ITALIAN BARON HERE CONDUCTING S. A. DRIVE

OPERATIC SINGER OF WIDE FAME IS IN CHARGE OF SALVATION ARMY DRIVE FOR NEW MEXICO AND THE PANHANDLE

Baron James V. Auriemma is here this week in the interest of the Salvation Army drive for funds for the coming year. Baron Auriemma has a local committee that is co-operating with him in securing the funds that are needed. The drive is moving forward with good success, and a liberal offering from this county seems assured. Baron Auriemma was present at the Tuesday luncheon, and has since appeared at the College and the Public schools where he has received warm receptions.

BARON J. V. AURIEMMA

The drive has all the more interest since the personality of the Baron is altogether pleasing; and his wonderful voice is a big drawing card. He is an operatic star and has sung before the kings of England and of Italy. During the war he was a big worker with the doughboys, and at one time he had a big chorus composed of fifteen hundred doughboys. Denied by a physical technicality of bearing arms, he sang his way to the hearts of thousands of the boys. So constant was his smiles and his genial disposition that the boys nicknamed him "Happy Jim."

During the time that the Baron was enjoying leading the large choir of doughboys, they with him were appearing before the king of Italy. They were singing some of their favorite ditties, when the king asked if they could sing something in Italian. They responded by singing Garibaldi's Hymn. Signor Auriemma says that the American Doughboys pronounced the words as if they had been reared in Florence instead of Boston, Chicago or San Francisco.

In England Baron Auriemma sang before King George a beautiful song by Metcalf, "Absent," which he sang to thousands of the doughboys in the hospitals of France, and the King was moved to tears. The singer then sang "K-K-K-Katy," and the king again smiled in violent laughter.

The luncheonites had the privilege of attending the short concert given Tuesday at noon by the Baron. He began by singing "Garden of My Heart." Everyone was charmed by the rich, vibrant baritone notes; but in ending the song when he rose to the pitch that is considered only for tenors, the audience was thrilled. He then in the next short sketch gave a demonstration of his voice that shows how it was possible for him to play a part in Caruso's stead; not content with staying on the deep notes of the baritone, he rose to a pitch that is unattainable by many tenor singers; for so wonderful is his voice that he is able to go from low F to high A flat with ease; and as the high, clear tenor notes rang forth with wonderful sweetness, the hearers realized why it is that the performer has attained his stellar position in the operatic world.

Wherever he has been his concerts have been attended by audiences that filled the auditorium to overflowing.

REV. GRISWOLD PASTOR OF METHODIST CHURCH

NEW PASTOR HAS HAD WIDE EXPERIENCE IN CHURCH AFFAIRS, AND COMES WITH RECORD OF UNIFORM SUCCESS

Rev. J. T. Griswold comes to the Methodist Church in this city as the new pastor following his appointment at the Northwest Texas Conference at Amarillo last week. Rev. Griswold holds his D. D. from Southern University of which institution he is a graduate, and has filled the largest pulpits in this conference with uniform success. He was formerly president of Stamford College, and has, as well, been presiding elder a number of times.

Dr. Griswold comes here from Lubbock where he filled the pulpit of the Methodist Church for three years, and he was removed over the protests of his congregation.

He will not be able to fill his pulpit here Sunday as he has some work to complete at his former charge.

The local church is to be congratulated on the class of pastor that she is secured; and the year will, no doubt, be a fine one from every standpoint.

CLARENDON TO PANHANDLE HIGHWAY UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The work of building the highway from Clarendon to Pampa is now going on, and it is the hope of those supervising the work to have the road completed within ninety days. The bridge over North Fork is in good shape, and the bridge over McLellan Creek will be finished by December the first.

The new highway will furnish a far better means of travel from this to the cities on the north plains, and will mean much to both sections of the country. Especially interested are many of Clarendon's citizens as many of them have large land holdings in that part of the Panhandle.

REV. HENSON RETURNS AS PRESIDING ELDER

Rev. John R. Henson, presiding elder of the Clarendon District for the past two years, was returned here in the same capacity by appointment at the session of the Annual Conference just closed in Amarillo. Rev. Henson is well acquainted with the conditions in this district, and his return will be good news to his many friends.

LICENSE NECESSARY TO HUNT OUTSIDE COUNTY

GAMON OF PANHANDLE IS DEPUTY STATE GAME COMMISSIONER FOR TEXAS, PANHANDLE. FARMERS PROTECTED.

It is not necessary to have a hunting license if you stay within the boundaries of your own county; but if you decide to cross the county lines, then you had better pay the two dollars for the license, else you may be called upon to pay $25 and costs.

Bendford D. Gamon, of Panhandle, is the Deputy State Game Commissioner for the Panhandle of Texas; and he has been working this part of the state appointing deputies in each county. It is said that no one in Donley would accept the appointment on account of the large bond that is required.

A clause of the law that will be of interest to the farmers is one whereby they will be allowed to protect their crops, that is, by obtaining a special permit. If the farmer makes affidavit to the effect that the ducks, cranes, or geese are eating up his crop, he may then obtain a special permit to kill the game.

He donated his time to the Salvation Army during his summer vacation and prior to the operatic season. His drives have been uniformly successful, and he will no doubt realize his goal in Clarendon.

HEALTH CONFERENCE MEETS UNUSUAL SUCCESS

MORE THAN SIXTY CHILDREN ARE EXAMINED DURING THE TIME OF MEETING FRIDAY AND SATURDAY. TO BE ANNUAL AFFAIR

The Donley County Health Conference conducted here at the Health Center Friday and Saturday by Miss Ella Yeager, Public Health Nurse for Donley, assisted by Miss Jean Pinkney of the University of Texas, and by the local physicians was successful and the authorities are pleased with the results. The Conference was for the benefit of the children up to six years of age; each child was measured and weighed and passed on to the physician who looked over the child for any possible defects, and as well as for defects, the mother was told whether the child was undernourished.

The parents are urged to keep a record of the child, so that comparisons may be made from year to year as to the child's development. Miss Pinkney is connected with the extension department of the University of Texas, and her work in the Health Conference was very efficient.

Miss Yeager was also greatly assisted by the committees and the local physicians who co-operated in every way possible to make the conference the success that it was.

It is the plan of the Public Health Nurses of the Panhandle to make this an annual affair, and the distribution of the record books made for keeping records of each child for four consecutive years will aid materially in enlarging the scope of usefulness of the conference in the future.

Like conferences in other cities of the Panhandle have met with the same success; and the thorough co-operation that is secured between the nurses and the school authorities in the examination of the children bids fair to make this one of the greatest boons to the child health of this state.

FIRST LEAGUE SERVICE IS AN INSPIRING ONE

Sunday evening's service, which was the first one since the reorganization of the Epworth League for the year, was of the type that foretells fine services for the year. Everyone on the program gave his part in a manner that showed thought and study, and everyone of the audience entered heartily into the spirit of the service. The program was under the leadership of Miss Clara Leach, and the subject was on "Accounting to God for Our Time."

The various talks about the use of our time, with emphasis on the fact that it is as bad to waste our time as it is to use it out and out wrongly. Following the interesting talks, quotations from great authors and statesmen were given which bore on the use of our time.

Following the program that was outlined, the president and the superintendents of the various departments outlined the work that they hoped to accomplish this year by the help of the members. Miss Betts, the president, gave a short outline of the greater victories that the League should realize by the end of the year. The various department superintendents then gave short outlines of their work.

Following the close of the service, there was a short get-acquainted service. Everyone is pleased with the way that the work of the League is moving forward, and the first service seems to guarantee the prediction that the coming year will be the best in the history of the local chapter of the League. One hundred and twenty-five were present.

COLLEGE HOME COMING TO BE HELD NOV. 18

FACULTY PLAN TO MAKE THE HOMECOMING AN ANNUAL AFFAIR. MANY OLD STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED TO BE HERE.

Clarendon College, beginning this year, will have a big homecoming for this year on the eighteenth of November, on which date the Bulldogs will play the Abilene Christian College on the local grounds. All of the old students will be urged to return on that date, and plans are being matured for the royal entertainment of those coming back then. College Hill will for once be turned over to the students, and the day will be theirs entirely.

The game will A. C. C. on the date of the homecoming is expected to be one of the best of the season; but the Bulldogs have high hopes of being the victors. Last year A. C. C. had four fine players who had made records for themselves in the army; and with the stellar performance of those men, the team of that school defeated the Bulldogs. But none of that quartet returned to Abilene this year, and the Bulldogs feel that, although that school is a better college, the chances are fine for tuning the defeat this year.

Clarendon this year, perhaps, has the most wonderful backfield of her history. It is composed of players of state wide reputation, and has proved its superiority thus far. The only schedule game thus far has been with Canyon Normal, and the Bulldogs defeated the visitors to the score of 9-0. This morning the team left for Edmond, Oklahoma where they will meet the Central Oklahoma State Normal. This is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season, as that team held the Sooners to a small score.

It is a great day with the universities when the homecoming day arrives, for then as all the children of the alma mater return, old and new students mingle on the same footing. Clarendon College, during its quarter of a century of existence has turned out many products who are making names for themselves in the world today; and these return once more on the eighteenth of November. Hereafter, it will be a great occasion to have an effort will be made to have the homecoming each Thanksgiving, but as the Bulldogs will on that date this year be playing the Canyon Normal on the latter's grounds, the earlier date is used.

Besides the game that has been played with Canyon Normal the complete schedule is:

- October 14—C. C. vs Edmond, Okla State Normal at Edmond.
- October 21—C. C. vs Decatur Baptist College at Decatur.
- October 28—C. C. vs Wayland College at Clarendon.
- November 4—Open date.
- November 11—C. C. vs Wayland College at Plainview.
- November 18—C. C. vs Abilene Christian College at Clarendon.
- November 24—C. C. vs Canyon State Normal at Canyon.

BARON AURIEMMA GETS WARM OVATION AT C. C.

Baron Auriemma, in his effort to line up all of the organizations of the city for the Salvation Army drive, carried the campaign to the student body of Clarendon College yesterday morning when he sang at the chapel services. His songs were gladly heard and he received hearty applause at the close of each. Student representatives were appointed to receive the donations to the cause, and the free will offering is a good one thus far, and will not be closed until the end of the week.

Signor Auriemma began his program, after having made several prefatory remarks, by singing "Temple of Heart" from "Il Trovatore."

Following the prolonged applause, he sang several songs of the ballad and popular class today. When he called upon the students to help in the singing of a popular song today, the response was so hearty that the Baron expressed his appreciation by declaring that if he were in Clarendon two months, he would have a grand opera troupe. Signor Auriemma was highly pleased with the accompaniments played by Miss Mattie Eva Lane; and asked that part of the praise be given her.

BIG APPROPRIATIONS FOR CLARENDON COLLEGE

CONFERENCE MAKES TWICE AS LARGE ALLOWANCE TO LOCAL COLLEGE AS HERETOFORE, THUS MEETING THE STRESS

Upon the adoption of the report of the Board of Education, the Northwest Texas Conference appropriated $8,000 to be used in furthering the work of Clarendon College at the Saturday night session. Dr. G. S. Slover was re-elected president and the board of trustees was named. Not only was the appropriation received for the furthering of the work of the institution, but an appropriation was made for the summer school.

The various Methodist institutions of the state received good appropriations but the major part comes to the local college as it is most dependent upon this conference. The amount received is more than twice that ever received before, as the largest appropriations heretofore had hardly equalled four thousand dollars. Not only will the money assure the forwarding of the work of the institution in all fields but the appropriation of $150 for the summer school gives the summer school a new source of income that assures a better summer session than ever before. Heretofore the summer session has been dependent on the funds received in the way of tuition; and, for this reason, the state institutions had an advantage over the local school; but the appropriation to the summer school with the other plans that are being made assures the biggest summer school in the history of the college.

Besides the re-election of President Slover, Prof. Justin Anderson was reappointed in the local school.

The board of trustees for the year includes: John R. Henson, J. T. Griswold, S. L. Culwell, J. W. Story, G. W. Shearer, R. A. Clements, Hon. J. H. Moore, Hon. T. F. Turner, W. B. Quigley, G. A. F. Parker, Hon. W. D. Berry, W. T. Hayter, W. A. Sorrelle, C. N. N. Ferguson, M. E. Hawkins, H. F. Brooks, D. B. Doak, A. L. Moore, W. P. Garvin, J. L. Bain, J. W. Gordon, E. M. Ozier, W. D. Van Eaton, H. W. Taylor, F. L. Bourland.

CAR BURNS FOLLOWING WRECK

Saturday evening Roy Byrd and Joe Adams of Lelia Lake while driving along the road failed to see the crossing between here and Lelia in time, and the result was that they were unable to turn the car in time, and it ran out into a field and overturned. The occupants were pretty badly skinned up, although not seriously. Following the wreck, the car caught fire and completely burned up.

FEASIBLE PLANS FOR POTATO PLANT DISCUSSED

There was a mass meeting of the business men and other citizens this morning at ten thirty o'clock at which time the plans for the potato curing plant at this city were discussed. Briefly stated the facts are these: The Dixie Curing Plant and Storage Company of Dallas, who launched the movement, have fallen down on their contract. Although the plant is ready for operation, they now refuse to furnish funds to buy the potatoes. The farmers who have planted the potatoes are now ready, and, on account of the early winter, the potatoes must be cured immediately; for it seems impossible to save the potatoes either in or on top of the ground. At this time some fifteen thousand bushels of potatoes, worth a dollar a bushel, stand this crop in the money crop of the growers. It was decided to send Capt. Simpson and O. C. Watson to Dallas tonight to see the Dixie people about their relinquishing their entire claims to the plant to the local stockholders.

As long as the original company continues to hold a part in the property, it seems that there will be no co-operation, and it is expected that the information as to the success of the trip will be forthcoming within thirty-six hours at the most.

Many potato raisers also stockholders have lost faith in the entire project, and are preparing to house their own potatoes for the winter. Let it be said that C. R. Taylor should not be blamed for the difficulty. He was only the engineer who constructed the plant; and much of the feeling that is stirred up against him he does not deserve. Mr. Taylor has received no salary for his work on the plant, and stands to lose more than any other individual connected with the plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Strickland, Mrs. Gussie Strickland and Miss Ethel Rutherford visited in Amarillo Sunday.

Joe M. Warren was a business visitor to Memphis this week.

TUESDAY LUNCHEONITES ENJOY CONCERT

BARON AURIEMMA IS GUEST OF HONOR AT LUNCHEON AND HIS CONCERT IS RECEIVED WITH GREAT FAVOR BY SMALL AUDIENCE.

The Luncheonites Tuesday were favored with one of the finest musical programs to which it has ever been the pleasure of a Clarendon audience to listen. Following the luncheon which was served at the White House, Sam Braswell introduced the guest of honor, Baron Auriemma. The Baron responded by expressing his great pleasure at being entertained at luncheon; and by stating the purpose of his visit to Clarendon, that is, to help in raising money for the Salvation Army. Following this President Long appointed a committee to assist in the drive.

When the appointments had been made, those present adjourned to The Pastime Theatre where they were treated to a concert of rare talent. The singing of a popular song. He was accompanied by Mrs. Edith B. Cameron with her usual understanding manner.

No definite arrangements were made earlier in the week in regard to the luncheon, but, nevertheless, on the short notice there was a fair attendance.

Thomas J. Allen returned Saturday evening to his home in this city from a week's business trip spent at Memphis and Estelline.

As soon as all the materials have arrived, Clarendon is to see the construction of another fine brick building, this one to be constructed by T. M. Little right south of his present fine store building on Kearney Street. The new building will be one hundred and fifteen feet long, and twenty-five wide. The new building is to be on the same order as the present store building of Mr. Little, and will have fine display windows in the front. Other cities of the Panhandle are also enjoying building eras. Among the cities where new buildings are under construction or soon will be are Plainview, Dalhart and Tulla.

Many business buildings and residences have been completed in Clarendon this summer, despite all the talk of hard times. The completion of the upstairs of the Dick Allen building continues, and will soon be modeled into a first class hotel. Many improvements and additions to residences have been completed within the last few weeks.

The building which Mr. Little is soon to have under construction will be a two story one. The lower story will be used by Strickland-Story, while the upper will be used by Little and Company for the ladies' ready-to-wear department.

The brick used will be the same as the kind used in the construction of the present store building of Little and Company, and the show windows will be on the same order as those in that building, except that they will be twelve feet deep, whereas those in the present building are ten feet in depth. The building will be heated by steam throughout.

The work will be rushed to completion when the full materials arrive, which it is thought will be within the next few days. It is the hope of Mr. Little to have the building ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

The building in Plainview that occupies chief interest is the new City Auditorium that will soon be under construction. It is to be constructed at the corner of Broadway and 9th Streets, and will be 150x140 feet, the length extending along Broadway. The cost of the construction will be $60,000 and the bonds have already been voted. Last week the City Council took action on the matter, and, as well as deciding the location, decided that the work should commence in the near future, and be hurried to an early completion. A business building 25x80 feet is also being completed at this time.

Dalhart is having a school building completed at this time at a cost of $110,000. The new building will be modern in every way, and will have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 750. Also there is a study hall 25x50 feet, and a gymnasium 30x68 feet. These features with the twenty class rooms will make the building one of the most up-to-date in the state of Texas. There is a pressing need for the building, and it will be completed at the earliest possible moment.

Just at this time comes the news, also, that Tulla on Saturday voted $125,000 worth of forty year six per cent bonds for the erection of a high school building. The city is badly in need of the new structure, and the citizens there hope to see an early completion. The majority was almost two to one.

Other exchanges contain accounts of other buildings that are projected, and the construction of them will probably be started within the next few weeks.

COLD SPELL STRIKES HERE THURSDAY EVE

The first really cold spell of the year struck Clarendon Thursday evening. On Friday morning as everyone went to business, many overcoats were to be seen. The temperature on Friday evening fell to the freezing point, but little damage was done. Communications received from the Government Weather Bureau predicted frost yesterday morning, but the cold wave seems to have veered to one side of the Panhandle.

Business is getting better every day and even those who have been moping and wearing long faces for the past months are now walking with a springy step and their faces carry a cheery look as they go about their daily tasks. The job of "tending to one's own business" can't hardly be overdone and nothing pays a better dividend. Business is good—let's make it better.

During the past year Clarendon has had the best corps of protestant pastors of any other city in the Panhandle. Every pastor in our city has ranked high in the ministerial service of his church and in the recent change in the Methodist pastorate, the average is in no whit diminished. Clarendon is a church town and it is to her credit that she has attracted men of such high order of intellect, character and leadership.

The annual drive for the Salvation Army is progressing here this week under the direction of Baron Jas. V. Auriemma, an honest-to-goodness baron of Sunny Italy. He is a great singer and has dedicated his talents to the great cause of the Salvation Army and is serving them for his expenses only. Clarendon people will be ready as always to give the Salvation Army a nice sum for their work in the coming year.

Giant fan and Yankee fan have been alternately occupying the lowly valley of gloom during the past week. The two Yankee victories that marked the opening of the world's series stung the Giant machine into action and it has been anybody's game since. In this matter, as in other matters, newspaper men have their preference, and this editor is still conjuring all the South Sea Nymphs for a Giant victory.

When the "Texan," the new hotel at Fort Worth was opened last week seven hundred and fifty Bibles were placed in as many rooms by the local chapter of The Gideons. Every hotel of pretensions has a Bible in every guest room, and the Gideons, who foster this nation-wide supply of Bibles will never know the great good they have accomplished. Instances are known where men and women have gone to their rooms in city hotels with the intention of committing suicide, have opened the little Gideon Bible, become interested in some consoling passage contained in almost every chapter and have been literally snatched from the jaws of self-inflicted death. Many a lonely heart has been cheered by the presence of the Bible in the hotel room and only at the last Great Day will this mighty record of good be written.

Our city has had four or five fires in the past few weeks, and at this season when "fire prevention" propaganda is being spread all over the state, it is time that Clarendon people gave more attention to the matter and still more attention to the water supply, extension of fire mains and kindred questions that may mean just any day the defense of the entire city. Everybody knows that if fire should break out during a high wind, with no more water facilities than we now have that only a few hours would see Clarendon prostrate in ashes. Insurance is all right and has its place in modern business but it should be kept in mind that every honest fire causes loss to the owner. The risk Clarendon property owners run is too great when compared to the cost of providing the city with more water, overhead storage, fire main extensions, etc. Fire is a pitiless waster.

THE BATTLE IS ON

For some years there has been a rising tide of awakening to business principles among the country newspaper men of the nation, more especially those of Texas. The space grafter has been ferreted out and shown up until he has become the target of hundreds of publishers who for years had been so grossly imposed upon.

One of the most unfair impositions that Texas publishers have been called on to bear has been the "free plate" graft of the several Texas fairs, with especial emphasis upon the State Fair of Texas at Dallas. This institution has been specifically named because it is the only great state fair in the nation that makes profit every year and receives no subsidy from the state or private sources. Since it has been so consistently a money-maker, there is no justification for its niggardly policy regarding advertising with the country press of Texas, when it pays regular rates and is a valued customer of the large dailies of the state.

For years the officials of the State Fair at Dallas have paid regular rates for their "boiler plate" cast up by the Western Newspaper Union of that city, and have paid regular postal rates in distributing said plate among the country papers of Texas, to be carried in their columns "complimentary." For this "insignificant" service on the part of the country press, they have been mailed a free pass to the gates of the fair, accompanied by a mushy letter on how much the country publishers have done toward the development of Texas and how the State Fair of Texas owes its great growth and continued success to the unselfish work of the newspaper men of the state. According to the prominence of the newspaper in question it has been informed that "we have appropriated $5.00, $7.50 or $10.00 for advertising in your valued paper"—a milkop thrown to poor boobies, who don't know enough to take care of their own business.

Last fall during the Fair, the Press Day program was such a frost that many of the publishers who had felt the injustice for a number of years began to discuss efficient ways and means to remedy the situation. General condemnation for the fair management was heard on every side and so strong had become the sentiment that in spite of a letter from an official of the Fair, there was a resolution at the McAllen press convention adopted specifically naming the State Fair and other organizations of the state who have been consistently guilty of "space grafting" for many years.

The State Fair is a wonderful institution, and is managed wisely except in the publicity department, and one thing should not be lost sight of—some of the very men responsible for the short policy of the Fair are newspaper men and supply men of Dallas. Texas editors are getting wise to this angle of the matter and soon the line will be tautly drawn. Those who claim to be of us and for us will have to show the true colors.

This year the fair management didn't insist so strongly upon the "free plate" idea, and those papers who stood to their guns according to the action of the State Press Association DID NOT receive the milkop advertising appropriation as in the past. The News is thankful that the Fair has taken this step for it will prove to the faint hearted publishers the true appraisal the Fair holds for the average country weekly publisher of Texas—that he can be bought, bound and held for $5.00, $7.50 or $10.00 per year—and a pass.

The battle is on. Texas publishers must stand upon the firm rock of business principles, high commercial ethics, and go on to yet greater strength and efficiency, or else lose the battle to this strong advocate of "free plate graft," and remain the sport and plaything of every smooth-tongued institutional and political "space grafter" in and out of Texas.

Stand to your guns, like Editor Warwick of the Randall County News does in the following editorial and victory is certainly ours:

It seems that in order to obtain $7.50 worth of advertising from the Dallas State Fair, the country newspaper is expected to do about $50 worth of free advertising in the way of printing all the plate matter the Dallas institution can manufacture. The News refused to do this, so did not receive the $7.50 in advertising from the Fair. Possibly other newspapers of this section received the same treatment from the fair. The state fair seems to think that all country newspapers exist in an age fifty years ago, with real linotypes ready to set real news quickly. They seem to think that newspapers are glad to get hold of a lot of poor printing plates "just to fill up space." The fair officials forget that the country newspaper man has just about as much brains to run his own business as does the management of the state fair to put on this exposition. A very, very few newspapers in this section gobbled up all the free plate the fair sent them this year, and published the whole smear. The fair paid real American money to get this stuff put into plate matter. They prefer to spend their money with Dallas plate makers rather than spend it with the country newspapers who have machinery equipped to handle all of the news which is "news" to the people of their counties.

KICK OUT THE GROUCH

If a man went up and down the road scattering thistle seed or seed of any foul kind as far as he could away out into the fields on each side, how long would it be before we would get after him, hale him before the justice of the peace and send him him out of the country? He would be a bad man and the sooner we got rid of him the better for the good of our farms.

What is that but just what the man with a sour face and a never ending hard luck story is doing all the time? You have him in your community. How you dread to see him coming. If there is anything you can do in the back lot, you take a bee line for that country the minute the little chap sings out, "Old Man Grouch is coming; headed straight for our house."

Because you know what will follow the minute he reaches you. No matter how busy you are or how bad you hate to hear his tale of woe you know you must listen. You know the story by heart. President an old fool. Not a decent man anywhere doing business for the state, local or national government. We are all going to the poorhouse. Frosts and dry weather and grubs and worms and grasshoppers and caterpillars—why the world is full of them, and what's the use of trying to live anyhow?

When you think he has about run down, this man with a big grouch shifts his cud and begins all over again. And on and on and on, till your righteous soul is vexed sore within you. Then what do you do? Wouldn't it be a wise thing to do just about what you would do with the sower of thistle seed? Is it not, as a matter of fact, worse to scatter the seeds of faultfinding and complaint than the foulest seeds ever thrown out on the wind? For my own part, I had rather a boy of mine, or a girl either, should be tackled by a wildcat than be compelled to listen to a sour, grumpy, grouch man. Because, although the boy might have some big scratches in his skin when he got through with the wildcat, they would heal up some day all right; but rakes up and down his soul would be there to stay.

So kick out the grouch and be sure that you do not have to apply the toe of your boot to the seat of your own breeches.—Edgar L. Vincent.

We have been glad to welcome at some of our recent services some of the brethren of the other churches of the city, during the absence of their pastors. We appreciate these brotherly visits and the prayerful hearings of the word that are manifested.

We had services last Sunday morning and evening that were well attended. The power of the services will come by the prayer of the membership and the close cooperation of each person. We have faith in the thought that we are going on. Progress is the touchstone of the church's existence.

No Chance For Fire

When a house burns from unknown causes Faulty Electric Wiring is given the blame. But it is a very rare thing for a fire to start from the electric wiring. If your house is wired properly and protected by fuse plugs there is absolutely no danger of fire from electric causes.

FUSE PLUGS ARE PUT IN YOUR HOUSE TO PROTECT YOU FROM FIRE. They cost little. Never under any circumstances put pennies or coins behind them. If you do and we find them we may have to discontinue your service to protect your neighbor. If the fire marshal finds them he may have your insurance canceled. If the insurance adjuster finds them should your house burn he may refuse to pay the claim.

If your lights go out don't try to fix them. Call us. Our services are free. We want to make everything about our service perfect.

WORK The edict that man should eat his bread in the sweat of his face was blessing, not a curse. There is no satisfaction comparable to that of accomplishment. Ask any important man what he has enjoyed most in his life. He will tell you it was work. Listen to the conversation of men either work accomplished or work they plan to do. If your work does not interest you, either something is the matter with the work, or something is the matter with you. If you would not gladly lay aside everything else to get something done that relates to your occupation in life you had better look around for another occupation. Steinmetz, the electrical engineer who has just found a means of transmitting a million volts of electricity over a wire, got more pleasure out of that achievement than anything he ever has done. In the development of many inventions, Thomas A. Edison has found the highest pleasure of his life.—Exchange.	MAY MANUFACTURE VINEGAR FROM TEXAS MELONS A sample of watermelon vinegar that is now being very successfully manufactured in the state of Georgia was recently exhibited to the members of the Chamber of Commerce at Weatherford, by Mr. Leo Hartnett. He advanced the idea that a vinegar factory could be operated in Weatherford to good advantage, using the surplus melons which do not find a ready sale on the local market. He states that watermelon vinegar is made practically by the same process as apple vinegar, ripened heart of the melon being used. It is placed in vats and the juice squeezed out and run through other vats containing shaving of birch or other kinds of wood coming out at the bottom pure 48 grain vinegar. Mr. Hartnett further stated that watermelon vinegar could be manufactured cheaper than apple vinegar and of just as good or better quality and he proposed that the business men of Weatherford as well as melon growers in the county, investigate the merits of the product with view of eventually establishing a melon vinegar plant in that city.—Plains Farmer Stockman.	GOOD ROADS PAY TAXES A load of cotton bumped its way slowly into Vernon yesterday, drawn by four large horses. The owner liver about ten miles in the country. Three hours were required for bringing his cotton to town, and the return trip consumed practically as much. The incident is typical and may be seen with variation in detail on almost any of the roads coming into Vernon. Figure up, if you can, how much time the farmer might save if he had a hard surface on which to haul. At least half the time might be saved—two hours each trip. Then if there is other work to be done, one of the teams might be left at home. Is it any wonder, when we face these conditions day after day, that many of our farmers are saying that they lose enough on each trip to town to pay their tax on a road bond issue for an entire year.—Vernon Record. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fierce returned Sunday morning to their home in Bartlesville, Oklahoma after a visit here with Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Whipple.

It Doesn't Pay

It doesn't pay to tackle the heels of a mule, fool with a loaded shot gun, or try to sweep back the sea with a broom. These are all foolhardy undertakings.

It DOES pay to have a bank account. You may be as busy as a mosquito in a bed room, but if you do not save some of your earnings you have wasted a lot of effort. Successful men learn this lesson early in life and open an account at the bank and put their money to work.

TEXAS BOYS BACK FROM TRIP TO EUROPE—VISIT ENGLISH LIVE-STOCK SHOW

The three Texas farm boys who were sent to the annual agricultural and live-stock show of the Royal Agricultural Society of England in July by the Southeastern Fair Association as a prize for winning the livestock judging competition held for boys' agricultural club members at the fair in Atlanta, Ga., last fall, have returned after a trip rich in experience and inspiration.

The successful boys were Gilbert Wieting of Marlin, Falls County; Jack Turner, of Hillsboro, Hill County and Alva Debnam, of La Mesa, Dawson County. They were accompanied on the trip by H. H. Williamson, State agent in charge of county agent work of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas; H. B. Ross, county agent of Falls County; and I. W. Hill of the United States Department of Agriculture in charge of boys agricultural club work in the Southern States.

After landing at Liverpool, the party proceeded to Derby, where the eightieth annual show of the Royal Agricultural Society was in progress. On the way stops were made at Chester to see the fine live-stock farm maintained by the Duke of Westminster, and at Crewe the Americans were given an opportunity to study the English marketing system. Two days were devoted to a thorough inspection of the Royal Show, where they saw the most remarkable exhibition of purebred cattle, hogs and sheep, and horses to be found in the Old World, including over 3,500 animals.

The show, which covers 140 acres, was the greatest in the history of the society, the number of entries breaking all records of the 79 shows that have preceded it. Visitors and buyers were in attendance from Denmark, France, Holland, Spain and even from the Far East, looking over the display and competing in the sales of stock. The American boys had an unusual opportunity to see the best in live stock that English farmers and breeders have to offer, selected from the 60 or more breeds of cattle, horses, sheep and swine that England can boast.

Hardly second in interest to the live-stock display was the exhibition of agricultural machinery, including European and American makes. The exhibit of live-stock feeds was another interesting subject for study since, owing to the necessity for importing a large proportion of the feeds used, English live-stock feeders excel in the economical feeding of concentrates.

Following the visit to the royal show, the boys traveled to London. A pleasant feature of their stay in London was their entertainment on the 4th of July as guests of the Daily Mail at Welwyn. Here they found a young farmers' club started by Lord Northcliffe and patterned after boys' and girls' clubs of this country. Guests at the luncheon included representatives of the British department of agriculture and fisheries and the American Embassy. Many cordial invitations from English farmers and breeders to visit their excellent herds and other agricultural enterprises of interest gave the young Americans the chance to know their English cousins at first hand and to taste of the hospitality that is traditional in Old England.

Leaving London, the party went on a hasty tour through France, Belgium and the Netherlands, returning to London and from there to Edinburgh, from which point as a center several short trips were made into rural Scotland, including a visit to the farm of the famous Shorthorn breeder, William Duthie, near Aberdeen.

DON'T FORGET NOAH

TAKE HIM OUT OF THE BIBLE AND THE NEXT GENERATION WOULD KNOW NOTHING OF THE FLOOD.

Stop publishing the Bible for one generation and in another there won't be one man in ten who ever heard of Noah or the Flood. The principle of advertising keeps Noah alive—as much alive today as he ever was, and it will continue to do so as long as the Bible is published and Noah holds the same space.

Go into the interior of China and ask about Noah there. They never heard of him. They know more about Josephus Daniels. If Noah were a "Maceda Brand," a Singer Sewing Machine or for sale at all he would be a drug on the market in interior China. But here the Bible is read and all the people know about Noah. Those who haven't read about him have been told about him by those who have read. And don't make any mistake about the people reading the Bible. It is the book of reference used most frequently in every newspaper proof room. Milton comes next, then Shakespeare. There are hundreds of thousands of people every day quoting from the Bible and from Milton and they don't even know it—one proof of the silent power of advertising. People quote unconsciously from the Bible as they say Bass's Ale without knowing whether Bass is a fish or a baronet, or whether Burton is on Trent or the River of Doubt.

Think of the great army of American gum chewers. There were just as many millions of jaws wagging every day twenty years ago as there are today, and then they were chewing what—Adams Tutti Fruitti. Why? They didn't now anything else. Adams' Tutti Fruitti was jammed under their noses in every newspaper in the country. Then the outfit thought they could go along without advertising and they did—FOR A TIME. But what happened. Where is the chewing gum of yesterday? Half the present generation never heard of it. When you ask for gum today what do you ask for—Adams? If you did the store clerk would feel like ringing up for the funny wagon. Adams is like Noah would be if they took his space away from him—dead.

I can see a lot of half-baked advertising experts sit back in their swivel chairs as they read this—and they are going to read it—and mumble themselves into a bewildering doze. They'll trot out enough platitudes and statistical theories to befog the brain of an Aristotle. What has general publicity advertising to do with specialized advertising? says so. Even children know that advertising is a good thing, but when, is the problem, says another. Still another will con over rates, long and short term contracts, preferred positions, top of column surrounded by reading matter, and all the rest of the twaddle sung by Johny Detail, and while he's busy hunting for objections he'll forget that if he has goods for sale the time to advertise those goods is NOW. He forgets that in the world of trade NOW IS WITH HIM ALL THE TIME. Then will enter the gentleman who insists that times are tight, followed by the pen and pencil brigade—the chaps with the figures.

Lord save us! They start with the per capita tax, pass through the statistics of population, circulation, immigration and all the other actions, divide the number of possible purchasers of a given product by the number of those killed in the European war, take one glance at the balance of trade, add the whole thing up and arrive at nothing. Meantime Spearmint is sold by the carload because little Jimmy Wide-awake, who looks after the advertising, knows something about Noah and NOW, particularly NOW, and he pitches all dead wood theories out of the window.

The business man who draws in his horns because of slack times, either real or imaginary—and they are all imaginary in this wonderful country—ought to close up shop. Then he could gather his statistical army to show him how much money he has made by not losing what he might have lost had he remained open.

THE MAJORITY OF THE PEOPLE IN THIS COUNTRY HAVE A MAJORITY OF THE BRAINS: And the majority of the people say this: You advertise to sell your goods. You need advertising all the time—more when sales are poor than when they are normal. Don't forget Noah!

ADVERTISING AS AN OVERHEAD

Sometimes it requires the expenditure of a great deal of time and large sums of money to disprove conclusions which have taken hold upon the popular mind. Many a man has said that he could sell his goods cheaper than his neighbor because he "didn't advertise." Specific cases of this kind have been investigated in a small way, and it has been found that the same article could be purchased from the advertising store at a lower price than from the non-advertising store. The moral is obvious. The larger sales of the advertising store divide the overhead among so large a number of units and reduce the advertising cost to an infinitesimal amount. The non-advertising store may make a sale of the article or not—but in either case its main charges for overhead go on. The advertising merchant, realizing that his main overhead charges go on, makes the goods go too, and each sale pays its proportion of the overhead.

A survey just finished by Prof. Sierist of Northwestern University, shows that in Chicago, two suits of men's clothes selling for $50 each—a total of $100 for the two—pay an advertising overhead of $2.07, of which amount but $1.59 goes to the newspapers. In the light of this information for a non-advertising merchant to say he can sell this class of clothes at 20 to 50 per cent less than an advertising merchant, because he has no cost for advertising, is the superlative of bunk.

"The advertisement of today, bears a distinctive news value," says an editorial writer in the Denver Times.

"Through the columns of paid advertisements the public often learns first of new inventions, labor-saving devices, scientific discoveries, progressive business methods and ideas. In reputable newspaper advertising information of this kind comes with the stamp of authority and honesty. Worth-while products achieve a reputation in the community through consistent publicity, backed by performance. By reading the advertisements regularly the public keeps posted upon the progress of American industry, art and science. Familiarity with the advertising columns begets buying confidence as well as discrimination on the part of the reader. In fact, to ignore or to regard lightly the advertising columns of the decent newspaper is to fail to take advantage of one of the chief and most useful functions of modern journalism."

SOME EGG-LAYING RATIONS

All the following rations have been used with good results at the experimental farm at Beltsville, Md., conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, but the poultryman should choose the ration best adapted to local conditions and prices. Feeds not included here may be added or substituted on the basis of their comparative analysis, provided the meat scrap or animal-protein feeds are not replaced by cottonseed meal or other high vegetable-protein feeds. All changes in the feed should be made gradually as sudden changes may decrease egg production materially.

Ration No. 1, mash—16 lbs. corn meal, 6 1/2 lbs. meat scrap, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings. Scratch mixture: 1 lb. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats.

Ration No. 2, mash—2 lbs. corn meal or barley meal, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings, 1 lb. meat or fish scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. wheat or barley.

Ration No. 3, mash—3 lbs. corn meal, 1 lb. meat scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. oats.

Ration No. 4, mash—9 lbs. corn meal, 5 lbs. middlings, 4 lbs. bran, 2 lbs. cottonseed meal or gluten meal, 2 lbs. meat scrap, 2 percent bone meal. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. barley.

Ration No. 5, mash—1 lb. corn meal, 1 lb. bran, 3-4 lb. meat scrap, 1 lb. middlings, 1 lb. ground oats. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. barley.

Ration No. 6, mash—3 lbs. corn meal, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings, 1-2 lb. meat scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats. Feed with table scraps or cooked vegetables.

Ration No. 5 is adapted especially for yearling or old hens of breeds inclined to get too fat, such as the Plymouth Rock, Orpington and Wyandotte. As corn meal, fed with meat scrap, is very fattening, these two feeds are cut down in the ration. With ration No. 6 feed all table scraps available, or vegetables at the rate of 5 pounds daily to 30 hens.

Five per cent bone meal may be used in any of these mashes, and the quantity of meat scrap reduced accordingly, or 2 per cent of bone meal may be added without changing the mashes.

POSTED NOTICE

After cleaning, a machine-made pile rug sometimes loses its shape or wrinkles and curls up because the sizing on the back has worn off. ### STOP AND THINK

Did you ever stop to think, Mr. McAllen Merchant that the town that gets the publicity is the town that gets the business? That the town filled with good advertisers is the town that grows? That advertising properly done is worth its weight in gold, and that is advertising business, and not child's play? That people will drive for miles to trade in a good live town? That your property will increase in value when the outside world knows you and your town are wide awake? That people from neighboring towns will come where there is something worth coming for? That the merchant who doesn't seek to build up a better trade than he now has will lose out? That now is the time your town and your business needs advertising more than ever before because business is harder to get than it has been for two or three years? That if you do not hustle for trade in the community about you the merchants in some other town will? That if they do not get the business you've no one to blame but yourself if it doesn't come to you? Think it over. And then come in and let us show you how little good advertising costs.—McAllen Monitor.

STORE VEGETABLES IN BOXES

In sections where moderate winters prevail a box or barrel set below the surface of the ground and fitted with a movable lid provides suitable storage for such vegetables as beets, carrots, turnips, etc. This pullets 75c each. W. A. Tomlinson, type of storage is adapted to sections where the bank or pit is used, (45-c) or to parts of the country where the ground does not freeze to a depth of more than a few inches. Through the aid of such protective coverings as leaves, straw, or manure placed on the lid of the storage box, it is possible to protect the vegetables from any sudden extreme of temperature. On account of poor drainage, some locations are not suited to these underground storage boxes. In any location care must be exercised to select a site where water will not accumulate in the box. This type of storage is much cleaner and more accessible than the ordinary bank or pit, and in most cases its cost is very small. A number of these boxes can be provided so that part of the vegetables can be taken out without disturbing the remainder.

DON'T Blame The Boy-- BUY HIM LEATHER SHOES

Children give shoes hard treatment, especially the robust, out-of-doors youngsters—they kick shoes out in a hurry.

Mother knows—how often has she been irritated at the condition and has threatened to buy the child the cheapest shoes she could find. But thinking mothers seldom put this idea into action.

If all would conserve the shoe money of the family—if they would give more consideration to the KIND of shoe they buy and more thought to the quality rather than to the price—then there would be less dissatisfaction with the child's shoes.

Shoes that are cheap in price are usually cheap in quality, for the wear is not built in them.

First you should know whether or not the shoes you buy are solid leather construction. If you expect good wear the shoes should not contain a cheap selection of sole leather, nor should any of the heel lifts be of paper; the counters and insoles should both be of good leather.

Of course good leather is expensive and it is for that very reason that many makers of shoes are tempted to use paper in some of the hidden parts—but paper won't wear like leather.

Red Goose Shoes Will Do The Work

In addition to being shoes of ALL-LEATHER construction which insure extra service in every pair you buy, for style and appearance "Red Goose" shoes are hard to equal anywhere.

Then, too, there is a world of comfort in "Red Goose" shoes for they are modeled and shaped to suit the needs of growing feet.

The careful workmen who build them make sure that no seams or wrinkled linings are left in the shoes to rub and hurt and cause discomfort.

"Red Goose" shoes are made in all styles for summer and winter wear, for work, for dress, or purely for play. Whenever the child needs new shoes think of the "Red Goose" shoes—visit us to see the assortment of styles and judge of the quality and attractiveness for yourself.

Your Neighbors' Children wear "RED GOOSE SHOES"—Ask them!

COLLEGE DEFEATS TOWN IN PRACTICE GAME FRIDAY

In game that was never in serious danger, the C. C. Bulldogs dealt a 13 to 0 defeat to a town team Friday afternoon on the College Grounds. The Bulldogs showed good form, and although they were unable to make big gains by line backs, they did nevertheless complete forward passes with much skill.

The town kicked off, and the college fumbled in receiving and Hank Bagby, for the town squad, retched the ball. The ball went over on the failure of the town gang to make their ten yards, and the college made short gains by bucks. A forward pass by the Bulldogs was completed and the result was a touchdown. They did not score again until the last quarter.

The game was one of practice for the Bulldogs, as they did not have a game for last week. The town team, although some big football men of former days were on the roster, was unable to work with any form, as it had had no practice until the players got on the field a few minutes before the game; and, lacking both the hardness from practice, and the form acquired from working together, the boys from the town did not develop serious opposition.

The Bulldogs have a much stronger team by the recent acquisition of players of statewide fame, and they are working hard for what they consider will be one of the hardest games of the season when they meet the Central Oklahoma Normal at Edmond this week.

Jerome Stocking returned this morning from a short business trip to Amarillo.

Heating Stoves

One of the greatest improvements in stove construction made in recent years is the device for circulating the air so that all of the room where the stove is located and even an adjoining room, will be uniformly heated.

This is accomplished by means of a supplementary flue which receives the cold air from the floor, conducts it upward in contact with heated surfaces, thence carries it within the body of the stove over the fire, and finally discharges it thoroughly heated at the top.

We have a complete line of stoves, stove boards, coal hods and other stove accessories. It will pay you to call and get our prices as we are selling for cash and on a pre-war basis.

NOTES FROM THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

While what is usually called the "protracted meeting" at the Church of Christ is closed, yet the door of the church, or Kingdom of Christ is never closed. You will find a hearty welcome at every service. Wednesday nights, Bible Training, Lord's day, regular Bible classes and preaching. At any and all of these services the same deep abiding interest will be shown for your soul's salvation as if it were a "protracted meeting."

Be instant in season, and out of season, said Paul. Preach the word. If we can serve you at any time, night or day, in the capacity of a minister, command us.

If you should encounter trouble in your Bible readings, can't find the verse, don't understand it when you find it, and you are willing to let me assist you, don't hesitate to phone me, or call me, as to when and where you like. My phone number is 317.

We want our friends who attended our meeting to know we appreciated their presence very much. We are well aware of the fact that we are poor in this world's goods, but we are rich in faith. Our communion is sweet, our fellowship dear. We are ready always to give to very man that asketh us a reason of the hope that is in us, with meekness and fear. We will be at Lelia Lake the second and fourth Lord's days and Clarendon the first and third.

Thos. E. Milholland.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGE

The College Parent-Teachers Association, which met in regular session at the home of Mrs. W. H. Patrick Monday afternoon, is doing much to meet the immediate needs of the departments of the college. Although the organization is less than thirty days old, it has a growing membership of fifty-one, and in the past fifteen days has supplied wants that the departments have lacked for the past fifteen years.

Mrs. Patrick, chairman of the finance and purchasing committee, reported the following items of interest to all college friends. Flowers, curtains and flags placed in the primary department, five lawn benches donated to the campus of the Girls' dormitory, ten volumes of readings donated to the English library; and plans made for the raising of sufficient funds to purchase equipment for the children's playground.

After the business meeting, the hostesses Mrs. Patrick and Mrs. Schultze, assisted by Misses Mary Cook, Roberta Owens, Caroline Shaver, Katherine, Lorraine and Elgin Patrick, served delicious ice cream and cake. To add to the zest of the social half-hour, Miss Lorraine Patrick entertained the club with a delightful impersonation of "Jim."

The time of regular meetings was changed from the second and fourth Monday of each month to the first and third Mondays. The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. Lott on the afternoon of November 7.

ANSIL LYNN HAVING A GREAT SUCCESS

Dr. W. B. Bauchamp, Missionary Representative at the annual conference which recently closed in Amarillo, stated that he met Ansil Lynn in Belgium, as the latter was going to his missionary work in Africa. Dr. Bauchamp said that Rev. Lynn learned the languages in about half the time that it takes most missionaries; and stated that if Mr. Lynn continued his strides in the learning of languages that within a few years, he would be the greatest linguist in the Church. This statement is all the more interesting to Clarendon people as Rev. Lynn was a former student of Clarendon College and a Donley County boy.

TRUCK MAKES GOOD TIME CARRYING DALLAS EXHIBIT

The truck belonging to H. Lott used to carry the Donley County exhibit to the Dallas Fair made record time, going through without accident. The truck left here Tuesday morning, and was driven by Gus Morrison. The display was carried to the fair, and the truck returned to this city at four o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mr. Morrison reported that the work of arranging the exhibit was moving forward with success when he left Dallas.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below—

Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

Now and then they are emphasized by unusual instances such as quoted below. Performances like these demonstrate the ultimate possibilities of Firestone Cords under careful driving.

Sept. 10, 1921
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Jacksonville Branch, Jacksonville, Florida.

Gentlemen:— I submit herewith the history of a 33x4 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 37,000 miles. I have retreaded it seven times. The average mileage to each retreading was about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tires proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am mailing photographs under separate cover. C. U. Penney, Plant City, Fla.

Sept. 2, 1921
The Harvey E. Mack Co., Thirteenth & Harmon Place, Minneapolis.

Gentlemen:— It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 34,000 and 35,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut considerably by chains. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future. Archie H. Beard, 522 LaSalle Bldg., Minneapolis.

Services next Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church. Time 2:30 p. m. The pastor will preach. Topic "The Foundation on Which Faith Must Rest," based on John 4:16-54. If the foundation is rock on all sides the house will stand; if the one side is sand the building will shortly be drawn out of shape. This is a truth which needs no proof. Even so with faith. If you would have that faith which truly brings certainty and an infallible hope to the heart, you must set aside all other things and build your trust alone on the right, solid foundation. Which is this foundation? Come to our services Sunday and you shall hear! Strangers and visitors always welcome.

FIRES MONDAY EVENING

The Fire Department was called into action twice Monday evening. The first time early in the evening when they were summoned to the Denver Hotel; but the flames were extinguished by the occupants almost immediately, and the services of the firemen were not needed. The second call was to help fight the flames that broke out in the barn of Dr. Jenkins. The fire was well under way by the time that the alarm was turned in, and the firemen were unable to save the barn; although their efforts saved the surrounding buildings. This was good work as both the residence of Dr. Jenkins and of J. R. Bartlett was near the flames.

THE BANKERS' VERDICT

That there is nothing in our domestic situation nor in the international situation that can sustain a pessimistic outlook or a despondent view that the world has sunk into permanent depression sums up the expressions of leading financiers at the annual convention of the American Bankers Association now in session in Los Angeles.

Such a message from bankers—men who know better than any other the basic reasons for the era of depression through which the world has been passing—should be optimistic news for the country in general. If the bankers say the country is all right, tell us that there is nothing in our domestic or international situations to sustain a pessimistic outlook, why not cheer up and get ready for the better times?

Conditions are not going to right themselves overnight. Constancy, good judgment, hard work, economy and some sacrifices by all will pull us through.

But, we are on the road to recovery now. The hardest has been passed.

The United States is sound financially. Its industries are on a firm foundation.

The world is gradually regaining what it lost in the war. Normal conditions are returning to us. It's everybody's fight.

Will you lend a hand? But while you do be optimistic—Amarillo Tribune.

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so nicely. Preserving this mixture, enough, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at drug store the ready-to-use preparation. Improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. ## THE OLDEST FREE ASSEMBLIES

The Clarendon News' Americanization series

The House of Representatives and the British House of Commons are the greatest and oldest of the free assemblies now governing great nations in the world. The history of the two is very different. The beginnings of the British House of Commons go back to a dim historic past and its full rights and status have only been conquered and permanently secured after centuries of political struggle.

Your fate has been a happier one. You were called into existence at a much later stage of social development. You came into being complete and perfected, and all your powers determined and your place in the constitution secured beyond chance of revolution; but, though the history of these two assemblies is different each of them represents the great democratic principles to which we look forward as the security for the future peace of the world?

(Editor's Note—The articles appearing in the above space from week to week are taken from "Americanization" by Elewood Griscorn, Jr. This excellent volume, which is a collection of articles upon the general theme of patriotism and good citizenship, is presented to the schools of Texas

SUDAN GRASS AND FETERITA CHILICOTHE STATION GIFTS TO FARMERS OF LONE STAR

Not so many years ago—thirteen to be exact—there was brought from the jungles of Africa a mysterious sorghum.

It was mysterious because it was a stranger in the United States. It was not a member of the American sorghum family. But it had thrived in darkest Africa. It might thrive in Texas soil, some one suggested. So the first half pound of seed came from foreign countries to the United States Department of Agriculture and a portion was sent to the Experiment Station, Substation, No. 12 at Chillicothe. But this alien of Africa had to have a name. It had come from near Sudan, Africa, and hence it took the title of Sudan grass.

At the experiment station Sudan grass thrived. From the first the grass looked promising. Its present popularity in many states besides Texas is evidence of its adaptability and value in this country.

But Sudan grass is only one of thousands of experiments which the Chillicothe experiment station has conducted and is conducting. There are hundreds of other seeds that through years have been developed here until a finished product has been turned out and the life of West Texas farmers has been made more profitable.

Botanically, Sudan grass is related to the cultivated sorghums with which it crosses readily when the two are planted close together. Its close resemblance to Johnson grass led many farmers to mistrust it in the beginning but the experiments at Chillicothe proved that it would not develop the underground rootstocks which are the chief objection to Johnson grass.

Another crop which today thrives on many Texas farms and which is jumped from the Sudan African region to Chillicothe is feterita.

Feterita was first grown at the Chillicothe station in 1907. For a few years it was cultivated only in nursery rows, although it always showed signs of developing. Since Chillicothe announced to the world that feterita was a profitable product, this remarkable grain and forage sorghum has spread over the county until nearly every farmer in the Southwest semi-arid region is familiar with it. Here at Chillicothe it has proved to be well adapted to conditions of any season. But it is more especially valuable in years of severe drought. One of its strongest points is its ability to produce fair crops, with a small amount of rainfall.

For a while there was a great difference of opinion among farmers as to the feterita feeding value. But there are thousands of instances where all classes of livestock are eating, relishing and thriving upon it the same as they do on other kinds of grain sorghums.

During the last session of the Legislature a move was started to reduce expenditures in Texas by eliminating several of the experiment stations. The legislators, probably laboring under a misguided view of how to better the conditions of the state, thought that to eliminate the Chillicothe station would be putting dollars in the pockets of Texans.

But West Texas farmers, as a rule, disagree with the legislators. They are glad the Legislature decided to maintain the Chillicothe station. They point out that the Chillicothe substitution last year cost the state of Texas only $3,500, the other expenses being borne by the United States Department of Agriculture. They further point out that the value of one year's feterita crop in Hardeman county alone would pay all costs of the station during its entire existence and that the station was the American birthplace of feterita.

By co-operative agreement between the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the United States Department of Agriculture, the Chillicothe substitution was created in 1906. It was at first located in the eastern part of Hardeman county on a ten acre tract. It later had a thirty acre site nearer Chillicothe and in 1915 it went to the 100 acre farm five miles southwest of Chillicothe where it is now located.

The soil at the substitution is a mixed sandy loam quite uniform in character throughout the section used for plant tests. It is representative of a considerable portion of land in Hardeman and surrounding counties. Chillicothe was selected as a locality in which to carry on the experiment work with forage crops as the general conditions here are such as to make results here applicable to a wide section of the country. In general, this territory may be defined as the region in Texas from Wichita Falls on the east to Clarendon on the west and through the greater portion of West Texas and north through Western Oklahoma.

However, many experiments conducted at this station produce results that are of value to many other Texas communities as well as other states. The mixed sandy loam, uniform in character, might be termed the "happy medium" between the sandy soil and the so-called "tight land." Both of these extreme types of soil are found within a few miles of the station. Sandy soil has proved to be well adapted to the production of corn, cotton, sorghums and cowpeas, while the "tight land" had been found more suited to the raising of wheat, although the sorghums or cotton are both extensively grown upon it. The substitution's soil is suitable for the production of any of the crops which are adapted to this region.

Since its creation, the substitution has tested 1,250 varieties and selections of sorghums. This does not mean that it gave each a test of one season's planting. It is a fixed policy of the substitution to test each variety or selection thru several seasons before either discarding it or advocating its adoption by farmers. Some new plants of course, show up so poorly that they may be discarded after one or two trials while it is often difficult to place others even after growing them several years.

Out of this large number of experiments there have been but comparatively few that have been proved to be of sufficient value to take the place of varieties already common to Texas farms. However, some of those that have been found to be a valuable crop such as Sudan grass and feterita, have brot thousands of dollars to the farms.

Going into the jungles of Africa, even taking part in fights against wild and vicious animals including elephants in his crusades. Dr. H. L. Shantz of the United States Department of Agriculture recently went on a fifteen months' tour to gather seeds that eventually would be of assistance to American farmers. He sent 356 grain and grass sorghums to the Chillicothe substitution which were planted during the past season.

Recently Dr. Shantz came from Washington to Chillicothe to see how his African seeds were producing. He found some of them to be thriving to such an extent that after thorough experimenting has been completed, the farmers may have several new and reliable sorghums. But others he found not adapted to the climate and soil and will soon go out of existence as far as their life in the United States is concerned.

In its effort to find new crops for Texas farms, especially the farms of West Texas and the Panhandle, or to introduce better standard crops that have been grown here for years, the station is still experimenting with cotton.

For awhile the station each year would conduct its experiments with about forty varieties of cotton. But as the inferior varieties would be discovered they would be eliminated.

The result is that this season the station used only ten varieties, all of which show promise.

In its tests the station is trying to determine the best time for preparing of the soil, whether the farmers should plow early or late; the best time for thinning out the plants and the best time for working the plants after rains. Such experiments as these apply to practically every variety of crop found at the Chillicothe substitution.

At present on the farm of experiments is a crop of African kaffir corn. It has been grown heretofore in Kansas, but it is not yet definitely known what the crop will do in Texas. It looks promising, however, but its merits or demerits probably will not be advertised before three years have passed. The one main object of the station is to find out some variety that will be better than the variety now used. The African corn is growing taller than the usual stalk of kaffir and its heads open more than the usual kaffir head.

One small section of the farm has been planted in Piper's Pipe Dream grass. It gets the name of "Piper" from Professor Piper of Washington, who in his experiments is trying to produce a grass which at a distance looks like it might be related to Johnson grass, but it is not so far developing the drawbacks that go with the Johnson brand.

Sudan grass, already recommended to Texas farmers, is still the object of experiments at the station. The station is determining when is the best time for it to be cut to make it the best stock feed.

For seven years the station has worked on a cross between kaffir and feterita. It is still experimenting on this cross. Its object is to combine the good parts of each. Kaffir has good forage and small but good seed, while feterita has large seed and not such good forage. Feterita also shatters badly, while kaffir does not. So far this cross has shown that its seeds do not shatter as bad as feterita and its forage is turning out to be of good quality.

A pink kaffir is still in the experiment stage at the station. It may eventually prove to have some advantage over the varieties of kaffir now in production.

As an example of how the station is taking as many varieties as possible of one crop and testing out each variety, the station now has a plot of ground in which there are twenty-four varieties of kaffir, maize and feterita. They are planted side by side, some, however, being planted a little later than the others in order to determine the best time to plant without extra cultivation and weeding during the growth of the plants.

The station also is working on eight varieties of sweet sorghos. The term "sorghos" while not generally used, has been adopted widely in experimenting work. It applies to sorghums that are intended principally for syrup while the term "sorghum" is commonly used when

ASKS PRAYERS OF TWO MINUTES

Washington, Oct. 12.—The American people were called upon by President Harding, in a proclamation issued today, to offer a silent two-minute prayer at noon on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, when the body of an unknown American soldier killed in France will be laid to rest in Arlington National cemetery.

The proclamation calls upon all devout, patriotic citizens to pause for two minutes—from 12 o'clock noon until two minutes past 12—for a period of silent prayer of thanks to the Giver of all good for these valuable and valorous lives and of supplication for His Divine mercy, and for His blessings upon our beloved country.

Directions are contained in the proclamation for the half-masting of the flags on all public buildings, all stations of the army, navy and marine corps and on all American embassies, legations and consulates throughout the world from sunrise to sunset on Armistice day, when it is the hope of the President that the whole nation shall join in honoring America's dead of the world war.

BRO. FOSTER AT CHAPEL THURSDAY

The students and faculty remember with pleasure Bro. Foster's regular appointment at chapel, on Thursday, last year.

Bro. Foster is a man of strong personality. He is a great preacher and a singer of unusual ability. His talks at chapel were always enjoyed by his hearers, and occasionally, he sang, and added especial interest to the regular program by such variations.

Last Thursday, Bro. Foster made his first appearance at chapel for the school year of 1921-22. He was wearing that usual smile, which everyone familiar with him, always expects, and which is characteristic of the man. He was welcomed by students and faculty, and all were especially glad for him to be "on the job" again. All realized that he always has a message worthwhile for young life.

After the opening song, Mr. Condon gave a few words of introduction to Bro. Foster, who took charge of the devotional exercise of the hour. The basis for the remarks was found in the 20th Chapter of St. Luke, in the "Parable of the Vineyard." Bro. Foster made a very interesting talk from the parable, along the line of unbelief and irreverence, as emphasized by the twenty-five millions of young people under twenty-five years of age in the U. S. who are not in Sunday School. The discourse was instructive, as well as interesting from the first to last.

Bro. Foster's chapel talks are always gladly received by the faculty and student-body because of the pep and enthusiasm inserted in the discussion, along with the ever appropriate and instructive admonitions by the typical pastor.

The college appreciates Bro. Foster's work, and looks forward to every Thursday, as one among the best of all days, at the chapel hour. Come regularly, Bro. Foster.

THE CLASS OF '22

Tuesday, Oct. 4 the Juniors of '22 met in the first regular meeting of the year and organized the largest Senior Class in the history of the institution.

David Beights, president of the junior class of '21, presided as chairman and was chosen by a good majority to lead the class in the capacity of president. Wesley C. Upton was elected vice-president, and Ella Mae St. Luke, in the "Parable of the Vineyard." Bro. Foster made a very interesting talk about fifty students, including the Fine Arts Seniors.

Immediately after the election of officers, the call was made for the discussion of any business matters demanding attention. There was a general discussion about a senior play for the benefit of the West. The class voted favorably, but it is understood that it does not meet the approval of the faculty. The class will try to co-operate with the faculty always. The class is as fine a class as the college has ever had, and more will be expected of it than of any previous class.

CLARENDON HIGH DEFEATS HEDLEY

In a game Friday afternoon the Clarendon High School defeated the Hedley eleven by a score of 59 to 0. The High School has a strong team as our Bulldogs know. They played our team two good games early in the season. They are heavy and active. They should make one of the strong high school teams of the Panhandle.

Rev. R. F. Dunn of Lorenzo visited his daughter, Rthu, here Wednesday night.

ORGANIZATION OF MIN- ISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The ministerial students of Clarendon College met on Tuesday evening, Oct. 4, 1921, for the purpose of organization, for the year 1921-22.

The first thirty minutes were given to the devotional exercises, led by President, John Thompson. Then the election of officers followed. Jake English was elected President, Marvin Brotherton was elected vice-president, William Craig was chosen as secretary; Dallas Denison, reporter and John Thompson, song leader.

The old preacher boys gladly welcome all the new ones to the association and all college activities. Let us make the year of 1921-22 the greatest in the history of the ministerial association. Every member is expected to attend regularly.

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN CORRECT POSTURE

Normal children usually have straight, well-formed, well-proportioned bodies while they are small. A little later they begin the habits of carrying books on one arm, or stooping over a desk, or dropping the head down to the reading instead of bringing the reading up to the eyes as necessary. After a few years, instead of a straight, lithe, elastic figure and grace of movement, we have in many children a large abdomen, protruding shoulder blades, unequally developed hips, and a constant droop and slouch, whether sitting or standing.

A little later poorly fitting shoes and corsets add to the tendency to incorrect posture in a girl. By the time she has a house of her own she has so grown into these misshapen forms that she follows on in the line of least resistance with her household—breaks her back over a low sink, puts her sewing in her lap and bends down to it drooping over her broom and mop and tub and kitchen table. All of which constricts the breathing muscles, causing the unfortunate habit of shallow breathing, and wasting instead of conserving one's energy. And after one has put the impress of years upon these harmful habits it is a very difficult to eradicate them, and perhaps impossible entirely to overcome the physical defects that have resulted from them. But, even so, the gain in general health and strength, in better form and spirit is well worth whatever effort it may cost in constant vigilance.

Begin by trying to hold the abdomen in. That persisted in encourages a straightening of the entire body, lifting up the head, chest, and shoulders in a natural, instead of an exaggerated and unnatural manner. The muscles of the abdomen and back are found flabby and inactive to begin with, and very unresponsive to the unaccustomed exertions, tiring very quickly. But use is the only thing that will strengthen and give tone to those muscles. Stand up straight when you sweep, wielding your broom with a free, easy movement, and you will find sweeping not particularly tiring, but rather invigorating exercise, and it will not help to make your body crooked and you will not make the broom crooked. When the broom is all worn out to a stub on one side, while yet good on the other, it means that a "one-sided" person has been using it.

For correct and comfortable sitting and sewing a low chair is best, placing the entire body well back in the chair. In the kitchen a high stool chair with a low back is best. A sink thirty-six inches high is a great help.

In the case of the children, of course, it is far better to prevent the formation of undesirable and hurtful habits. If a girl is made to divide books and other burdens equally between the two arms, to read and write and study in the proper position, to sit and talk in an upright position, she will have a better form and better health when she grows up. Her dressmaker will be able to fit her two hips alike. She will not carry the baby always on one side—nor her bundles always in the left arm, which is the usual cause of women getting off the street car backwards.—Plain Farmer-Stockman.

FIRE DESTROYS ABOUT EIGHTY BALES COTTON

Fire broke out in the Hedley Cotton Yard about 1:30 o'clock this (Friday) morning. Quite a stiff wind was blowing, and before the flames were checked something like eighty bales of cotton had been consumed. Under the circumstances, it is a wonder that the whole works was not destroyed.

We have heard no opinion expressed as to the fire's origin.—Hedley Informer.

Rev. Thorpe, of Kirkland, visited Monday here with his daughter who is attending the College.

CLARENDON MEN SELL PRODUCE IN CHILDRESS

Just to demonstrate that advertising pays and attracts attention, Childress is now receiving produce raised three miles east of Clarendon. Three automobiles are used to haul the produce to Childress, and two trins are made weekly. W. F. and S. S. Dubbs and Cleveland Hayter are engaged in the business. They are bringing to the local market the finest tomatoes, turnips, radishes and white onions that can be grown. However, this is not their entire offering, as they are raising all vegetables that can be grown in this climate.

Mr. Hayter stated this morning that Childress is the best market place. The Ford cars are driven through in about four hours, and after the restaurants are supplied the trucks go into the residence district. Tomatoes, big and red, are sold at 12-12 cents per pound. Other vegetables are cheaper than those shipped in by the produce firms.

Mr. Hayter also said that they would receive a carload of watermelons today. These melons were grown on sub-irrigated land east of Clarendon and are said to be of the finest quality.

These men are bringing almost a thousand pounds of tomatoes each trip. They are packed in large cases and tied onto the running board.—Childress Index.

Lorenzo Saunders who had his misfortune while playing on one of the see-saws at the public school to fall and break his arm; is getting along well at this time.

Your Home Town Paper What It Can DO For You

First of all, it can bring to you the NEWS of your own home town. Week after week, it prints in detail the happenings of the community. Faithfully it sets forth the goings and comings of its people, giving careful attention to the homely little items that are ignored in the overcrowded dailies of the big cities.

It can furnish you with more interesting information about people you know, or used to know, than could a dozen private correspondents. The one that writes to you may know only few of your friends at home—but your home town paper knows them all. It tells you about people you are interested in.

Finally, in a good, hard business sense, Your Home town Paper is of value to you. It keeps you posted as to the industrial and commercial growth of a community which familiarity may have caused you to neglect. It often reveals that keen people see, right in your home town, a mine of golden opportunity. The moral is obvious—

BONES FAMILY HAS REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Bones, of this city, have had the pleasure the past week of having all of their children together once more. The reunion was somewhat of a surprise as they had not planned for it at the time. The last of the children arrived Saturday evening. This is the first time that they have all been together in more than six years; besides the children a brother of Mr. Bones, of Washington D. C., arrived here Friday evening which was the first time that the brothers had seen each other for more than seventeen years. The children present were: T. J. Bones, of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. J. E. Oden of Lubbock; Lucian Bones, of Amarillo; Mrs. Leroy Higginbotham, of Brier; Leigh, Joyce, Homer and little Miss Delphia, of Clarendon. Besides the following grandchildren were present, Kathleen and Dorothea Jane Oden and Estalce Higginbotham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Quattlebaum spent Friday in Amarillo.

Rev. M. F. Leveridge, of Pampa, was a visitor in this city yesterday.

V. C. Kersey, of Hedley, was here on business Tuesday and yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Perrine visited in this city Tuesday and were guests at the Tuesday luncheon.

Miss Ella Yeager is in Amarillo today attending the "District Conference for the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross."

Mrs. Sarah Criswell returned Tuesday to her home at Sparenberg after a visit here with her daughter Mrs. Herbert Schoolcraft.

Andrew Sperry visited Sunday with homefolks at Claude.

PHILATHEA ORGANIZES

Mrs. Crockett Taylor entertained a number of young ladies of the Baptist Sunday School Friday evening, at which time the Philathea class for young ladies was reorganized with an initial membership of ten. Miss Temple Harris, of the high school faculty was elected president and Misses Grace Davis and Pet Hedges assistants; Miss Moena Lane secretary, and Miss Annie Bourland reporter.

A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Taylor to the following: Misses Holly Bryan, Annie and Mary Bourland, Pet Hedges, Grace Davis, Fannie Love, Moena Lane, Frances Tatum, Ollie Paul, and Temple Harris.

Mrs. D. O. Stallings and son, Loyd, joined their husband and father in Amarillo Sunday in attending the conference.

FACULTY ENTERTAINED WITH WEEK END PICNIC

The faculty of the public schools of this city were entertained with a picnic by the schoolboard last week end. The party composed of the faculty and the members of the schoolboard and their families, in all comprising more than fifty persons left here early in the afternoon Saturday. Messrs. J. T. Patman, Jim Patman, R. N. Sandlin, and John Martin had gone ahead in the morning and struck camp; and when the rest of the party arrived shortly before supper, plenty of coffee was prepared to go with the picnic supper. The site of the picnic was in the Palo Duro Canyon southwest of Claude. After supper little time was left for sight-seeing by daylight, but the picnicers explored the canyon by moonlight. When they had returned to camp, a big wood fire was lighted; and an evening of amateur vaudeville, consisting of singing, story-telling, and various stunts was enjoyed. Even the popcorn and the "weenies" added to the spirit of outing.

The little folks enjoyed a tent show all of their own, and the program of fun lasted into the late hours of the night. Everyone had a big appetite next morning for the breakfast which consisted of bacon, eggs, burned toast, coffee and jelly. After breakfast the picnicers divided into half a dozen groups and roamed up and down the canyon; part of them being especially interested in hunting for Indian arrowheads; suffice to say that several fine specimens were found. The day was a fine one for making kodaks of the interesting scenery.

More interest was added to the trip by the stories of the Indians related by Mr. Martin. Being an old timer in that section of the Panhandle, he was well versed in the Indian lore. He told of the fact that the camp grounds used by the party was an old Indian camp ground. It was also near there that the skeleton of the old Indian chief was found in a cave, the blanket about the skeleton being preserved in fair fact. Also on the belt of the Indian hung three scalp; while a leather strap ornamented by thirty silver conchos hung over the shoulder. At the end of the strap was a silver medal on which were inscribed the words "For Bravery; presented by James K. Polk." The audience was highly interested in this and the other Indian stories of Mr. Martin, and he was voted to be an excellent story teller.

The trip was without serious car trouble, and was a very enjoyable one for everyone along with the party.

LYCEUM COURSE TO BE EXCELLENT ONE

The lyceum course which will be brought to this city this fall by the College authorities assisted by the residents of Clarendon who will buy tickets is the best lyceum that has ever been brought here, being equal in quality with the Artists' Course which was brought here last year. Three of the numbers are artist numbers and the fourth is a lecture by a war correspondent for the Outlook during the recent great struggle. The first number is next

ZOELLNER QUARTET

Monday evening and is to be rendered by one of the famous quartets of America. The second number is by the Vivian Players, while the third will be a lecture by Gregory Mason. The fourth will be by the Impresario Company, and the class of their performance is the equal of any of the opera talent. A heavy expenditure has been necessary to secure numbers of such high rank, and those in charge ask that the citizens of the town help by buying season tickets wherever possible.

CLARENDON LYCEUM

Clarendon will be treated to the best Lyceum this winter ever brought to the city. Last year an artist course as well as a lyceum was given. This year a course of four numbers three of which are artist numbers, one lecture given, but for no more than the lyceum alone cost last year.

The numbers will be as follows: October 17, The Zoellner Quartet, one of the most distinguished in America. The Vivian Players, successors to the Ben Greet players. This company will present an all star cast, "Her Own Money," a play that has had a most wonderful run in New York.

Gregory Mason, the Outlook's war correspondent will tell of world condition and the way out. If any lecturer is in a position to speak with authority, Mr. Mason is the man.

Last and perhaps the crowning event will be the Impresario Company, made up of Grand Opera singers—presenting an evening with Mozart's best works mingled with a most interesting story. Clarendon has never had a real Grand Opera and this is her opportunity.

The College is making a season ticket to the public for the same price as that offered to the student body, four dollars. This effects a saving of $1.25 if you attend each number individually.

The Lyceum board seeks to make no profits. Its sole aim is to bring the best talent to Clarendon. To meet the expense of the above companies and artists it will be necessary for the citizens of the town to purchase over 100 tickets. With your co-operation these attractions can be brought here from year to year. Tickets on sale at Stocking's Drug Store, Long's Drug Store, People's Pharmacy, City Drug Store. (Adv.)

TO THE METHODIST WOMEN

Dear Co-Worker:
The new Mission Study Book is The Kingdom and the Nations, and is one of the easiest books we have had in a long time.

We have decided to try the Relay Plan in conducting the Mission study this fall and instead of urging the study twice a month we are to have the entire book in one day, not in a dry as the dust study, but in a peppy spley interesting way.

We want to meet at the Church on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock Oct. 26, and stay until 3:30 in the afternoon and each member of the class is asked to bring a covered dish, just anything you want to prepare.

Don't let anything prevent you from being on hand to enjoy the music, specials, peppy talks and the fellowship of co-mingling with each other. Every Methodist woman in Clarendon is expected.

Would you like to take a trip around the world and see some of the after war conditions and in the trip find the remedy to alleviate the suffering and see the great hosts of Christians marching on in the work of fulfilling the great commission? Well this is your opportunity now because when you hear the call from six of the leading Nation of the world you will realize that our task here is easy indeed to those out on the firing line.

Please read the book through if possible before Oct. 26. No questions will be asked you but you may ask some in the round table discussion.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Jno. A. Shawver, Supt. Mission Study.

THE FIRE ALARM

Sends a thrill through everyone, and all begin to wonder if it may be their property.

It is the time now to reinstall the heating stoves. Great care should be exercised in seeing that all pipes and flues are secure and safe as a preventive measure. Then place a proper amount of insurance with a reliable agent in a company whose solvency is unquestioned and whose record for fair treatment of customers after the fire is also unquestioned, then when the fire alarm sounds, you can reasonably hope that it is not your property, but if perchance it should be, that you will be safe for the amount of your policy. In 32 years in Clarendon as Insurance Agents our office has paid out more than a Half Million Dollars in losses and never a Policy Contested.

We offer you this kind of service and protection and will greatly appreciate your business.

FARMER BELIEVES IN DONLEY COUNTY

To the Clarendon News:
I see a great future in the Panhandle country. Let me say this to the landowners; if you have good farm land, put a three room house on every eighty acres; put a team of mules, farm implements, a good milk cow, a brood sow, and a few fine chickens. Then go fifty-fifty with your man.

I came here in 1906. Then the oldtimers told me that this country would not keep fifty head of cattle to the section. Today I have 105 people on my place, and I have a little more than a section in cultivation. They are helping gather the crops. Of course, part of them are children too small to work. I have people after me every day wanting to rent land.

If we made a failure here, we could can or silo enough jack rabbits to get through on. 1917 and 1918 were dry, then '19 came and we made so much that we did not know ourselves. You could hear Uncle Henry Ford popping day and night. The man that is seeking office these days had better fix the people with a Henry Ford, if he wants to ride in office. If you put them afoot, they will put you afoot.
