MAYFIELD LEADS FERGUSON IN DONLEY COUNTY BY A MAJORITY OF VERY NEARLY THREE TO ONE

BILLY MAYFIELD LEADS FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, BENTLEY FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC IN- STRUCTION, AND TERRELL FOR TREASURER. BRUMLEY DEFEATS CRANE FOR SHERIFF—HURN WINS COMMISSIONER'S RACE IN THIS PRECINCT.

In Saturday's run-off, Earle B. Mayfield led Jim Ferguson in this County in the race for United States Senator, receiving 1242 votes to Ferguson's 480. Billy Mayfield's majority for lieutenant-governor was 173; Bentley's majority for superintendent of public instruction was 281, while Terrell in the race for State Treasurer, led Garrett by 293 votes. Considerable interest centered in the local races in which Brumley defeated Crane in the race for Sheriff, Hurn defeated Anderson for commissioner precinct two, and Thomas led Hawkins in precinct four.

Without doubt the greatest interest centered in the race between Mayfield and Ferguson for the senate; and Hedley gave the most overwhelming majority to Mayfield of any box in the county by going almost four to one for him, the vote standing 62 and 222. Ferguson carried four boxes in the county being Skillet, White Fish, Oilf and Wilson. The other boxes gave, for the most part, good majorities for Mayfield, Clarendon came next to Hedley in giving Mayfield a majority, Mayfield's lead being considerably more than three to one; or in votes the race stood 621 for Mayfield and 191 for Ferguson.

In the race for lieutenant governor, the relative standing of Mayfield and Davidson was about the same in each box, the former usually leading by a small majority, thus enabling him to nose out with 955 votes to 792 for Davidson.

Bentley led Marrs by a fair majority in the county, receiving 966 votes to Marrs' 685. Terrell also led Garrett for Treasurer by 293 votes.

Considerable interest centered in the local races, and Brumley defeated Crane for Sheriff by a majority of 191, receiving 1006 votes while Crane received 815. Crane led Brumley in the Clarendon box by receiving 510 votes to the latter's 350; Crane also carried McKnight, Smith, Wilson and Goldston, but Brumley's large lead in the Hedley and the Lelia Lake boxes and small leads in many of the other boxes, overcame Crane's handsome majority in the Clarendon box and the smaller boxes which he carried.

No little bit of interest was manifested in the race for commissioner in precinct two between J. H. Hurn and G. A. Anderson; Hurn defeated Anderson by receiving 500 votes to the latter's 307. Thomas was also victorious in the race for commissioner from precinct four, receiving fifty votes to the 46 for Hawkins.

Of course, all of us are given to a little crowing when something turned out as we predicted; and we take our turn at this since the vote of Saturday compares very favorably with our prediction of last week. Although more votes were cast than we looked for, our dope as to the percentages of Mayfield and Ferguson held up very well in the county. According to the figures of our prediction, Ferguson would have received thirty five percent as many votes as Mayfield; as a matter of fact, he received thirty eight percent as many votes as did Mayfield. Then we made a guess at the vote of the two in the state on the basis of what the vote would be in this county but Ferguson fared better in the whole state than he did in Donley county.

The latest returns from the state-wide returns seems to indicate that Mayfield defeated Ferguson by approximately sixty thousand votes, while Davidson beat Billy Mayfield around eighty-five thousand. Marrs defeated Bentley by a narrow four-thousand and Terrell was an easy winner over Garrett.

KU KLUX APPEAR AT BRICE CHURCH AND MAKE DONATION

Thursday evening while Rev. C. B. Ingram, of this city, was conducting a church service at Brice, several members of the ku klux klan appeared in regalia and handed the preacher a letter stating the principles for which they stand and containing a donation of twenty dollars. Rev. Ingram referred to them as "Pilgrim Strangers", and read some Scripture to that effect. When he arrived in this city the last part of the week, he hastened to tell his friends of the affair, and he felt especially good by reason of the commendation of his work that was made by the letter from the knights of the Invisible Empire.

WELL KNOWN ATHLETES TO ATTEND COLLEGE HERE

Those interested in Clarendon College and the athletic fans of this city will be interested in the announcement that the Goodwin twins of Springfield, Colorado will attend Clarendon College the next year. These are younger brothers of Sid Goodwin, who, perhaps, is the greatest star that has ever played on the Clarendon College line, and these two youngsters are said to be even better than their elder brother; and that is going some in view of the fact that Sid has been known to make a drop kick from the center of the field whenever the game grew tight. With the return of many of the old players, and with the addition of many stars of like quality as the Goodwins, it seems that Clarendon College will have the strongest football in its history this year.

MEN AT DENISON ARE IN GOOD CONDITON

Word received from the boys who are guarding the railway yards at Denison states that they are in good condition, and are waiting for the day when they will be sent home. The following communication has been received by the News from Lt. George Taylor, commanding Company H:

"This is to certify that all the men under my command in Co. H stationed at camp Leeper, Denison Texas, are in good condition. They have taken their para-typhoid inoculation and are becoming better soldiers every day.

"The guard is formed in three shifts, on four and off eight hours. And every third, each shift is off sixteen hours, being granted passes to go in and out of Denison.

"The men are gradually becoming hardened to the chow that the State is handing them, and everyone seems to be fattening with the exception of Sgt. Herman A. Bennett who lost fifty cents in a game of African polo; and now he is grieving so he can't sleep at night.

"It is just 112 degrees here in the shade; no one has ever had the nerve to step out in the sun with the thermometer. There is not anything going on down here except the rent, and it is due in a few days and everybody is broke; consequently, we are all hoping that we get thrown right out."

ADDITIONAL MOTOR IN- STALLED AT PUMP STATION

Another motor has been added to pumping system for the city's water. This one is a ten horse power and connected to a centrifugal pump will mean a distinct addition to the capacity of the system.

Mrs. M. M. Nobles was an Amarillo visitor Tuesday.

DEPUTY ARRESTED AT DENISON FOR LAXITY

In the dailies of the State, under the dates of August 22nd and August 23rd are carried the following stories which will be of interest to local people, as the home boys are doing guard duty at Denison.

DENISON, TEXAS, Aug. 22.—The military authorities here announced this morning that O. F. Miles, a deputy sheriff, had been placed under arrest. Other than the announcement that the deputy sheriff had been taken into custody, the militia had nothing to say regarding the county officer's arrest.

The deputy is in jail here. The arrest follows the recent raids of the guardsmen on rooming houses and places where it is alleged liquor was sold. It is known that the military authorities have for several days been grilling members of the sheriff's department.

In commenting on the arrest of Deputy Sheriff C. F. Miles at Denison by military authorities, Adjutant General Barton stated that he had known for some time that Miles had been under the surveillance of the military authorities.

General Barton asserted that the militia at Denison had at least seven or eight affidavits complaining that Miles was not enforcing the law. Several days ago the general was asked by Col. Charles W. Nimmon, regimental commanding officer of the troops stationed at Denison, what to do in the matter and he was told to use his own discretion in the matter.

General Barton asserted that Colonel Nimmon and Major E. A. Simpson had been requested to report to Austin on Wednesday morning for a conference with the Governor, attorney general and adjutant general. Just what matters will be discussed at this conference could not be learned here Tuesday night. It is assumed, however, that the situation at Denison will be gone over and future plans for handling the lawlessness will be made.

Austin, Aug. 23.—Colonel Charles W. Nimmon, commanding state troops at Denison, and Major E. A. Simpson, also on duty at Denison, arrived here this morning and immediately went into conference with Governor Neff and Adjutant General Barton on the strike situation. Plans for handling the situation in the future will be considered, it was indicated. A complete report of all troop activities at Denison also will be made by Colonel Nimmon.

CONTRACTOR PREPARES MOVE MACHINERY HERE

C. W. James, of the James Construction Company, of Dallas, was here Monday going over the situation of the waterworks preparatory to moving the machinery here to commence work on the installation of the addition to the system. Word was received that day from the purchasers of the bonds stating that the money in consideration of the bonds would be forwarded within a few days.

The machinery for the work will be sent here from Electra where the construction company has been working last. According to the contract between the city and the company, the work must be completed within forty five working days. As soon as sufficient material has arrived on hand to justify the start of the work and insure its completion within the time allowed, the work will commence.

LOCAL SUNDAY SCHOOL COM- MENDED BY CENTENARY BOARD

N. W. Hatchett, who is in charge of the Centenary fund subscribed by the local Methodist Sunday school, is in receipt of a letter from central office stating that the local school has paid its pledge one hundred percent to the First of July, and a card of one hundred percent efficiency was sent in recognition of that fact.

Hugh Brown and family returned Monday from a visit of several weeks relatives and friends in the central and north part of Texas.

EARLY PASSAGE OF BONUS BILL SEEMS ASSURED

SENATE APPROVES USE OF INTEREST ON FOREIGN DEBTS IN FINANCING THE BONUS FOR THE VETERANS OF THE GREAT WAR.

Without a record vote, the Senate today approved the use of the interest on the foreign debt in financing the soldier's bonus. Also it substituted the Smith-McNary $350,000,000 reclamation bill for the land settlement option in the house measure. Then it quit for the day with a final vote on the bonus measure at least one and perhaps two or three days distant.

The amendment authorizing the payment of the bonus charge with the interest on the eleven billion of dollars owed the United States by the allied nations was proposed by Senator Simmons, Democrat, of North Carolina. He and Senator Reed of Missouri, and other members urged it as a means not only of meeting President Harding's requirement that the bill carry a means of financing, but also of silencing the talk about the cancellation of the foreign debt. A roll call on the proposal was demanded at first, but this demand was withdrawn, presumably because of leaders that a quorum could not be obtained at the then late hour.

Thirty three senators, signifying their approval of the amendment and one, Senator New, Republican, Indiana, his disapproval.

The Smith-McNary reclamation amendment was agreed to 43 to 26. Party lines disappeared on the roll call, 23 Republicans and 20 Democrats, supporting the amendment and 18 Republicans and eight Democrats opposing it.

All of the senators from the far western States voted for the proposal and all of those from the New England states voted against it.

The Smith-McNary amendment would provide for the reclamation of arid lands in the west through irrigation and swamp lands in the south and other sections by drainage; the work to be done under the direction of the secretary of the interior, through federal and state cooperation. Veterans of the world war the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection would be given first opportunity to secure home leases and in working on the various projects.

Opposition to the amendment was voiced by Senators McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bonus; Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, and Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas. The charge was made that opponents of the bonus were supporting this proposition in the hope that it would furnish an added reason for the president to veto the bonus.

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, who proposed the reclamation feature told Senator McCumber that the bill would stand a better chance of executive approval with its amendment attached than it would without.

Senator Williams declared that the years given by the soldiers either at home or overseas were not years sacrificed, as he said had been claimed, but "years glorified and years sanctified". He said the men received the equal of a "university course," while in the army and those who returned home sound were much improved in body as well as in mind.

Senator LaFollette told the senate his only objection of the measure was that it was too meagre in the provision it made for the service men.

NEWS PRINTING LAKEVIEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

The News is engaged this week in printing directories for the Lakeview Telephone Exchange. For several years the management of that business has had the work done here, among others for the reason that the News does the work at a closer figure than does any other standard job shop in this part of the country, and then the work is of the character that would justify a higher figure. The booklet has twenty-four pages and cover.

Among the ads was a good sized professional card from the law firm of Morton, Leake and Fitzgerald in Memphis. The News was instructed to hold the setting of this ad until the results of the run-off were heard from, and if J. V. Leake was elected district judge, his name should be dropped from the firm. From what we had heard from that district and from what we gathered from the leading newspapers within its limits, we do not think that Mr. Leake would be elected. When the results of Saturday's primary were heard from, giving Leake a majority of about twelve hundred, there was the proof that we had judged rightly in setting up the ad. Then of course we were glad for two reasons, the first that we did not have to tear the ad down, and the other that we were glad to see a young man of the fine character of Judge Leake be honored by his fellow countrymen.

THROUGHFARE PASSING THROUGH NORTH PART OF COUNTY IS STATE HIGHWAY

According to announcement made by representative H. B. Hill, of Shamrock, the highway passing Jericho and lying in the northern part of this county is a state highway. This road is a state highway from Amarillo to the border line of Oklahoma, thence the road passes to Oklahoma City. Mr. Hill recently appeared before the state highway commission, petitioning that this highway be made a state road.

The designation of this road as a state highway means that each county through which this road passes, may devote a part of its auto tax to the maintenance of the road. As Texas has more than the 12,000 miles of state highway that is allowed federal aid, this new road cannot receive any federal aid.

MR. AND MRS BURTON HERE FOR SCHOOL YEAR

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Burton arrived in this city Friday afternoon to make their home, the groom being professor of science in Clarendon College and coach of the various athletic teams. They were married in Decatur the preceding Wednesday. They will make their home in the White House on the College campus. Mrs. Burton is a very charming lady, and "Coach" has made a wide circle of friends during his three years here in the college; and their many friends welcome them in coming here to make their home.

CLARENDON IS SECOND HOT- TEST CITY IN U. S. TUESDAY

According to the reports of the government weather bureau yesterday, Clarendon suffered the second hottest weather of any city in the United States Tuesday. The maximum temperature here was 105 degrees, and only Phoenix, Arizona, had that heat with 110 degrees, which was eleven degrees higher than Dallas, and six degrees higher than Abilene. Depend on Clarendon to lead the world, even if it is regarding the matter of the weather.

Stephen and Golder Russell left Monday morning for the northern part of New Mexico, where the former will comprise the faculty of a school in the shadow of the Rockies. Stephen was one of the graduates of the local high school last commencement, and among other good records was one of the local debaters who were victorious in the district meet, and consequently got a trip to Austin where he competed in the state contest. Golder will return after a short visit there.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO BEGIN NEXT THURSDAY

BETWEEN FIFTY AND SEVENTY-FIVE MEN WILL REPORT AT CAMP FOR TRAINING BEFORE OPENING OF SEASON. WONDER TEAM PROMISED.

According to all indications at this time, it is a conservative estimate to state that almost seventy five football players will report for work at the football camp which will commence next Thursday under the coaching of H. T. Burton. Clarendon College has never before had such an array of football material as is preparing to enter the gridiron training this year, and the best team in the history of the school is assured. Many of the old players, almost every old star to the man, will be back and excellent material from the high schools over this part of the state, and as well from Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico will make up the nucleus of a squad that is unconquerable.

Gilbert Jackson, the heady quarterback, who was the pivot of last year's team, will be here within the next day or two; George and Oscar Close, who were the fleet and hard-hitting halfbacks on last year's string have also written that they are ready to go, and will be here with the opening of the camp. P. W. Walker, the cool-headed quarter and utility man who started the last season right by winning the initial game, will be here and Kinney Lane who played a stellar game at left end last year, and who did almost unbelievable receiving in the big Thanksgiving game with Canyon, is already beginning to get in condition. Other men of former years who gave good account of themselves and who will return are, Oscar Walker, Sloan Miller, Olin Key, Mutt Furr and Clarence Hitchcock.

Some of the stars who have made records for themselves in high school athletics are, Collins, Hendrick, Oklahoma, who won first honors in Oklahoma last year as the best all-round athlete. The Goodwin twins, of Springfield, Colorado, who are reputed to be even better than their brother, Sid Goodwin, who attended college here several years ago.

Among the stars from the local high school who will fight for a place on the Bulldog squad are, Alvin Martin, James Patman, Bunk Ozier, the Bourland brothers and Harvey Sikes. Sikes, according to Coach Burton, has made an exceptionally good record in high school football while playing with Haskell High, and he will be a distinct addition to the string. The other boys have shown that they have the material that goes to make up a football star, and they should be able to make places on the team for many games.

Shamrock, as usual, is coming on strong and besides the Close boys who have meant so much to the team Collingsworth, a star center; Bell, a hard-hitting tackle; Mayfield, a speedy quarter; Sam Byers, a dependable center; and Roscoe Trostle a fleet left end; will be here.

Coach Burton is greatly enthused over the prospects of the year, and feels sure that this year's squad will make the greatest record of any string in the history of the school. He is having the field worked over; the hurdles, the tackling dummy, and the bucking strap, are being put up, and "Old Betsy" is being groomed for another season's wear. Many of this season's games will be played in Clarendon.

Mrs. R. M. Morris and children returned last week from a visit of several weeks with relatives and old friends in Arkansas.

Mrs. R. L. Arial and little son returned this morning to their home at Willington, South Carolina, after having visited here for some weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Morris.

BAPTIST REVIVAL IS MEETING WITH MARKED SUCCESS

REV. H. W. SHIRLEY, OF FRED- ERICK, OKLAHOMA, IS IN CHARGE OF SERVICES. E. L. CARNETT, OF FT. WORTH LEADS MUSIC.

Good results have been realized from the Baptist revival which has been running for the past two weeks, and interest is manifested in every service with large crowds attending. Thus far there have been twenty-eight conversions, and twenty-four of these have united with the church. The morning services have been conducted in the church, and the evening on the lawn east of the church.

Tuesday evening two converts were baptized, as they were intending to leave the city yesterday, but the baptism of the rest of those who unite with the church will take place at the last service.

As Rev. Shirley is needed badly by his own church, it is probable that the meeting will close Friday evening, according to his announcement, although, if a critical stage were reached in the services, he would perhaps stay until Sunday.

The revival is meeting with much co-operation from everyone, as was manifest when the members of other denominations were asked at one service to stand for a moment, and large representations from the other churches were present.

Rev. Shirley is a forceful speaker and his sermons have met with much favor both with the church members and others. He goes at his preaching with an earnestness that is persuasive.

Mr. Carnett, the singer, has also received much praise for his work; he is a member of the faculty, Southern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, his work has been made possible by the punctuality of a large choir, and several orchestra instruments have added materially to the music.

Although the local Baptist church does not have a pastor at this time, it is felt that the church work has received a great impetus from the services; and all departments of the church are going forward with their work.

CLARENDON SCHOOLS TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 11TH

Although it is impossible for the News this week to give full details concerning the opening of the public schools, it can safely be stated that the first day of school will be Monday, the 11th of next month. Supt. Nelson has not yet returned from Austin, and the faculty is not completed, but the News will give the full details as soon as they can be secured.

FIRST DONLEY COUNTY BALE COTTON IS SOLD

W. T. Wilkerson has the honor of producing the first bale of Donley County cotton in 1922. Mr. Wilkerson brought in his bale soon after A. S. Carter, of Brice, had brought his bale from Hall County last week. Within two hours after he had sold his cotton, Joe Wilkerson arrived with the second Donley county bale. The first Donley county bale brought more than thirty-one dollars as a premium.

MISS BEVILLE RETURNS FROM TRIP OVER ROOF OF WORLD

Miss D'Laurel Beville and her grandfather, Col. R. S. Kimberlin, returned Monday evening from an extended trip through the north. From California they went to Washington and British Columbia, from there taking steamer to Alaska later returning for a trip through northern Canada. They were gone for some six weeks.

A DIRECT CHALLENGE

Look at the generation of old, and see; did ever any trust in the Lord, abide in His Fear, and was forsaken? Or whom did He ever despise that called on Him?—Ecclesiastes 2:10.

The next great event of all-compelling importance will be the world's series.

Sometimes we note exchanges chafing under verbal criticism in their own towns. It doesn't pay to notice little thrusts from local jealousy, boys. A newspaper is a public servant and as such must learn to pass nagging by without notice.

Now it looks as though the government intended to allow the railroads and shopmen to "fight it out". That will be all right if the public will not suffer on account of the foolishness of the strike. If the public begins to suffer, then it is the duty of the government to step in with a heavy hand and bring order out of chaos.

Donley County's eight hundred and ten farms are valued at $19,213,090. In a measure the farming interests of Donley County represent a large business corporation and should be so recognized. The mortgaged indebtedness of the land is a little less than one million dollars, which proves the fine financial condition the farmers of Donley County are in, even though Republican administration, hard times, and the strike do keep the nickels scarce.

No, hum. The election is all over and neighbors and friends are already beginning to forget their differences and resume that close relationship that nothing but politics ever disturbs. The country would be better off if elections were held ever four years—just half as often.

The events of the shopmen's strike will go a long way to deter any other union from jumping into a strike blindly. The strike has gone along now for eight weeks and the men are trying to get back on just the same basis they went out on—in other words their strike has failed even if the roads should concede their seniority, which they will never do. If they had not struck they would have what they now contend for and would be eight weeks wages ahead. Poor business.

According to announcement made last week by the directors of the Hall County Fair, there will be no county fair in Memphis this year. The continued dry weather is assigned as the cause, and with characteristic optimism the fair for 1923 is announced. On account of the hard time experienced by those who put over the Donley County Fair last fall there has been no movement here to have a fair this fall, although a very creditable showing could have been made as there are some good crops in the country in spite of the dry spell.

When the Clarendon News says it stands for a West Texas A. & M., it does not mean that it would be satisfied with an agricultural department added to any other state institution in West Texas. There is being some selfish work done to add such a department to the Normal at Canyon, but such an addition would be a subversion of the justice of the matter and would leave our section with less than half a loaf when we deserve the whole loaf. Stand for the West Texas A. & M., but stand for a real institution which in after years will compare favorably with its older sister at College Station.

Ben Smith, editor of the Lockney Beacon, laid off politics this summer entirely and took the News editor to task for romping on Old Jim Ferguson's hide so hard. Now, Ben, we well remember that when you are at your best and "going good" there is no one who slings a "wicked-er" pen, so we don't take your advice very seriously. Another thing, Ben, which one must keep in mind—when one is dealing with that political polecat it takes more than the ordinary vocabulary to state the case adequately. But that's ancient history now, Ben, and for many moons our sayings will be of the honeyed variety which will delight your better nature in its most lofty flights.

The agitation for a West Texas A. & M. College is growing and The News believes it will be made a part of the democratic platform at the State convention. It is only simple justice and when the bill that will undoubtedly be presented and passed goes to the governor next year there will be no veto, this time.

Business experts predict that the coming fall and winter season will see advertising fill its highest efficiency and that a good business will come to all those who are wise enough and aggressive enough to employ its mighty forces. This is true right here in Clarendon and there are a number of clear-headed business men already planning a strong campaign of publicity for their respective lines. The Clarendon News was never at any previous time in so good a position to carry advertising to so many homes as at the present time. Let's go.

AGRICULTURE AND THE PRESS

G. I. Christie, director of extension of Purdue University, Indiana's agricultural college at Lafayette, Ind., and a man who is doing a wonderful work toward increasing the corn production per acre in Indiana, and in many other ways promoting better farming in that State, made a significant statement in an address before the Farmers' Short Course at the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College Friday.

"When it becomes popular to make light of higher education," he said, "a dangerous symptom has arisen and it is time for those who know the practical value of education to arouse themselves to the point of making such an attitude unpopular." While Mr. Christie may not have known it, he puts his finger on one of the most dangerous symptoms of the times in Texas when he made that declaration. The spirit that ruled the Legislature when the appropriations for the two-year period through which we are now passing were before it was one that "made light of higher education." In consequence the work of all of our State institutions has been crippled during the coming year. There has arisen in Texas a type of office seeker who has found it popular among certain classes to ridicule everything that relates to higher education, and too frequently men and women who do not agree with such tactics have nevertheless voted for such candidates. It is truly time, as Mr. Christie says, "for those who know the practical value of education to arouse themselves to the point of making such an attitude unpopular."

It must be confessed, however, that much of the popular distrust of higher education, especially agricultural education, is due to lack of proper information about it. And to some degree, at least, this in turn is due to the fact that the work of the State institutions, of the extension services and of the experiment stations, is not kept properly before the people by the daily and weekly newspapers of the State. This does not apply alone to the work of the institutions, but to agriculture itself. Half the people of Texas live on farms and ranches, and yet the activities of these people and the news relating to their industry, the most important in the State, are not presented understandingly and sympathetically by a great majority of the publications printed in Texas.

It is because of this situation that one of the most hopeful signs of the times is the launching of the Texas Agricultural Writers' Association. This body was organized at a press conference at the Agricultural and Mechanical College during the past week. The conference itself was a most important one and of great profit to those who participated in it. Incidentally it went on record unanimously in favor of a mill tax for the support of the State educational institutions and the public free schools and recommended the establishment of courses in agricultural journalism at the college. But the launching of the organization and the decision to hold an annual conference at the college were of great import to the future and much good can be expected to come of it. Every editor of a newspaper in a community depending on farmers for support should participate in the movement which the association has started. Its idea is to improve the methods of presenting matter of interest to the farmer and the conference last week proved beyond a doubt the great progress which such discussion can bring about in this respect.

The farmers can be depended upon to support everything that is in their interest, provided they know that it is in their interest. Ignorant opposition to higher education is due to a lack of such knowledge and nothing which has happened recently, it seems to us, gives greater promise of supplying this knowledge and eradicating this ignorant opposition to higher education than the organization of the Texas Agricultural Writers Association.—Star Telegram.

COURAGE

A distinction is often drawn, and usually with some unfairness, between moral courage and physical courage. Sometimes perhaps a person is so unimaginative or insensitive as not to be aware of any particular risk or danger to himself in the brave act that he performs, and there may be some reason for making a distinction between moral courage and physical courage, though there might be even more reason for arguing that the act did not really reveal courage at all. But the degree to which people are imaginative or sensitive can never be determined; and when a man tries to stop a runaway horse or goes into a burning building to rescue a child or plunges into a deep and swift current to save a drowning person, it is reasonable to assume that he has some conception of the hazards of the undertaking. And it is hard to see why such an act or any other act that requires physical courage does not imply moral courage as well. For what is moral courage if it is not the fulfillment of the teaching that a man must sacrifice himself, his own interests, in defense of what he instinctively feels to be right?

It is true that there are instances of men who have shown great personal heroism in risking their lives for others and who yet have dishonored themselves by stealing or cheating, or in other ways. The moral courage that enabled them to meet successfully the sudden test was not of the fibre that could withstand disintegrating processes, such as continuous hardship or temptation. On the other hand, persons credited rightly enough with moral courage because of their resolution and steadfastness under severe trial have sometimes shrunk from enterprises that carried the risk of physical injury or suffering and that they would otherwise have entered upon. Perhaps there are not many people whose courage is equally good in responding to the quick sharp call and the long hard haul. It takes all kinds of brave people to make a world.

CLOSER TO NATURE

Here is something that will make you think: Out of each 100 Americans, 30 now live on farms, and 20 live in communities of less than 2500 population and in mining and other regions classed as rural but not devoted to agriculture.

This shows that each three people on the farms feed seven city, town and village people, in addition to themselves.

It is a burden for the farmer. And he is said for him, that he is doing the job better than the farmers of any previous generation. The farmer is actually over-feeding the city man. It is commonly said that the food we Americans throw into the garbage pail would feed a frugal country like France.

The people of the big cities will argue that the farmer gets a fair exchange—that, while he feeds the city, the city in turn provides him with wire fences, steel plows, tractors, autos, furniture, finished clothing and the host of other commodities that have raised the standard of living on the farms.

Normally, that is true. But, now it is not. The latest price index from the Department of Agriculture shows that the farmer's purchasing power, based on market values of what he raises, is a fourth less than it was before the war, the city man is not giving the farmer what he normally has, what he is entitled to. People of small communities realize this. The big cities do not.

Until that gap is bridged, until the exchange becomes 100-100 instead of 75-100, there can be no genuine boom. A balance or equilibrium must be established, to get a normal flow of business between town and country. It will come. Prices, like water, seek their own level. Prosperity is in store for the farmer, and small communities will be the first to benefit with him.—Dalhart Texan.

Help Clarendon Grow

A city or town can not grow unless its business enterprises are prosperous. A business can not grow unless it is making money.

By helping each other, by saying a good word for the other fellow in business, we can build our own.

By buying everything we buy in Clarendon and recommending Clarendon merchandise and Clarendon products to everyone we meet both inside and outside of Clarendon. We can help prosper the enterprises that are here, help build our own business and attract other enterprises to our town.

Ours is one of the Clarendon enterprises. We are one of you and the above is our policy, toward other enterprises.

JOHN CROSS MARRIED IN SHREVEPORT, LA.

John B. Cross, of Ft. Worth Texas, was married on the 14th of August to Miss Verna Bailey, of Shreveport Louisiana, according to word received here. The groom is the son of W. M. Cross, of Lakeview, and graduated from the local high school in the class of 1918. In his senior year, he was captain of the baseball team, and the year before he was captain of the basketball squad. After graduation here, he went to Shreveport where he made his home until recently when he moved to Ft. Worth and became connected with the Texas Oil News. The following account of the wedding is taken from the Shreveport Times.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Verna Bailey, the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bailey, to Mr. John B. Cross, formerly of Shreveport, but now of Fort Worth, Texas. The wedding was solemnized Monday evening, August 14, at 8 o'clock, at the First Baptist Church, Dr. M. E. Dodd officiating. This was the first marriage to be held in the splendid new auditorium, which was artistically decorated with ferns and baskets of cut flowers arranged to enhance its beauty. Preceding the ceremony the following musical program was rendered, Mrs. E. Weldon Jones singing, accompanied by Mrs. Orrin Cloud at the organ: "The Nocturne of Love," "Calm as the Night," "Chanson-trieste," "Sweetest Story Ever Told," while "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" was softly played during the service.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, attired in a handsome silk gown with over-drapes of exquisite Spanish lace, caught with loops of pearls. She wore a large white picture hat of unusual beauty, and carried an arm bouquet of Easter lilies, bride's roses, and lilies of the valley, with ferns, tulle and ribbons which was later sent to the groom's mother. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

The double ring ceremony was most impressive. Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, for the relatives and a few close friends of the family. Ferns and pot plants were gracefully arranged throughout the living and dining rooms, and an abundance of cut flowers made an effective setting for the large wedding cake, which centered the dining table. After the cutting of the cake by the bride, delicious fruit punch and cake were served.

The bride has many friends because of her amiable and lovable disposition and her unselfishness in doing good for others, having been president of the Philatelic class, where by her devotion and untiring efforts, she has won the esteem of all who knew her.

The groom has made his home in Shreveport for several years, and has also won many friends, but has recently removed to Fort Worth, where he is connected with the Texas Oil News. One unique feature of the wedding was the fact that it was the first radio wedding in Shreveport the bride's out-of-town relatives and friends and the groom's associates being connected, and listened to the service by radio.

Many handsome gifts attested the popularity of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Cross left at once for Fort Worth, where they will be at home at the Westbrook Hotel and though wishing them every happiness, their friends regret that business takes them from Shreveport.

THE SOLE REASON

An Italian laborer was applying for naturalization papers and to test his qualifications the judge asked:

"Who is president of the United States?"
"Meestaire Harding."
"Correct. And who is vice-president?"
"Meestaire Harding."
"N-n-no, that will hardly do," replied the kindly judge. "But I will give you another chance. What is to prevent your becoming president?"

"Ah-ha!" chortled the laborer in triumph at such an easy one. "I gotta you dere, judge. Me too busy. No gotta da time."—American Legion Weekly.

M. A. Dewell, wife and baby son, Dave, of Clovis N. Mexico, are here visiting with Mr. Dewell's sisters, Misses Mary and Frances Dewell.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN MAKE UP GOOD PREMIUM

With the arrival of the first bale of cotton in Clarendon last week, the business and professional men of Clarendon made up a nice premium of sixty dollars and twenty-five cents. It has been the custom here each year to make up a premium to be divided equally between the one bringing the first bale here from within the county and the one who brings the first bale here from within the county. A. S. Carter, of Brice, received half the premium made up last week, his bale of cotton having been produced in Hall County just over the Donley County line. The slightly more than thirty-one dollars is being saved for the first person who brings in a bale produced in Donley county this year. Following is the list of contributors with the amount of each one's donation opposite his name. President Matt Bennett of the Chamber of Commerce carried the list to get the donations.

IF ALL WHO HATE

If all who hate would love us,
And all our loves were true;
The stars that swing above us
Would brighten in the blue.
If cruel words were kisses
And every scowl a smile,
A better world than this is
Would hardly be worth while;
If purses would not tighten
To meet a brother's need,
The load we bear would lighten
Above the grave of greed.

If those who whine would whistle,
And those who languish laugh,
The rose would rout the thistle,
The grain outrun the chaff;
If hearts were only folly,
If grieving were forgot,
And tears of melancholy
Were things that now are not,
Then love would kneel to duty,
And all the world would seem
A bridal bower of beauty,
A dream within a dream.

If men would cease to worry,
And women cease to sigh,
And all be glad to bury
Whatever has to die;
If neighbors spoke to neighbor
As love demands of all,
The rust would eat the saber,
The spear stay on the wall;
Then every day would glisten,
And every eye would shine,
And God would pause and listen,
And life would be divine.

IF YOU ARE A METHODIST—

I hope you will read on to the end, because this is an item of news that intimately concerns you because you are a Methodist. If it happens that you are not a Methodist, read it anyway, because it may impel you to encourage a friend, who is a Methodist by membership or "leaning," to rally to the Sunday school of his church.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday in September. We have set as a goal for the second Sunday, the 9th of September, an attendance of 600. We believe in "goals," but we do not believe in attempting the impossible. We set a reasonable "goal" and then go after it, good and hard! Remember the time we set a goal at "800 on Easter Sunday"? And how we wrote 834 on the board?

Why the goal of SIX hundred on the second Sunday?

BECAUSE 600 present on the Sunday before the public schools and the college open would be a record breaker for the Clarendon Methodist Sunday School.

BECAUSE we want to see how many of our Methodists who live here twelve months in the year can be brought together in the Sunday School.

BECAUSE we want to get our school all "in tune" for the visit of Bishop Dickey, one of the new bishops, who will preach to us on the THIRD Sunday.

BECAUSE we want to have the school "hittin' on all six" for an important and significant occasion—PROMOTION DAY, the FOURTH Sunday.

Four good reasons, aren't they?—Making up your mind right now, that you'll be in your place NEXT Sunday morning? Do it, and we will try to make it so interesting and so pleasant that you'll be back every Sunday. We need your presence and your smile. Won't you give it to us?

Faithfully yours,
Fred A. Story, Supt.

NOTES FROM THE W. M. S.

The Methodist Missionary Society has, according to its usual custom, taken the month of August for vacation time, not meeting since the business meeting on the first Wednesday in this month. But with the coming of September the regular meetings will be resumed. The business meeting will be held on Sept. 6th, and each member is urged to be in attendance. The women of the church are cordially invited to be present.

Miss Georgia Ball, of Bowie, will arrive here tomorrow for a visit with her friend, Miss Oressa Teague. Sunday she and Miss Teague will leave for Canyon, where they will attend the district institute for public school teachers; the former is English teacher in Panhandle High School, and the latter history teacher.

George Ryan was in the Brice country on business Tuesday.

GOLDSTON-HUDGINS

Miss Ethel Hudgins and Leonard Goldston were quietly married by Dr. G. S. Slover at his home Saturday evening at seven-thirty o'clock. Following the ceremony the bridal pair left for the Goldston community, where the groom is one of the industrious young farmers. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hudgins and has been reared to young womanhood in this city, having graduated from Clarendon College. She has a wide circle of friends to wish her every happiness. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Goldston, of the community of that name, and is one of those young fellows who has scores of friends made by his general fine nature. He is the brother of Joe and Tom Goldston of this city. A shower honoring the bride, account of which will appear in the next issue, was given by Miss Oma Griggs Tuesday afternoon. The many friends of the young couple join in extending congratulations and the wish that their life be filled with happiness and prosperity.

FEW ALIEN FARMERS IN THE SOUTH

Foreign-born farmers are most numerous in the North Central States although there are considerable numbers in the Pacific States, and a relatively high proportion of the total number of farmers in some of the Eastern States are foreign-born. There are very few foreign born farmers in the South except in Texas.

The countries showing increases in foreign-born farmers in the United States between 1910 and 1920 were Poland, with an increase of 10,124 or 140.1 per cent; Hungary, with an increase of 3,294, or 86.1 per cent; Italy with 7,647, or 72 per cent; Russia, with 6,595, or 25 per cent; and Holland with 1,794, or 13 per cent.

The largest relative decreases were as follows: Ireland, 50.5 per cent; Wales, 39.7 per cent; Germany, 36.6 per cent; England, 33 per cent; and Scotland, 26.6 per cent.

MAP MAKING IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

The fascinating legend "unexplored" has vanished from great tracts of the interior of Africa, where railways now wind their way in its stead. Africa from a geographical standpoint has almost lost, indeed, in recent years its title of "the dark continent," which might now be more fitly applied to South America. This still holds tracts in its recesses where cartography is largely conjectural or unverified. The world has other dark spots in some of its larger islands, such as Borneo and New Guinea; and, apart from all difficulties of commissariat and climate, it is not yet possible to pick one's way through the interior of Australia with the precision of a walk in Surrey. Add to these problems those of the bed of the seas and of the Arctic and Antarctic tracts where land and sea are confused by a mask of ice, and it is clear that map makers may still congratulate themselves on the promise of a long and active career.—London Times.

Misses Myrtle and Margaret McElreath, of Memphis, are visiting here this week with their friends, Misses Julia and Irma Lewis. Miss Julia Lewis visited with them in Memphis last week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morris returned Tuesday morning from Colorado where they have spent a honeymoon of two weeks.

Texas Is First in More Things Than Any Other State

That Texas ranks first in "firsts" is being told to the world by Texas advertising men.

Texas is first in production of beef cattle, grain sorghums, mules, cotton, goats, mohair, cotton seed and manufactured cotton seed products, onions, pecans, honey and total annual value of agricultural products, but resources and latent opportunities.

Texas has upwards of 100,000,000 acres of cultivable land of which less than one-third is now improved. This small percentage of cultivable land has for the past three years led all other states of the union in total value of agricultural products by a wide margin. When fully developed, Texas will produce annually three or four times the value of the agricultural products of any other state in the Union.

What Texas Produces

Texas produced during 1921, 2,129,000 bales of cotton, 175,000,000 bushels of corn 60,000,000 bushels of oats, 5,996,000 bushels of rice, 123,000,000 pounds of peanuts, 20,810,000 bushels of wheat, 8,000,000 bushels of sweet potatoes and sorghum syrups, 2,000,000 bushels of barley, 2,200,000 bushels of white potatoes, and approximately 60,000 car loads of spinach, cabbage, onions, pecans, watermelons and other small crops.

Texas is coming rapidly to the front as the producer of the most diversified crop of the Union. The Plains regions are rapidly developing into great wheat and grain sorghum producing areas, while the Rio Grande Valley, Gulf coast country and East Texas regions are rivaling California as producers of vegetables for the early markets of the north.

Texas is also a considerable producer of fruits, ranking high among the peach producing states of the Union, with an average of about 4,000,000 bushels annually. Plums, prunes, apricots, apples and pears are also being produced in commercial quantities. About 1,000,000 pounds of figs are harvested annually, and within a few years Texas will rank with Florida and California as a producer of oranges and grape fruit. Citrus trees are now bearing in the Rio Grande valley and thousands of additional trees are annually reaching the age of maturity.

Live Stock

Texas has about 4,600,000 beef cattle upon her ranches in addition to about 1,500,000 dairy cattle. The state leads in beef production. Texas also leads in the number of goats with approximately 1,700,000 and mules with a total of 850,000. There are 990,000 horses on Texas farms, 2,573,000 sheep, 2,225,000 hogs and 20,000,000 chickens and turkeys.

About 174,000,000 gallons of milk are produced in the state annually from which 49,000,960 pounds of butter are made. Approximately 64,000,000 dozens of eggs are produced on Texas farms each year. The total annual production of honey from 233,000 beehives is approximately 5,000,000 pounds. The annual production of wool runs from 12,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds, while the mohair produced averages approximately 5,000,000 pounds.

Minerals

Texas produces, including petroleum, approximately $30,000,000 in mineral products annually. Besides producing an annual average of nearly 100,000,000 barrels of petroleum, the state produces practically one-half of the sulphur supply of the world. Texas also ranks high in the production of pottery, brick, and other clay products, quick silver, Fullers earth, cement, limestone, and lime, granite, marble and lignite. Texas also produces about one-half million tons of coal annually.

There are approximately 50 different valuable minerals found in various parts of the state, including such a wide range as iron, lignite, ochre, radioactive earth, potash, quick silver, salt, silica and granite. Some of these products, including salt and silica, are now being produced in commercial quantities.

Texas possesses one of the largest iron ore deposits in the United States. This deposit underlies 5,000 square miles of land in the vicinity of Rusk in East Texas, and contains a 60 percent metallic brown ore. Attempts to develop this deposit have not been very successful to date, due to the lack of a source of fuel, but new processes of retorting lignite are expected to produce an abundance of fuel for this purpose within the next few years.

Other Natural Resources

Texas produces about 1,500,000,000 board feet of lumber annually, there being about 600 sawmills operating throughout the timber belts of East Texas. The greater portion of this timber production is pine, through there is a considerable amount of hardwood timber. Texas ranks well up among the states in this industry.

The annual production of oysters from Texas waters has ranged from 34,000 barrels to 103,000 barrels annually during the past ten years. For the same period approximately 4,000,000 pounds of fish have been taken from Texas waters annually by Texas fishermen.

THINK ON THESE THINGS

A good life is truth in action.

We cannot live a lie and enjoy the blessings of truth.

He who is obedient to the law is not punished for violating it.

A life lived righteously is truth manifested. "Thy word is truth."

If sin were not punished, wherein would come the desire to forsake it?

We cannot serve Satan and receive the reward prepared for those who are obedient to God.

He who follows the lead of a lie will receive a lie's reward—sorrow, disappointment, suffering.

The heroic old Tentmaker of Tarsus uttered a warning truth when he said, "he wages of sin is death."

The safe, sure road to the land of happiness is marked by the signposts of love, duty, mercy and truth.

The demand for repentance and restitution may be long coming, but it will come sooner or later, most often sooner.

James tells us, "When lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin; and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death."

In things spiritual as well as in things material, we cannot undertake to get something for nothing without suffering.

He who lives in accord with truth demonstrates truth in its beneficent effects in action. His deeds are truth manifested.

There can be no disobedience of the law of God which is not paid for with the last farthing by him who is the violator. There is no escaping the penalty.

"Know ye not that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey, whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness?"

The great Nazarene said, "I do always those things that please him." Imagine the beauty, the sublimity, the gloriousness of the life of one who does always those things that please God!

The Psalmist says, "Thy law is the truth." When we are living in disobedience to truth we are living in disobedience to error. This, by the very nature of life and justice, must result disastrously.

As a rule, sin is forsaken only after the sinner has suffered, has found by sad experience that he cannot ignore or even become indifferent to the law of God, without incurring the penalty which is the wages of sin—unhappiness, misery, sorrow, death.—DeWitt McMurray 33 Degree I. G. H.

Next week is "Paramount Week" at the Pastime Theatre and Manager Mulkey is presenting one of the finest selections of programs that the show-going people of Clarendon have ever seen in one week. The Paramount people have urged the adoption of the all-Paramount week's program over the nation for advertising purposes, therefore nothing but the best may be expected from next week's program at the Pastime. Manager H. Mulkey says if anything will get the people back into the show-going habit "Paramount Week" will do the trick. No advance in prices.

Announcement will be seen in another column of this issue of the opening of the kindergarten conducted by Mrs. J. A. McKillop. Mrs. McKillop will be glad of the opportunity to have in her charge many of the little tots and Clarendon parents will be glad to place them in her classes as she has gained great success in this work.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Clarendon Citizens show a way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Clarendon citizen says:

Mrs. Ellen Andreas, E. 4th St., gave the following statement on November 29th, 1915: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, getting them at Stocking's Drug Store. I advise anyone troubled with weak back or bothered with irregular action of the kidneys to try them. They proved satisfactory for me and I don't think there is a better kidney remedy."

GONE FOR GOOD

On April 21st, 1919, Mrs. Andreas added: "I have not had any signs of trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

DETROIT'S EXPERIMENT

Detroit's vote for municipal ownership, by which the public was committed to bond issues amounting into millions, and to a business program having enormous possibilities either for good or evil—was taken by about one-third of the qualified voters of the city.

The result is legal, regular and binding. One-third of the voters have decided the matter and obligated the credit of a disinterested two-thirds—and this was a question which has been debated and hammered at for a third of a century past. This latter fact disposed of the explanation usually offered in reference to a light vote, that the people cannot be expected to take their time and devote their interest to pass upon something the importance or the details of which have not been placed clearly before them. If it ever is within the possibility of human intelligence to know all about a public question so far as theories will convey the knowledge, the Detroit people knew all about the street car issue. Yet only a third of them voted upon it.

It is doubtful if municipal ownership can be made a success in Detroit in any event. The probabilities are that in ten years from now the objections to the system will be quite as burdensome, save that it will hereafter be transferred to the taxpayers. If a strong, capable man like James Couzens could be continued in office as mayor, to "run" the administration with the benevolent despotism of his own force and knowledge, the thing probably would work out. But this would not be public ownership; it would be private ownership and management in the interest of the public—which is very different from the regular form of public ownership, both in practice and results.

The theory of municipal ownership is fine, but the working out depends upon one or two things: The willingness of the public to put a benevolent despot, who is highly capable in his benevolence and highly patriotic in his despotism, in charge and leave him there and accept his say-so to the business, or, the willingness of the public to give the fullest public interest to public affairs, and to do this unselfishly and broad-mindedly, without fear favor or greed.

A one-third vote to carry the bond issue is not a good promise of the latter, and the kind of public emotion and suspicion which go into the making of municipal ownership movements is not a good promise of the former.—Findlay (O.) Republican.

A NESTOR'S PRAYER BY A NEW MEXICO FARMER

Lord, I am only a nestor, a New Mexico farmer:

Thou knowest that when wheat was $2.00 per bushel and I had flour and sugar in the house and cake and pie every time I wanted it, I wasn't satisfied and voted for a change.

Thou knowest that I wore a Harding badge and a Burson button and was faithful in all things to the G. O. P. Even so; Thou knowest that I believed in dawn of a new day, and that wool would advance in price, and that I would get $3.00 for wheat, 15 cents per pound for beef and 20 cents for pork.

Lord two years have gone never to return. I am too poor to buy necessary Rockefeller for my Henry, but I still wear a Harding badge, but now it is on the seat of my overalls. O, Lord, I am thankful for one thing, that is that Harding has been able to make jack rabbit taste good in summer time I pray Thee that Thou will keep them replenished so that I shall not want.

Likewise Lord, Thou knowest that always have believed A. B. Fall to be the greatest Texas Statesman in New Mexico that ever owned mines in the domain of Pancho Villa; he was my friend and I am glad he was Rockefeller's even unto the Wyoming oil fields. I am glad O, Lord, that Thou hast prospered the railroads and that they have been able to keep up their freight rates when my corn would not pay the expense of gathering.

And I pray Thee that Thou wilt continue to uphold Treasurer Strong, and that the State Auditor may be enabled to collect interest for many years on the State funds for his own bank account, for it is in a righteous cause. Teach me to pray:

Our father who are in Washington, Harding be thy name. His Kingdom come, His will be done, even in keeping the soldiers out of a Bonus. Give us each day our daily corn bread that Wilson tried for two years to make us eat and that Harding had us eating in three months; and lead us not into temptation to vote for a Democrat and Harding's

PANHANDLE OPTIMISM

Can you beat the Panhandle folks for optimism? You certainly cannot. To the real citizen of the Plains country, this is the greatest country on earth—under all conditions. In spite of the financial conditions, the Plains people have suffered less than the people of any section of the United States. The wheat crop is very short this year, and witness the opinion of two well known farmers: The first one said he was glad there was a practical wheat failure this year because the world is looking toward the Panhandle, and if there had been a good wheat crop this year land would have been in such great demand and the price would have risen so that the old timers here would have been forced out. Another farmer said yesterday he was glad for the wheat failure because he had come to realize that there was more money in hogs than in attempting to raise wheat. The feed crop for hogs was always sure. Wheat was not a sure crop, he price of hogs was good; wheat prices were uncertain. The hog crop was easily marketed; marketing wheat was a hard and very expensive job. He predicted that less wheat would be planted in Randall county next year because of the surer and better way of making money through hogs.—Randall County.

THE FEAR OF AGE

Socrates, when his hair whitened with the snow of age, learned to play on instruments of music. Cato, at fourscore, began his study of Greek, and the same age saw Plutarch beginning, with the enthusiasm of a boy, his first lesson in Latin. "The Character of Man," Theophrastus' magnum opus, was begun on his ninetieth birthday. Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" was the work of the poet's declining years. Ronsard, the father of French poetry, whose sonnets even translations cannot destroy, did not develop his poetic faculty until nearly fifty. Benjamin Franklin at this age had just taken his first steps of importance in philosophical pursuits. Arnauld, the theologian and sage, translated "Josephus" in his eightieth year. Winkelman, one of the most famous writers on classic antiquities, was the son of a shotmaker, and lived in obscurity and ignorance until the prime of his life.

Hobbs, the English philosopher, published his version of the "Odyssey" in his eighty-seventh year, and his "Iliad" one year later. Chevreul, the great French scientist, whose untiring labors in the realm of color have so enriched the world, was busy, keen, and active when death called him, some ten years ago, at the age of 103.

These men did not fear age. These few names from the great master roll of the famous ones who defied the years should be voices of hope and heartening to every individual whose courage and confidence are weak. The path of truth, higher living, truer development in every phase of life, is never shut from the individual until he closes it himself. Let man feel this, believe it, and make this faith a real and living action in his life, and there are no limits to his progress.

The constant looking backward to what might have been, instead of forward to what may be, is a greater weakener of self-confidence. This worry for the old past, this wasted energy, which no power in the world can restore, ever lessens the individual's faith in himself weakens his efforts to develop himself for the future to the perfection of his possibilities.

A Triumph for Value

IN the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater values offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.

THE LAW OF SERVICE

LYMAN ABBOTT

Service is the law of life. There is no such thing as independence. For the coffee that you drank this morning at breakfast the berries were probably picked in Mexico or in South America; then they were brought here by the steamship or the railroad, then handled by the merchant and then prepared for the table. Some one raised the wheat in Minnesota, some one else ground it in Minneapolis, some one else brought it here, some one else cooked it. How many men were employed simply in getting for us our breakfast! We are dependent not only on the present, but on all the past. How many broken hearts, how many disappointed ambitions, how many abandoned hopes before the locomotive was perfected which may take you to your homes to-morrow! Can you go to the grave and pay the dead? Can you pay for what the past has done for you? You can only pass on to the future some service in acknowledgment of that which the past has rendered you.

There are only four ways in which a man can get anything in this world. He can make it by his own industry; he can receive it as a gift; he can filch it from somebody else; he can contrive to take it out of the common stock which God meant for his children. Now, of these four ways there is only one way that is honest and self-respecting for a man with bodily vigor and intellectual ability, and that is to make it by his honest industry.

In Cuba seven hundred men, women and children died each week before General Wood established an order requiring the citizens to clean house. They did not want to do so, but they were compelled, and as a result of the cleaning the mortality has been reduced from seven hundred to fifty or sixty per week. Six hundred and forty died every week before their time because the citizens did not wish cleanliness. But it was just to compel them to do what they did not consent to do, and so save the lives of six hundred and forty without the consent of the governed.

This which is the law for the regulation of the nation in its international relations is the law for its regulation within itself; by it must be determined all questions of local administration. Mr. Croker, upon the witness stand in New York, is asked the question, "Mr. Croker, you are in politics for what you can get out of it?" and replies, "Yes, sir; all day, and every day in the week." This is the answer of a boss. Men say, we must have leaders in politics. Certainly we must. But what we must have, it not a man who is in politics for what he can get out of it all day and every day in the week; he is not a leader, he is a boss. The leader works in front of the procession and the others follow voluntarily; the boss walks behind with the whip. Leadership and bossism are absolutely inconsistent. I call on you solemnly to swear before God and your flag that so far as you can help it there shall never be in your country a government of the boss, by the boss, and for the boss, but that it shall be a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

SOME PRINCIPLE

Alvin York, noted hero of the world war, who captured more German soldiers at one time than any other soldier, attended commencement exercises at a small college in Kentucky recently and at the instance of his auditors told of his exploit. He ascribes full credit for his exploit to God. "I trusted Him just the same in the war as I did before." He also told why he had refused the offer of $20,000 to go on the stage for a week with twelve "chorus girls." "But I was just a country boy," said York, "and that was too much for me. I might have had the $20,000, but I would not have had the satisfaction that I was serving the Savior. My policy is to stay off the devil's playground or he will come out and play with you."—Exchange.

KING SOLOMON'S TEMPLE

We often hear discussed these days the greatness of King Solomon's temple of Bible times, but few people even in these days of palmy extravagance and millionaire displays have any adequate impression of the cost of the great temple of Solomon says the Masonic Sun of Toronto, Canada. According to Villapandus, the "talents" of gold silver and brass were equal to the enormous sum of $34,599,111,000; the worth of the jewels is generally placed at a figure equally high. The vessels of gold, according to Josephus, were valued at 140,000 talents, or $2,876,481,015. The vessels of silver, according to the same authorities, were still more valuable, being set down as worth $3,231,729,000. Priests' vestments and robes of singers, $10,050,000; trumpets, $1,000,000. To this, add the expenses of building material and labor, etc., and we get some wonderful figures.

Ten thousand men hewing cedars, 70,000 bearers of burdens, 80,000 hewers of stone, 3,700 overseers, all of whom were employed for seven years, and upon whom, besides their wages, Solomon bestowed $73,669,856. If their daily food was worth 50c each, the sum total for all was $319,385,440, during the time of building. The materials in the rough are estimated at $2,726,685,000.

HOW MUCH DOES ADVERTISING PAY?
Stop it and you'll find out. Mr. L. P. Perry, treasurer of the Central Connecticut Power & Light Co., says that after getting its stock selling campaign well along his company stopped running advertisements and that it then began to hear from the people. "The question most of them asked was: "Why were they (the ads) discontinued?" That settled it for that company. Here is an official council of a large company that has just begun to sell securities on the popular basis. A leading executive objects to the amount spent for advertising. He wants to know just how much of a figure advertising cuts in results and whether people read the ads.

"Why were they discontinued?" Yes, they read 'em. William Wrigley is not stopping

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN. QUICKLY SOOTHED BY THIS SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops and after two or three applications, the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema, right up.

Small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store.

Neither are the American tobacco interests, which in one year, spent $16,000,000 on it.

If advertising will do such wonders for chewing gum and tobacco and all other commercial articles, what will it not do for that basic industry, the public utility if given a chance.

It is a gross error to regard advertising always as an expense for Service Magazine.

YOURSELF—APPLIED AS CAPITAL

The runaway slave in "Huckleberry Finn" prided himself tremendously on his cash value. "The widow" had threatened to sell him for a hundred dollars. He had himself. So he was rich. And, after all, this is a pretty good and practical point of view.

A man who earns $2,000 a year represents to himself a capital of $50,000 at 4 percent. A four-thousand-dollar man can set himself down as having a personal valuation of $100,000. A man who earns $10,000 annually is a capital asset of a quarter of a million—all figured at this ratio. And such a man may well inquire of himself how wisely he has invested and applied this capital and what provision he is making for its permanent security.

There is a great deal more to any job than the day's work—particularly in such a business as ours. There is a great industrial progress to be guided, a vital service to mankind to be expanded and accelerated. In it are engaged a vast army of men and women with a potential capacity for achievement past all calculation. We are elements in this great resource and opportunity each one of us. The point is—how much of this capital do you represent and how well are you applying it?—Electrical World.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

We are a nation of meat eaters and uric acid is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

THE PLANET MARS IS A VERY FAST TRAVELER

The planet Mars recently was only about forty-two million miles distant from the earth, but is now traveling away and after awhile will be at the other end of her orbit, or some two hundred and thirty-five million miles distant. But Mars will return in 1924 and is to approach to within thirty-seven million miles. Mars is some traveler. According to Astronomer James C. Young, the Martain year is 687 days long. Mars has two moons, one about seven miles in diameter, sailing about 3,700 miles from the planet and revolving around it every seven and one-half hours, rising in the west and traveling toward the east; the other, having a diameter of about six miles, being 12,500 miles distant, rising in the east and moving westward and making a revolution about the planet in thirty hours and eighteen minutes. Wonder if Martian scientists have learned as much about the world as our scientists have learned about Mars?

Buick Seven Passenger Touring—$1435

Sweeping refinements in motor, chassis, body and equipment mark the Buick seven-passenger open car for 1923. Re-designing has brought the car's height down several inches with no sacrifice of head-room; an entirely new cantilever spring suspension provides a degree of riding comfort unexcelled. Above the windshield is a visor of distinctive design, there is a cow ventilator, a gasoline gauge on the dash, a rear-view mirror, a transmission lock, the shifting lever has been extended. The entire car shows a completeness of equipment not to be found elsewhere within a thousand dollars of its price. And back of these improvements stand the traditional qualities of Buick Valve-in-Head power and stability. The seven-passenger touring is one of fourteen entirely new models at entirely new prices which Buick offers for 1923.

The Buick line for 1923 comprises fourteen models: Four—8 Pass. Roadster, $865; 6 Pass. Touring, $685; 5 Pass. Coupe, $1175; 5 Pass. Sedan, $1595; 4 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1085; Six—3 Pass. Roadster, $1175; 5 Pass. Touring Sedan, $1085; 6 Pass. Sedan, $1595; 4 Pass. Coupe, $1885; 7 Pass. Touring, $1435; 7 Pass. Sedan, $2105; Sport Roadster, $1085; Sport Touring, $1075. FOUR BOND ISSUES CARRY AT SEYMOUR

The bond issues voted on Tuesday carried by such majorities as would leave no doubt as to their popularity. Those who were sponsoring the propositions expected them to carry, though hardly with the majorities that were revealed. The votes were as follows:

For Park Improvement 238; against 83.
For sewer extension and disposal plant 270; against 53.
For city hall 217; against 106.
For waterworks extension 270; against 51.

The election had few thrills but considerable work was done by those who wished the bonds to carry. There was a liberal vote on the part of the men, and about fifty women voted.

Much conjecture has already arisen regarding how soon the projects will be started. It will take time to get the bonds approved and printed, but there should not be much difficulty in their sale. The site for a city hall will not be purchased until the bonds are approved. There will be no rush about waterworks extension and this will all be made by spring.

The disposal plant bonds were voted contingent on securing a site for the plant further away from town, and until this right of way and site is secured these bonds will not be issued.

Half of the park bonds will be used in paying off indebtedness against the land. The other will be used along until this place is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.—Baylor County Banner.

A QUESTION ANSWERED

We have talked with a good many merchants in the past and among them we have struck several who frankly stated that they started to advertise once, but it didn't pay as they figured it would, so they became discouraged and quit. Always they've asked the reason, and always it was hard to make them understand, to convince them exactly why their advertising failed. But now comes Herbert Casson, well known writer and publicity expert with an article in an eastern magazine which seems to answer the question. He says:

"The man who runs an ad, no matter how convincing it is, and then stops at salesmanship in the store, isn't going to get his money's worth from the advertisement. Neither is the man who runs an ad, who makes a sudden loud noise and then drops into dead silence. That kind of man sends his advertising up like a skyrocket, it is seen for a moment and forgotten. The wise advertiser follows up the first ad with another, and then still more, and like a lighthouse his ads stands there to guide the public, and their light can be seen all the time. You have to tell some people a fact two or three times before they will believe it. After all, advertising is only sowing seed. After the soil and the sun and the rain have done their best, then comes the harvesting. You must reap and stack, and thresh, and bag and sell. And also you must remember that the other man will get the business if you don't ask for it."—Exchange.

BAR ASSOCIATION IS AGAINST INSANITY PLEA

The American Bar Association held its annual meeting in San Francisco last week. Attending the sessions were a number of America's greatest jurists and lawyers. They went on record as opposing an insanity plea in murder cases. They also condemned the "shady" criminal lawyer and pronounced him a pest on society. He is. As for the person who commits murder and then tries to justify the act by going into open court and proclaiming insanity, we say hang them all. The association agreed that all pistols should be confiscated and permit only officers of the law to own pistols and ammunition. They said it would reduce murder 90 per cent.—Claude News.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Harburg Brest Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus driving a cold from the system.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

RUB BACKACHE AND LUMBAGO RIGHT OUT

Rub Pain and Stiffness away with a small bottle of old honest St. Jacobs Oil

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a 35 cent bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right into the pain or ache, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the ache and pain right out of your back and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin. Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica and lame back misery so promptly!

SWIMMING PRECAUTIONS

The majority of people prefer to spend their vacations near some body of water, and as a result boating and swimming are popular national pastimes. Thousands of smart Alecks still rock boats and insist on changing seats at most inopportune times. The only remedy for this brand of folly that has so far been found effective is the liberal use of chloroform. But in swimming, even people who are cautious often get into trouble or must help others; so it is well to keep in mind some of the facts and rules one must observe in helping those who comes to grief in the water. An experienced swimmer should always make a careful survey of unknown waters before others go in. Submerged roots, rocks and other obstructions cause many accidents. Rescue a drowning person by throwing something to him, if possible. Even a small floating object is quite sufficient to sustain a person's weight in the water. If the person in trouble is struggling, try to keep away from him for a few seconds until he gets quiet. In effecting a rescue take a fast hold of the hair of the drowning person and turn him as quickly as possible on his back. Throw yourself on your back and with his back to your stomach swim for shore.—Exchange.

WHEAT GROWERS LIKE KANRED

The following reports have been sent in to the writer during the last week: The explanations following the figures on yields and tests are those made by the growers themselves in reporting the results. Their explanations are indicated by the quotation marks.

E. F. Rathke, Iowa Park, made an average of 93-4 bu. on 15 acres, testing 57 with Kanred. Just across a ten foot road he had 20 acres of Maricle wheat making 83-4 bushels testing 56. "Land was prepared alike and at the same time. The maricle was sown about October 1st, the Kanred about the last of October. The Maricle was up when the Kanred was sown. If I sow any wheat I shall sow all Kanred."

S. D. Adrian, Chillicothe, had 100 acres of Kanred which made 241-2 bushels per acre, testing 60. His 250 acres of Turkey Red made 12 bushels and tested from 57 to 60. "Same preparation and seeded the same time."

W. W. James, Jericho, (Donley County) had 14 acres of Kanred making 15 bushels per acre, test 60. He had 100 acres of Mediterranean which made 10 bushels per acre, testing 58.

G. C. Holland, Amarillo, made an average of 8 bushels on 600 acres, testing 58. He had no other kind but Kanred. He says "I like Kanred and grow it exclusively."

C. L. Moore, Oklaunion, had 200 acres of Kanred which made 8 bushels, testing 59. He had 100 acres of soft wheat which made 11 bushels per acre testing 59. He adds "This is no test for Kanred as the land it was on was not prepared as well as the other. I don't think you will go wrong with Kanred."

C. M. Smith, Oklaunion, had 324 acres of Kanred which averaged 51-2 bushels per acre and tested 52. He had no other variety. "Was dusted in and consequently did not come up until this spring. I prefer Kanred seed as I got fine results last year."

R. V. Crowder, Seymour, had 40 acres of Kanred which made 11 bushels testing 61. He had no other variety. "I am going to sow Kanred."

H. M. King, Oklaunion, had 90 acres of Kanred on which he did not report the yield. However, he makes this comment. "But for some reason it was very poor. However, I much prefer this variety to other wheat."

The writer wishes to add here that the reason the Oklaunion wheat growers like Kanred so well is because they have been growing it and watching each others crop for the past few years.

Doss on the Zioprie place, five miles west of town. The bone thought to have extended from the knee to the hip, is three feet five inches in length and measures 23 inches around the knee joint. The ball and socket joint is nearly 20 inches in circumference and the bone is thirteen and one-half inches around at the middle.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and lustrous and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

WORLD FAMOUS MAN TO SPEAK FOR P. C. OF C.

Amarillo, Aug. 21.—Arthur Nash, internationally known clothing manufacturer and philanthropic philosopher of Cincinnati, Ohio, will speak in Amarillo during the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce convention September 19 and 20.

Mr. Nash is known as the Golden Little Tailor. During the war he was about to go broke. But despite threatening bankruptcy he invoked the Golden Rule in regard to payment of his employees, increasing their pay. His business increased. He continued raising his employees wages, and his business continued increasing until he adopted the profit sharing plan.

This famous man is said to be a more potent factor for good in Cincinnati than any preacher there, by many of his admirers. He is not a sentimentalist, but a great business man putting into practical use the philosophy of Jesus Christ.

He is much in demand as a speaker throughout the United States, and is coming to Amarillo at the request of Secretary W. N. Blanton of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, because this is one of his first trips into the South and because he can reach hundreds of people at this convention. A story of his life and business recently appeared in the American Magazine.

DOVE SEASON WILL BE OPEN TOMORROW

Doves may be hunted September 1, at the opening of dove hunting season, says B. D. Garmon, district game commissioner, who has recently returned from an extended inspection of the Panhandle territory, and finds a gratifying number of them to hunt. His home is in Panhandle.

Mr. Garmon has issued orders to all wardens throughout this district, to be strict in the enforcement of the game laws during the coming season, since the least tendency to slackness would, in view of the enormous number of hunters, mean extermination of the doves or the decrease to such a point that a permanent closed season would be demanded by loyal conservationists.

Mr. Garmon has information from Commissioner Boyd of Austin that he is daily receiving delegations and letters from different parts of the state demanding that the state be zoned with reference to open and closed season, on various birds.

Texas is too big and its climate too diverse to have one blanket law, and sentiment is becoming strong for its division into zones having different open seasons, depending on dates of nesting and time of migration said Mr. Garmon.

All hunters hunting in counties other than their resident county must have a license which costs $2. Hunters not a resident of Texas must obtain a non-resident license, which costs $15.—Amarillo News.

WORK

Why do we work? For various reasons—because we must, because we love to be active, because we desire things which only work will procure, and best of all, because a lot of us love our work. Wages and profits are rarely not the sole satisfaction derived from work. They are rarely even the ultimate satisfaction. They are usually only means to certain ends.

Neither the laborer nor his boss "checks" his human nature at the plant door. He does not "park" his inmost desires and become merely a pay-envelope or profit hunter. Each man is motivated in his work by the same five impulses, as motivate his leisure, and the capitalist, the supervisor, and the employee do not differ materially in their motives.

1. Each wants physical and mental activity on something at which he can succeed. He must get somewhere. So that the labor problem and social problem is essentially that of inducing all men to be active in their work and in their leisure in ways advantageous to society as a whole as well as to themselves.

2. Each wants the satisfaction of attaining mastery over something or task or some person. It may be a machine or a handicraft or directional power over individuals.

3. Each wants the satisfaction of being mastered in turn by brainy, likeable people whom it is a pleasure to obey and by whom it is a delight to be led.

4. Each wants the satisfaction of congenial company and surroundings and the happiness that arises therefrom.

5. Each wants as an ultimate social objective at work and in leisure the satisfaction of being somebody who counts—someone who merits and obtains the approval of other persons of his community, however humble.

In America these are the tremendous motives—the great aspirations shot through with hope. They permeate our 105,000,000 people more thoroughly, more generally and with more expectancy than in any other civilization.

Remember next Saturday is our bargain day—R. A. Long Drug Co.

THE VALUE OF COURTESY

It has been said that courtesy is the cheapest investment that a man can make, and pays the biggest dividend in money, happiness, and contentment. The value of courtesy is beyond computation. Like the proverbial "bread cast upon the waters" its good returns in many days as hundred fold. Courtesy is like the waves caused by the casting of a pebble, they go on and on to the limits of its sphere.

We have in mind some instances. In a certain town there was a bright young man employed as cashier of one of the railroad stations in that town. This young man had never learned the value of courtesy. The general freight agent of this road was a native of this town. He rather complained to one of the business men that his road did not receive its share of the business, and asked the reason. He was told that it was "because it was impossible to get courteous treatment from the local employees of the road, and if the statement was not believed to phone the station and ask how the next train was reported." Acting upon this suggestion, he did so, and the cashier happened to answer the phone, and replied to the inquiry in a very abrupt manner, saying: "Call the tower, we don't keep up with the trains." The cashier lost his job, but gained a valuable lesson.

These two gentlemen got to be friends later on and often met. The one who courteously invited the other to ride was a bricklayer, making good wages, but spending his earnings about as fast as he received them, and still renting. His elderly friend suggested that he buy a home. Not having the money he gave this as an excuse, but his friend explained how it could be done, and told him he could buy a lot for $250, and knew of a small house that could be bought cheap to move on the lot. His advice was accepted, and only a short while later, this property was sold for $1,000. The proceeds were reinvested and property sold two or three times, for which the erstwhile spendthrift bricklayer had realized several thousand dollars. But for the courtesy of asking an elderly stranger to take a ride, this gentleman would doubtless be today simply earning his daily wage, and living in a rented house. Simply a dividend on courtesy, and counting the capital invested much greater than an oil gusher.—Cisco News.

MAGNESIUM THE LIGHTEST KNOWN METAL

The lightest metal known that remains comparatively unaltered under ordinary atmospheric conditions is magnesium, which is only two-thirds as heavy as aluminum. Magnesium is a beautiful silvery-white metal that has been made in the United States only since 1915 and is known to comparatively few people and to most of those few chiefly as a silvery powder used for making flashlights in photography. It was imported from Germany for this use for many years. During the world war large quantities of powdered magnesium were made in the United States for use in star shells designed to illuminate battle fields at night, as well as in special shells designed to show in the day time exactly where the shells containing it exploded. The white cloud by day and the brilliant white pillar of fire by night—both striking features of the battle fields of the world war—were produced by the combustion of magnesium.

Magnesium in massive form, as sticks or rods, is used to deoxidize other metals in foundries and is a constituent of alloys. More magnesium is now used as a deoxidizer or scavenger in metallurgy than for any other purpose, but its employment in alloys is increasing and may eventually become the largest one. An alloy of magnesium and aluminum is used in making castings for air craft engines and parts of airplanes. The skeleton of the British airship R-34, the first dirigible to cross the Atlantic, is an alloy of aluminum and magnesium, and the yacht Resolute, the defender of the America's Cup in the races in July 1920, as well as the alternative defender, the Vanite, carried gaffs made of this alloy.
