TRAFFIC DRIVING PROVES AMAZING "LIFT" in SINCLAIR H-C GASOLINE say

Dealers, Motorists. For quicker pick-ups and more miles per gallon you need a gasoline with extra power. In engineering terms, a single gallon of Sinclair H-C Gasoline has the potential energy to lift 99 million pounds one foot in the air—the equivalent of lifting a 75-ton whale 660 feet.

What this amazing "lift" means in extra power for your car has been shown in automobile road tests. These tests proved H-C gives 15% to 20% more smooth power and from 1 to 3 more miles per gallon.

Just ask your nearby Sinclair dealer about the amazing "lift"—the extra power—in Sinclair H-C Gasoline.

A Message To You

Mr. Farmer and Mr. Ranchman:

It is about the time of year when you market your year's commodities of cotton, corn, feed, wool and mohair. When you market your cotton, wool and mohair, are you going to sell your cotton and mohair to the buyer for 1 cent or 2 cent and a half per pound less than the market price just because the buyer is a personal friend of yours? Of course you are not.

Then when you buy your lumber, why jeopardize your buying power and pay more by letting personal friendships intervene?

Saturday, September 14, the May chapter of Future Farmers sponsored their first community fair. The fair was a real success and brought the largest crowd of people to May that any attraction has in the last ten or fifteen years. Everybody has expressed their surprise at the number of people attending and the fine exhibits shown and at the large number shown.

The fair was held in the Bettis building and was divided into three sections, the Future Farmers, the Farmers Association and the Women's Demonstration club.

The Future Farmers exhibits attracted considerable attention because of their attractive display, good quality and the large amount shown there being over 250 individual exhibits in their section. The exhibits consisted of field crops, vegetables and fruits.

The Farmers Association of May also had some very excellent exhibits, especially the fruits consisting mainly of apples and pears, and the field crops made up mostly of grain sorghums and corn.

The ladies exhibits consisted of individual exhibits in canned fruits and vegetables, fancy needle work of all kinds and individual booths. County Agent Mr. C. W. Lehmburg assisted by Mr. W. R. Chambers and Burette Kenk judged the Future Farmers booth and the farmers exhibits and expressed their surprise at the large amount of exhibits and their excellent quality.

Miss Mary Ruth Reaves, the Home Economics teacher of May, and Mrs. G. G. Goss, judged the ladies' exhibits.

The Future Farmers had an ice cream and cold drink stand for the benefit of the chapter and the Home Economics girls served sandwiches for their department.

Saturday night the program consisted of music and a speech by Mr. Bill Chambers on the value of a fair and then turned the platform over to Mr. Lehmburg who spoke on the soil erosion project for the county.

The chapter is now preparing a general exhibits booth and an educational booth for the Rising Star fair which is to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The chapter is already making plans to sponsor a fair next year and everybody is expressing their willingness to help make it a bigger and better fair next year.

The Pioneers Are Coming

Ample evidence that interest in the early days of Brown County is not dead is presented in the response which has greeted the announcement that Brownwood would hold a "Pioneers' Day" October 15, especially honoring those who came to this county in 1876 or before that year.

Many veteran residents of the county have registered their intention of being on hand to take part in the festivities of the occasion and to assist in the formation of a permanent Pioneers Organization for this county.

While all Texas benefited through the type of people who moved in and settled this country a century ago, and those who followed to establish and build the foundation for the prosperous cities and counties that now make up the State, probably few counties were blessed with a group of pioneers equal in hardihood and spirit to those who came to Brown County.

As history is written, the fifty-nine years that separate 1876 and 1935 is a short period. And yet, it takes little power of observation to look about and see the remarkable development of those fifty-nine years.

Obviously, a little more of that enthusiasm and determination which marked the work of the pioneers could well be used today, when problems not so difficult, perhaps, but just as important are being faced in the progress of the city and county.

It is entirely fitting that the Pioneers are to be honored by this special day, and it is to be hoped that the event will become an annual one.

And, while one group is arranging details of the entertainment for the Pioneers of Brown County, others are at work on a special entertainment program for the traveling salesmen who make Brownwood their home.

Salesmen, Too

The group of salesmen forms one of the biggest assets Brownwood possesses. Every day they travel through this broad territory, working at their tasks, but at the same time boosting Brownwood, and doing their part in establishing this as the trading center for this section of Texas.

Few people have as great an opportunity to serve their home towns as do the traveling salesmen. Most of us in our daily work see only our neighbors, who are or ought to be just as enthusiastic about Brownwood as we are. But the salesman daily calls on many people each week who are not so familiar with Brownwood and its advantages and so they have even a greater opportunity to present our merits to their friends and customers.

Brownwood has been a long time showing its appreciation of this important group of good-will ambassadors, but now that it is scheduled, we hope the event will be a memorable one.

A few days ago a bank clerk in Fort Worth went into Federal court and asked to be permitted to plead guilty of embezzlement of about $7,000 of the bank's money.

You Can't Win

He had lost this amount, and some of his own money, betting on the horse races, he said. Not on Texas races, but he had "invested" the bank's money with bookies on "hot tips" they had applied him on races far away, and about which he knew nothing.

Of course, he lost. The case is an isolated one, to be sure, and not many people, no matter what the temptation for quick profits, will bet $7,000 of some one else's money. But the incident is indicative of the evils which have been introduced into Texas through legalized betting on the horse races.

When the Legislature last was in session efforts were made to outlaw horse racing in Texas. Proponents of the pari-mutuel betting pointed out, no doubt with sincerity and no doubt with a certain degree of accuracy, that the greatest evil came not from Texas horse racing, but from bookie operations in the major Texas cities, which is an outright violation of the law.

Partly because enforcement of the bookie laws was promised, pari-mutuel betting was permitted to remain in Texas. If they are sincere in their statements, owners of Texas race tracks and their friends should clean out the bookies. Otherwise race track betting is sure to be outlawed in Texas, and the sooner the better.

It is refreshing to report that at least one state has managed to avoid the fallacy that the way to create prosperity is to spend billions on credit - credit which must be based on all the savings and wealth, all the property, all the industries, all the earnings and other resources of the commonwealth.

That state is Nebraska, which is described by W. E. Christensen in an article in the New York Herald-Tribune entitled "Sanity on the Prairies."

Nebraska has a new $10,000,000 capitol - without a penny of debt standing against it.

Nebraska has a splendid highway system - without a single outstanding bond.

Nebraska's state tax, which provides the funds for supporting the state university, four normal schools and all other state activities, has averaged less than two mills per year during the last ten years.

Nebraska has no state income tax, no sales tax, no nuisance taxes. The state hasn't one cent of bonded indebtedness. Total bonded debt of its 93 counties, in July, 1934, was but $6,247,000 - of which a single county, Douglas, accounted for $4,500,000, leaving the small sum of $1,700,000 apportioned among the 92 remaining county governments.

This sounds like a taxpayers' Utopia, which it is. It hasn't been achieved through magic. Here, according to Mr. Christensen, is the four-sided plan Nebraska follows:

1. Pay as you go; issue no state bonds and few county bonds. 2. Reject new forms of taxation. 3. Watch public spending and the spenders. 4. Remember that even in these changing times the functions of local government are the same as they were 15 years ago and should cost no more.

COMING LEISURE

Not long ago a young graduate of two years declared that now her college days were over, life held little for her, as she did not need to work, and she was tired of play.

Here she was, talented, with a wealth of leisure time on her hands and had made of it only an idling time. Instead of a growing time, "One's leisure is time to invest," I told her. "It is not time to spend. Time spent is gone, time invested is saved." Leisure is not "unoccupied time" - the dictionary notwithstanding! What an irretrievable mistake for countless generations to have been brought up on.

Too long have we been training our children to think and plan their lives in terms of dollars rather than time investment. Money spent can always be re-earned. Time should be budgeted like money now is budgeted. Children should be taught to expect the largest possible dividends from each day of 24 hours.

Parents lose an opportunity for giving their children an early life lesson on successful living when they fail to keep on training them in their play time, as we hear so often "run away and play." Play time in childhood becomes leisure in adulthood.

Leisure in America is coming; leisure that in the past has been a gift to the rich only will soon be part of an average man's day. In order to spread the work of the world to more heads and hands, some folks will be forced to work less hours so that others may work at all, for every one who has to live ought to have a chance to work. Work is a blessed privilege, so is leisure. Only the man who appreciates work can fully appreciate leisure, and I am beginning to think, can appreciate life to its fullest.

The true test of an educated person is that he can enjoy himself when alone and not have to pay another to amuse him. Life holds no boredom for the man who can recreate his soul in his leisure time. Life's enrichments come to us not through the use of our money, but through the use of our time. Since the American goal has been riches rather than enrichment, what are we going to do with this coming leisure?

PEDESTRIANISM IS NO JOKE

(Industrial News-Review) The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters points out that of the 36,000 fatalities resulting from automobile accidents last year, 16,000 were pedestrians.

Two elements of this situation are important. One is the statistical truth that by far the greater number of pedestrians involved in accidents are doing things which they should not do. The other is that a pedestrian may be in the right, but that doesn't reduce the disadvantages at which he will always be until collision-proof armor is invented.

Ironically the pedestrian has become standard material for the jokesmiths and cartoonists just as the hen-pecked husband or the taxpayer. No doubt we shall have a new version of the old weeze, making it the pedestrian, not the chicken, who crosses the road to get to the other side.

The premise of many jokes, that the pedestrian is a persecuted animal, does not hold water. The pedestrian is safe from any automobile if he observes a few commands:

- 1. Cross only at intersections. 2. Cross with the traffic signal whenever there is one. 3. Keep children off the street. 4. On rural highways walk to the left facing oncoming traffic. 5. Avoid walking from behind parked cars. 6. Look!

These were so named because their main sales were originally old clothes and rags, but today they are jumble sales. A tour of the markets is still considered one of the tourist thrills in Paris.

Nobody's Business

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

The legislature, with Gov. Allred's message recommending regulation of liquor traffic as the first major problem to be attacked, plunged this week, after brief organization routine, into this troublesome question. Members had for their consideration, upon the opening of the session, two bills, representing probably the two extremes of viewpoint. Neither, will be adopted, of course, but the final measure will be a series of compromises.

Current opinion is that the law adopted will eliminate the old-fashioned custom of standing at the bar with one foot on the decorative brass rail. Constitutional ban on the "open saloon" will eliminate standup drinking. Probably liquor will be sold by the drink only in hotels, cafes and other bona fide food-serving establishments. A rather high license fee, designed to raise substantial revenue, while still not permitting bootleggers to thrive in competition, likely will be another provision.

Next for consideration will be a method of compensating fee officers, to vititalize the constitutional amendment abolishing the fee system. And third on the governor's program is the old age pension amendment. This matter contains more political possibilities and likewise more legislative possibilities than all the others combined. To finance the pensions, the whole question of state revenue and taxation will be opened up and sales tax advocates are preparing to push through their plan. They will meet opposition from Governor Allred, who has said: "There are plenty of other ways to raise revenue." He will no doubt urge some of the 17 new sources of taxation he proposed at the regular session, practically all of which failed of passage. Legislators here report more interest among the home folks in old-age pensions than in any other subject before the solons.

President Roosevelt has given American business a "breathing spell" nationally; and following the same line of thought, Gov. Allred has virtually assured the state's billion-dollar oil industry a legislative breathing spell so far as the special session is concerned. Up to last Saturday, the governor declared he had received not a single request to submit oil legislation of any kind, and he plainly said he "was giving no consideration" to submitting new oil laws. His statement answered rumors and propaganda circulated by those with whom the wish is father to the thought. The governor takes the attitude that the railroad commission and the attorney general are doing a reasonably good job of controlling oil production, and East Texas oil men attending the last prorator hearing here let it be known plainly they are tired of being made a political football every few months by those whose interests are served through keeping a continual state of real or threatened chaos in the oil business.

The Oil States Compact, written by Governor Allred and Col. E. O. Thompson, rail commission chairman, adopted by most oil producing states and ratified by congress, went into effect last week at the Oklahoma City meeting. It declares for "conservation of oil to prevent physical waste" and specifically declares against "stabilization, or price fixing and regimentation to promote monopoly." It marked virtually complete victory for Allred and Thompson in their long fight against federal bureaucratic control of Texas oil. The legislature, when it gets into the revenue question, may seek to increase oil taxes but so far as the governor is concerned, he probably will send up no new oil legislation this session.

Texas are about to witness a substantial blow at depression that will put many thousands of workers on payrolls immediately, as the state highway department prepares to let highway improvement contracts on the largest scale ever recorded for a similar period of time. Nearly $38,000,000 of work is scheduled to be contracted between September 24 and December 15. Regulations call for completion of this great program by July 1 next year. It took from May, when the $38,000,000 state and federal funds was made available, until now to get the program started. Four months of the best construction weather have passed. But from now on it is promised Texas will see some real job-giving activity.

Gov. Allred, contrary to reports published throughout the state, is not a candidate for appointment to the federal judgeship of the Northern Texas district. His friends say he has endorsed another candidate. The governor himself told this correspondent: "I am not in any sense an applicant for the post."

Attorney General Bill McCraw will sponsor a service training project under the National Work Administration. Eight hundred and fifty young men and women 16 to 25 will be placed in public offices throughout the state, paid small wages by the government. They will not replace regular workers. They will probably acquire a fair working knowledge of practical politics and naturally be in close

COTTON SALES MUST BE RECORDED, AGENT WARNS ALL GROWERS

The importance of cotton grow-ers keeping careful records of all cotton sold was stressed by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg in a state-ment this week. New laws, recent-ly passed, make accurate records absolutely necessary.

"Cotton producers who may wish to sell their cotton immediately, and whose crop is already being harvested and ginned for sale, should obtain and keep sales slips from buyers, so as to be sure to have adequate sales records. On such records the government will be able to make adjustments and loans under the new payment plan," Mr. Lehmburg said.

"Producers who desire to market their crops are advised to com-plete a careful record which will include a description of the cot-ton sold, the date of sale and the names of the parties including the tenants, who have an interest in the cotton sold. It is especially im-portant that producers should obtain from the buyers a memoran-dum of sale. These should contain the date of sale and the gross weight of bale or bales sold.

"Inasmuch as the county agent's office has not yet received the proper blanks for adjustment pay-ments the following record of sales should be kept by the producer: (a) name and address of produc-er and purchaser; (b) number of bales; (c) gross weight, including bagging and ties; (d) price per pound paid producer; (e) value of cotton; (f) amount of charges, if any; (g) amount paid producer; (h) signature of purchaser.

"With this complete information we can fill out the blanks when they arrive in our office," Mr. Lehmburg concluded.

Pyroil actually enabled a car to run 745 miles with no oil in the crank-case! Ask for the complete story.

Think of the power of plunging pistons... sufficient to move tons of rock up steep mountain grades. Yet the efficiency of pistons depends on the adequacy of the combustion chamber. Carbon-stuck valves, leaking rings, weaken the piston stroke and make motors lag and balk. PYROIL increases power in motors because it seals rings and keeps valves carbon-free. Simply added to regular gas and oil. Supplies constant lubrication to the entire motor head where withering heat kills ordinary lubricants. Actually builds lubrication into the metal. PYROIL deposits a patent-processed, heat-, wear- and dilution-proof element on all metal parts, building and constantly maintaining an actual self-lubricating surface. Bearings run freer, cooler. Power, endurance, are marvelously improved. Easily sees many times its small cost. Ask at your filling station or garage for further details. Try PYROIL today.
