New Plan Begun For Old Age Assistance

The State Department of Public Welfare today began operation of a reorganized plan of old age assistance as outlined in a new rule book issued by Johnny Winters, executive director. The 65 page manual, which replaces one of 377 pages, makes its principal changes in the rules for judging need.

The welfare director explained that "the amount of a grant is determined by itemizing and totaling the cost of necessities and deducting income. The deficit thus found determines the assistance granted. Therefore, rules governing the consideration of each necessity and kind of resource have been made.

"We have found, for instance," Winters continued, "that the amount allowed for incidentals varies widely and since this is a semi-essential item we are placing a $2 per month limit on allowances to meet this need so that everyone will receive equal treatment. The incidental allowance has included such items as bus fare, small church contributions, tobacco, stamps, stationery, newspapers, etc.

"We have found a wide variance in the amount allowed for the purchase of glasses and teeth. Hereafter we feel that we cannot grant more than $15 for the purchase of glasses or $40 for teeth. The welfare department has been following the practice of providing money to enable aged persons to pay their prorata share of rent and utilities when living in the home of a son or daughter. While this department is prohibited by law from inquiring into the ability of a child to support, we have found that such allowances are often not used for payment of rent. In the future no money will be granted for rent unless the aged person's presence in the home actually increases the cost of rent."

Heretofore, the welfare department under specified circumstances did not count as a resource certain personal property, real property, and insurance. The new policies exempt only a burial reserve of $150, either in cash, liquidable property, or insurance. All real and personal property in addition to a homestead is now considered in determining eligibility. The law requires that actual contributions being made by relatives be taken into account and full weight will now be given to such support in determining need.

"The new rules are intended to do just two things: to insure that those in greatest need get the most money and that the program be administered on a uniform basis," Winters explained. He said that the welfare department "is going to more carefully examine the needs and resources of each recipient so that we can meet the basic needs of all recipients on a more uniform basis within our limits." He predicted that it will take at least a year to reexamine the rolls and get everyone under the revised plan.

CUBAN YOUTHS FIGHT FOR UNITED NATIONS

Five hundred Cuban youths are fighting in the armies of the United Nations, according to General Benitez Valdes, special Cuban delegate to Mexico. The president of the Mexican Congress reported 10,000 Mexicans are fighting in the U. S. Army.

United War Chest of Texas Receives Good News

"The United War Chest of Texas has received good news from Tokio," George A. Butler, president and campaign chairman, announced today. "Through the War Prisoner Aid committee of the YMCA, shipments of supplies have reached our prisoners of war in camps in Japan, Korea, Formosa and other Japanese occupied territory."

War Prisoners Aid has advised the United War Chest of Texas that a committee of Swiss and Swedes has announced that it has been successful in the distribution of books, musical instruments, indoor games, athletic equipment, garden seeds and tools and everything necessary for private devotion for worship services for Roman Catholics, Protestants and Jews in the Japanese concentration camps. Additional equipment has been purchased and is being forwarded to Japan on the S. S. Gripsholm.

"The work of this one of our agencies has been even more successful in Germany where workers within the camps are in regular contact with our boys in at least twenty-four different places. Recent pictures of American prisoners of war in Germany taken by representatives of War Prisoners Aid show our men apparently adequately clothed and well-fed, and there have been some indications that packages from home make it possible for many American prisoners of war in Germany to enjoy a better diet than German civilians," Mr. Butler said.

The pictures recently received in the United States were taken at Stalag III-B, a German prison camp southeast of Berlin where the largest group of captured Americans has been interned.

Stalag III-B is very big and located in a pine forest according to a report received by the National War Fund. The prison camp consists of huts and is like a little town, with long, straight concrete streets. Between the huts are so many open spaces that air and sunshine can reach all of them. The camp formerly was occupied by Serbian, Russian and French prisoners, some of whom may still be there.

"Not all prisoners of war camps would show conditions as favorable as those at Stalag III-B," Dr. Tracy Strong, world director of War Prisoners Aid, reports. "Conditions of prison camps vary according to their location, age, and the personnel in charge. In dealing with American prisoners, it is the policy of the German Government to live up to the letter and spirit of the Geneva Convention relative to the humane treatment of prisoners of war."

CINCHONA SEEDS TO LATIN AMERICA

Since that day when two million Cinchona seeds were snatched from under the noses of the Japanese after the fall of Bataan, in the Philippines, more than 110,000 seedlings grown from these seeds have been shipped to Peru, Ecuador, El Salvador, and Nicaragua to start the quinine industry for the western hemisphere. When the Japs closed in on Bataan, an American Army Colonel packed two million seeds in two small cans and set out for Australia in a Flying Fortress. Two Jap planes attacked, but the Fortress reached Port Darwin after a dark with one of its motors silenced. From here he took the seeds to General MacArthur's headquarters, thence by boat to San Francisco and by army plane to Washington where he turned them over to Department of Agriculture.

BRAZIL COLLECTS SCRAP RUBBER

A recent scrap rubber campaign in Brazil brought in approximately 6,613,000 pounds of rubber for the United Nations war effort.

HUMAN ANIMAL.
A man will grow at both ends until he has practically reached middle life, then he quits growing except in the middle.

SWAN SONG.
Of all the melancholy days, The saddest, far, are these; Too warm for his "longies", And too cold for BVD's.

ALARM.
Some of the husbands of women working in the war plants are wondering if they will substitute the monkey wrench for the rolling pin after the duration.

OLDEST TEXAS STORY.
Speaking of the sudden changes in Texas weather, no story beats the following "old timer" that has been in circulation over forty years:
A cowpuncher suddenly separated himself from his saddle board a bucking horse and headed over a high bank. Holy smoke! The old boy was headed for the creek bottom right when a drouth came along and dried up the water. The cowpuncher was resigned to death by butting cobbles, but a cloudburst upstream brought down a deluge of water just as the old boy landed. The cowhand felt thankful and came up for air. Just as his nose came above the water surface, a norther struck and froze his face in the ice with little more than his nose sticking out. He had to stay there two days before the other fellows on the ranch found him and chopped him out.

CUT DUTCH HORSE MEAT RATION
Nazi occupation authorities in Holland have even cut the Dutch horse meat ration one-third. The weekly meat ration coupons, which used to be good for 150 grams of horse meat now are good for only 100 grams, or about two ounces, according to a report published in a German language daily in Holland.

TRANSPORTATION.
The stuff a fellow gets out of a bottle often lands him in the jug.

OLD STORY AGAIN.
Then there was the Scotchman who found a package of cough drops on the street and made his wife sleep on the porch so that she would catch a cold.

SUGGESTION.
Ministers who have difficulty in commanding the attention of members of their congregations should install the clock on the wall behind the pulpit.

SUGGESTION.
When a woman goes to his office and tells the doctor that she feels tired and all worn out, among the first things he does is to ask: "Let me see your tongue!"

COMFORT.
When a tragic break comes, life seems empty; but little by little you realize that separations do not affect relationships; they survive every experience including death. Peace dwells in your heart amid hardships because you are sure that love will persist and that reunion here or hereafter is certain.

RETROSPECTION.
An old timer recently asked me why I never attended any of the T-Anchor reunions. It's all right to have reunions for those who like to attend. But as for me, sitting around a bunch at a place like that and thinking about all those who are not there, it doesn't add a lot of cheer. Then they get to talking about the fellows who have gone on, and the incidents of their lives here on the Plains, and down in the roughs where we had such tough times rounding up. Well, it's all right for some of them, but the writer is just too sentimental to get in a crowd and talk that way. Talking to one man or woman at a time is well enough. That is often done. The last Will Rogers picture I saw made me wish so much for the old days when he wore the light tweed suit and his hat pulled down over one eye. I knew he had gone to the "last roundup," and it was a sad hour for one who had known him from the time he worked for Lite Knight and other ranchmen in the Amarillo country, a section that covers all the Panhandle proper. You fellows go on to your reunions, I just can't take it.

ODT Simplifies Record-Keeping For Commercial Motor Vehicles

The Office of Defense Transportation today simplified record-keeping required for commercial motor vehicles.

This action was taken, the ODT said, to bring record requirements for truck, bus and taxicab operators into conformity with the ODT's new selective reporting procedure.

Under the new record-keeping requirements, only that information need be kept which is specifically requested on the ODT's new operating report form.

Only six simple questions are asked about truck operations on the new report form. These questions on the single form supercede the previously required quarterly operation reports and monthly idle vehicle reports.

Similarly, the new records replace those records which were required under the old quarterly operation and monthly idle report procedure.

The purpose of the new procedures for operation record-keeping and reporting is to enable the ODT to keep an accurate, up-to-date record of current motor vehicle operations.

By having this information available, the ODT said, better assistance can be given to the motor transportation industry in securing adequate tires, motor fuel, parts, vehicles, manpower and other essentials.

The ODT believes that the simplified procedures will eliminate many of the problems which have arisen in the preparation and filing of reports while at the same time enabling the ODT to keep better informed of the industry's operating problems.

Questions by motor carriers concerning the individual application of the new record and reporting procedures should be taken up with their ODT Motor Transport District Offices.

The ODT's action was contained in Administrative Order ODT 9. The text of the order may be obtained from the Office of Information, Office of Defense Transportation, Washington, D. C.

That the shoe rationing plan is flexible has been pointed out by the provision that shoe stamps are interchangeable among members of a family living in the same household. This sets up a family pool of stamps that can be budgeted within the family group.

Increased production of cast iron skillets, kettles, dutch ovens, and flat irons for household, institution, commercial, and other uses is permitted under a recent revision of WPB Order L-30-C.

Hit Nazis From Sea

FIFTEEN-INCH SHELLS from the guns of the battleship "Warspite," lying off the beaches of Salerno, helped blast a path for the advancing American Fifth Army and accompanying British troops. This picture shows British sailors hoisting one of these massive shells aboard the "Warspite"—veteran of Jutland in World War I and of Narvik, Crete and Cape Matapan in this war.

Post-War Highway Building

To meet minimum traffic requirements on state highways, state routes through cities and important farm-to-market roads will require the expenditure of approximately $542,250,177 in the immediate post-war period, the Texas Good Roads Association has determined after a survey of the state, and much work remains to be done to insure an adequate start toward the completion of such a program.

The Association has noted a heavy tone of optimism on the part of citizens, generally, with respect to the post-war highway program which is not justified by the facts. Persons interested in specific road projects are taking for granted that if the post-war highway program goes through as now planned, that every pressing road and traffic need in the state will be fully met. This very definitely is not the case.

There is pending before Congress a proposal to authorize the expenditure of one billion dollars in each of the three years immediately following the end of the war for highway, road and street construction. Texas' share of this authorization would be approximately $60,000,000 annually which when matched by state funds on a three to one basis, would provide an annual program of only $80,000,000.

Against this proposed program, there is an immediate and pressing need for the expenditure of $542,250,177 to meet traffic needs on a minimum basis. A beginning to satisfy these needs cannot, and will not, be made until after the war is ended and, depending on its length, traffic needs may be much greater than this by the end of the war as a result of the damage caused by the heavy war loads being moved over the highways and the inability of public agencies, due to war restrictions, to give traffic-ways normal maintenance attention. Highway repairs should be made as soon as possible after damage occurs since the pounding of traffic aggravates the defect.

Should the plan now pending before the Congress be approved, Texas will see much highway construction undertaken after the war but this should not be taken to mean that every needed road project in the state will be constructed, and those charged with responsibility for formulating the program will be required to use careful judgment in selecting those projects to be constructed. Should the proposed post-war program be not approved and the funds not made available on the scale outlined, then Texas traffic will suffer severely because of the scarcity of state resources to carry on a major program.

Use of airmail in the U. S. has increased almost 70 percent over a year ago.

Your Used Shoes Are Valuable

By Helen L. Montgomery
OPA Information Division
Do you have some good wearable shoes in the clothes closet left over from last season? Then, you had better dig them out, give them a good polishing and let the shoe man make a few minor repairs. Many civilians are beginning to realize that shoes can be made to last another season when necessary.

Production of shoes continues high but as you can imagine with men in the armed forces coming close to eleven and one-half million, their requirements for shoes are heavy. Lend-lease takes shoes, too, and the War Production Board, which allocates the number of shoes for civilians and others, has said that in the next six months we can have only 25 million pairs of shoes a month instead of the 35 million pairs a month we have had in the past six months.

Your shoe stamp No. 18 instead of expiring October 31 will last indefinitely and will overlap Stamp No. 1 on the airplane page in Book III, which will last until May 1, 1944. This means that approximately two pairs of shoes a

GLIMPSES INTO THE DRAWING ROOM
 By Frances Phelps
 With our T square, board, angles, and instruments (and a worn artgum clenched in our fist), we begin our work in the Engineering Drawing class. What is the purpose of this course? To quote from a Texas institution, widely recognized for its engineering department: "For the engineers, a thorough training in Engineering Drawing is essential. This course has as its main object: training to develop ability to make neat, complete drawings for all engineering purposes; development of ability to read drawings, diagrams and charts, and the development of the power of visualizing and exact thinking."
 Our class is comparatively small, there being only seven enrolled, but perhaps we are working with more zest than any former class. The larger percent of students have military science in mind for the duration of the war and some kind of engineering for a post-war future. If you are wondering why Mechanical Drawing is needed in military science, let's take a look at some of the work of the student in R.O.T.C. training. Drawing courses are absolutely essential to teach the principles of map making, military sketching, the study of military roads, and bridge construction.
 As for a civilian's use of this drawing, who could be more important to plant production than the draftsman who makes the blueprint for each particular part in a tank or plane?

The class meets three times weekly here in C.J.C., for two hour periods, and each student is allowed to choose another period most convenient for him. This makes a total of seven hours each week. Upon completion of this course, which consists of 32 plates, three credit hours are given at mid-term. But the time or credit is not the important thing in this course. We each have a goal in mind, a goal which cannot be attained without the study of these simple fundamentals.

THE FLASHLIGHT VS. THE MATCH
 (Fire Prevention Theme)
 By Bert Barns
 One day I was walking by a gym. I saw a large poster which said:
THE GREAT TIGER FLASHLIGHT vs. THE MARVEL OF THE YEARS CHAMP STRIKE - ANYWHERE MATCH OCT. 7
 I decided I would see that fight. The night came for the fight. There was a great crowd. After a very trying ten minutes, I got into the building. The fight would start in about three minutes.
 Dong! The fight was on. In the first round the flashlight took an awful beating. In the second he was getting tired of being pushed around. The third round was the most exciting of the others. The flashlight came into the ring like a mad bull. The first thing we knew the flashlight had knocked the match against a ring post. His head hit first and strike! The match was aflame. The women screamed; everyone ran for the exits. A doctor was called, and the match was pronounced dead.
 About a week later I was passing the same gym, and I saw another poster which read:
THE GREAT (Champ) TIGER FLASHLIGHT vs. SENOR MALPASS MATCH OCT. 20
 I decided I wanted to talk to the champ so I went into the gym, and asked for him. He was in his dressing room. I went in and talked to him.

 He said, "I shall fight every match until they are all beaten if these humans don't stop using them for seeing in a closet full of clothes, checking to see if they have a gas leak, looking for things in attics, and many other uses, for I am of far better use."
 I said that I agreed with him. He gave me two passes to his next fight.
 I said, "Good luck and I know you'll win."
 I am going to do what the flashlight wants us to do, USE HIM MORE.
 Remember flashlight batteries are being used in the war effort, so use your flashlight very, carefully and only when you need it.

LIBRARY NEWS
 Mrs. White announced today that she is expecting some new books for the library soon. One of these books is "Thunderhead." "Thunderhead" was written by Mary O' Hara and is the sequel to "My Friend Flicka," the book that everyone was clamoring to read a few months ago. In "Thunderhead" Mary O' Hara continues the story of the McLaughlin family with the same freshness and excitement as she started in "My Friend Flicka." However, "Thunderhead" is taken from a more grownup view. It deals with the financial troubles at the Goose Bar Ranch, and Reno plans for making Flicka's first colt a racehorse to end these troubles. However, when Thunderhead is born, everyone is very much disappointed, but in the end he proves himself worthy of the faith that Ken has shown in him.

HALLOWEEN
 Comes Hallowe'en next Friday night, most of us will have completed our list of mischievous things to do. First on this trouble-making list, over which we have racked our brains for the past week, are plans of some ways or means to scare certain people out of their wits. Then we have brought to completion our collection of tin cans, soap, and, if we're that lucky, a skeleton from somewhere, even if it is that of a cow or horse.
 In the day of our forefathers, young people didn't dare make adventures of this sort, because Hallowe'en was a time when witches and ghosts were most likely to wander abroad. Of course, we don't have to be afraid of being "got" by a ghost, but we'd better be careful, because "the law" will get us if we don't watch out!

A HINT TO THE WISE
 Boys, next week is Backward Week. Remember?? Well then, don't forget, and take a girl to the dance at the gym Friday night. The dance is being sponsored by the Senior Class of 1944. Boys, you might bring two girls!

Pressure Cooker Rationing

Now that increased number of pressure cookers are on the market, it's possible for individuals to obtain them as well as groups. Rationing regulations recently have been relaxed in this respect, the War Food Administration has notified the Texas A&M College Extension Service.

Even though group use is not a prime requisite for eligibility to purchase, individuals who buy new cookers should be patriotic enough to share them with their neighbors, suggests Mildred Horton, Extension vice director and state agent.

She explains that while Texas has received an additional allotment, there still aren't nearly enough to go around.

Persons who need pressure cookers should apply directly to their County Farm Rationing Committees for a certificate of eligibility. Or they may ask that previously filed applications be reviewed under the new ruling. On a state level, rationing of pressure cookers is handled by the Texas USDA War Board.

Applicants need no longer locate a cooker for sale before the application to purchase is approved.

Commenting on the war-time models of pressure cookers, Miss Horton cautions that these need special care, otherwise the cooker may be damaged and food may be lost. Follow the manufacturer's directions on the care of these cookers.

Donley County Leader, $2 a year

(Continued from Front page) the previous year. The number is increasing each month. For the same period, 135,488 cases of ex-service men and their families were served in chapters. Because of increased discharges of men with disabilities this number is increasing rapidly.

Red Cross staffs in camps, hospitals and offices of the Veterans Administrations served a total of 2,505,189 servicemen during the year ending June 30, 1943, an increase of 288%.

With an Army and Navy of over ten million men, one of the chief services of Red Cross Home Service is helping in adjustment of allotments and government allowances to the families of servicemen. No country in the world is caring for the families of its soldiers as ours is doing.

As soon as a man is accepted for service, and before his induction into the Army, he should take the necessary steps for the security of his family. He should fill out the application form, which is sometimes given him when he is accepted. If not, it can be secured from Home Service. Then he should secure Birth Certificates for children and a copy of his marriage Certificate, if married. For Class A dependents, wife and children, his contribution is compulsory, and the above proofs are sufficient. For Class B dependents, parents, brothers and sisters or any others, proof of relationship and dependency must be made by the affidavits of two disinterested people.

If all of this is attended to before a man's induction, it saves much time and trouble. And
