THIS YEAR'S SESSION OF CLARENDON-PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO COMMENCE WITH FITTING EXERCISES MONDAY

FACULTY HAS BEEN COMPLETED, AND IS ONE OF THE BEST THAT THE SCHOOLS HAVE EVER ENJOYED. SUPERINTENDENT J. E. NELSON BEGINS HIS FOURTH YEAR AS HEAD OF THE SCHOOLS. GOOD YEAR FOR ATHLETICS IS PROMISED.

As stated in a previous issue of the News, Clarendon public schools will open Monday, September 11th, and every thing seems to indicate that the coming session will be one of the best from every point of view that the schools have ever experienced. The faculty is complete, the vacancies caused from resignations from last year's faculty having been filled with teachers strong in scholarship and with years of successful experience. Every teacher in the high school a graduate of a first class college or University and the majority of them have either secured the M. A. degree or have done work above the B. A. degree leading to the higher degree.

There is room for some encouragement in the fact that our high school was granted two new units of affiliation during the meeting of the Committee at Austin in July. Although work was submitted for examination in the subjects in which credit was applied for, it developed that this was unnecessary in the case of the domestic science in as much as the report of the visitor of schools on this work was so satisfactory that credit was entered without examination of specimens of the work. This gives Clarendon High school twenty-three units of affiliation with the State Department of Education is accepted without question in the state, since credits granted by the State Department of Education is accepted without question by all colleges and Universities in the state.

The new teachers together with the work assigned to them as far as this has been decided upon are as follows:

Mr. W. L. Spradling will be principal of the high school and will teach history and civics. Mr. Spradling is a graduate of Polytechnic College of Fort Worth, Texas and has had thirteen years of successful experience as teacher in high school, as principal of a high school, and as superintendent of schools. For the last three years Mr. Spradling has been superintendent of Franklin Public Schools. For six years he was principal of Stephenville High School. Considering his training and experience in school work it is easily seen that any school is fortunate that secures Mr. Spradling's services.

Miss Mary Beall McGee, of San Marcos, Texas, is a graduate of the University of Texas, and has had successful experience as a teacher. Mr. R. L. Eaves, formerly superintendent of Memphis Public Schools and now teacher of history in Waco High School has taught with Miss McGee and pronounces her one of the very best and most capable teachers with whom he has ever worked as superintendent. Miss McGee will have mathematics in the high school.

Miss Zelma McCullar will have charge of the Home Economics Department. To say that Miss McCullar was given the highest rating as teacher of home economics under the Smith Hughes' Act is probably the highest compliment that could be paid the work of any teacher in this line of work. Miss McCullar has taught during the last three years at Livingston, Texas, and was elected to teach in the home economics department of Amarillo High School this coming school year but preferred to teach in Clarendon instead. Miss McCullar is the best equipped teacher we have yet employed in our home economics department, due to her wider experience.

Miss Velma Miles of Waco, Texas, is a graduate of Baylor University and did her last teaching under the superintendency of Mr. Spradling in the Franklin Public Schools. Mr.

Spradling recommends her very highly, and Mrs. Ragsdale, visitor of schools from the State Department, compliments her work very highly. Miss Miles will have charge of the English in the high school.

Mr. B. F. Hardy, who will be principal of Central Ward is a graduate of the University of Mississippi and is a man of ripe experience along with his university training. Mr. Hardy has had experience as teacher, as principal in public schools, and as a teacher in college. That Mr. Hardy is a man with a pleasing personality is noticeable even on short acquaintance.

Miss Vesta Chrisman, sister of Miss Clara Chrisman who has taught successfully in our schools for several years, comes to us from Cleburne, Texas. Miss Chrisman was educated in the Denton State Normal College, and taught last year in the Victoria Public Schools. Miss Chrisman comes to us highly recommended by those with whom she worked in Victoria. Miss Chrisman will teach history in the sixth and seventh grades.

Miss Mittie Lee Allen of Midland, Texas, was educated in Midland High School, Midland Christian College and in the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, Texas. Miss Allen is a successful teacher and will have charge of a section of the third grade.

Miss Mabel Wilson of Lamesa, Texas, has had three years of training in the University of Texas and has had successful experience in the public schools of Texas. Her work under the superintendency of Mr. Lee Clark of the Wichita Falls Public Schools was of sufficient merit as to justify her re-election with a raise in salary. Miss Wilson will teach English in the fourth and fifth grades.

Other teachers who have taught in Clarendon Public Schools and whom we are glad to welcome back to our schools and to our town are as follows: Miss Eula Jackson, Miss Temple Harris and Mrs. J. E. Nelson of the high school, and Miss Stevens, Misses Frances and Mary Cooke, Miss Sibyl Smallwood, Miss Lucy Lee Aiken, Miss Ione Read, Miss Clara Chrisman, Miss Maud Shaw, and Miss Clydine Stickney. To these teachers just named is due no little of the credit for whatever efficiency may obtain in our public schools and they are worth more to our schools today than they have been before. We are fortunate in being able to keep these teachers employed in our schools from year to year. These teachers will, for the most part, be assigned to the same work they had last year.

It will be of interest to those who are interested in athletics to know that Mr. A. R. Carter has consented to coach the high school football team. This means that we will have a strong team, as Mr. Carter is not only an experienced football man himself, having played on some of the strongest teams in the country in his time, but he also has the rare faculty of recognizing ability when he sees it, a characteristic so necessary in a coach. No little of the credit for the good showing made by our team last year is due to the work done by Mr. Carter the year before, and we are fortunate in having such a man to take charge of our team.

The patrons and friends of the public schools are cordially invited to be present at the opening of the schools Monday morning, September 11th. Come up and visit with us, meet the new teachers, renew your acquaintance with those who have been away for the summer, and hear our plans for the coming year to increase our efficiency, increase our affiliation, and make our schools better, than ever before.

BAPTIST CHURCH CALLS REV. SMITH AS PASTOR

At the conference of the Baptist church last evening, Rev. J. A. Smith, of San Angelo, former pastor of the Baptist church in this city, was called as pastor. Rev. Smith has been notified of his call, but due to the brevity of time between the call and the publication of this paper, it cannot be stated yet whether Rev. Smith will accept the call, however an answer is expected at an early date. The popularity of Rev. Smith here is shown by the fact that the call was unanimous.

Other business transacted at this was also a monthly church conference. Rev. H. W. Shirley, of Frederick, Oklahoma, finished a meeting in this city Friday evening, and the church is in fine shape for going forward with its work.

Not only is Rev. Smith very popular with his own congregation, but he is in great favor with the other congregations of the city; for during his two years pastorate here, he proved a broad-minded leader, who could be depended upon to cooperate with all movements for the betterment of Clarendon and Donley county. Although it is yet uncertain whether he will accept the call, his many friends in this city hope that he will see fit to return here, and add much time to the two years which he spent here as pastor; for it is felt that as he resigned here only the first of last May, that his service may be counted as almost uninterrupted.

O. E. S. PICNIC DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

MEMBERS OF CLARENDON LODGE AND FAMILIES ENTERTAIN GROOM AND HEDLEY.

The picnic for the members of the Eastern Star Thursday afternoon proved a very delightful affair with about two hundred in attendance. The members of the local lodge and their families were participants in the affair, and the members of the Hedley and Groom chapters were also invited to be present for the occasion. The scene of the picnic was Allen creek.

NEWS INSTALLS ADDITIONAL EQUIPMENT

This week the News received the machine and other equipment for the autocaster, which is one of the most convenient and efficient machines for stereotyping. With this thoroughly up-to-date machine, we shall be able to do better stereotyping than ever. As the art of stereotyping may not be understood by everyone, it may be said that this is the process of making cuts with which to illustrate the periodical. The company furnishing the service furnishes large numbers of mats, which are impressions made in a sort of paste-board from the matter of which it is desired to make a cut. For instance it is readily evident if we hammer a moist card board on a galley of type that has been set, the type will make its impression in the board; then when the board is allowed to dry, it will preserve the impressions in good shape. Then if we pour moulten metal over this board, the surface of the metal will assume the likeness of the original type; and this metal may be used for printing the matter. The board having the impression of the type we call a mat. Such is the principle of stereotyping in short. And, enabled as we are by the new equipment, to do better stereotyping, we can be of greater service to our patrons, both advertisers and subscribers. And our policy is ever to put out a better paper today than yesterday.

BAPTIST REVIVAL HAS SUCCESSFUL ENDING FRIDAY

The revival conducted at the Baptist church in this city came to a successful close Friday evening, after two weeks of services that were attended by large crowds. On the evening of the close of the meeting, those joining the Baptist church, with the exception of two who were baptized earlier, were baptized. There were twenty-eight conversions and reclamation during the meeting and of these twenty-four united with that church.

Rev. H. W. Shirley, of Frederick, Oklahoma, returned Saturday morning to his home, while the singer, Mr. Carnett, left for the next meeting where he will sing.

On Thursday evening an offering was taken for the services of the two, and resulted in about three hundred and fifty dollars being paid or pledged.

Good interest was manifested in the day services, while the lawn east of the church was filled by those in attendance each evening.

BOYS MAKE GOOD RECORDS WRITES MAJOR SIMPSON

LETTER STATES THAT BOYS HAVE DONE WORK LIKE VETERANS. CAMPS CLEAN AND BOYS ARE IN GOOD HEALTH.

The News is in receipt of a letter from Major Simpson which will be of great interest to local people as it sheds much light on the situation at Denison where the local boys are doing guard duty. Following is the letter:

As I am too crowded for time to address a separate letter to each of my friends in Clarendon, and knowing that the folks there are generally interested in the situation here at Denison, owing to the fact that many of the boys on duty here are with Company H, 142nd Infantry, from Clarendon, and Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion of the same regiment, from Claude, I address this letter to you and through you, if you see fit to print it, to the folks there generally.

I wish first to congratulate the people of Clarendon and Claude and especially the mothers and fathers of the boys who are on duty here, for having produced boys of such manly character that they can and have, within the short time since they have been here, developed into such good soldiers, capable of discharging the duties of a delicate situation with such rare good judgment and discretion.

The railroad yards here are among the largest in the State, if not the largest. Cities larger than this in Texas have more yards but the combined area will not be greater than that of the yards here. Millions of dollars of property is involved and in addition to guarding all of this these boys have been suddenly placed in charge of the policing of a town of 20,000 people, and they are guarding the railroad property and running the policing of this town like veterans, and above all they are so conducting themselves that even the citizens here who are opposed to their presence can make no charges against them.

I have been in charge of the investigation of all crimes since I came. We have raided and captured several stills and many smaller bootleggers. We have cleaned the town of undesirable women and gamblers and have made some very important narcotic raids. Notwithstanding the authorities here have been endeavoring to secure evidence against one noted local dealer in drugs for years and have failed, we have secured his arrest and the filing of a charge against him in Federal court and have found a large quantity of narcotics at his premises so that we can make a strong case.

We have been engaged in investigation of the flogging by persons of 24 strike-breakers and have succeeded in arresting and indicting several individuals concerned under the Open Port Law, and these cases will be the first tried in the State under this statute that was enacted by the Legislature following martial law in Galveston in 1920. Through the efficient handling of this situation by troops many disorders are being kept down in other parts of the State.

The boys are all well and have settled into their work, have good clean camps, plenty of shower baths, and the best of medical attention. The M. K. & T. hospital here, one of the best in the country, is open to them without charge. They are being well fed and suffering no injury, and probably earning more money than many of them would be at home in these dry times. They are certainly performing a public service of great importance in keeping the arteries of commerce open.

Mrs. H. C. Herndon and her daughter, Miss L. V., left Sunday for Wichita Falls where Miss L. V. will study and teach music.

C. C. OPENING EXERCISES WILL BE NEXT TUESDAY

LARGE ATTENDANCE IS ASSURED FOR THIS YEAR BY THE RESERVATION OF ROOMS. EFFICIENT FACULTY IS EMPLOYED.

The opening exercises of Clarendon College will take place in the college auditorium Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. It has been arranged that the formal opening address will be delivered the following Sunday at the Methodist church when Bishop J. E. Dickey, of Georgia, will occupy the pulpit. Tuesday morning, following the introduction of the faculty, Dr. G. S. Slover, will make the announcement and deliver the address of the day.

The members of the faculty are arriving daily, as well as many of the students. The faculty has never been more complete, and the character of it assures one of the best years from that standpoint that the institution has ever known.

Those working in the registrar's office feel highly encouraged over the prospects, for it seems from the reservations that have been made that the attendance will be considerably larger this year than last.

The football training camp was opened this afternoon, and some fifty players have reported. The character of the material assures one of the greatest athletic years in the history of Clarendon College, and fans are delighted with the hopes that the year holds forth. Coach H. T. Burton is preparing to put the men through a hard pre-season training, and many victories for the green and white are assured for the year.

MRS. JAMES MORRIS HONORED WITH RECEPTION THURSDAY

Mrs. James Hervey Morris was honoree of a formal reception given Thursday afternoon from five to six o'clock by Mrs. Robert F. Morris and her daughter, Miss Roberta. The guests were received at the door by Miss Roberta, and ushered into the home beautifully decorated throughout with a tasteful color scheme of green and white. In the receiving line stood Mrs. James Hervey Morris, Mrs. Robert F. Morris and Mrs. John T. Sims.

Dainty refreshments consisting of individual ice cream, further carrying out the color scheme, and cake were served to the guests; while fruit punch was served throughout the reception. The many friends of the families were hearty in their wishes expressed to Mrs. James Morris for a long and happy married life for her and her husband.

BAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW EVE

The Clarendon Orphan band will give a concert in front of the Y. building tomorrow evening commencing at eight o'clock. Although the support was withdrawn from the band with the end of July, the boys have continued to meet and practice, with the exception of the time taken out for the Baptist revival meeting. As the summer is past, and the winter will probably be cold for the little waifs, it is planned to make this the last concert given by the organization. Only two numbers can be promised for sure; "American Patrol" because it has been requested, and "Destiny" Waltz, because its sad melody seems to represent the destiny of so many bands. The rest of the program will be made up of equally good band music, and everyone is invited to come and hear the last concert of this spell's Clarendon Band.

D. T. Dewell left Monday for Dallas where he is purchasing stock for the American Stores business in this city and for some of their of their chain of stores. He will probably go to the eastern markets before returning here.

SPEAK THE GOOD WORD

Heaviness in the heart of man maketh it stoop; but a good word maketh it glad.—Proverbs 12:25.

Business will be good this fall for those who go after business early, late and continuously.

There never was a time when Clarendon needed the good offices of a super-heated, twelve cylinder secretary of the Chamber of Commerce as this fall.

Republican hopes in Texas run high just after a Democratic primary, but fade, turn red and fall before the chill winds of November. It was ever thus.

R. L. Henry announces his withdrawal from the ku klux klan on account of his disagreement with the policies of certain leaders, however, he declares that he stands for the principles of the klan as in the past. Now, Bob, you don't deserve any commendation for standing for the principles of the klan. Any good, clean, American citizen who reverences God, the Christian religion and the nobler things of life stands for the principles of the klan. The principles were here first and if one does not stand for those principles no klan oath or any other secret order oath will cause him to become a supporter of those principles. Of course, there is strength in organization, but it is the internal qualities of character and not the externals that mark a man as a real citizen and neighbor.

Since the continued delay of rain there is growing up a sentiment in Donley County, among all classes of people, that this is the time of times to vote a county-wide bond issue for the building of permanent roads. If the county would vote $750,000, a like amount could be secured from the federal and state government road funds, which means that our roads could be built for fifty cents on the dollar, as we would only have to pay back half of the cost and have forty years in which to do that. It would mean, further that when the short harvest season is over this fall that every man with a team and wagon could secure all the work he wanted until the big contract had been completed. It would mean that where dimes are now scarce that dollars would be plentiful and that where some will face the problems of living, that there would be no cause for necessity, with work abounding. The annual tax would be small, the benefits incalculable and the relief immediate. It is worthy of your best thought.

And now the striking union leaders are letting out a howl that pierces the very heavens because the government of the United States has at last roused itself in the interests of the common public and sued out a writ of injunction in the federal court, enjoining the said unions from sabotage and intimidation. The News knows it is just a little unusual for the government to stand up boldly for the public interest as against the interests of organized labor and entrenched capital, but in this injunction proceeding we have a laudable example of that sort of thing, and we are hoping that it is only the beginning of a new determination to turn this government back to a government for all the people. There has been volumes of legislation to regulate capital in recent years but this injunction is only the beginning of legislation that will be required to regulate the radical labor leaders into a reasonable state of Americanism. The News has never feared the sound judgment and fair spirit of the ordinary American working man, but for years his will and judgment has been more and more given over into the hands of radical leadership who hold position solely through their carping, thinly veiled socialism. These must be weeded out and the control returned to men who have sense enough to know that a fair day's work must be given for a just wage and that capital must be given proper compensation else the goose is killed who lays the golden egg, and the whole fabric of the country will tumble around our heads. Public sentiment and the government now demand a change in labor leadership. American people will not live under a constant threat, and dark age methods cannot be substituted in the place of reason.

The union men might have deliberately tried to perfect a plan support, sentiment and confidence, and they couldn't have made a better job of it. The passengers on the trains deserted suffered physically, but the whole world suffered from outraged sensibilities and revulsion at such inhuman, ruthless and deliberate vandalism. Unionism can't survive without public support, and every time Unionism resorts to violence where-by the public, in the role of the innocent and helpless bystander, gets the bullet fired at capital, Unionism but adds another straw to the load Camel's back of public sentiment—the thing on which Unionism subsists. Murder, arson, vandalism, corporal punishment, and such, are poor weapons with which to wage a fight, especially if you want and must have the support of the people. Conditions affecting the workers in New England would not affect the workers in Texas, or Oregon. Many times nationwide strikes have been precipitated to remedy some evil in some one locality. Many men have been called from their work, when they could ill afford to quit work—when they didn't want to quit work. Men have been called out on a sympathetic strike when they had no grievance of their own. The one big union—The American Federation of labor has gummied up the cards considerably, many, many times. Not only has it made contented men quit work to the detriment of their best interests, but it takes revenues that should go into home ownership and family comforts, for the support of its great

Some men take it as a personal thrust that all their neighbors don't see the issues of politics, business and religion, just as they do. Ain't it awful, Agnes?

The members of the Texas Press Association will be pleased to learn that its Secretary, "Fat and Forty" Sam Harben, has returned from the fishing and lying banks of Colorado, has arrived in the sacred confines of Texas and should, ere this, be seated in a revolving chair before his many desks, representing many lines of business, at Richardson, Texas—home, sweet home. He comes back to Texas well equipped in health and vigor for the skirmishes of life, and with more "fish stories" than even Sam Fore can bear to endure. Boy, page Lee Rountree.

We have read only rumors about the present state convention at San Antonio, and judge that there will be some radicals who will try to inject the ku klux issue in the patri-mony and deliberations of that body. "Politics is politics", just as "pigs is pigs", but all the same, The News hopes that the issue will not be brought on the floor at San Antonio by either side. It may be all right to "hip, hurrah" during primary election times, but when the Democratic party of Texas assembles in solemn conclave for its biennial convention, all horse play of this sort ought to be left outside. There is no more reason to inject the ku klux issue, than the Woodman issue, the Masonic issue, the K. C. issue, or any other secret order issue. To please the rank and file of Texas democrats the convention will please attend to business and forget the "horse play", always injected to please some sore-head cause.

POOR POLICY

Jesse James was an outlaw, but the world has never had anything but contempt for the man who shot him while he had his back turned. Everybody was interested in capturing Slaughter, the outlaw, but when one of his trusted "friends" murdered him while he slept, public sentiment was aroused to the point of mob violence.

In other words, the world is a stickler for a square deal. The world will applaud your spunk as long as you put up a clean fight, whether the world agrees with you or not. The moment you begin taking underhanded methods, you lose the support and respect of the world. A few days ago some of the trans-continental trains of the Santa Fe were deserted by their crews in the heart of the Mojave Desert. Several hundred men, women and children were abandoned to the ravage of the merciless heat of that treeless and waterless expanse. The temperature was 108 and not a breath of air was stirring. Steel coaches afforded but little protection.

The utility executives for some mysterious reason elected to sit still and suffer silently, when all they had to do was to publish their stockholders' names to prove that as a matter of fact the people owned the utilities themselves.

If they had done this—if they would do it now—there would never be a word about "interests." For people—all of us neighbors—are honest and never steal pennies from anyone.

It is the duty of every man in any branch of the electrical industry to spread continuously a clear understanding of who it is who actually owns the electrical utilities—and as a matter of fact all other modern enterprises as well. We own them, of course—we the people—only we are allowed, to forget. But the more electrical men talk about it, the less the politician can hinder and the more people will buy utility securities. And the more there are who are stockholders, the fewer there can be who will misunderstand.

Out of this understanding natural interest and enthusiasm for electrical appliances. And that, above all things will promote the electrical industry.—Public Service Magazine.

Representative-elect Dewey Young, of Collingsworth county, was in this city on business Saturday. He was accompanied here by his brother-in-law, Mr. Thompson, who will attend Clarendon College the coming session. While here they were also pleasant callers at the News office.

executive force, benefits, reserves, etc., etc.

The company unions undoubtedly will prevail generally. The men will like them better, and will find them more satisfactory in every way. Then, when a given company has dirty laundry, it will be kept at home and washed at home, rather than made the central theme for a nationwide scandal and economic waste. Mutual benefit associations, savings associations, home ownership plans, and mutual co-operation are some of the things possible with company unions, or clubs, or societies, or whatever you want to call them. Some of the big industrial concerns have such unions, and the employees are happier, more prosperous and more sure of rising to heights compatible with their ability. Would they swap places with A. F. L. men who never know today but that they may be called out on a strike tomorrow? They would not.

The railroads in the East are organizing Company Unions. The executives are taking the lead in bringing about these organizations. They have no objection to collective bargaining, provided those who bargain collectively have a common interest.—Wm. J. Wyatt in "Wyatt's Line"

WHO ARE "THE INTERESTS"?

Rabid politicians and editors of yellow newspapers used to rave about "the interests" behind utility corporations. There had been plenty of selfish exploitation of public service franchises to provide material for campaign issues and political propaganda in many cities. But the cart-tail spellbinder and the men who piled the poison pens adopted it as universal gospel, good for any town and at any time.

Out of the smoke and fire of all this spectacular headline and platform accusation came a general popular belief that utilities were owned by "interests." Interests were supposed to be groups of rich, greedy and dishonest men, banded together to rob communities by overcharging them for electric light or gas, or water or street-car.

These rich men kept hidden out of sight and therefore were despicable. The women sensible grown-up men and reason swallowed all this was because so many people said it so continuously in so many cities and because in some places it was proved to be true. And all the time the utilities in their towns did not prove to them that was false. So, not knowing who did own their utilities, and not being told, they believed that there were hidden owners, that there must be a reason why they hid, and that the reason must be the same as in the other crooked cases.

So the politicians reared and pitched for personal reasons and the sensation writers wrote on and on. And the people kept wondering who it was who did own the utilities. The utility executives for some mysterious reason elected to sit still and suffer silently, when all they had to do was to publish their stockholders' names to prove that as a matter of fact the people owned the utilities themselves.

If they had done this—if they would do it now—there would never be a word about "interests." For people—all of us neighbors—are honest and never steal pennies from anyone.

It is the duty of every man in any branch of the electrical industry to spread continuously a clear understanding of who it is who actually owns the electrical utilities—and as a matter of fact all other modern enterprises as well. We own them, of course—we the people—only we are allowed, to forget. But the more electrical men talk about it, the less the politician can hinder and the more people will buy utility securities. And the more there are who are stockholders, the fewer there can be who will misunderstand.

Out of this understanding natural interest and enthusiasm for electrical appliances. And that, above all things will promote the electrical industry.—Public Service Magazine.

YOUR LIGHT PLANT

Like all other businesses a light and power plant must make a reasonable profit on its investment before it can expand.

Unlike some businesses we are not allowed to make more than a limited percent on the money invested. Our percent of profit is limited by law. If we make more than a reasonable return on the investment we must reduce our prices.

A greater revenue reduces our overhead costs per kwh, it increases our profits and allows us to reduce the price to our customers. This in turn brings about a still greater volume of business and farther reductions, etc. It is to our interest as well as to the interest of our customers for us to reduce our rates as low as a reasonable return on the investment will allow. We want to expand our business, help Clarendon grow and grow with the town.

LABOR LOSES SUIT

The Supreme Court of the United States has held that labor unions may be prosecuted under the Sherman anti-trust act. The case was an appeal by the United Mine Workers of America from a decision of the United States Court of Appeals, approved by the Circuit Court of Appeals, holding that the mine workers' organization and 65 individuals were guilty of violating the Sherman law during a strike which occurred in Arkansas in 1914.

The Mine Workers contested the decision under the plea that they were an unincorporated association of workers and therefore were not subject to prosecution under the act. The decision of the highest court in the land was otherwise.

It is law in America that no individual or group of individuals acting in concert for that purpose can continue to force the majority of the people to submit to their demands. It makes no difference whether the individuals be capitalists or laborers, the result is the same; the people suffer and this cannot be permitted. Capital generally has accepted this ultimatum. Labor has not accepted it, or rather union labor has not. Unless the ultimatum is accepted, the end of union labor is in sight.

On this subject Investment News (Chicago) says editorially:

"Strikes, the only weapon that union labor has been using, not infrequently unwarrantably, in the past are losing much of their terror. The mine workers, the railroad workers, the building trades and rag-tag and bob-tail that follow after, big or small fry, are in a losing contest for the reason that they have gone too far in thwarting and ignoring economic laws and estranging public sympathy. Street car men and carpenters, coal miners and well diggers, janitors and scavengers, each and all will have to trim their sails and cut their cloth in future to meet the requirements of 20th Century society. They may threaten to quit work and they may quit work, but man who has lived through the centuries only by the sweat of his brow must continue to live in the future as he has lived in the past by the sweat of his brow. Union labor cannot expect to be exempt from that requirement. This does not mean that union labor, or any other labor has not certain rights; that union labor or any other labor is not entitled to more than a living wage; that union labor or any other labor shall not in the future continue to elevate its standard of living. But fundamentally and at the very roots of being, union labor will have to accept that which is reasonable no more, no less. Union labor still has to learn the lesson that capital learned in the last several years—the lesson that one must live and let the other fellow live."—Public Service Magazine.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?

Two clear-thinking Americans have but recently expressed their opinions on the question: "What is the matter with America?" Thousands of citizens have read with interest and even some alarm the editorial by William Allen White, of Emporia, Kansas in COLLIER'S. Other thousands have read the lecture on "Optimism" delivered by the Hon. Peter O. Knight before a group of manufacturers at Birmingham. Both men agree that something is radically wrong. Mr. White is least optimistic.

"One man's guess is as good as another's in a free country," says Mr. White, so let us venture a diagnosis and call the trouble with America a moron majority.

"The trouble with this country is not with business," Mr. Knight declares, "It is with politics."

That far at least they agree and from the two statements we are able to build a third that the trouble with America is the effect of Mr. White's "moron majority" when it engages in Mr. Knight's "politics"

They agree further: "We are filling up our cities with men and women who lack the mental grasp of the colonists who fought our revolution, established our land, who wrote our constitution and so made America," says Mr. White. "In another hundred years we shall have an America for which our fathers did not die, by a long shot. In that day we find that Washington, Lincoln, John Hancock, Miles Standish and Andy Jackson—the decent and circumspect Rover Boys of our earlier politics—are shadowy ghosts without conjuring power in our country."

There enters the note of pessimism. We have lost or are losing our faith in the Fathers, and in their works. Mr. Knight says practically the same thing as follows:

"I assert that 95 per cent of the trouble in this country now has resulted from the adoption of the primary system and the adoption of the amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the people. The adoption of the primary principle and that constitutional amendment were exactly opposite to those principles that actuated and animated our forefathers when they adopted our constitution."

Mr. White urges reverence for the Fathers; Mr. Knight reverence for their works. They are both right. In the past Mr. White has supported various reform measures. There is a hint in his article that he may have been unwise to do so. He says:

"We fashioned this blooming land for men who were mental adults. The European statesmen took account of the weak witted in making their institutions."

Mr. Knight believes it would have been better to preserve those institutions in the form which would have protected us from these half, or at best three-quarter wit majorities. We think his solution is better than Mr. White's. He wants to educate the citizenry up to the institution. No one will argue with the proposition that education is necessary; it is the fundamental thing. We must take the immigrant population and teach them to understand and believe thoroughly in American ideals. As Mr. White says "either we who believe in the old order must teach these care-free children of sunnier skies and gayer lives than ours that our ideals are better than theirs or their ideals will overcome ours. For our dark-skinned neighbors breed faster than we."

But until our newly arrived neighbors have been educated, let us leave the safeguards in our Constitution which prevent them from overwhelming us. It is only in recent years that the influence of these foreign-born ideas—radical and destructive—have been felt, and we are already suffering.

Mr. Knight says: "By reason of the adoption of the various amendments to the Constitution, every one of them animated by views and principles contrary to the views of our forefathers when they founded the constitution, we now have the most governed and the worst governed civilized nation on this earth—except Russia. There is more dissatisfaction existing in the United States today than in any civilized nation in this world—except Russia."

Now what to do about it? Mr. White speaks rather vaguely of education as though he doubted whether it would do the work. Mr. Knight has a different idea. He believes that there is enough industry and common sense left in America to overthrow this "moron majority" of which Mr. White speaks.

He says in the closing paragraph of his address:

"My message is to take off your coats, expand your lungs, throw your hats into the ring, and tell the politicians at Washington to go to. They have not sense combined permanently to cripple the magnificent brains of the wonderful body of business men we have in this country, who will continue to make this the greatest and most wonderful country on the face of the globe. When I reflect upon our wonderful past, when I visualize what the future has yet to unfold, and when I see pessimists going around here and there complaining about every thing, I wonder at the patience of the Almighty that He does not strike us down."

We are more inclined to Mr. Knight's view that there is hope for the future. At the same time we recognize the menace of Mr. White's "moron majority." If it exists, it can be defeated. If it does not exist we need not fear it. "Moron majorities" may be led into paths of righteousness, indeed, that is our present task. We must eliminate the demagogue politicians who employ these unthinking voters to their own advantage. Careless thinkers are as easily influenced to vote wisely as they are to vote foolishly when the urge of personal gain or special privilege is withdrawn.

One of the hardest tasks is to abolish the "yellow press," such newspapers as the one in Illinois which recently played up the tragic death of the governor's wife at the close of his trial as a "murder," alleging that the instigators of the fight against the governor were the slayers of his wife and placing the most blame on the doorstep of a competing journal.

We must restore the safeguards placed in the constitution by its authors, and now all but inoperative through the enactment of "freak" legislation sponsored by that class of politicians vulgarly styled "the short-haired women and the long haired men."

On this subject of legislation, Mr. Knight said in his address: "A friend of mine in the United States Senate some several weeks ago sent me a copy of a bill that had just been introduced and wanted my opinion on it. I wrote to him and said that I should like to formulate a program for Congress. I told him that the American people were disgusted with Washington, not with the Democratic party or the Republican party but with Congress generally; and that if I could map out a program of legislation for the future this is what I would do:

"Commencing Monday I would have each branch of Congress open with prayer and then after the chaplain had delivered his prayer I would adjourn for the day; I would continue that throughout the week. For the second week I would have each house open with prayer, followed in each house by the reading of the Constitution of the United States because I do not believe 50 per cent of the membership have ever read it then I would adjourn for the day. I would follow that for a week. Then on Monday of the third week, I would come with a bill, so as to take care of the necessities of this government for the next 20 years, and after it was passed I would have some gentleman rise and say: 'In the name of the Lord, and of common sense, I move that Congress do now adjourn for 20 years.' I believe if that was done this country would blossom as the rose."

Less legislation and more education, more work, no blocs and fewer blockheads in government—that is what America needs.

HAD HIS TROUBLES

A young fellow passed through town the first of the week, who was returning home from the Kansas wheat fields. Said he had been following a harvester gang from Denton plumb to the northern border of Kansas.

Work was plentiful and the pay good and everything went along swimmingly until the railroad strike was called. Then the harvest fields suddenly swarmed with railroad men out of a job, and our Denton boy found himself out of work.

He tried several places but found meanwhile his money gave out and he had to beat his way home.

"Why didn't you go to the cities and get a job that the railroad men had thrown up?" he was asked.

The boy grinned: "That's different. I wasn't ready to commit suicide yet, and you know while a union man has no scruples in taking a non-union man's job away from him, if the latter should turn the tables on him it would mean trouble—oodles of it for the scab."

A "Four" That Sets A New Standard The 1923 Buick Four Touring—'885

In beauty of appearance, dependability and economy of operation the Buick four-cylinder five-passenger Touring has established an entirely new standard for four-cylinder cars.

Its low body with its clean, straight lines, accentuated by the high radiator and straight hood, give it a long, racy appearance that is new to cars of its class. Massive crown fenders add to this distinction, as do the snug-fitting, shapely top and the handsome drum-type head and cowl lamps.

And with this beauty has come a new riding comfort. The seats are deep and low with full leg room in both compartments. The steering column has been changed in position to increase driving ease and the gear shift lever has been raised to meet the driver's hand. A transmission lock, a windshield adjustable from the inside, and a transmission-driven speedometer likewise are among the many new refinements of this model.

Material changes also have been made in motor, chassis, and body construction which contribute still further to the wonderful performance record characteristic of Buick cars for twenty years.

The Buick line for 1923 comprises fourteen models: Four—3 Pass. Roadster, $865; 6 Pass. Touring, $885; 3 Pass. Coupe, $1175; 6 Pass. Sedan, $1395; 5 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1325; Sixes—3 Pass. ## EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

SULPHUR MAKES PIMPLES VANISH

Says Sulphur is Quickest to Clean Up An Ugly Skin

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist. Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Mentho-Sulphur and use it the old-fashioned way.

Miss Lena V. Griswold left Sunday evening for Canyon where she is attending the institute for public school teachers. She will be in charge of the department of history in the Claude high school.

Chester Martin, of Shamrock, arrived here the first of the week preparatory to entering Clarendon College next week. He is working at the Whitlock barber shop, and will work there at odd hours during the school year.

Hon. A. B. Martin, and family, of Plainview, and Mr. Upton, the father of Houston Upton who was convicted here at the last term of district court of the murder of Gladys Solomon, were here on business Saturday.

Prof. J. E. Nelson and family returned Sunday from Austin where he and his wife have been attending the summer session of the University of Texas. Mrs. Nelson received her M. A. degree, and Mr. Nelson likes only a small amount of work and his thesis of receiving a like degree.

Miss Victoria Wallace, a former student and graduate of Clarendon College, was through this city Saturday enroute to her home at Miami from Dallas where she has been attending the summer session of S. M. U. She expects to return soon to the long session.

Miss Georgia Ball, arrived here Friday evening from her home at Bowie for a visit with her friend Miss Oressa Teague. Together they left Sunday morning for Canyon to attend the institute for public school teachers of many of the Panhandle counties. Later they will go to Panhandle where they will teach in the high school.

EQUAL JUSTICE AND OPPORTUNITY

ALBERT SHIELDS

The principles of democracy are equal justice and equal opportunity for all men of all degrees. The people do not themselves legislate, judge, execute. For one hundred millions this would mean chaos. But they are free to elect directly or indirectly as they may decide, their legislators, judges and executives.

In a more profound sense, ours is a democracy of the people. The character of the people must decide the character of the government, just as it decides the character of the nation. The form of our government is near perfection. But the form in itself guarantees nothing. The people determine wisely and honestly only if they are themselves wise and honest.

The government will be a good government if those who own it love it and work for it, and if they labor to make their fellows love it and work for it. It can be made a poor government. Then the fault lies where it belongs. No one man in this democracy can wrap his toga about him and stalk away saying, "I have done my duty, let others do what they will." He is in the same boat as the rest, and he cannot save himself alone. Not only must he be a good citizen, but he must make the other one as good as he, or he goes down with him. That is Americanization—making your own self and every other one you can worthy of America.

We are so much stronger, so much happier, so much better placed today than other nations of the world that even with all of the faults we have, democracy stands triumphant. These things we owe to the wealth of the land, to the sturdy spirits that moved our frontiers from the Mississippi to the West, to the wisdom of the fathers, to the form of government we enjoy. As we become better Americans we shall learn not only our duty to the future but our obligation to the past. And the foreigners who wish to be good citizens must share the lessons with us.

When our shops and factories are open for instruction for the illiterate and non-English speaking foreigner, when our schools no longer figure as wearisome incursions on the taxpayer, but rather as a splendid investment to make a better nation; when men and women, employers and employees, meet in constant conference to discuss their problems; when strikes and lockouts will be looked upon as only the most remote, unscientific methods of solution; when forums are established, and men and women, thoughtless of class distinction, will join in their communities to make a better city; when civic duty will not be a single annual vote at the ballot box, but a constant theme for unselfish thinking and unselfish labor, we shall all be in a fair way toward a real program of Americanization.

All this seems to be an extravagant picture, yet every feature of it is being done somewhere, while nowhere are all these features organized into one composite whole. When that day comes there will be little room for the advance agent of professional discontent. He will not be abused; he will be laughed out of his corner pulpit.

All these manifold activities will be developed as they become worth while. Every American wants the safety of his own property and the security of his own person assured. He wants industry to be profitable, whether he is employer or wage earner. He wants opportunity for leisure and facilities for its enjoyment. He wants efficient government and come to think that it is hard to have them together so he feels he must grab to get his share. Yet, if he and every one else could enjoy the fruits of the land, he would be happy. He would even go further, and pay a considerable premium to insure their possession for everybody, we enjoy. As we become better Americans we shall learn not only our duty to the future but our obligation to the past. And the foreigners who wish to be good citizens must share the lessons with us.

FINDS MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP TOO EXPENSIVE TO CONTINUE

Municipal ownership of the electric lighting plant at Western Springs, a village in the western part of Cook County, Illinois, was pronounced a disastrous experiment by H. J. Reeves, President of the board of trustees of that village, at a recent hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission. The occasion of the hearing was in the matter of an application for a Certificate of convenience and necessity to enable the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to construct and operate an electrical distribution system in the village and supply service. The village recently granted the Company an ordinance whereby it is to replace the present village system and furnish electric light and power to the residents.

Mr. Reeves in his statement said the plant was built about 1890 and the village had never been able to make it pay and could not finance its requirements.

"At the present time it is in a very dilapidated condition," he said. "Our boilers are in such a condition that the insurance company has withdrawn insurance and the village board feels that it is not willing to accept responsibility for operating the plant in its present condition. We feel it is very urgent that we get service from the Public Service Company as quickly as possible. I might further say that we have endeavored to figure out a plan of financing our own plant and find it takes so much money we couldn't possibly raise it by a bond issue."

Frank G. Ewald, chief engineer of the commission, conducting the examination, asked Mr. Reeves: "Would you say, so far as the village of Western Springs is concerned, municipal ownership is a failure?"

"I would," replied Mr. Reeves. "We have probably averaged over $5,000 yearly loss during the last six years by operating the plant. Furthermore, we are charging a rate of 15 1/2 cents straight per k. w. h. Even at that rate we are losing."

"And that is higher than the rates you would be charged?" asked Mr. Ewald.

"I have figured out from the schedule that the Public Service Company charges it is going to cost an average householder between 10 1/2 and 11 cents," Mr. Reeves answered.

He continued: "I might further say, in regard to our water conditions we are now pumping with steam pumps and if they go out, which they are liable to do any time, the town will be without water. We have provided an electric pump so that if we can get service we can pump with electricity immediately."

"Will the operation of your water plant be cheaper if pumped electrically than the way you are pumping now?" asked Mr. Ewald.

"It will be materially cheaper," said Mr. Reeves.

BETWEEN DEVIL AND DEEP SEA

Byers, Clay County, Texas, Aug. 29.—An unusual experience was related by a traveler who camped near here.

Living in an East Texas town, he was out of work, and his family lacking the necessities of life when he was waited upon at night by a band of masked men and given a severe whipping and told to "find work and support your family."

He said he went to Marshall and secured a position in the railroad shops, but the second night after he began work he was visited by a band of floggers "who treated me worse than the first bunch" and he was warned to quit working there at once "under threat of death."

He says he is now on his way to Mexico, where he is going to take out naturalization papers as a Mexican citizen.

THE SPEARMAN FARM LANDS

located in Terry, Gaines and Yoakum Counties, South Plains of the Panhandle, Texas, are now being offered at prices and terms, which will enable any industrious farmer to buy and pay for a farm with less money than pay rent. Productive lands, a fine climate, abundance of good pure water, and a country in which one man raises more cotton, more corn and more sweet potatoes and other farm products, than a whole family can gather. No insect pests. We make landlords out of our customers instead of renters. Farmers who are anxious to own their farms, are invited to come to Seagraves, inspect our farm lands, look at the crops, and talk to the men who raise them.

A card to W. A. SoRelle, General Agent, 4 Santa Fe Building, Clarendon, Texas, will bring you a descriptive pamphlet, giving detailed information about these lands and plan of purchase.

A reliable agent wanted in each county.

KING HIRAM'S TOMB

Now that the horrors of war are over the interest of all Jews, Gentiles and Freemasons should be aroused when they learn of the proposed expedition that has for its object the excavation of the site of the tomb of Hiram, King of Tyre, that has been partly ruined by the Tyrians. For now that the day of the Turk has passed, that of the Bible student and the archaeologist has dawned.

British soldiers occupy Jerusalem, who are unlocking the streets of Christianity, which also opens the gates of El Sur or Tyre, that can now be scientifically explored. This is well worth while for beneath its soil are remains of valuable prehistoric records. Close to the city the mills are still running that cut the cedars of Lebanon for the house of Solomon, while about two hours' ride to the southeast of Tyre are the remains of the tomb, in fairly good condition, called by the natives "Aber Hiram," that contain, it is said, the ashes of Hiram, King of Tyre (2 Chronicles, 2:3-11). The excavation of the site may throw light on one of the first Grand Masters of the Craft of Freemasons.

It is hoped that "Mason's marks" may be found in the cornerstone of links in the historic chain that connects the Craft with the builder of King Solomon's temple 1000 years before the Christian era. Therefore, the brethren should be personally interested in the excavation of the tomb of Hiram, King of Tyre, as well as Bible students who will find a new field opened to them.

GREEN OLIVE PEPPER CORN

Corn sautéed with green peppers and olives is a delicious dish that may be prepared in a few minutes. Once tried it will be repeated frequently each year when corn on the cob is obtainable. Here is an excellent recipe:

Ingredients: Six ears sweet corn (uncooked); one-fourth teaspoon salt; one-eighth teaspoon paprika; one green sweet pepper; one cup chopped Spanish green olives; two tablespoonfuls butter.

Cut corn from cob. Remove seeds and white fibre from the sweet pepper. Cut the pepper into fine strips and cook five minutes in the butter. Add the corn and cook for ten to fifteen minutes, stirring to prevent burning. Add the salt, paprika and green olives. Serve.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB RHEUMATISM FROM STIFF ACHING JOINTS

Rub Soreness from joints and muscles with a small trial bottle of old St. Jacobs Oil

Stop "dosing" Rheumatism. It's pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia.

Lumber up! Get a 35 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pain, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

THE HERRIN MURDERS

It cannot truthfully be said that the public—meaning all of the people—is out of sympathy with Labor—meaning that portion of our population who work with their hands groups or whether affiliated under the broad mantle of the American Federations of Labor. But it can truthfully be asserted that the public is out of sympathy with the strike which causes public suffering and by the violence to which the strikers frequently resort to win.

Take the Herrin, Ill., mine massacre. Regarding it the New York Times says:

"It is for Americans outside of Williamson county and outside the sacred supra-legal circle of the union to ponder this arch deed of savagery. Is the law of the statute books or tumultuary violence, executing the will of the Labor union, to prevail? It is fortunate that the United States did not accept a mandate for Armenia. Our own massacres will keep us more than busy."

The St. Louis GLOBE-DEMOCRAT:

"The blood of blameless men, whose only offense was that they accepted employment of which they were in need to earn their bread, cries out against the cause in which they came to their death."

Labor or Capital, organized or unorganized, cannot resort to bloody murder and escape scot free. The American idea is opposed to this sort of thing. Hatred and distrust of the union aroused by the Herrin incident will follow the union for half a century. True in this instance, a supine state administration probably will permit the murderers to escape for political reasons, by the whole union—and probably the said administration will pay the penalty at the bar of public opinion.—Public Service Magazine.

DRILLING RESUMED ON GROGAN WELL

Drilling has been resumed on the Grogan well, which is now at a depth of 3,200 feet. Frank Tull, the head driller, returned last week from San Antonio, where he was called by the company holding the drilling contract. From the log of other wells, Mr. Tull believes that oil in paying quantities will be found at a depth of about 3,450 feet, although preparations are being made to drill the hole 3,600 or 4,000 feet deep unless oil is found at less depth. With the regular day shifts going forward with the work, the well should be sunk to lower depths at a rapid rate.

Famous Pastry Chef Has Tasty Bran Dish

Francis Schmitt

A BRAN, pudding, termed by those to whom it was served as "simply delicious," has been evolved by Francis Schmitt, pastry chef of the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York. Here it is:

Four heaping teaspoonfuls bran, one tablespoonful flour, one-half tablespoonful corn starch, four eggs, three tablespoonfuls sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half pint milk. Chop up butter with flour, corn starch, bran at half of the sugar and add to boiling milk; stir well on fire for about one minute, take off, mix in the four yolks. At last add the four whites beaten stiff with rest of sugar. Pour in well buttered and sugared form and set in pan with a little water in bottom and bake in medium oven, for about thirty minutes.

Serve with apricot sauce made as follows: Put contents of one small can of apricots through a sieve, add one-half pound of sugar and let boil for about five minutes.

AN ODORLESS ONION

A Montana hot house garden reports the discovery of an odorless onion. He evolved the new plant, he claims, by "crossing" a Bermuda onion with another plant. May the Montana gardener enjoy the best this world affords! What a boon he has been to mankind if only his discovery stands the test of time! What a service he has rendered and what suffering he has avoided! Chemists have done much for the world's happiness. Physicians and surgeons have worked wonders. Inventors have made life's path easier to travel. Dentists have removed much misery. Farmers have provided food and clothing, and manufacturers have made the raw product into a finished material. Transportation men have afforded a means of intercourse and explorers have opened virgin fields. Men in all occupations have given something to the world for having lived—even newspapers have provided the public with news. But of them all there is a question if any have done more to relieve unadulterated suffering among innocent bystanders than the gentleman from Montana, that revered gentleman who promises to remove the onion breath from human society.—Honey Grove Citizen.

A CHANGE FOR THE FARMER

In past years there has been little change. From smallest farm to the greatest range, we watch the farmer as years roll by. And often wonder if they know why, year after year there's never a change. While the farmer tries to buck the game.

Some farmers get joy out of the farm. Others a lesson will try to learn; While to others there's a different end. The farm takes the joy all out of them. The farmer's lot isn't an easy game. But there's a chance for riches and fame.

When prices change the farmers are first, Either up or down it hits them worst; If prices go down they're first in line, When prices go up they wait their time; For they're always first when there's a drop, And always last when prices hop.

We hope in future there'll be a change, On the smallest farm and largest range, To help the farmer and give some show, For a little joy in worlds of woe; Give them a chance a Fliver to own, Before they cross to Worlds unknown.

—E. O. DEXTER, Okemah, Okla.

ED PELTZEL'S HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

The beautiful home of Ed Peltzel in the southeast part of this city was completely destroyed Sunday evening by a fire originating from unknown causes. Mr. Peltzel and his family left about the middle of the afternoon for a car ride and did not return until late in the evening. Neighbors discovered the building on fire shortly after eight o'clock and the alarm was sounded. However, the fire had made such headway that the truck could be of no assistance other than save the buildings nearby which took some good work; and the boys were handicapped by the fact that the city water mains do not extend to that district. Dad Peltzel was at his tailor shop at the time of the outbreak of the fire, and hurried to the scene of the flames only to see the beautiful structure completely devoured.

The residence was covered by some insurance; however, when the remaining debt has been cleared, the result will be almost a complete loss to Mr. Peltzel.

SERIOUS FIRE AVERTED BY PROMPT WORK FRIDAY

What might have been a serious fire Friday at noon was averted by the prompt action of the fire department. Mrs. Eva Rhodes, who lives in the southeast part of town was having her small son to burn a small heap of trash in the yard; the youngster, it seems, did not watch the fire as closely as he should have; and after a moment the garage was discovered on fire. The fire truck responded promptly, as usual, and what might have proved a disastrous fire to the closely surrounding property was averted by the work of the fire company.

MRS. LEONARD GOLDSTON IS HONOREE OF SHOWER

Miss Oma Griggs entertained a few of her friends with a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. Leonard Goldston, formerly Miss Ethel Hudgins.

The home was beautifully decorated with the color scheme, pink and white and with ferns and pot plants. Misses Evelyn Patman and Eunice Griggs met the guest at the door carrying out the colors, Miss Patman dressed in white and Miss Griggs dressed in pink. Misses Sybil Johnson and Thelma McCarley led them to the dining room where they delivered their gifts and registered. While waiting for the new bride to arrive Miss Thelma McCarley rendered a piano solo then Miss Annie Cagle gave several musical selections.

The brides' book was then presented by Mrs. A. J. Morris in which book each guest had written their favorite recipe for the bride. Mrs. Goldston had then arrived and her biography was read by Miss Fray Stallings. Miss Eunice Griggs then gave a reading especially for Mrs. Goldston. Miss Fray Stallings gave an appropriate musical selection.

The gifts were presented to the bride by little Miss Aileen Benson Morris and Charles Maurice Massey. Little Aileen dressed in pink and white and Charles Maurice dressed in pink and white linen, pulling a wagon which was decorated in the colors loaded with many beautiful gifts containing cut glass, aluminum ware, china, ivory and linens. After Mrs. Goldston had untied her packages refreshments consisting of brick ice cream and angel food cake were served to the following: Mesdames Leonard Goldston, Joe Goldston, Hughey, Richard Wilkerson, Rodney Baldwin, Esther G. Massey, A. J. Morris, C. E. Griggs, Misses Oressa Teague, Oriene Hudgins, Fern Hughey, Elizabeth Martin, Annie Cagle, Naomi Allison, Fray Stallings, Mable Clare Betts, Thelma McCarley, Sybil Johnson, Evelyn Patman, Aileen Morris, Eunice and Oma Griggs and Master Charles Maurice Massey.—Reported too late for last week.
