pay our public servants a reasonable living wage while they transact the business of the State.

Take the Governor for instance. No Governor can live up to the requirements of the office and raise his family, excepting that he have private means, without having to spend one-half of the month wondering about where he will borrow money at the end of the month to pay the bills for the month. We all admit that this is not good business. The same is true of the other officials. The Attorney General ought to be, and always is an outstanding lawyer, and in the great number of cases in which he appears many lawyers on the other side of the docket from him are often paid more in the one case than the Attorney General earns in two years.

To think of the State Comptroller responsible for several hundred employees and having to make a State campaign every two years, rearing a family in Austin on the pitiful sum of $2,500 is a crime and ought to be corrected. This is true even if we don't think of the millions of dollars' responsibility he carries for the state.

Although fifth in rank in the United States, there are only three other States in the Union, to-wit: North Dakota, South Dakota and Tennessee of the forty-eight states that pay their Governor as little as we do in Texas. Even Rhode Island, Montana, Idaho, and all of these other States recognize the importance of the office and pay in excess of what we do in Texas. Texans, when they think of it, are not adverse to paying a living salary. Take the salaries we pay Mayors of our larger cities: the $14,000 and $16,000 paid City Managers in some of our larger cities. We pay the

Superintendent of Schools in Houston $10,000 a year and that after the depression cut. The Federal Judges in Texas get $10,000 a year and a job for life. Members of Congress are paid $10,000 a year plus allowances. Washington sent a capable engineer to supervise the work on the Colorado River Project at a salary of $20,000 a year and the engineer on the Port Arthur Bridge construction is to receive $12,000 a year.

In private business the smart business institutions like our banks, railroads and other large institutions pay much better salaries than are proposed here, but these are for public service. There is no executive of a private institution in Texas that has the responsibilities or duties calling for ability such as do those offices.

I am sure that the thinking men and women in Texas, after the matter is put up to them, will see the justice of the proposed amendment and will talk to their neighbors and will talk it at Sunday School, their lodges, and at social gatherings and say a good word to the end that the proposed Constitutional Amendment will be overwhelmingly carried at the November election, and in this great Centennial year we can right a wrong that has long existed, and do it to the glory of Texas. If every good Texan will speak his mind upon this worthy Amendment between now and the November election, we have no fears for the final outcome.

Q. How long were the Pineda and Cortez explorations in Texas and Mexico after the discovery of America by Columbus? J. L. M. A. Twenty-seven years — from 1492 to 1519.

Q. How did Ellis P. Ban escape from the Mexican prisons? G. S. A. When the 1811-12 revolution was in progress, the viceroys offered him liberty if he would enlist in the royal army. He accepted the offer and at the first opportunity went over to the revolutionists under Gen. Morelos and soon became a colonel. He was in command of the troops that besieged and captured Capulco, where he was so long imprisoned.

Q. What did Bean do after his Mexican revolutionary war service? G. S. A. In 1814, he was sent to the United States in the interest of the Mexican Republic. He met La Fayette, and each was given a commission under Gen. Jackson. After the war the drifted back and forth between the United States and Mexico; built Fort Teran on the Neches in 1832; became close friend of Houston and was helpful in keeping Indians quiet in 1836; after which he returned to Mexico and married a real Mexican woman whom he had met during the revolution, when he settled down and lived happily until his death Oct. 3, 1846.

Early in 1836 he helped Grant get permission from the Texas Executive Council to carry out a plan to reestablish the 1824 constitution of Texas and Coahuila. The night of March 1, 1836, while Grant and a party were foraging for horses on the Agua Dulce, Johnson and a number of the men, who were at San Patricio, were surrounded by three's army and most of them were slaughtered or captured, Johnson and a few escaping the massacre.

Six Amendments

The five amendments which we believe to be good have been discussed in these columns. They are numbered 2 to 6 on the ballot, and cover the following topics: No. 2, providing for retirement pay, half to be paid by the teachers and half by the State, for teachers who have been in service for twenty years; No. 3, providing workmen's compensation, at the option of the Legislature, for employees of the State; No. 4, removing from the Governor the power of granting pardons and placing this power in the hands of a board; No. 5, increasing the salaries paid the Governor, the Attorney General, the Comptroller of Public Accounts, the State Treasurer, the Commissioner of the General Land Office and the Secretary of State, and No. 6, which limits the number of representatives in the Legislature to seven from any one county, until such time as that county has more than 700,000 population, and then allowing one representative for each 100,000 population.

The other amendment, which we oppose, is first on the ballot. It is the State Liquor Monopoly amendment, and its adoption would place the State directly in the retail liquor business. We believe this to be bad, and we do not believe such a thing should be approved by the voters of Texas.

There are many reasons why such an amendment should not be a part of the law. First and most important of these is that, should Texas decide to get rid of repeal—we want to vote prohibition back at some future date — the adoption of the State Monopoly System would place an almost insurmountable obstacle to such a movement. Liquor then would be a State department, the agencies of which would extend into every wet county in the State. There is a vast difference between the State deriving tax revenue from the sale of liquor, and deriving direct profit from the sale of liquor. The State liquor tax is a control measure, designed not so much as a revenue producer, although as such it is important, but primarily to regulate and control the sale of hard liquors.

Putting the State into the liquor business would give the State, and the taxpayers, a direct proprietary interest in increased sale of hard liquors. To say that this is true through the present tax system is ridiculous. The State taxes cigarettes, gasoline, printing offices, and every known kind of business. Does the state attempt to increase the sale of gasoline, or cigarettes, or increase the volume of printing done, or the volume of sales of the tax-ridden merchant? Yet these are primarily revenue producing taxes, and in no sense regulatory.

The State Monopoly plan would build up a powerful liquor political organization, financed by the State itself. We have seen the experience of other State agencies with numerous employees. Many times it has been charged that the larger departments become political organizations, and several laws have been passed in an attempt to remedy this situation. The department would be even more powerful should it be, as the Liquor Monopoly department of the State would be, a big revenue producer. Given the official status of a State department, producing for the state a nice profit through the sale of hard drink, prohibition would be a far-off possibility.

The system has been tried in other states, and according to information which has been furnished the press it has been unsatisfactory in every instance. The success of the system in Canada was highly debatable when this system was popular there, and it has been discarded by most Canadian states, that once operated under the plan.

Furthermore, should a State Liquor Monopoly be desirable, it would not require a constitutional amendment. The Legislature could establish a liquor monopoly under the existing laws. Then, should the plan be found unsuitable, it could be abolished by Legislative act. Should the amendment be adopted, it will of course take a vote of the people to repeal it in event a return to the old system were desired.

Let's adopt the last five amendments, but don't let's vote to put Texas in the retail liquor business.

Be Sure To Vote

Texans, along with other voters in every State of the United States, will vote next Tuesday for all officers of state and local government, and for a President and Vice President of the United States. In the past in Texas, the General Election has had little significance. For a number of reasons, however, the election this year is an important one. First of these is the presence on the national ticket of a Texan for Vice President. John N. Garner has rendered valiant service to the Nation as Vice President during the past four years. He has been a credit to his native state, an official of whom all Texas should be proud. The State should give him a big vote of confidence on November 3.

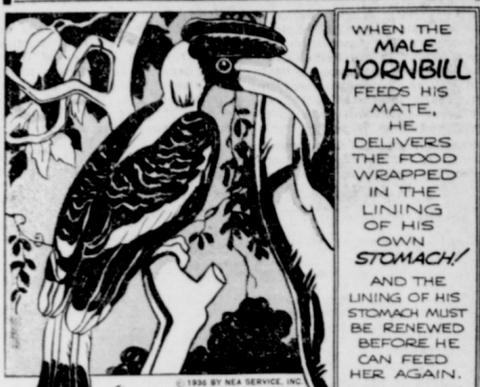

Of even greater importance is the vote of endorsement and appreciation which Texas should give our great President, Franklin D. Roosevelt. His service to the Nation has been outstanding, his service to humanity greater, and at a time like this, when his political enemies are making every sort of unjust accusation, when his policies are being attacked and his sincerity challenged, Texas should rally to his support with a tremendous vote. Texas is the banner Democratic State in the Nation, and this reputation should be upheld.

Another factor should be important to voters this year also. The number of votes in the Democratic convention to nominate the next President will be determined upon the number of Democratic votes cast for President in the Tuesday election. If Texas has a big vote, it will have a large influence in the next convention. If the vote is light, this State will lose much of its prestige at nomination time. It is likely that Texas will have a candidate for President in the field four years from now. Even without a candidate all will want Texas to have its usual place at the head of the column. The only way to assure this is to produce a heavy vote in next week's election.

Aside from these considerations for the National ticket, Texans will vote on six proposed amendments to the State Constitution. Any change should have the careful consideration of Texas voters, and should be adopted or rejected only in an election in which a majority of the voters participate.

G. O. P. complains that Garner will not accept challenge to debate with Knox. An old poker player prefers the showdown to the show-up. —Dallas News.

RICHMOND—With the cooperation of the entire family and at a cost of only six dollars, Mr. and Mrs. George Philipp of Fort Bend county have moved and set 143 native plants, 24 trees; repaired all fences; levelled and sodded the yard; laid two walks, built a pit-type toilet, and added 12 roses to their rose garden during the past two years.

COLD SPRINGS—From a 9 by 7 foot "side room," Mrs. Johnnie Shirley of San Jacinto county has built adequate storage space for her canned products. She celled overhead and sides and added seven shelves on two sides, giving her 112 feet of storage space. The shelves were made by using three pieces of 1 by 4 inch lumber spaced one inch apart to give ventilation around the cans and prevent their rusting. Having the inside wall celled also helps to reduce the temperature in the summer.

"If you have faith, preach it; if you have doubts, bury them; if you have joy, share it; if you have sorrow, bear it. Find the bright side of things and help others to find it, too." Says Alta Heacock in the Oklahoma Club Woman.

Just three weeks ago I made a sad journey down through Texas over detours, through high water and past many swollen streams while the floods were there. Flow heart warming it was the way everyone tried to help. Strangers to us, but true Texans, they went out of their way to be kind. Waiting for hours at one place to cross a raging current, a darky came up to the car and said "I'm thinking it won't be very long now, lady until you all kin cross. Everybody's doing everything they kin think of to hope, but even the govnah cain't make the ole Colorado behave once she takes the bits in her teeth."

I gotta be loyal to Texas For that's where I was born But Kansas holds a tender spot And so my heart is torn. But gee, oh gosh, my prairie state (Where I got on relief) Is where my home and kiddies are And so I'll come to grief If I don't watch each word I say. I'm like a preacher's wife For do or don't I'll still get—Well It's just a columnist's life.

Our beloved Edwin Markham is improving, we note, from a slight stroke of paralysis which he suffered some time ago. Death has written "30" for Harriet Monroe, founder and editor of Poetry. Perhaps America's most outstanding magazine of verse. Miss Moore was seventy-six years old and was visiting in Peru at the time of her death.

Comes my new Kaleidograph with several of our mutual friends included. Among them is Edgar Ward who has two beauties, "We Must Meet Strangerly" and "October Night Song." Edgar has a poem in October Good Housekeeping too. But the biggest news of the month is Josephine Hawks to me. Josephine is that little brown-eyed one from Oklahoma City who writes beautiful songs. She lands articles in Christian Science Monitor, big feature in the Oklahoma News and now she has a nice story in American magazine. You'll recognize Josephine right away when you read "important people" this month. She is the author of the story concerning Judge Williams. A clever piece of work I call it. I've been waiting to tell you about Josephine because I've found she can do so many things and I wanted to tell it all at once. But the dear child is so modest I just have to run on to things and recognize them as hers. Anyway I'll tell you a lot more about her one of these days. But in the meantime read the current issue of the American for her latest achievement.

Next week I am going to tell you about the prize winners in the book contest held annually by Kaleidograph. It was divided again. You remember last year's prize went to Kenneth Kaufman and Fay Yager. In the mean time I'm off acting like a member of the Oklahoma Federation of Women's Clubs, and doing my very best to masquerade as a poet when I attend a banquet of the State Writers. Whoopla... big times ahead.

BALLINGER — Terraces on 20 acres built 16 years ago at no actual outlay of money had a total value of $640 for J. A. Patterson of Runnels county, according to information furnished J. A. Barton, county agricultural agent. The terraces lines were leveled off by D. F. Eaton, county agricultural agent, at that time. A V-shaped drag and plow were used in construction of these terraces, with two neighbors cooperating in helping each other. Patterson says that the terraces returned an average of $1 per acre in crop production and have had the value of $1 per acre in holding water and soil, making a total return of $2 per acre per year. This makes a total return of $32 per acre over the 16-year period or a total value for the 20 acres of $640.

REFUGIO—"Wind and sun make the tufted bedspread take on new life," says Mrs. Emil Leister, bedroom demonstrator of the Austwell home demonstration club in Refugio county. Mrs. Leister hangs her spread right side out on the line at intervals to bring out the tufts and loosen the spin of the yarn. Brushing with a stiff brush also gives life to the tufts, she says. Mrs. Leister has recently completed her tufted bedspread as one of the items in improving her bedroom, according to Miss Frances Beason, county home demonstration agent.

WACO—"To save money and trips to town for meat, I have found that I can buy cured bacon in large pieces and keep it by cutting it into chunks and dropping it into the cotton seed oil I had left after using all my home cured meat," says Mrs. C. A. Seawell of McLennan county, according to Miss Martha Buttrill, county home demonstration agent. "Bacon bought in large quantity and stored in oil does not become rancid nor mold before it is used

ON TEXAS FARMS

HEMPSTEAD—By planting his field with two rows of corn and one row of cow peas, Mack Roseman of Waller county has stepped up his corn production by better than five bushels per acre in 10 years, according to J. V. Bush, county agricultural agent. Roseman uses no fertilizer, depending entirely on the added fertility given the land by planting cow peas on every third row. Under his rotation system, cow peas are planted on each row every three years. The turkey herd on the Roseman farm eat the cow peas and the vines are left on the land to be plowed under.

FAIRFIELD—"From the standpoint of harvesting, housing and value of the feed, a trench silo is the most economical way to save a feed crop," says W. W. Steward Sr., of Freestone county. Steward stored 88 tons of silage from a six-acre crop of red top sorghum, according to J. W. Richards, county agricultural agent. The total cost of this feed including breaking of the land, cost of the seed, planting, plowing and harvesting, digging, and filling the silos amounted to only $1.30 per ton. This included a charge of $1 per day per head for his mules. All labor was hired.

LOCKHART—Good pasture trench silage, plenty of roughage grown on the farm and the use of good males, are the factors to which Albert Ohlendorf of Caldwell county attributes his success in the dairy industry, according to L. E. Ellwood, county agricultural agent. In one month, Ohlendorf sold $200 worth of butter fat from 23 cows and fed the skimmed milk to his hogs and chickens. His cows were fed feed that was produced on the farm, with the exception of his protein feed.

Ohlendorf's farm of 500 acres of cultivated land is all terraced and manure from his livestock has not only maintained the fertility of his soil, but has helped to build it up, he says.

EAGLE PASS—In order to have a sufficient amount of cheap feed for his cattle at all times, and as an insurance against dry pastures, H. A. Franke of Eagle Pass is storing up maize and hearse in trench silos, according to W. M. Sellers, Maverick county agricultural agent. Franke had about 4,000 tons of ensilage stored in trench silos in 1935. This year he dug three more silos and already has about 4,000 tons of ensilage stored. He will store another 1,000 tons when he finishes harvesting his feed crop. He figures it cost him about 50 cents a ton to produce the silage and store it.

MERIDIAN—In order to prevent moisture losses and to preserve the native bermuda and buffalo grasses on his hillside pasture, M. C. McCorkle of Meridian has contoured nine acres under the direction of E. R. Lawrence, Basque county agricultural agent. After the lines were run, the first round of plowing was made with an ordinary turning plow. The second and final plowing was done with a wide wing plow. By using this plow, the lift is higher and the average height approximates 12 inches. The entire acreage has a thin spotted turf, and is land which has been taken out of cultivation.

HENDERSON—By having a fall and spring garden from which to can vegetables, an orchard for fresh fruit and to can, a poultry flock to furnish eggs and chickens to eat, and for sale, six milk cows, and three hogs and two beehives for meat, Mrs. J. O. Cagle, of the Hickory home demonstration club in Rusk county has provided a varied and adequate diet for her family of three. Mrs. Cagle canned 827 containers of 37 varieties of foods and has a number of vegetables in her fall garden. The orchard furnished seven varieties of fruits, and wild grapes were available. Two beehives are killed each year, one in the fall and another in the spring. A part of the meat is catch fresh, a part canned, and the remainder cured, according to Miss Marie Wilmoth, county home demonstration agent.

It was with sadness that we read in the paper last week of the death of Mrs. Bessie Epperson of Regency, Mrs. Epperson, whose home was in Fort Worth, came to Regency several weeks ago to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones. She was so stricken with grief when the recent flood came, her father's family had to leave from the high waters of the Colorado, and she was moved to the Regency school house. She was here two or three weeks. Finally she was moved back to her father's home where she died shortly afterward.

When a young bride, Bessie lived for a short while in this community. She has friends here who remember her tenderly and wish to extend their sympathy to the bereaved family.

We wonder if here it would be permissible to congratulate the "winner" and to commend Robert H. Porter, of May, for the article entitled "Public Opinion" in last week's paper, while we wish in no way to be entangled in an intimation that we would for a moment defend "whiskey, beer, wine and gambling," for these have had no part in our life, but we do wish to say that we think as he does on the theme of his article. And we wonder at the unreluctant publicity given this most wide-spread abominable, filthy, degenerating, enslaving habit. A few years ago an editor of a well known Texas magazine warned a class in short story writing in the Dallas High School not to write stories for his name that mentioned women smoking cigarettes. That they would not buy them. Now you can hardly find a story in that magazine but that somewhere that the woman smoked a cigarette.

My eye examination is different. Try Dr. R. A. Ellis and see.

SOIL CONSERVATION CAMP DISTRIBUTES PASTURE SEED TO 15 FARMERS IN COUNTY

To promote greater interest in permanent pasture improvement the Soil Conservation Service has recently distributed pasture seed to 15 farmers of Brown, Coleman and Mills counties, according to a recent report from the local SCS camp. The farmers obtaining the seed have entered into a cooperative agreement with the SCS whereby the seed will be used in seed multiplication plots upon which the grazing will be controlled. By this method the cooperating farmers may eventually produce enough seed to economically reseed their pastures.

The principal seeds available for planting at this time are bur clover, hop clover, black medio, Italian rye, western wheat, blue grama and rescue grass. Among the farmers and stockmen, who are planting seed plots and are doing other types of pasture improvement in cooperation with the SCS are the following: E. L. Stewart, Brownwood; C. B. Braum, Clio; Jim Gill, Whon; Wallace Perkins, Ebony; and Vernon Carr, Brooksmith.

On the E. L. Stewart dairy farm, three miles northeast of Brownwood, terraces empty upon a meadow strip which was sowed with Bermuda. The meadow was then sowed to bur clover and western wheat grass, two winter plants that may be used to advantage with Bermuda. Mr. Stewart has recently ridged all of his pasture land.

Charley Brannum of the Clio Community planted his pasture seed upon a small plot of native pasture, after cutting the ground up thoroughly with a disc harrow. The seed was then covered by means of a section harrow. According to O. J. Orton, agronomist of the local Soil Conservation Camp, Mr. Brannum now has an excellent stand of clover and western wheat grass.

Jim Gill, Hereford breeder of Whon, cleared and fenced a small plot upon which to plant his pasture seed. His greatest step in pasture improvement, however, has been the construction of several acres of contoured ridges on his ranch.

Vernon Carr of Brooksmith is planting bur clover, Italian rye and western wheat grass upon four acres which were last week sowed with Bermuda by the CCC workers. By means of a tractor and a terracing plow having a 10 inch and a 22 inch wing Mr. Carr has recently ridged 25 acres of pasture land.

Boy Scout News

A $2,400 fund as their goal, Brownwood Boy Scouts started their annual finance drive at 7:30 Tuesday morning, when they met for breakfast at Hotel Brownwood in order to inaugurate their plans.

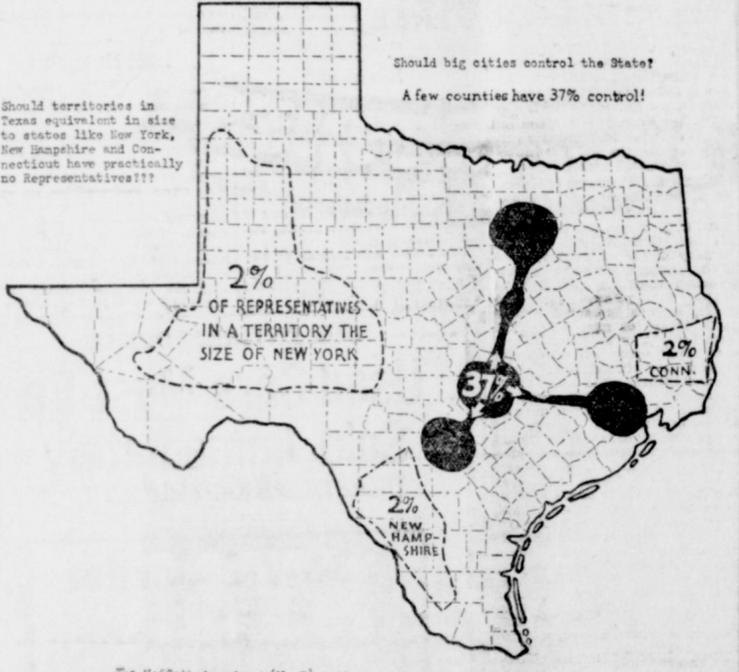

Encouraging progress in the drive has been noted by the 11 team captains and their workers, who will meet Thursday night at the Scout house for a general check-up. The 11 captains, appointed at a Tuesday night meeting, are W. B. Avlager, M. B. Healer, Hugh McFarland, D. C. Pratt, G. P. McKay, Henry Wilson, A. P. Rowland, W. O. Stewart, Walter Emison and

Herman Bettis. Citizens this year are being invited to become participating members of the Boy Scout Sustaining Club for Brownwood boys. The Sustaining club promotes: character insurance, physical fitness, citizenship training, reverence for God and respect for American ideals and institutions. A budget for the Comanche Trail Area has been drawn up, and is divided as follows: Administration, $2,400; transportation, $600; telephone and telegraph, $100; badges office supplies, etc., $250; postage and express, $250; camps and hikes, $200; leadership training, $200; na-

DANIEL BAKER PRAYING FOR VICTORY OVER M'MURRY AND CONFERENCE TITLE

With one of the brightest outlooks for a conference championship in many years, Daniel Baker is tensely awaiting the invasion next week of McMurry's wild Indians, who are already applying the war paint for the battle, and whose outlooks for a championship are just as bright as those of the home school.

Howard Payne's tie last week with the Indians in Abilene put the McMurryites and the Billies definitely on top of the conference roster. Howard Payne's only remaining chance to regain top position is by both Daniel Baker and McMurry getting tied or defeated.

Last week's grid encounters were marred by inclement weather. Daniel Baker and the Bobcats from San Marcos engaged in a slippery, muddy battle which was viewed by a mere handful of spectators. However, the other Daniel Baker games promise to be much more colorful, provided, of course, it doesn't rain too much.

A game bunch of fighting boys dressed in the maroon and white of Brownwood high school went down to a defeat that made a cocked hat out of their until-then-bright prospects for top finishing in the high school district race.

Pitched against a much heavier team to begin with, and playing on a slippery field, the Lions offered only two major scoring threats in the first half, one terminating on the Bobcats 12-yard line, the other on the Anselmo nine. In spite of their lost hopes as far as championship laurels are concerned, the Lions can look forward to winning the remaining games on their schedule, and still finishing close to the top.

JUDGE GRAY FAVORS AMENDMENT TO LIMIT CITY HOUSE MEMBERS

Courtney Gray, member of the Legislature from Brown and Coleman counties, upon his return from the Special Session, issued a statement endorsing Amendment No. 6, which limits representation in the larger counties of Texas.

Judge Gray's statement follows: "At the forthcoming general election, the people of Texas will vote upon several proposed amendments to the State Constitution. While several of them probably have some merit, I am particularly interested in the adoption of what is known as the Moffett Amendment, which proposes to amend Section 26, Article 3, by adding a new subsection to be known as 26a.

"Under the Constitution as it now reads, representation in the House of Representatives is based solely on population. This has given some of the populous counties as many as six representatives, while the western part of the State, as many as ten counties must be thrown together to make a representative district. If population should continue to concentrate in the cities, a half dozen counties like Dallas, Harris, Bexar, Tarrant and a few others would completely dominate the House of Representatives and the influence of the agricultural and stock raising counties would be very greatly minimized. The ideal and equitable system would seem to be to base representation upon both population and territory. This is what the Moffett amendment seeks to do by placing a limit of seven on the number of representatives which any county may have. In my judgment, the voters of Brown and Coleman counties should give this amendment an overwhelming majority."

The National Debt

RECENTLY the editor of a nationally-known magazine unlimbered his editorial pop-gun with the assertion that the New Deal administration has spent more money than was spent by all the other administrations since the Civil War. It made some tremble with apprehensions and shake with alarms. A few of the rugged individualists gathered on street corners, shook their heads, and declared the country was lying in the face of impending doom. None dared, however, to investigate the veracity of the statement.

According to the report of the Treasury Department, made by Hoover's Secretary of the Treasury, in March of 1933, our total national debt was $21,000,000,000.00. The report in June of this year showed that our total national debt is now $33,750,000,000.00. From this sum we must, in fairness to the Roosevelt Administration, subtract the $4,000,000,000.00 which has been loaned by the government and which it will receive back with interest; the 2,000,000,000.00 cash balance now in the equalization fund; and $8,700,000,000.00 is subtracted from the $13,750,000,000 we have left $5,050,000,000.00 which is the net increase in the national debt.

We must not forget that Hoover's administration increased the deficit by $5,000,000,000.00. What did he ever have to show for his deficit? A nation almost ruined. What does Roosevelt have to show for his deficit? A nation that rode the crest of the waves in the world's greatest economic crisis, and is now well on the road to prosperity. Today in the United States, there are 7,643 large school buildings because of the Roosevelt administration. In addition there are thousands of miles of graveled and paved roads, many thousands of other public works. Space will not permit an adequate discussion of the works of the New Deal administration, but it must be mentioned that for the first time in the history of our nation, an attempt was made to do something for agriculture, saving the farmers from destitution and despair.

The truth of the matter is that not in the history of any nation can a more expert job of financing be shown. And for anyone to assert that our present debt menaces the existence of our nation, is to assert that which is untrue. Our debt amounts to $258 per capita; that of England is 732. No one is asserting that the British Empire is in danger of destruction.

New Regulations Regarding Loans From RA in Effect

Lack of funds requires rehabilitation loans from the Resettlement Administration to be more restricted this year than last, according to George O. Green, supervisor for Brown county.

Green, in issuing his statement, regarding the new regulations in force this year, said:

"We are not authorized to make any new standard rehabilitation loans which are for purchase of teams and equipment, as well as supplies," said the supervisor. "Such standard loans were made last winter to 122 farmers, a large number of whom were thereby enabled to buy teams and equipment and to continue farming operations or to resume operations. Where these previous borrowers now require supplementary loans we are authorized to make them for the purchase of necessary supplies."

Loans Repaid.

Payments, up to October 22, for the loans for "consumable" goods totaled $1,115 for Brown county. This means a majority of farmers have paid back their "consumable" goods loans. Major portion of the total amount of loans, however, went to "recoverable" goods. "Consumable" goods are food, clothing, seed and feed. "Recoverable" goods are listed as teams, tools and the like.

Borrowers who have demonstrated that they cannot be rehabilitated will be dropped from the program. In passing judgment on these due consideration will be given to obstacles encountered, such as adverse weather conditions, poor lands and sickness.

"First consideration for supplementary loans and grants will be given to those whose past performance has demonstrated thrift, a cooperative attitude and a proper regard for their obligations."

AMENDMENT LIMITING REPRESENTATIVES IS ENDORSED BY MOFFETT

By GEORGE MOFFETT
Member of the House of Representatives

Amendment No. 6, the last one on the ballot in November, provides that anyone particular county may not have more than seven members in the Texas House of Representatives, and since the total membership of the House is 150 members, it certainly is proper that no one county out of the 254 counties in Texas should have more than seven. In a state as large as Texas it would never be for the best interest of the State to permit the bunching or clustering of its lawmakers within a very few of the 254 counties. In other words geography should be taken into consideration as well as population in allocating members of the Legislature among the various counties.

Thirty states of the American union do recognize geography as well as population in apportioning representatives in the Legislature, and it is more justifiable for Texas to recognize geography than any other state because it is the largest state with the most far flung boundaries and the greatest variety of conditions, but, unless amendment No. 6 is adopted by the people, in a few years four or five of our larger counties will have increased in population to the point where they, on a population basis, will be able to control and dictate the laws under which the people of all of the 254 counties must live. Amendment No. 6 seeks to put a balance wheel in our governmental machinery which is badly needed and which many other states already have. In Oklahoma the limit for a county is seven members, in Georgia and Florida, three members and in Iowa two members and other states have similar restrictions based on geographic and territorial considerations.

The trend of population is unquestionably from the farm to the city and unless Amendment No. 6 is adopted five large counties in Texas may control the destiny of the largest agricultural state in the union.

National Red Cross Compiles Flood Data For County Chapter

Only 14 contributions totaling $131.60 of the $2,600 spent by the Red Cross to aid flood-stricken families were received locally, according to John Blake, chapter chairman.

Total amount of the money spent, along with other important data, was filed with the local chapter by Mrs. Claude B. McCartney, national disaster superintendent from Red Cross headquarters who recently closed the emergency office maintained here until relief was administered.
