FACTS ABOUT PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

By Gerald C. Mann, Secretary of State

Proposed Amendment No. 7 Free Text Books for Private and Parochial Schools

The Texas Constitution at the present time provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed Amendment number seven on the ballot for the August 24th election would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks, it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this Amendment state that this would entail no additional expense because the State now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made, and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it proposes to rewrite Section 5 of Article Seven of the Constitution so as to permit the apportionment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population system of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The Legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this Amendment is adopted.

If adopted this proposed Amendment Number seven would mean, in effect: (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic census basis, could be set up.

MEMBERS ENJOY MEXICAN TREATS TUESDAY NOON

Gifts Were Brought From Old Mexico by Odos Caraway As His Appreciation

Among the gifts presented to the members of the Lions club Tuesday by delegate Odos Caraway to the Lions International Convention in Mexico City, was a most beautiful "serape" in all colors of the rainbow. The article is made from wool and mohair in stripes with blending tints and measures about three by six feet. This beautiful gift will hang in the club room as a pleasant reminder of the giver, and for the gratification of lovers of beautiful tapestry.

Mr. Caraway's direct gifts to the members were distributed during the luncheon and consisted of Mexican cigars, cigarettes, matches and for those who did not use tobacco, Mexican candy was provided. Every member shared in each variety of gifts after which thanks were given the donor for the rare treat.

Dr. Jenkins reported that he had that day removed the casts from the limb of little Evelyn Reid, a crippled charge of the club.

A lighted football field was discussed by C. J. Duglas, J. L. Kerby H. T. Burton and others, the project apparently meeting with the Club's approval.

O. C. Watson introduced Fred L. Williams, new publisher of the News as the latest member.

The program period next Tuesday will be given over to a report of Mr. Caraway who will relate experiences of his trip to Mexico City D. F.

SONS OF LEGION SPONSOR SHOW ON AUGUST 22-23rd

Cast Will Be Composed Men And Boys Under Direction Miss Lorraine Patrick

Offering a unique form of entertainment, the Sons of the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will sponsor the presentation of "Fingers" a four act play to be given Thursday and Friday August 22nd and 23rd at the College Auditorium, under the direction of Miss Lorraine Patrick.

The cast is to be composed entirely of boys and men the plot is one that will appeal to the community at large.

Between acts Miss Mary Cooke will present her pupils in novelty dance routines.

The Sons of the Legion Drum and Bugle Corps is the oldest organization of its type in the Panhandle and it has been through the combined efforts of the parents that the group has been so successful.

The proceeds from the show will be used to buy uniforms for the boys in the Corps.

Clarendon Band to Claude Rodeo for Two Days

Rapidly whipping his boys into shape, director Gus B. Stephenson is taking his loyal crew of music makers to Claude today and tomorrow upon special invitation of the rodeo management.

More than twenty of the members of the band have signified their intention to make the dates and will remain in Claude to play for the crowds tonight.

CLARENDON PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL BEGIN FORTY-SIXTH SESSION SEPTEMBER 2ND

Monday, September 2nd, has been set for opening date of the public schools of Clarendon, according to Supt. H. T. Burton. It has been the custom for some years to open the first Monday in September to permit of an even number of weeks before the new year begins.

It is too early to announce the holiday period length at this time, but it is presumed that the usual custom will be followed.

The first two days will be given over to registrations in the public schools, and the Junior College.

A formal opening program will be accompanied with announcements of a varied nature, and explanations of new requirements of the state department.

A general faculty meeting will be held on Saturday, August 31st, Mr. Burton stated Monday. All teachers of every grade and department will be expected at this meeting.

Prehistoric Rock Abounds In Historic Interest

Harry Hartzog of Clarendon was one of a party to secure a sandstone weighing some 3,600 pounds in Hemphill county for the Canyon Museum the past week.

The rock contains fossil remains of prehistoric cats, dogs, camels, horses, tigers, mastodons roaming this section some five million years ago, it is said.

Alanreed Man Grows Finest Apple Varieties

One of the best orchards in this section is owned by L. L. Palmer of near Alanreed, of about 15 acres. Some red Delicious trees often bear as much as 25 bushels. The trees are said to be 27 years old.

Mr. Palmer has been caring for this orchard and adding to it for the past 15 years.

PRO SPEAKER TO ADDRESS PUBLIC FRIDAY EVENING

Rev. Sam Morris of Stamford Covering Panhandle Against Repeal of Prohibition

Rev. Morris, Baptist minister of Stamford, will speak on the courthouse lawn at 8 p. m. Friday through the aid of loud speakers favoring the retention of the prohibition amendment.

He is making a tour of the Panhandle against repeal August 24th, and will speak at Amarillo, Panhandle, Pampa before coming to Clarendon Friday where he expects to spend the night.

Rev. Morris is frequently heard over the radio station at Piedras Negras which is across the Rio Grande river opposite Del Rio, and formerly operated by Brinkley. He is a forceful speaker and those wishing to hear a plain discussion of the anti-repeal side of the issue will not be disappointed.

Gerald C. Mann to Explain Amendments by Radio

Due to a popular request, the Secretary of State has consented to explain the proposed amendments to be voted upon August 24th. His discussions have been appearing in the Leader each week.

The fair and impartial discussions over the radio stations KTAT, KTSB best heard in this section, will begin Saturday the 10th at 9:30. His next talks will be made at the same hour the 15th and the 17th. The discussions will be impartial and informative only.

COUNTIES WILL BE PAID CASH ON FAIR EXHIBITS

Twenty County Displays Will Receive Fifty Dollars Each as Prizes

Instead of the old system of competitive county exhibits at the Tri-State Fair, the same system of last year will again be in force this season from September 14-21. The first twenty counties to qualify will receive $50 each.

In order to encourage individual exhibits, larger premiums are to be paid on the qualifying exhibits of the individuals, man, woman, boy and girl.

Exhibits must be on display September 13th.

Boys' and girls' agricultural club exhibits are to receive special consideration this time, 100 cash premiums being offered in this class which includes a showing of field crops, fat pigs and dairy cattle.

Complete information may be had from the fair catalog which will be mailed free to those interested by writing to O. L. "Ted" Taylor, Secretary-Manager, Amarillo, Texas.

Grazing Highways Fineable Offense Now

Sheriff Pierce calls attention to the new law that goes into effect the 10th, Saturday of this week. This law provides that stock permitted to lawfully graze on a public highway must be under herd.

Whether it is one or more, the herder must be on the job. Otherwise, the owner is subject to a heavy fine. The Sheriff says it is his duty to arrest offenders, and he wants everybody to know about the new law before some one gets in bad.

Car Crash Victim is Taken Home From Hospital

Slow but steady improvement in the physical condition of Frances Fowler was reported today. She was removed from Adair hospital Tuesday. Her mental condition is more nearly normal, and it is believed that with rest and quiet, her recovery is assured.

She was most severely injured of five in an auto crash in the west edge of town on Highway 5 on the night of July 27th.

CEMETERY LACKS ATTENTION FROM MONEY SHORTAGE

Carelessness is Believed Main Cause of Neglect On The Part of Relatives

The Leader is requested to call attention to a critical condition existing at this time with reference to the care and attention of the local cemetery.

For several years the cemetery has been cared for by U. T. Dever. Some of the time he was paid, and at other times he contributed of his meager means, and gave freely of his time, that the sacred trust be not violated.

Relief labor helped to quite an extent in keeping the cemetery grounds in presentable condition, but that time has passed. With the recent rain, more labor must be expended to keep the city of the dead looking presentable.

In speaking of the matter Tuesday, John Potter stated that the cause of neglect was attributed to the carelessness of relatives and friends who would ordinarily be interested in paying proper respect to their loved ones gone on. He stated that if every one directly interested in the care of the cemetery would contribute fifty cents or more, the matter could be adjusted right now.

W. W. Taylor at the First National Bank is secretary of the Cemetery Association. The Board has about reached the limit in expending private means and what little could be collected, in caring for the grounds.

Only a few lots remain within the cemetery proper, Mr. Potter says, and it will be necessary to purchase more ground. He suggests that citizens interested contribute fifty cents per grave and there would be a need that has come to an imperative point of action.

RURAL SCHOOLS TO BEGIN TERMS LAST OF MONTH

Others in Cotton Belt Will Open First Monday In September

Hudgins school is scheduled to open August 26th provided the remodeling of the building is completed. The school will have new teachers this session. C. H. Cheeves is principal and Miss Bula Faye Clapp will be his assistant.

Goldston will have as school principal this term Dennis Smith who made a fine record over at Midway the past several terms. The term will begin August 26th, it is said.

Miss Virginia Wisdom and Miss Margaret Milan have been elected as assistant teachers of the Goldston school.

Naylor school will likely open August 26th with E. H. Estlack as principal and Mrs. Edwin Eanes as assistant. Mr. Estlack has taught three years there, and Mrs. Eanes four years.

Sunnyview will begin the term August 26th with Miss Lopez Whitt as principal and Miss Orene Riley as assistant. Both new teachers. The building has been remodeled and put in first-class condition during the summer.

Bray opens September 2 with C. W. Barker as principal and Miss Florine Hollingsworth as one

Fishermen Bring Photos To Prove Big Ones Caught

There is nothing like direct evidence in proving a fish story. A photo is next to the actual subject and I. B. Pierce has the photos to prove that he and Otto Morris snagged some big fellows at Port Aransas the past ten days. They got back to Clarendon Monday.

Red snapper, sea trout, drum and sea bass were the principal varieties caught. One weighed 15 pounds, and I. B. modestly gave honors to Morris for having pulled in the biggest one of the catch.

WALLACE MAKES HIT WITH CROWD AMARILLO TALK

Agricultural Secretary Says Process Tax is Farmer's Tariff Protection

More than six thousand farmers and stockmen heard Secretary Henry A. Wallace speak in the Auditorium at Amarillo Monday afternoon. A dirt farmer himself, the Secretary readily got down to facts right from the start and held the rapt attention of his audience throughout his address of more than an hour.

His principal plea is for an equal opportunity for the farm producer with the other industries of the nation. He compared the AAA agricultural plan and processing tax with the tariff that protects the manufacturer.

At one place in his address he said: "There is a certain amount of howl going up over the alleged centralization of power in the present administration in putting over the AAA farm policy, but the same plan was used in times past to build up industry, the source from which the present howl is being made. The farmer should have just as many rights and just as much power."

His biggest applause came when he exclaimed, "We'll do away with the processing tax if the manufacturers will do away with their high tariffs."

While he favored fair prices, he also warned farmers not to get their minds fixed on prices that are too high and thus work a hardship on the consumers.

"It is up to the farmers to better understand—not demand. Such an ideal democracy as we have planned for the future can only be obtained by and through the combined efforts of hard-headed common sense representatives of agriculture, labor, industry and consumers."

Congressman Marvin Jones was not present. President Roosevelt requested his presence in Washington because of pending bills including the AAA measure, and Jones changed his plans almost at the last minute.

DEER FLIES ARE ONLY MENACE TO FISHING IN COLO.

Preacher Packs Fish in Snow For Transporting Them Back to Plainview

Supt. H. T. Burton of the Clarendon schools never tires of telling of the amusing incidents of his recent fishing trip to "Conejo" creek near Antonia, Colorado.

Mr. Burton and L. F. Thompson and their families returned home Saturday over muddy roads from Dalhart this way, except the paved portion.

"The deer flies almost ate us up at times", Mr. Burton says. From his description of the habits and customs of the pests, they light to stay lit and have to be raked off with a knife, but do not stop the biting process during the scraping.

Mosquitoes are a menace during the hot portion or middle of the day, or during cloudy weather. Far up the creek "on top" around the lakes, the pests are "millionized."

It was on top that Rev. Beavers and friends did their fishing. The preacher threw fish from the lake into a bank of snow. Later he rolled fish and snow inside a tarp where they froze solid preparatory

Rain Covers Most of County Friday and Saturday

A rainfall of 2.1 inches was recorded here Friday night by weather recorder Joe Goldston. Showers of Saturday added more inspiration bringing the week's total to more than three inches locally. The fall was light from Lela east, possibly half an inch. The heaviest fall was west and north of Clarendon.

GAIN SHOWN IN COTTON RECORDS OF LAST SEASON

More Than Quarter Million Dollars Gain Over Period Two Years

Cotton income in Donley county was nearly fifty percent greater in 1934 than it was in 1932, although less than in 1933, a very favorable year, it is announced by H. M. Breedlove county agent, on the basis of complete official three-year county cotton figures just received from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Donley county farmers received for their cotton last year $793,358.25 compared to $577,956.48 in 1932 and $1,389,390.87 in 1933. The farm value of lint and seed last year was almost $40,000 more than it was in 1932, and added to this were $179,909.67 in benefit payments.

Values are based upon yields and prices as furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture. The benefit payments include all those to April 30, 1935.

The value of unsold Bankhead certificates held by farmers is not included in the amount of benefit payments. Texas farmers have about nine million dollars' worth of these certificates on hand, according to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Commenting on this huge increase in Donley county farmers' cotton income from 1932 to the present, Mr. Breedlove points out that there was almost a quarter of a million more dollars of cotton money in circulation in the county the last twelve months than two years ago. This increased farm income has been the means of helping farmers stay in business, maintain their farms and homes, and remain customers of merchants, he states.

City Dads Reduce Tax Rate Thirty Cents a Hundred

At a meeting of the City Commission August 7th the tax rate for the coming year was set at $1.20 on the $100 valuation.

The City tax rate was set at $1.20 for this year, which is a reduction from $1.50 year before last, to $1.20 this year. The City Commission was able to make this reduction in rate in face of a heavy reduction in valuation, because of the saving in operating expenses of the City during the last year, and a transfer of money from the General Fund to the Interest & Sinking Fund enables them to make this rate and meet the Interest & Sinking Fund requirements.

Local Graduates of Canyon School Receive Degrees

Among the teachers and former teachers of this section to complete the prescribed course of study at W.T.S.T. College of Canyon this summer are:

Frank White Jr., majoring in Educational Administration, will receive the B. A. degree.

Dave Waldron, Agriculture, B. S. degree.

Miss Vera Inez Blankenship of Goodnight, who majored in Intermediate Education, will receive her B. S. degree.

Old Timers Are Invited To La Hue Park 15th

The Old Settlers Association of Collingsworth county are to hold their annual reunion on August 15th this year at La Hue park or grave which is about three miles east of Wellington in a beautiful grove with plenty of fine water handy.

Among the former old-timers of that section now residing in Donley county, and to receive a special invitation to this reunion are Ira R. Rolls, I. E. Beckwith, Cliff D. McDowell, J. A. Meaders and Mrs. Thelma Bairfield.

BEACH SERVICE STATION OPENING DATE ANNOUNCED

New Partnership to Operate Texaco Station Located On Highway 5

Announcement is made of a new partnership composed of Cecil Beach and Bill Gaither in operating the new service station in the west edge of Clarendon now being constructed for Fred Buntin. Harlow Stephenson is contractor on the job.

Mr. Beach has been identified with the Beach service station in the Biggers building on Second street for the past five years and needs no introduction to the folks in this trade territory.

Mr. Gaither has spent eight years in this line of work at Panhandle, Clarendon and Memphis, consequently has a wide acquaintance with the general public here.

These men will operate a day and night station featuring Texaco products. The station will open Thursday, August 15th. Built-in wash and grease rack is a new feature which the operators of the new station believe will appeal to the motoring public.

Four pumps, two inside and two outside, with a double drive space will insure prompt servicing of gas, water and air. When completed, the contractor states that this new station of Spanish design will be second to none.

Donley is Well Represented At Wallace Meeting

Thousands of farmers and stockmen from over the Panhandle were in Amarillo Monday afternoon for the purpose of hearing U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace explain the plans for improving the conditions of farm and ranch operators.

Among the large number to attend this speaking from Donley county were Ernest Land, Jodie Helm, Arthur Brown, Fred McAnear, M. W. Hatley, E. L. Lewis, Carroll Lewis, Tom F. Connally, J. D. Swift, F. E. Chamberlain, W. J. Lewis, R. W. Moore and many others whose names could not be learned.

Hot Gas Agents Are Warned By Sheriff Pierce

Sheriff Pierce alleges that hot gas is being sold tractor owners and otherwise in this section in violation of state and federal laws. He says such parties are dodging the tax payments and will be prosecuted if caught.

ONLY HANGING LEGALLY HELD IN TEXAS WEST OF VERNON WAS HERE DURING 1910

(By Wanda Mayfield)
On April 25, 1910, a young murderer named Miller was sentenced to "hang by the neck until dead" in Donley county, and a death warrant was drawn up to that effect, specifying the execution date as June 3. This marked the end of a short criminal career begun the spring of the previous year. Miller killed two men, one in Hall county where he was sentenced to a life term at Huntsville, and one in Donley county. He went through a harrowing series of hearings, pleading "guilty" first, then changing his plea to "not guilty" when he ran out of funds, lost his lawyer, and was deserted by relatives and friends. When he was first taken into custody, officers found a letter addressed to a northern company, ordering a list of disguises. Miller planned to be a public enemy in a big way.

Shortly before eleven o'clock on Friday, June 3, Sheriff J. T. Patman read the death warrant to the calm prisoner in his cell. He was then transported to the gallows one-half mile north of town, with the sheriff on one side and Father Erasmus, Miller's Catholic counsellor, on the other.
Camp fires dotted the surrounding prairies on the night preceding the hanging, showing that many

DIRT FARMER WALLACE HAS IDEAS.

More than 6,000 people heard U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace expound the principles of "new day" farming at Amarillo Monday. His one remark, "The farmers should have just as much right and power as other industries of the nation," was a statement that 'went home' to farmer listeners.

Packing houses bought animals for slaughter, are selling the meat back to consumers with a process tax added, but refuse to turn over a process tax to the government. The packers have actually secured court injunctions to prevent the government collecting the process tax from them for the time being.

HANDICAPS OF MONOTONY.

Next to the selection of his parents, the biggest mistake a man can make is to permit himself to be born out on these plains. He never has a chance to fall off anything higher than a sandhill, and then he lands in a plum thicket two feet below.

distinct honors that come to a native man of the plains is when he gets to the point where his folks erect a 10-foot monument to his memory on the installment plan, and the local publisher spoils it all by misspelling his name in the obituary.

RANGERS DOFF SOMBREROS AND BOOTS.

The lone wolf days of the Texas Rangers are nearing an end. Rated above the 'Mounties' of Canada because of the demands of our class of criminals to "shoot it out rather than surrender," the sombrero, boots and horse equipment will give way to more modern dress and methods.

"One riot, one ranger," was long a slogan in Texas. After Friday of this week, the Ranger name alone will be about all that is left of the old-time law enforcement officers who wrote history in defense of civilization in the Lone Star state since 1838.

Thirty-six rangers will become affiliated with the highway police system. Fast cars with bullet proof glass and machine guns will displace the horse except possibly in the Big Bend country. In other words, the criminal of today will be fought on his own grounds by and with his own methods.

A Department of Public Safety was created by the Legislature the past year. In this department will be bureaus of intelligence, communications, education and identification records. Divisions have been designated as "The Texas Rangers," the "Texas Highway Patrol," and "Headquarters Division."

Tom Hickman, whose long record as a peace officer in the Ranger force for capturing bad men both dead and alive, is chief of this "Bureau of Intelligence," where records of bad men are filed as rapidly as bad men make a bad record.

The time is coming when every citizen of the land will be finger-printed. When this time comes, criminals—male and female—will find escape practically impossible, and that only for a short time.

SIDELIGHTS
By Marvin Jones

The A.A.A. amendments as they passed the House of Representatives made provision for carrying on the agricultural adjustment program and for protecting the government against unnecessary suits.

These amendments passed the House more than a month ago. The Senate has adopted a number of changes and amendments, some of which should not be permitted to remain in the measure.

The Senate amendment permitting suits by processors to recover taxes paid, in the event processing taxes are held invalid by the Supreme Court, is too broad.

The processor has simply been the agent for the collection of these taxes which have been written into the general price structure of the country.

If such suits are permitted, and recovery is had, the money should be placed in the custody of the Court as a trust fund.

suit is instituted.
The wholesaler should be allowed to recover taxes paid on any stocks which he has on hand and unsold at such time.
The retailer and distributor should certainly be accorded the same privilege.
In fairness, the balance should go to the consumer who is the ultimate purchaser, but he probably could not be located.

No just man would deprive a citizen of his right to recover any taxes improperly paid by him. On the other hand, no reasonable man should ask to recover taxes which he has passed on.

It would be manifestly unfair to permit the processor to recover taxes on goods which he has already sold. At any rate, the processor should be requested to show conclusively that he neither took any part of it off the price paid to the farmer and that he did not pass any part of it on to the consumer.

We know that the processing tax was a definite factor in the price of all goods sold after such tax became effective. It remains a very definite factor in cost at this time, notwithstanding the fact that many manufacturers are withholding the tax in the hope that the Supreme Court may eventually declare it invalid.

It would create chaos to invite tens of thousands of suits to recover hundreds of millions of dollars when the processor was merely the agency through which these taxes were passed on to the general public. The government cannot allow this to become a racket by the processor for recovery of taxes which were really paid by the ultimate consumer.

Either the amendment should be eliminated entirely or modified so as to avoid the abuses which it invites.

The bill will now go to a joint conference group representing the House and the Senate, whose duty it will be to iron out the differences between the bill as it passed the House and as it passed the Senate.

I am very hopeful that we will be able to reach a proper agreement, as it is all-important that the farm program be continued.

Before you forget it, the Leader has the best combination paper and magazine offer right now that has been out for years.

One sign of improvement will be when we are more concerned in mending our pockets instead of the seats of our pants.

The man least to be led astray, always remembers that there is two sides to every story.

"Man" is mentioned in the Bible 4,332 times and women only 536. That is another indication that men had quite a bit to say about it.

Before the World War this nation owed foreign nations a little over three billion dollars. Since the war, foreign nations have been owing us thirteen billion dollars—most of which is past due except for the small debt owed Uncle Sam by little old Sweden.

As a suggestion to the planning boards, what we need is a few snowcapped mountains made out of mole hills out here on the plains.

With gas and cigarette taxes running about the same, it's up to you to say whether you smoke it up or burn it up.

Next year is leap year, girls. Get your trapping license early.

Except for shoveling snow off the sidewalk, there will be no more of this until about this time next week.

BOYS WRITE "SYNOPSIS" OF THEIR TRIP TO A&M COLLEGE AND THE MANY SIGHTS

Boys making the trip were: Eddie McQueen—the ladies man Ward Grimsley—the hamburger chews,

John Howard Gilbert—the little boy with the big understanding, Harley Longan—famous for tanning hides,

Morris Lamb—quiet and curious, Jack Robinson—the pool shooter Dempsey Robinson—tormenting tornado,

D. W. Tomlinson—the letter writer,

Earl Shannon—little but loud, Raymond Shannon—lad of pleasant dreams,

Carrol Monroe—rubber neck, R. W. Alewine—boy with stream lined hat,

Allen Hardin—heart breaker, Charley Longan—the boy who believed in sleeping on ice,

Jimmie Alewine—often wondered, but he never knew,

Donald Harlan—the boy who noticed them all,

Frank Mahaffey—sleepy-head, Leland Lewis—gad about,

Buster Warrick—star ball pitcher,

Ralph Grady—a big eye for the little girls,

Marti Mason—educational foresight,

Wesley Watson—the boy with a mighty laugh,

Johnnie Leathers—Country dude William Hardin—star reporter,

George Reeves—country clown, Jack Reeves—soda water fiend,

Next came the four worthless chaperones:

Otis Naylor—trustworthy stenographer,

Slaton Mahaffey—who enjoyed the traffic,

Nelse Robinson—the timid soul, "Flip" Breedlove—gala guide.

The above mentioned left Clarendon on Saturday, July 27, at eight a. m. Good progress was made under the beaming sun and at noon Vernon was reached where everyone enjoyed a hardy lunch.

By twelve p. m., the outskirts of Waco were reached where everyone enjoyed the rest of the night sleeping on clouds and cactus.

By breakfast time the next morning the bus rolled into Marlin where white people were few and the negroes were plentiful. After breakfast the journey was resumed and by ten-thirty a. m. the destiny of College Station was reached.

This brought a great pleasure by the unloading of the sardine packed bus.

During the following days of the short course the boys learned many things of interest and saw many sights. It was very hard for many of the boys to keep their minds off of the two thousand girls that were in the dormitories across the street.

After four days of study and amusement at the short course they boarded the bus about eight a. m. Friday, bound for Galveston. By eleven a. m., the happy group was in Houston the largest city of Texas, and also the largest city that many of the boys had ever seen.

About two p. m., after crossing the tree mile viaduct leading into Galveston, the boys were on the docks of Galveston. After tickets were purchased, they boarded the excursion boat which went out into the gulf waters twelve miles and one-half.

This was the first adventure of its kind for the majority of the boys, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all. After the boat ride many of the boys plunged into the ocean for their first time. After eating supper in the large Sea-Wall Cafe, the homeward journey was begun.

The next destiny was Huntsville, where the boys made a visit through the State penitentiary. This was something that hardly any of the boys had seen before, and after making a tour all thru the Pen, I don't think anyone had the desire of taking up board there. The death-row was probably the place that aroused the sympathy of the boys most.

Several of the group had the experience of sitting in the electric chair.

It was quite amusing to see Dempsey Robinson sitting in the chair when someone jerked a curtain that was strung on a wire behind the chair. However, Demp soon got over his fright.

Even though there were lots of things in the prison that were not so pleasant to look at, it was interesting to see all the industries carried on within the walls.

The inmates manufacture practically everything they use and a lot of materials to be sold on the outside.

From Huntsville to Dallas much beautiful scenery was viewed. It was here the group visited one of the largest saw mills in East Texas, which was known as the Hall Lumber Company.

The next stop was Dallas where everyone ate supper. Between Dallas and Fort Worth was seen the big Arlington Downs which was a very interesting sight. After riding late into the night the boys spent the rest of the night near Wichita Falls.

Early the next morning the journey was continued and good old Clarendon was reached about one o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Everyone enjoyed the trip to the utmost extent and we are looking forward to another one of its kind again next year.

"All is well that ends well," and this trip surely did end well.

Little Evelyn Reid Shows More Improvement

Because of the many handicaps besetting this little girl of six years, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Reid of the Naylor community, and the further fact that she became a ward of the local Lions club, Evelyn Reid has a wide acquaintance.

Several months ago she became a victim of infantile paralysis which left her a hopeless cripple. It was then that the Lions club took charge of her care and treatment sending her to Oklahoma City. Homer Mulkey, chairman of the Crippled Children's committee accompanied the little girl and relatives and made arrangements for her treatment.

It was while a patient of a noted surgeon there that she suffered a broken leg after she had gotten to the point to where she could walk on crutches. Despite her handicaps and pain, she was and is a brave little lady and has improved to the point that Dr. Oscar L. Jenkins removed the cast from her limb here Tuesday.

West Texas Old Settlers To Meet August 15-16

Floydada, Aug. 6.—Preparations to entertain record crowds this summer at the 10th annual reunion of the West Texas Old Settlers Association are rapidly being made at the Hank Smith Memorial Park, 18 miles southeast of here, August 15-16.

Mrs. William G. Dingus, professor in the department of foreign languages at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, and Judge G. T. Hamilton, Matador, widely known attorney and pioneer resident, are two of the speakers who will address the old timers. It is anticipated that both addresses will be interesting to the early settlers.

Mrs. Dingus having made a study of western lore and recently made a radio talk on the life of the late Hank Smith in whose honor the celebration is held each year.

Judge Hamilton is a pioneer lawyer, capable of recounting many of the early day activities. Invitations have been extended Governor James V. Allred and Senator Arthur P. Duggan, Littlefield, to speak at the assembly, it has been announced by J. B. Jenkins, of Floydada, director of the association and chairman of the program committee.

August 15 has been designated officially as "Pioneer Day." The celebration will be held at the Old Rock House, the home of the first white settler west of Ft. Griffin, commemorating the 61st anniversary of the erection of this monument of early pioneer life and which is still in use today. It is a show place to many tourists.

Johnny Beville is visiting Geo. Wayne Estlack at this time.

PRIMITIVE BAPTISTS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING AT LAHUE GROVE AUG. 8-11

The Panhandle and Oklahoma Association of Primitive Baptists will hold their annual meeting at the LaHue grove, three miles east of Wellington, beginning Thursday August 8, through Sunday, August 11, according to announcements today.

The services will begin Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and will continue through Sunday at noon. Services will be held at 10 o'clock each afternoon, and 8 o'clock each evening.

No public table will be provided for the meeting, leaders said, but necessities will be sold at stands on the grounds. Persons attending the services will be allowed to bring their lunches.

A committee will select the preachers when the meeting opens, and a large number of visiting preachers are expected to deliver messages at the gathering. The general public is invited to attend the services, and members of the church were urged to attend.

"Now and Forever" Swell Entertainment, Superb Cast, Story, Here August 11-12th

Together with its grand romantic cast, its unusual and absorbing story and a multitude of other details which should recommend Paramount's "Now and Forever," which will be at the Pastime Theatre Sunday and Monday, to your attention as ace-high motion picture entertainment, the picture has one other inducement which should convince even the most skeptical of theatre-goers. It is a field day for that outrageously charming, delectable, and irresistible new screen sensation, Shirley Temple herself.

The audience at the Pastime Theatre, yesterday, laughed with the dimpled darling as she sang "The Grasshopper and the Frog"; followed her with bated breaths in to a child's Never Never Land while she played pirates with Gary Cooper, and wept as they watched her cry herself to sleep over a child's tragedy.

Cooper, Lombard Stand Out
How Cooper and Carole Lombard, who are starred with her in this picture, ever prevented Miss Temple from stealing it completely away from them will remain one cinema. And yet the fact is that these two, cast together as lovers for the first time, contribute such uniformly excellent performance to self ready to chance discovery, disgrace and even death to win back the faith and love of his tiny daughter.

Sir Guy Standing, Charlotte Granville and Henry Kolker, in the principal supporting roles, are to be commended for their easy and effortless performances of difficult character parts.

Henry Hathaway contributed praiseworthy direction to "Now and Forever," which was adapted from an original story by Jack Kirkland and Melville Bakr.

WHEN THE DAY HAS ENDED

When the day has ended
And all seems hushed and quiet,
Do you have that satisfied feeling
Of one who's helped make life's pathway bright?

Have you, in some slight way,
During the regular routine of the day,
Done a little golden deed
For some poor fellow who was really in need?

If so, my fellow man,
Keep smiling your way along
For you are the person who can—
Help others to shun the wrong.

If, by chance, you meet a fellow
With trouble written on his face,
Sprinkle sunshine in his path
And help him to win the race.

Strive to live better day by day,
And urge your comrade to laugh
Has cares away;
Then when the day has ended
And all seems hushed and quiet,
You will be happy in knowing
That toward God and man your heart is right.

the film and make such convincing lovers, that it seems that Paramount has hit upon another of those natural starring combinations, and that they are destined to be seen together from now on. The story, warm in its human qualities and appeal, deals with a reckless scapegrace who brings his little daughter into his adventurous and erratic life. The climax is brought on by the theft of a jeweled necklace at the home of a wealthy woman in Paris, while Cooper, Carole Lombard, and Shirley Temple are guests. The child discovers that her daddy is the thief and is broken hearted and inconsolable over her loss of faith in him.

MARTIN

Mrs. Jim Baker

Martin farmers are greatly cheered up over the good rains we have had recently. Crops are looking fine.

Mrs. George Bulman and Mrs. Dick Cannon were joint hostesses in entertaining their Sunday school classes of intermediate boys and girls at the school building Friday night. Despite the unsettled weather quite a number of boys and girls enjoyed the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morrow are entertaining the lady's sister and family from Big Springs this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Easterling were callers in the Jim Baker home Friday night. Games of 42 were enjoyed until a late hour.

Mr. Edwin Baley and Mrs. J. D. Wood are reported on the sick list this week.

Quite a number of Martin folks attended the singing convention in Clarendon Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peabody and little daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baker.

The new bus for Martin school has been delivered. It is a first class bus, modern equipped in every way with a seating capacity of forty pupils.

Mrs. Pauline Dunlap visited the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Shelton.

Dr. A. W. Hicks, Glenn Allison and Harry McCracken left Sunday to spend some time near Crede, Colorado on a vacation and fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mears and children are again at home after a lengthy visit with relatives and friends vacationing in the Lubbock country. Lee is the popular operator of the big incubators of the Clarendon Hatchery, and has been since the business was established five years ago.

WHY NOT?

If a female duke is a duchess, Would a female spook be a spuchess?
If a male goose is a gander, Then would a male moose be a mander?

If the plural of child is children, Would the plural of wild be wildren?
If a number of cows are cattle, Would a number of bows be battle?

If a man makes plays is a playwright,
Would a man who makes hay be a haywright?

If a person who fails is a failure, Would a person who quails be a qualure?

If the apple you bite is bitten, Would the battle you fight be fitten?
If a young cat is a kitten, Then would a young rat be ritten?

If a person who spends is a spendthrift,
Would a person who lends be a lendthrift?
If drinking too much makes a drunkard,
Would thinking too much make a thunkard?

But why pile on the confusion? Still I'd like to ask in conclusion:

If a chap from New York's a New Yorker,
Would a fellow from Cork be a corker?

East Texas Folks Pay Visit To Relatives Here

Mr. and Mrs. Foard Parker of Teneha, Shelby county visited here for several days returning home Wednesday. Mrs. Parker is the eldest daughter of C. F. Bogard in whose home they visited the greater part of the time.

With them came Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parker and two children, Harry and Charlie. The last named are great grandchildren of Mr. Bogard. When a Leader reporter expressed surprise that one so young looking as Mr. Bogard should have great grandchildren, he smiled and said, "shuckens, I have a whole cowpen full." Mr. Bogard is only 79 years young, but he gets about like a man of fifty.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Alexander of Ft. Worth arrived here Wednesday on a business visit.

J. L. Kerby, football coach and head of the commercial department of the Clarendon schools, returned to his classes at Denton Wednesday after a short visit with homefolks here.

SPEEDS AS DANGEROUS AS FALLS

A car going 40 miles per hour is four times as capable of inflicting damage as at 20 miles. When going 60 miles per hour it is nine times as capable of inflicting damage. Automobiles traveling at 20, 40 and 60 miles per hour have the same capacity for inflicting damage that the same cars would have if driven off a one, four, and ten or twelve story building. Be temperate in the use of speed is the best advice that can be given to motorists who want to safeguard their own lives as well as the lives of others. Statistics on automobile accidents developed for last year by The Travelers Insurance Company show that to drive fast or too fast for the conditions is to increase the probability of death in the event of an accident.

Noted Hospital to Receive State Funds

Mrs. C. A. Burton, secretary of Home Service, Donley county Chapter of the Red Cross, is in receipt of the following letter which is self explanatory:
Dear Madam:

The Hospital for Crippled and Deformed Children, which is a unit of the John Sealy Hospital, will receive on September 1, 1935, an appropriation from the State of Texas to provide care for crippled children throughout the State. This appropriation provides complete hospital care and medical and surgical service. Only children whose deformities can be corrected will be admitted. A limited number of beds will be available for negro children.

If there are any crippled children in your community whose family circumstances are such that hospital care can not be provided by the family, we will be glad to admit them as State cases. Application blanks will be furnished on request, and admissions to the Hospital will be made in the order of receipt of applications. If you desire to make application for the admission of any child, on or after September 1, 1935, we will forward application blanks on your request.

Very truly yours,
Lucius R. Wilson, M. D., Superintendent.

Breedlove Attends Luncheon For County Agents

County agent H. M. Breedlove was present at the luncheon given in honor of the visit of Henry A. Wallace, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture at Amarillo Monday.

The luncheon was held at the Amarillo hotel at 12:30 and was attended by county, district and state agricultural agents.

Secretary Wallace spoke "off the record" requesting newspaper reporters present not to report the confidential instructions being given the agents.

Mr. Breedlove says he felt thoroughly at home sitting near Mr. Wallace when he saw Wallace crumb bread into a glass of milk and eat it with a spoon pretty much as he must have done in his other days back on the farm.

Chevrolet Stolen Here Was Sighted in Pampa

A Chevrolet sedan, 1931 model and the property of W. R. Errington, was taken from his place of residence here Thursday night. Sheriff Williams of Vernon is said to have seen the car in Pampa Tuesday.

Mr. Errington was employed in the Kirtley saddlery at the time, and was expecting to leave here next day. He left, but minus his car.

Oilers and Transients Win At Soft Ball

On Monday the Oilers ran true to form in beating the F.F.A. boys by the score of 13 to 7. The Oilers outhit the Aggies 18 to 13, giving them their margin of victory.

The Transients staged a spirited comeback in beating the Methodists 6 to 3 on Tuesday. This game was a nip and tuck affair until the sixth inning when the Transient boys staged a batting spree which netted four runs. The Transients made 18 hits while the Methodists were getting 9.

On last Thursday the Lions Club team took undisputed lead in the race for second half honors by defeating the Methodists 6 to 1. The game tomorrow between the Lions and the Oilers should be an exciting one since it will go a long way toward determining the second half winner. At present the Oilers are in second place, having lost only to the Methodists.

The following is the standing of teams:

Lions	1,000
Oilers	666
Methodists	500
F.F.A.	500
Transients	500

Greene Dry Goods Company Has Big Sale

By way of celebrating the store's 11th anniversary in Clarendon, Manager W. J. (Bill) Greene and his clerical force, have tagged thousands of bargains in plain figures for the event.

In addition to special bargains in summer goods, Mr. Greene calls attention to the fact that bargains may be had in early fall lines in this sale, as indicated in the firm's advertisement in the Leader this issue.

This is a real sale event and it will pay our readers to visit the big stock for any selections they may need.

Father of Mortician Dies At Estelline Friday

Edgar Webster, aged 62, and the father of Robert J. Webster of the Buntin mortuary, passed away at the family home at Estelline Friday. He was a pioneer citizen of that section.

He is survived by his wife and three children. They are Mrs. Ada Edwards of Estelline, Mrs. Vivian Jones of Childress and Robert J. Webster of Clarendon.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church at Estelline Saturday by Rev. Collie, his former pastor, and Rev. Hankins of Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Baker and family returned home Tuesday after a time spent at A&M College and other south Texas points.

Visitor Dies Monday at Home Of Relative Near Lelia

Death came to R. N. Shryack Monday while visiting in the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kate Thompson, near Lelia. He was a native of Plattsburg, Ohio where he was born February 1, 1859 and was 76 years of age at his passing August 5, 1935. He had been in failing health for some time due to age, and general senility is said to have been the cause of his death. Of his six children, five daughters and one son surviving, only one daughter, Mrs. Pearl McLeod of Salt Lake City was the only one who could attend his funeral. Mrs. J. R. Green of Dalhart also attended the last service.

The funeral service was conducted at the Thompson home at 10 a. m. Tuesday by Rev. W. E. Ferrell, pastor of the First Christian church of Clarendon.

Those attending the casket were Dick Green of Dalhart, Joe Bill Inman, Loyd Johnson, W. L. Butler, Homer Mulkey and J. R. Tucker.

The Hodges funeral home of Memphis had charge of the funeral arrangements and interment was made in the Clarendon Citizens cemetery.

Changes Are Made In County Relief Plans

Abolishment of the county administration of relief in Texas was announced last week by State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson, who explained that curtailment of administrative costs in line with the reduced program of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, which is being partly supplanted by the Works Progress Administration, necessitated the business end of the 253 county administrators' offices being taken over by district administrators, whose staffs will administer relief over a much wider area.

Under the new set-up, allocations will continue to be made to counties, but funds will be disbursed from the district offices. County relief boards will be continued as advisory bodies.

S. H. Halle has been appointed district relief administrator of Donley, Collingsworth, Gray, Hansford, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts and Wheeler counties. His headquarters will be in Pampa.

Hog Prices Reach New Peak At Ft. Worth Wednesday

If you are a hog raiser, you will be glad to know that hogs sold on the livestock market at $11.35 Wednesday, the highest price paid over a six year period.

If you happen to be only a consumer, you will regret to realize that bacon will be selling around 45 cents soon.

Sapa Plums Produce Yearly In Donley County

Some years the fruit crop is cut short by late freezes. Some years, but not often the immense wild plum crop fails or falls short. In no instance does any variety of the sapa plums fail.

Homer Mulkey has a red sapa about 15 feet in diameter in his back yard here that bears several bushels every year. On the Bowlin place northeast of town, a big crop of the black variety is expected annually.

The sapa plum is a cross between the northern cherry and the Miner plum and appears to be acclimated in most any climate of the nation.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning 'Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware a substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C.M.C. Co.

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING TEXAS HISTORY IN AN EARLY EXCITING EPOCH

The span of more than a half a century is covered in the Memoirs of John Salmon Ford, the unpublished manuscript of which is owned by the archives of the University of Texas library. Newspaper man, surveyor, soldier, practicing physician, historian—Ford filled his voluminous reminiscences with minute details of life in Texas as a province of Mexico, as a Republic, as a State of the United States, and again as one of the United States. He was acquainted with men in every walk of life in early Texas, and his references to them are frank and unvarnished.

An early section of his Memoirs deals with the establishment, in 1838, of a theatrical company, doubtless the first in Texas. His description of the company and of its performances, written toward the end of the nineteenth century, gives a rare picture of a significant social movement in the early Republic:

Dr. Lycurgus E. Griffith acted well. He is a gentleman of fine attainments. He was living recently. "Capt. Duncan Carrington was a member of some prominence. He is alive.

"William R. Scurry was versatile. He represented heroes, and ladies in sorrowful moods, and in scenes where death cast a mantle of gloom. He was a general in the Confederate service, and fell at the battle of Saline, 1864.

"Judge William B. Ochiltree was a gentleman of great ability, possessing the gift of eloquence and an enthusiasm almost unequalled. He has 'passed the river'.

"The writer composed a three-act comedy, which was played with success. Gen. W. R. Scurry wrote and recited a prologue. His brother, Judge Richardson Scurry wrote some humorous verses in which he ascribed to Ford's comedy a position somewhat more elevated than the works of Shakespeare, and rather sharply criticized the prologue. The young authors considered this poetic effusion an outrage upon their literary merits and fame. The public enjoyed the fun and laugh. This effort bore the title of 'The Stranger in Texas'. It was based on facts which had fallen under the author's view. A gentleman of rather dubious character came to Texas with the intention of acquiring headright certificates and of becoming the owner of a princely domain. He had bags full of 'wild cat' paper money. His Texas customers were equal to the emergency. They gave quit claim titles to spurious headright certificates; and practiced some tricks on the 'stranger' not known to Lord Chesterfield or any other writer on etiquette. One of these was known as the 'Spanish Burying', which ended in administering a first class paddling to the gentleman in search of landed estate under numerous difficulties. When carried into practical operation, off the stage, the victim for several days would prefer standing to a seat on a cushioned chair. The next effort in the line dramatic was 'The Loafer's Courtship'. It drew a large house, and increased the writer's vanity to an alarming extent. He imagined the lightning had stricken him, and developed a genius of sublime proportions. Young simpletons often enjoy their juvenile follies more than old fools do their worn crochets, and fancied achievements."

WILL TEXANS REMEMBER THE ALAMO AND GOLIAD AUGUST 24th?

The citizens of Texas will decide on Saturday, August 24, 1935, whether state funds raised by taxation shall be used to supply text books free to all school children within scholastic age who may be attending any school—private, parochial, or otherwise.

The Texas Legislature, at its recent session submitted this question to the voters in the form of an amendment to the state constitution. I came up with little advanced notice with other proposed amendments, it is claimed; and only a few members availed themselves of an opportunity to debate the issue.

Free text books are now provided for pupils who attend the public schools of Texas. It would seem only fair that state funds should be made available for the distribution of free school books to all children alike, irrespective of the schools they attend. However, it is pointed out that such liberality by the state raises the old issue of Church and State. A state cannot use public funds for the support of sectarian schools to any extent whatsoever, it is declared, without becoming involved in the establishment of a State and Church regime.

There has already grown up in many of the states, almost imperceptibly, two competitive school systems—one public and the other sectarian or parochial. In a few communities of some of the states, the sectarian or parochial school has crowded out the once flourishing public school, with the natural result that public funds have been demanded for the support of the Church school.

The opponents of the proposed school book amendment are concerned directly with the question of the continuance of the separation of Church and State. They maintain that every dollar of public funds that goes to the direct or indirect support of a sectarian or parochial school not only tends to destroy the force and value of public education to our democratic institutions, but aids efforts to re-establish the old relationship of Church and State. They hold that every citizen in Texas is confronted, not with the simple, beautiful

CLARENDON'S PRE-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION, JULY 4th

(By Gertrude Jodon Arnold)

Silverton, Texas
Should I possess rich, copious language
"Right at my command
I'd tell a pleasing story of Clarendon's
Pre-Centennial Celebration,
Because 'twas big, and great, and grand.

The band began the program with
Selections of the best,
And the joyful day was ended with Old Fiddlers' Contest.

Down town in decorated windows
Keepsakes, typical of the nineties were displayed;
And too, the dear old West, the notd West
Was cradled in an artful dream
Amidst a famous street parade.

The luncheon honoring the Old Timer
Was a generous chicken dinner,
With heaps of dainty extras;
And after a while
Came good old juicy peach pie
All fixed up in cobbler style.
While we were guests at noon hour,
W. H. Patrick, toastmaster, rapped upon the Table, and we hushed our jolly fess;
Old settlers' speeches led the way,
Back to covered wagon day,
And "Old Bones" kindly spoke for us.
His courtesy was gratifying—well
Chosen idiom was not slack;
Reflective, earnest meditation lingered
'Round his brow of black.

Clarendon's City Mayor, once a JA cowboy,
Doesn't care for poetry, the highfalutin' kind;
But Uncle Johnnie will not chide,
Reprimand, nor cast aside
The pioneer's uneven rhyme;
Because 'twas not so long ago
Lads and lassies did untwist
The zig zag yarn of winding bliss
While they spun a story;
And amidst the disentangled strand,
Leading on through wonderland
Bashful lovers would relate, recite,
Repeat, retell, rehearse
Appropriate little bits of verse.

As Judge L. Gough, pioneer T-Anchor
Cowboy, delivered our address,
Attending people listened to the Living history of the tranquil,
Marvelous, glorious West.

Thanks a lot to Clarendon folks who Showed us such a splendid time—
We enjoyed our trip on memory's ship
Through days of Auld Lang Syne.

Ever-cherished comrades, methinks
Big opportunities for us wait,
Because the younger generation
Keep boasting, coaxing,
Planning excellent encouragement,
Pushing us right up to date.
I'm sure I'm voicing the sentiments
Of every pioneer when I say that
Donley County's Pre-Centennial Celebration
Was a manifold success
Picturing early days in the thinly-settled West.

Brave, courageous pioneers,
May usefulness with you abide;
And here's in memory of those Who have crossed the Great Divide.

sentiment of supplying every child in his state with free text books from funds of the state treasury regardless of the character of the school the child attends, but with the momentous question as to whether he is willing to discard the American principle of keeping separate the relations of Church and State.

The opponents, aware of the sentimental appeal for the child in the proposed amendment, point to liberties of the people to be conserved and made stronger through the development of a finer and better public school system. That development, they say, cannot take place if the enemies of public education be given the right to drain away the means of public education.

ASSERVATION

Immutable as the changeless years
That roll from the rim of Time,
My life goes on and it appears
My love grows more sublime.

Eternities have swung us past
The lesion of the Now,
So Love tries not to feel abashed
Because you broke your vow.

For you'll follow my pennon, waving high - - -
Regardless of where it gleams,
And tho' you smother your budding sigh,
I'll come unto you, in dreams!

DRY INK

(Number 3)

By E. D. Landreth

A few days ago I read an article from the pen of Mr. Bud Russell, Chief Transfer Agent of the Texas Prison System, entitled, "Prohibition from a Peace Officer's Viewpoint." I quote two statements from that article.—"In my opinion, based on my conversation with the countless men I have handled, two-thirds of the men in prison to-day owe their unhappy plight to alcohol. . . . The argument that taxes derived from legalized sale of liquor benefit people is as fallacious as arguing that a tax on tuberculosis would justify the infection of men and women with this dread disease. . . . Stick to your standard and vote to retain the constitutional clause that has done more to make Texas a leading state than any other movement in its glorious history."

General Evangeline Booth, head of the Salvation Army in America for more than a quarter of a century, and who probably has more knowledge of the effects of drink, objectively, than any other living person, recently wrote as follows,—"All the bloody foes that have ever trailed their bloody tracks across street, or vale or plain; all the cruel instruments of war, ancient and modern, that have drawn blood, torn flesh, maimed bodies and destroyed life; all the destructive powers that have ever sunk ships, devastated cities, plundered homes, brought down kingdoms, — all in their massed aggregate have never caused one half the sorrow, the breakage, the ruin, the self destruction and the death that has poured from the cauldron of this red-eyed, fire mouthed, gory handed, hydra headed, diabolical monster—alcohol!"

On August 24th we are to vote as to whether our fair state will legalize the sale and give protection to the sellers of this life and soul destroying agency described above. You may not understand all the technicalities relative to the proposed amendment. It is quite complicated, evidently written so to confuse the voter. All we need remember is that we either vote for or against liquor. If you are for liquor, vote for the amendment, if you are against liquor, vote against the amendment.

Nobody doubts that Donley County will vote a dry majority. We are in danger of being satisfied with a majority, whereas we should by all means have a tremendous majority. Some of the counties down state may go wet, so our large majorities in the dry counties are needed to offset the wet counties. Let every mother, wife and daughter, every father, husband and son, who loves home and the things that are precious to Christian people cast your ballot on August 24th against this proposed amendment.

(DRY INK will be continued)

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL
Minister First Christian Church

To obey is better than to sacrifice

Our Lord refused to accept any substitute for obedience. More profession or lip service is repugnant to Him. "Why call me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say? (Luke 6:46). If ye love me ye will keep commandments." (John 14:15).

Men appear to think that the contemplation of God's will atones for disobedience: that the study of truth serves in place of treading the path of duty. Such cannot possess absolute assurance, for it is those who, "willeth to do His will" that "shall know of the teaching, whether it be of God" or not.

Obedience ensures knowledge of God and truth. He who does God's will feels the touch of the Father's hand and the thrill of a new found joy, "for if we know these things, blessed are ye if you do them." (John 13:17).

Absolute submission to divine authority is needed. A soldier who refuses to obey orders is disciplined, yet somehow men expect leniency who flout the authority of heaven and refuse to obey their God.

A soul absolutely sincere will not pick or choose what commands to obey and what to reject as the hypocrites do. "Whatever He saith unto you do it." Behold to obey is better than to sacrifice.

The greatest desire of man is that he might have eternal life, multitudes are earnestly inquiring, "What must I do to be saved?" God's greatest desire is that man might be saved and live with Him eternally. To make this possible for man, God sent His son, Jesus Christ into the world to reveal the plan of salvation, and to make known God's commandments and conditions concerning the eternal life and redemption. Christ spent three and half years instructing a class of men, who in turn were instructed to "go into all the world" and teach others. The Apostles were obedient to their commission, they preached the gospel, the church was established, and men were given instruction on how to carry out God's commands and desires. Men were told where they could find salvation and eternal life. They must obey God. The church was organized to keep that plan and program perpetuated until Christ returns. It is our task to teach God's commands and it is man's duty to obey them always.

Why The Texas Securities Act Was Enacted

Until the effective date of the new Securities Act, Texas has had, since 1913, what was known as the Blue Sky Law. This law attempted to regulate through permits, the issuance of stock. That is, before stock could be issued in this State, a permit had to be secured from the Department of State through the Blue Sky division. The law was very loose; definitions were few and vague; inadequate funds were appropriated for its enforcement. Technicalities prevented its enforcement. The present Secretary of State has no record of any convictions under the law.

Stringent securities laws in other States, coupled with the enactment of the Federal Securities and Exchange Act drove the swindlers and racketeers from other States into Texas to continue their depredations upon the unsuspecting and unwary investing public. The term "investing public" in this case means widows, school teachers, doctors, laborers and people of limited means. There is no way of computing the amount of money that has been mulcted from Texans in the past few years by these high binders and fast talking wonder-boys.

The Texas Securities Act was drawn to stop—insofar as is humanly possible the practise of the suave, smooth-talking gentlemen who take the life-savings of reliable and substantial citizens and leave in lieu thereof prettily printed certificates, the total value of which in too many cases is absolutely nothing. The Department of State has a record of one deal alone in which swindlers took $300,000 out of one Texas city alone! This is not an isolated case. One of the first deals investigated by this Department and which convinced the Legislature and other officials that the passage of the law was imperative involved a known sum of $500,000—and no telling how much more. This money was taken from people who could ill afford to lose it. It is gone forever. One of the victims on this particular deal is an old lady 80 years of age, dependent and blind. This money should have been used in the legitimate channels of Texas business. It went, instead, to high-binders and gypsters and in the wake of their depredations hardships, heartaches and suffering followed.

The Secretary of State has on file letters and other data that would make the eyes of the average citizen bulge with surprise. Letters pouring out the very souls of those who have been tricked and defrauded by sellers of fraudulent securities.

The gyper has been protected in more ways than one. In the first place the "sucker" seldom "holers." He doesn't want the world to know that he has "been taken in." He keeps quiet. In the second place criminal prosecution could only take place under the swindling and fraud statutes. It is no secret that under these highly technical statutes convictions are hard to obtain.

Heretofore the securities racketeers have been operating just one step ahead of the sheriff.

Under the new Texas Securities Act it is hoped that one step's difference may be removed.

It is up to Texas people to spread the word that Texas has a Securities Act—one with teeth in it—and that Texans will no longer tolerate the continuance of racketeering by this unscrupulous group of parasites that have for so long practiced their leechery in this State.

WOMAN

Solomon is ascribed the wisest man; but there is one thing in which his judgment was warped—woman. He said she could find a man among a thousand, but a woman he could not find.

Solomon was king and rich. He had a haven of a thousand women; no wonder! All were abjectly subservient to him and he could not pick one that was virtuous.

Solomon's estimate is not the estimate of today. Women have liberty of education and free will; they have developed the finest type of humanity. In fact they have lifted the standard above the low sensual standard to the true standard of the image of the Creator. If Solomon had lived in this day he would have changed his estimate; he could find quite a few women in a thousand full of virtue.

There are two classes of women. The low class and the high class. The low class are on the animal order—well groomed, painted, pretty, but with a low standard of morals. Such a woman is wonderfully portrayed by Solomon in Proverbs, chapter seven.

The high class woman is the one who has a high standard of morals, who is modest and virtuous and religious. Such are the women that make good mothers and sisters and daughters. Such a woman, a man can love with all his heart and will risk his life to defend.

A true woman will not lightly esteem the love of a true man. There is something subtle, divine about true love. When married "they twain shall be one flesh" is the eternal law and a scientific fact. Prostitution of that love brings confusion and a low class of human beings.

"They two shall be one," is God's law. The third person man or woman, who comes between is the serpent that destroy Eden.

Dear young woman, be true and virtuous and holy and resist temptation.

The eyes of men look to you as to a star of destiny. If you fall, great is the fall, and you wreck not only your own soul but the lives of those around you. There is nothing more beautiful than character: there is no Eden on earth like that found in the Christian home.

Repealists Claim Tax Loss Reaches Millions

Austin, Texas, Aug. 6.—Liquor dealers in Texas in 1934 paid the Federal government $2,024,981.46, or more money than was collected legally by the Federal government in each of 22 states in the union where the sale of liquor had been legalized, it was announced here by R. Emmett Morse, chairman of the Texas Repeal Forces, upon receipt of figures from Washington.

"While the federal government was collecting this vast sum," Mr. Morse pointed out, "in dry Texas, the state government of Texas collected nothing. If Texas had collected its just tax on the $75,000,000 worth of liquor which the senatorial investigation committee found to have been sold in dry Texas in 1934, the state would not now be facing a $12,000,000 deficit for 1936, which deficit was anticipated in a report made recently by the automatic tax board composed of Governor Allred, Comptroller George H. Sheppard and State Treasurer Chas. Lockhart.

"This deficit might be even greater than that anticipated if special sessions are necessary before the end of the fiscal year, and unless a source of important revenue is found.

"It is no wild guess to say that Texas would collect between $6,000,000 and $10,000,000 in revenues from the taxation of liquor which is being sold openly in Texas today. Revenues produced in a number of states which have legalized liquor are quoted as follows:

"Michigan with a million fewer people than Texas, realized $7,132,388.11; Ohio, 800,000 more people than Texas, netted $6,242,686.79; Pennsylvania, with 4,000,000 more people than Texas, $14,793,951.76;

Virginia, with less than half Texas' population $2,581,453.27; California, about the same as Texas, $1,486,230.16; Massachusetts, New Jersey, Missouri and Wisconsin, all smaller than Texas, $3,052,796.10 and $4,459,782.85 and $2,525.93 and $4,463,393.98.

"I have given much study to the revenue possibilities offered by legalization and taxation of the uncontrolled liquor traffic now bleeding the state. Texas will rob herself of millions, a balanced budget and an opportunity for greatly needed reform unless it votes repeal on August 24.

ABSENTEE VOTING CHANGES WILL BE IN EFFECT AT AUGUST ELECTION

A new state law, passed by the last session of the Legislature, will govern absentee voting in the August 24 election on seven constitutional amendments.

The changes in the absentee voting laws were made to correct scandals which were brought to light in some Texas counties in last year's elections.

According to provision of the new law, persons who, because of sickness or disability, will be unable to appear at the polls and vote will be permitted to cast absentee votes, as well as persons who expect to be absent on the day of the election.

Must Have Certificate

However, before a person will be permitted to cast an absentee ballot on account of sickness or disability, he must have a certificate of a physician, certifying his disability, and must have a sworn application of his request.

For voting in person, the applicant must appear before the county clerk or deputy not more than 15 nor less than three days prior to the election, and must make application for the ballot in writing.

The application must be accompanied by 24 cents for mailing and handling costs.

The ballot must be marked in the presence of the county clerk or deputy without aid or advice from anyone.

Early Voting Urged

Applications by letter must be made before a notary not more than 20 nor less than three days prior to the election. The notary then must mail the application, accompanied by the 24 cents, to the clerk, who will mail back to the notary the ballot. The person voting must mark his ballot in the presence of the notary and the notary will mail the marked ballot to the clerk.

In all cases, if the absentee is not known to the clerk or the notary before whom he marks his ballot, he must present an affidavit signed by two or more reputable persons identifying him. Early absentee voting is urged as the procedure under the new law requires more time than previously. All forms for applications are available at the office of the county clerk.

Leader Readers Express Appreciation By Paying Their Good Money For It

The greatest joy that comes to a newspaper family is to come to know that the efforts of those working on that publication are appreciated. It has always been the policy of the Leader family to work both for and with the good citizens of Clarendon's trade territory. No section or community is shown preference. Through prosperity and hardships, we have done our dead level best to neighbor with our folks—the finest people on earth. If we did not think so, we would move.

Here is a partial list of recent renewal and new subscriptions paid in—the kind of folks we regard as our best friends, and the kind we appreciate enough to do our best in giving them the best weekly possible:

assistant. It is said that another teacher may become necessary.

McKnight opens September 2 with Arnold White as principal. Mrs. Arnold White and Miss Nova Cook are the assistants. Miss Cook has taught successfully two terms there and is among the most popular teachers of the young ladies.

Midway, one of the outstanding schools of the rural list, will have Jimmie Millsap as principal this term. He is said to have made fine records of several years at Chamberlain, near Pampa, and at Goldston. His assistant will be Miss Mattie Rhodes. September 2 sees the beginning of the term.

Miss Laverne Pettit has been elected to the faculty of the Ash-tola school to succeed Miss Pauline Shelton who became Mrs. Dunlap recently.

Miss Eunice Johnson, who made a fine record at Chamberlain and Windy Valley, has resigned after election to the Chamberlain faculty this term. She will attend school the coming winter. Her place will be taken by Mrs. Claudine Smallwood Todd, who is soon to become the wife of the principal.

Rural schools of the cotton belt begin the term early due to the intermission during the cotton gathering season. No data could be obtained on the other rural schools of the county at this time.

ONLY HANGING—

curious visitors had come to witness the unusual event. A mob of over a thousand people crowded against the scaffold the next morning to get a glimpse of the notorious killer.

Just before the noose was fitted around his neck, Miller was allowed to speak to the crowd. He gave a calm talk, warning the youths to avoid crime and vice, and giving his forgiveness to those who were responsible for his execution. He quoted from the Bible a few verses he had learned during his stay in jail, and then he thanked the officers and preachers for their kindness.

Mr. Patman placed the black cap (made by the sheriff himself, after a number of Clarendon women refused to touch the sinister garment) over Miller's head. The prisoner repeated prayers after the priest, and with the words, "Into thy hands I commend my spirit" on his lips, the trap was sprung.

Mr. Patman is now an insurance salesman, and in recalling this story he says it was the most unpleasant duty he had to fill while serving as a public officer.

O. C. HILL DIES SATURDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Highly Respected Man Of Affairs Of This Section 35 Years

Mr. Hill was a native of Datesville, Mo. where he was born November 12, 1853. He came with the family to Dallas county at the age of thirteen.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Ruthledge December 14, 1876 and moved to Wise county which became the family home until moving to Donley county in 1900.

Ten children were born to this union, seven boys and three girls. Besides his widow, three boys and two girls survive their father. The sons are O. E. of McLean; D. B. of Lockney; W. T. of Lefors. The daughters are Mrs. J. T. Bain of Hedley and Mrs. W. M. Parker of Clarendon.

All of his children were present at his death except Mrs. Parker. About forty grandchildren, and a number of great grandchildren survive.

At the age of thirty-seven he joined the Baptist church, and just a few days before his death, he spoke of his abiding faith in Christ.

As one of the pioneer settlers in this section, he braved the hardships that naturally come to those who mark new paths for others to follow.

He departed this life Saturday, August 3, 1935 after having been practically an invalid for several months. He, with his good wife, had made his home in Clarendon for several years, where he passed his last days.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist church at Hedley Sunday afternoon by Revs. L. J. Crawford, M. E. Wells, E. M. Grigsby, and Dick Holcomb. Flower girls were selected from his grandchildren.

Following the service at the church, the Masons took charge of the burial service at the Rowe cemetery.

Active pallbearers were P. C. Johnson, C. E. Johnson, J. K. Caldwell, J. H. Hugg, Nolie Simmons and George Tutt.

Mr. Hill was a good citizen, honest and honorable and held the respect and esteem of hosts of friends. To his good wife in her lonely hours, the Leader family joins with her innumerable friends in expressing sincerest sympathy.

Mr. Rieger of the Rieger dry-goods company was in Dallas the first of the week purchasing stock for his firm.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smith are guests of their daughter, Mrs. T. M. Cleek and family of Panhandle this week.

JOE M. WARREN DIES FRIDAY AT FT. WORTH HOME

Long a Resident of Donley County Aiding Much In Her Development

Few men had a more abiding faith in mankind, or in his own ability to overcome great odds, than Joe M. Warren. Local citizens will recall the kindly old gentleman who smiled through adversity the same as success. He never lost faith in himself. He believed in his fellow man and trusted him to the fullest extent.

Coming to Clarendon with his family about 1911, Mr. Warren engaged in the newspaper business by purchasing the Clarendon News from the Beville interests, A. M. Beville, Sr., and his sons Harwood and Allan. The first issue of the paper under the Beville management on November 3, 1909 announced a change in the name of the paper from the "Chronicle" to the "Clarendon News."

Mr. Warren continued the News under the new name until July 1, 1917 when he disposed of the News to Sam Braswell. He then engaged in the realty business for a number of years until his oil interests over the state necessitated a more central point of residency, and Ft. Worth became the family home.

At the time of his death, which came suddenly from heart trouble as he entered his home about one p. m. Friday, he was deeply interested in the success of his latest venture. This venture was a well-nearing the pay at Hesse, about nine miles east of Commanche.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist church in Ft. Worth at 10 a. m. Monday by Rev. Shore, and interment made in the Rose Hill cemetery. Hon. Harwood Beville, a lifelong friend, was one of the pallbearers.

Surviving members of his family are his widow, Mrs. J. M. Warren of Ft. Worth; two daughters, Miss Lucile Warren and Mrs. Leta Beck, Ft. Worth; a son, Harry Warren of Kilgore. Mrs. A. G. Easterwood of Ft. Worth is a sister and the last surviving member of his father's family.

"Joe M." as he was known to a state-wide acquaintance, was 68 years of age at his passing. No man ever was more active in business pursuits or more loyal to his friends than he. To the bereaved, the hundreds of friends in the old home county of Donley, extend sympathy in the loss of a loyal husband, loving father and a friend to all mankind.

Mrs. T. R. Moreman of Hedley visited her sister, Mrs. Eula Cox Friday.

Dr. A. L. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson and other members of his family visited in the T. M. Pyle home over the week end. The doctor formerly was located in Hall county years ago, but resides in Knoxville, Tennessee now.

Hall County Old Settlers To Celebrate on Friday

More than 700 old settlers who have resided in Hall county continuously for 25 years or more, are expected to register at Library Park at Memphis Friday.

Allen Grundy, attorney of Memphis, will deliver the address of welcome and Mrs. Roy Guthrie will make the response.

A basket lunch at noon, band concerts in the afternoon and an old-fashioned square dance at night will be included on the program.

The only incident of more than ordinary interest was when Mr. Thompson fell into the rushing waters of the creek and lost his hat. Our informant did not state the size of the fish that caused the commotion, but it is presumed to have been a young whale since Mr. Thompson did not pull it in sight.

Beans, cornbread and fish, fish and more fish were the chief delicacies demanded by the fishermen, Mr. Burton states. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas and children and Fra Merchant and Meredith Gentry were in the fishing camp a portion of the time.

Claude Legionists Holding Annual Rodeo Today

Members of the Claude camp of the Legion are staging their big annual rodeo today and tomorrow. Bronc riding, bulldogging, roping and other western sports is drawing a big crowd.

More than $500 is being given in prizes for skill in each entry event. This is said to be the biggest prize money offered for several years.

Miss Danie Chunn of Cisco is here for the summer. She is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. R. A. Chunn and uncle Dick Chunn at present.

Thief is Choicy About What Goes on His Dogs

During hot weather some folks have a lot of trouble with their feet. The 'tootsie-wootsies' sometimes referred to as "dogs" have a yearning for fresh air, soap and water. The owner often mistakes this call of nature and terms it 'athlete's foot.'

Evidently just such a person broke into the Kirtly stock of shop made boots Friday night. The only evidence left was a worn out pair of shoes. At the same time, the thief had scattered new boots over the shop in a mad effort to appease the desires of his 'dogs' for something that really fit to the skin with no danger of pain in the wearing.

Commercial Teacher - Coach Talks Football

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kerby came up from Denton the last of the week remaining for a few days. They expect to visit down state before school opening as Mr. Kerby has been in school all summer. He is principal of the commercial department of the public schools.

While here, Mr. Kerby sought a line-up on the lighting of the football field. As coach of the team last term, he did some effective training which the football fans really appreciate.
