SCHOOL ADEQUACY IS NEW WPA SUBJECT OF SURVEY IN DISTRICT

Project work in a School Adequacy Survey, sponsored by the Texas State Board of Education, began in WPA district 14 Monday, August 3, according to announcement by WPA officials.

A special WPA grant of $9,444 has been appropriated for this survey which will be in progress for a period of six weeks to analyze the present conditions of the existing school system in Texas with a view of securing data for the Board of Education which, when all collected and consolidated, will provide useful information for legislation whereby improvements may be recommended.

Technical supervision, instructions and forms are furnished by the State Board of Education while supervisors and so called "white-collar" workers in the field are assigned by the WPA who also direct operation of the project. Leslie Griffin, Zephyr, was named supervisor of the project for district 14 which includes twelve counties.

The purpose of the survey is to make a statistical and research study of the Texas State School situation with particular attention being given to the efficiency of the existing organization of administrative units, adequacy of school support with possibilities of more equitable distribution of state school money, as results of finding recommendations to be made to Texas legislation for remedial measures to secure and insure greater economy and efficiency in the Texas Public School program through the passage of more efficient school legislation.

Population Trend Studied

General facts to be gathered in the survey pertain to the general population trend from city to county and the scholastic population trend of the common, consolidated and independent schools. The assessed valuation of real property for a five-year interval from 1915-1925 will be checked. Other information to be obtained relates to the distribution of pupils by grades, statistics on transportation of pupils, present indebtedness of school systems, receipts and expenditures of school districts, physical inspection of buildings, data relating to the teaching personnel, and tax rates for school support which will carry with it an average cost per month per pupil.

Seven "white-collar" workers have been assigned to the gathering of data in Brown county who are working under the direction of Mr. Griffin, district supervisor.

Survey work, with five assigned workers, will begin in Coleman county, August 7. Counties composed in this district in which the study will be made are Brown, Coleman, Concho, Gillespie, Kimble, Llano, Mason, Menard, McCulloch, Runtels, San Saba and Blanco.

CITY-WIDE REVIVAL CONTINUES 2ND WEEK

Continuation of the city-wide revival in which all churches of the city are taking a part entered its second week of meeting at the corner of Avenue D and Eighth street.

A large choir with members from the various churches has been organized during the series of services. Steve Heather who is directing the music for the revival secured special instrumental selections by different musicians of the city each evening. Attendance throughout the two weeks has continued at a high mark.

Announcement of a new location for next week's services will be made as soon as arrangements are complete. Rev. Karl H. Moore said.

Marilyn 'For' Both Her Parents

Playing no favorites in the court battle raging over her custody, chubby Marilyn Thorpe, 4, told the trial judge that she liked both her mama and her papa, screen actress Mary Astor and Dr. Franklyn Thorpe, shown with her in the nursery of Miss Astor's Toluca Lake, Calif., home. Shortly after this apparently friendly family meeting, Dr. Thorpe swore to an affidavit that his former wife had perpetrated a fraud upon Superior Court in Los Angeles. He declared she had concealed the fact that he had obtained letters of guardianship 15 months ago, and that the current hearing therefore is "of no force, avail, or effect."

FHA OFFICIAL WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK TO AID HOME OWNERS

R. E. Sikes of the Federal Housing Administration will be in Brownwood Friday and Saturday to confer with people who are interested in borrowing money to build a new home. Thousands of new home owners are taking advantage of today's moderate costs for materials and labor. And the cost of today's moderate costs for materials and labor. And the cost of today's moderate costs for materials and labor. And the cost of today's moderate costs for materials and labor.

A modern, practical way to home ownership is with an FHA Insured Mortgage—up to 80 percent of the appraised value of the property. Unlike the old style mortgage, the Insured Mortgage is reduced by equal monthly installments—which include interest, taxes and everything—until the home is completely cleared of debt. These rent-like payments are figured to come well within your income and may be extended over a period as long as 20 years.

If the cost of your house plus the appraised value of the lot amounts to $3,000, the home owner may borrow $2,400 from the government. To repay that in 20 years requires monthly installments of $17.32.

Tornado and fire insurance in the amount of $2,500 on the property will cost annually about $26.70. Based on present valuations of property in Brownwood, the total taxes—city, school, water district, state and county, would amount to $79.30. The total tax and insurance costs per year would be $106.00 and divided into 12 payments would amount to $8.83 per month. That added to the payment of interest and principal, $17.32, makes the total cost of owning a home, that cost $3,000, $26.65 per month. It is so much easier to pay taxes and insurance by the month. Under the FHA plan the cost of building and paying for a new home is not greater than rent.

Mr. Sikes will be at the Chamber of Commerce Friday and Saturday and consultations with him will be confidential.

NEW EDUCATIONAL DIRECTOR NAMED

Miss Corrine Curtis of Lufkin will arrive in Brownwood to take up her duties as educational director and church secretary at the First Baptist church August 15. It has been announced. Wells, who was formerly educational director of the church, is serving until Miss Curtis arrives.

Miss Curtis is a college and semi-scholarship worker and for the past six and one-half years served as director and secretary in the First Baptist Church at Lufkin.

BOARD RE-CLASSIFIES 3 COUNTY SCHOOLS AND APPROVES TRANSFERS

Re-classification of three Brown county schools and the approval of practically all transfers of students made during the past few months were the two major items taken up in the business session of the County School Board Tuesday in the office of County Superintendent F. D. Pierce.

Owing to the many transfers which reduced the number of pupils in the higher grades, Muke-water was re-classified from eight to seven grades, Winchell from nine to eight and Concord from ten to eight grades. The time for making transfers of pupils from one district to another ended August 1.

Members of the County School Board are W. H. G. Chambers, Cross Cut, chairman; Dr. A. M. Bowden, May; Alvin Richmond, Blanket; A. J. Newton, Bangs; and Will Simmons, Indian Creek.

BIDS RECEIVED FOR HIGHWAY CONTRACTS IN THIS DISTRICT

Three contracts of primary importance to Brown county were let by the State Highway Commission at Austin last week including the construction of a $40,000 overpass at the Frisco railroad crossing on Highway 10 from the Brown county line to Comanche, and placing a seal coat on highway 7 from highway 10, near Brownwood, to the Mills county line.

The overpass contract was for $29,813. Provisions have been made for a beautification project to be included in the contract for the planting of shrubs and flowers on the large fills of the overpass.

Contract for paving was let to Buey & Childs of Rising Star on a bid of $132,700. Work on this important link is expected to start within 30 days. The specifications call for grading, drainage structures, disintegrated limestone base course and triple asphalt surfacing.

R. W. McKinney, Nacogdoches, received contract for placing a seal coat on highways 10 and 7. The seal coat consists of asphalt and fine screenings which will make it weather proof according to engineers.

In addition to the contracts let by the Highway Commission, work under a WPA project to improve 15 miles of the Brownwood-Trickham road was resumed last week in precinct 1, under the direction of Commissioner E. S. Thompson. The road is being surfaced with caliche topping to make it weather proof. When completed, the road will provide a direct route from the Trickham section to Brownwood.

Other road projects in Brown county to be directed by WPA include road work near Blanket in precinct 3; Bangs loop pavement; May-Williams-Cross Cut road; Trickham-Bangs-Thrift road; road work in precinct 1 near Brooksmith, and the Brownwood-Lake road.

Modification Of PWA Ruling May Be Accomplished

Dallas Meeting Protests Cancellation of Funds For Texas; Senators Aid

Modification of the ruling that no PWA projects be approved in Texas except where 100 per cent of the labor could be secured from relief rolls was sought in the adoption of resolutions addressed to President Roosevelt at a meeting in Dallas Wednesday, called by the League of Texas Municipalities for city officials interested in the PWA program. Chester Harrison, Brownwood Chamber of Commerce secretary, who attended the meeting, reported.

Under present regulations the PWA administration must get all its labor from relief rolls, both skilled and unskilled. It is a well known fact that all skilled labor is not registered for relief, Mr. Harrison said. Therefore, resolutions were passed asking requirements for PWA be given the same privileges as WPA in regard to skilled labor.

According to statistical reports concerning the PWA program in Texas, the greatest number of skilled and semi-skilled laborers by PWA is 9,000. Approval of Texas PWA projects would give employment to some 26,000 skilled workers, which would directly effect employment in Brown county Water Improvement District No. 1.

If the order regulating labor is not changed it will mean an end to PWA projects in Texas, including the project for which application has been made for construction of an irrigation system in the Bayou valley below the Lake Brownwood dam.

The Act itself provides, Mr. Harrison said, "that in the employment of persons, applicants in actual need whose names have not heretofore been on the relief rolls shall be given the same eligibility for employment as applicants whose names have heretofore appeared on such rolls."

Mr. Harrison and other Brownwood officials attended a conference with Senators Morris Shepard and Tom Connally Wednesday afternoon at which time a telegram to President Roosevelt was sent earnestly urging that he modify his previous order and that Texas PWA projects go on. Both Senators Shepard and Connally pledged their continued and whole-hearted interest in Brown county district.

Officials from Brown county who attended the meeting in Dallas were E. J. Weatherby, H. J. Lucas, W. Lee Watson, Herman Bettis of the Water Improvement District and Mr. Harrison.

Rosenberg's store.

A letter from Mr. Stanley received by Chester Harrison, Tuesday, stated that the picture of Rosenberg's new store front has been sent to Men's Wear News, of London, England. It was used in the Fall Fashion Review published by the Dallas Wholesale Merchants Association and will appear in a forthcoming issue of the British publication.

BROWNWOOD-BANGS DAY SET FOR OCTOBER 6

Because a later date was preferred by officials and citizens of Brownwood and Bangs, October 6 has been officially designated as the special day for these two Brown county cities at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, according to Chester Harrison, Brownwood Chamber of Commerce secretary, who conferred with West Texas Chamber of Commerce officials about the date last week.

The special day at the show was first set as September 15, but was changed to August 5. Since August 5 was not suitable, October 6 was set because all days from now until October 2 had been assigned to other towns.

Brownwood-Bangs Day will follow Fort Worth Day, which is to be held October 2. Large delegations from both cities will be sent to the Frontier Centennial and many courtesies will be arranged by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the cities honored on the special day. The Bangs High School chorus and the Brownwood High School band will attend the show and take part in the program on Brownwood-Bangs Day.

STRICT SANITATION RULES RECOMMENDED

Working in conjunction with city and county health officers, Dr. A. M. Dashiell of the State Health Department, Austin, made an investigation of prevailing conditions of reported cases of typhoid fever in and around Brownwood Saturday. Although he commended physicians upon control measures of quarantine and sanitation enforced, Dr. Dashiell made a number of recommendations following the survey. He advocated typhoid immunization avoidance of shallow well and surface water at all times; sanitary sewage disposal; removal of all fly breeding places; and removal of surface toilets.

Enforcement of the recent city ordinance controlling the handling of fresh fruits and vegetables to safeguard health was considered by Dr. Dashiell as a timely step which should be supported by the citizenship.

With the presence of typhoid fever in the locality, there is always some hazard of an accidental infection among the group of people who attempt to practice hygiene, therefore Dr. Dashiell advised that strict rules of health and sanitation be enforced.

Lower Bus Fare To Centennial Shows

Reduced bus fares to the Fort Worth and Dallas Centennial Expositions have been announced by Bowen Motor Coaches, operating the San Angelo-Fort Worth line.

BALLOT IS PREPARED FOR SECOND PRIMARY BY COUNTY COMMITTEE

Only nineteen names will appear on the ballot to be voted upon in the second Democratic primary election August 22 as made up by the county Democratic committee in session Saturday. There will be run-offs in only two state races, three county races and four precinct races.

According to election laws, the state Democratic committee does not meet until August 8 to make up the official ballot. In order to begin absentee voting on time, the Brown county committee voted Saturday to make up the ballot on the basis of unofficial state returns. After the state committee meets Saturday, August 8, and makes up the official ballot, the local ballot will be checked for corrections.

Request was made by J. A. Bettis, commissioner in precinct 3, who was second man in the July 25 primary, and in the run-off campaign with Ben F. Hunt, not to be placed on the ballot as he is withdrawing from the race. In spite of the fact that Mr. Bettis has withdrawn from the race, Mr. Hunt's name has been placed on the ballot to insure a majority vote.

Following is a copy of the ballot:

66.6 CENTS OF EACH WPA DOLLAR WENT TO LABOR, REPORT SHOWS

Project workers received 66.6 cents from each dollar spent by the Works Progress Administration in the Brownwood district from the inception of the program through June 30, while 23.8 per cent was spent for material and equipment in grants to sponsors, K. L. E. Wallace, district WPA director, disclosed today.

Breaking down the WPA dollar to show how each portion of the federal money was expended, Wallace accounted for his stewardship of $880,892.81 invested by the federal government and by local sponsors on WPA projects, including the National Youth Administration, in the twelve counties comprising this district.

"Taken from relief rolls, an average of 1,943 persons have been engaged on WPA projects since September 24," Wallace stated. "The number of workers has fluctuated with seasonal employment and the other elements which affect working conditions and the peak number of persons working in this district was 3,121."

Operating 115 permanent public improvement projects in this area through the winter, these WPA workers received salaries for 1,962,395 man-hours of work.

Analyzing the records of past operations, Wallace divided expenditures of WPA funds in the following percentages: Relief workers' wages, 58 per cent. Non-relief workers' wages, 8.5 per cent. Administrative salaries, 7.4 per cent. Material, equipment, and other project expense, 23.8 per cent.

Administrative rent, travel, communications, supplies, etc., 2.2 per cent. Thus, into wages and salaries went $446,774.75. Materials, equipment and projects incidentals were procured from business firms operating in Texas at a cost of $156,938.98 in federal funds.

Local subdivisions sponsoring the projects contributed $277,179.93. This sponsors' money was divided as follows: payrolls, $76,698.92; materials, $96,411.97; equipment, $99,909.76; other expense $6,159.33. The figures included National Youth Administration expenditures, it was explained.

Other vocational agriculture teachers in attendance included J. C. Hattox, Williams; V. P. Riley, Bangs; G. H. Morrison, May; A. C. Harzke, Priddy; Otha Winslar, Goldthwaite.

Announcement from Washington that no funds would be allotted Texas in the new Public Works Administration program already has brought the charge often heard, that Texas suffers because of the single party strength in this State. This is particularly a good argument at this time, when the Presidential campaign is getting under way, and it is essential that Roosevelt carry a number of borderline states to insure election.

No PWA Funds For Texas

Aside from the fact that bringing up this argument probably will prove embarrassing to the Administration when it is in need of all the strength it can muster, the point has no basis of fact to sustain it. Even asserting that the Administration would use the PWA, the WPA and other administrative units to influence the 1936 elections, there is no intimation that this has been done in the present case. The cancellation of the expected allotment to Texas of PWA funds was a severe blow to Texans, and manifestly was unfair to this State. No doubt it was based upon erroneous information. Under the new set-up, the WPA certifies from its records as to whether there is relief labor available for PWA projects. Apparently, the WPA has certified to the PWA that there is insufficient skilled labor in Texas to man the PWA projects. From numerous localities where PWA projects were being considered, it has been reported that skilled labor is available, and that the projects could be manned satisfactorily.

Texas should not be made to suffer the loss of its portion of PWA funds for needed projects at this time. Regardless of the situation in the State, it is safe to assume that conditions are no less favorable for PWA work in Texas than in any other state. If such is the case, investigation will bring it out, and the cause for the issuance of the erroneous information may be ascertained.

At any rate, if the facts are presented to officials in charge of this work, it is reasonable to assume that the unjustified and discriminatory ruling will be modified, and that Texas will receive the same consideration accorded other states.

Texas this week honored, in the most elaborate and enthusiastic manner the subject would permit, its favorite son, Vice President John Nance Garner. He and Mrs. Garner were feted at the Dallas and Fort Worth Centennial Expositions, and in Dallas Mr. Garner got so far into the spirit of the occasion as to make an address. It is an unusual thing for Mr. Garner to be persuaded to make a speech, and Dallas should feel a bit proud of the honor accorded their entertainment.

Garner Day

Many columns have been written about Mr. Garner's political sagacity, about his rugged individualism, of his value to the Democratic party and the Roosevelt Administration, about his home life and about almost every characteristic of the unusual man. Much has been written, and much more praise could well be heaped upon the distinguished man who through his own accomplishments has cast so much credit upon his native State.

To our mind, though, the most important characteristic, and the one which no doubt endears him to many, goes almost unheralded. The unbounded and sincere modesty of the man catch the fancy of the people of Texas, and make him one of the most unusual characters in public life today.

In no other country but America could such a man achieve such high position; in no other country could he retain the hold upon the people. There is no hallyho about the rise of Garner in American politics. No blare of publicity accompanies his movements. He is the most retiring man in public life in the world today. At the outset it might have been suspected that such an attitude was either a pose or an admission of his own inability. Time has proven otherwise, however, for the man little known a few years ago now is regarded as the most astute politician in Washington life.

It is fitting that Texas pay tribute to this distinguished son, who would be the last to admit his worthiness of plaudits of the State.

It is to be hoped that sufficient revenues will be derived from the liquor taxes, or from some other source, to preclude the necessity for a special session of the Texas Legislature during the fall months. Such sessions are costly to the taxpayers; they seldom accomplish much that is good, and quite frequently enact legislation which must be undone by subsequent sessions. It is estimated that the cost of a special session is from $150,000 to $200,000. Legislation at this cost is expensive medicine.

Special Session?

There is little likelihood that Governor Allred will find it necessary to call the Legislature into session prior to the regular session next January. The result of the July primaries would justify such a position on the part of the Governor. He alone of the five candidates stated that no new tax legislation was necessary at this time. Had any of the four candidates advocating special tax measures secured a sizeable vote, it possibly could be interpreted as a mandate for such legislation. But Texas voters apparently are unwilling to try any new schemes at this time.

There is another reason, suggested by The Texas Weekly, why a special session during the fall months would not be satisfactory. It would be a lame duck session. Many of the members of the Forty-Fourth Legislature have been replaced by the voters of Texas. To a certain extent their ideas about legislation have been repudiated by the people they now represent. To have them enact tax legislation, which affects the individual taxpayer so vitally, not only would be unfair, but might prove to be dangerous.

It is contemplated that special sessions are convened only in cases of emergency. Unless there is a real emergency in Texas, it would be well to let the members of the Legislature remain at home.

PEEP SHOW For Ladies Only

BY MIGNON

The Olympic Queen "Vad's Views" The Doctor Yes, Eleanor threw a party And threw it with a vim But now she finds her disgust She isn't in the swim.

Dismissed from the United States Olympic swimming team, Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, internationally famous backstroke expert, has announced she will remain in Berlin and become a spectator at the international carnival of sports.

A drinking party aboard the vessel which carried the Olympic athletes resulted in Mrs. Jarrett's being dropped from the team. It was said that she ignored warnings and was dropped as a disciplinary measure. The dismissal of Mrs. Jarrett who had been counted upon as an almost certain winner for the United States, created a world-wide sensation among those interested in the games.

She is offered movie contracts, radio contracts and the autograph of a former crown prince. So poor life. Instead of being broken-hearted at a disgrace she is excited by all the chatter. I am afraid Eleanor's mother should have used a few "back strokes" a little while ago, but then I'm an admitted old-fashioned mother.

That clever "Vad" of the End Events throws a curve at us this week:

"The reason that some girls are poor mathematicians is that they take their figures for granted."

But then we have to forgive him because in the very same column he writes about our Helen:

"By beloved friend from Pond Creek—one of the state's most capable and brilliant writers—sends me this little poem from Rhode Island:

"From the Pine Tree State Oh, I could spin you a goodly tale Of valley and mountain and sea— For I have followed the long, long trail To Kennybuck by the sea. Helen McMahan."

It was Goethe who said "A man should hear a little music, read a little poetry, and see a fine picture every day of his life, in order that worldly cares may not obliterate the sense of the beautiful which God has implanted in the human soul."

Mary Roberts Rhinehart has produced a sincere human document in her latest book, "The Doctor" which is now running serially in many publications. Because she was for many years a nurse and then the wife of a doctor one feels that Mrs. Rhinehart has written this book out of her heart and not just because she was under contract to write a new novel. However, most of us would give our eye teeth to be given such a contract. "The Doctor" is my favorite novel of Mrs. Rhinehart's since "K" of her earlier years and also the story of a doctor.

It is an absorbing story, delving deep into character and situations which seem so real that it carries conviction.

"The Doctor" is the story of Noel Arden, surgeon. The story opens during his internship, and continues on through his struggles to establish a private practice, his disastrous marriage which came about through his misguided sense of chivalry and responsibility, his professional and financial success, a collapse, and a final readjustment of personal and professional affairs on a basis that promises a happier career for the years that may remain to him. Noel Arden was nick-named, obviously enough, Christmas, which was shortened to Chris, early in his internship. Ambitions of a conscientious young doctor, whose devotion to his chosen profession amounts almost to consecration and the ambitions and frailties of his associates provide drama, comedy and tragedy. The politics of a city health department, the heartbreaks of a charity ward, the grim terror of war zone first aid stations and hospitals; the martyrdom of some of the earlier experimenters with the X-ray, the loneliness of wives, or their callous indifference to their husbands' professional ideals—these are a few of the slight details of the story of Chris Arden and the men and women whose life currents touched"/>

WEEK OF FEATURES AT LYRIC AND GEM SECURED BY COLMAN

The week beginning Sunday promises to bring to Brownwood one of the finest line-ups of pictures ever presented here. Both the Lyric and Gem theatres, under the management of Mercer Colman, are scheduled to open the new week with three very fine pictures, one of the Lyric and a Double Feature at the Gem.

Opening with a special midnight show Saturday and running through Sunday and Monday at the Lyric will be "Suzy" starring the blond bombshell of Hollywood, Jean Harlow. Featured with Miss Harlow will be Franchot Tone and Cary Grant both of whom are leading Hollywood male stars.

Tuesday and Wednesday the Lyric will present Al Jolson in his latest and greatest picture "The Singing Kid." Supporting Mr. Jolson in his picture will be a host of stars featuring Cab Calloway, the famous negro hi-de-ho of jazz and his band. Other features on this same program will be a Charley Chase comedy, "Hills of Old Wyoming," featuring the Westerners. A special feature on this program will be the Texas Centennial Highlights. This picture takes you on a trip through the Centennial in Dallas and is extremely interesting.

Thursday, for one day only, the Lyric will present "The Sky Parade" starring Jimmy Allen, himself, playing the part of Jimmy Allen, supported by a host of stars. Included on this program will be "River of Thrills" one of Grantland Rice's most thrilling adventures and a Tom Kennedy comedy.

Friday and Saturday will bring to the Lyric screen one of the most baffling mystery pictures ever produced, "Devil Doll" starring Lionel Barrymore with Maureen O'Sullivan and Frank Lawton. If you love mystery, excitement and thrills, this picture promises all that and more. In addition to "Devil Doll" Mr. Colman has booked a splendid program of short subjects including the latest edition of March of Time, Popeye, and Russ Morgan and his band in a new musical.

Starting the Gem's second week of Double Features will be Eddle Cantor in "Strike Me Pink" with Ethel Merman and "Her Master's Voice" with Edward Everett Horton, Peggy Conklin, and Laura Hope Crews. These two pictures will play for two days, Sunday and Monday. Tuesday for one day only will be "Rose of the Rancho" starring John Boles and Gladys Swarthout and "Navy Wife" with Claire Trevor and Ralph Bellamy.

Mr. Colman says that for Wednesday and Thursday at the Gem he has booked what he calls the Perfect program, three big attractions on one program including a return engagement of the Louis-Schmeling fight pictures, Robert Montgomery and Myrna Loy in "Petticoat Fever," and Jack Haley with Adrienne Marden in "F Man."

BROWNWOOD HAS TWO ENTRIES IN CONTEST OF FISHER COMPANY

Billy Newby, senior, and Winstead Dedman, junior, are the two contestants of Brownwood who have entered the state contest of The Fisher Body Craftsman Guild, an educational foundation sponsored by Fisher Body Division, General Motors Corporation at Detroit, Michigan.

Each boy constructed a miniature model traveling coach according to specifications and instructions furnished with the raw materials by Fisher Body. Knowledge in art craft and no small amount of study was required in the complex and intricate workmanship of fashioning the model. The boys were selected for their talent from their classes in manual training and junior state contest, which will be judged in Detroit, are awarded $75 for first place and $50 for second place. In addition, they will be eligible to compete in the region contest comprising nine districts. Texas is included in the region with Arkansas and Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Two boys, one junior and one senior in each of the judging regions, whose coaches receive the highest average score, will be given a trip to the annual Guild convention August 26-29 at the Cleveland Centennial Exposition.

Newby, 18-year-old senior entrant, was enrolled as a post-graduate student in a manual training class at the Brownwood high school last year, and has had a course in craftsmanship at A. & M. College, Dedman, 14-year-old junior entrant, attended junior high school and completed his first year course in manual training.

The coaches were shipped Saturday in special constructed boxes to protect them from incurring any damages. About two months was required to complete the models, the boys said.

Boys entering the traveling coach competition are considered Guild apprentices. Every Guild member who submits a completed coach in the competition will receive an apprentice certificate of craftsmanship.

STOCKMEN TO REPORT SCREW WORM CASES

To convey to livestock raisers practical and economical methods in treating screw worms cases and in controlling the screw worm fly is the purpose of the meetings and demonstrations which are now being held at scheduled places in the county under the direction of Clets Kelly, district supervisor of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine division of Screw Worm Control.

A meeting with ranchers and farmers was held Monday night at the Williams School and Thursday night at May to assist livestock raisers in combating this problem.

The adult screw worm fly breeds only in living animals and lays its eggs on any wound or abrasion on livestock. Wounds should be kept under close observation and treated with dehydrated pine tar oil until the wound heals, Mr. Kelley said. Those infested with screw worms should be separated from the herd and kept in a small pasture in a convenient location where they can be treated frequently.

To prevent cases of screw worm, stockmen are requested to delay surgical operations, by using benzol in killing screw worms in wounds and by reporting cases of screw worms to the screw worm supervisor through County Agent C. W. Lehmburg.
