

Little Interest Being Shown In Second Primary

Democrats Vote Saturday To Name Nominees; Only Two State Contests

Brown county Democrats will go to the polls Saturday to make a final selection of nominees for the 1936 general election.

Enlivened by few state contests, the Texas Democrats have not been aroused as in the past, and frequent predictions have been made by political observers that the state wide vote will set a low record.

Only two contests are on the state ticket; that for railroad commissioner and for commissioner of agriculture.

For Railroad Commissioner, Ernest O. Thompson, present chairman of the commission and Frank S. Morris of Dallas are opponents.

J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, failed to lead the ticket in his race for re-election.

Only three county offices are to be filled Saturday: sheriff, county clerk and county treasurer.

242 ABSENTEE VOTES CAST IN 2ND PRIMARY

Absentee voting which opened August 3 and continued through August 19 in Brown county totaled 242 ballots cast for the second primary election August 22 in comparison with 293 votes cast in absentee in the first primary.

PECAN GROWERS NAME PRICE PRESIDENT; TO MEET IN SAN ANGELO

Selection of a site for the annual fall pecan show of the West Texas Pecan Growers Association and election of officers for the coming year terminated the annual summer meeting held in Brownwood Friday.

San Angelo was chosen as the place for the fall pecan show, exact date of the show to be set later by the executive committee.

W. S. Price, Jr., Gustine, was elected president of the association, succeeding J. C. Dodds, Menard.

The growers assembled at the Federal pecan experiment station. Inspection of the government field work was made. A talk on pecan experiment work in the state was made by Dr. C. L. Smith of Austin.

The United States Entomology station, located near the city water plant, also was visited by the growers. A talk on "Insect Enemies of Pecans" was given by Dr. C. B. Nickels, entomologist in charge.

At noon the growers were taken to the Pavilion at Lake Brownwood for a fish fry.

These suggestions, Mrs. Blasig explains, reflect the sentiment of the Brownwood citizenship and demonstrate that there is a manifest interest toward getting the city modernized and made more sanitary and beautiful.

Following are the suggestions which have been received: "In the business section all overhead electric and telephone wires should be removed from the main streets within the next five years.

"All telephone wires and electric wires in the residence section should be in the alleys within the next five years.

"All high curbs in the business section should be recessed in order to permit closer parking of the late model cars closer to the curb.

"All present wood awnings in the business section should be replaced with canvas awnings.

"All swinging signs extending over the sidewalks should be securely anchored and meet the approval of a safety engineer.

"All side streets leading into the main streets of the city should be paved in order to keep sediments (mud) from being deposited on the present paving.

"If sewer system does not cover entire city, it should be extended to do so.

"Brownwood should enact a city ordinance immediately.

"Certain parts of the present water system should have the size of the pipes increased in order to give everyone a sufficient amount of water during the summer months.

"The City needs a fire alarm system. Instead of the present system of reporting to the fire company by telephone.

"There should be an ordinance enacted, forcing people to keep their property free from trash; also a better system of collecting the same by the city.

"The Sanitary Inspector should be a type of man experienced in such work, and meet the approval of the State Sanitary Department."

FIVE-YEAR IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM FOR BROWNWOOD SUGGESTED BY COMMITTEE

A NUMBER of good suggestions for an extensive improvement program for the city of Brownwood has been handed to the officials of the city-wide Clean Up and Beautification Campaign during the past few weeks.

These suggestions, Mrs. Blasig explains, reflect the sentiment of the Brownwood citizenship and demonstrate that there is a manifest interest toward getting the city modernized and made more sanitary and beautiful.

PROGRAM FORMULATED BY CHURCH WOMEN FOR SOCIAL SERVICE WORK

Social service chairmen and representatives of various church societies in Brownwood met at the Community House Friday to formulate plans for a program of co-operative social service to meet needs that are not provided for by existing charity organizations.

Plans for classes of instruction among Mexican population of the city were presented by Mrs. C. E. Moore which were endorsed by the church women who pledged their support.

Contribution of social service work was urged. A request for items much needed at present were made which included: thread, needles, buttons, patterns, materials, either old or new, snaps and old clothes.

Re-Elect H. I. STAPP Commissioner, Precinct 2

Two years of faithful service — I am asking for a second term.

I appreciate the vote given me by the people of my precinct. I have tried at all times to give courteous service and consideration to all. Since I have been Commissioner, the affairs of the county have been conducted as economically as possible and still maintain and improve the roads.

Your continued support and vote August 22 will be appreciated.

H. I. STAPP

Candidate for re-election — second term, Commissioner, Precinct 2

To The Voters of Brown County

It is now drawing near the Second Primary and owing to the shortness of the time and duties of the office of Sheriff, it has been a matter of impossibility for me to see each one personally as I have been doing the very best I can to carry on the duties of the office and do what campaigning I can.

I deeply appreciate the nice vote that the people gave me in the first primary, and I shall greatly appreciate your continued support in the Second Primary. To those who for some reason or other voted for another candidate, I hope that you will look carefully into my record as Sheriff, and if you feel that I have rendered you faithful service, I will appreciate your support next Saturday.

I desire to thank my opponent for the way he and his friends have conducted their campaign, as I have always tried to conduct my campaign on a high plane. I hope the people will not heed any eleven-hour reports as that type of report is not often worthy of anyone's consideration.

Hoping you will consider this as a personal solicitation for your vote.

Respectfully submitted

The absence of any contest for Governor or United States Senator in Saturday's primary has caused such a decided decline in interest in the August 22 run-off that little attention is being paid to the two State contests which must be decided. Yet both are of importance to the people of the State, and involve the government regulation of the two major businesses in Texas—oil and agriculture. Oil is the most important revenue provider both from the standpoint of revenue to the producer and landowner and as a source of tax revenue, that the State has ever had. It surpasses agriculture, which comes second.

An Office Of Importance

The oil business in Texas is controlled by the State Railroad Commission, whose chairman, Ernest O. Thompson, is a candidate for re-election. Whether this commission is ably manned determines the value of this industry to Texas, for under improper supervision this giant could control the State.

Colonel Thompson has been an important factor in keeping the oil business under proper control. Today the industry is in the most stable condition since the World War. The price of crude has been restored to an equitable price of $1 a barrel, and has existed steadily at that point for three years. Both oil producer and refiner are prosperous, and into the state treasury flows a constant cash revenue.

It is important that such a condition be maintained. Possibly Mr. Morris could assist the commission in maintaining it. Maybe he could not. Nobody knows positively for Mr. Morris is practically unknown to the people of Texas. As a matter of fact, he has pledged himself, if elected, to urge a minimum allowable of fifty barrels per day in East Texas oil fields. Such a policy would be ruinous to the shallow wells in West Texas, whose small production can be profitable only through a low allowance in East Texas to bolster the price.

A peculiar condition has arisen in the present contest. Lon A. Smith, member of the commission, is campaigning against Colonel Thompson, his fellow member. Mr. Smith does not enjoy such confidence of the people of Texas that this adds anything to the candidacy of Mr. Morris. On the contrary, it is cause for viewing the Morris candidacy with skepticism, for undoubtedly it would place practical control of the commission in Mr. Smith's hands.

In spite of the changes and attacks upon Colonel Thompson's private and public record during the campaign, nothing has been brought out that tends to show him to be unworthy of another term. On the other hand, his record in office is ample proof of his ability to transact the business of the commission in a capable and efficient manner.

About the only excuse we can see for the Morris candidacy is that Mr. Morris wants the job. Under the circumstances, it would be unwise to discard a valuable official and put in his place one of uncertain qualifications.

The Texas Election Bureau predicts the vote Saturday in Texas will be the lightest cast in recent years in a Democratic primary. The forecast is not without reason, since there are only two statewide races, and only three contests for congressional seats; and certainly the prediction should have some weight, since the election bureau has been tabulating votes for so many years.

Be Sure To Vote

The low figures estimated by the bureau, however, seems unbelievable. The expected figure is 500,000, according to a statement accredited to the bureau. Austin political observers estimate the Saturday vote at between 600,000 and 650,000. The highest number of votes ever recorded in Texas was in the July primary this year, when Judge O. S. Lattimore, veteran justice of the court of criminal appeals, received 1,071,372 votes in his uncontested race for re-election.

It has been sixteen years since voting strength in a Democratic primary in Texas has been under 500,000. That was in 1920, when in the first primary only 449,800 votes were cast for governor. In the run-off that year, between Pat M. Neff and Joseph W. Bailey, the vote was slightly less. In 1922 the Democratic voting strength passed the 500,000 mark and has not since gone below that figure. Frequently the run-off contest develops greater voting strength than was shown in the first primary. Thus two years ago, when Governor Alfred and Tom F. Hunter made a memorial run-off campaign for office, 955,593 votes were cast, whereas only 791,011 votes had been cast in July.

While no particular political significance attaches to a heavy vote, it is important that every democrat cast a ballot at the Saturday election. Only by a representative vote can we have representative government, and because the ballot will be short and quickly cast there is no reason why everyone should not cast a vote. The contests to be decided are no less important because they are few in number. In Brown county, for example, three important county offices are to be filled, as well as three of the four county commissioner places. All are positions of great importance to every resident of the county. Remember this Saturday, and do not feel that because of a short ballot you will not take the trouble to vote.

Jay Franklin, in his column in the New York Post hit the nail on the head when he said that investors of the nation "are making more money than ever and yet they howl." Mr. Franklin points out that by the Keynesian gospel of material prosperity alone, the country is far advanced and on the upgrade, and the G. O. P. had nothing to do with it, except those who as members of Congress voted for New Deal measures which started recovery.

Why Are They Howling?

"In this connection," writes Mr. Franklin, "it is important to point out that net farm income for 1935 was higher than in 1930, that bank deposits are higher than at the beginning of 1930, that kilowatt-hour production and assets of life insurance companies are at all-time highs, that 4,000,000 of Hoover's unemployed have been absorbed into private industry, etc.

"What, then, are the Tories howling about? Why do they rush, with every sign of panic, to London and the G. O. P. as the one hope of survival?"

"The profit system and their own profits seem to be impaired and the nation has been rescued from disaster—Why all this bitterness, this meanness, this fury, this malice—What, then, are they howling about now? Surely not that they, as well as their poorer neighbors, must help pay the price of recovery? Or did they really expect to pass out to the masses of the people the cost of the depression as completely as they unloaded their inflated securities on the public in the years before the crash?"

Men (Claremore's Memorial Greengates)

If great big guns like Winchell Can have some supply His weekly twenty inches Says I, now why can't I

Specially since that inimitable Vad whom I am always quoting has written right in plain sight for everybody to see in the End Events an essay on men which expresses my sentiments so exactly and which makes him the best admirer of any of the specimen I know. It is simply too good. He won't care if I let you read it. Here 'tis:

"Men are what women marry. They have two feet two hands, and sometime two wives, but never more than one collar or one idea at a time. Like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material, and the only difference is that some are a little better disguised than others. Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes—husbands, bachelors and widowers.

An eligible bachelor is a mass of obstinacy surrounded by suspicion.

Husbands are of three varieties—prizes, surprises and consolation prizes. Making a husband out of man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope and charity—especially charity. If you flatter a man it frightens him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end; if you don't, he gets tired of you in the beginning. If you believe all he tell you he thinks you are a fool; if you don't he thinks you are a cynic. If you join him in his gayeries and approve of his smoking, he says that you are driving him to the devil; and if you don't approve of his smoking and urge him to give up his gayeries, he says you are driving him to the devil. If you are the clinging vine type, he doubts whether you have a brain; if you are the modern, advanced, and independent type, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are silly, he longs for an intelligent companion; if you are brilliant and intellectual, he longs for a playmate. If you are jealous; if you are not, he hesitates to marry a wall flower."

A public library is being completed at Claremore as a memorial to Will Rogers, who gave land for the site. His father once ran a livery stable on the same ground, and a stone from Clem Rogers' livery quarters is a corner-stone of the library building. A toast to Claremore, Oklahomans, for remembering father and son both in his tribute!

Swell hot weather reading—"Which one is Mary's master"—If you can't solve the mystery Call Hollywood and "Astor."

For a tender story which compares favorably with "Good Bye, Mr. Chipps," let me recommend Greengates, by R. C. Sherrif, New York, published by Frederick A. Stokes Company.

I have always wanted to write a book which has to do with old age, its beauty and the contrast of those who are cared for by appreciative children and those who are left drift, unwanted and helpless. It has long been a subject of my inmost heart, but never can I come to a solution of how this problem can be worked out. Greengates, is a very timely book. Old age pensions are the subject of the day and Greengates is like a passport to heaven for those who come down to old age and find themselves stranded in a heartless world.

"Greengates" is the story of a pathetic elderly English couple moldering away forlornly in their dreary old house out Camden Town way after the husband's retirement from the city on a small pension. In the latter part of the novel these two lonely old people solve their problem completely by turning their backs on their forlorn old age and their forlorn old house and moving off to a new home in a brand new development in Walden Forest, a section which years ago as newly weds they used to visit on long hikes to the woods

Perron—To irrigate her garden, Mrs. Frank Martin of the Booker home demonstration club has put down 100 feet of tile, according to Marie Ludwig, Ochiltree county home demonstration agent.

The Tile, which is placed in rows three feet apart, is irrigating a garden of 13 varieties of vegetables. Her garden is made up of beans, radishes, beets, English and black-eyed peas, carrots, Swiss chard, lettuce, cucumbers, parsley, peppers, parsnips and turnips.

McKinney—Sixty flour sacks were used in canvassing the room of Maxie Ann Drain, bedroom demonstrator of the Clear Lake 4-H club in Collin county, thus cutting the expense of her bedroom improvement.

Wago—Doris Reuter, 4-H club girl of McLennan county, won $5.00 in prize money last year and invested some of it in chickens which are paying her a profit, according to Mary Inez Scott, assistant home demonstration agent.

With $2, Doris purchased 25 cents each and spent 75 cents for chick starter. She raised 21 of these, 10 of which were sold as fryers at an average of 40 cents each and 11 of which she kept for layers.

Her hens started laying at the age of five months and this 4-H club girl sold $7 worth of eggs. With $1.20 of the profit from the fryers, Doris bought 12 more chicks and paid out 45 cents for feed. Of these she raised 11, eight pullets and three roosters, two of which she sold and one of which she kept for stock.

Doris' total expense was $4.40. She made a net profit of $7.00 and her hens are still laying.

San Saba—When San Burk, orchard demonstrator of Northwest community in San Saba county, had budded 2,500 nursery peach trees for enlarging his orchard, the labor cost was only $750, reported Ross H. Brison, county agricultural agent.

"More than 90 per cent of the buds are living, and it is estimated that there will be 2,000 trees suitable for planting. Thus, he should get $200 worth of trees for a cash outlay of only $7.50, as he is doing all the other work except the budding," stated Brison.

Centerville—Russell Long, farmer in the Nineveh community in Leon county, recently came to the decision that more money can be made out of farming by raising feed and marketing it through livestock than by raising cotton.

J. B. Short, county agricultural agent, who is helping Long to rearrange his farm, reports that the former cotton raiser intends to dig trench silos and fix pen on the hill. He is arranging his fences so that all four of his pastures will be connected with his feeding lot. He expects to put in at least

A. Approximately 900 miles, with a drainage area in Texas something in excess of 20,000 square miles.

Q. How did the Bluebonnet get its name and become the Texas State flower? E. S. L. Launenburg, N. C.

Q. You state that the Ex-Confederate pension is $25.00 a month. How much are these warrants being discounted for cash? N. V. T. Houston.

A. They are being cashed now at $22.50 by a bank that is handling them.

Q. Why do Texans shoot fireworks at Christmas? T. W. Houston.

A. In the South, fireworks symbolize the carnival and celebratory spirit and to many no celebration seems complete without them.

Q. Why are the National Guards now assembled at Palacios? R. G. Rankin.

A. Under a State law the National Guards encamp there every summer for a two weeks training school at the State-equipped and maintained camp grounds, Camp Hulen, named for Gen. John A. Hulen.

Thompson Leads Morris In All But 12 Counties

The map above shows the positions of Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the state railroad commission, and Frank S. Morris, second man, in the first primary vote in the road commission race in July. Last figures on the race showed that Thompson had 238, 130 votes and had almost carried the election by a majority over all of his opponents.

Despite the overwhelming lead of his opponent, Morris is making a campaign in the run-off primary

Aug. 22 against Thompson. The shaded area shows the counties in which Thompson led Morris. The white ones were won only by Morris. The railroad commission chairman in the white counties, Morris, led was only 3,000.

ROMANTIC HISTORY OF STATE IS SUBJECT OF NEWEST NAYLOR BOOK

A romance of Texas ranch life, when ranges were open and life itself more simple, adds to its story form much information about early West Texas ranch country and customs in John Earl Brown's YESTERYEARS OF TEXAS.

The love story of "Princess" Pat and young David Maberry unfolds gradually from the minute they meet at his father's ranch.

Lovers of western life will enjoy the author's descriptions of round-ups, of branding, etc.

Mr. Brown was born in the region then known as the frontier of West Texas, soon after the close of the Civil War. Cowmen and their families were the only inhabitants of this wide open range except for the invading and marauding Indian bands.

"The younger generations of today can not conceive of a Texas of the yesteryears of a century, and less ago. Only can they imagine the conditions then, and for a period of years subsequent, by reading authentic stories such as this, or talking to some aged person who lived during that time, amid the wild and dangerous life as it was then carried on through the length and breadth of the western frontiers.

These aged ones are rapidly passing and soon all that will be left of the Yesteryears of Texas will be history and tradition of a legendary character," as stated in the preface.

Along with a heart-felt tribute to the old-time cattleman, the author also pays honor to the family physician of other years.

His book closes on a note of regret for the passing of time, and of the change in the county:

"His life (the old-time cowman's) was made up of hardships and privations, away from what many call civilization, but where really, the only civilization is: The savage state of people really exist in the large cities and most densely populated places and surely not out in the open spaces, out on the great cattle ranges, out in the big cow-countries where law and order is more stable than most any other place on earth."

"The Greatest 50-cent Show on Earth"

Is PAINTED With Light

WHEN night comes to the Centennial Exposition in Dallas Electric Lighting paints it and changes it into a Fairyland of beauty, color and harmony. The lighting at this Exposition is one feature that earns the praise of every visitor. Even though there is enough lighting used to illuminate a city of 50,000 people, there is not one single glare on the entire Exposition grounds. All lighting is indirect or so shaded that there is no glare at any point.

The Esplanade of State, a quietly imposing scene during the daytime, flames into a place of breathtaking beauty when the lights are turned on in the evening. Visitors sit on this Esplanade hour after hour, watching the play of color as Light paints and re-paints the spectacular view.

This marvelous demonstration of mass lighting at the Exposition is but an indication of the beauty and comfort which modern science makes available to your home today through the proper use of Better Light. See the indirect lighting at the Exposition, and ask at your dealer's store or at our nearest office about Better Light for Better Sight for your home.

LITTLE INTEREST—

the past few weeks, and the result is pretty sure to be close. In the contest for county treasurer, J. G. Gaines was high man among eight candidates, with R. A. Snider second, and the two will be in the Saturday run-off. Gaines received 1716 votes and Snider 1444.

The large number of votes scattered among the other six candidates makes this anybody's race. Voters Saturday also will select three of the four members of the commissioners court, and in all three contests, the same candidates are before the voters as were voted upon two years ago. In precinct 1, the contest is between E. S. Thompson and Lawrence Moore; in predict 2 the candidates are H. I. Stapp and Jas. W. Phillips, in precinct, Charles B. Palmer and Chas. H. Butler. Thompson, Stapp and Palmer are present commissioners; Moore and Phillips have served on the commissioners court in the past. In the fourth race for commissioner, J. A. Bettis withdrew after running second. Justice of the Peace precinct 1 will have a run-off for constable Eastman Kitchen and J. B. Weems, Sr., are the contestants. Ed Murray was eliminated in this contest in the July primary.

ing team won first place in the truck race and also won first in a novelty race. The department was awarded a silver-plated fire hose nozzle, as a trophy. Ivan Hays served as captain of the racing team. Other members are Jim Pike, Pryor Martin, Olaf Gill, Modie Wells, Judson Skiles, Jr., and Charlie Alford. Among those who attended the convention were Mayor W. H. Thompson, Alderman M. J. Flowers, Chief Rance Pettitt, Fire Marshall Seaborn Jones and a number of firemen and members of their families. The association will hold their next meeting in Miles next February.

SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT MAKES FIVE ARRESTS

Five arrests were made by the sheriff's department on liquor charges last week in Brownwood. In a raid on a house on Belle Plain avenue the officers arrested Herschel Ives Thursday night. In addition to a small amount of beer, a small quantity of whiskey was seized. The same officers raided a house at the corner of Eighth street and Fisk and confiscated a small supply of beer. Mrs. Jean French was arrested. Both parties were placed in county jail following their arrest to await the setting of bond.
