ILL HEALTH CAUSES PASTOR TO RESIGN

Effective September 1, the Rev. Robert Y. Davis, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and president of the Brownwood Ministerial Association, tendered his resignation of his charge which was accepted by the Vestry of that church Monday. It has been announced. Mr. Davis is resigning because of ill health.

While rector of the local church Mr. Davis also served the Comanche Parish one Sunday each month. In addition, he has been a prominent worker in local civic activities, and is a member of the Brownwood Kiwanis Club.

Mr. Davis with his family came to Brownwood from Farmington, New Mexico January 1, 1935. After September 1st, he contemplates moving to a higher altitude to begin a period of rest to regain his health.

BROWN COUNTY EXHIBIT AT FRONTIER SHOW IS LAUDED BY LOCAL CC

Delegates of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, who attended the formal opening and dedication of the West Texas exhibit at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial last week, report the District 10 exhibit of which Brown county is a member, among the most eminent in the group.

Chester Harrison, secretary of the local organization, states that the Brownwood panel is very attractive and occupies a prominent place in the exhibit hall. The most unique panel in the exhibit is the Bangs panel, he said.

A map of the counties composing the district is shown on a revolving wheel, fashioned after an old waterwheel. The panels on this wheel represent each county which show the leading products of that county. At the base of the exhibits cards are attractively arranged to show in what commodity the county is outstanding. Brown county rates in the production of turkeys and pecans as one of the three leading counties of the state.

STUDENT TRANSFERS MUST BE COMPLETED BEFORE AUGUST 1ST

F. D. Pierce, county superintendent, calls attention to parents of all children whose grades are not taught in the home district to come to his office immediately to secure the students' transfer to a scholastic district where they are taught. The transfers must be applied for in person this year and must be made by August 1.

A transfer means that a child's per capita apportionment is to be sent from the home district and does not carry with it the right to attend the receiving school free for the entire year. The law provides that the transferred child shall be allowed to attend free for as long a time as the state and county have available funds with which to operate the school of the receiving district.

In the case when the transferred child is above the grades taught in the home district, the state or home district is obliged to pay for the tuition. If his grad is taught in the home district, the child or his parents are compelled to pay the tuition.

Phooey on It!

The water screen which shields changes in scenery at "The Cavalcade of Texas," spectacular historical drama at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, may be interesting to the customers, but to 20-month-old Lida Jan Goodin, mascot of the cast, it seems to be just another rain in the sack.

FIRST COUNTY GRANGE ORGANIZED BY EARLY FARMERS ON TUESDAY

Organization of the first subordinate Grange in Brown county with 30 charter members was initiated into the farm family fraternity at a meeting of farmers at Early High Tuesday. Officers temporarily elected are: L. W. Garmon, master; C. E. Boyd, lecturer; and Lefroy Preston, secretary.

In operation in the United States for seven years, the Grange has been of untold value to the farmers of the country. It is held. The National Grange has a membership of over 800,000 distributed throughout the nation.

Rapid strides have taken place in the Texas State Grange organized one year ago. Thirty-three counties of the state now have organized Granges. They extend from Smith county in the east to Wise and Denton in the west, and down through Johnson, Williamson, and Bexar counties to Kieberg county in the south section of the state.

The Grange cooperates with all other organizations of the community in promoting good, and serves the educational and social needs of the farm family. In addition, the National Grange looks after the legislative needs of the farmers in Washington.

Selection of Miss Pauline Adams was made to represent Brown county as sweetheart at the Grange and Farmers' Day at the Texas Centennial in Dallas on July 29 and 30. Contestants from 29 other counties who will compete in the honor of being named Miss Texas State Grange will attend. L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, will also be present.

The Early Grange endeavors to become one of the most active organizations in Brown county and expects to take advantage of all the benefits that the Grange has to offer, it was expressed. The next meeting of the Early Grange will be held August 4.

CANNING PLANT TAKES RECESS FOR ONE WEEK

PERSONALITIES INFLUENCE STATE VOTE IN ABSENCE OF WORTHY POLITICAL ISSUES

It's about all over but the voting. In most cases, voters will find the spirited races confined primarily to counties and districts. Although there has been considerable fuss in the papers and from speakers' platforms in connection with state races, it appears that there will be few really close contests for state offices.

The governor's race naturally incites top interest; from a state-wide standpoint. However, in spite of the vigorous campaigns conducted by all five candidates, no real issue has been raised this year, and for that reason candidates have been unable to arouse the public beyond a lukewarm attitude toward this important contest.

Governor James V. Allred, running for his second term, naturally has the inside track, being the "in" candidate, it fell upon the four others to stir up an issue, which they have failed to do. There has been a lot of talk about old-age pensions but nothing has been advanced to make an issue of this topic.

Other candidates for governor are F. W. Fischer of Tyler, Tom Hunter, of Wichita Falls, Roy Sandertord of Belton and Pierce Brooks of Dallas.

Fischer apparently has spent considerable money making his campaign. He has vigorously toured the state and he has had several able speakers stumping for him. He is wealthy, a lawyer and an oil man. He has a practical platform, and except for an "oil" year, he should make a good race.

Tom Hunter for the third time is asking the voters of Texas to elect him governor. He was in the second race with Allred two years ago and made a favorable showing. He and his friends are counting on that vote to put him in the run-off this year, but close political observers do not credit him with anything like the following he had in 1934. For one thing, he had the Ferguson "vest pocket" vote, likely most of that vote this year, doubtless considerably shrunk by this time, will go to Sandertord, for whom Ferguson has been campaigning.

Sandertord naturally will poll a considerable vote because of the Ferguson label; but for that same reason, those close to Texas politics do not credit him with enough strength to land in second place. Sandertord is a state senator and has been active in Texas politics for several years.

Pierce Brooks is a newcomer, like Fischer, in politics. He is a Dallas real estate man. Although he has made a vigorous campaign, he is not figured to land anywhere near the top when Saturday's votes are counted.

State papers are freely predicted.

MT. VIEW VOTING BOX

The voting box in the Mt. View community will be in the J. B. Whitehead residence, on the new Cross Cut road, according to an announcement by Thomas H. Taylor, county Democratic chairman, and Louis Harris election judge. This new location was made necessary because of a fire in the former voting place.

INTEREST SHOWN IN LOCAL FILMS

Six color reels of Brownwood scenes, which were made for showing in the West Texas exhibit hall at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, were shown in connection with the programs at the Lyric Theater Friday to a large audience.

The Chamber of Commerce made arrangements to have the reels brought here before the opening of the Fort Worth show. A percentage of the receipts for the day were presented to the Chamber of Commerce, which will be applied on the purchase price of a projection machine of the very latest type.

The films included scenes of Lake Brownwood, Brownwood State Park, the two colleges, the residential and business districts and industries. Everyone who saw the films declared them exceptionally good.

PICNIC AIDS FUND FOR 4-H CLUB BOYS

Proceeds of the all-day outing sponsored by the 4-H club of Woodland Heights, held in Coggin Park Wednesday, was added to the club fund to defray expenses of members who plan to attend the Texas Centennial in Dallas.

Ball games, tournament races, barrel roping, and cigar races were featured during the day's program. A basket lunch was served in the evening which was followed by candidate speaking.

Quite a Change

CONTROL MEASURES TO PREVENT SPREAD OF TYPHOID SET UP

Administering typhoid serums, setting up quarantines, screening homes, and providing milk, ice and other necessities in needy cases, are the precautionary steps taken by the city health department, physicians and residents of Brownwood to prevent a city-wide epidemic of typhoid fever and to control the cases which have been reported within the city.

Nine families, with from two to three cases in each family, have been placed under strict quarantine, and every effort is being made to prevent further contamination. Dr. J. M. Horn, city health officer, said. The majority of the cases are confined within a limited area of the city in the Adams branch section from which source it is believed the typhoid germs are being contracted by children and adults drinking or playing in the water.

Close cooperation of all physicians and the citizenship as a whole will be necessary in the prevention of the spread of the disease. Dr. Horn stated. Any cases which are slightly suspicious should be reported immediately by the attending physician, it has been requested.

Homes are being screened where typhoid exists under the direction of John Gray, city sanitary engineer. The city is providing screening materials and labor in cases where the residents can not provide them.

Typhoid serums are being administered daily by Mrs. Roy Gower, city health nurse, employed by the Junior Service League. Volunteer workers are asked to assist Mrs. Gower in giving the serums to take care of the large numbers who are taking the serums.

The County Welfare Board, under the direction of Mrs. Ruby Ables, is providing milk, ice and other necessities in needy cases. Careful investigation of every case reported is being made and wherever needed quarantines are established as control measures of the existing situation, which, at present is not acute, but could become dangerous if not checked. Dr. Horn pointed out.

He emphasized that the major objectives of vocational service, community service and international service be well established in the mind by the club and its members.

Mr. Wemple, who was recently elected district governor of the Atlantic City international convention of Rotary, has begun his official tour of the big district. He was accompanied here by H. Hilton Kaderli, a business associate.

PERSONALITIES—

Senator Morris Sheppard has five opponents in his race for re-election to the United States Senate. Only one of these, however, is being given a chance by political observers. He is Joe Bazle, present U. S. Representative from Harris county. Others in the senate race are: Joseph H. Price, Tarrant county; J. Edward Glenn, Bosque county; one-time candidate for governor, Guy B. Fisher, San Augustine county; Richard C. Bush, McLennan county.

It is freely predicted that Senator Sheppard will receive enough votes to eliminate a second primary.

Walter F. Woodul, Harris county, has no opponent for his second term as lieutenant governor.

The same is true of William McCraw, Dallas county, for attorney general.

Other incumbents who have no opposition are: C. M. Cureton, chief justice of the supreme court; Richard Critz, associate justice of the supreme court; O. S. Lattimore, judge of court of criminal appeals.

Four men are opposing Col. Ernest O. Thompson for his second elective term as railroad commissioner. They are Goodson Rieger, Harris county; Carl C. Hardin, Erath county; H. O. Johnson, Harris county; Frank S. Morris, Dallas county. Only Hardin and Morris have made active campaigns, and Thompson is figured to lead the field by a wide margin in the first primary.

George H. Sheppard has two opponents in his race for re-election as state comptroller. They are Sam Houston Terrell, McLennan county, and Walter Walton Covington, Travis county. Prognosticators give the incumbent a good chance to win in the first primary.

The race for commissioner of the general land office has developed beyond the usual invidious stage this year for the reason that both candidates have made vigorous campaigns. They are John W. Hawkins, Lavaca county, and William H. McDonald, Eastland county. A. A. (Pat) Bullock, Bexar county, who has been in state politics before, is opposing L. A. Woods, incumbent, for state superintendent of public instruction.

The race for the post of commissioner of agriculture has developed into a spirited contest, with

BROWN COUNTY PIONEER EXPIRES AT ZEPHYR

A. J. Baker, Sr., 84, pioneer resident of Zephyr, died at his home Thursday of last week. Funeral services were conducted in the afternoon with the Rev. L. J. Vann officiating. Interment was made in the Zephyr Cemetery, Mitcham Funeral Home making the arrangements.

Born in Arkansas, December 27, 1851, Mr. Baker came with his parents to Texas in 1861 and located near Farmersville. He was married to Thurse B. Jordan in 1872, who preceded him in death in 1932. He later settled in Turkey Peak community where he was engaged in the livestock business for many years. In the late 80's he moved to Robert Lee in Coke County where he served as postmaster. During this period he made eight trips to California.

Two sons, A. J. Baker, Zephyr, and J. L. Baker, California; one brother, Walter Baker, Tacoma, Washington; and eight grandchildren survive him. Two children preceded him in death.

Incumbent J. E. McDonald opposed by George B. Terrell, former commissioner of agriculture and congressman-at-large (Alto, Cliff Day, Plainview, and Kal Segrist, Fort Worth. The Terrell name is hoped to give him a large following, while McDonald is figured to run strong in spite of his trouble with the legislature last year. Cliff Day is a dirt farmer, well known among Texas farmers and may poll a surprising vote. Segrist is a former ball player.

In the state treasurer's race, diminutive Charley Lockhart, incumbent has two opponents in Harry Hopkins, Tarrant County, and Garland Adair, Travis county. Garland is a well known newspaper man and long a figure in politics. He is given a fair chance to get in the run-off with Lockhart.

Tri-Meet Stresses Measures of Safety

Twenty employees of the Brownwood-Coleman district and three out of town speakers attended the tri-annual safety meeting of the Community Natural Gas Company held here last week.

The purpose of the meetings which are held three times each year is to stress the thought of safety in the minds of the employee who in turn must seek to transfer the thought of safety in the minds of the consumer. Safety methods for driving and taking care of cars was also given proper attention.

Correct Mark Needed In Casting Ballots

Many ballots are discarded in each election because of improper marking, according to election officials, who urge every voter to be sure his ballot is correct before it is cast.

Under the law a voter shall draw a line through the names of the persons for whom he does not want to vote, leaving unmarked the name of the one for which he desires to vote.

"A ballot with a check mark or an X placed before the name of the candidate for whom the voter wishes to vote, leaving the remainder of the names on the ballot is void, and the ballot cannot be counted.

The law further states that it is unlawful to bring a sample ballot to the polls to check the official ballot. Such a vote will not be counted. Neither is it lawful for an election judge to assist a voter in casting his ballot, nor is it proper for the voter to place his signature on the ballot.

Please Let Me Finish My Farm To Market Road Program

The duties of the office of County Commissioner of Precinct No. 4 have been such that I have been unable to present my candidacy for re-election in a personal way to all of the voters. I present the following facts based on the records and ask for your consideration at the polls on July 25th. I have worked hard to make you a good County Commissioner, and hope that you may see proper to elect me for the next term that I may complete the work that I have now under way.

Acting under the suggestion of our President that we improve our rural routes, bus routes, and Farm to Market Roads, I have under construction at this time more than 20 miles of surfaced roads. I have approved 20 miles more for surfacing and all-weather tops.

There is not a mail or bus line in precinct 4 that has not been improved, or work is under way in doing so. The prospects now are that 1937 will be our best year to get out on these projects for those who have co-operated with the past programs.

It is not an easy matter to get appropriations of this kind, and it is still harder to carry out the requirements as the work goes on.

I do not think that there is a County in Texas that can show more results with compared values and assets than Brown County has to show in the various programs during the past four years.

I would not say that I can accomplish more than anyone else in the work, but surely this past experience in an entirely new kind of work should enable me to accomplish more for the County than if I had not had this experience in these various programs. Saying nothing of the many other problems of even more importance than the roads, that daily confront the Commissioner in directing the County's business, the time will come when this National aid will cease, and our lateral road problem will be our own, and our present road tax will never maintain our roads that will meet the demands, and needs of our county; therefore it behooves us to take every advantage of government aid while it is available as it will surely save us tax money later.

I have co-operated with City, County, and Government officials in all relief matters, and in all projects that benefit the County as a whole.

I have left nothing undone to provide work for our unemployed, and have made it a part of my business to see that aid was given our aged and infirmed. With the great shrinkage in valuations, and small tax collections we have managed to bear the extra load of expense without raising your tax rate, and do not contemplate doing so. I want to thank all the people for the fine co-operation given me in the past. I also want to thank the County candidates for the courtesies shown me in our association during the campaign, and most of all I sincerely thank my honorable opponents for the way they have conducted their campaigns in that no word nor act has been done that could wound the feelings of any one, and I sincerely hope that my conduct has been such that it will merit the approval of these two fine gentlemen. As a result I thank you to let me serve you again.

Yours very sincerely, Chas. B. Palmer

Winston (Wink) Palmer

I wish that I had words that would express to the citizens of Brown County for what you did for me when you gave me my first term, and I have tried to show my appreciation by rendering you the most courteous, and efficient servant that I knew how.

I wish that I could have made a house to house canvass, as I did two years ago to thank each one personally for what you did for me, but the work in the office would not permit.

So when you go to the polls Saturday, if you think that I have handled your business well enough to MERIT any consideration for a second term, I will appreciate a ny consideration that you can give me and if you see fit to give me a second term I will try to make you a better hand next time than I have the first time.

Thanking you again, and again, Your servant, WINSTON (Wink) PALMER (Pol. Adv.)

TO THE VOTERS OF BROWN COUNTY

Perhaps I have not been able to see you personally and solicit your support in my race for the office of County Treasurer, and I take this method of asking your consideration in Saturday's election. I have made my home in Brown County for the past 30 years, and feel that most of you are acquainted with me. I feel that commercial college training, business experience and long contact with the public have qualified me to render efficient service. I trust that when you come to cast your vote next Saturday the name FRED H. SMITH may be your choice.

Your support will be appreciated.

FRED H. SMITH for County Treasurer (Pol. Adv.)

To the Voters of Commissioner's Precinct No. One, Ward 4:

Owing to the fact that I have had a great many duties to perform during the present campaign for Commissioner of Precinct No. One, it has been physically impossible for me to see every voter in person, although I have done my best to do so. I have felt that I should attend to the duties of office first, and therefore, I have been unable to make a personal visit to each voter. By giving close attention to the duties of the office, I have been able to place the roads in the best of condition they have ever been, and at the same time keep the finances of the precinct in good condition. I am making this race strictly upon the merits of the way I have handled the business of the office, and my record is open to the inspection of everyone, and I invite your careful consideration of the same. In the event I do not have the opportunity to see you personally, I hope that you will realize that it was because of the duties of the office, and consider this as a personal solicitation for your vote and help in this race.

Finally—State Comptroller, eliminating the inefficiency of the past years and organizing the department so that the State would obtain all of the revenue due.

Due to him, the Motor Fuel Tax income was $37,152,000 in 1935, an increase of $3,273,053 over the previous year and a gain of $7,457,256 over the collections for 1933.

The Cigarette Tax revenue this year will exceed $5,500,000 against $4,301,277 in 1935.

These are some of the accomplishments under the present State Comptroller, serving you, the taxpayers, well.

Your vote for him means a continuation of an efficient service. (Pol. Adv.)

"Mother, you're right! It's good common sense to have our home re-roofed and made leakproof. Nothing is so destructive as the elements. I believe, too, that we should have it re-papered as soon as the new roof is on." "Bill, I am glad you notice how bad the paper looks. I did not mention it to you because it would have been useless to re-paper under a leaky roof. We have kept the outside painted and the yard is always well kept. I am proud of the outward appearances of our home, but it would be nicer to have the interior beautiful and comfortable."

To the Voters of Brown County

As life time friends of Grundy Gaines, candidate for County Treasurer, we wish to call attention to some facts concerning his life and qualifications which make him a worthy man, deserving of the position for which he is asking to be elected.

Mr. Gaines was left a widower eight years ago, with eight children, ages ranging from seventeen years down to twenty-one days, dependent on him for support. Three of these children are still in public school, and as a normal parent, Mr. Gaines will make every effort to give these girls the advantages of an education. Mr. Gaines has always dealt squarely with his fellow-man in business transactions, and upheld a high moral standard in social conduct. He is thoroughly competent to perform the duties of this office efficiently and will prove a ready and willful clerk to any one that calls upon his services if elected to the office.

MODERN STRUCTURE TO REPLACE OLD PHOTOGRAPHIC STUDIO ONCE OCCUPIED BY A. M. HARTUNG

BY LILLIAN KRAUSE

TODAY, the tapping noise of hammers is resounded throughout the walls of the old Hartung building which has long occupied a prominent position on Center Avenue. Soon a completely modernized shop to be occupied by Hery Rosenberg will replace this historic landmark.

For many years the studio of A. M. Hartung, noted photographer recognized throughout the country, was located at this site. An enduring building which he furnished with the most modern equipment of the day was constructed solely for the use of a photographic studio during the early 20th century by this prominent Texas photographer.

A reception room and gift shop comprised the first floor. The entire second floor was given over to the studio, which was built exclusively to suit the needs of his photographic work. A portion of the roof was enclosed entirely in glass to give the best lighting effects possible. Hartung could be seen here limning his characters pictures. He excelled in a high type portrait art, although he did some commercial photography, and his portraits were awarded first places in several national art exhibit contests. Thus his skill and craftsmanship won for him national fame.

In addition to his photographic work, Hartung had a great love for fine horses. His interest sharpened along this line until he became engaged in the breeding of fine saddle horses. Strains of these thoroughbreds may still be found in stock in the community around Brownwood, it is said.

With the advent of automobiles and their growing popularity, horses quickly passed into the background. Due to the decreased demand for saddle horses, Hartung sold his entire interests and left Brownwood approximately 30 years ago. Very little has been heard of him during the span of years following his departure.

R. B. Rodgers purchased the building from Hartung. In later years S. D. Rodgers, photographer, VOTE for your neighbor, WILLIAM H. McDONALD of Eastland, for STATE LAND COMMISSIONER.—(Political Adv.)

James V. Allred has made Texas a good governor. He richly deserves the customary second term; and there is no doubt that he will get it. But the people of the state owe it to him to go to the polls Saturday and settle the matter definitely and conclusively, thus eliminating a second primary so far as the governor's race is concerned.

Settle It Saturday

He should not have been called upon to make a campaign this year at all. He has served Texas well and honestly. He has presented Texas most favorably before the entire nation. Wherever he has gone, he has been a credit to the state of which every Texan should be proud. Opposition to his second term should not have been announced, because it was totally uncalled for, entirely lacking a basis of plain reason.

In spite of every possible effort exerted by the four ambitious candidates and their various backers, they have dug up nothing against the administration of James V. Allred. Moulding generalities, such as any precinct politician has used for half a century, is the limit of their findings; nothing tangible, nothing sensible. No person is without basis of general criticism. The governor of a great state naturally can be no exception. The wonder of it is that with four candidates digging diligently for months in search of an "issue" - anything to hang onto the governor - they found so little to say! That in itself is a tremendous testimonial to the character and ability of Allred.

In its young governor Texas has potentially a great national statesman. For citizens to do anything at this time to hamper his service to the state and the nation would be to cast stones in their own path. Thinking Texans won't. Allred deserves to be, and will be, elected to a second term. Why not save him the necessity of another four weeks' unnecessary campaigning by giving him a clear majority Saturday?

For years thinking voters have recognized the shortcomings of the antiquated fee system of remunerating certain public officials of Texas political subdivisions. As the horse and buggy gradually went into the discard to make way for the automobile; as highways replaced narrow wagon roads; as modern living replaced pioneer struggle - there came a definite need for a modern system of paying public officials of Texas counties and precincts.

People's Voice Frustrated

Yet politicians, usually motivated purely by selfish instinct, fought such modernization. They were unwilling to forego the fatness of the fee system for something which an impatient constituency likely would likely give as a substitute. Finally, however, sometime ago, in response to a growing clamor on the part of an insistent citizenry, the legislature passed a measure which gave the voters an opportunity to vote out the antiquated fee system; and they did so, emphatically.

But it seems that the legislature had an ace up its sleeve. Its members well knew the power of the various lobbies maintained by organizations of public office-holders, and they did not want to be placed wholly at the mercy of these lobbies. Legislators reserved for themselves the right to set the basis of remuneration, if, as and when the people voted to abolish the fee system.

What the legislature handed the people in return for the fee system turned out to be, according to figures being presented by county after county, an abomination. The new "salary" system went into effect January 1, this year.

Without exception, counties which have reported their experience under the new "salary" law have reported higher costs of maintaining their public officials - those, that is, who formerly were paid out of fees of office.

What the legislature did was simply to set flat salaries for former fee officers at a rate not less, in any case, than the office paid the year before in fees.

This means simply that where formerly fee officers had to get out and collect their fees in order to get them, today they have no such worry. They simply turn in such fees of office as they collect to the county's General Fund and they draw upon that same fund salaries equal to the fees which they collected when they were receiving all such fees!

In other words, former fee officers are receiving the same amount from taxpayers as they formerly received, but they don't have to earn it in order to receive it.

With but few rare exceptions, no former fee officer is collecting fees sufficient to pay the salary the legislature agreed to pay him; and no single county thus far reporting has received in fees from its officers money sufficient to pay the salaries of these same fee-collecting officers.

A typical example of the added cost to taxpayers is Tom Green county. During the first six months under the new system, former fee officers turned into the General Fund a total of $19,375. These same officers collected in salaries, guaranteed by the legislature, a total of $31,386. This is not an isolated case, but typical of already tax-burdened Texas counties.

Again the taxpayers of Texas have been thwarted in their fight to right an antiquated and tax-eating system! Again taxpayers are paying "through the nose."

Saturday Texas citizens are faced with a serious task. They have the opportunity - the inalienable right - to choose their public officers for another two years.

Vote For Yourself!

The fact that usually less than half the qualified voters in Texas take the trouble to go to the polls is proof that citizens fail to take their ballot seriously. Too many qualified voters take the attitude that their single vote could count for little, anyway. But officials are elected by votes counted one at a time.

To many of those who do vote take their task lightly. Too many vote for a man because he has a good hand-shake or a pleasant smile; too many others vote for a candidate because they feel that he "needs the office."

Yet when a citizen casts his ballot for a candidate, he is voting on a manager for a certain branch of his - the citizen's - business; he is choosing a person to handle or direct the handling of thousands of dollars of his and his neighbors' money. If he were choosing a man to manage a phase of his own business he certainly would not make his selection simply upon the basis of an applicant's hand-shake, his smile nor his need for the job. A citizen can afford to do no less in the choice of his man for public office.

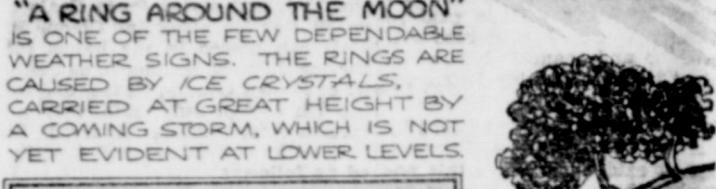

One state candidate has come out for pensions for all persons sixty years old or older. He's a piker. Why not make it fifty, or forty or even twenty; then nobody but the tax-collector would have to work!

Shirtless Bathers You're Needed Folk-lore To wear a shirt or do without Is now the burning question But either way a manly chest Does naught to my digestion

It is the thing now a days to quibble about the men's shirtless chests exposed at the bathing beaches, I suppose, for we read the arguments pro and con over and over. Copying their coy backless suits from the girls, many of the men are trying to please Agnes or Matilda. As far as this columnist is concerned it really doesn't matter. Perhaps there should be a law requiring chest permanent waves though, but who looks at a man twice when these lovely mermaids come along in a rubber suit. As for as I'm concerned if I should want to go sight seeing I'd take a trip to the Grand Canyon, I so swimming to kick, splash and cool off, but I'm just plain old fashioned anyway. Take the beauties now, they never go near the water.

A woman signed "Maybelle," at Mountain Grove, Mo., sends me a little squib entitled "Philosophy of Life, for Women Only." She writes: "Those blue days come to every one of us when we regard ourselves as the world's greatest flop. And we wonder if, at all, we wouldn't be doing friend hubby a great favor by ending it all - either in the lake, the woods or the divorce court. And all our misery is the little fact that our house is not as immaculate as Mrs. Over-the-way, or our version of an angle cake comes out of the oven as flat as a phonograph record.

We stew and fret because we are not as articulate and well posted on current topics as our more well-read neighbor, or because we can't look like a million on a five cent dress allowance. And we say to ourselves: "All I can do is wash and bake and stew!"

When we have those days, let's remember the immortal words - "They also serve who only stand and wait." Of course, in our case it's wash, bake and stew, but the world couldn't go on without this ordinary routine of homey service. Each woman has her own particular talent for enriching the lives of those about her. When you bake a batch of cookies for the little youngster who says "we don't have cookies at our house anymore," when you listen to a friend's troubles, even though you have plenty of your own, when you sit up with a sick neighbor or keep lonely vigil over the dead, when you do those things, why waste time worrying because you can't play the piano or make a speech in public or wear your clothes like a movie actress? The old world has a place for the singer, the artist and the movie actress, but who would want to live in world bereft of women whose shoulder was fashioned for other folks to weep upon? So go on baking and sewing and cleaning, secure in your knowledge that the world needs you.

The Centennial goes are having some fine folk-lore rallies I'm told. But there are some folks who never heard of folk-lore. We don't appreciate the lore we have around us, I'm afraid, which will soon be lost if not preserved. Ben Botkin of the University of Oklahoma has done much for Oklahoma's traditions and lore which is as rich as and as colorful as a tribal ceremony.

I want to tell you of some definitions of folk-lore which Mary Elizabeth Bahnkey who is a indefatigable student, has sent me. Mary Austin, the renowned folklorist who died recently in Texas, says "When folk-lore and local influences are given as much attention in our public schools as is given to influences that are alien and remote, then the spiritual integrity of our people will begin to find adequate expression." Barrett Clark, writer, says "by developing one's provincialism fiercely, passionately, completely, one may interest the world." Walter R. Smith, archivist, says "Our neglect to study folk-lore is unpardonable, for when they are all gone who know these fundamental things, our means of understanding the life of the early days will be poorer, because of our ignorance of the vast wealth of folk-lore we could, and should have preserved." Alexander Haggerty Frappé gives another definition of folklore which interests me, for I have forgotten them all "Folklore is a science involving the study of survivals! that is, the sum total of stories, songs, beliefs and practices which belong to a bygone age, and which have ceased to have direct and organic connection with our present day life."

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. As evidence of good faith inquirers must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. I understand that Americans who received land grants from the Mexican government prior to 1825 were required to become Roman Catholics. Were many Texans baptized into the church? If not, how did they evade the requirement? R. C. S., Cleveland, Ohio.

A. The Mexican colonization law of March 25, 1825, merely provided that settlers should be Christians and of good moral character and conduct. Empresario grants, made later, specified that "the families were to be of the Catholic religion and of good moral character." Neither provision was strictly observed.

Q. What is the amount of pension money received by Texas Ex-Confederate soldiers? F. G. Rochelle.

A. Those who are single receive $25.00 a month; those who are married $50.00. Pensions are not paid to those who are cared for in the Confederate Home at Austin.

Q. Is the oldest farm in America located in Texas? D. B. E. Martin.

A. According to the history kept in the old church, the first farm to be cultivated was in connection with the mission at Yleta, fifteen miles southeast of El Paso, in 1540 and cultivated continuously since except when interrupted for short periods by Indian invasions. This antedates the San Augustine, Florida settlement 25 years and that at Santa Fe 42 years.

Q. Please help me to locate Buchanan Dam on the map. S. A. Columbus.

A. It is under construction on the Colorado river about the center of a triangular area with Burnet Llano and Marble Falls as the corners.

Vigorous boiling in lots of water destroys the valuable vitamin and mineral content of fresh vegetables. The thoughtful woman wants to retain these health-giving elements. The controlled boiling heat which the modern gas range provides does not rapidly evaporate water when boiling vegetables. Mothers can serve more healthful food by following this simple method of modern gas cookery.

- 1. Cooking vegetables the semi-waterless way on modern gas range requires no special type of utensil.
2. Place vegetables in pan and cover with about one-half inch water.
3. Place covered pan over simmer burner. Turn to fast heat. When boiling starts turn burner to simmering heat which maintains a gentle boiling action retaining healthful vitamins.
4. After cooking is completed nearly as much liquid remains as was originally put into vessel, and there is no loss of valuable mineral oils or vitamins.
5. Gas simmer cookery is clean and labor saving. It means cooler cooking and a cleaner kitchen for there's little escaping steam rising from a covered pot of gently boiling vegetables.

To The Voters of Brown County

At the close of the first primary campaign, I desire to express my deep appreciation for the many courtesies shown me, and also to thank the people of Brown County for the hearty co-operation given me as Sheriff of Brown County. Without such loyal assistance rendered me by the good people of the County, it would have been impossible for myself and Deputies to have discharged the duties of the office. During this campaign, I have been very busy carrying out the duties of the office, and therefore it has been absolutely impossible for me to see every voter in person; but, it is my belief that it is my duty to look after the affairs of the office first and to campaign when there is no work to do, and I hope that you will not hold it against me if I have failed to see you in person and will consider this a personal solicitation for your help. If elected again, I shall continue to do my very best to make you an efficient officer. Thanking you again, I am,

Yours sincerely,
W. E. HALLMARK,
Sheriff Brown County.
