"THE REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
 Governor of Texas

AUSTIN—Louisiana and Texas joined hands last week to make history when the Sabine River at Pendleton, spanned by a bridge for the first time, was dedicated. For over two hundred years men have either ferried or forded the stream: Sam Houston and his soldiers, home-stealers and traders, the French explorer St. Denis and many other picturesque figures have formed the colorful procession of those who gave so interesting history to that section of Texas.

Governor Leche and other dignitaries of Louisiana participated with members of the State Highway Commission and myself in dedicating the new structure. It was not hard to visualize the ceremonies as a prelude to the steady stream of traffic which some day will travel over the magnificent steel structure down Highway 21 whose route cities and towns will attempt to popularize as the best link between Mexico City and Washington, D. C. With that traffic will continue the present-day toll of human lives and property damage unless our program of traffic safety can check the needless slaughter.

Traffic experts of the nation agree that there is no magic solution to America's Number One Problem. It is agreed—and proved in 13 states—that by militantly and intelligently carrying out the three "E's" of traffic safety—engineering, education, and enforcement—that a reduction in traffic accidents can be accomplished.

Last Spring in an effort to mobilize the forces that might best put into action the safety "E" of education, I appointed the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee composed of outstanding safety laymen and officials over the state. Under the chairmanship of C. J. Rutland, this committee has carried on a splendid work despite the obvious handicap—often fatal to an educational campaign—of a lack of funds. More than 75 towns have organized local traffic safety councils that are functioning actively in their fight to lessen the toll of traffic accidents in their communities.

Under the leadership of Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, and member of the state-wide committee, a six weeks course was given on traffic safety to teachers attending the last summer session. A similar course was given at A&M College where it was pronounced a marked success. Doubtless next summer there will be many other colleges adding traffic safety to their curriculum, as will more grammar and high schools. The results of this educational work will be seen in the years to come as this school generation become drivers.

The Governor's Traffic Safety Committee recently published a traffic manual, "Creating Safer Communities," designed to aid cities and towns in their efforts to combat traffic accidents. Many civic clubs and councils have requested copies which have been supplied them free. The splendid cooperation of the newspapers and radio stations have greatly aided the educational program.

The "E" of enforcement in the state program is carried out by the Public Safety Department whose highway patrol correlates its duties with local agencies charged with the enforcement of the law. This intelligent body of patrolmen has been increased by an additional force of 138 men who have just completed an intensive two months training school in preparation for their duties. With the help of the amended drivers license law passed at the regular session and this increased patrol force, the citizens of this state will be better protected than ever before in the past from the careless, dangerous driver.

The highway department has charge of the engineering phase of traffic safety and under the capable direction of its new highway engineer, Julian Montgomery, there will be no effort spared to insure safety on the highways of Texas.

In the final analysis, of course, the whole problem of traffic safety rests upon the driver. If he obeys the same, sensible laws of the road and street, Texas will not repeat the toll of 2,000 lives sacrificed to the automobile last year.

But the service station boys continue to refuse to clean our spectacles.

Perhaps the reason is that they know false teeth would be next.

In some states the chief executive is accused of throttling the newspaper columns. In Texas Gov. Allred tells the cockeyed world each week about the affairs of state through his personal column headed, "The Rest of the Record." Read it every week and keep up with what is going on in your state politically.

Frank White Jr. at the hatchery is aiding hens to produce eggs with green yolks. See them at the Clarendon Hatchery. The time may come when the customer entering the cafe will yell: "Eggs up. Make 'em pink." Pink often matches the elephant they see.

In South America Guiana is owned by three nations giving that partitioned section the names of British, Dutch and French Guiana. Just now the French have 423 political prisoners doing duty in their swamp down there. The men were convicted of refusing to do military service because they did not believe war necessary in any nation, much less France.

During 1935 1,317,000 men, women and children were killed by autos and trucks in this nation. If it would stop autos and trucks, this nation's inhabitants would be safer with a first-class war going on all the time.

Of all things! A man in ole Alabama has invented a process of coloring cigarette smoke without altering the taste or smell of the contents. He has been offered fabulous sums by cigarette manufacturers who would use it as an advertising medium. Imagine going into a bus with pink, green or yellow smoke predominating!

Famous sayings: "Vote for me and I will keep you out of war." And another dandy is: "Save the world for democracy and end all wars." Perhaps you will recall this one: "Balance the budget." Then you will likely come to the conclusion that "gossip" seeps into every crevice of human habitation, and is just as easily swallowed by the multitude.

While prospecting in the Rocky mountains many years ago, the presence of the Scotchman was resented by a Plute Indian who promptly snagged the Scot with an arrow. The pain accelerated his speed to the extent that the canny Scot reached Denver just as the Valentine parties were getting into full swing. Although warned by his surgeon that certain death would result if the arrow were not removed, the Scot applied his newly found profession of posing as a Valentine model at the swanky parties. He passed to his reward February 15th after accumulating several hundred dollars in the capitol city.

Donley Co. Leader—$1.50 a Year.

Statement of Rep. Marvin Jones of Texas

Most of the members of the House Committee on Agriculture seem to prefer a voluntary farm program as to most commodities. Personally I favor the voluntary or premium method rather than penalty or compulsory control.

By using soil conservation payments and adding additional funds secured through tariff equalizing taxes, premiums can be paid to the farmer as an offset to the tariff, and he will then have a better income, and at the same time his products can flow into the markets at home and abroad.

On the other hand, the penalty or compulsory control method will tend to curtail our markets both here and in foreign countries by encouraging foreign competition and domestic substitution.

There are two extremes. Some favor production in unlimited quantities regardless of price.

Others would undertake by compulsory control to gain a temporary high price regardless of its final effect on outlets and markets. A middle course that would undertake to secure a fair price and at the same time to produce all that the market will absorb both in this and other countries would seem to be desirable.

It is important that our foreign markets should not be surrendered. Any adjustment or control program should be shaped so these markets can be gradually regained.

F. F. A. NOTES

Future Farmers Initiate Greenhands

Twenty-two greenhands were initiated Tuesday night, November 9, by members of the Clarendon F.F.A. Chapter. A business meeting of the entire chapter was followed by the formal initiation ceremony, as outlined in the F.F.A. Manual.

A busy hour following the ceremony was spent in the process of aiding the greenhands to appreciate their new privileges. Belts, paint, feathers, sawdust and other materials made the acquaintance of the new members. Wednesday the Greenhands were easily identified at school, as each was carrying a hoe, rake, or shovel.

Pig Feeding Featured by F.F.A. Boys as Leading Project

A bountiful feed crop in Donley County provided the impetus for the local F.F.A. boys to make pig feeding one of their major projects for the year. All pigs being fed are of superior blood lines, though a few of them are first crosses between breeds.

The following boys are feeding pigs this year:
 Darrel Bailey 5, Jr. Brame 2, Maschil Cole 2, Horace Green 2, Odell Davis 1, Forest Helton 3, Troy Moore 2, George Moore 8, Demp Robinson 5, Jr. Spier either 2 or 6, Beatty Hillman 2, Earl Porter 2, Frank Mahaffey 2, Rex Shannon 2, Joe Williams 5, Gene Putman 2, Beryl Longan 2, Howard Strawn 6, Max Rampy 8, Johnny Leathers 10, Earl Shannon 2, Carl Morris 2, and Russel Morris 1. A number of the pigs are registered and the boys will keep the best gilt they feed for a brood sow.

F. F. A. Boys Check Projects Monthly

Once each month members of the local Vocational agriculture classes, check the progress of their projects. Each boys feeding calves, pigs, or lambs weighs his animal once monthly, calculates cost of feeding per pound gained, and the total amount gained. Boys with other projects also check their projects in their records monthly to determine their progress.

Brice Merchant Says Crops Good But Prices Low

"Folks down our way have a bumper crop, but the price is so low that very little is being realized on it to date," M. S. Parsons stated today. There will be an abundance of feed for the coming year, and that will beat what has been done for several years.

Mr. Parsons stated that a few were selling their cotton outright, but most of them are holding it.

Duck Season Opens Saturday, Nov. 27.

State And Federal Rules Are Rigid For Hunters

A week from Saturday local hunters will take to lakes in quest of their daily bag limit of 10 ducks. The season lasts from November 27 to December 26 and hunters must have a federal stamp which costs $1. Stamps are obtainable at the United States Postoffice.

Under rigid state and federal regulations, the season is closed on wood duck, ruddy duck, bufflehead, canvasback, redhead, Ross' goose and swans. Nearly all of these species on which the season is closed have red markings. The simple and safe rule for hunters is—IF YOU SEE RED—DON'T SHOOT.

Observationists announce Texas hunters get a break this year as warm weather has delayed large flights of ducks and geese. Usually the fowls have migrated farther south before West Texas shooters are ready because of late seasons.

In Texas it is unlawful to:
 Hunt from a motor boat; use live decoys; use a shotgun holding more than three shells; hunt from an automobile or airplane; hunt on state game preserves; hunt, kill or take any duck, goose or brant by other means than a shotgun, not to exceed 10-gauge; keep game in storage more than 10-days; sell or buy game birds, fowl or animals, dead or alive; refuse to stop and allow any game warden to search automobile or game bag.

Women Said to be Too Personal to Become Famous Dress And Makeup Specialists

The average man stands a much better chance for fame as a dress designer than the average woman, says Milo Anderson, studio stylist.

Anderson made his statement when asked why so few women were represented among Hollywood leading creators of fashions.

The failure of women in this field is not because of a lack of brains or ability, Anderson said.

"Strange enough, the average woman would fail as a designer because she would be unable to choose gowns for anyone but herself.

"Looking at a new creation, her first thought instinctively would be—how would it look on me? It would be almost impossible for her to visualize how it would look on Kay Francis, Carole Lombard or any other actress for whom she is designing.

"I believe the same reason has kept women in the minority among makeup artists, for instead of visualizing how a new shade of lipstick would appear on Bette Davis or Madge Evans, they consider it in terms of its value to their own type of beauty.

"For the same reason that Hollywood makeup artists are men like Jack Dawn, Max Factor, the Westmore, so the designers are men like Adrian, Travis Banton and others."

Anderson, however, gave credit to a few women who have succeeded

Panhandle Museum Has Many Rare Specimens

A total of 130,878 persons have registered at the Panhandle-Plains Historical museum since April 14, 1934.

The museum, located on the campus of West Texas State College, has been visited by 35,343 persons since last April 14. This figure is already larger than that of any other year. In the first calendar year the total was 29,724, in the second 28,831, and in the third 26,980.

The huge collections of objects illustrating early life in the Panhandle and the priceless archaeological specimens are housed in a building placed here by the State and by citizens of the plains who contributed substantially to the cost. The museum is open from 2 to 6 p. m. daily, including Sunday. At night the lighted interior is noted by many tourists. It is on the paved highway to the Palo Duro canyons, hence may easily be seen by persons going there. The two attractions and the rock work on the College campus are recommended as an afternoon's drive for residents of this section.

Prof. C. Stuart Johnston and students of paleontology may be found working on specimens almost any week day. Currently they are assembling large skeletons for display in the museum. The museum collection is now the most complete and most important in existence bearing upon ancient animal life on the plains, notwithstanding that distant institutions have been working in this section for many years.

THIS AMAZING PLANET

By Roy Chapman Andrews

In the gem collection of the American Museum of Natural History is a magnificent carved emerald weighing 87.64 karats. The stone came from Colombia, South America, which produced all the finest emeralds in the past, even as it does today. It was captured by the Spaniards and carved in India sometime between the 16th and 18th centuries, at the beginning of the Mogul domination of that country.

No one knows how it escaped being ruined by the Spanish soldiers, who were not too familiar with emeralds when they discovered the vast stores of the Incas. At that time the test for a diamond was to place the gem upon an anvil and strike it with a hammer. The true diamond was not supposed to break.

The Spanish soldiers treated emeralds in this way, to see if they also were gems, and destroyed great numbers. For the emerald is one of the most fragile of stones.

The Spanish priests, however, gathered up the broken pieces, and as many whole emeralds as they could get, and sent them back to Europe. For many years the world price of emeralds, now the most valued of all gem stones, was depressed by this flood of conquered treasure. After these stones had been absorbed—many of them were bought by Indian princes—the price climbed back to a high level. Recent work has resulted in the production of synthetic emeralds in such good crystals that even an expert finds it difficult to distinguish them from the genuine stones.

Another remarkable jewel in the museum collection is "The Star of India," the largest cut star sapphire in the world. Strangely enough, we do not know the story of this famous and very valuable gem.

Mrs. M. T. Howard, owner of the Howard ranch southwest of town, was in town Saturday and stated conditions were excellent for wintering stock.

Texas Produces Better Cotton Grades This Season

Grades of cotton to date this season for Texas continues somewhat higher than those of last season for the similar period. Smaller proportions are reported this year over last year for staple lengths 15-16 and 31-32 inch and for those 1 inch and longer. The proportion is also less this season than last for staples shorter than 7-8 inch, whereas the only staples representing larger proportions are 7-8 and 29-32 inch.

White Middling and higher grades constitute 57 percent of all cotton classed so far this season against 49 percent last season. Strict Low Middling and lower White grades represent smaller proportions this season to date than last season; however, the proportion of all Spotted grades is slightly larger this season.

Staple lengths of the crop to date this season are: shorter than 7-8 inch, 16 percent; 7-8 and 29-32 inch, 49 percent; 15-16 and 31-32 inch, 28 percent; 1 inch and longer, 7 percent.

A larger proportion of the crop is tenderable this season than that of last season, the percentage being 83 and 77, respectively.

Texas' Security Tax Rolls Up Millions in Fund

AUSTIN—Anniversary of the first year's administration of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act discloses $17,000,000 contributed by Texas employers to the "Jobless Fund" for the qualified unemployed. Benefit payments from this fund will become payable on January 1, 1938.

Figures made available recently by Orville S. Carpenter, chairman-director of the Commission, disclose the cost of administration has amounted to two per cent of the collections. This cost is borne entirely by the Federal government and is not deducted from the contributions of Texas employers.

Interest for the year amounts to approximately $154,000.00, which is included in the total fund figure given above.

More than 12,300 Texas employers are contributing to the reserve fund for the 700,000 employees in the State covered by the Act. If one lost his job, the Employment Service would aid him in finding another and, failing that, would pay to him a certain amount for a certain period of time. The amount and the duration of the benefits will depend upon the work record of the individual employee.

Legion-Auxiliary Meet At Dalhart November 20th

It will open Saturday afternoon with a "wreck" staged by the Amarillo Forty & Eight to initiate new members. A well authenticated report has it that a prominent state official is one of those slated to ride the goat, it was learned today from C. C. Gibson, member of the Amarillo Forty & Eight and also a member of the convention program committee.

There will be a dance Saturday night with an Amarillo orchestra

Are you a grateful person or a grouch? Are you a gloom dispenser or a gratitude spreader? Do you grunt when grace is given for the gruesome things of life or does your heart overflow with expressive gratitude? This is Thanksgiving season. Surely every one of us ought to cast aside the sins and sorrows which have beset us this year and enter into a season of Thanksgiving that shall eclipse every other such occasion in our city. God has been good to us, and one is happy to believe that no one will so far forget himself and those about him as to fail to enter into a season of Thanksgiving to almighty God for all his benefits.

A man after God's own heart said, "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord." Again he called unto his people and said, "Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto him and bless his name." Make Sunday Thanksgiving Day in your church with your presence and a good offering, then join with all christians and all people in our National Thanksgiving Day Thursday November 25, at 10:00 o'clock in the Methodist Church for our Thanksgiving service.

Regular services Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist Church. We are grateful always when you come.

Henry Daniell and Gladys George in "Madame X"

"Madame X" Comes to Pastime With Gladys George In Gripping Starring Role

"Madame X," one of the most celebrated and heart-stabbing dramas the world has ever known, will be the headline attraction at the Pastime Theatre where it will be shown for the next fortnight.

With the highly touted Gladys George in the title role and such screen favorites as John Beal and Warren William playing the son and father respectively, the famous story of a woman's degradation and her ultimate sacrifice comes to the screen as one of the major Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offerings of the new movie season.

With its settings, characterizations and treatment brought up to date by John Meehan, who adapted such hits as "A Free Soul" and "Strangers May Kiss," the story of "Madame X" follows the melodramatic career of the beautiful young French governess who is given a taste of wealth and happiness only to descend down the scale of life until as an old, withered haridan she is defended against a murder charge by her own son.

The title role was made to order for the versatile and talented Miss George who not only demonstrated her ability in an original stage role of "Madame X" but subsequently came to the fore in the Broadway hit, "Personal Appearance," and her subsequent brilliant screen performance in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie." In the present picture she sings for the first time, Walter Donaldson having composed a special song number for her, "You're Setting Me On Fire."

John Beal, in the role of the son, will be remembered for his outstanding work opposite Katherine Hepburn in "Little Minister." Warren William comes to the new picture following his excellent portrayal in "The Firefly." Others in prominent parts include Reginald Owen, William Henry, Henry Daniell, who played the rich suitor in Garbo's "Camille," Phillip Reed, who was Tallulah Bankhead's leading man in "Reflected Glory," and Lynne Carver, the young heroine of "Maytime."

"Madame X" was directed by Sam Wood whose long string of hits range from Joan Crawford's melodramatic "Within the Law" to the recent Marx Brothers' laugh extravaganza, "A Day at the Races."

St. Louis have been fed on this xanthophyll-free ration for a year and other than laying eggs with nearly white yolks are in normal condition.

A hen has no way of building an egg other than with the feed she gets. Knowing this, Purina scientists have been able to develop a balanced, blended combination of ingredients that gives a layer just what she needs for consistently turning out an A-1 product. Eggs with firm, lemon-colored yolks and strong shells are the results.

Hens feeding on green grass get a great deal of xanthophyll, which causes them to lay eggs with deep yellow or orange colored yolks. Such eggs often have a strong flavor and are discriminated against by the exacting housewife.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—Government agencies reported Thursday that both domestic consumption and exports of cotton the first two months of the current season were larger than the August-September totals last year.

The Commerce Department figures showed, however, that domestic consumption declined from August to September while foreign purchases increased.

The Census Bureau reported domestic mills used 1,206,217 bales of lint cotton during the two-month period this year compared with 1,204,781 bales last season. September consumption was smaller than August or September, 1936.

The volume gain this season over last was 11 per cent, but lower prices reduced the increase in value to 7 per cent.

Purina Laboratories Evolve Method for Yolk Color

Laboratory scientists have recently proved that the tinting of eggs for Easter can take place inside the egg as well as outside. Inside tinting is all a matter of feed. Experiments conducted by research workers in the Purina Laboratories, St. Louis, Missouri, show conclusively that hens are able to produce yolks in shades ranging through bright red, orange, blue, purple, brown, black, white, and green, simply by varying the feed.

The Clarendon Hatchery is repeating some work done in the Purina laboratories, and have on display in laying batteries ordinary hens that are laying eggs with yolks green enough to make an Irishman's heart proud. Right beside them are hens laying eggs containing the usual yellow colored yolks. It's all a matter of feed.

By building feeds in which all sources of xanthophyll are eliminated, poultry experts of Purina Mills have persuaded hens to lay eggs with almost colorless yolks. Many college experiment stations have used these white-yolk eggs in experimental work. A number of hens in the Purina laboratories in

Veteran Navy Man Visits Clarendon

Spent Over Twenty Years In U. S. Navy Before Taking On Special Work

One of the most interesting visitors here in many years is A. F. Dawkins, brother of R. R. Dawkins, both of whom are ex-navy men. A. F. Dawkins served over twenty years in Uncle Sam's fighting fleet in practically every section of the Globe.

Because of his keen insight and special training, Mr. Dawkins has been assigned to work as a special agent since severing his connection with war vessels. Naturally, this line of work keeps him on the move constantly, giving him an opportunity to gain first-hand knowledge of world affairs as well as that of our own nation.

When asked for an expression of conditions in China, Mr. Dawkins stated that China would not be equipped to begin to fight for some six months yet. It is his opinion that the Oriental conflict will become quite active once China is supplied with war materials and sufficiently trained men to properly man the war machines. Other leading nations cannot afford to permit Japan to take charge of China, he said, and these other nations will see to it that China is supplied.
