NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION — PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

Those "dog ears" on the title page of The News will have to adorn the corners for a few months longer. We must have the paved roads and we must have the city auditorium. There's no retreat.

He who every morning plans the transactions of the day carries a thread that will guide him through the labyrinth of the most busy life. But where no plan is made, all things lie in chaos.—Victor Hugo.

The usual toll of human life during the hunting season is upon us, and the "unloaded gun" continually exacts its penalties. Our community has been mercifully free thus far and we hope the holiday season will bring us no untoward happenings.

Next week we issue our annual Home Town Edition and already The News force are girding themselves for the strenuous days preceding its issue. Some special features are being prepared which will guarantee the reader interest of the big edition and the most artistic array of home town advertising ever printed in Clarendon will adorn its many pages. Many hundreds of copies will be sent to friends, relatives and those interested in Clarendon, Donley County and West Texas.

About ten years ago an effort was made to conduct a county-wide chamber of commerce, under the name of the Donley County Progressive Club, but sufficient strength was never mustered to make a go of it. Now it appears that Donley County has another good opportunity to have a county-wide organization and The News is hoping that it gets better co-operation than its predecessor a decade ago. If there is any one thing that Donley County needs more than co-operation it is more co-operation. Let's have it.

It may be possible now, since the decisive defeat of the county-wide road bond that the highway commission may be prevailed upon to change the routing of the paving more to the liking of all parties concerned. When efforts were made to that end last summer the commission argued that they had no evidence that there was any great objection to the engineer's routing, and that it was their policy to back up the engineer in his judgment. The News believes that we are now able to produce the evidence of some dissent as recorded on Nov. 21st and hopes that every effort will be made to get the commission to see our viewpoint and give us the routing they were asked for. There are too many good road advocates in Donley County and our citizenship is too progressive to allow inside or outside difficulties to long delay the progress to which we are entitled through an adequate system of roads in our county. We must get together.

The Clarendon News is not alarmed over the Dallas industrial map which shows the Panhandle and West Texas of "poor" or only "fair" buying ability. There's nothing unusual about that insofar as Dallas is concerned. West Texas has never been more than "fair" territory for the Dallas market and never will be. Dallas is of the East eastern; West Texas is of the West western—and "ner the twain shall meet." From a Dallas standpoint the Dallas map is inexorably correct.

Clarendon's Christmas decorations will be up the latter part of the week if all plans work out as outlined by the committee, and our city will be among the most attractive in the Southwest. This is the first year that any organized effort at holiday decoration has been attempted and while a number of our business houses have formerly had most attractive displays, yet in 1928 all previous efforts will be far surpassed. Clarendon will be the most attractive city in the Panhandle during the holidays. It is worth the effort, too.

Preparatory to services in the next session of the legislature Editor Clyde Warwick of the Canyon News has secured the services of Mr. Gerald, a former employee, to assume active management of the News. Clyde Warwick goes to the legislature at a personal sacrifice for the good of his community, district and the West Texas State Teachers College. The Panhandle press will miss Clyde while he is away but will welcome Mr. Gerald, confident in the belief that he will measure up to the standards of excellence always maintained in the Canyon News office.

Seems to The News that since the father and son banquet has been so signally successful in this community over the past seven years that it is about time for the mothers and daughters to organize for a similar annual event. No one who has been in close touch with our community but believes that annual get-together of the fathers and sons has had a wholesome leavening effect upon the relationship of men and boys for the entire year around. If it has aided in this respect, then we may assume that it would prove of similar benefit to the women and girls of our community. After all, our chief task is to build a better and more wholesome community life and we should employ every agency to that end.

THE POWER OF A GOOD EXAMPLE

Herbert Hoover evidently aims to enforce prohibition. At the banquets given in his honor in Central America he is responding to toasts by drinking water. Washington society is taking the hint and preparing to cut out strong drinks at their festivities. Even the ambassadors and ministers of foreign countries are beginning to feel that they should respect public opinion in this country, and cut out booze parties. It is getting time that foreigners should be made to realize that Americans do not mean to evade their own laws, and that prohibition in this country is not altogether a joke and hypocrisy.—Quanah Tribune-Chief.

It was the happy privilege of The News editor to witness the Thanksgiving football game between Texas University and A. & M. College down at Austin, where forty-four thousand fans filled the University Memorial Stadium, to break all Southwestern records for football attendance. We have seen larger crowds at big days at the State Fair and at West Texas Chamber of Commerce conventions, but that is the largest crowd that we ever sat down with—and there was considerable rising up during the matinee, too. Texas won the Southwestern conference championship by defeating A. & M., while T. C. U. was polishing off S. M. U. up at Dallas. The best of good sportsmanship was displayed by both schools and the huge crowd was very orderly in spite of the high tide of enthusiasm. Such an orderly and gentlemanly gathering would have been impossible with such numbers before days of prohibition.

TRAFFIC REVENUE

Col. Clarence Ousley is advocating that land be relieved of the good roads burden which should be placed upon the traffic. Col. Ousley says:

"In pursuance of the true policy that highways should be built and maintained by revenue derived from the traffic alone, there are but four available objects of such taxation, viz: motor vehicles, lubricants used in motor vehicles and the gross receipts or tonnage of highway carriers of freight and passengers. Since motor vehicle lubricants constitute a comparatively small part of the total volume of lubricants used since there is no practical way under the present Constitution of taxing vehicle lubricants without taxing other lubricants, and since the tax on lubricants would thus operate unjustly and vexatiously, it should be excluded in the present situation."—McKinney Democrat-Gazette.

THE JOY OF WORK

The sweetest pleasure I have enjoyed have flowed out of my work.

I have done much work that was drudgery and its immediate effect was deadening and dissipating but life has mostly been good to me and has presented me with zestful tasks.

I do not know how to advise anyone to find happiness, but I do suggest that they seek it in doing their immediate job well.

Within the limits of their daily work, I recommend that the effort toward perfection be conscientiously persistent.

The unhappy and ugly people I meet, for unhappy people are always ugly, are doing shiftless work. Many are neglecting the duties that lie before them, and are groping for something that they imagine would be more satisfying. I admire ambition and self assurance and initiative but I am suspicious of their genuineness, if they are not firmly rooted in the faithful performance of daily duties.

I have observed people in all trades in all elevations, and I do not recall a single instance of a thoroughly good workman who was a thoroughly unhappy man. I can say as much for women, too. Those who can smile beautifully are doing their daily work well, mean and lowly and irksome as it may be.

If happiness is not an expression of the spirit what is it? To express the spirit constructively and efficiently gives one the tingle that is enjoyed by the true artist.

So, to those who think that the warmth of true happiness can be enjoyed without making a daily contribution to the world's well-being, I offer a sincere warning that they will be rebuked for their folly.—Imperial Type Magazine.

NEWS' CHRISTMAS ISSUE

In keeping with the custom of past years, The Clarendon News will print a Christmas issue Dec. 13. A full front page design of Santa Claus, in four colors, will feature this issue.

Following are the titles of the stories and departments that are to appear in the Christmas issue: "CHRISTMAS WITH THE DOUGHBOYS."—By J. H. Lowry. "BEGINNING OF SANTA CLAUS."—By M. K. Wyatt. "THE CHRISTMAS TURKEY HUNT."—By Austin Callan. "CHRISTMAS REFLECTIONS."—By J. H. Lowry. "REVIEW OF THE PASSING YEAR."—By W. N. Beard. "COMING OF THE WISE MEN."—By Gwen Bristow. "CHRISTMAS GIFT SUGGESTIONS."—By Margaret Stute. "BOYS AND GIRLS."—Christmas Greetings, by Aunt Mary. WOMAN'S PAGE.—Christmas Thoughts, by Margaret Stute.

The dairy heifer raised for breeding needs special care at this time of year. Allow her the run of a pasture or stubblefield until late in the fall so that she will get plenty of exercise. Feed a liberal allowance of hay and silage with possibly a little grain.

TURKEY SEEKERS SET TRAVEL MARK

IMPROVED HIGHWAYS LEAD MILLIONS BACK TO FAMILY HEARTSIDES.

By E. E. Duffy.

Thanksgiving Day of this year witnessed more travelers gathered around the homecoming festive board than ever before in all the 308 years of Thanksgiving Day's existence.

Distance is no longer the obstacle it once was to visiting the "folks back home" or the youngsters in the city. Travel induced by steam railroads assisted nightly in breaking down the barrier of distance, but it remained for the automobile, so easily bent to the power of human will, to accomplish its almost complete surrender.

The common-place day by day service of the highway is taken more or less for granted, but of all the many factors given for this country's economic and social improvement of the last two decades, the highway tops the list. Without the good highways of today, rural populations would still be without electric washing machines, tractors, crop rotation, radios and pianos, and country children for the most part would still consider their education complete upon "passing" the sixth or seventh grades.

Good rural roads have given the country the advantage of the city. Through the medium of the highway country people have been enabled to see the city as it actually is, and the city resident has come to know the country as never before. Intermixing has brought about a healthy condition—city people are moving to the country; country people to the city. And all this to the better satisfaction of those concerned.

During the last few years this movement to the city has been greater than the movement to the country. Economists look upon this with approval for changing conditions have strongly indicated that for many the cosmopolitan centers offer greater opportunity. On the other hand, there are thousands who have been restless in the industrial communities so they have migrated to the open spaces where the scenery consists of something more than smoking chimneys and water tanks.

Those leaving the farm for the city in 1927 numbered 1,978,000, according to estimates of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Those leaving the city for the country totaled 1,374,000. This represents a net gain of 604,000 for the cities. In 1928, 834,000.

All this means that the American people are "getting about" and that through the better appreciation of new thoughts and ideals, and social and industrial innovations, the national fabric is constantly becoming more tightly woven.

Transplanted citizens, then, are to be found this week, in greater numbers than ever before, journeying to the cities and to the country. More than ever, the open road is enticing to long distance travel. Across the state to grandfather's house over smooth roads is a motor trip that marks the unparalleled well-being of this age.

There is mighty poor backing to many a good front.

THREE NEW LINES TO BE REPORTED ON MONTHLY

Austin, Texas, Dec. 3.—At the beginning of the year, as soon as sufficient data to warrant proper comparisons have been gathered, the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas will include in its monthly bulletin, the Texas Business Review, tables and reports showing the progress for the month in three new lines of industry, namely, automobile sales, labor employment and consumption of industrial electrical power, according to Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau, and Berward Nichols, editor of the Review.

The Bureau has been collecting figures on these subjects for about six months, Mr. Nichols said. Information regarding automobile registrations in Texas is being secured monthly from automobile dealers in seven counties—Bexar, El Paso, Harris, McLennan, Tarrant and Travis—and includes sales of cars of 41 different makes. Reports on consumption of industrial electrical power are sent in by fifteen public utilities companies. The Bureau will cooperate with the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics in securing information as to the labor employment in Texas. A total of 51 firms are now sending in monthly reports.

GROW MORE LEGUME HAY

Legume hays should be more widely grown for feeding dairy cows, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Only 41 per cent of the hay grown in the United States at present is legume hay. In the North Central and North Atlantic States, which contain 66 per cent of all the dairy cattle, legume hay constitutes but one-third of the total hay crop.

The legume hays, alfalfa and clover, produce more hay per acre than does timothy and are higher in digestible protein, one of the most expensive nutrients in the dairy cow's ration. An average acre of alfalfa in 1927 produced almost 7 times as much digestible protein as an acre of timothy, and 15 times as much lime. One acre of clover hay produced three times as much digestible protein as an acre of timothy and as much lime as 7.8 acres of timothy. The annual legumes, cowpeas, and soy beans are almost equal to the clovers in the quantity of nutrients and lime produced.

Administration of the Schick test for diphtheria and the Dick test for scarlet fever is compulsory for all pupils between certain ages in Government schools of Mexico, under recent presidential decree. Pupils showing susceptibility to either disease must take immunization treatment. Tests and treatment are given by public health and school physicians.—School Life.

SECRETARIAL SCREENINGS

Clarendon Chamber of Commerce
G. L. BOYKIN, Secretary

Already requests for terracing have been made on this office for the coming spring. More need for a county agent for Donley County. This organization sponsored the terracing of 15 or more farms and gave instructions to possibly 150 farmers last season on this important work of conservation. An agent in Donley County would be worth his hire if he did nothing but terracing.

Interested to note the report of the Borden Milk Company survey of two Texas towns with the intent to establish a Borden Condensed Milk plant at the most suitable place. Waco and our own town of Amarillo were the two towns surveyed. The plant will be established in Waco because, as the report reads, Waco and McLennan Counties have more better roads. This plant when in full operation will mean more than $1,000,000 annually to McLennan farmers.

Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet Tuesday night, January 15th.

Spur is to construct a Municipal auditorium with a seating capacity of 2,000. Not a bad sized ideal for the town of its size, especially since the largest in other towns more than twice its size has only 2,000 seating capacity. Spur, about the size of Clarendon, has a creamery, bottling works, hatchery, milk routes, 19 bull circles in the surrounding country, hard surfaced roads, and is now to build an auditorium. It's the spirit of the man within that builds cities. Spur until 6 months ago had no organized Chamber of Commerce or other civic organization to take the lead. They did not need it with the leaders they had who were used to working for their town. The press of business made it imperative that they hire a secretary to do the work that required much of the business man's time. We hope for the secretary and the continued good of Spur that these men will not leave it all to the secretary. He cannot do it without the help of his members, and these same men by properly directing him can accomplish even more for their town, in the future. We want to congratulate and wish well our members, Wilson Bros., in establishing a laundry in that city.

Don't forget your tickets for the banquet.

A BRAND NEW PONTIAC IS COMING!

IN KEEPING with its policy of progress, Oakland has for months been working on a new Pontiac Six. It is more than a refinement of its famous predecessors. It is essentially a brand new car from beginning to end.

Details will be announced later. But this much can be said now. This new Pontiac will represent an even greater innovation today than the first Pontiac represented in 1926! Without departing from the low-price field, it will bring to this field finer elements of style, performance and luxury never before provided in a car so inexpensive to buy!

LIONS TO GIVE UP CHRISTMAS DINNER

The Clarendon Lions will not have a luncheon this year on Christmas Day. Instead of this, since the luncheon will fall on that date, the funds that would have been so spent will be diverted into channels that will give some baskets of food to the needy of the city and supply the needy folk with some things they would not ordinarily have received. The final disposition of the funds and the handling of the baskets will be determined by the actions of the Executive Board when it meets next Monday evening.

David M. Warren of Pampa was here yesterday en route home from Childress. Mr. Warren is general manager for the Nunn-Warren chain of newspapers and was a pleasant visitor in the News office while in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Connally had as their guests on Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coke Connally, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Connally and Mr. Duke Connally, all of Amarillo.

Guesses ran as low as 36 and up to the figure of 8,465. The paper was ordered by Tyree & Decker, sign painters of the city who put the lettering on the car.

POSTPONED SOCK SUPPER TO BE HELD THIS WEEK

The Sock Supper that was postponed some weeks past will be held at Martin Schol. House Friday evening of this week. The girls secure a pair of socks, fill one with cats and retain the other. The socks are sold and the purchasers find the other half of the pair of socks and divide the supper with the original owner. Proceeds will go toward paying for the lighting system recently installed in the schoolhouse. With cold weather at hand an extra pair of socks will come in handy. The public is cordially invited.

VAN BRIGGLE POTTERY TOPS AMERICAN ARTISTRY

Clarendon people are soon to have opportunity to see an exhibit of the famous Van Briggie pottery and since there are many who know little or nothing of this product of art from Colorado clay. The News is happy to present the following enlightening excerpts from the history of Van Briggie, as furnished by a member of the Les Beaux Arts Club of Clarendon:

"Van Briggie ware is known throughout the world of art for the rare texture of its glazes. This dull, velvety finish ranging from a perfectly dead effect to a slight gloss, is the most satisfactory result of long and difficult experiments on the part of Mr. Artus Van Briggie, who after years of training, both as a painter and a potter, found his final inspiration in the old Chinese pots in the Paris museums. The final experiments were carried on in Colorado.

"The clay used is found only in Black Canyon, Colorado Springs, and after the necessary primary processes is carried to the throwing room, and thrown on the potter's wheel. It is indeed interesting to see an art potter deftly shaping the crude clay into beautiful and graceful forms. Each piece passes through 24 distinct operations, all executed by the hand of an artist. The glazing and colorings are produced by a secret process, and are said to be reproductions of an ancient 14th century Chinese method which had been a lost art. The colorings are put on after the first firing, but do not appear on the surface until the second firing. These colors are typical of the skies and canyons and hills of Colorado.

"In this pottery one sees the highest artistic development of an art that is known to be the oldest in the world. The prophet Isaiah said: 'We are the clay, and Thou art the potter; we are the work of Thy hand.'

Mrs. George Garrison, Mrs. Will Johnson and Miss Thelma Youngblood motored to Amarillo Friday.
