VISITING ENGINEERS MONDAY REVIVE DRIVE FOR HIGHWAY SOUTH TO TURKEY

Deliberating with Donley's county commissioners Monday were Roy Russell, Hall county commissioner residing at Turkey, and J. B. Nabors, resident district engineer of the State Highway Department of Childress, and E. W. Mors, consulting highway engineer who sought to secure a continuation of Highway 88 through to Turkey.

This highway is known as No. 18 beyond Turkey south, and should the highway be put in proper condition from Clarendon to Turkey, would give an outlet from Pampa to central Texas through Turkey, Matador on south.

To insure a preliminary survey, Donley's county commissioners pledged an amount not to exceed $150 from Precinct No. 2. It is further understood that the local Chamber of Commerce pledged an equal amount for a preliminary survey from Clarendon south to the Hall county line.

In a phone message Wednesday, Mr. Russell assured Judge Lowe that the survey could begin next week. He also stated that an enthusiastic meeting had been held at Matador Tuesday at which time citizens of that section voiced an unqualified approval of the project.

This project has been under consideration for some time and it is believed that it is much nearer a solution since outside sections are becoming interested in the matter.

Landmark Goes up in Smoke When Residence Burns

A residence constructed more than thirty years ago when the "pagoda" type was classified as beautiful was destroyed by flames between 8 and 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

The building was located west of the W. T. Hayter residence and north of the home of Judge Link on the corner. It was owned for some time by Mr. Quattlebaum but more recently is said to have been traded to a party by the name of A. J. Carter of Dalhart.

Unoccupied, firemen are inclined to believe the blaze was of incendiary origin from newspaper trash indications and odor of kerosene, it is said.

SIDELIGHTS

$1200 SPENT ON COUNTY CANNERY EQUIPMENT HERE

Production Increased Over Previous Records by 430 Cans

Processing in the Donley County Cannery increased last week to 3675 cans which is a total increase of 430 cans over the previous week.

Since storage space in the cannery is limited, producers are requested to call for the products on the date assigned to them by the supervisor at the time the producer's agreement is made. All producers have copies of these agreements so there should be no conflict of dates. They are also requested not to ask for agreements by telephone since they will not be granted.

The Texas Relief Commission has spent approximately $800.00 for equipment installed in the cannery and Donley County has spent more than $400.00. The Relief Commission is furnishing funds for the labor and the county is paying the utility costs. No additional funds are available from either source and they are in need of cup towels for the cannery. If there are individuals who can donate not more than one cup towel each, please send or present them to Mrs. J. M. Accord at the cannery. All donations will be greatly appreciated and will aid materially in keeping the work in the cannery up to its present standards.

Judge Cole Again Enters Private Practice

After spending more than fifteen months in Dallas where he made his headquarters while prosecuting mail fraud cases in the federal court of the north Texas district under a special appointment, Judge Cole has returned to Clarendon.

He will open offices in the Goldston building, his former location, during the week. The Judge expresses himself as being well pleased to be back among friends and "homefolks" again, and where he has had long years of successful practice in his profession. His many friends are just as glad to have him back.

Farmers Warned to Refuse Sale Cotton Options

Government authorities are broadcasting a warning to cotton growers to hold their cotton options. Speculators are covering the cotton belt in an effort to buy options for far less than they will be worth later. Some are now in Donley county, it is said.

COUNTY SINGERS JOIN OKLAHOMA ORGANIZATION

Large Crowd Enjoys Music Of Vocalists Fairview School Sunday

The meeting of the Donley County Singing Convention at Fairview last Sunday was a decided success, and a most enjoyable occasion for every one present. Singers and visitors from over a large territory overflowed the place of meeting. Quite a few visiting "choirists" from adjoining counties were present, who aided in making this one of the best sessions.

Besides several congregational songs conducted by the different leaders, special numbers were rendered as quartets, duets, etc. The Wills Quartet from Hall County was very highly appreciated. Another of the high-lights (or low notes?) of the program was a bass solo sung by Hardy Todd of Brice.

The next singing convention will be at Bray the first Sunday in November.

The Donley County Convention is now affiliated with the Oklahoma-Texas District Singing Association which will have its sixth annual meeting at Hollis, Okla. October 13 and 14th.

Alleged Highjacking Takes Place East of Hedley

A driver of the Ponca City wholesale tobacco truck making this and nearby towns by the name of Walker, is said to have reported to constable I. B. Pierce here Monday afternoon that he had been held up. The place is said to have been near the Bob Ferris farm east of Hedley.

Walker stated that two men driving a Chevrolet sedan crowded him off the highway, shot a hole through the cab and after locking him up in the rear of the truck, escaped with 3 cartons of cigarettes, 25 boxes of cigars, 5 boxes of candy, 3 boxes of gum, a 21-jewel Elgin watch and a quantity of money.

He stated that he did not stop between the Ferris farm and Clarendon upon the instructions of the highjackers who warned him not to stop at Hedley.

The Sheriff's force immediately began a search but have found no clue as to the alleged highjackers.

Dan Latimer is Appointed Hedley Constable

At a session of the County Commissioners held Monday, Dan Latimer was appointed constable of the 4th precinct to fill out an unexpired term ending December 31st, 1934.

DISTRICT COURT CONVENES HERE MONDAY MORNING

Judge Fires Will Open Fall Term With Slim Criminal Docket

Until and if the grand jury develops some business, the criminal docket will be rather slim this term.

The civil cases show a normal average with far less foreclosures than one would imagine. The civil docket:

C. L. Lane vs G. E. Allen, three cases; D'Laurel Beville vs W. R. and Eva M. Hayden, foreclosure on note; Lockney Oil Company vs W. J. Lewis, suit on note; J. H. Lowe et ux, vs Standard Savings and Loan, injunction; W. H. Cooke Jr. vs E. D. McAdams, suit on note.

Other suits filed are: Panhandle Construction Co. suits on paving liens against A. P. Kerbow and R. H. Beville. C. W. Bridges vs R. D. Starkey suit on note; J. T. Bain vs Freeman-Lindsay Inv. Co., usuary suit; Claudia Bigger vs American Bankers Co. Life Club, insurance policy; H. B. Kerbo vs Padgett Bros. injunction suit; W. L. Schenck vs Claude C. EXTREMES IN AGES ARE PARAMOUNT IN EDUCATIONAL PLAN NOW CONSIDERED

LEGISLATURE TO MEET AGAIN IN SPECIAL SESSION

Appropriations Are Principal Reasons Given For Fourth Special Session

What is termed the "lame duck" session of the Forty-Third session has been called to convene Friday, the 12th. This is the fourth special session of the present Legislature called by Mrs. Ferguson.

When members of the House were consulted regarding this extraordinary session, 104 favored it, 36 opposed and 10 were neutral. In the Senate, 19 favored the special session, 9 opposed it and the other members were either noncommittal or could not be found for an expression.

The principal objects of this special session as set out by the Governor are:

"1. Remission of penalty and interest on delinquent taxes.

"2. Authority for completion of what is known as the Buchanan dam or dams on the Colorado River as now proposed, and necessary funds therefor.

"3. Authority for the Brazos River project for construction of dams to impound and conserve the waters thereof and the reclamation of overflowed lands, on said Brazos River and its tributaries and necessary funds therefor.

"4. The Texas Centennial and the provision for adequate funds therefor.

"5. For additional and necessary relief for indigent and unemployed people of Texas as is now required.

"6. To consider and act on such other subjects and questions as I as Governor may from time to time during said called session submit by message or otherwise to the Legislature.

The Governor also indicated that other matters deemed of importance might be submitted later. The last session adjourning September 25th did little toward relieving any tense situation in which the people were interested.

HUNDREDS VIEW BURLINGTON "ZEPHYR" HERE SATURDAY ON ITS EXHIBIT TOUR

The "Zephyr" moving with the ease and swiftness of the wind after which it was named, remained here from 3:30 to 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Nineteen hundred and eleven passed through the train feasting with eyes on the answer of the rails to the challenge of the paved highway.

Still more hundreds were unable to make the interior inspection within the allotted time the train remained here.

More than twenty local citizens were privileged to ride the train from Amarillo or Claude as entry was made at both places to accommodate the number who had been selected for the ride. Others from here were privileged to board the train and ride to Memphis.

The exterior of the train was bereft of ornament since a streamline was necessary for speed and economy of operation. On the inside, for instance, lights shown from covers rather than from the ceiling. Windows of non-shatter glass were sealed excluding all noise even to the sound of the

A system of adult education in vogue in European countries for a half century is now being adopted in this nation, many towns of Texas already having such schools of instruction at this time.

Plans are under way to secure such benefits in Donley county, according to Sloan Baker, county superintendent of schools.

Three plans are under way pending his visit to Austin today. An adult school for the benefit of those above 16 years of age will be conducted at night. Pupils will be accepted regardless of sex or "previous conditions of servitude." The plan is designed to aid those who have been denied schooling privileges. Only competent teachers will be employed under either plan. The district court room will be used with light and heat furnished.

The second plan is for a "nursery day school" for tots from 2 to 4 years of age and perhaps some of 5 years. The hours will be from 8:30 to 3:30, sessions to be held in the College Dormitory. The associated clubs of the county will supply materials. This plan is designed for the children of relief workers. Two teachers, a dietitian and a nurse will have charge of the little folks and the government will pay for the noon-day lunch 12½ cents per child. It is planned to supply the meals from the Home Ec. department of the High School.

The third plan involves a series of classes over the county. The instructors will be a vocational agriculture teacher and a lady will instruct in home economics. The local relief office will furnish transportation for instructors. This work will be along the lines of county agent and home demonstration agent.

LATER—A message from Supt. Sloan Baker today (Thursday) from Austin states that he has succeeded in getting the first and third plan above approved.

Mrs. Stella Jones will instruct the ladies in Home Ec. work at the day school in the court house. Those wishing to enroll for this free instruction are asked to meet Mrs. Jones at Relief headquarters.

Misses Maude Crawford and Gladys Wright will teach Home Ec. to rural classes, and Earl Jones will have charge of the vocational agriculture work in the rural classes.

The nursery school had not been approved up to time of going to press today.

SLEEPING GIANT AWAKES.

Seeing the "Zephyr" here Saturday betokens the possibilities of what might have been had the Burlington and other rail system heads through the years not chosen to remain in a "chrysalis" form while the world moved on.

The Zephyr is the astounding result of one stroke of clear-thinking. Should this course be pursued, what may we expect within the next few years in the gigantic battle of financial wits of "survive or perish."

"Travel by rail" will become an actuality rather than a slogan if more Zephyrs are used to displace an expensive antiquated rolling stock of cumbersome junk of a past age that offers little comfort and convenience measured in terms of autos and trucks.

The public will welcome modernized rail traffic with passenger and tonnage patronage that will astound the most conservative.

HIGHWAYS AND POLITICAL TRAILS.

That good roads meeting at Plainview apparently resolved itself into a kind of a political convention in which a majority expressed more interest in political trails leading to Austin rather than in highway construction that would close up the gaps in the Panhandle.

The south plains having received a goodly share of what was due it in the way of highway construction, favors the reappointment of Judge Ely to the State Highway Commission when his term expires in January.

Except for a very, very few personal friends, Ely got very little backing from the north Panhandle delegates where highway construction has been neglected and from which section pleadings to the august body of bureaucrats have fallen on deaf ears more than once.

Another and comical situation arose when a few professional "moochers" let it be known that they were pulling strings on Jimmie Allred looking to the assignment of a soft berth now occupied by one Ely. It is a well known fact that those who have made the greatest failure of their own affairs, become the most persistent applicants for preferment in the distribution of political plums.

If we of the Panhandle feel that we have gotten our just dues, let's shut up and ask that Ely be given the big stick January 1st. Otherwise, let's center on a sensible fellow who is interested in civic improvement and who has been too blamed busy on his own job to attend to everybody's business but his own.

JOHNSON COULDN'T TAKE IT.

According to the press bureaus, Gen. Johnson cried when he was let out of the NRA. He had a wonderful collection of cuss words, and we are going to miss his "crack downs and take its" that he flaunted in the faces of little merchants, clothing cleaners and manicure shops.

Johnson's enforced retirement leaves the alleged job in the hands of a board that is alleged to be co-ordinating, and which may never agree on the time and place of meeting.

Little hash joints of Oklahoma City have asked Johnson to come eat with them to show that they are not angry with the big bozo who "cracked down" on them first of all. He can get his pants pressed with the second class that felt his alleged ghost stick, and then the manicure girls will be glad to polish the old boy up to show him that the victims of his third act still manage to exist despite his autocratic rule.

Johnson began to slip when Darrow opened a verbal barrage on that bunch of foolishness that was designed to help the big financiers and trample the little fellows down farther under foot. Darrow shot it full of holes. He thought it the wild dream of a lad of ten, except for the fact that big business alone benefitted for any period of time.

Darrow asked the NRA force to "crack down" on monopoly, but Johnson and his squad couldn't "take it."

For more than a year big business and organized labor got along very well since labor wanted to help the president put over the only plan that had been advanced or suggested to get us back to an even keel.

Nope, the General can go back to his carpet factory in Jersey and settle the racket with his employees. He'll need his cuss words, and that is all that we have to show for his share of a lot of experiments that never were designed to work us out of this mess.

As a matter of fact every man, woman and child with the reasoning power of a road lizzard knows that a few men have cornered the finances of the nation. They are gobbling up every penny that is getting into circulation right now.

If Johnson could have had the "guts" to have waded into the bigger boys, and could have had enough support to start a crusade for a square deal to the point it became a bloodless battle cry of the American people, we would all be sitting around home fires contented instead of trying to keep the home fires burning until the family scattered from "hell to breakfast" as members of the "Dole Army" come trekking home.

FIND PRIMITIVE SKULL WHICH PUZZLES EXPERT

Wynot, Neb., Sept. 29.—When Dr. Earl H. Bell, University of Nebraska, unearthed a primitive skull near here while exploring the prehistoric villages in Cedar County, the question of when America was first people was made more puzzling than ever.

Instead of clarifying the question of whether America had been peopled 10,000 or 15,000 years ago, as the proof now lies, or whether men lived here 50,000 or 80,000 years ago, as some experts contend, the skull cast a darkening shadow on data already assembled.

With its beetling brow and low-lying forehead, Dr. Bell said, the skull might be taken for that of a man even older than the famous Neanderthals of Europe, who have been dated back 50,000 years or so.

So primitive as to be hardly human, the skull is not complete. Dr. Bell believes its type would lie somewhere between that of the Neanderthal man and the Java ape man skull.

Goodmorning! How's your liver? I mean the kind you mix with onions. Beef has gotten so high we went on a liver diet for the benefit of our health.

'Stunny how men will sum up a situation some time. One fellow describes the new hat style for ladies as resembling "a badly warped pancake frayed around the edges. Another claims the designer merely wanted to accommodate the lady who gets a black eye.

Miss Hernia served a Dutch lunch after the bridge game Tuesday night as a special treat to her guests. Cheese bearing an imported label helped make up the menu. One of the girls visiting from Ashtola tilted her nose and said—"All the time I thought there was a dead rat in the room." (P. S. Yes, she got that name from rupturing the family relations.)

Now it has been discovered that a third of the carbon black of the Panhandle is being shipped to manufacturers of chocolate candy. This is a fact if I ever told it. The boxes are labeled and that is the way the unknown fact leaked out around Pampa last week.

After a girl wins a beauty prize, it's pretty hard to interest her in house work any more.

I'm glad that the Safety Council is "up and at 'em". The Council has adopted resolutions saying that all auto accidents must stop.

Member back there when a company got oil, they sold you oil and gas; when they got salt, they sold you salt; when they got a dry hole, they sold you stock. Lord, how we bit at the game!

For the benefit of the moderate drinkers of this town—pros and otherwise—try swallowing a bean every time you take a drink. When the beans come back up to rattle against your back teeth, it's time to quit.

If time gets dull, try keeping up with the ads in the magazines and find out the sad fate of the gal who refused to use "plux" soap and got a lot of runners in her sox. So long as her sox were dirty, that made no difference. She was as popular as heck. But when she washed her dirty sox and got runs started, all the boys dropped out of her picture. (Since then she washed her sox with "plux" and has been married three times and divorced once.)

Pondering over present day language, I wonder just what is the difference between parking, necking, petting and sparking, anyway?

Speaking of words, a dictionary salesman dropped in today and opened up a 'crash the gate air of high pressure stuff by saying: "Brother, this book has 18,000 new mean words on the money question." Jumping to my feet with the old swivel chair in hand, I yelled: "Hold on brother, you hit the wrong town. Claude is thirty miles west and Thomas T. Waggoner is the man you are looking for."

Fashion note.—Butcher Boy coats will be worn this winter with the excess material in the back. To more properly describe them, it reminds me of the old days in West Texas when grandpa would attempt to put a wagon sheet over the bows during the usual high wind. He first grabbed one end, wadded it up and let the other loose end flop over the bows. Well that new coat style reminds me of grandpa, the wagon sheet and the high winds. Personally, the stream line looked better, but the new style will give the gals a chance to utilize some of the breeze going to waste.

Sometimes I mean to ask some of these old folks how the heck a fellow ever wrangled a gal into a buggy during the hoopskirt age. Or did they limit it to horseback riding on a "back-skinner" some times referred to as a side-saddle? The ancients have mighty little to crow about when it comes to styles and their penalties as compared with old 1934—good old 1934—like h---l.

Bachelor Bill says "taking a rib does not mean so much as when she insists on being three-fourths of the backbone."

A high-powered lady saleswoman- publicity agent told the folks over the radio Sunday that a blonde should have a certain kind of perfume, and a brunette another kind of the same brand, and that a certain store in Dallas sold both kinds at $1.50 a bottle. This is the first time that I ever knew that color had anything to do with the smell so long as the race was the same. Way back yonder we used to hang a 10c bottle of Hoyt's German cologne on the Christmas tree for our best girls, and we boys thought we had pulled down the sky. We never went so much by smell in those days as they do now.

Now comes a dispute about how to spell the grease gravy off ham after you spill the water in it. Is it "growny" gravy or is it like a certain old man here claims it to be spelled, "grownie." Let's have more and more of the real stuff regardless of how it is spelled—he says.

Boys from the east would not have such a hard time being a cowboy out here now where they mostly, cuss, chew, smoke cigarettes and drive a flivver.

Timid wife (to husband who has fallen asleep at the wheel): Forgive me George for my rudeness of suggestion, but isn't that billboard coming at us at a rapid rate!"

The tie between father in son—is generally worn by the son, if you ask me.

When that boat was sinking the other day, the Captain asked: "Is there any one among us who can pray?" "I can," said a meek old man as he stepped forward. "Good," said the Captain, "you start praying while the rest of us get on life belts—we are one shot."

Some girls study music for 10 years and wind up by marrying a poor stick who can't even buy her a mouth organ. Or the other hand, some poor girls go off to school, work their way through and return home filled with high ideals and expensive tastes. Her idea of a husband is a cross between a radio crooner and a multi-millionaire. Some of them finally wind up by marrying the son of the village merchant whose parents keep them going until the old folks pass on. Soon after, the money is all blown in and the girl lays off her face dope and fine clothing to keep boarders or do sewing for ungrateful women of the town who like to get even with her high-hatting past by being fussy with her as a seamstress.

Marriage is a woman's game, and she gets some glory out of the actual ceremony, but the men folks never seem to get the hang of it. The old game of matrimony never changes in fact, though the stakes vibrate back and forth from riches to honor, and a flying tackle by a maid with plenty of skill lands her goal. Others use the headlock, hammerlock, surfboat or toe-hold and finally a body-smother to win. The referee is not necessary because no advice is taken. Love—real or imaginary—is totally deaf, dumb, crazy and blind.

The fellow who came in three days ago with a brand that would make a "rabbit hug a bulldog," is trying to make bond today.

Believe it or not, a New Mexico farmer was fined at Clovis recently for slandering a jackass. No, they have no laws protecting a human being in that regard in the Sunshine state, not even the women folks.

Correction in Briscoe County News—"In last week's paper we mistated the name of Mrs. Bill Shives, who was before her marriage, Miss Teresa Bomar. We called the name "Shivers". That's wrong. Her name is Mrs. Bill Shives. We regret making this bonehead, but are always glad to make a correction. Thanks."

Now that you have waded down through a bunch of nonsense, we want to mention the cream cheese recipe. The tools used in its making are to be found in any home. The recipe is a success and several tried it out in this county last fall and winter. Now that cheese season is near, if enough are interested, we shall be glad to print the full directions any time.

MOTHER'S CRAZY-QUILT

There's more to Mother's crazy-quilt

Than careless eyes can see; Nobody else could understand The charm it holds for me! When she points out the blocks that came

From suits I used to wear, It brings back joyful memories That we alone can share!

There's tenderness and sentiment.

There's beauty and romance In every scrap of coat she used, And every patch of pants; And every thread is intertwined With happiness and cheer— Because, to us, these memories Are very, very dear!

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

By Sloan Baker
County Supt. Schools

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE AGAINST AN AMENDMENT WHICH THREATENS EDUCATION NEXT NOVEMBER SIXTH

(1) An amendment to be voted upon at the general election November 1934 is embodied in Senate Joint Resolution Number 13. This proposes to amend Section 3 Article 8 of the State Constitution to provide that the State may collect from all taxes, licenses, permits, and fees and expend only $11.25 per year per inhabitant.

(2) It is not State taxes which constitute the great burden of taxation for Texas taxpayers, it is local taxes. This amendment would greatly increase local tax burden on farms and real estate and take it off the oil, sulphur, potash and other natural resources which should bear an increasing tax burden. MARK OUT NUMBER 3 ON THE NOV. BALLOT.

(3) If this amendment should pass, the per capita apportionment according to State Superintendent L. A. Woods would be only $10.00 instead of the $17.00 which is expected next year, or a loss in State Apportionment of $18.081 to the schools of Donley County. This added burden would have to come from local taxes. Transportation and Rural Aid would have to come from local taxes also. MARK OUT NUMBER 3 ON THE NOV. BALLOT.

(4) This means exactly $26,000,000 less than was expended by the State for the last two years. Government costs have been cut to the bone. There will be no curtailment in this item but in our HIGHWAY and Public School FUNDS. There is already a limit in Texas for taxation of 35c on the $100.00 valuation for schools, 35c for all other purposes, except the 7c for confederate pensions or a total of 77c limit for taxation. 40% of the tax dollar goes to schools; 41 per cent to the highways and 19 per cent to the governmental machinery. THIS PROPOSED AMENDMENT IS A WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING CONCOCTED BY THE BIG INTERESTS TO LESSEN THEIR TAXES AT THE COST OF THE LOCAL TAX PAYER. IT WILL ALSO PUT THE BREAD BONDS BACK ON THE LOCAL TAX PAYER. KILL NUMBER THREE ON THE NOVEMBER BALLOT.

Surplus Cotton Exemption Certificates

In as much as the ginning season is well advanced each producer of cotton who intends to pool his surplus tax exemptions certificates with the National Pool will be in a position to estimate approximately the number of surplus certificates he will have.

There is a heavy demand for these exemption certificates in the Eastern part of the Cotton Belt, and if we do not surrender exemptions to the Pool immediately, these Eastern farmers will pay the tax in preference to waiting to purchase our certificates at 4 cents per pound.

Exemption certificates cannot be transferred across county or state lines except through the National Pool. Therefore the department wishes to encourage immediate action on the part of those producers holding surplus certificates to surrender them to the National Pool, if they desire to do so.

Clarendon Bronchos to Play Miami Here Friday, 12th

This is Clarendon's first conference game of the year. Miami has played one conference game, and was defeated by the McLean Tigers.

The Bronchos played Miami in 1931 for Bi-Section honors, and defeated them with a score of 19-0. It is rumored that Miami has a large team and is due to win by two or three touchdowns.

Will the Bronchos be able to maintain the record of 1931? They have not lost a game so far this season, and are gaining both experience and confidence. Get out and watch your home team accomplish what is said to be the impossible.

The game is called for Friday, October the 12th at 3:30. Admission will be 35 for adults and children 25 cents.

Gap Paving is Scheduled For Centennial

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 8.—A marked impetus in the building of new roads and the repair of old ones is expected in Texas during the ensuing eighteen months as result of plans for the 1936 Centennial of the State's independence.

At a recent meeting at Terrell, D. K. Martin, State highway commissioner, declared that body expected to spend most of its revenues during the next two years to prepare the highways of the state for the anticipated augmented traffic coincident with the Exposition, for which a connected road system is proposed.

Particular attention will be paid to the roads leading to San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other cities of the State, where the several phases of the Centennial celebration will be held.

Included in the projects which the highway commission will be requested to complete at the earliest possible moment are:

Paving of the 40-mile gap between Rusk and Woodville on the Beaumont-Dallas highway.

Paving of the gap between Dalt and Memphis on the road leading in from Denver.

The resurfacing of several spots near Van Horn in the highway leading in from California and passing through El Paso.

The repair and paving of several gaps in the highway leading to Santa Fe through Lubbock.

The resurfacing of portions of the highway to Texarkana and Shreveport from Dallas.

Paving of the gap between Denton and Gainesville on the road to Oklahoma City.

It was pointed out that this improvement program would put hundreds of men to work in all sections of the State.

DAVID H. WADSWORTH
Cold Springs, Kentucky, discovered the value of a liquid laxative about three years ago, and would never use violence again in relieving a constipated condition.

from the violent action of strong mineral drugs!

If you are a victim of "sluggish bowels"; an occasional sufferer from constipation, here's the secret of prompt and safe relief until nature restores your regularity. Use a liquid laxative.

Start tonight with Syrup Pepsin. If necessary to repeat the dose use less each day, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

If there is an occasional return of the trouble, Syrup Pepsin will comfort and relieve you again, as easily as it did the first time you ever took it.

Ask any druggist for a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and make the "liquid test."

To Relieve Bowels

Constipated or sluggish bowels can never be corrected with violent purges. They can be safely relieved with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without forming the laxative habit.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative made from fine herbs, pure pepsin, senna and cascara. It is most agreeable to take. The comfortable bowel movement from Syrup Pepsin is a joyful relief

You Can't Afford to Miss "Sadie McKee. - - It's Joan Crawford's Greatest Drama Yet

You can't afford to miss seeing Joan Crawford as Sadie McKee, Vina Delmar's famous character, for it is the finest portrayal the star has ever essayed.

This new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, "Sadie McKee," opens at the Pastime Theatre Monday and Tuesday, October 15 and 16th.

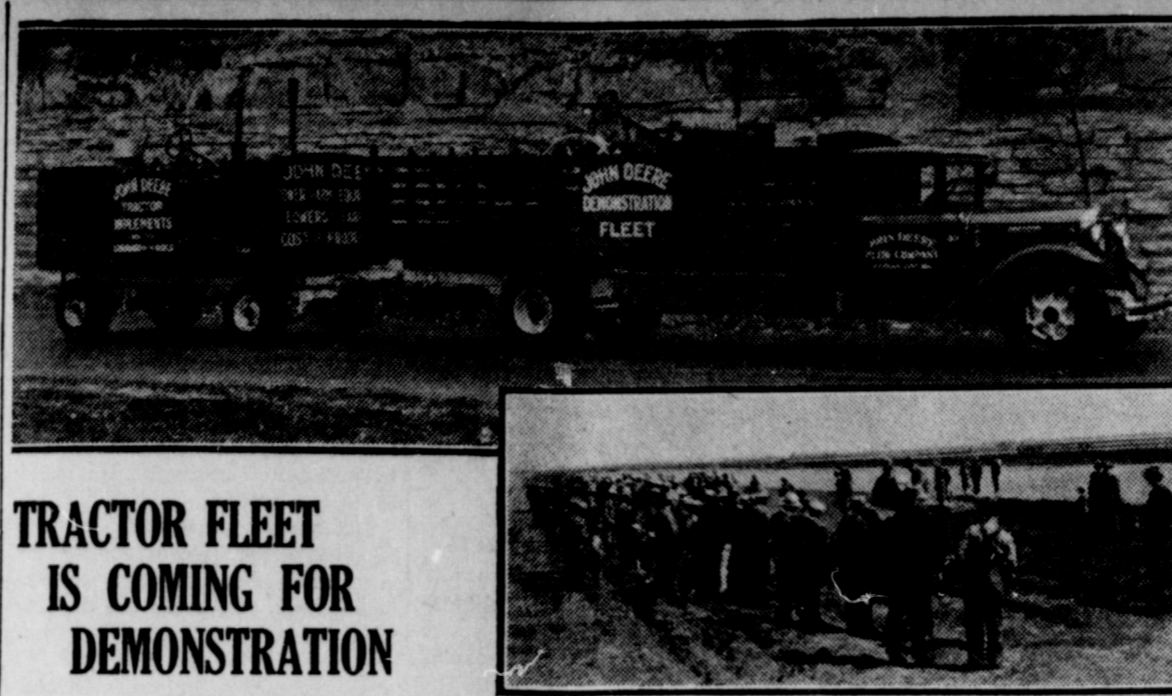

Briefly, the story concerns itself with a girl and three men, each man playing a significant part in the dynamic Sadie's successful thrust for fame. Sadie, daughter of a cook in a small town, finds herself confronted by the cruel indifference of a great city. Hardship and struggle leads to marriage to a dipsomaniac millionaire, which sets the stage for the intense drama which follows.

Franchot Tone, as a romantic male lead, for the first time wins Joan Crawford in the final sequence—a change of luck for the gracious young actor, whose romantic success in private life is well known.

Gene Raymond as the weakling crooner, and Edward Arnold as the millionaire Brennan, are excellent in their parts, contrasting one another's personalities as they do.

Jean Dixon and Leo G. Carroll make film debuts in this picture, reflecting credit both upon themselves and the production.

TRACTOR FLEET IS COMING FOR DEMONSTRATION

Farmers Invited to Witness Power Machines at Work in Nearby Field

Quick, easy and low-cost power farming will be fully demonstrated and explained to farmers of this vicinity at a big field event to be conducted by the Clarendon Grain Co., local farm equipment dealer, with the assistance of John Deere representatives. Their tractor demonstration fleet is now headed this way.

Invitations are going out to farmers and their sons to see the new John Deere Model A General Purpose Tractor at work in the field. Practical tractor men will be on hand to explain every point of its operation on various farm-power jobs. One of the tractors will be equipped with rubber tires; the other, with steel wheels. This field demonstration of new tractors and new tractor-drawn equipment will be held on Wednesday, October 17th, beginning at 12 o'clock near the Strawn Filling Station, one mile west of Clarendon. Much interest has been displayed here and elsewhere in this new John Deere tractor.

"We invite every farmer and every farmer's boy to attend this instructive demonstration," says Mr. Beckett. "All the special features farmers have been wanting are to be found in the new John Deere Model A, including adjustable rear-wheel tread, unobstructed view of work from the tractor seat, steering ease, platform on which the operator can stand erect and four speeds forward. "In plowing, the new tractor pulls two bottoms. The heavy-duty, two-cylinder motor insures economy, efficiency and simplicity. John Deere engineers have stressed lightness of weight in combination with structural strength and ample power delivered at the drawbar or on the belt. Like all John Deere Tractors, the new Model A burns distillate, fuel oil, the better grades of furnace oil and similar low-cost fuels, as well as kerosene or gasoline."

In command of a tractor expert, the John Deere demonstration fleet is cruising about the Southwest in the interest of power farming. It consists of a large truck and a four-wheeled trailer, besides the cars carrying the additional John Deere representatives.

Two tractors are carried aboard. The tractor-drawn equipment includes a two-row, power-lift lister, a two-row, power-lift cultivator, a two-row, power-lift listed corn cultivator and a two-bottom, fourteen-inch tractor plow.

Name of "Wellington" Remains as Tribute To Early English Settlement of Panhandle

Amarillo was named after the Spanish word for yellow, a title well fitting a Plains town located in a ranching territory where the landscape used to be a grayish yellow during a greater part of the year. Plainview was also named to suggest the wide sweeping area of the once bare plains. Quanah was named after a famous Indian warrior and medicine man. Those names were fitting in the early days of the Panhandle, but remained for Wellington, Clarendon, Shamrock, Salisbury and Aberdeen to carry good old English names suggestive of the bold adventurers who settled the Panhandle.

Amarillo has ceased to be yellow except in very dry years. The country around Plainview has been broken up into farms. Green fields, trees and farm houses have changed the once unbroken view. The name of Quanah Parker is only a legend. The Indians are gone. Only Wellington, Clarendon, Aberdeen, Shamrock, and Salisbury have names that are as appropriate today as they were when given. These names are fitting, because the Panhandle is still a country of Englishment. Nineteenths of the residents of Collingsworth County are English. Many have Scotch, Welsh and Irish names, but all of these carry the traditions of England. It is a tale of English noblemen who risked a fortune in Collingsworth and neighboring counties and who lost much of it.

In 1883, the Right Honorable Edward Majorbanks, Baron of Tweedmouth and John Campbell Hamilton Gordon, Earl of Aberdeen, started to build a vast estate in the Panhandle. Their first move was to buy 235 sections of land in Collingsworth and neighboring counties from Earl Spencer and John Drew. The records of the transaction are in the Collingsworth County courthouse. For the sum of twenty-six thousand and eight hundred dollars, Drew and Spencer sold a tract of land now valued in the millions. Majorbanks and Gordon bought the land under the title of The Rocking Chair Ranch of London, England.

The first purchase was intended to be only the nucleus of the estate. Aberdeen was to be the center of the little dominion. It was to be a colony for remittance men and younger sons. Many communities in Australia were settled that way. Clarendon, Wellington and Shamrock were the tributary settlements.

John Drew was retained as foreman of the ranch. When he sold the ranch he also sold 14,745 head of cattle, 159 ponies, and a supply of wagons and harness to the Rocking Chair Ranch. Cecil Archie Majorbanks was sent over from London to manage the ranch. Cecil or Archie (there is some doubt about which given name he used) did not care for the ranch work. He preferred to hunt with his blooded dogs as he had done in England. He liked to drink and carouse. Consequently he paid little attention to the business of managing the ranch.

To augment the trouble caused by Drew's mismanagement, the squatters and other ranchers began to steal stock from the ranch and either kill it or rebrand it. The supply of money in England seemed unlimited, so the people thought that they might just as well get their share. Conditions finally became so bad that Majorbanks and Gordon made a trip to Texas to investigate.

Lord Majorbanks lived in London while Gordon lived in Canada. They came to the Rocking Chair Ranch and found that their herds were short many thousand head of cattle. They brought suit against Drew, but were unable to convict him. Becoming disgusted with their proposition they sold their land to the Continental Land and Cattle Company of which Col. Hughes was president. They received $75,000 for their land for which they had paid 26,857; but the difference in the price of the land was by no means enough to recompense them for what they had lost in cattle and ranch supplies. In those days cattle were worth more than land.

Col. Hughes changed the name to Mill Iron Ranch. Hay Camp located near Dodsonville was made the center of the Collingsworth section. This is a beautiful place located in a cottonwood grove near some natural springs. Joe Birchfield now lives in the stately old ranch house, which was once the headquarters of a great ranch.

Col. Hughes in his "Memoirs" tells of the delightful days spent in Hay Camp. He loved to hunt, but unlike Majorbanks he took an active interest in the affairs of the ranch. He kept a pack of hounds and a number of blooded horses. He owned the first stage coach ever used in this section of the Panhandle. Most of the people used buckboards or wagons then. One of Col. Hughes' finest stage coaches was kept at the Hay Camp ranch until a few years ago when it burned with the old barn.

There are many stories of life on the Rocking Chair Ranch, stories of strange happenings in the silent vigils of the night while the cowboys watched the cattle, tales of broncho busting, yarns of killings, carousals, and sacrifices, but it takes an old time cowboy to tell of these, and nearly all of them are dead. Such stories fade and are warped with the years.

Only the names of Clarendon, Wellington, Shamrock, Salisbury and Aberdeen are clear and imperishable. Hardly a trace of the English nobleman's dream of a vast estate remains except these names. They will live always—a bit of England in the Panhandle forever. —Wellington Leader.

THE UNANSWERED LETTER

The postman comes, the postman goes,
The postman passes by,
And some one only can suppose,
And wait, and wonder why,
Today, no letter, and tonight
A silence hard to bear—
We wonder if they cannot write,
Or simply do not care.

The little note is laid away,
The letter put aside,
Yet some one hoped to hear today,
An answering voice denied.
You may be busy, well we know
So many things you are at;
You may be busy—are you though
As busy as all that?

Oh, keep the tree of friendship green
When friends are far apart;
How much a word of yours may mean
To cheer some absent heart.
The rose, unwatered, droops and dies,
Yes, dies in some sad hour;
The letter that, unanswered lies,
Is love's unwatered flowers.
—Douglas Malloch.

"Brethren," said a man in the meeting in one of the Fredonia churches, "so many sinners are dying every day I have come to the conclusion that hell is full." He sat down, when an old deacon in the amen corner raised the hymn: "There's a place reserved for you, brother, there's a place reserved for you."—Altoona Tribune.

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL
Minister First Christian Church

"Faith, What it is and how to get it."

In the midst of indifference and confusion there are yet many who sincerely want to know exactly what God requires of them. The New Testament answers the question very plainly, but often people are given half formed opinions rather than the word of God. For earnest inquirers and earnest Christians as well, we here give some plain common-sense answers on a subject that has had much mystery thrown around it.

Faith, is one of the things that God requires. "Without faith it is impossible to please God, he that cometh to Him must believe that He is and that he is a rewarder of them that seek Him." (Heb. 11:6) Faith is defined in the Bible, "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." (Heb. 11:1) Faith is the whole-hearted belief of testimony that leads us to act. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God" (Rom. 10:17). God requires not only "faith" but "faith" in Christ. Faith in one's self, or one's own notion of things, or in some one's scheme of salvation, is not the "faith" that God requires. He does require faith in His Son, Jesus Christ. He gives complete testimony or evidence in the New Testament. It is this testimony that he requires us to believe. One might pra yor wait for the required faith forever, if he neglect the evidence. By the way of illustration, suppose I should say to you, "I have a mansion and estate that I will give to you provided you will fulfill certain simple conditions." It may sound hard to believe me, but you are inclined to do so. You do not yet have faith. How would you increase that faith—by praying for it? Rather not. You would ask me for evidence. It is evidence that you need. Therefore, I produce the deed and abstract of the title made out to you with every legal proof and showing the conditions. Your faith automatically increases. It was a knowledge of the evidence you needed. It is then only your acting on the conditions that stands in your way, and your faith, for faith comes automatically when conclusive evidence is presented. God has furnished you with the evidence concerning His Son and the heavenly mansion. You must accept the evidence, believe in His Son and fulfill the conditions mentioned in the New Testament. (Our next lesson will be on "Repentance.")

First Crude American Oil Found by Texas Indians

Nacogdoches, Texas, Oct. 8.—As the tangible results of Texas' material progress during the past hundred years will be evidenced in connection with celebrations of its Centennial in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Gonzales, Galveston, Dallas and other points, the fact that Texans have ever been awake to opportunities for development of the State's natural resources, a look-back upon their activities since 1836 will reveal.

As early as 1836, crude oil was shipped by water in Texas—from Oil City near Nacogdoches, down the Angelina River to the Gulf of Mexico. This is thought to have been the first time crude petroleum had been transported in this manner in North America. This activity took place twenty-three years before the Drake discovery well was brought in at Titusville, Pa., in 1859.

Oil has been seeping out of the ground in the Nacogdoches region for an undetermined period of time. The Indians in East Texas, as did those in Pennsylvania, showed these springs of petroleum to the white men when the first came.

The inventive genius of the white men was necessary to utilize the power relating to petroleum stored through eons of time and to discover better ways and means of so doing.

It is remarkable that now, a hundred years later, the world's greatest oil field is located within almost a stone's throw of these famous oil springs, and that oil is still seeping out of the hills in the redlands of East Texas.

Is Donley County Pickle Mine Territory?

That is the question up for decision right now. Is it possible that this section may become a victim of "57" varieties? A lot of folks think so.

Through the years in supplying garden truck and melons to truckers from a foreign market on the plains and nearby states, old Donley has produced choiced cucumbers that always find a ready market.

D. E. Leathers has completed the harvest of 126½ bushels off one single acre. The cukes found a ready market, mostly near home, at one dollar a bushel. Mr. Leathers says he could have sold many more, so great was the demand.

Cukes produced on sandy land here never become bitter regardless as to the size. The color and flavor register A-plus. The Leathers crop grew without irrigation in the middle of a sandy field.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mulkey visited friends in Amarillo Monday.

Mrs. Andrew Watkins of McLean visited her parents the first of the week, returning to her home at McLean Thursday.
