$330,000 Announced As 5th War Loan Quota For Donley

J. R. Porter, War Bond Chairman for Donley county, announced this morning that Donley county had been asked to raise a quota of $330,000 in the Fifth War Loan drive. Of this amount $85,000 is to be raised in E Bonds.

Our quota for the 4th War Loan Drive was $299,000 and we raised $379,772 and the quota of E Bond sales was $91,000, and we raised $119,868, so our quotas this time does not amount to the total we raised the last time, but it will be a big task and everyone will have to cooperate in order to get the job over.

The drive is scheduled to start June 12th and Mr. Porter will announce in next weeks issue of the Leader the quotas for each community and the community captains along with other plans to really put the drive into high gear.

SANITATION IN POULTRY

A poultry house swept and visibly clean doesn't always mean that it is sanitary, says Dr. W. A. Boney, poultry veterinarian for the A&M College Extension Service. Many disease germs, worm eggs and external parasites may be present but not visible. A house is at its best after it has been scraped with hoe and shovel, scrubbed with hot lye water, 1 can lye to 15 gallons of water, spray with a good cresote disinfectant after drying.

Sanitation, Dr. Boney explains, is expressed in the effort to keep surroundings and equipment clean in order to prevent disease and losses. Regardless, high death rates sometimes occur in flocks cleanly housed. This may be due to attempting to fit too many birds into too little space having inadequate equipment. This he believes verifies the adage that "it makes no difference how many birds you put into a house, they will die down to fit the house."

Sanitation also involves other safeguards against disease, such as buying disease free chicks blood testing flocks regularly for pullorum disease removing daily all visibly sick birds and quickly destroying all dead ones.

Good chicks deserve a chance, which means protecting them against disease from infancy. Old stock are the most likely carriers of the disease and parasites, Dr. Boney suggests. Isolate the old hens from the chicks and disease hazards not only would be greatly reduced, but many poultry problems would disappear. That's the only way roup and colds can be controlled.

Old birds never should be brought in from the outside and placed with the farm flock. The double hazard in doing this is the possibility of contracting a disease from the home flock, or the likelihood of introducing a disease, especially roup.

FOXWORTH-GALBRAITH LUMBER COMPANY HAS NEW MANAGER

After a number of years service with the Foxworth - Galbraith Lumber Co., J. K. Morton, local manager, turned over the management today to Tom M. Roberts.

Mr. Roberts comes here from Tucumcari, N. M., after being there some five weeks. Previous to that time, he had served with the Naval forces for 9 weeks and was given a discharge. Before entering the Navy, he was manager of the Foxworth-Galbraith yard at Quanah for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts' family consists of three children: David Jr., Mary and John. The Leader force joins with its fellow citizens in welcoming the Roberts' to our little city and know that they will find it a wonderful place to live.

Attend Funeral of Granddaughter

Laverne Marshall, in company with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Marshall and daughter, Mrs. C. J. Jackson and her daughter of Wichita Falls, attended the funeral of their granddaughter, Miss Wynola Morris at Clovis, New Mexico Saturday. Miss Morris was killed in a car wreck. They returned home Tuesday.

Local Nine Beaten By Army Boys

Last Sunday at the local diamond, Clarendon was soundly whipped to the tune of 19-5 by the Pampa Army Air Field forces. Errors marked the game throughout. Even though the local boys stepped out of their class, the outcome was much more harsh than anticipated.

Batting highlights found a home run being hit by the Pampa 2nd baseman into left field and a triple by Lois Putman to the same sector. Pitcher ace Putman went the route for Clarendon. Prominent too, was the loose playing of the entire Clarendon infield.

However, the army men had a most enjoyable time and were most profuse in their thanks, Dr. Watson, local manager, stated. "That, undoubtedly was the highlight of the day," he said.

Following the game, which boasted a fine attendance, local citizens showered themselves with a little bit of glory by cheerfully accepting the army players into their homes and giving them all a bang-up supper.

"When the P.A.A.F. started home, they were all smiles and nothing but a deluge of things greeted my ears," Dr. Watson stated. "They had had a fine day—to be able to play before appreciative friendly eyes, to be lax without undue criticism, to win, and once again enjoy a home-cooked meal was heaven itself."

"It is hoped that our efforts to bring good teams here to play is appreciated (even though we may be beaten) and that the attendance will be good every Sunday," the popular manager stated.

Next Sunday the local boys play at the Memphis stadium at 3:30 and are expecting good support from local fans, including the stentorian cat calls mingling words of encouragement from fans like Frank Phelan.

William G. Word Receives Navy Commendation

Outstanding service as a member of an armed guard crew while in convoy to Casablanca last August has won a letter of commendation for William G. Word, Jr., 31, Gunners Mate Second Class, USNR, of Silver City, N. M., the Eleventh Naval District announced recently.

Word's wife, Mrs. Amye Jane Word, resides at 707 Bullard St., Silver City, N. M. He was born in Canyon, Texas.

William G. Word is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Word of the JA Ranch near Clarendon.

The commendation issued by the chief of the Bureau of Naval Personnel, was for service aboard the S. S. Solomon Juneau when the vessel was attacked by enemy aircraft last Aug. 13.

"Hostile planes approached the convoy from dead ahead," the commendation reported, "coming out of the setting sun and flying very low over the water.

"As they flew down the column of ships, launching bombs and torpedoes and strafing the decks with machine gun fire, the armed guard - coolly held fire until they were within range, and then struck back with a terrific barrage of accurate shellfire which shot down one plane and contributed to the destruction of several others.

"The Navy gun crews effective defense of their ship enabled the vessel to successfully fulfill her appointed mission."

Word's "courageous and brilliant performance," was in keeping with the best traditions of the United States Naval service."

was serving as nose gunner on a B-24 bomber and according to latest reports, he had nearly completed the required missions over enemy targets to get to come home.

Rites Held Here Today For Mrs. Dorothy Snelson

Funeral services were held this afternoon for Mrs. Dorothy Snelson at the First Baptist Church with Rev. R. D. Evans of Amarillo officiating.

Mrs. Snelson, the former Dorothy Cearley, was reared in and around Clarendon and Lelia Lake. She was graduated from Clarendon High School in 1939, and was married to R. D. Snelson that same year. They moved to Amarillo for a short time, but later returned to Clarendon. They lived one year in Hereford before again returning to Amarillo to make their home. At the time of her death she was making her home with a brother, Paul Cearley, of Borger and was visiting with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Cearley in Amarillo at the time when she was slain by an unknown assailant early Sunday morning.

A number of suspects have been questioned by Amarillo police but to date no definite clues, motives or otherwise have been found.

Mrs. Snelson is survived by her husband, two children Billy Dwayne and Norma Lee, her mother, Mrs. J. T. Cearley, two sisters, Mrs. D. M. Brazille, of Amarillo and Mrs. J. B. Ranne of Hereford, and three brothers, Dial Cearley of Amarillo, J. T. Cearley Jr., in the Navy at Williamsburg, Va., and Paul Cearley of Borger.

Pallbearers were Raymond Walker, Doyle Brazille, Leon Foster, Otto Elliott, Earl Webb and Pat Myers.

Burial was in Citizens cemetery.

GAS FOR FARM VOLUNTEERS

Persons who volunteer for spare-time labor on farms and in food processing plants this summer may apply for special gasoline rations to get to and from this work, OPA announces. The applicant must arrange to carry at least four persons, including the driver (or as many as the car will hold), and must show there is no other adequate transportation.

B-2 & C-2 GASOLINE RATIONS INVALID AFTER JUNE 1

On June 1 all B-2 and C-2 gasoline rations will become invalid for consumer use, the District Office of Price Administration announced today.

Persons holding B-2 and C-2 rations which will not expire until after June 1 must present the coupons to their Ration Boards before June 1 in exchange for valid coupons of equal value.

District officials announce that gasoline dealers have until June 10 to turn their ration evidence over to distributors. Distributors must give their ration evidence to ration banks by June 20.

June Atteberry is in Dalhart visiting relatives this week.

Beneficial Rains Fall During Past Week

The general rain that started falling here last Friday broke the drought that had held up early planting in this section and was estimated to be the life saver of our future crops and also assisted wheat growers in this section.

The slow rain Friday was followed by intermittent showers over the week end and then again late Tuesday afternoon, the always expected but not hoped for happened. The west side of the county received one of the old type of washers that amounted up to as much as seven inches in some sections. Approximately two hundred feet of railroad track near the west county line was underdetermined. Carrol creek near the Country Club went out of its banks and stock tanks in that section received several feet of water to overflowing. The Groom section received a devastating hail that wiped out one of the best wheat crop prospects in years. The Jericho vicinity received around 2½ inches rainfall but no hail damage was reported.

Latest reports this morning from the Goldston community state that they received a repetition of the Tuesday night flood totaling more than 5 inches again last night and that Carrol creek went on another rampage and the Country Club lake which has not gone over the spill-way in the last three years was still running over this morning.

The rainfall in each occasion has covered practically every foot of the county and including the heavy downpour late Wednesday evening, the report at the official weather station at the airport showed the Clarendon vicinity to have received approximately three and one-half inches during the past week. This measure could possibly vary quite a bit as the station is five miles southwest of Clarendon and some figure the fall to have been heavier here in town.

It now looks like a busy time ahead for our farmers as most all early cotton and feed will have to be planted over and the way the weeds will grow will be pitiful. Anyhow, most everyone was more than glad to see the moisture and the more the better as long as it will fall right.

Warning Against Canning Powders

Chas. Reed, Donley County Agent, states there's no magic and plenty of harm in "canning powders." Under no circumstances should these preservatives be used in home canned food. This advice comes from the food preservation specialist of the A&M College Extension Service, Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz.

If you want some reasons—there are plenty of them. Some of these powders likely contain chemicals such as formaldehyde or salicylic acid. Now maybe one small dose of these wouldn't prove harmful. But if you continue to take them in canned food, they might prove most injurious.

Incidentally, most canning powders don't preserve. Mrs. Leverenz says botulinus, one of the most treacherous bacteria, can continue to grow and give off its deadly poison in canned food put up with powders containing boric acid.

And, too, some of the powders decrease food values. For instance some compounds contain bisulfites that destroy Vitamin B1.

Here's one more warning. Homemakers who put faith in canning powders are likely to become lax in cleaning their equipment and in careless canning methods. So a homemaker might use a canning powder comparatively harmless to health and still have food ruined by spoilage organisms.

Nothing will take the place of heat properly applied in right canning methods—and you'll find those methods in a B-85 "Home Canning of Fruit and Vegetables" canning bulletin from the Texas A&M College Extension Service. You can get a copy from your county agent at Clarendon.

Arthur L. Chase
Writes Interesting
Letter From Italy

EDITORS NOTE—The following letter is so interestingly written that it merits publication that all our readers may enjoy its vivid description of a land torn by war, and of ancient places steeped in historic grandeur. The letter was written by T/Sgt. Arthur L. Chase to his parents here, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Chase. Sgt. Chase is somewhere in Italy and is connected with the 16th Machine Recording Unit, a branch of the Air Force. (Continued from last week) And now back to the Naples tour! I mentioned before that I also went to Caserta, and while there I went through parts of the mammoth King's palace, which is the only thing of interest there. It is about the largest single pile of bricks I have ever seen and is amazing for the grandeur of the Grand Staircase, which is done up in all assorted varieties of marble and the few big state rooms that I saw which reach the ultimate in gilt and damask and colossal dimensions. The external architecture is plain but impressive, and the building was worth the time it took to get there.

I didn't get to spend very much time actually in the city of Naples, but I did spend one afternoon and my last morning wandering around through the main part of town, window-shopping and seeing some of the sights at close range. I had sworn that I wouldn't touch a cameo, for I doubted if any of you would care for one, but seeing thousands of them in shop windows everywhere, I broke down and bought three, one for you, Mother, one for Manette, and a small one for Janet. Most of the settings are very cheap looking, and I finally gave up trying to find a single setting and bought the small one and one large one with pseudo-gold sets. Finally, the last store I looked in had what I had been looking for—just a plain cameo with practically no visible setting—so I got one of those. You and Manette can take your choice of the two large ones, and possibly you can have the gaudy ones re-set. The cameos themselves seemed to be of superior workmanship compared to many I have seen, and since the Naples merchants are being clamped down on by the authorities for overcharging, I don't believe I was completely robbed, but similar cameos could probably be bought in the States for less money. However, I don't believe there has ever been a G. I. who left Naples without at least one of the things, so why should I be exceptional? I'll send all of them to you in a single box within the next few days along with a couple of very cheap little Italian oil paintings which for some reason or other appealed to me.

To round off the most perfect four days (3 day pass plus my regular Sunday off) I can ever remember spending, I saw Irving Berlin's G. I. show, "This Is The Army", for the second time. You may remember that I was fortunate enough to obtain a ticket for it while I was in New York, and I have also seen the movie version of it. Irving Berlin himself was the big hit of the show, for though he doesn't have much of a voice, he (in the words of some Stars and Stripes writer) "sings not from his throat but from his heart." In addition to "Oh, How I Hate to Get up in the Morning", which he sang in the Broadway version, he also sang about four of his most popular songs and one new one that he introduced in England — "My British Buddy." Is it getting popular now in the States? Also I saw the inside of the San Carlo Opera House, but it was somewhat disappointing in comparison with the Metropolitan in New York. Nevertheless it is quite a lush joint — complete with all the gilt and red plush that all opera houses are supposed to have.

I imagine Lt. Payne, our unit censor, is tearing his hair out by now if he is reading this whole letter, but as you know better than anybody, he can't say that I ordinarily overwork him.

I guess I've about covered Naples, except to say that I spent the fullest and most eagerly awaited four days that I can remember. Incidentally, it was my first three-day pass in my two years and four months in the Army, but I guess it was worth waiting for, and besides, we have been awfully lucky about being stationed in interesting places ever since we left San Francisco. I'll never forget any detail of this trip, for I seem to have a photographic mind for scenery, unless I stay in a place so long that the vivid first impressions get lost in boredom, so I'll probably remember more about Naples from this flying visit than I would if I were stationed there for months.

There have been quite a few things here to write about since my last letter, and I could have probably filled half a dozen short letters in the interim if I could only settle down and write regularly, but there are times — so many times — that I try to write and can't even get past those two words: "Dear folks." I know how exasperating it must be for you to go so long without hearing from me — and then to receive one of these "Gone With the Wind" length letters. Once again I'll promise to write at least on a weekly basis and try to stick to it this time. I had a sudden siege of letter writing two weeks ago last Sunday and spent my whole day off writing long letters to Manette, Price and Mr. and Mrs. McCall, but that was as far as I got!

Some of the recent events that I should have written about include a visit to this area by the San Carlo Opera Company. The seats were given out by ticket, and luckily I got one for Madame Butterfly, which I enjoyed far more than I thought possible, for I've never thought I would really care too much for opera. Luckily I discovered that since some of the tickets which were distributed were not used, there were always a few vacant seats at the back, so by going at the last minute I was able to see the other two operas that were presented, Tosca and Rigoleto, neither of which I enjoyed quite so much, because they were so melodramatic that the music was spoiled by the hammy acting. Italian opera seems to stick by all of the standard gestures, and waving of arms and dying agonizing deaths like headless chickens flopping all over the stage, whereas, American opera, judging by the little I have seen of it, seems to have borrowed from Hollywood to the extent of modernizing the acting to the point where the singers are more like human beings. However, the singing and the orchestra were excellent and some of the music was familiar to me, so I did enjoy the operas. The music of Madame Butterfly is so beautiful and it was so well executed that I guess I didn't notice the acting in that one.

As I mentioned in the V-Letter yesterday, entertainment in general has improved 100% here. Some of the more recent pictures I have seen lately include: "Madame Curie", "Standing Room Only", "The Lodger", "Sahara", "Five Graves to Cairo", "The Bachelor's Sister", with Deanna Durbin, "Phantom Lady", "Sweet Rosie O'Grady", and many others and some other good ones which I have missed. Those pictures may not be current on Broadway, but they represent a great improvement over the days when we used to sit through "Helzapoppin" for the fifth time. Also I spend quite a lot of time at the 1-2-3 club at nights, so it is well seen to that time need not lie too heavily on our hands. We are so completely lucky in comparison with so many others who have so much less, but in spite of it all I still find myself dreaming of rotation — a magic

...with the help of Providence

From millions of American homes prayers go up for the safety of boys away in the war. From farm homes other prayers, too... For aid in the production of crops vital to Victory and the establishment of Peace. For rains to keep green the pastures where milking cows graze. For sunshine to ripen the grains and fodders needed in the winter's feeding. Increased again this year are America's production goals for milk and transportable products of milk! The U.S. Government's own requirement of cheese is estimated at nearly 450 million pounds—for our fighting men and fighting allies. On top of that there should be made over 500 million more pounds of this nutritious food for civilians of our land. More than twice as much cheese as the nation could produce when the last war ended is needed now! We of Kraft who work with the dairy farmers of America know how earnestly they strive to meet these goals. Short of hands and equipment, they carry on as best they humanly can. And they'll succeed... with the help of Providence.

Because of the tremendous demand, both military and civilian, you may not be able to get as much Kraft Cheese as you would like, or get your favorite varieties—Kraft American, "Old English", "Philadelphia Brand Cream Cheese, Velveeta, and so on. But you may be sure, as always, that any cheese or cheese food which bears the Kraft name represents the very highest standard of quality.

word these days, for three men have already gone home out of the outfit after sweating it out for months, and every time someone leaves, I am left in a limp state for two or three days — just thinking that some day the same thing might happen to me! By now, the States seem to be equivalent to the "far away kingdoms across the sea, where everybody lives happily ever after" that used to sound so entrancing in the fairy books one used to read as a child. To be practical though, it seems that my chances of getting home before the war ends are very slight. I messed up my chances for rotation six months ago. When the plan was first rumored, the Captain called part of us in and asked us point blank if we wanted to go. For some strange reason, instead of coming out with a resounding "yes", I was taken by surprise and muttered something about not wanting to be on the first list, and that was just about the same as saying no. I would be due, probably within the next few months, if I had had any sense at that critical moment, but as it is, I'm probably so far down the list that I might as well forget it.

JUMPING.
Adolph Hitler and the Jap ambassador to Berlin, have been in conference on "acute questions," we are told by the press. The Adolph wants to know how to jump from mountain to mountain to escape the enemy, since the Japs have jumped from island to island fairly successfully, in a manner and with results satisfactory to the Allies. Most of the enemy died a jumpin'.

YEH! BUGS!!
Man's hope chest is the seed catalog. How's the results of your hope chest venture, pardner?

OH, MY SOLE!!
The old man was rearing up over the table armed with the best butcher knife trying to whittle off a strip of steak. After working himself into a lather without much result, he turned to the lady of the house and chirped: "Ma, did you by any chance slip the butcher Coupon 18 for this blamed mess?"

HOME EC. CLASS PICNIC AT McCLELLAN LAKE

Last Friday, the summer class in Home Economics had an all day picnic at McClellan Lake. Although no one is superstitious, yet it must have been the outing that caused Donley County to get the needed rain, as we had light showers all day, but not enough to mar the fun.

Each girl carried her own lunch and it was spread together, and what a feast!—with plenty food left to eat on the way home.

There was one disappointment. Most everyone went prepared to swim, yet as there was not a life guard present, swimming was not permitted. However, dancing, yes, even if there was not a boy present, was a lot of fun.

After the mid afternoon shower, much experience was gained in boat rowing, but all pleasant occasions must come to an end. The cloud, thunder and lightning caused us to start for home. If you do not believe it rained just ask the girls riding in the back of the "pick-up", but they became stowaways in the other cars.

The day was enjoyed by fourteen of the girls, and Miss Maurice Berry, Sponsor, Mrs. Frank Heath, Mrs. Clarence Pipes and Mrs. Dolman.

Automotive Parts Price Violations Being Watched

In support of the Office of Price Administration's efforts to curb violations of price ceilings on automotive parts, Nettles F. Nelson, of Amarillo, district manager of the Division of Motor Transport of the Office of Defense Transportation, today asked truck operators to report all instances of excessive charges for new parts.

Under the new plan, truck operators should immediately report to the nearest ODT district office any alleged violation of the OPA price ceiling on truck parts. In reporting such cases, the following information should be given: Name of the truck operator; name and location of the parts dealer; date and time of sale; type of part or parts; the OPA ceiling price, the price asked by the dealer, and the price paid.

This information will be promptly transmitted to OPA enforcement agents for immediate investigation and appropriate action, the ODT official stated. Illegal prices for parts contribute materially to the increased cost of operation of motor carriers, he said, adding that many complaints have been received of exorbitant charges for necessary parts.

The success of the new drive against price violations, it was emphasized, will depend on the fullest co-operation of the motor carriers.

Mrs. C. T. McMurtry and Mrs. Reeves of Jericho attended the old timers reunion at Floydada last week. They returned home Sat.

Harry Blair Jr. returned home Tuesday from a visit with his brother, Dwight at Memphis, Tennessee.

Mrs. Phelan of Memphis is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Carl Allmond.

County Poultrymen Praised As Larger Use of Eggs Urged

Donley County poultrymen are asked by the government to produce approximately 694,595 dozen eggs this year as their part in the Food for Victory program, the National Poultry Defense Committee announced today.
 This county goal can best be reached if housewives take full advantages of the present egg surplus and plan more menus calling for greater use of eggs, thus encouraging farmers to maintain high production, declared Committee Secretary Leon Todd.
 In urging poultrymen to meet the 1944 quota, Todd pointed out the current egg abundance may be followed by a serious shortage if farmers liquidate some of their laying flocks because of inability to dispose of eggs at profitable prices now.
 Even greater cooperation by distributors and consumers is needed now, the poultry official said, to assure farmers a profitable market for their surplus production during the next few weeks and thus insure that a feast will not be followed by a famine.
 "Each of us can help," he concluded, "by eating more eggs during this period. Remember they are a 'whole' food, complete with proteins, essential vitamins, fats and minerals."

scription of pests which attack cows and reduce milk production and how to control them is included.
 Kraft has instituted a program throughout its procurement area aimed at helping farmers increase production of quality milk. A series of advertisements appearing in The Leader stresses things of immediate interest to the dairy farmer, based on recommendations of the extension service at the state college of agriculture.
 The Kraftsmen magazine reaches 50,000 Kraft farmer patrons. It is edited by Walter Lloyd, former editor of the Ohio Farmer. It will be issued every two months, in the future.

Legion Auxiliary Express Thanks

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 126 wishes to thank everyone who had a part in making our Poppy Day a success—one thousand sold in Clarendon. These men and boys who make these poppies are in our hospitals over the country. Many of them will spend the rest of their lives battling for health as a result of their service to their country—our country—and our American way of life.

They are paid for making these paper flowers, partly to add to money the Govt. allows disabled veterans and also to give some kind of employment, through weeks and years they spend there, for hands that can do nothing else in way of work.

A veteran is one who has an honorable discharge from World War 1 or 2. Any profit above cost Units use for child welfare, Student loans and Rehabilitation. By sale of these flowers every veteran in our hospitals receive a Christmas package from some Legion Auxiliary Unit every year at Christmas.

Since World War Two, veterans have been added to our list—we must sell more poppies to care for the extra load. Our motto is "Honor the dead by serving the living." With help of this fund, orphans and children of disabled veterans are helped to live as near normal lives as possible without a father's help.

"We also wish to thank those who gave of their time, helping to clean up our cemetery."

War Production Needs Used Fats

The outlook for food fats has improved due to increased production of oil crops and livestock, but abundant supplies of industrial fats continue as a war need according to a statement approved by the War Food Administration the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration and issued under the signature of Lee Marshall, Director of Distribution, War Food Administration, in Washington, yesterday.

"Conservation of used kitchen fats is stressed by Mr. Marshall in his statement," Roy W. Peet, Chairman of the American Fat Salvage Committee, Inc. points out, "and he urges American women to turn in household fats promptly after they have served their purpose as food."

In his statement addressed to American Women, Mr. Marshall says:

"Making sure there are enough fats for both your kitchen and the war production machine is one of the responsibilities of the War Food Administration.

"After a year in which both cooking and industrial fats were in short supply, the outlook for food fats has improved. This is because farmers have greatly increased their production of oil crops and livestock.

"But abundant supplies of industrial fats continue to be needed to meet the increased demands of war production geared for invasion—as well as for civilian requirements.

"With more used fats available for industrial use, we will have to divert less of our fresh food fats to war production.

"We do not want to take good food fats and use them for non-food industrial purposes if it can be avoided. The conservation of used fats by every homemaker in her own kitchen can help in this situation.

"Therefore, we urge American women to save all their used cooking fats and turn them in to their butchers. These fats are vital in the making of such materials as synthetic rubber, parachutes, de-icing fluids for planes, explosives, life-saving medicines, industrial, military and civilian soaps and hundreds of other war necessities.

"Increased production has helped give you point-free fats for your kitchen. By saving more used fats you help keep our food fats point-free—and our war machine rolling on to Victory."

To this statement of War Food Administration Mr. Peet adds: "For every pound of used fat, your butcher will give 4c and two red points. And remember, these points are doubly valuable now. So let's save all the used fats we possibly can—and then some more! It's a real contribution to victory that every home can make!"

Storing Vegetables For Home Use

Chas. Reed, Donley County Agent, states that with vegetables coming to maturity the question of safe storage is next in order. Selection of the vegetables to be put away for winter use is most important, says J. F. Rosborough horticulturist for the Texas A&M College Extension Service. In selecting onions, for example, choose those with tops ripened down or shriveled, and be sure that the outer skin of the bulb is dry before they are pulled. The point is that the perfect vegetable is more resistant to spoilage. In keeping with this he recommends that immature or soft onions should be used immediately because they do not keep well.

At harvest, onion tops are clipped to one-half inch in length. They may be placed in crates or open mesh sacks in the shade until dried which usually requires five to seven days. Globe type onions keep better than the flat Bermuda type. Rosborough suggests as essential to successful onion storage plenty of ventilation, low temperature and dryness; storing in open crates of not more than one bushel capacity; and selecting onions matured and dried until they rattle when handled.

Pack beets and carrots in layers of sand in jars of boxes of about one bushel capacity and store in a cool, well ventilated place. In a dry climate slightly moisten the sand and place two or three inches in the bottom of the container. Follow with a single layer of vegetables, not touching each other, cover with one inch of sand, then another layer of vegetables until the container is filled. To store well, beets should be two inches in diameter, in perfect condition and of good color, and carrots one to two inches in diameter and also good color. Cut off the tops, leaving one inch of stem, and dry one hour in the shade before storing.
