Mad Scramble to Embezzle Championship From Al Cooke Continues

Al Cooke, the defending champion, again led a field of 27 players last Sunday in qualifying over the Hillcroft Golf Course for the Sixth Annual City Tournament. His score for the 18 holes was 37-35, 72, even par for the course. He was closely contested for medalist honors by another member of the famous golfing family, Bill Cooke, who scored a 38-35 for one over par. The other players to make the championship flight are M. P. Gentry 76, Dick Cooke 77, Fred Buntin 78, Hank Bagby 79, J. T. Patman 79, Ira Merchant 80.

First rounds of match play in all flights got under way Monday and continued thru Wednesday. Bill Cooke, with a sizzling 33 on the first nine, downed Hank Bagby and Ira Merchant shot par golf to win from Dick Cooke. The semi-final will begin today when Al Cooke meets M. P. Gentry and Bill Cooke plays Merchant. Buntin plays Patman and Dick Cooke plays Bagby in the consolation matches. The winners of these matches will continue in the finals Sunday.

Pinkie Kerbow headed the list of players in the second flight and in his first match downed A. N. Woods. Milas Little won from Otis Jackson. Wesley Knorpp won from U. J. Boston and Carl Parsons defeated Kinney Lane. Pinkie will play Little and Knorpp and Carl Parsons will play in the semi-finals. Woods and Jackson and Boston and Lane will continue in the consolation matches.

In the third flight John Hutton won from Joe Goldston as Bennett Kerbow drew a bye. Doss Palmer and R. C. Weatherly have not completed their match. Tom F. Connally defeated Billie Cooke. Only four players remained for the fourth flight. Tom Murphy downed Dr. Harter and Frank Stocking won from Kelly Chamberlain. Murphy and Stockings will play in the finals and Harter and Chamberlain in the consolation.

All semi-final matches and first round consolation matches are to be played before Sunday with the finals scheduled for Sunday. The matches have created considerable local interest and large crowds are expected to watch the finals Sunday. The public in general is invited to watch these matches.

Local Farmers Are Going To Raise Own Feed And More Garden Stuff

Farmers of Donley county, and we might say all the Clarendon trade territory, are going in strong for a "Live at Home" program this year. Never before have such diversified ideas been put into practice. Plantings have been early, and except where the winds have played havoc, the early garden and truck patches are normal.

The one crop idea disappeared during the past two years. No farmer would think of planting cotton alone as his money crop at this time. That once was the practice here.

Seed dealers say their sales this season to date have far exceeded those of last year. This means that folks in town and country are planning a garden with the idea of canning for winter uses.

Practically every farmer is planning a feed crop and plenty of it. They figure feed may be high next winter as well as wheat and its

UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL TABLET NEXT TUESDAY

Tribute to Memory of Mrs. Cornelia Adair, Donor Of Hospital Building

A bronze memorial tablet has been placed in the Adair hospital to be dedicated to the memory of the lady who made the institution possible.

The originators of the idea of placing the tablet in the hospital and the sponsors for same, Mrs. James Bruce McClelland and Mrs. James Trent, announce that a service will be held at the hospital next Tuesday morning at 10 a. m. for the purpose of unveiling and dedicating the tablet. Both hospital boards will be present and have charge of the program.

All of the clergy of Clarendon are invited to attend, also all of the physicians together with a representative of each of the organizations contributing.

The sponsors wish to thank the contributors and feel grateful for the privilege of carrying a noble idea to successful conclusion, and so generally acceptable to the community. The response was most gratifying showing that one of the noblest virtues, that of gratitude, flourishes among us.

No individual contributions were solicited, it being thought best that the various organizations of the town be permitted to express their civic appreciation, which they did in a whole-hearted manner.

Clubs contributing were Rotary, Lions, Les Beaux Art, B. and P. Women, and American Legion and the Auxiliary, County Council, St. John's Chapter Episcopal church, St. Mary's Altar Society Catholic church, Church of Christ, Women's Auxiliary of Episcopal church, Methodist, Baptist and Christian church missionary societies, Club Room board, 1926 Book Club, Mothers Club, Pathfinder Club, Chamber of Commerce and John M. Bass who placed the tablet in position.

Three Hundred Farmers Talk Cotton at Pampa

Federal loans are now possible to enable plains farmers to buy cotton seed where the wheat crops are a failure. The loan limit is placed at $1.25 an acre. Some three hundred wheat farmers met at Pampa Monday where federal representatives explained the requirements to secure seed loans.

Announcement was made at the same meeting that wheat growers could borrow seed money with which to plant a wheat crop this season.

D. A. Harrold of the Groom country is said to be preparing to plant 90 acres of cotton. The total cotton planting is estimated at 3,000 acres for that section.

Cliff Allison of McLean was over visiting homefolks Sunday.

J. R. Mace of Lelia Lake was an Amarillo visitor last week.

Materials For Road Building Abounds in Donley

During recent months, a number of samples of road building materials have been taken from Donley county and declared favorable after analysis. These samples are said to include caliche, clays, rock and gravel principally. A small quantity of Fuller's earth has been found, though this is not used on highway work. It is used extensively in oil purification processes.

Messrs. J. W. Murphey and R. Killingsworth have been here several days inspecting formations at several points and gathering samples for analysis. They represent a construction company that expects to bid for highway contract work in this section in the future. These materials are valuable to those who know where to find them when distance is considered in hauling to where actual construction is in process.

HIGHLIGHTS OF ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, May 16 (UP). High lights of President Roosevelt's message to the nations:

A profound hope of the people of my country * * * is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos.

The world economic conference will meet soon and must come to its conclusions quickly. The world can not await deliberations long drawn out.

The conference must establish order in place of the present chaos by a stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade and by international action to raise price levels.

The conference must * * * supplement individual domestic programs for economic recovery by wise and considered international action.

The disarmament conference has labored for more than a year * * * confused purposes still clash dangerously. Our duty lies in the direction of bringing practical results through concerted action based upon the greatest good to the greatest number.

I believe that the overwhelming majority of peoples feel obliged to retain excessive armaments because they fear some act of aggression against them, and not because they themselves seek to be aggressors. There is justification for this fear.

If all the nations will agree wholly to eliminate from possession and use the weapons which make possible a successful attack, defenses automatically will become impregnable and the frontiers and independence of every nation will become secure.

The ultimate objective of the disarmament conference must be the complete elimination of all offensive weapons. The immediate objective is a substantial reduction of some of these weapons and the elimination of many others.

But the peace of the world must be assured during the whole period of disarmament and I, therefore, propose * * * that all the nations of the world should enter into a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression. * * *

Common sense points out that if any strong nation refuses to join with genuine sincerity in these concerted efforts for political and economic peace, the one at Geneva and the other at London, progress can be obstructed and ultimately blocked.

In such an event the civilized world, seeking both forms of peace, will know where the responsibility for failure lies. I urge that no nation assume such a responsibility. * * * —Dallas Journal.

Donley County Woman Will Enter Quilt Contest

Prizes amounting to $7,000 are being offered at the Century of Progress fair at Chicago for the best quilts during the fair season beginning June 1st.

Mrs. N. L. Jones of Ashtola has entered the contest with a quilt of seven hundred and sixty-eight pieces of a pattern designed by herself and given the name of "Mother Jones Rose Quilt."

This quilt was completed in nine weeks. Judging from the pattern, the labor was tedious and most exacting. The general appearance would lead an onlooker to come to the conclusion that it was worth the effort. The pattern is most beautiful and skillfully made. Parsons brothers cleaned the quilt and was then prepared for shipment to the Fair authorities Saturday.

Contractor Suffers Painful Injury in Fall

While working on a building at Goodnight Tuesday which was being torn down, Ed Speed fell off a table three feet high and broke a finger and otherwise injured his right hand. Striking a ladder in a ditch after he fell is what caused the injury.

This is the building from which brick are being taken to the Chamberlain school building location by Speed brothers.

Cantelou Building Leased For Filling Station

The Cantelou building purchased recently by the firm of Clifford & Ray is to be remodeled and made into a modern filling station according to reports. It is said that the Continental oil company of which A. L. Chase is local distributor, will take a lease for that purpose.

The building has been occupied by the McElvany tire company for several years. He has not indicated what his future plans are, but it is understood that Mr. McElvany has been considering a new location.

MUSEUM WIDELY KNOWN ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS

With the Opening of Tourist Season, Canyon Becomes Mecca of Travelers

Canyon, May 15—The popularity of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum has far exceeded the expectations of even the builders of that lovely structure as the register shows that some 8,462 visitors from 18 different states have called since the opening of Pioneer Hall a month ago.

The popularity is increased by the fact that it is located on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers College and on a circle drive which runs through the Palo Duro Canyon, by the old Goodnight Ranch headquarters, through Claude and Amarillo, making it easily accessible from all directions.

The museum is open each Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday afternoons from two to six o'clock, at which times a member of the College history faculty is on hand to explain what is known about the relics.

Bagby Brothers Move Office To Better Quarters

Workmen have completed renovation and remodeling of the new office rooms of the Bagby brothers, G. B. and W. S., who have taken the quarters formerly occupied by C. C. Powell in the Donley County State bank building.

The walls were gone over with a lighter coating of paint and the partition so arranged as to afford a private consultation room. A clock that records the time announcement by the minute is something entirely new in the time-keeper's art. Figures are changing every minute giving one the correct time to the dot without any guess work.

These men invite their insurance customers and friends to call on them at their new office suite which is equal to any in town in point of comfort, convenience and beauty.

G. G. Kemp had business in Colorado Springs the first of the week. Mrs. T. E. Smith of Post is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Joe Holland Sr. and family.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLES' REVIVAL BEGINS MAY 28TH

Local Pastor Will Conduct Services And Tahoka Man The Song Service

Church workers actively in charge of arrangements and more directly interested in this revival include the intermediate and junior departments of the Sunday school and B. T. S. departments.

All other departments have enthusiastically pledged their support to insure further success of revival efforts.

Dr. J. B. Sandifer, president of Simmons University at Abilene will be here on the closing day, June 11th, and will preach at both hours Sunday.

These young church workers invite all the other young people interested to be present at these services and assist in the song service.

The play to be given at the Smith school has been changed to Friday night of this week—the 19th.

A rattlesnake was killed at the Frank Bourland home Monday. This is the first time in years that a rattlesnake has been killed in the main part of town.

COURT OF HONOR OF BOY SCOUTS TUESDAY NIGHT

T. Jones Says Big Demand For Wonder Tomato

Having tested the Wonder tomato to over a wide territory thru his customers last season, T. Jones reports that orders for the plants are exceeding his expectations at this time.

W. M. Pickering planted out 1500 cold frame Wonder tomatoes some days ago without the loss of a plant. A shipment of 1800 went to Claude the first of the week. These are among the largest individual orders for this particular variety.

Odd Fellow Dramatic Club To Visit White Deer

Doc Woods announces that the Club will present "Tony the Convict" at White Deer next Monday night.

TEXAS TO MATCH R F C AID WITH BIG BOND ISSUE

Beer and Bond Issues Will Be Passed on by Vote On August 26th

Voters of Texas will be called on to pass on two important issues August 26th, either of which are calculated to draw out a full voting strength.

One is a proposal to issue $20, 000,000 worth of state bonds with which to secure funds to meet the requirements of the RFC to insure a further expenditure of federal money in this state.

R. F. C. officials had advised Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson that a submission of the bond issue is necessary, or all federal aid would be withdrawn. Just what attitude will be taken by the federal authorities should the bond issue not carry, is not known.

On the same date, the renowned beer bill will come up for a hearing. The vote will be for the selection of delegates to a state convention rather on the beer issue direct. The delegates elected will finally dispose of the matter as to whether 3.2 should be sold within the state.

A bill is now before the Legislature that would permit the payment of poll tax up to July 15th in order to secure additional revenue, and to permit otherwise qualified voters to have a voice in the important issues that are coming up. Several amendments will be up for consideration on August 26th, but the two named above will likely elicit the most enthusiasm.

Boardless Bragging.

Most people will brag on their relatives, but they don't want to board them.

How About It?

Which is better, to worry about the price, or about having the price to pay?

Theory Questioned.

Where is the car salesman of a few years ago who said a man could not drive a car over two years and retain his dignity?

Verification.

Forced to adopt siege rations, the beleaguered garrison of Texas citizens today, after three years, have some idea of what took place at the Almo for a few weeks.

Fortunate.

Poor folks have one consolation, their homes are not filled with doodads and gewgaws that are only fit to fall over when they get up in the dark.

Poverty and Riches.

The only real poverty one may have, is a lack of courage; a lack of self-confidence and a desire to rise in the world; a lack of human sympathy and understanding. The most valuable of all one's possessions is to have a real friend. To be privileged to be that kind of a friend to some one else, is riches indeed.

Georgian Explains.

Editor Pat Griffin of Bainbridge, Georgia and a member of the State Assembly which correspond to our Legislature, offers the following in reply to criticisms: "Every liquor head that sits in the gallery the last two or three nights and rambles all over the hall, is not a member of the general Assembly." So there you are, folks!

Fogey Ideas.

We are just old-fashioned enough to believe that it is impossible to legislate religion, prohibition, morals, farm relief or prosperity into any people. It reminds us of what a convict recently said down at Huntsville. He had been given a total of 153 years. He announced that if 150 years were deducted, he would show them what a model prisoner could be, and what a real citizen looked like after three years.

The more we try to force people against their wills to do that which their better judgment should tell them, and the more we sympathize with real criminals, the more nearly like a political convention our whole state becomes.

High Tuition Rates.

Tuition rates in our higher schools of learning will work a hardship on the deserving next term. Those from outside the state should have been paying a higher rate all the time, but not so citizens of our own state.

During the past year, pupils from other states as far away as Massachusetts attended the State University because it meant a money saving on tuition as compared with that of their own state. This should not be. Such a condition crowds our institutions. If they do choose to attend Texas schools, they should pay well for that privilege. The lowest rate possible should be granted Texas students that those of small means might have an opportunity. Many of those who have worked their way through these higher schools, are today our most valuable citizens in many professions.

If necessary to cut expense by increasing cost, it certainly should have been done somewhere else besides in our best schools. The people should remember that error when the same members of our law-making bodies come up for reelection.

The Forgotten Man.

Along with the famous "Forgotten Man" phase, should be listed forgotten prices. The farmer was forgotten first in the period of oppression, and will likely be the last to recover. It has always been that way. Unless the farmer gets a good price for his products this fall, there will be little change in general conditions.

The wheat crop is reported to be short. The government estimate places it at 48 percent. Bread stuff will be high before another crop is grown. That is bad for the wheat grower, but not so bad for the corn grower.

Cotton continues to climb upward. Ten cent cotton will mean a whole lot to this section. More if we can remember some of the handicaps that befell us when it was less than half that price.

Blamed Nuisances.

It does little good to protest against some things. While this may be true, it also becomes one to protest, and that loudly, when one's personal rights are being disregarded to the advantage of a carnival show.

Just why a carnival? Meaning those of which we have a fair sample, of course. Is there any-for under the "nom-de-plume" of economy, but the suggestion is misleading. The demanders are disgusted. Too few fist fighters are numbered in that bunch. They parade around the "snorting post" but lack the intestinal fortitude of swinging on the jaw of a fellow member.

Summing it all up, we of the census bureau of public opinion find only seven head of fist fighters in both bodies. Can you feature Texas having only seven fighters out of a total of 181 of the cream of the manhood of the state. Well, we forgot we have two women in the lot, or something like that number, all of whom have been disgusted ladies all through the present melee.

Personally, we feel like demanding fewer men and more fighting. While they are fighting they are not passing bum laws and pulling other bone heads. Texas appears at present to be at least 179 fist fighters to the bad right now and half of them on a fishing trip or getting their tackle ready for one.

Well there goes a "dignicat" down for the last time. He speculated on what the farmers raised until he got rich. When he yelled for help, the Apostle pitched him an anchor. If you don't happen to know, a "dignicat" is defined as "a home brewed word for convenience."

MAIN STREET IS AGOG WITH EXCITEMENT.

By L. F. Van Zelm

Sol Snodgrass turned out of the pen last week after serving 15 years is said to have been met at the gate by his wife and the three small children.

An old farmer in commenting on progress a few days ago remarked that we are a lot smarter these days when we use auto tires on our wagons and save the teams a lot of hard work.

Another old fellow wasn't so sure about it. He said that back in the wagon days of the iron tire, people took enough produce to town to trade for their groceries and saved the women and kids a lot of hard work.

Another boy we are going to hear from some of these days is none other than Jimmy Bourland. He is president of the graduating class at Junior High school here this term. He made one of the best talks yet, bar no ages, at the Rotary club. And above all that might be said of a boy, he knows enough to be courteous.

There is a bunch of boys driving a new-fangled thing around these parts that is in no sense a Model A. It looks like a Model A. D. of about 78. It sounds like a combination of lawn mowers and hay rakes with a seat that might have been a waffle iron. The worst part about it is, I think my youngest boy has traded for it.

His mother is getting ready to go east for a spell, and here's hoping that she makes the trip in this hoot-an-nanny machine. I know she never can get it back here.

Mart M. McCracken never heard anything about deer hunts if he did kill one last fall and bring it back here to rub it in.

Several years ago our grandfather while hunting came upon a deer facing him in the trail. Grandpa fired and hit the buck square in the forehead, but the buck turned around so fast that by the time the bullet passed through its head, he was facing the other way. The result was, that the bullet which had a lot of force left, came back and busted grandpa's pipe right out of his mouth. Yeh, grandpa got the deer.

When asked the name of the new arrival, a local doctor said the other kids made so much fuss he never could understand what they said.

Bill Barker says he knew a man down in Ellis county who went over to Dallas to show the boys a few things some years ago. The first stunt he pulled was to offer to sell the courthouse to a seedy looking yokel from Jack county, as he thought. He turned out to be the man who owned the courthouse and made the Ellis county man pay him $10 to keep him from having the old boy arrested.

The College Hill widow says the reason they call it Mother's Day is that she has the day all to herself cooking and preparing a big dinner for the crowd that gathers in to wish her well, etc.

The man who refuses to go to church because of seeing an occasional hypocrite there, would not refuse to ride in an auto because he had seen an occasional wreck.

Mrs. N. L. Jones of Ashtola has started in to win the top quilt prize at the Chicago fair. She has a good start with the design and workmanship. Won't we all be proud of her when she wins? Just think of a Donley county woman winning first prize of several hundred dollars! She made most of the quilt while sick, or at least when she was not able to do anything else. You and I would have been in bed but she never stops. Here's gobs and gobs of luck to this plucky woman.

It has just been learned that the first women to paint their faces was the Egyptians. They had a fly epidemic and the women gobbled their faces with sticky stuff. Color looked better and from that idea grew the newer idea of painting in several colors. Just what those swell dames down in old Egypt did when the frog epidemic came along has been a mystery, but they could have painted against crawlers as well as flyers.

Just had a letter from Jack county and are those people getting smart! You tell the world they are. A young man of the frisky age was gored by a bull. His stomach and intestines were badly torn up and when the doctor got out in the sticks to where the boy was laid up, there was nothing for him to do but kill a sheep and patch that boy up. That was in January and the young man quickly got well with the cool weather. By March he was growing a set of horns. During April he refused to eat or sleep in the house and grazed lamb's quarter along the creek banks. Last week his pa sheared 30 pounds of wool off him. Now the old man wants the doctor to fix up all 14 of the kids the same way.

A fisherman here who acts pious around town was down at Taylor lake fishing Sunday. That's nothing to talk about, but he ran out of bait. About that time he spied a water moccasin with a frog in its mouth. He poured some hootch on the snake's head as a joke, and grabbed the frog as the snake turned it loose. He fished on a few minutes until he felt something rasp his ankle. Looking down, he saw the same snake looking up at him with a wink and another frog.

Concentrated lie: You may come and put my telephone back. Your rate is fair.

Sight Correction

IS OF FIRST IMPORTANCE

Efficient Treatment

SCIENTIFIC development within the field of optometry has been just as rapid and as marked as in all other fields of science and medicine, with the result that old rules and old methods no longer apply in the treatment and care of the eyes. . . . Sight correction is now of first importance. . . . Hundreds of thousands of those with impaired vision have been completely cured through scientific sight correction. . . . in the finding of cause. . . . Not all eyes can be made whole and normal again. . . . but very few cases will fail to respond to intelligent treatment. Let us examine your eyes and tell you honestly if you are enjoying the full comfort of good vision.

STOPS a Headache

There seems to be no safer way to end a headache—and there certainly is no safer way—than two tablets of Bayer Aspirin.

You've heard doctors say Bayer Aspirin is safe. If you've tried it, you know it's effective. You could take these tablets every day in the year without any ill effects. And every time you take them, you get the desired relief.

Stick to Bayer Aspirin. It's safe. It gets results. Quick relief from headaches, colds, or other sudden discomfort.

Better Business

For the past two years people have generally believed there could be no permanent improvement in business until farm products brought a good price. Wheat, corn, cotton, wool, hogs, cattle and other farm products have increased in price and business is better—not a big lot, but it's better. Whatever it takes to keep these prices advancing, let's have it—call it inflation, reducing the gold in the dollar, supply and demand, or what not.

Your Motor

Clogged with carbon, sticky with grease, that piston-pin slapping gives you no peace. With valves that are pitted, and not up to par, battery lifeless—she's still your car. You may brag of her virtues, boast of her power—but how many miles will she go in an hour? Better come in and look and see—no one knows better than we.

HOW SHE LOST 29 POUNDS IN 3 MONTHS

"I am using your Kruschen Salts to reduce and I've used a bottle and a half and dieted some and lost 29 pounds in 3 months. I feel so much better and intend to keep on taking the Salts as I was almost 50 pounds overweight." Mrs. Thelma Gravely, Roseville, Calif. (Jan. 11, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.

Mencken, Dewey Debate Costs of Education

Should taxes be lowered at the expense of many of the so-called "frills" of education? Both sides of this popular question are brought to light in a debate which appears in the current Rotarian Magazine, between H. L. Mencken, editor of "The American Mercury," and John Dewey, Professor of philosophy at Columbia University.

THE MENCKEN ARGUMENTS

"There can be no doubt that educational reforms of recent years were urged in perfect good faith, and that they were all worth while. Unfortunately, some evils came in with these goods as is apparently inevitable in human affairs.

"The New Pedagogy, in fact, was mainly buncombe. There was, of course, some sense in it, but not very much. The psychological data upon which it was based were absurd, and the miracles that it was supposed to achieve were imaginary. Children came out of the new pedagogical Taj Mahals no better prepared for life than their parents had come out of the little red schoolhouse, and the new Model A pedagogy, with his polychrome graphs and bold hypotheses, turned out to be scarcely as competent as the Model T ma'am of the last generation, with her dog's-eared speller and her ready rattle.

"Some of the more advanced pedagogues began to think of themselves, not only as scientists of a novel and subtle sort, but also as prophets. The chief prophets of the movement went to great lengths. They built larger and larger schoolhouses, with fewer and fewer classrooms and more and more gymnasias, laboratories, ateliers, and shops. They invented multitudinous new species of 'experts' and put them gloriously to work. They sweated the poor school ma'ams during the hot summers with interminable courses in quack 'sciences.'

"They called for larger and larger contributions from the taxpayer, and damned him bodily whenever he cried for quarter. And in their topmost ranks they dreamed voluptuously of adding a secretary of education to the cabinet.

"All this went on until the depression struck the country, and budgets began to go unbalanced. There ensued a somewhat bilious inquiry into the whole pedagogical hocus-pocus. It was found that the brethren were getting away with nearly three billions annually (or maybe even four billions), and that they were planning to demand much more.

"It was found that the cost of 'educating' a pupil a year, which had been $15.00 in 1880, had soared to nearly $100, and that it was still going up. It was found that this vast outpouring of money had already reduced hundreds of American counties and towns to bankruptcy, and was seriously imperiling the solvency of whole states."

THE DEWEY ARGUMENTS.

"It is proposed to eliminate from the schools such things as health service, work with wood, metal, tools, domestic arts, music, drawing, and dramatics, on the ground that they are 'frills' and costly frills at that. I do not question the desirability of every legitimate economy in the conduct of the schools. I deny absolutely that saving money at the expense of the lives of young people, now and in the future, is economy.

"Economy is something more than reducing expenditure of funds. If it were not, it would be economy to save the money now spent in buying food, shelter and clothing for the millions of unemployed. It is as heartless and as foolish to starve the minds and characters of the young as it is to starve the bodies of their parents. The real question is not economy versus waste but whether things scornfully named frills are or are not important things in the education of mind and brain; whether they are luxuries or whether they are necessities in the present state of society.

"Early in its history the United States committed itself to a system of education for all, conducted at public expense. This was not accidental but was a manifestation of our fundamental national faith. Our educational system has always had enemies but they have been those who had no faith in any part of our democratic social experiment.

"The economic crisis has encouraged these people to come back to the attack. They make a great fuss about 'frills.' Their real opposition is to the belief in human capacity, the belief in the right of every human being to have a chance to develop, the desire of parents that their children shall have better opportunities than they enjoyed—the beliefs that created the tax-supported American public school system. Show me a man who is active in attacking our schools because of their 'frills' and

I will show you either a large taxpayer who sends his own children to a private school or else one who disbelieves in the whole democratic endeavor.

"Imagine every study, every activity, every piece of equipment and facility, that is today condemned as a frill, eliminated from schools. Imagine that the schools have gone back to what their critics still believe to be the essentials. How attractive would these schools be?

"It is as absurd to suppose that schools could remain unchanged during the tremendous social expansions and reorganizations of the last forty years, as it is to suppose that the old local grist-mills, saw-mills, and blacksmith shops could continue to serve new conditions, or that the old dirt roads could meet the needs of an automobile age. There is no measure, fixed and unchanging from age to age, by which to decide what is a frill and what an essential in education. The only true gauge is social conditions and needs.

"Teachers and schools must indeed do what they can to rescue communities from the dangers of bankruptcy through excessive taxation. But the expense of even the excrescences that could be lopped enough is nothing compared with political frills in job-holding and in complication of taxing agencies. Let the gentlemen who are making a drive on the schools turn toward extravagances and corruption in politics, and not take it out on helpless children."

modity price level. The first relates to open-market operations by the Federal Reserve banks; the second provides for the issuance of Treasury notes within certain defined limits; the third relates to the acceptance of silver aggregating two hundred million dollars in payment of debts owed by foreign governments; and the fourth authorizes a change in the gold content of the dollar or the re-emonetization of silver.

With such a program as this in operation, accomplishing three important steps in the President's program of ultimate national recovery, I have every hope that the farmer will once more assume his proper place in our economic structure, and that America will be well on its way to better times.

We Specialize in Periodic Overhauling

Many cracked cylinder heads, scored cylinders, out-of-line crankshafts could have been avoided if small adjustments had been made periodically. When a car is running well enough there seems to be no need to leave it in a garage for a few days. But the habit of having your car overhauled twice a year will pay in lower actual repair bills over the life of the car. We know this and can prove it to you by actual cost figures.

We are equipped to grind cylinders, install new bearings, balance cam and crank shafts, put on new piston rings, reline brakes and other heavy repairing jobs. Our costs are often below factory standards.

(Member of Congress from Tex.)

The emergency measure which has just been passed embodies the farm mortgage refinancing provisions as well as the currency program. It is frequently referred to as the most important and far-reaching legislation ever presented to the American Congress.

The Senate and House have now agreed on all of the provisions of the bill, and it has received executive approval.

Soon after the farm measure was sent to the Senate, I introduced the administration's farm mortgage bill and lead the fight for its adoption by the House of Representatives. It was adopted by an overwhelming vote.

Currency expansion measures were also pending in the House during this period and had been discussed by many members on the floor.

These measures were combined and the Thomas currency amendment added. The result of these various steps and combinations is one measure of tremendous importance to the farmer and to the nation in general.

In passing this combination measure, the Senate added eighty-five amendments. In order to iron out the differences in the measure as it passed the House and Senate, it was necessary for a joint conference committee to be selected to represent each body.

Because of the importance of this legislation, I felt greatly honored in being chosen to head the group of conferees from the House when the measure was thus taken up for final revision and adjustment by the two groups before its enactment into law.

The House and Senate both adopted the conference report, which was the last step before executive approval. It was my privilege to be present when it was approved, and the President presented me with a pen which he used in signing the measure.

The farm relief section of the composite bill is admittedly an experiment, and is intended to be used only in the present emergency under its provisions the Secretary of Agriculture is given broad powers to administer several plans in an effort to bring temporary relief to the farmer while a permanent program is being instituted.

The mortgage refinancing provisions have been discussed in the press reports. The necessity of farm refinancing was recognized by the President, with the result that such a measure has been approved by Congress.

I believe that a controlled expansion of the currency will be a long step toward recovery, because it brings with it an increase in commodity prices and increased purchasing power.

The reflation, or expansion, announced which has been added to the farm bill contains four major proposals, any or all of which may be used by the President, for the purpose of increasing the com-

Can two walk together except they be agreed? Ames 3.3. Enoch walked with God. The disciples walked with burning coals in the company of Jesus. Paul's aim was to walk worthy of the Lord, for he walked by faith. Agreeable company shortens the road and lightens the load. Life is like a journey that need never be lonely and is always pleasanter for friend or two. "Can two walk together except they be agreed?"

1. It is so in business. Partners should be friends who trust one another without reservation. Their devotion to a common cause should be unequivocal, and their loyalty in service beyond question. Two heads are better than one except when they are irreconcilably opposed. Many a promising business is ruined for lack of agreement on the essential factor, objective, methods and investment. The last is the measure of a partner's interest and the clearness with which he perceives his goal determines the attention which he devotes to his business. Two minds with a single purpose can work wonders. But beware of the cheat who would have all of the profits without labor. Partners must pull together and share alike.

2. So are we partners in the social realm. Three good words meet us everywhere in our time, leadership, co-operation, and brotherhood. Today we are learning to emphasize not the word "own" but the word "owe." We owe to our community our gifts, endowments and achievements. We are partners of our community, seeking our own good through her good. Such souls are leaders of their community. ism. The reward is brotherhood, more precious than many fortunes, for in such an atmosphere life becomes divine. Invest your-self in business of social welfare and learn to enjoy your community.

3. In religion the same principle is at work. We have all heard of the "Silent Partner." Jesus promised that he would be with us. But there are conditions. There must be trust. No man should walk through life alone. His presence makes life worth while in the home, office and in the social life. Sunday subjects. "From Idols to God." I wish to thank Mr. Estlack for what he said about me in the paper. I do try to spell correctly but I must admit that I make a great many typographical errors. I know that is because I do not have enough practice. I was always good in spelling, and english during my school days. I truly loved History but I had to study very hard to get it.

If you were to ask me to whom I owed all I have learned, I would tell you from the most wonderful teachers that ever were. My History and English teachers were the best in the state. They helped grade the teachers papers that were sent in at the capital, from all over the state. I truly loved them and I still hear from one of them. She is now seventy-three but still teaching in our school. She enjoys her school room better than anyone I ever knew.

All of our teachers could see that taught in the grades but we had one that taught piano tuning, one that taught basketry, the director of the band could not see.

Taking Your DOLLAR to Market

X X X

EVERY year your family, and every family of your acquaintance, spends about 70 per cent of its income just for living, exclusive of rent—so economic experts tell us. Think what this means—seven dollars out of every ten invested in food, clothing, household utilities and all the multitude of things that keep a family comfortable and happy.

That part of spending is readily understood. But do you realize that every manufacturer and retailer of these necessities is planning how he can get your dollar?

It's a big job to spend so much money wisely and well. It requires careful business methods to get the best possible returns from each dollar that leaves the family purse.

The clever woman goes for help to the advertisements in her paper. There she finds a directory of buying and selling. She learns about the offerings of merchants and manufacturers. She compares values. She weighs quality and price. She takes this opportunity of judging and selecting almost everything she needs to feed, clothe, amuse, instruct and generally bring up her family. Do you read the advertisements? You will find them willing and able to serve you in the daily business of purchase.

LARGE NUMBER DO GRADUATES HONOR SUNDAY

Excellence of Our Schools Is Given Vote of Confidence by Public

Persons gathering in unprecedented numbers taxed to capacity the seating room of the First Methodist Church here last Sunday morning, and many were compelled to stand as the Baccalaureate services were heard with Rev. Robt. S. McKee of the First Presbyterian Church delivering the sermon for the occasion.

Selecting the tenth verse of the ninth chapter of Proverbs as the main theme of his address, Rev. McKee in that clear, eloquent delivery of his, poured out his soul's message with his principal text "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom" as the golden thread and guiding line throughout his message.

The graduating classes of the Junior College, Senior High School and Junior High School, as well as friends and relatives who had gathered for the services, listened in silence as Rev. McKee expounded and set forth facts so ably presented in the "Book of Books." Those listening were further told that an educated man is often times a fool and that being well-schooled does not mean that a person has wisdom. To have a profound knowledge of all things and the mental power to weigh these things as to their true meaning and full value, comes only to those who have accepted the wisdom and power of God, and have blended it with their own learning and judgment. This true advice of the speaker was passed on to his hearers with a voice, clear and convincing. Though he favored education, vast and unlimited; yet, he appealed in his last words that wisdom was still a higher attainment of learning, with God inseparable.

The Eleventh Report on Legislation shows that the House of Representatives of Texas has passed a bill requiring all text books to be printed in Texas; also that the Rural Aid Bill has passed both Senate and House. The Senate has passed a bill to exclude the six-year old children. It looks like at present that the Senate will kill House Income tax bill. Kayton Sales Tax Bill is again before the House. The House is proposing an additional cent of the gasoline tax to schools. House and Senate have both passed a bill giving the school the cigarette tax.

By Lucille Hargus—Bray School

An old man about 80 years of age who was very gray and bent entered the State Capitol at Austin. This man was Mr. F. S. Rountree, who in years back had been a Texas Ranger and Indian fighter, but is now a Baptist preacher of Lubbock. He brought with him a picture of a woman, who was the only adult that survived the massacre of the Alamo. He offered the picture to the state saying, "She was a brave woman and a good wife for she stood by her husband to the last."

The picture was of Mrs. Dickinson the wife of Lieutenant Dickinson. She had been brave indeed. She lived during the time of the Indians and had seen many battles. Mrs. Dickinson and Mr. Rountree were friends when they were but children and she gave Mr. Rountree the picture of her, little guessing that it would one day be praised, honored and hung in the State Capitol.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson married when they were young and lived the crude, rough but happy life of a Texas pioneer. When Texas was fighting for her independence, Lieutenant Dickinson and his wife were among the many who helped fight. She was with her husband the thirteen days preceding the massacre of the Alamo defenders helping him serve as a physician and surgeon. Lieutenant Dickinson was slain and his body burned along with the other heroes of the historical massacre.

Mrs. Dickinson and her two year old child were saved and returned to Goliad. She later married Doctor J. W. Hanning. The picture of Mrs. Dickinson has now been offered to the state and it should be enlarged or reproduced in oil. The picture should hang along side of other heroes for she was one of the many who fought for "Our Texas."

Bill Yelton of Claude spent the week end in the Percival home and attended the closing exercises of the schools with a number of Claude students in school here.

LAYIN' ABED IN THE MORNIN'

I don't believe, when it comes to sport,
That I'm a bit backward or lazy
When it comes to skatin' an'
Things o' that sort,
There ain't anyone more crazy.

But ahead of all sports in the world there's one,
An' I want to give you warnin';
In all creation there ain't any fun
Like layin' abed in the mornin'.

You lay half asleep, and your sisters they call,
An' it sounds like the angels a-singin';
An' they pound on the door and rap on the wall,
An' keep up a terrible dinin'.

An' it all just helps to put you to sleep,
An' sweetly blends with your dreamin';
An' the zephyrs over your eyelids creep,
An' the sun in your face is a beamin'.

Then after a while your hear in the hall
Your father's boots a stumpin',
An' you know that somethin' is goin' to fall
Unless you get right to humpin'.

But when we go up to heaven to stay—
The place our spirits were born in—
There won't be nothin' to do all day
But lay abed in the mornin'.
—Pathfinder.

CLASSIC IN JOURNALISM

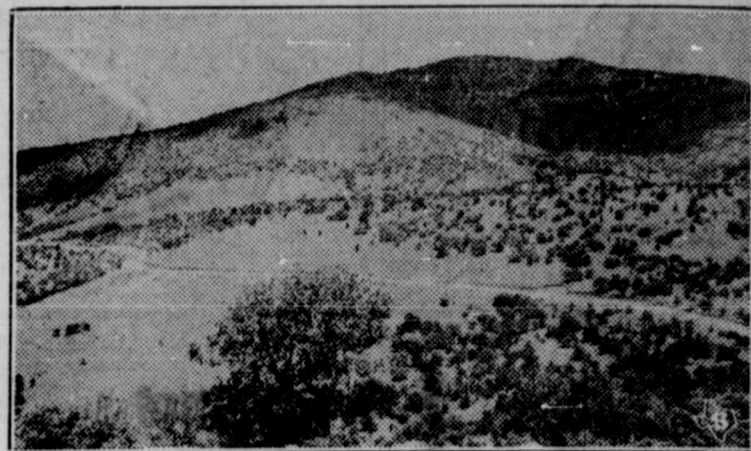

The ace of the newspaper tales, we think, is the one about the reporter, who passing a dock one dark night, noticed a man drowning. He jerked off his coat and started to leap in for the rescue—when he discovered that the drowning gent was his own managing editor. The reporter thought fast. He was next in line for the editor's job. So he let him sink.

Of course this is fiction. Had it been a true story the reporter probably would have tossed his editor an anchor.

At any rate, the scribe rushed breathlessly to the desk of his publisher and related what had happened. "I guess," said the reporter between smiles, "that I'm next in line for the job, now, ain't I?"

The publisher shook his head slowly. "I'm sorry," he said, "I've already promised it—to the guy who pushed him in."

This is Mount Locke, in the Davis Mountains of West Texas, which has been selected as the site of the McDonald Observatory, a new department of the University of Texas. The state highway department will build a road to its summit after observatory construction begins.
