

Site For Station Will Be Near May Or Rising Star

Further Soil Survey Report Will Be Necessary For Final Report

Site of the Agricultural experiment station for the cross timbers, sandy land section of Texas will be somewhere in the Rising Star or May communities and on or very near Highway 23, according to Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Harrison accompanied the experiment Station committee of the Board of Directors of A. & M. College on an inspection tour of proposed sites in Brown, Eastland and Comanche counties Monday and Tuesday. The committee said that no definite announcement regarding the site will be made until reports on a detailed soil survey are received. It is anticipated that the site will be announced within 60 days, Mr. Harrison said.

Joseph Kopecky of Hallettsville was chairman of the inspection committee. Other members are Dr. J. T. Lawson of Bowie and R. V. Davis of Plainview. A. B. Conner, director of the Texas Experiment station service at A. & M. and W. T. Carter of the Bureau of Soils Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture, were with the committee in an advisory capacity.

Senator E. M. Davis of Brownwood; Mr. Harrison; County Agent C. W. Lehmburg, and representatives of Callahan, Eastland and Comanche counties also accompanied the committee on the tour.

The committee met at Hotel Brownwood Tuesday night for a discussion of the proposed sites. The site was tentatively selected at that time.

GIRL SCOUTS PLAN SECOND ENCAMPMENT DURING THE SUMMER

Plans are under way for Girl Scout camps to be held during the latter part of July and in August, according to Mrs. J. W. Trapp, commissioner of the Girl Scout Council here. The first camp of the series of three planned for the summer months was held at Lakewood last week with 45 girls in attendance. Miss Mary Nell McClendon was director general, and the different camp activities were in charge of members of the recently organized council.

The camp opened Tuesday evening with a swim and supper, with the girls preparing their own meals. Miss Lillian Durham, life saver, was in charge of the swimming classes. During the program arranged for the evening Miss Johnnie Green, R. N., spoke on personal hygiene. Mrs. T. W. Bynum discussed "Scout Ideals." Games, directed by Miss McClendon, closed the program.

Wednesday morning worship services opened the day's program. A swim followed. During the morning Scout Master Dan Gill and Miss Alberta Skiles, teacher of art at Daniel Baker College, conducted classes in handwork and drawing. Use of the cabins at Lakewood was allowed the girls free of charge by the Lakewood management. Camp necessities were loaned by Coca-Cola Bottling Company. A donation from the Brownwood Rotary Club to the Council financed the camp.

DISTRESSED FARMERS MAY TAKE ADVANTAGE OF GOVERNMENT AID

Officials of the Farm Debt Adjustment phase of the RRA Resettlement this week urged that distressed Brown county farmers take advantage of the assistance available to them through their county committee. According to the statement the two functions of the farm debt adjustment phase of the RRA program are to act in an advisory capacity to farmers who have distressed debt problems and to assist in making proper contacts between debtors and creditors.

The statement continued: "In this county a committee of business men and farmers, as local representatives, review the farmer's situation and suggest steps he should take. This committee also contacts creditors in an effort to warrant justice for both parties without costly court action. Its suggestions may include rearranging terms and interest rate; making one large, long-time loan to absorb smaller pressing obligations, or scaling down the entire indebtedness.

"You farmers who think there is just one thing to do—pay up in full or give up—are invited to appeal to your local committee for advice relative to your debt problems. Put your case before them, tell them all you owe and what you own and what is happening to your loan right now. They will suggest what to do next, and next, until your problem is solved.

"This committee is offering their services free of charge as their part in speeding America's return to normalcy and they fully realize that the farmers who lose their farms lose their capital and are no longer possible consumers of any appreciable amount of industrial goods. Too, they know that many of these farmers are rather old to start again, and unless they can hang on now the young men will take their places and the pioneers who have hung on through troubled years will reap a very unjust reward."

ENGINEER PLEASSED WITH WORK ON ROAD

E. J. Amey, executive assistant engineer of the State Highway Department, was here last week to inspect the Brownwood - Cross Cut highway, seven miles of which is being paved as a federal and state project. He inspected the entire stretch of road, and said that he was highly pleased with the grading and drainage structures, constructed by the county, on the section for which no allotment for hard-surfacing has been made.

In May members of the Brown county commissioners court and a delegation of other citizens attended a hearing of the state highway commission in Austin to ask that additional improvements on the Cross Cut-Brownwood highway be made and also that it be extended from Brownwood south to Richland Springs.

Young Voters Must Have Exemptions If They Live In City

Young persons not residing in the city of Brownwood will not need exemption certificates to vote in the elections this year if they reach the age of 21 before election day, according to a ruling received from Attorney General William McCraw by tax assessor-collector Winston Palmer. Those who live in the city of Brownwood, however, cannot vote unless they obtained an exemption prior to February 1.

The exemption certificates are required for the "first time voters" in towns of over 10,000 population, in which classification Brownwood falls.

COUNTY-WIDE RALLY FOR CHAS. L. SOUTH TO BE HELD JULY 16

A county-wide rally for Congressman Charles L. South of Coleman will be held in Brownwood Tuesday night, July 14, it was announced this week by Brownwood friends of Judge South. It will be the only speech to be made by Judge South during the present campaign. Judge South is opposed by a Townsend Club candidate from San Angelo.

The rally will be held in front of the court house, with benches arranged on the court house lawn. A loud speaker will be arranged to carry the address of Judge South to those who prefer to remain in their automobiles.

J. Edward Johnson will be chairman of the meeting. Candidates for district offices, including candidates for district judge and the legislature, will make short talks before Judge South's address.

NEW WAGE SCALE IS ANNOUNCED BY WPA FOR SECOND PERIOD

With the beginning of the new WPA program July 1 a new wage scale, based on the prevailing wage scale in each community, became effective on Texas WPA projects, according to an announcement made by State Administrator H. P. Drought in San Antonio Monday. Although in most instances the workers will be paid a higher hourly wage, the monthly earnings of the individual workman will remain the same as under the first program, officials stated.

Schedules of hourly rates have been established for four general occupational titles in the 20 Texas districts. The workers will be paid the hourly wage prevailing in their communities for the type of work they are doing instead of the security wage which they received under the first WPA program. Prevailing hourly wages throughout Texas, employment division officials established in working out the wage schedules, range for the four occupational titles as follows: Unskilled labor, 20 to 35 cents; intermediate, 40 to 50 cents; skilled, 65 cents to $1; professional and technical, 75 cents to $1.

"I should like to make it clear that prevailing hourly wages are determined in the communities themselves, and not by the Works Progress Administration," Drought declared.

Payment will be made only for time actually worked, but workers will be allowed every reasonable opportunity to make up time lost due to weather conditions or temporary interruptions in the operation of projects in order to earn scheduled monthly earnings at the determined hourly wage rate.

As in the first program, maximum hours of work for project will be eight hours per day, 40 hours per week, and 140 hours per month.

TWO NEW BUSINESSES FOR BROWNWOOD SOON

Two new business institutions were making preparations this week for opening in Brownwood within the near future. Both will occupy prominent business locations.

Henry Rosenberg will occupy the Hartung building, Center Avenue landmark, which is being remodeled, and will be made into one of the most modern stores in Brownwood. He will handle ladies wear exclusively. His location is next door to that of his brother, Gus J. Rosenberg, who operates an exclusive men's and boys' store.

The former Empire Furniture Company location is being completely remodeled in preparation for the opening of a Safeway grocery store in Brownwood. Safeway has been making plans for entering business in Brownwood for a number of months, and a modern grocery will be operated at the location. The Safeway system is one of the largest chain groceries in the United States.

Fifteen registered Jersey heifers are in the hands of Eastland county 4-H club boys, Banks of Eastland county are assisting in financing the purchase of the calves, which the boys will show at the Centennial.

INTEREST IN POLITICS IN STATE AND COUNTY GROWS AS JULY PRIMARY DATE NEARS

WITH less than two weeks remaining before the July primary, Brown county voters are showing an increased interest in politics, and it is anticipated that the July 25 Democratic primary will bring out a record vote in this county. Announcement of two rallies in Brownwood for the coming two weeks has served to overcome an apparent lethargy that has been a noteworthy feature of the 1936 contests.

On Tuesday of next week, a county-wide rally will be held by Brown county friends of Congressman Charles L. South. In addition to an address by Judge South, time will be allotted for short talks by candidates for district judge and for representative in the legislature.

The Young Democrats of Brown county have announced a county-wide rally for all candidates for the following Monday, July 20. All candidates will be given an opportunity to speak at this rally. Both are to be held at night, on the court house lawn.

State Races Experienced political observers blame the Centennial for the apparent lack of interest of Texas voters in the state primary this year. Little discussion is heard about any of the candidates other than in the Governor's race, and interest in this is noticeably light. Few voters know the names of many of the candidates for state office, in spite of the fact that the ballot this year will be a long one.

This lack of interest is decidedly in favor of those now holding office, notably Governor James V. Allred, United States Senator Morris Sheppard, Comptroller George H. Sheppard, Treasurer Charley Lockhart, and State Superintendent L. A. Woods, all of whom are seeking re-election with more or less spirited opposition.

Friends of Governor Allred predict that he will win in the first primary over his four opponents, although there is a likelihood that there will be a run-off. Most probable opponent in the run-off is F. W. Fischer, of Tyler, advocate of a stiff natural resources tax. Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls is not expected to run as good a race as he did two years ago, when he made the run-off. Roy Sanderford, Ferguson's candidate, has been gaining strength during the past few weeks, but few concede him a chance in the run-off. Pierce Brooks, the fifth candidate, seems hopelessly left behind.

Senator Sheppard does not face serious opposition, in spite of the fact that he has five opponents. Of the five, Congressman Joe H. Eagle of Houston is the best known. He is an outspoken wet, but hardly well enough known to threaten Senator Sheppard. Others in this race are Joseph H. Price of Tarrant county, Richard C. Bush of McLennan county, J. Edward Glenn of Bosque county and Guy B. Fisher of San Augustine county.

Ernest O. Thompson, railroad commissioner, has four opponents, most promising of whom is Carl C. Hardin of Stephenville, who very likely will face Thompson in the run-off. Other candidates are H. O. Johnson and Goodson Rieger of Houston and Frank S. Morris of Dallas.

Comptroller Sheppard has as opponents, S. H. Terrell of Waco and W. W. Covington of Austin, and

STUDENT TRANSFERS MUST BE COMPLETED BEFORE AUGUST 1ST

Transfers from one scholastic district to another must be made by August 1, according to County Superintendent F. D. Pierce, and parents of all children whose grades are not taught in the home district are urged to come to his office immediately to secure the student's transfer to a district where they are taught. The transfers must be applied for in person by the parents this year, he said.

Classification of the schools in the county was made by the county board of trustees at their regular meeting July 6. There is only one change from last year's classification, the elimination of one grade at Winchell school to make it a nine grade school rather than a ten grade school.

Other classifications are announced as follows: Cross Cut, eleven grades; Williams, eleven grades; Byrds, ten grades; Grosvenor, eleven grades; Concord, ten grades; Blanket, eleven grades; McDaniel, seven grades; Early, eleven grades; Mukewater, eight grades.

Chapel Hill, seven grades; Woodland Heights, nine grades; May, eleven grades; Zephyr, eleven grades; Indian Creek, eleven grades; Clio, nine grades; Brooksmith, eleven grades; Bangs Independent, eleven grades.

The county board named trustees for the district recently formed by the consolidation of Holder and Williams districts as follows: A. J. Lee, C. J. Thompson, W. A. Holmes, J. T. Woods, R. C. Hubbard, L. S. Kingsbury and H. C. Beck.

STATE INSPECTION SHOWS CITY'S MILK SUPPLY RATES HIGH

For the first time in its history the city of Brownwood has been placed on the state health department's honor roll for cities whose milk supplies grade 90 per cent or better. The Brownwood milk supply graded 94 per cent perfect in a rating made by the health department recently.

The rating is based on sanitation and enforcement of the state ordinance regulating the handling of the milk supply. A letter announcing Brownwood's rating was received Tuesday by John H. McGhee, city sanitary inspector.

Tests on all milk dealers who furnish milk to Brownwood consumers have been completed and the city announced this week the names of those dealers whose milk may be sold. The announcement was as follows:

"The grades of all milk supplies have been determined by the State Milk Supervisor and the local Health Department in accordance with the grade specifications of the United States Public Health Service Milk Ordinance and Code.

All consumers are urged to purchase milk on the basis of grade. The grades appear on each bottle cap and will be posted in every restaurant, soda fountain, etc. Grade "A" Pasteurized is the safest pasteurized grade, and Grade "A" Raw Milk is the safest raw grade.

"Following are the grades of retail producers: "Grade A: Alamo Pasteurized Milk, Sunbeam Pasteurized Milk, Carnes Brothers, A. C. Dunn, Fairland Farm, Earl Foster, H. G. Franke, Mrs. L. M. Maner, A. D. Murphy, M. E. Oliver, W. H. Parks, Shelton Brothers, Smith and Petty; Grade B: T. V. Bowden, Mrs. Virginia Joiner; Grade C: H. A. Vaughn.

"The following raw milk producers deliver to Pasteurization Plants: "Grade A: R. H. Alderson, W. D. Godfrey, J. F. Kinerd, N. A. Pinson, E. L. Stewart, J. B. Whitehead, Williams Dairy; Grade B: Mrs. J. A. Parker.

"Other milk supplies were graded and found to be below Grade C and the sale thereof is forbidden. "In the future all milk supplies will be graded every sixty days and the grades will be published. "It at any time between the regular announcements of the grades of milk, as the result of the findings of two consecutive inspections of any dairy or milk plant, or because the average reduction time, or the average cooling temperature exceeds the limit for the grade currently held by the milk supply in question, a lower grade shall become justified, and the Milk Inspector will immediately lower the grade of such milk."

MORE LIVESTOCK ON FARMS AS RESULT OF RESETTLEMENT LOANS

An increase in the amount of livestock owned by low-income farmers is one result of the first year's work of the Resettlement Administration, which ended with the month of June. Official summaries received by Geo. O. Green, county supervisor, covering the period to May 1, show that Resettlement borrowers in Brown county purchased 147 horses and 28 mules, 77 dairy cattle, 90 hogs, and 240 chickens.

These livestock purchases accounted for $20,723 of the $56,283 loaned in this county. The loans were made to 132 families, of which 127 were white. The included 619 persons. The average loan was $426 per family. Loans for machinery totaled $3,776, harness $628; food $12,326; clothing $3,470; feed for livestock $3,409, seed $3,672.

Loans bear 5% interest, and are repayable in one to five years, depending upon the kind of goods purchased. Twenty-five per cent of similar loans made by the Texas rural rehabilitation corporation in 1935 have already been repaid, although loans were made only to those farmers who had been denied credit by all other agencies.

Correction

Mrs. May Oliver of Zephyr has called attention to an error in The Banner's report of an altercation which occurred at Zephyr last week in which it was stated that Sam Musgrove was injured in a fight near Mrs. Oliver's home, only a few hours before the killing of Raymond Thompson. Mrs. Oliver stated that the fight did not occur near her home, but in the business section of Zephyr, and that it occurred the day preceding the killing of Thompson.

The Banner's report was based upon what was believed at the time to be accurate information, and was printed with no intention of reflecting upon anyone. We are glad to print this correction, and to give this more accurate account of the incident. Apologies are extended to any who might have been affected by the earlier account.

June Rainfall Here Amounts To 1.70 In.

Texas Legends and Folklore

By Olive M. Johnson, Director of Speech Arts North Texas State Teachers College

III--The Negro in Texas Folklore The negro is generally alike, the South over; but the early Texas negro has a culture belonging particularly to him. He has many songs—work songs, play songs, dance songs, and some that defy classification, apparently having been composed for the sheer joy of putting incongruous words together—but where the negro excels is in his ghost tales. The negro brings his children up on gruesome tales of "Raw Head" and "Bloody Bones." No wonder he is a timorous and fearful creature, in perpetual terror of "hanta" and "grabeyards."

The curious monotone almost scared him out of his wits and he tore off to his master's house with a strange tale: "Oh, my Gawd, de debble and de Lawd is down at de grabeyard dividin' up de folkses." The master went back with the negro to investigate. The two crept close and heard, "You take dis'n an' I'll take dat'n." Then came the concluding and devastating words, "You take dese las' two an' I'll take dem two on de outside when we goes out!" The two listeners stood not upon the order of their going; to be strictly truthful the master probably ran faster than the negro.

One story states that two negroes who had stolen some sweet potatoes from their master decided that the graveyard would be the best place to divide the spoils without fear of molestation. They counted them, not by two's and three's but by "You take dis'n an' I'll take dat'n." A passing negro heard the sound and crept up close to listen.

The negro's active imagination is never more clearly shown than in the creation of his remedies. Here is what is said to be an unfailing cure for rheumatism: "Take an empty whisky bottle about half full of vinegar and put in a handful of large red ants. Shake well and apply internally and externally."

Rainfall by months this year has been as follows: January 25 inch; February, 38 inch; March, 2 inch; April 1.70 inches; May 6.32 inches; June 1.70 inches.

Total rainfall for the first six months of 1935 was 20 inches, 7.52 less than the record for 1936.

FFA REPORTER GIVES ACCOUNT OF CHAPTER TRIP TO CONVENTION

(By the Chapter Reporter)

On Thursday morning June 25, 18 members of the May Chapter of Future Farmers loaded 150 cans of vegetables, 150 pounds of spuds, 20 pounds of beans and camping equipment into a school bus, put $5.00 in the pot for expenses and pulled out for a 10 day tour of South and East Texas.

The first day the group visited the Frontier Centennial at Ft. Worth where all buildings were being rushed to completion for the grand opening July 18.

Friday and Friday night, was spent in the Centennial grounds of Dallas where we saw the most wonderful sights we had ever seen before. During the day all the general exhibits were visited and then Midway was taken in that night.

Saturday we drove into Huntsville where we spent Sunday visiting Sam Houston's grave, his home and the park and many other points of interest. We all thought that Sam Houston park was one of the most beautiful spots we had ever seen.

Monday morning we entered the state chapter conducting contest and won our division so had the rest of the day for sight seeing.

We first visited a saw mill where we saw logs chanced into lumber of various dimensions and shapes. We then went swimming and to a barbecue at the college farm. After we had our fill of goat and various other good things we went to a prison show put on by the prisoners for the F. F. A. boys and laughed until our sides were sore.

Tuesday morning we entered the finals and won third place in the state which we were mighty glad to do. We then were given a trip through the pen and saw the prisoners making shoes, ice, bread, and in fact most everything they have any use for in the way of personal necessities or farm equipment.

Wednesday we stopped in Houston to see Herman park and then went to Galveston where we got a good swim, drove around the beach and then to bed.

Early Thursday morning we were back in the gulf and having a lot of fun trying to jump the 6 ft. waves that were coming in at that time. We then visited the docks where we saw ships being loaded and unloaded and then took a 25-mile ride out into the gulf and headed for San Antonio.

After seeing lots of signs of high water and some detours we arrived at San Antonio about noon Friday. Here we visited the Alamo, Buckhorn saloon and Breckenridge park all of which were very interesting.

Saturday morning we drove into Austin and visited the capitol, climbing to the very top. Then we headed for home and only stopped in Brownwood long enough to consume 5 gallons of ice cream. We were gone 19 days and traveled 1212 miles seeing some of the most interesting places in Texas but all were glad to get back where we did not have to eat our own cooking and had a bed to rest our weary bones on.

In a nation-wide poll of voters, conducted by Dr. George Gallup, and published in copyrighted articles in Sunday newspapers, enthusiastic endorsement was given to the continuation of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Endorsing The CCC

The poll was made among Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, and Third Party advocates in every part of the Nation, with the surprising result that 82 per cent of those queried favor continuing the CCC, and only 18 per cent would discontinue this government-financed project.

It is unusual that any governmental activity carried on at such a tremendous cost as the CCC should have such an overwhelming endorsement of the people of this country. It is safe to predict that should a poll be taken on any governmental function—say on the question of whether the government should discontinue the postal department and turn this business over to private capital—should the poll be taken on almost any phase of governmental work, a greater majority could not be obtained.

The tremendous endorsement of the CCC means one thing—that regardless of the politics of the individual, regardless of the opinion of the New Deal as a whole, the American voter believes that the government is pursuing a wise course in training the youth of the land in the CCC camps; that the results justify the expense.

With this opinion we are in hearty accord. Not only is the CCC work of inestimable value to the youth of the land, it is of great and lasting value to the people of this country. The work that is being done by the CCC camps throughout the United States is of permanent value, is largely work that could not have been done without some sort of governmental set-up, work that will be of great value for generations to come.

In Texas, CCC work takes on three forms, improving state parks, conducting soil conservation work, and in East Texas, forestry work. In each of these fields, useful, lasting work has been designed and carried out by the CCC, while there is no question but that the youths enrolled in the camps have been helped physically, morally and financially.

The enthusiastic endorsement of the CCC represents to a great extent a changed attitude among the American voter; a recognition of a good work that should be continued. For, when organization of the CCC was announced, there was widespread opposition to the idea from many quarters. Many who endorsed the idea felt it could not prove practical.

President Roosevelt has indicated on numerous occasions that he favors making the CCC a permanent or semi-permanent institution. A vote of confidence and endorsement such as that published Sunday no doubt will cause Congress to give more serious consideration to the suggestion. Certainly it is an indication that at least one New Deal project has the enthusiastic endorsement of the people who are paying the bills.

Next week, July 13 to 18, has been designated by the Western railroads as annual Railroad Week, when the railroads of this section will present to the people a true picture of their place in the business life of the communities they serve.

Railroad Week

Figures made public last year, when Railroad Week first was observed here, were a revelation to most of us who have taken the railroads as a matter of fact, and given their importance little attention as the years went by. Because we had become so accustomed to the railroad's presence, and because the railroad man himself has become so much one of us, we have long since ceased to think of the railroads as individual units, but as one of the many complex parts of our civilization. Of course, this is the attitude which railroad men themselves prefer, but at the same time, it is well to consider the fact that railroads are among the largest individual taxpayers in almost every county they traverse; that the annual payroll of the railroads forms the nucleus for prosperity in many Texas cities and towns.

A few years ago it was freely predicted that the railroads, heavy sufferers from competition and the depression, soon would lose their right to exist as commercial units, and that to preserve them it would be necessary for the government to take over the operation. One doesn't hear much of that talk today. The railroads themselves have stopped it, by taking bold steps to recover the ground they have lost.

Streamlined trains, air conditioned units, faster schedules, improved accommodations, all have served to increase the use of railroads by the traveling public. Overcoming slack business by offering greater inducements to travel became the watchword on most rail lines, and with splendid results.

Freight service has not been overlooked. Quicker schedules, better system of delivery, active, energetic and intelligent solicitation of business and courteous service have been emphasized. Freight schedules are maintained with the accuracy usually associated only with passenger service.

There was a time when the railroads were being extended sympathetically. Railroad week offers the opportunity to extend congratulations to the rail executives and employees for their courage and wisdom in aggressively meeting and overcoming a situation which might have proved ruinous. The railroads are one of the Nation's greatest assets. Railroad week is a splendid institution.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard has opened his campaign for re-election, and despite the fact that he has a half dozen opponents, he is little in danger of not being returned to Washington, where he has served most of his life as a representative of the Texas people. The character of the opposition, rather than enthusiasm for the man, is the greatest assurance of his re-election.

Work Well Done

Senator Sheppard is not the type that causes people to rally around him with an undying enthusiasm and patriotic fervor. And yet he has done his work well. Year after year, from one generation into the next, he has been on the job at Washington, looking after the interests of his people, attending to the wants of his constituents, and with it all rendering a good service.

Texans in all walks of life admire Senator Sheppard. Even those who oppose his drastic dry views admire and respect his steadfast adherence to the principle, in times of unpopularity as well as when his views were in the overwhelming majority. The party remembers his strict adherence to party lines when many deserted the Democratic banner when Al Smith was the nominee. Hewing straight to the line, never to be diverted by the radical thought of the moment, those are his characteristics.

Senator Sheppard will be given a big majority of the votes July 25, and will return to six more years of the same sort of service he has rendered in the past.

PEEP SHOW For Ladies Only

BY MIGNON

All Over Observing Child 100 Best Books Robert Frost Oh give me a home where the buffalo roam, Where there ain't no candidates, Where if a "run-off" guy gets loose I'll go and bar the gates.

While I am writing this it is the day before our Independence Celebration, the day before the big headaches, the big fire crackers and the sunburn settles in for the first real trip of the summer's picnic crowd. You'll be reading this when all this is over, also the election, as far as the primary is concerned, will be over and you will have rid your purse, your porch and the shrubbery of all the cards, and bills and posters of all except your favorite candidates. Some might not have even been your favorite, but being good Democrats, we let the people speak and go ahead and do the next best thing for the next best guy. Three hot and heavy weeks of shouting and radio loud speakers and the job will be settled again for awhile. Well, that's some consolation.

Somebody said "There's nothing like running for office to let the air out of an inflated ego."

Guests came to our house this week and their three year old son bowed his head each time the small son of our household said the blessing. The memorized "grace" seemed to lirk the little fellow. One day he said, "Let me say it, I know a different one." Of course he was asked to "return the thanks," immediately. However, the grown ups had to keep their heads bowed a little longer than usual upon hearing the solemn-eyed little fellow say just as earnestly as he could, "One for the money, two for the show, three to get ready, and four to go."

Which reminds me that sometimes in this hurry-bustling world I feel like saying, "On your mark, get set, go!" It would fit in with our meals, I sometimes think.

I heard a lady say not so long ago that a man might have as many degrees as a thermometer and yet not be educated if he stops reading. It's like the man who can quote more passages of scripture than most any one and yet be as wicked as can be.

Speaking of reading, I saw a list of the hundred best books of the year as judged by William Lyon Phelps. They were very well chosen and quite a variety. Out of the hundred, I felt elated that I had read eight. I had browsed in three more but had to give them up as purely above me. It's awful to be such a low brow and know that some books just must be read and yet you just can't read them. That is one extreme and the other are those books of realism that win all the big prizes, use up all the cuss words, all the old vulgarisms under new phrases and leave me feeling like I did that time when I tried to drink all the red lemonade at the fourth of July picnic because there was a big galvanized tank full and it was FREE. Just as I think I have a literary taste that is really growing and developing, along comes a book like that that goes all the prizes, and I wonder what is literature? That makes it hard on me—perhaps I'm not all low-brow, but a cross between a prude and a low-brow—gee, that's terrible.

For summer reading we should find a thoroughly enjoyable book that does not leave us all hot and bothered as to how the problem was solved, having to worry about the poor damsel-in-distress or grieve about the other point of the triangle. We should find a book that is soothing, yet interesting enough to keep us from worrying about the heat and drought, but not so interesting that we can't stop, put it down and go for a swim, have an iced drink, or go on a picnic. One that just fits all these requirements but which is satisfying from every point of view I shall be happy to recommend Robert Frost's new book, "A Further Range." It is nice that the Book-of-the-Month Club should choose it. It is easy reading. His meters seem so natural, they are so artless and simple. Much of

Separate Races For Amateurs Suggested By Boat Race Entry

Offering of three prizes rather than four and holding separate races for amateurs and professionals were two means suggested for improvement of future Lake Brownwood Regatta programs by Bob Mitchell, Jr., Dallas racer. Following the second annual Regatta, held June 19 and 20, the Regatta Association wrote letters to all drivers entered in the races thanking them for their participation and cooperation and asking them for suggestions for improvement of the local races.

Mitchell, who was here for both the 1935 and 1936 Regattas, concluded his letter as follows: "As far as pit management, judges, etc., you have reached the top. All you have to do is get the fine points perfected."

ON TEXAS FARMS

DECATUR—Finishing home raised steers on home grown feed and making a profit as a result has recently been demonstrated by R. E. Caraway, farmer in Wise county, according to D. F. Eaton, county agricultural agent.

"Caraway finished out 17 calves which were all of his spring crop," the county agricultural agent stated. "They were grade calves, but from good cows and a well bred bull and were good type feeders."

These calves were fed 136 days on home grown ground corn, oats and cotton seed meal with minerals supplied. In addition to the grain they had all the prairie hay they could consume. They were valued at $27.50 per head at the beginning of the feeding time.

They made an average daily gain of 2.5 pounds. The gross returns were $972 which netted Caraway a profit of $11.31 per head. Their final average weight was 765 pounds per animal.

R. E. Caraway, also ran some hogs with his steers during the feeding period.

SEMINOLE—C. H. Wescott, Gaines county farmer and farm record book demonstrator, believes in diversification as well as keeping a record of all his farming activities, according to a report of Lee R. Pool, county agricultural agent.

His gross income from January 1 to May 1 of this year amounted to $1,355.35.

From fat yearlings he grossed $425; from culled hens, $12.22; from mohair, $539.35; from cream, $126.95; from maize, $80; from a colt, $100; and from sale of eggs, $71.75.

According to the county agricultural agent, Wescott also put in a trench silo last fall.

CROSBYTON—"The prospects for a bumper crop of prime turkeys for the Joe E. McDuff farm in Fairview community in Crosby county are extremely good, when the turkey feeding practices of this farm are considered," stated Ralph Howe, county agricultural agent, in a recent report.

Mrs. Joe E. McDuff, who has charge of the turkeys on this farm, has 231 fine quality poulters that are already well feathered and making rapid growth.

"There are several reasons for this progress," the county agricultural agent stated. "The weather is written in conversation. The verse is swept by rain, purified by the New England winds, and purified by the sun. He speaks of little things unnoticeable to a lesser poet and in them finds beauty of expression. For instance an old man slept in a barn without windows but fall of cracks—

"Waking there Next morning to the light of day was more liking waking in a cage of silver bars."

An ant on the tablecloth, chopping wood, old shoes in a closet, there is a few flashes of fun, some politics, pity for this day and age, Mr. Frost whom we all have long admired brings us beauty so quietly that we discover it for ourselves and love, it in a sort of "finders keepers" glow that a small boy has over his find. Take a "Further Range" along on your vacation. It is as restful as a cool wind after a hot day spent at the Centennial.

located in the brooder house are sanitary water fountains and hoppers for mash and cracked grain. In other hoppers there are oyster shell and grit. Also the brooder house floor, which is well littered, is changed once a week.

Howe reports that around the brooder house, a green wheat pasture is being used and that Sudan grass is beginning to come up and will be ready before the wheat is gone.

HENRIETTA—"Everyone should have her garden laid with tile," Mrs. A. H. Witte, home food supply demonstrator in Clay county, recently stated.

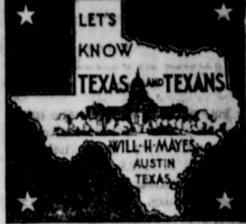

Mrs. Witte has laid 115 feet of tile in garden. The tile was made from local sand and one sack of cement which cost 90 cents.

Over the tile, there are growing pepper and tomato plants. The tomato plants were only set out four weeks before they had green tomatoes on them.

JOINS BROOKS FORCES

A. W. (Gus) Slaughter, former candidate for the Legislature and for Mayor of Brownwood, this week joined forces with Pierce Brooks, candidate for Governor of Texas. Slaughter will make speeches for the Dallas candidate, according to word received here.

Ray Earp, pasture demonstrator living at Morgan Mill in Erath county, says that his acres diverted from soil-depleting crops to Sudan will be worth the cost of planting for the relief they will give his permanent pasture. In addition he will receive a three-fold benefit: added fertility to his land, increased milk flow from his cows, and a cash grant.

SCOUTS PREPARING FOR ANNUAL CAMP AT BILLY GIBBONS

Scouts over the Comanche Trail Council, which is composed of Stephens, Eastland, Erath, Comanche, Brown, Mills, San Saba, and Lampasas Counties, are now making arrangements to spend a week or more at their annual Camp Grounds which is located at the mouth of Brady Creek on the San Saba River, 15 miles south of Richland Springs.

The site is ideally located from the standpoint of a Scout Camp. There are 45,000 acres in the ranch and through the generosity of the Ranch owners and the Scouts may like anywhere they may want to go. Several points of interest are a good hiking distance—Smugglers Draw begins across the creek from the mess hall and leads up toward the grounds on which the late Uncle Billy Gibbons built his first log house, part of the old water trough, which was hewn from a large tree, is still on the site. Another point is the Bathtub Springs—My! what a nice dip you can have there. A hike up Brady creek with its cliffs on either side and springs coming into the creek makes a nice trip. Then there are several caves of a small nature that are interesting to explore.

Something of special interest to all is the Indian picture writing on two different bluffs. Many Scouts see their first wild turkey and deer while on the camp grounds. To those that are inclined to fish—there's plenty of room—and they get to eat their own fish. Camp fires, handicrafts, archery, swimming, and life saving, also good eats are all on the program for the Scout who attends camp.

It's a red letter day for the Scout and every parent is urged by Scout officials to see that their boy is given the privilege of attending. Any information concerning the camp will be gladly given by writing to Boy Scouts of America, Box 808, Brownwood, Texas.

NO RUNOFF NEEDED

(Houston Post)
Governor James V. Allred, in his opening speech at Waxahachie, demonstrated qualities of statesmanship that give him a place among the ablest leaders the people of Texas have elevated to the position of chief executive.

He demonstrated not only a deep, patriotic devotion to his State but rare understanding of its social and economic problems, together with a sincere desire to serve the people who honored him with high office.

The Post already has pointed out that Governor Allred deserves reelection on the basis of his service as Centennial Governor, if he had accomplished nothing else. His statesmanlike bearing in greeting visitors, his love of his State and its people have made a profound and favorable impression upon the thousands of people who have seen and heard him at Centennial gatherings.

But this is only an incident in his record of accomplishment. The State is in much better financial condition than when he entered office two years ago. Economic conditions are immeasurably better. Efficiency and order have replaced haphazard methods and confusion in the administration of the state's business. With the co-operation of the Legislature, Governor Allred will, in two more years, balance the budget, equalize taxation and place in effect in this State a plan of social security equal, if not superior, to that of any State in the Union.

Although his opponents have been campaigning busily for many weeks upon manufactured issues they have advanced no arguments that were not answered effectively in Governor Allred's Waxahachie address.

Three weeks before the election, they have presented no valid reason why Governor Allred and the people should be subjected to a runoff campaign in August. The voters can settle the matter by assuring the second term that Governor Allred deserves in the July 25 primary.

Governor Allred has four opponents, Tom F. Hunter, F. W. Fischer, Roy Sanderford and P. P. Brooks.

Mr. Hunter is making his third campaign for governor. Twice before he has been placed on the shelf by the voters and in the present campaign he has offered nothing new to cause them to change their minds.

Mr. Brooks is an estimable gentleman but even his friends are not optimistic enough to believe that he has a chance to be elected.

Mr. Fischer and Mr. Sanderford are making their first venture in statewide politics. Both have many friends and they seem to have a sincere desire to serve their State, but neither has presented arguments to justify the denial to Governor Allred of the second term he has earned with a record of constructive achievement seldom equaled by any Texas governor.

James V. Allred has given them time to return him to office for a second term without the necessity of a runoff.

It is an honor he richly deserves.
