INTEREST GROWS IN HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK

REPORT OF MISS RICHMOND FOR LAST MONTH SHOWS INCREASING NUMBER OF CALLS ON HER BY CLUB MEMBERS.

The number of calls that were made on Miss Richmond last month by club members is the noticeable thing in her report on the club work for last month. There were ninety such calls on the agent at headquarters. Of the meetings in the project work there were forty-two with a total attendance of six hundred and ninety. There was one meeting for miscellaneous work and the attendance was thirty. Donley county also had two demonstrations from the district agent, Miss Bess Edwards, the first being on table service and the other on bread making. Miss Richmond's itinerary for a month includes visiting and working with a club almost every day, in fact, almost every day that she is in the field she visits two clubs and conducts their meetings. Fifteen communities in the county are thus organized with clubs, and in doing the work, Miss Richmond traveled one thousand and ten miles during the month. The narrative report of the work follows:

Club Work
This past month there have been 11 club meetings held in Donley County and each has been well attended which shows that the women and girls find they receive enough from the meeting to pay them to attend even during the busiest seasons of the year.

The girls of the county have completed their sewing, interior and exterior home improvement project this month most of them have finished their required cooking work. Their attendances at all meetings is proof of how much they enjoy these lessons and many have reported that they have used the recipes learned in cooking lessons at home with good results. One little girl of eleven reported that her mother had to be away from home a few days after our lesson in bread making and that she made all the biscuit during her absence and not one failure.

All the cooking work has been preceded with a lesson on table service and an improvement in the arrangement of the table and table etiquette is noticeable in almost every home I have visited since.

It is almost too early for the canning work in this county as yet but the work is beginning. I have given two demonstrations to girls clubs and two to women's clubs but there has been little in the way of variety to can. Most of that work will come in July and August here. The women of the county are following the year books that they arranged for their individual needs and I am pleased with the way they work out their demonstrations on all sorts of subjects. They have chosen as a motto "We learn by doing," and work for weeks on their demonstrations before trying to present them to their clubs.

They are greatly interested in the programs that other clubs are giving and often visit programs of special interest and sometimes invite a club to meet with another and give a certain program. This last month the Lelia Lake Club gave the Naylor and Sunny Ciew Clubs a lesson and demonstration on interior decorating. The Hedley Club had some of their members visit the Clarendon Club for suggestions on how to prepare and present their program for next month. Clarendon Club No. 1 had a representative who visited the Club at Giles and the Clarendon Club No. 2 visited the Martin women and so the work progresses and they broaden it and themselves by the free exchange of plans and ideas.

Food Preparation or Cooking
In presenting the cooking work to the girls clubs I have tried this month to divide them into small enough groups so as to let each individual girl prepare at least one dish as a demonstration for the club and then they have served the dinner thus prepared. There are only three clubs that have not had this work as yet and I shall try to give it to them this next month. I have used a number of the fourth year club girls, those who are in our graduating class, to present public demonstrations in salad making to the women's clubs and they have done the work well.

In the cooking the girls have had instruction in making of cream soups, salads and salad dressings, cookery of fresh vegetables and the making of quick breads. The women's clubs have spent the most of the month in the study of salads and salad dressing and their place in the menu. The Goldston women's club had one lesson in fancy cookery, the Clarendon No. 1 in the making of pies and cold desserts and Lelia Lake and Boydston each had one lesson in baking of yeast breads.

Food Preservation
The canning season does not really begin to any great extent until in July in Donley County but I have been able to give five small demonstrations already and to prepare the way for lots of work the next two months.

There have been something like twenty steam pressure canners bought over the county and others are being purchased almost daily. This means that the housekeepers are going to take every advantage of the splendid fruit and garden season that we have this year and can far more than one year's need. A great deal of fruit has already been canned but the reports have not been turned in as yet, however I do know of three different families that have up nearly one hundred quarts each and they do not talk as though they had hardly begun. Watch their reports for next month and see whether their work is worth while.

Home Improvement
The most noteworthy thing that has been accomplished this month in the way of home improvement work has been without doubt the lessons on table service that have been given in almost every neighborhood to either the girls or the women. They have been given at Lelia Lake, Hedley, Clarendon, Ashtola, Boydston, Sunnyview, Giles, Goldston, Martin and Windy Valley. And have included all sorts of service from the serving of the simple home breakfast to the formal dinner or afternoon teas. Women and girls are always interested in this subject because it affects them all giving them poise and ease as they meet others in their social life.

Goldston had one lesson, the arrangement of the kitchen and kitchen conveniences. The girls report several beds and dressers refinished, curtains made, dresser runners and bed spreads completed and their own rooms improved in a number of ways.

Community Work
The Jericho Community has a new school building of which they are justly very proud and the Women's Club is taking advantage of it to do some very interesting things for the (Continued on page 5)

ELECTION RETURNS WILL BE GIVEN ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Arrangements are being made for the handling of statewide election returns Saturday night as well as the county and district returns. The News and County Chairman Beville's office are making the arrangements and the old bulletin board across from the First National Bank on the Long drug store will be used to carry the sad or glad news as the case may be.

The public generally are invited to drive down and sit in their cars or on the curb to watch the results. It is usually the case that the results in the county races may be determined by nine o'clock unless the race is unusually close, but it is not expected that much can be gotten from the state-wide contests until ten o'clock.

A collection will be taken Friday or Saturday to defray the cost of telephone and telegraph tolls of the reports. If you don't see the collector of this money drop in and leave your donation at the News office or with Harrod Beville.

CHANCES OF OIL LOOKING BRIGHT NOW FOR DONLEY

LARGER COMPANIES FEELING ENCOURAGED OVER THE SHOWINGS FOUND. THREE WELLS ARE NOW GOING DOWN FAST.

That Donley county has mighty good chances of oil is paying quantities is the opinion of experienced oil men who are now working in this territory. Victor Swanson, head of Swanson Oil Company, and who is one of the most successful operators in any field, while in this city Monday stated that he feels more encouraged than ever over the prospects for this county. His faith in the Donley county field is proved by the fact that he is putting down three wells at this time.

Mr. Swanson, like every successful oil man, did not make glowing statements; he stated the facts and said that he felt greatly encouraged. He says that the Buck Creek well has set ten inch casing at 2,100 feet. Three good showings of gas and oil have been found thus far, and the fifteen feet of green shale that was recently encountered is declared by many oil men to be a sure indication of oil. Mr. Swanson says that while he does not think that the shale is a sure indication of oil, that it is a sure proof of high grade oil, should oil be struck. This is the only green shale that has been encountered in north Texas. The last three hundred and fifty feet drilled by this well have resembled the Gulf No. 2 very much in formation and this is thought by some to be a hopeful indication of a successful strike.

Mr. Swanson states that twelve and one half inch casing has been set in the Saxauer well, while twenty inch casing is being placed in the Harle well. Interest is growing in the field as it seems that completion of some of the wells is nearing. Of course, the first frenzy that accompanies drilling of the average well is past now and work and interest is assuming an aspect that seems to assure a business basis.

It is well known that many of the large companies and operators have their eyes on Donley, and although they have little to say, their frequent visits here are causing local people to be sure that they feel that Donley county has good prospects of proving paying territory.

DISTRICT CANDIDATES ADDRESS VOTERS MONDAY

A short political speaking was held on Kearney Street Monday afternoon for about an hour commencing at six o'clock. Judge Henry S. Bishop, who is serving his first term as district judge of the 47th Judicial District, was first to present his candidacy for re-election. Hon. Perry S. Pearson then presented his candidacy for the same office. Hon. W. J. Flesher, of Canyon, then made a short address asking for nomination for the office of district attorney. He was followed by his opponent, Hon. Lloyd Fletcher, of Amarillo, who asked for nomination to the same office. Each of the speakers had a good hearing, and was well received. They were introduced by Hon. A. T. Cole, of this city.

DONLEY COUNTY BANK IS CITY DEPOSITORY

Bids were received Monday afternoon from the local banks for city depository. After the opening of the bids, the depository was awarded to the Donley County Bank.

HON. W. J. FLESHER HERE FIRST OF WEEK

Hon. W. J. Flesher, of Canyon, was here the first of the week furthering his candidacy for the office of district attorney for this district. Mr. Flesher is an attorney of broad experience, a prominent church and lodge worker, and has gained many supporters in this county.

MR. AND MRS. BRYAN CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY HERE TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bryan celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday at the home of their son, E. F. Bryan. At noon their children gathered once more around the same table, and a great feast was enjoyed. Music was furnished by Mrs. Edythe Bryan Cameron and some of the visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were married fifty years ago at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon in Ponola county. At that time Woods was the nearest post office. Both are natives of Alabama, and Mr. Bryan will be seventy-two years of age next October, while Mrs. Bryan will be sixty-nine years of age next month.

All of their children were present for the occasion being E. F. Bryan and family, Regan Bryan, Earl Bryan, Mrs. W. A. Land and family, Mrs. Frank Whitlock and family, and Mrs. Buel Sanford and family. Others were Miss Nell Jefferson, of Austin, a sister of Mrs. Bryan, and Mrs. J. H. Rutherford and children. There are six of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan's children living and thirteen grand children. The News joins with their many friends in extending congratulations and the wish that they have many more such happy wedding anniversaries.

GOOD STRUCTURE PASSES THROUGH DONLEY COUNTY

Maybe it is all meaningless; but Donley county some way or other holds strong attractions for the experienced geologists. Maybe no big wells will be struck, but thousands of barrels of oil; maybe no big gassers will ever furnish lights and heat for cities and factories, but it is nevertheless interesting to look at Donley county's geological picture as compared with surrounding counties.

Of course geology in many of its phases so far as relates to commercial value, is in its infancy and is a deductive science. It is becoming pretty generally recognized that there are certain kinds of structures that have definite meanings to the geologist. The larger oil companies were first to apply this knowledge to commercial advantage. The average layman in watching the locations that the geologists make, has come to have some knowledge of the structure looked for by the experts although he could not oftentimes give the term applying to such structure.

Whatever the favorite structure that is sought, one may get a fair idea of how that structure traces through Donley county by carefully lining up the locations that have been made by the various companies. Before looking over this county, it is interesting to take a location map of the Panhandle and see the general trend of the locations. Commencing in Dallam county, there are several wells. The line formed by lining these locations with those in Hartley county would begin about the middle of the north side of Hartley and pass out of that county in the southeast corner into Potter county. Potter county has more locations than any other county, and the majority of these are in the north half of the county. The drilling sites extend into Moore county also.

From Potter county the lines formed by following the locations, take two definite directions; the heavier line of locations passing through Donley county, and the lighter line going northeastward from Potter county at an angle of about seventy-five degrees to the heavier and passing through the northwest corner of Carson, the southeast half of Hutchinson, the northwest quarter of Roberts, the southeast half of Ochiltree into Lipscomb. But the main trend of that line seems to drop from the southwest line of Lipscomb back into Hemphill county. But, as was said above, the heavier line of location passes through Donley county, following the Ft. Worth and Denver fairly well from Potter county to Wilbarger. The heavy places in this line, which would be determined by the number of locations are Potter, Donley, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties; Donley county showing up for twelve locations. The northwest part of

COMPANY H BOYS CAN QUALIFY AS MACHINE GUNNERS

BOYS MAKE EXCELLENT RECORD WITH RAPID FIRE GUNS AT FIRST PRACTICE. EXPECT TO TAKE OTHER PRIZES ALSO.

The members of Company H 142nd demonstrated their gunning ability at target practice when they were taken on a camping trip the last week end. Although this was their first practice with machine guns, they qualified in this work, even amazing their officers by the way in which they tore the targets to pieces at six hundred yards range. The company is equipped with four heavy type Browning machine guns of the 1917 model, and these are conceded to be the most efficient machine guns developed by any nation during the war.

Although some four thousand and eight hundred rounds of ammunition were shot up, the company has something like twenty thousand rounds left. The site used for practice this time was the site of old Clarendon. Captain Perrine states that although this is a machine gun company, he expects to capture many of the infantry prizes for drill which is not ordinarily in the work of the machine gun company.

The superiority of the work of a machine gun company is demonstrated by the fact that four men in this company can now do as much work as could five hundred men before the war. As the object of every army is to be able to take the offensive, it is readily seen that it is necessary, as the experts have declared that the doughboy be on the ground before it can be said to be truly captured. There are two ways in which this accomplished; the one by superiority of fire, and the other by concentration of fire. The machine gun can be used either for direct fire and an overhead barrage, in this manner supporting advancing troops by laying the barrage in front of them, or it may be used for indirect fire, that by firing from a hidden position on objects not within view, this by using a map for firing. In the old times whenever a line of infantry advanced, it was necessary for a second line to advance following as re-enforcements. But under the present tactics, a machine gun company can support a big line of infantry. The absolute necessity of Company H is thus seen at a glance, and the manner in which the boys are going at their work, and their accomplishments of the work laid out bids fair to make them, in case of necessity, the same efficient company that the old Company H was during the war.

NEWS DOES JOB PRINTING FOR LARGE ORGANIZATION

The News received the order to print two thousand envelopes last week for one of the largest organizations in the Panhandle with headquarters in Amarillo. Furthermore, the job was unsolicited, and no price quotations were asked; probably on account of the well-known excellence of our work and because we use the Franklin price list on job printing.

Mrs. Cleo Keys is visiting this week with relatives in Claude.

BIG EXTENSION OF CITY'S CORPORATE LIMITS

The completion of a large addition to the city's corporate limits was realized last week. Approximately two hundred and eighty acres are added to the city, and the value of the addition will approach half a million dollars. The new addition will be formed by a line running one fourth mile west from the southwest corner of the old city limits, thence north to the north boundary of the railroad, thence along the north side of the railroad to where it intersects the northwest corner of the old city limits. The new addition will very materially add to the present boundaries of the city, and from the amount of building that has already been done in this section promises to be one of the most valuable additions.

E. W. Grogan and family will move to Amarillo next week where they will make their home in the future. They have lived in this city for several years, and it is with regret that their many friends see them leave.

SEVERAL CANDIDATES VISITORS AT TUESDAY'S LUNCH AT HOTEL DENVER

The feature of Tuesday's lunch at the Denver Hotel was a general speaking which was furnished by several candidates for some of the district offices. The dinner which was served at the Hotel Denver was a very delightful one composed of plenty of fried chicken and gravy, corn on the cob, hot biscuit, potatoes, English peas, vegetable soup and the many trimmings that make such a meal palatable.

Following the lunch which was served in such a delightful manner, R. A. Long, who presided over the meeting, introduced Hon. Perry Pearson, of Amarillo, candidate for district judge; Mr. Pearson was followed by Hon. Lloyd Fletcher, of Amarillo, candidate for district attorney. Each of these gentlemen responded in pleasing manner and received good applause. Following this Mr. Lynch, representing the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, spoke for a few minutes on the value of Chamber of Commerce work, stating that he saw in Clarendon and the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce a great future, situated in one of the best farming belts in the state as it is.

Cigars were passed around to those present, by W. M. Patman, and adjournment took place until next Tuesday.

COTTON ROSE WINNER AT SHAMROCK RODEO

Cotton Rose, well known bronco buster and cowboy of this city, again demonstrated his superiority in this art when he attended the Shamrock Rodeo Saturday and tied with Tom Walls, of that city for first and second money. Some of the best riders in the Panhandle and the western part of Oklahoma, including Roy Mayes, Erick, Oklahoma, Booger Red from Ft. Worth, and some twenty other riders. Cotton is making the rodeos up and down the line each year, and is coming to be recognized as one of the best rodeo men in this part of the Southwest.

BONDS RETURN FOR APPROVAL AND REGISTRATION

The issue of bonds for the improvement of the water works recently sold to Crosby-McConnell and company of Denver, returned Monday after having been printed, and were ready for the signature of the mayor and the city secretary and clerk. After this it was necessary to send the bonds to the comptroller for registration. With the completion of the registration the bonds will be returned to the office in this city, then returned to the buyers when the money will be paid the city. It cannot be stated with any certainty when the work on the improvement of the water system will commence as the material has been delayed by the railroad strike.

Ernest Naylor, of Dalhart, is taking his vacation and visiting here with his parents, Mr and Mrs. B. F. Naylor.

METHODIST REVIVAL WELL UNDER HEADWAY

The Methodist revival meeting which commenced Sunday at the Methodist Church is well under headway with large audiences at each service. Rev. J. T. Griswold is doing the preaching, while the Wisdom Sisters, singers of Macon Missouri, are rendering wonderful special music. Morning services are being held at ten o'clock each morning, and the evening services at eight fifteen.

The interest in the meeting is manifest from the large crowds that are present at the services, and Rev. Griswold in preaching a series of very inspirational and evangelical sermons. The meetings will continue through next week.

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ikard were conducted Saturday afternoon at the home.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY TO BE HELD SAT.

With the approach of the Democratic primary which will be held Saturday, things are warming up and much interest is being manifested in many of the races. Everyone who has a vote is being urged, not only by the candidates, but by those interested in good government, to go to the polls and make their choice of the candidates for the various offices.

Those to be in charge of the election at the various boxes are named, and they are as follows: Clarendon, Lelia Lake, A. B. Bynum; Giles, J. D. McCants; Smith, C. A. Crow; Martin, C. J. Talley; Ashtola, J. J. Hanson; Goldston, W. C. Veazey; Jericho, W. W. James; Whiteflat, T. J. Kelley; Emmett Thompson; Watkins-Oller, Dan Latimer; McKnight, H. F. Fortenberry; Bray, to be supplied; Wilson, Pat Longan; Hackberry, R. A. Johnson.

Ed Dishman was made county chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, following the resignation of A. M. Beville, who held that office the past year.

The supplies are in the office of A. M. Beville, retiring county chairman, and several of those who will have charge of the various elections are calling for their supplies this afternoon.

The polls will open at eight o'clock a. m. and close at seven p. m. Saturday, and everyone who votes must do so within those hours. The election in Clarendon box will be held in the public school building.

As is stated in another column of this paper, arrangements are being made to receive all returns state and county in this city Saturday evening. The bulletin board on the north side of the Long Drug store will be used for that purpose.

FOUNDATION OF WATER TANK TO BE CONSTRUCTED

Engineer W. D. Havren, who will superintend the addition to be made to the city water system, states that the work of building the foundation for the water tank will commence within the next week. It is necessary for the cement to settle for some twenty-one or more days before the tank can be erected, and for this reason, the work is commencing at once; as it is hoped that materials will have arrived by the first of August to commence work on the system. The lots on which the tank will be erected will be lots ten, eleven and twelve in block eleven of the Clarendon Heights addition.

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ikard were conducted Saturday afternoon at the home.

Rev. J. T. Griswold conducted the funeral of Howard Picture in the Citizens' cemetery Sunday afternoon.

The young man was killed by the caving in of a well in which he was working near Amarillo.

Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. Depart from evil, and do good; seek peace, and pursue it.—Psalm 34:13-14.

Politics have warmed up a wee bit this week and after the decisions of Saturday we may expect a real battle royal in those races where a run-off is necessary to elect.

Labor is wrong. The railroads are wrong. But that is no reason why the common people of the nation should suffer the financial loss and inconveniences of a strike. Respectfully submitted to the President and his cabinet at Washington.

Good books are companions worth while for the child as well as for grown-ups. Parents should remember that the reading habit is formed in the younger years of life and see to it that their children are properly supplied with the right kind of books and given the proper urge to read them.

There is a steady demand in Clarendon for more housing facilities. Hardly a day passes but that some one comes to The News office inquiring about rental residence property. If fifty new houses could be built before September first we believe every one would be filled with families that want to live in Clarendon but cannot do so on account of the lack of houses.

Curtis Keen writes a very able article about "Futzers and Aginers" in the last number of his agricultural Journal. Now Curtis learned to lip that first word in Clarendon, but he didn't get the proper spelling somehow or other. The word is "Futzler," not "Futzer." The slight mistake in spelling doesn't weaken the article a bit, however, and Curtis still has a kick in his pen that should be a big help along the road to progress for Lubbock and the south Plains.

One of our strongest merchants told the Newsman a day or so ago that he was planning a larger and more extensive advertising campaign this fall and winter than ever before. He has seen one of the most consistent advertisers of the year and has come to this conclusion in the light of the results he has already received by a liberal use of these columns. The News is going to more homes now than ever before in its history and the merchant that wants to tell the people of his wares is going to get the best service he ever bought this fall. Business is going to boom in Donley County this fall.

They took passage on the Lusitania and its subsequent sinking was the straw that broke the camel's back of a long pent-up indignation of the American people against the bullying and inhumanity of the German government. Will the union leaders make the same fatal blunder? If they do they may expect the same fate as that which overtook Germany.

THE NEWS' PREFERENCE

As the years go by The News editor is more and more an adherent of the doctrine that newspapers should not "tear their shirts" for any candidates for public office, for the reason that candidates should pay for dissemination of their personal propaganda, and for the more potent reason that candidates so often disappoint their constituents when elevated to office, convincing us that it is an easy matter for an individual to be in error in their preference. That does not prevent us from having preferences, however, and to prove that we are still human we are going to set forth below our own preference in the Democratic Primary to be held in Texas next Saturday, with direct reference to the state offices, only.

Taking up the ticket as it will appear, our preference for the office of United States Senator is Hon. Earl B. Mayfield, of Bosque Co., and present member of the Texas Railroad Commission. This preference is based on Mr. Mayfield's large service for the people of Texas and his knowledge of the problems of transportation which now constitutes so vital a problem before the nation. Mr. Mayfield is an old-time friend of this editor's, is a true-blue prohibitionist and a Christian gentleman of marked ability. We believe that he will be in the run-off with Culberson or Ousley.

The next office for which there is a contest is that of Judge of the Court of criminal appeals. In that race we shall support Judge A. J. Harper of El Paso County. He is a strong jurist and a man of high ideals.

In the governor's race as formerly indicated our preference is for Hon. Pat Neff, for re-election. In Texas it is a time-honored custom to give the governor the second term and since Gov. Neff seems to be growing with the office we feel that his record gives him the right to another term. Many Donley County people raise the objection that he pardoned Asher, when a local jury sentenced him to the penitentiary for murder. We believe that act was one of the most unfortunate in the governor's entire first term, but we believe Gov. Neff acted on the advice of another, now sees his mistake and will not make the same mistake ever again. Gov. Neff will be re-elected.

For Lieutenant-governor we shall support on personal grounds the candidacy of our friend and neighboring editor, Hon. W. A. Johnson of Hall County. He is a good man, loves the Panhandle and will do his best to see that our country gets a square deal at Austin.

For Railroad Commissioner we shall support J. C. Mason of Taylor County as against Allison Mayfield. We think Mr. Mayfield has held the office long enough, but he will be a hard man to defeat.

For Comptroller, our preference goes to Hon. Wm. M. Woodall of Nolan County. From a personal acquaintance, we know him to be a capable man and one to be trusted in that important position.

For State Treasurer our support goes to A. H. Kerr of Tarrant Co. We have known Mr. Kerr for nearly fifteen years. While this editor conducted his first newspaper at Moody, Texas, Mr. Kerr came there and established a mercantile business and through his energy and modern methods of advertising he soon acquired a chain of stores, which he later disposed of at a very attractive figure. He is now a manufacturer in Fort Worth, well known for his ability and with a rating worth while.

For Land Commissioner it is our pleasure to support a West Texas man in the person of J. C. Thompson of Foard County.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction The News prefers with an unmistakable preference Prof. Ed R. Bentley of Hidalgo County. The present administration of the school affairs of Texas has not been satisfactory and to elect Mr. Marrs would be only to perpetuate the old regime. The other candidate, Mr. Smith, seems to have developed no strength. Ed Bentley is a fine type of modern educator, is a Christian gentleman and a man among men. This gets us down to the district and county officers, where our readers know the candidates as well as they do most of their neighbors, and from many expressions heard on the streets they feel that they are fully able to take care of the local situation. If the above sidelights are worth anything to our readers they are more than welcome. If they don't appeal to you—just forget this column—maybe there is something in the next column that you will like.

Hon. Perry Pearson, of Amarillo, was here Friday putting his candidacy for the office of district judge before the voters.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

GORDON WATER WELL TURNED TO GASPER

Last Saturday workmen on the J. W. Gordon farm, ten miles east of Pampa, and one mile north of Hoover, placed a stick of dynamite in a water well and fired it, hoping to increase the amount of water in the hole. The shot proved successful and more water was available until Sunday when to the surprise of the men gas began escaping from the hole, and the water supply decreased before its former output. The gas continued to escape for several hours, and again on Tuesday put in its appearance, being stronger than before, in fact strong enough to force water out of the well in quantities and throw it over the landscape.

The well is slightly less than 400 feet in depth, and is a freak, in that no gas has been encountered at any such shallow depth in the Panhandle. It is known that there is much gas over a great portion of this section of the Panhandle, but seldom have even showings been encountered at less than 1200 to 1400 feet.

Just what will be done with the well has not been decided as yet but it is the general belief here that the action of the hole will cause considerable prospecting for oil and gas in that vicinity and between it and the Tipton-McConnell well west of Pampa an equal distance, where showing of both gas and oil have been struck the past week.—The

Reduced Lighting Rates

The following reduced electric lighting rates are now in effect.

Minimum $1.80, 10 kwh.....	allowed
Next 40 kwh.....	18c
Next 50 kwh.....	15c
Excess	13c

The cost of fuel, labor, freight, supplies, etc., are almost double what they were before the war. Some of our costs like labor are more than double. The price of electricity with this reduction in effect is less than 10 percent higher than it was before the war. We find that there are very few businesses with prices as near pre-war prices as is the electric business.

Let Us Show You What We Can Do

A CHARTER OF DEMOCRACY

THEODORE ROOSEVELT

We believe in pure democracy. With Lincoln, we hold that "this country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it." We believe that the people have the right, the power, and the duty to protect themselves and their own welfare; that human rights are supreme over all other rights; that wealth should be the servant, not the master, of the people. We believe that unless representative government does absolutely represent the people it is not representative government at all. We test the worth of all men and all measures by asking how they contribute to the welfare of the men, women, and children of whom this nation is composed. We are engaged in one of the great battles of the age-long contest waged against privilege on behalf of the common welfare.

This country, as Lincoln said, belongs to the people. So do the natural resources which make it rich. They supply the basis of our prosperity now and hereafter. In preserving them, which is a national duty, we must not forget that monopoly is based on the control of natural resources and natural advantages, and that it will help the people little to conserve our natural wealth unless the benefits which it can yield are secured to the people. Let us remember, also, that conservation does not stop with the natural resources, but that the principle of making the best use of all we have requires with equal or greater insistence that we shall stop the waste of human life in industry and prevent the waste of human welfare which flows from the unfair use of concentrated power and wealth in the hands of men whose eagerness for profit blinds them to the cost of what they do. We have no higher duty than to promote the efficiency of the individual, here is no surer road to the efficiency of the nation.

All constitutions, those of the States no less than that of the nation, are designed, and must be interpreted and administered so as to fit human rights. Lincoln so interpreted and administered the National Constitution. Buchanan attempted the reverse, attempted to fit human rights to, and limit them by the Constitution. It was Buchanan who treated the courts as a fetish, who protested against and condemned all criticism of the judges for unjust and unrighteous decisions, and upheld the Constitution as an instrument for the protection of privilege and of vested wrong. It was Lincoln who appealed to the people against the judges when the judges went wrong, who advocated and secured what was practically the recall of the Dred Scott decision, and who treated the Constitution as a living force for righteousness. We stand for applying the Constitution to the issues of to-day as Lincoln applied it to the issues of his day; Lincoln, mind you, and not Buchanan, was the real upholder and preserver of the Constitution, for the true progressive, the progressive of the Lincoln stamp, is the only true constitutionalist, the only real conservative. The object of every American Constitution worth calling such must be what is set forth to be in the preamble of the National Constitution, "to establish justice," that is, to secure justice as between man and man by means of genuine popular self-government.

HOW MUCH DO STRIKES COST THE NATION?

Washington, July 6.—Statistics issued by the Department of Labor show that strikes in this country average more than 3,300 per year. It is not contended by the department that its figures are accurate, since they depend upon newspaper and trade paper reports for the most part, but that they are under, rather overstatements. It is impossible truthfully to estimate the average cost of a strike, since they vary so in duration, number of workmen affected and economic loss through whatever industry is wholly or partially shut down. But if the most conservative possible estimate be adopted, and it is considered that the average strike affects 100 workmen, and that the average strike lasts ten days, the total arrived at is 3,300,000 working days lost per year. If the average cost to each workman is $5 per day and the average loss to each industry does not exceed three times the loss to the workmen, then strikes cost the country some $66,000,000 a year.

It is not believed that these figures are anything but suggestive. The average strike undoubtedly affects thousands, rather than hundreds, and for many more than ten days; few union laborers receive as little as $5 a day, and, of course, the industry affected suffers out of all proportion to the workmen. But, it is pointed out at the Capitol, if it were true that only $66,000,000 were wasted by strikes every year, that $66,000,000 spent in proper channels on arbitration would undoubtedly stop most if not all the strikes!

It might be an economic measure to spend a part of it for accurate statistics of strike costs to the country; a little education on what it really costs to stop work might make people less willing to indulge in, or cause, strikes.

FLOYDADA WILL NOT PLAY BASEBALL ON SUNDAY

Floydada, July 1.—Whether or not the recently organized baseball team should play games on Sunday, was the question propounded to about 500 citizens of Floydada Tuesday night, who met in a mass meeting called by the Floydada Baseball Association directors, R. E. Fry, J. R. Yearwood and Walter Collins, to determine public sentiment on that question. Following several snappy and forceful speeches on the subject, all of which were directed against Sunday baseball, a vote was taken, and it was unanimous against Sunday baseball for Floydada.

CLAUDE PEOPLE JOIN WASHBURN IN CELEBRATING

Claude, July 6.—Claude was quiet on the 4th. But the people in general had a grand and glorious time. The large majority of the Claude people joined Washburn in celebrating the day. Through the public spirit of Mrs. E. C. Cayton and Mrs. D. L. Kerrick, the Community Home of Claude was represented in the Washburn parade. Every body enjoyed meeting there old friends from other parts of the county and other towns and counties. It was an all-around get-together day and Washburn is to be congratulated for arranging and putting over such a happy day for all the people.

Other Claude people whose interest turned them toward Clarendon celebrated the day with friends and relatives in that city. A few drifted as far away as Canyon and took in the sights over there, while perhaps the greatest number of all celebrated the day in their harvest fields. No more patriotic duty could have been performed than saving the harvest. But everybody did not have a harvest to save.

Claude's most sacred observance of the day was reflected in the American Flag that floated at half mast from sunrise until sun set over the grave of Harrold Gist, Armstrong County's only soldier to give his life on the battle fields of France.

WILL NOT STAND ANY ATTEMPT TO HAMPER MAILS

Washington, July 6.—Postmaster General Work issued instructions today to division superintendents of the railway mail service to report to Washington immediately any attempt on the part of railway strikers to hamper mail movement and to advise with the prosecuting attorneys in those sections where disturbances occur with a view of aiding in prosecutions.

No further reports were received by the department during the day from its inspectors in Missouri and Louisiana, where strikers were reported yesterday to have attempted to embarrass federal clerks assigned to mail trains. The postmaster general declared that mail clerks were adequately armed, with instructions to shoot upon provocation, and that if they failed to cope with any situation marines would be called into service.

WAR ON WAR BEING WAGED THIS MONTH

Washington, D. C. July 1st.—To further its object of no more war, the National Council for the Reduction of Armaments, at a meeting today decided to spend $250,000 in the coming year. This is more than eight times the amount spent by it last year. It was announced by the council this evening in the last two weeks it had received $10,000 in $1,000.

The council plans to participate in a world-wide demonstration against war July 29 and 30. It will keep the wires hot on those days with messages to members of congress and others, backing up the results of the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armaments. Throughout the country hundreds of placards bearing the legend "No More War" will be displayed. A chain of offices will be established to help get the $250,000.

The Telephone Pole Ad Is a Thing of the Past

In the old days when every farmer drove the plough-horse to town, he had time to amble along and read the sale bills on the way.

Now, the average farmer has his eyes glued to the road while driving his six-cylinder car, and the telephone poles fly by like pickets on a fence.

Newspaper advertising is just as far ahead of telephone pole bills as the auto is ahead of the horse. Both are necessary and do good work. But the Newspaper, like the auto, gets more done quicker.

For the Newspaper is taken into the home and read at leisure. It is originally purchased because its particular editorial policy—its individual newsiness appeals and the reader has confidence in its judgment. This confidence is reflected on the ads that that Newspaper carries and the advertisers get the benefit of this feeling of dependability.

An ad in this paper is bound to bring results. We can help you prepare it, and can supply you with attractive illustrations to use in it.

BENTLEY IS FRIEND OF RURAL SCHOOL

Dallas, Texas, July 15.—Ed R. Bentley, candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, continues to wage a most vigorous and active fight in behalf of the rural schools against his opponent, S. M. N. Marrs, whose platform and activity in the past calls for a neglect thereof.

According to Mr. Bentley, "two-thirds of the scholastic population of Texas is in our rural schools and under the leadership of Miss Blanton and Mr. Marrs they have dropped to the miserable rank of 34th of the States of the Union. Under Mr. Marrs' direction they have in hundreds of cases been forced to close their doors early and in thousands of cases the meagerly paid teachers have been forced to discount and sacrifice their salary warrants. Yet the departmental force under Mr. Marrs has been increased 400 percent and their payroll 500 percent, and administrative expenses have increased proportionately.

"I pledge to the people of Texas, and particularly to those Mothers and Fathers of the two-thirds population in the rural schools, that I will improve these conditions when elected as State Superintendent of Public Instruction. To elect my opponent merely means a continuation of the miserable condition of our rural schools; together with additional waste of hundreds of thousands of dollars handling and distributing the textbooks. My opponent would neglect them to fulfill his promises for more junior colleges in the cities of Texas. Miss Blanton is trying to dictate her successor. State's time and State's money is being utilized to this end.

"I am asking for election on my qualifications, experience and platform—a program which I pledge to fulfill; upon the improvement of the rural schools; upon correcting the textbook law and its abuses; upon taking the schools from politics; upon eliminating the needless and useless expense of a big corps of inspectors attempting to do the work county superintendents can do to better advantage and at no additional expense; upon economy, efficiency and a common sense administration."

MEMPHIS PAVING

SOON TO BEGIN

The waivers of three weeks notice of paving which were circulated among the business houses last week are being quite generally signed, and the indications are that the actual work of paving will perhaps start right away.

According to law, three weeks notice must be given all concerned of a meeting of the council at which any interested party may go into the matter fully with the council. This is merely a technical point, and with this waived by enough of the business houses, work can be started at once, instead of waiting two more weeks. Practically all of the business houses are waiving the notice, so that the work will probably be begun within the next week.—Hall County Herald.

LOCAL ADVERTISING PAYS AVERY DEALERS

"We have always said that the local newspaper advertisements carried on by Avery Dealers was a paying investment. But it remained for Avery Dealers themselves to prove conclusively that local advertising pays and pays in a big way.

For several years past, careful records have been kept and a comparison has been made of the average yearly sales made by the few non-advertising Avery Dealers and the many Avery Dealers who advertise constantly. Here are the facts: Dealers who did not advertise sold on the average only $579.00 of machinery per year.

Dealers who have been advertising right along enjoyed average yearly sales of over $4,083 each. Some difference, isn't it? Over seven times in favor of the advertising dealer. These are actual figures taken from the records of Avery Dealers.

What better proof could there be that local advertising pays Avery Dealers and pays them big.—Dalhart Texan.

TEXAS RADIO MARKET NEWS SERVICE

Austin, Texas, July 15.—The weekly review of Texas Radio Market News Service for the seven days prior to this date follows:

WATERMELONS: The past week has seen the further advance north of the watermelon deal, with operators transferring their activities to Hempstead from Bellville and adjacent points which succeed the South Texas deals. Quality of the Hempstead offerings was reported to be excellent though the melons here as in Georgia this year are running to smaller sizes than usual, with demand strong from the slicing trade for the big ones. For this reason toward the close of the week many shipments rolled unsold and such sales as were being made at the track for cash averaged close to ninety cents per 100 pounds for thirty pound average Tom Watsons. In consuming markets of Texas $1.25 to $1.50 per 100 lbs was the average wholesale price, and in the market of Kansas City 24 to 30 pound stock brought on a dull market from jobbers $2.00 to $2.50 per cwt. It is now estimated that not much more than half of the early estimated 10,000 cars will roll from this State this season, plant disease and too much rain having cut the production appreciably. Unsatisfactory prices to growers at shipping points will also have a strong curtailing effect. The Texas watermelon movement for this season amounts to 1247 cars.

TOMATOES: The Texas tomato movement recovered somewhat the past week from the depression which it suffered when markets broke under heavy Mississippi offerings the week previous. Shipping point market, however, continued somewhat unsatisfactory and slow, with one of the most promising deals winding up on the debit side of the sheet, though first shipments brought growers good money. The past week Jacksonville points were still quoted in green wrapped tomatoes in six basket crates at $1.15 and fours of the same class of tomatoes from 45 to 55 cents per crate. Unwrapped pinks in four basket crates brought f. o. b. that point 30 to 40 cents with many shipments rolling for transit sales.

GRAIN: The Ft. Worth Cash Grain Market for this week's opening follows: The quotations are on the basis of delivered Galveston or Texas Common Points:

No.	Grade	Bids	Offers
No. 1	Export Wheat	$1.12 1-2	$1.25
No. 1	Hard Wheat	1.27	1.32
No. 1	Soft Wheat	1.28	1.35

No. 3	White Corn	.75	.78

No. 3	Kaffir per cwt.	1.51	1.58
	Maize heads, per ton	$21.50	23.50

POULTRY AND PRODUCE: An approximate average of the jobbing market for poultry and produce from the principle State market is as follows:

Poultry and Eggs
Hens, per pound, $.161-2; Broilers, per pound .27; Roosters, per pound .07; Eggs, per 30 doz. (case) $6.50 to $7.00.

VEGETABLES: Tomatoes, per crate .75; Cabbage, per pound .06; Sweet potatoes, per crate 1.25; Onions, per pound .03; String Beans, per pound .12 1-2.

HAY: Prairie Hay, per ton, $8.50; Alfalfa, per ton 12.50; Johnson Grass, per ton 7.00.

LIVE STOCK: Monday's Ft. Worth Live Stock market follows: Choice Native Steers, $7.35 to $8.00; South Texas Steers, $6.00 to 6.35; Native Calves $7.35; Yearling $8.75; Cows 4.00 to 4.50; South Texas calves, average $5.00 to $6.00.

Hogs of choice quality in wagon scales brought around $10.50, with top of carload sales around $10.45. The bulk of the run sold between $10 to $10.40. Pigs around $9.00 to $9.25.

Choice ewes brought $6.00 and stocker weathers $5.50, with fairly good quality lambs bringing $8.50 to $9.00.

Estimates receipts for the day were placed at 3,000 head of cattle, 1000 head of calves, 1000 head of hogs and 1600 head of sheep.

During his ministry, Mr. Wyatt organized the Diamond Hill Methodist Church at Fort Worth; and engineered the building of parsonages at Corsicana and Canadian. The church building at Hereford was begun during his ministry, and he started the building of churches at Cleburne and Quanah.

A debt of $14,000 was lifted from the Stamford church during his pastorate there.

Reverend Wyatt served on the Board of trustees of Southwestern University at Georgetown during his entire ministry, and for eleven years he was on the Board of Education in his conference.

THE TOWN BAND

We do not approve of Secretary of Labor Davis, proposal that a federal bureau of recreation for developing instrumental and vocal music, the theatre, the drama and athletics should be established. The tax payer already has to perform sufficient gymnastic to wrestle with the obligations federal, state, county and city governments have placed on the mat before him. We do however, heartily echo the praise Secretary Davis, himself once a choice clarinet player on the Sharon, Pa., tooters and fluters, bestows on that organization of uplift known as the town band.

The town band may not have all the symphonic art that Sousa's tintinabulating experts hold at their finger tips; nevertheless the town band adds color, charm and undiluted diversion to the life of the town.

Not to speak of its music—perhaps it is better not to speak of that—the band draws the town folks together. Its concerts are not merely opportunities for someone to blow its own horn or to beat persistently on his own bass drum. Its concerts are town building concerts.

They are community strengthening concerts.

They draw the people together. Nor, if persisted in, do they let the people separate until in the breasts of many of them there has been planted a greater township pride than existed before.

Certain combinations of music are supposed to have the power to shatter crystal globes and even to destroy bridges.

But if music makes such destruction possible it oftener impels construction.

It builds more frequently than it breaks.

It is a kind of golden link which in the case of town or city musical organization binds persons together with the common cord of town or civic pride; so that they think of town or city as something not only worth living in but also worth living and working for.

The town band is a town booster. The town band is a producer and a sustainer of town pride.

Perhaps in some contest such as the Dallas Durbar it wins a prize for the excellence of renditions and

STRIKES CAUSE MILLION IDLE MEN IN COUNTRY

Washington, July 14.—More than 1,250,000 workers are idle in the United States because of strikers officials of the Department of Labor estimated today.

Four strikes of major importance are in progress. They are coal miners—400,000 bituminous and 200,000 anthracite.

Railroad shopmen, 400,000.

Textile workers, New England 80,000.

Garment workers, New York City, from 10,000 to 20,000.

Officials said it was impossible to calculate the amount of money lost to workers and to industry because of the strikes.

FORMER CLARENDON RESIDENT WINNER AT RODEO

John Zeurich came in Monday with his horses from Las Vegas, where he attended the cow-boy reunion. John won the relay races easily, competing with Leonard Stroud who is supposed to have one of the fastest relay strings in the west. He also won the pack race and half mile races. John says he hasn't any race horses—just fast cow ponies but when ever the Row horses go on the track the money is on them. Miss Jess Zeurich won second place in the ladies race, and first prize for the best "all-round" cow-girl at the re-union. The next Rodeo they make will be Garden City, Kansas.—Clayton, New Mexico News.

McLEAN FARMERS ADVERTISE PRODUCTS

Frank P. and W. W. Wilson, who own and operate two of as good farms as can be found in this community, have signed a contract with The News for a year's advertising.

This is a forward step that is bound to be profitable to these gentlemen. While this is a pioneer step for farmers in this community, it is being practiced by business farmers in all successful farming communities. The time has passed when a man can farm just any old way and succeed business methods must be applied to the farm as well as to the store and shop. We predict that Wilson Bros., ads will be read by many people who wish to keep informed as to what can be bought direct from the farm.—McLean, News.

STATE CAPITAL IS BEING REPAIRED FOR FIRST TIME

For the first time in its history, the famous dome of the state capitol is being repaired, repainted and given a thorough overhauling generally. Workmen recently appeared on the job and began elevating their apparatus, tools, and paint to the necessary height for beginning work some 300 feet up in the air. The State Board of Control recently awarded contracts for repainting and repairing the dome, repairing the roof of the capitol, and resetting the west entrance steps. Painting the dome amounted to $9,256, while repairing was let at $2,486. Repairing the roof amounted to $3,416 and resetting the west steps at $1,057. The inside work will amount to about $2,700. The dome of the capitol was at the time of its erection in 1887 the most famous edifice in the state. People came from all parts of the state to see it and view from its pinnacle the surrounding country. It has never been repaired as need but has never been given a real overhauling by legislative approval. The paint will be scraped off and a new coat put on inside and out. This will erase the thousands of names and addresses of sightseers inscribed on the walls. Resetting of the west entrance steps recalls a historical event, the burning of the old capitol. These steps are the ones that were set at the old capitol west entrance. Massive stones carved from Granite Mountain, they have settled with time until their alignment resembles anything but straight lines. The roof of the capitol is of copper plates, the plates being of no dimensions. The contract calls for cutting this copper roofing into smaller plates so as to prevent expansion and contraction. The plaster has fallen off the walls and ceilings in various parts of the building and will be repaired by contractors.—Childress Post.

YANKS AND REBS ALIKE CHEER AS TEXAN DECLAINS

Washington, July 8.—When Judge Edgar Scurry of Wichita Falls arose to address a great assemblage at Arlington National Cemetery on Confederate Memorial Day on Sunday he faced an audience made up of Northern and Southern men and women alike.

When the name of Lee or Jackson or Nathan Bedford Forrest was mentioned the men and women of Northern birth were as quick to cheer as were the Southerners. Animosity has died away with the mellowing of years.

On Monday Judge Scurry, who is president of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, was received by President Harding at the White House. It was the first time that the head of the Confederate Sons has been officially received by a president, although the head of the parent organization—United Confederate Veterans—has been received by presidents.

There is every evidence that when a few years hence the United Confederate Veterans has held its last reunion, the sons of the Veterans will keep green the memory of the men who wore the gray in the days of '61 to '65.

The sons of the veterans, of course, can never be the organization that the U. C. V. has been, is, and will continue to be as long as it lasts.

The sons will not have the memories of mutual sacrifices, of daring days, of bivouacs around camp fires, of acquaintance and glimpses of Lee, Jackson, Forrest, Pickett, Longstreet, Johnston, Beauregard, or old Judge Early, but they have the heritage to insure an organization.

Just a day or two before Judge Scurry delivered his address at Arlington it was announced that a former Union soldier had, in his will, set aside a sum sufficient to erect in Washington a monument to General Robert E. Lee.

A few days ago, speaking in the House on Decoration Day, Representative B. G. Lowrey of Mississippi, a former Texan, and head of a school at Amarillo, spoke of the era of good feeling now existing in this country.

"We have again reached Decoration Day," Mr. Lowrey said. "My mother bore me, Mr. Speaker, almost within earshot of the guns at Shiloh and Corinth. The first time I ever lay in my father's arms I lay against the Confederate gray. Until recent years Decoration Day meant little to me. My people, when they thought of it at all, thought of it as a day peculiarly given over to sectionalism. When they read addresses made in the National Capitol on that day they occasionally found, I am afraid, things which offended and wounded. When they read articles which came to them in national publications they sometimes put down their papers wondering whether there had been reunion or conquest. Needless to say, gentlemen, this feeling of separateness on our part, or on the part of any group of American citizens, constituted a menace to the well-being of the Nation. It is a matter of urgent public policy to go about healing such a breach. And we, all of us, feel, I am sure, devoutly thankful that so great progress has been made."

"Not many days ago we heard a Southern Democrat on this floor speak of General Grant, 'who was as generous as he was brave'; and we have witnessed under the very shadow of the Capitol the unveiling of the Grant memorial, where the most striking tribute paid to the Union commander came from the present commander of the United Confederate Veterans.

Why should it not be so? Men who are gallant enough to fight as these men fought are usually generous enough to do each other justice when the fight is over. It is typical of the spirit of the Nation. The great objective to which we are now striving is permanent world peace; and the eyes of the world are turned to America for leadership. If we are to lead the world to peace we must be at peace among ourselves.

"The loyalty of the South is established—sealed with the blood of her sons. Before the secession she had given largely to the building of the Nation. Since the reunion she has given just as generously. I would not say that she has come back to the Nation conquered, because in her attitude toward the Government she had exhibited none of the animus of the defeated and none of the sniveling of the cowed. I do not know another case in history where a people have mastered themselves with the strength and poise of their own character as hers have. In Europe—a situation as existed at the close of the Civil War in this country would have been the breeding for a score of wars and provincial hatreds to a dozen generations. The South has come back with head erect and eyes unafraid, having fought to her last energy for a principle which she considered vital, but accepting the verdict of battle with good grace and honest courage."—By Bascom N. Immons, News' Washington Correspondent.

FARM PEOPLE TO GATHER AT THE A. & M. COLLEGE THE LAST WEEK IN JULY

College Station, Texas, July 11.—The work of the school of Agriculture of the A. & M. College of Texas will be climaxed the last week of this month in the twelfth annual Farmers' Short Course. During this week the entire force of the institution will be devoted to the task of assisting in the most extensive way possible that great class of farm men and women, boys and girls whose duties on the farm will not permit them to spend more than one week away from their homes. And in addition to the officials of the extension research and teaching divisions of the College, there will be brought here on those days specialists of other College and other institutions who have vital information to the farm people, and then there will be Governor Pat M. Neff and officers of southern farm organizations to talk on the topics of the hour that have the greatest importance to rural dwellers.

For the greatest effectiveness those attending will be divided into groups according to the subjects that they desire to pursue in their work. No text books will be used as the purpose of the course is not to institute new methods but to solve the every-day problems of those who come, teach them some things which if employed in their work on returning home will mean greater profit and a greater ease. Men will study farm tractors and engines, fertilizer demonstrations, insect eradication and other related subjects. Women will be primarily interested in interior decoration, cooking, sewing and such minor outdoor work as poultry raising and vegetable gardening. The girls will take elementary courses along the same lines, while boys will devote their time to judging livestock, grain selection and to farm engines and tractors.

In order to have all keenly interested in their work at all times various competitions have been arranged to the winners of which prizes will be awarded for the recognition of merit.

McGEE WELL IS SUCCESSFULLY SHOT; COMES IN COMMERCIAL REALITY

A muffled report which made the earth tremble, a dense shower of sparks thrown high in the air, then within ten seconds a tremendous roar of gas as it shot oil over the crown block, tearing away a part of that equipment, marked the shooting of the Holmes, McIlroy & McGee or Smith-Capers well, exactly at 9:25 o'clock Monday night.

The shot believed by officials of the well, to be a perfect one, brought forth a flow estimated by owners of the well, to be from 200 to 500 barrels. A new gas, estimated at 20,000,000 cubic feet was encountered, and at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, the oil and gas continued to flow, in what is believed to be commercial quantities.

Loud cheers and the honking of automobile horns rent the air, when the oil and gas began to belch from the hole.

The United States Torpedo Company of Electra had charge of the shooting.

At the time of the shooting there were about 30 automobiles at the well side. Hundreds of people became restless and tired and left earlier in the evening.

The display was wonderful, showers of sparks going up through the derrick. The flow of sparks, from the shot lasted about 15 or 20 seconds, then the well settled down, and the roar of the gas continued all night accompanied by a good heavy oil flow, the gas decreasing and the oil increasing towards morning.

W. H. Holmes, one of the owners says he is very much pleased with the results of the shot, and it is the opinion of every one present at the time of the shooting that the well is now a commercial reality. No difficulty was experienced in placing the explosive in the hole.

The charge of nitro glycerine was placed at a depth of 2,810 feet, this being the center of the shot. The bottom being at the 2,860 foot level, and top at 2,760 feet. The charge was placed in shells about 9 feet in length, each holding fifteen quarts of the explosive. These shells were set down in "tandem" and as they had to be lowered by hand, it required 30 to 35 minutes to place each pair. One hundred and sixty quarts were used in the shot, which required twelve shells. The charge was set off by a "squib," and the hole was cleaned in good shape, it was declared.—Amarillo Tribune.

SHRINERS WILL USE C G NEXT YEAR; SOUTHERN ROUTE MORE PRACTICAL

Oakland, Cal. July 6.—Decision to use the Colorado to Gulf Highway when it makes its second pilgrimage from coast to coast has been reached by the National Shrine Touring Club, which was organized during the recent meeting of the Imperial Council.

The first trans-continental Shrine motor caravan, which successfully made the trip from Washington, D. C. to San Francisco, attracted wide attention to the Imperial Council and Shriners who made the journey perfected an organization which will be placed on a permanent basis, with Capt. Bernard S. McMahan as director and general manager.

The five Shrine temples in California are expected to have at least 200 automobiles in the caravan when it leaves Oakland on May 1, 1923. The first caravan demonstrated that the southern route is not only practicable but preferable to the central and northern routes, which in the past were regarded as the only routes by which a trans-continental caravan could move.

When the second caravan gets under way, it is expected that a large number of acres will join the caravan at Raton Pass, New Mexico, and continue the journey to Washington, D. C., where the Imperial Council will meet June 5-7, 1923.

Records kept by the first caravan will be used in making up the itinerary for the next caravan. Those towns which offered the best inducements as to camp sites will be shown the preference. Many of the caravanners, however, will not carry their camping outfits but will put up at local hotels en route.

The caravan will visit all Shrine Temples and local Shrine Clubs between Oakland and Washington, and where ceremonials are being held in their honor the travels will remain over for a day or two. Four ceremonials were attended by the caravan on the recent overland trip from Washington to this city.

The Governors of the states to be traversed and the State High Engineers will be asked to lend their co-operation and the second caravan, like the first, is expected to prove of great economic value to the various states due to the interest that will be kindled in highway improvement.

On the first trip a distance of 5,117 miles was covered by the big white pilot car, driven by Capt. McMahan and loaned by the Colorado to Gulf Highway Association. In that distance local pilots accompanied the caravan a total distance of about 1,100 miles. Edward Maddock, State Highway Engineer of Arizona, piloted the caravan across the state and a car of officials from the Auto Club of Southern California, piloted the caravan from The Needles to Los Angeles.

When the question of a routing for next year's caravan was raised several members of the caravan declared that they would always recommend another visit to the town of Dalhart where they were entertained at the De Soto Hotel and were taken for a visit to Kelly Brothers Spur Factory. Several women in the party extracted promises from their husbands that they would return via Dalhart and get them a pair of those fancy cowboy boots which they saw in the making.

Shriners at the Imperial Council see in the caravan idea one of the greatest constructive agencies yet initiated and they have promised to back it to the limit. Plans are being made to send a fleet of snow white cars with the next caravan to represent the city of Oakland. Captain McMahan is a member of Aahmes Temple, of this city.

Buick Takes Care of Buick Owners

Buick responsibility does not end with the sale of a Buick car. It follows the car throughout its entire life.

That is why Buick has organized a nationwide authorized Buick service that extends to practically every city, town and village in the United States.

Buick owners do not need service often. But they have the comfortable feeling of knowing that they can always be supplied with genuine Buick parts and have their work done by Buick-trained mechanics wherever they may happen to be.

TEXAS ENGINEMAN TELLS OF THRILLS AND STRAIN CAUSED BY RECKLESSNESS

Nothing has given me more pleasure than the recent announcement of the national "Careful Crossing Campaign," endorsed by the American Railroad Association. "Automobile Accidents" in my opinion are one of the large problems confronting the public of today. One cannot read a daily paper without being impressed with the great number of accidents and appalled with the enormous loss of life and property, as well as shocked at the number of injuries.

Highway Railway Grade Crossing Accidents contribute a large proportion of the total, and as a locomotive engineer of about 40 years in railroad service, I am somewhat familiar with this class of automobile accidents, which is no doubt due to the phenomenal increase in number of automobiles in use. Twenty years ago, they were few and far between, while I understand and there are now approximately ten million automobiles in service in the United States; that is one to about every thirteen people. As a locomotive engineer, it seems to me ten million automobiles is too low an estimate, and on my train I meet them on nearly every crossing, at all times of the day or night, every day in the year. Rumor to the contrary notwithstanding, a locomotive engineer has a soul, or at least a heart, and does not with malice aforethought run down and over the automobiles that get on the track ahead of his train, killing and maiming the thousands of men, women and children that meet fate in this manner each year. My acquaintance with locomotive engineers is large and I know that the nerve strain this new menace has brought, is causing many premature grey hairs and nervous break-downs.

Hardly a day goes by when the pilot on one of the fast passenger trains doesn't see an automobile perhaps loaded with a family, women or children, or perhaps a gay picnic party suddenly appear on the railroad track immediately ahead of his engine. That is an agonizing moment—your heart leaps into your throat, you can't breathe, every nerve twangs tight like a struck piano string. You can almost hear the crash—visions of flying splinters and broken automobile parts pass before your eyes, as well as the dead and dying forms of the occupants of the car. The suspense is terrible. You realize that to stop the train is impossible on account of its tremendous weight and high speed made necessary by modern railroads. In most cases, the automobile gets safely over the track, sometimes by a margin of only a few feet, sometimes by only a few inches, but in many cases, the crash comes and the engineer actually experiences his tragedy. Then follows the gruesome task of picking up the dying and the dead, giving first aid to the injured, clearing the track of the debris and proceeding with the train. Try to imagine the feelings of an engineer, who has the safe operation of a train carrying perhaps hundreds of passengers in his care, with the cries, moans and groans of the dying ringing in his ears—perhaps the blood of the victims on his clothes or hands which unnerves and unfits him for a time at least to continue his exacting duties.

Frequently, the striking of an automobile means the derailment of engine and train endangering the lives of not only the engine crew, but his passengers as well. Perhaps, if automobile drivers could experience this, they would be more considerate of the feelings and safety of others even though they cared nothing for the risk to themselves. One thousand eight hundred and seven persons were killed and four thousand nine hundred and sixty-one were injured in Railroad Highway Grade crossing accidents in the year 1921. These "ACCIDENTS" occur so often that enginemen watch automobiles approaching open crossings almost fascinated, wondering if the drivers will attempt to cross over ahead of the speeding train, praying they won't, but powerless to do more than sound the whistle and bell signals.

Recently, in approaching a popular highway crossing near Dallas on my engine, I saw an automobile load of fishermen coming towards the track at high speed. It looked an even race to the crossing. My train was going at about 60 miles per hour, that's 88 ft. per second and weighing about one million pounds. I could not stop. I started the whistle and bell and wondered if they would be foolish enough to try to beat us over the crossing to save maybe five seconds of time fishing, or would practice common sense and stop. They didn't stop, but passed over the crossing, so close ahead that my engine struck and broke some fishing poles sticking out behind the car. They saved the five seconds time but lost their fishing poles. They had their reckless thrill and I had my nerves shattered. All to save five seconds time. Is it worth it, I'll say it is not.

Another recent more or less common occurrence was when I saw a party of young boys and girls in an automobile approaching a railroad crossing at high speed on a road paralleling the track, all seemingly having a hilarious time, shouting, waving hats and handkerchiefs, bantering us for a race to the crossing about a quarter of a mile ahead. I sounded the usual whistle and bell signals and wondered if they really meant to attempt to cross the tracks ahead of the train. They did—getting over only about 100 ft. ahead of the engine and then across stopped and gave us the Ha! Ha! as we passed. It's awful to contemplate the result of a slight mistake by a driver in speed of train or a seconds delay on the track.

As life is man's most precious possession, once gone can never be restored, any campaign designed to conserve it, ought an I believe will meet with the endorsement and support of the whole people. The remedy or preventative in this unnecessary loss of life and limb is so simple that anyone can learn it. It can be expressed in four short words:

"DON'T TAKE A CHANCE"

This has been expressed in so many ways that its familiar to everyone. Pet phrases are "Safety First," "Watch Your Step," "Stop Look and Listen," etc. The last was originated by the railroads and is usually posted at Highway Crossings.

Wm. M. WOODALL CANDIDATE FOR COMPTROLLER COMPLETES SOUTHERN TOUR

Wm. M. Woodall, of Nolan County, Candidate for Comptroller of Public Accounts, has just completed a tour of Southern Texas in the interest of his candidacy, and expresses himself as being highly pleased with the reception accorded him throughout that section. He states that he has found the tax payers deeply interested in his proposed reform of our present system of taxation and his policy of economy and efficiency in the operation of the Comptroller's office. Mr. Woodall said: "The people are doing serious thinking in this campaign. They are not concerned with empty promises, but are willing to give their support and co-operation to those who offer practical and constructive ideas for needed reforms. There is entirely too much lost motion in the functioning of our governmental affairs. This must be corrected by efficiency and the strict enforcement of our laws, and economy will follow as a natural sequence, and the burden of taxation will decline. The office I seek is the general accounting office of the State, through which the tax payers' money is collected and disbursed. The people are entitled to a clean administration, economical and based upon modern business methods." Mr. Woodall goes to North and West Texas for the last week of the campaign.

JAZZ AND MODERN DANCE BARRED BY INDIANS

Hominy, Oklahoma.—Expensive motor cars, silk shirts and other luxuries of modern civilization are all right but jazz and modern dance steps have no place at an Indian gathering.

At the inter-tribal dances being held this week at Osage village, near here, syncretized melodies and jazz dances are barred by the tribesmen.

Members of the Poncas, Otoes Pawnees and scattering members of other tribes are attending the celebration at guests of the Osages. The financial states of the tribesmen as revealed in the manner in which they arrive at the round-house.

The Osages, aristocrats of all aborigines, drive up in expensive automobiles, many piloted by chauffeurs. Members of this tribe receive quarters of around $5,000 each, accruing to them from oil and gas development payments from the government in Osage lands. The Poncas, Otoes and Pawnees, who are just coming into their share of oil wealth, still arrive on horseback, in surreys, and a few in small motor cars.

During the week's meeting there are daily dances and the tribesmen exchange gifts.

PANHANDLE-PLAINS C. OF C. ELECTS BLANTON AS NEW SECRETARY AND MANAGER

W. N. Blanton, recognized as one of the best commercial club secretaries of the South, was elected secretary manager of the rejuvenated Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce. The directors who met here Friday afternoon unanimously elected Mr. Blanton. He will assume his new duties at once.

The officers of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce will be maintained in Amarillo in the City Hall, on account of the central location of this city, but most of the activities of the organization will be directed in general and specific movements to aid the 25 counties already members and the remaining 13 which are expected to join soon.

It is expected that the traffic department managed by Hamlin Palmer, who Secretary Blanton as well as others, says is among the most expert traffic men in the entire southwest will be one of the busiest departments in aiding Panhandle counties in their grain, cattle, cotton, sorghum grains and other shipments. It is pointed out that the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce has saved Panhandle shippers many thousands of dollars in freight rates and by securing cars when needed.

The directors were informed Friday that the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce is absolutely free from debt. George Ryan, field director, has lined up 25 counties already as members of the rejuvenated body and under the direction of Hamlin Palmer, acting secretary since Frank R. Jamison's resignation last November, all debts have been cleared off.

Secretary Blanton is already making plans to start the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce to actively functioning for the good of the Panhandle. Mr. Blanton says the body hopes to do even more in the future than is already marked up to its credit. He says his office is ready to co-operate with all Panhandle county members in solving their various local problems that come within the scope of such a regional organization as the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce.

Directors who met here Friday were enthusiastic over the revival of the chamber. One of them pointed out how more than a million of dollars would have been lost to shippers last year had not the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce secured cars to move the wheat, and this director also added thousands of dollars had been saved in freight rate fights won by the body. Another director mentioned the placing of 3,000 harvest hands by the chamber, and numerous other instances of how the chamber had shown itself to be absolutely indispensable to the Panhandle were mentioned.

The Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce was organized in 1919 at a big meeting of Panhandle people held in Amarillo. Frank R. Jamison was elected secretary-manager and A. S. Stinnett was elected president. Mr. Jamison continued as secretary-manager from the organization, June 3, 1919 till November 1921, when he resigned. B. F. Finley of Pampa was elected president in 1921 and is still head of the

The contract price for this plant is $30,000 and includes the erection of a suitable, permanent building, the filtration machinery and all equipment necessary for the work. A guarantee is given that after filtration the water will test 98 per cent pure, which is a very high standard. MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Keats forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

BOYS FIND THAT CAPTURING WILD CAT IS NOT EASY

In accomplishing the bigger things of life, there are always little things that prove entertaining, and sometimes difficult. It is about one of these little things that his story is written. As will be seen from the story in another column of this paper, the members of Company H were taken on a week end camping trip by Capt. Perrine Saturday. It was after the boys had retired for some time that Erskine Butler awakened to find a furry little animal walking about his pillow. He threw the little fellow out of his pup tent at the same time letting out a wail whoop exclaiming "Pole Cat." A lantern squad was formed at once and rushed to the scene to kill the animal. To their amazement, it proved to be a young bob cat rather than a polecat. The chase was on.

By turns the boys chased the wild cat the remaining few hours of the night. And although they had him surrounded several times, they were unsuccessful in making a capture. It was proposed by some that a machine gun be loaded and bring the chase to an end; but others were determined to take the animal alive. The task of capturing the animal was one that no one of the boys craved to do barhanded. Hugh Bowers and Erskine Butler led the chase and Gordon Bain was chief deviser of r-a methods of capture. But as dawn began to show in the eastern sky, a successful surrounding of the offender was made. Several of the boys resolved make a dash and suffer such consequences as scratches. They fell in unison and grabbed the animal. Skin, clothes, fur and dirt flew in every direction but they were successful in holding the wildcat. They then marched proudly to camp to celebrate their hunting prowess, when the captured animal proved to be a harmless mottled kitten.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 47TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF TEXAS

In my campaign for District Judge, I have seen many of the people of the district, and regret not having been able to see all.

For fourteen years I served as your District Attorney; then for two years I did not hold any office. In 1918 I was elected District Judge. I am now serving my first term, and I respectfully submit that because of this service and experience I should be the better qualified for a second term.

If re-elected, I pledge, as in the past, the performance of the duties of the office, in the administration of the law, to the best of my ability.

Very respectfully

MANY TOURISTS GOING TO COOLER CLIMATE

Many tourists are passing through Clarendon for the cooler climates. For the past month tourists travel has been heavy, and of those passing through Clarendon the majority have come along the Colorado to Gulf Highway, while some of them have come along the Ozark Trail from Oklahoma. It seems that this year the Taos Valley is proving more than ever a popular resort, while Colorado has been the favored place heretofore. Of the local people going elsewhere, more seem to be going to New Mexico than to Colorado this year.

GOOD STOCK YIELD PROFITS

Nowadays if you ramble through the country, you will find that most of the purebred farmers maintain purebred livestock as the hub of their prosperity. The old saying that "Blood will tell" is beginning to pay dividends in all sections of the country. Stockmen have found that purebreds are the animals that put the pay in profit and as a consequence they are replacing the mongrel, scrub and cross-bred stock with full-blood. A recent survey of the leading livestock producing sections of the country made by Uncle Sam shows that purebred livestock has 40 per cent greater earning power—without taking into account its breeding or sale value—than scrub stock.

One of the most effective measures which the average farmer of the present era can practice in lessening the leaks and losses which are liable to put a big crimp in his annual profits is to cull the non-productive misfit livestock from his herds and flocks. Purebreds are superior to scrub stock because they are heavier and more economical producers of meat, milk, wool, mutton and pork. The pure-breds mature earlier and show better conformation and quality. The offspring of purebred sires generally command at least 50 percent higher prices than mongrel youngsters of common breeding. These are the reports made by 525 experienced stockmen who own more than 25,000 purebred farm animals and 30,000 fowls. In the last decade these livestock producers have used purebred sires while about one-third of all their female stock is also pedigreed.

During the last couple of years, Uncle Sam has been fostering a big drive known as the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, the ultimate aim of which is to place a purebred male at the head of every herd or flock of farm animals in the country. Naturally, gratifying results in such an enormous work comes but slowly. It is a tedious matter to revamp stables and herds. It takes time to get results by the introduction of new blood. However, the experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture report that the results attained far exceed their expectations. Many farmers who appreciate that purebreds are better still keep their scrubs and cross-breeds because they figure that a sire in hand is worth a stable full in the almanac. However, the county agent and extension specialists are converting these farmers and getting them to supplant the plugs with purebreds.

Statistics and records recently compiled have a 47.8 per cent greater earning power than common cattle. Blooded poultry outclasses the ordinary fowls by 40.7 per cent better breadwinners than scrub parkers, pedigreed sheep eclipse their common associates by 38.7 per cent while fullblood horses are 32.2 per cent better earners than scrub horses. Registered beef cattle showed 36.8 per cent higher incomes than scrub and half bred stock. Farmers who now use purebred sires exclusively say that the average increase in their financial returns amounted to 48 percent, as a result of eliminating the scrub sires from their farms. One farmer reports that purebreds are now the poor man's necessity. He says that he doubled his annual income by selling his scrubs and grades and stocking his farm with plutocratic purebreds. More and more each year, farmers are revolving greater into the book-keeping angle of agriculture. The records aid in separating the chaff and the grain. Almost invariably—if the stock is well selected and of good quality—the purebreds are the animals that aid the farmers in buying new automobiles and modern power machinery.

Not all farmers who buy purebreds made good bargains nor secure desirable stock. Just as there are many mongrels, there are also many "scrub" purebred—animals of excessive refinement, in-bred, undersized, of poor conformation and quality and unsatisfactory specimens of their breed. Farmers must make haste slowly in buying purebreds. They should deal only with reputable and honest breeders. They should know something about the families and breed history of the class of animals they wish to buy or else they should secure assistance from their state agricultural college or the U. S. Department of Agriculture in picking out foundation stock.

Ordinary, surplus purebreds are readily salable at profitable prices. However, sales and prices depend largely on the quality of stock as shown by breeding and production records as well as on the business ability of the breeder. Most of the farmers who now are using purebred sires are satisfied with the quality of offspring obtained. As they gain greater experience, many of them purchase even better sires in order to improve the progeny. About three-fourths of the leading breeders report that purebred sires of good quality can be had now in abundance at fair prices. The only difficulties that confront the prospective purchaser is to pay the price and fine animals of the type he wishes. It is estimated that each breeder of purebred animals annually converts about nine other farmers to the purebred cause. Reading agricultural journals and periodicals, general observation of the successes of purebred herds and the activities of the federal county agent are most effective agencies in the production of purebred livestock.

GREAT SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS PLANNED

A system of highways that will serve the whole country and will be far superior to any other in the world is being mapped out by the Federal and State engineers. It is estimated that the system will comprise 180,000 miles of roads. The Federal highway act recently enacted specifically requires that all Federal aid be spent on a connected system of highways consisting of not more than 7 percent of the road mileage in each state, and that this system shall consist of interstate or primary roads and intercounty or secondary roads.

Proposed systems have been received by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture from all but eight states. They are plotted on a large map of the United States and are carefully examined as to coordination with the roads of adjacent states and service to all sections of the country. Where coordinations is not satisfactory conferences are held with all interested state highway officials and routes adjusted.

Many states have already adjusted difficult problems with their neighbors. As an example the system sent in by Nebraska showed a big gap in an important road along the northern boundary. It was learned however, that South Dakota would follow with a system that would fit like pictures on toy blocks. Since the Federal highway act of last November became a law only roads certain to be on the system have been approved for construction.

RULING GIVEN ON CITY POLL TAX PAYMENTS

Austin, Texas, July 7.—Shortly after the adoption of the woman suffrage amendments to the State and Federal Constitutions, the Attorney General held that the payment of a city poll tax could not be required of either men or women as a prerequisite to their right to vote. This ruling pertained to the general election in November, 1922.

Since that opinion was rendered questions have been raised as to whether the same rule applies to primary elections and to cities of 5,000 inhabitants or more. These questions are answered in the affirmative in a ruling rendered by the Attorney General to County Attorney Marvin Scarlock of Jefferson County. In this ruling the Attorney General said:

"It is our opinion that the rule here announced applies to primary elections as well as other elections, and that it also applies to cities and towns of more than 5,000 inhabitants as well as to smaller towns. We find nothing in Sec. 5 of Art. 11 of our State Constitution, nor in Chapter 147, General Laws, regular session Thirty-Third Legislature, and amendments thereto which indicates a different rule should be applied in cities of more than 5,000 inhabitants."

PAMPA CONTRACTS FOR WATER WELLS

The City Council let the contract Wednesday afternoon for the drilling of two 8-inch wells for the new water works system. Four bids were received on the wells, and the contract was awarded to H. H. Heiskell of this city he having presented the bid considered best.

Mr. Heiskell will start work on the wells within the next week or ten days, however, a carload of pipe has been ordered, which will probably not arrive for three weeks.—Pampa News.

FARM PEOPLE TO

GATHER AT "A. & M."

College Station, Texas, July 15.—

The work of the School of Agriculture of the A. & M. College of Texas will be climaxed the last week of this month in the twelfth annual Farmers Short Course. During this week the entire force of the institution will be devoted to the task of assisting in the most extensive way possible that great class of farm men and women, boys and girls whose duties on the farm will not permit them to spend more than one week away from their homes. And in addition to the officials of the extension research and teaching divisions of the College, there will be brought here on these days specialists of other Colleges and other institutions who have vital information to the farm people, and then there will be Governor Pat M. Neff and officers of southern farm organizations to talk on the topics of the hour that have the greatest importance to rural dwellers.

For the greatest effectiveness those attending will be divided into groups according to subjects that they desire to pursue in their work. No text books will be used as the purpose of the course is not to institute new methods but to solve the every-day problems of those who come, teach them some things which if employed in their work on returning home will mean greater profit and greater ease. Men will study farm tractors and engines, fertilizer, demonstrations, insect eradication and other related subjects. Women will be primarily interested in interior decoration, cooking, sewing and such minor outdoor work as poultry raising and vegetables gardening. The girls will take elementary courses along the same lines, while boys will devote their time to judging livestock, grain selection and to farm engines and tractors.

In order to have all keenly interested in their work at all times various competitions have been arranged to the winners of which prizes will be awarded for the recognition of merit.
