S. S. BANQUET HUGE SUCCESS

120 SUNDAY SCHOOL STUDENTS, TEACHERS AND OTHERS ATTEND GET TOGETHER.

The Young Peoples Get Together banquet sponsored by the Sunday Schools of the city and held Thursday evening at the Antro Hotel was all that was expected to be, and more.

Mr. Homer Mulkey of the First Christian Sunday School performed the duties of toastmaster in his usual pleasing manner.

The other two of the series of benefits that will be held later in the year are to be in line with the program of this evening and they are certain to please the music loving public of Clarendon.

MAC DOWELL CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT

CHORAL CLUB WILL STAGE COLONIAL MUSICAL FOR PATHFINDER LIBRARY.

On Thursday evening, February 24th, the Mac Dowell Club will give a Colonial Concert in the auditorium of Clarendon College to raise funds for the Pathfinder Library.

Every member of the Club will wear a colonial dress and it is said that many of the costumes are exquisite.

The program, which begins at 7:45, is given below. It will be observed that most of the numbers are old favorites.

1. Southern Melodies, Solos and Ensemble. 2. Scenes Pittoresques: (a) Bed-Time Story, Harriet Ware; Miss Estelle Wood.

BAND BENEFIT HERE TONIGHT

ASSOCIATED ORGANIZATIONS PRESENTING PROGRAM OF INTEREST TO EVERYONE.

One of the most far-reaching programs ever presented in Clarendon is that which is to be given this evening in the Pastime Theater.

The Municipal Chorus, the Band and the local Orchestra practiced Sunday afternoon in the Pastime to become acclimated to the place where they would appear tonight.

Mrs. West of Kirkland was here Sunday to attend the funeral services for her brother-in-law, Mr. Joe Langford.

LOCAL OFFICE REPRESENTED IN DISTRICT MEETING OF CENTRAL LIGHT & POWER CO.

Two important meetings of the Panhandle District of the Central Light and Power Company were held last week, with the Clarendon office well represented.

On Friday following, a meeting of all the women employees of the company was held in Childress and the Woman's Committee of the Panhandle District was organized.

A large and appreciative audience heard the music pupils of Dean and Mrs. Grover C. Morris in recital at the College last Friday evening.

Miss Lucille Goldston, Miss Lorraine Patrick, Floyd Phillips of McLean, and Cappy Stevens spent Sunday in Wellington, the guests of Miss Dorothy Moore.

BULLDOG SCHEDULE PART FILLED

SEVEN HEAVY GAMES MATCHED BY CLARENDON COLLEGE FOR FALL.

Believing strongly enough that the Clarendon College would not be moved from its present location, the Athletic Department of Clarendon College have made plans for a heavy season of football with the Bulldogs for the fall months.

Three games have been matched with members of the T. I. A. A. and it is hoped that another can be secured to allow the Bulldogs to be in the run-off at the close of the season.

The present planned schedule does not include the games that are played annually with Wayland Baptist College. These will be placed on the schedule at a later date.

PLANS NOW TAKING FORM FOR ANNUAL T. U. AFFAIR

The annual University of Texas banquet for the Four County Association, to be held in Wellington this year, is being worked in this county by Chas. H. Dean, Jr.

A-T WELL IS GOING AHEAD

WORK PROGRESSING RAPIDLY ON SETTING OF SMALLER CASING. DRILLING NOW.

The news that the A-T well north of the river was to be closed down met with much ill favor the latter part of last week.

The well was shut down last week when caving in the 1,200 feet of open hole were delaying operations to a great extent and when they were threatening to become serious.

Two shafts will be worked on the well to make as much depth as possible each day. While they will not make so much depth in the lime above this formation, they are expected to keep hammering away and will not be satisfied with less than 75 feet a day.

SCOUTING WEEK OBSERVED HERE

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS FOLLOW NATIONAL PROGRAM TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.

A week of "scouting" to celebrate the seventeenth anniversary of Scouting in America was observed by local Boy Scouts.

The second meeting of the week was the Court of Honor, which was held at the Queen Theatre, Monday evening, February 7.

The last gathering of the week was the hike made by the three troops. Troops 1 and 2 hiked to Sater's Saturday afternoon.

In the course of the week, the Scouts did some special work. They placed exhibits of the craft and their tools in show windows about town.

The week of intensive scouting was intensely successful in not only reviving the interest of the Scouts themselves, but in arousing that of other boys and their friends.

Dr. J. W. Chisholm, O. T. Smith, U. J. Boston and J. W. Owens were the other guests of the day. All of them responded when called to the floor.

Scout who was selected four weeks ago by the boys to become Assistant Scout Master Holcomb, trained Troop 2, for the first time, Friday evening.

GIRLS INTER SOCIETY DEBATE HOLDS INTEREST OF CLARENDON COLLEGE

The approaching annual debate between the Pan-Aletheans and Add-Orthionians of Clarendon College is arousing even more than usual interest on the campus this year.

This is one intra-mural event of the College in which people of Clarendon take great interest. The fact that the winners of this debate will defend the College against the team from Southwestern, March 25, adds to the enthusiasm felt by the girls and the societies.

Two cub Lions were present and made their inaugural speeches in the time-honored manner.

Two commissioners of Donley County were present and were called on to make some of the promises they had made when they were canvassing for office last summer.

BUILDING IS ON CLIMB HERE NOW

SEVERAL NEW HOMES NOW UNDER WAY. BUSINESS DISTRICT TO START SOON.

With the opening of the spring months, the building activities of Clarendon are expected to take on even larger ways than was experienced in the summer and early fall months of 1926.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Edington just west of the business section of Clarendon is ready for occupation. They are also planning the erection of some other houses in the near future, possibly for rent purposes.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon O. Lewis has seen some extensive changes in the past few weeks, the greater part of the work being on the interior of the place.

The Fort Worth and Denver Road are expected to carry out their plans for the erection of the new depot for Clarendon and will in all probability start in the very near future.

The internal changes have all been completed in the Antro Hotel and no other changes are planned for the immediate future.

FIRST BABSON ARTICLE TODAY

FIRST OF SERIES TO APPEAR IN THIS ISSUE OF NEWS. CONCERNS "RETAILING."

Last week, the Clarendon News carried the note that a series of articles from the pen of Roger Babson would soon appear in the paper.

The classes in economics in both the College and the High School have agreed to use the stories as an adjunct to their text books and will possibly devote some time to their perusal.

It is the hope of The News that all subscribers and readers of the paper will read the articles in question and keep abreast of what their children are doing in the school rooms of the city.

BID FOR COLLEGE TO BE INDIVIDUAL

AMARILLO DISCLAIMS CONCERTED ACTION TO WIN COLLEGE SAYS GLOBE.

Tuesday's Amarillo Globe carries a story on page one, headed "Individuals Not City, To Bid For Methodist College," which indicates a continuation of the announced policy of the Board of City Development of Amarillo to give no aid nor comfort to the effort to move Clarendon College to that city.

"Individuals in Amarillo will bid for the removal of Clarendon Methodist college to Amarillo and this end, it was understood here this afternoon.

"However, should the college be removed to Amarillo through individual efforts, or decision of the removal board, everyone will lend every effort to make of it the greatest success possible.

"This in general, sums up opinions heard this afternoon from various sources. Although it was generally understood that bids will be made, no definite announcement of specific offers were heard.

"In view of these efforts and statements recently made public, W. O. Gaton, president of the Board of City Development, this afternoon declared that the board will not take any steps in the matter, although should the college be brought here it will do all in its power to further its growth.

"It is now believed that offers of the site will be made by individuals, either as an outright gift or for commercial development of property."

TREES NEEDED AT PUBLIC SCHOOLS

P. T. A. COMMITTEE TAKING CONTRIBUTIONS TO PLACE TREES AROUND SCHOOLS.

With tree planting time not far off, the beautification of the grounds of both the South Ward and the High Schools of Clarendon is being seriously considered.

The sum necessary to plant a sufficient number of trees around the schools is $155. When this has been raised, Chinese Elms will be planted by a local nursery.

NOTICE—Any erroneous reflections upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

One of the most to-be-pitied persons in the world is one who takes every little slight or careless oversight as a personal thrust. Religion can't make such an one happy. It can't live in such narrow channels.

Books have always a secret influence on the understanding; he that reads books of science, though without any desire fixed of improvement, will grow more knowing; he that entertains himself with moral or religious treatises will imperceptibly advance in goodness; the ideas that are often offered to the mind will at last find a lucky moment when it is disposed to receive them.—Samuel Johnson.

Panhandle Counties ought to have a great delegation meeting at some central point this spring for the purpose of setting a general and unified road building program for 1927. This would be worth while from every standpoint and The News would like to see the meeting held in Clarendon—a central location and a city with no axes to grind.

Texas libel laws are to be rendered more pliable by the action of the legislature the past week. Texas newspapers will be able to record facts and statements without running the risk of a damage suit. This removal of an unjust threat against newspapers will insure greater freedom of recording the truth and is certain to have an elevating effect on Texas politics. It is for the good of the whole people.

Clarendon is one of the best drained and most sanitary cities of this section of the Southwest. Clarendon's water supply is far above the average as to purity and before the year is out the supply is to be greatly augmented. This is the reason why Clarendon is without doubt one of the most healthful places of residence in the most healthful section of the state. It is further reason why Clarendon's growth and progress is assured.

The News believes that the people of Shamrock made a mistake last week when they voted down a proposal to sell their light and power plant to the Central Power & Light Co. They were offered $100,000 more than the value of the plant, and The News feels that their service would have been greatly improved by the big public utility concern. Clarendon's troubles, from a power and light standpoint, have been over since the local plant became one of the chain owned and operated by the Central Power & Light Co. We believe Shamrock will correct its error at a later date.

CLARENDON KNOWS WHO'S WHO

Amarillo's Board of City Development maintains its announced policy of refusing to give aid or comfort to the movement originating in the Northwest Texas Methodist conference to move Clarendon College to Amarillo. Clarendon people have never been misled as to where the movement originated, and even should certain Amarillo individuals make an offer for the school, Clarendon people will not hold resentment against the business interests of that city who control the policies and activities of the Board of City Development. Clarendon people are not ignorant of the various phases of the question. Clarendon people are not narrow. Clarendon recognizes the fairness and justice of the organized commercial interests of her sister city.

Come to the Panhandle—it is a wonderful place. Only last week burglars entered the home of a country newspaper man and got away with over fifty dollars worth of jewelry. Can you beat it in any other section in the world?

The importance of reading—not slight stuff to get through the time, but the best that has been written—forces itself upon me more and more every year I live; it is living in good company, the best company, and people are generally quite keen enough, or too keen, about that, yet they will not do it in the simplest and best manner, by reading.—Matthew Arnold.

Honoring the opening of the Wilbarger, Vernon's new five-story fire-proof hotel, the Vernon Record issued on Feb. 9th, a thirty-two page special edition, which is worthy of mention for it marks a new era in Vernon's growth into one of the most aggressive and substantial cities of this section. The Wilbarger opened Friday evening of last week with a great banquet-reception which bore evidence of the splendid co-operation of that city with the new enterprise. The Wilbarger is another of the chain of hotels owned by Col. E. O. Thompson of Amarillo, who recently opened the Antro Hotel in Clarendon and we congratulate Vernon on his engagement in their city.

THE COMMUNITY NEWSPAPER

By Oscar C. Payne

The newspaper in the community is, like the church and the school, an institution of service. There is only one point of difference. The church is supported by the voluntary contributions of those who believe in the worthwhileness of its mission. The school is supported by donations in the form of special taxes from those who may make the donation with more or less grumbling but who in the last analysis would not think of abolishing them. The newspaper must pay its own way by selling the news it gathers and prints and its advertising space.

In every other respect the newspaper and the church and the school are exactly alike, and your newspaper man, your minister and your school man are not unlike in their essential qualifications. They all assimilate and disseminate valuable fundamental knowledge, and are thus of an educational nature. They all support every worthy enterprise in the community, the one emphasizing certain features, another emphasizing certain other features, and the third emphasizing still others. They all stand for highest personal and community ideals, seek to inculcate principles of clean living, and strive to prepare men for and inspire them to unselfish service to the community.

Nowhere is the principle that "He profits most who serves best" more inexorably operative than in the case of the modern newspaper. Functioning side-by-side, its two ideals of solid business methods and unselfish community service have worked out a mutual co-operation and co-ordination, so that your real newspaper in the community is now both a successful business institution and a successful community serving institution.

Sordid selfishness has no place in newspaper production. Your ideal newspaper man has no axe to grind, no hobby to ride, no scheme to put over. Chicanery and wire-pulling are as foreign to his nature as is vaulting ambition for personal aggrandizement. He is modest, self-sacrificing, putting his newspaper and its service to his community ahead of every other consideration, caring nothing about what the public may think of "What I have done," but extremely proud of the friends his paper wins through rendering service.

Above all things, your ideal newspaper craves a reputation for truthfulness. It does not always tell the truth—for it would avoid adding one mite to human suffering—but it always tells nothing but the truth. It spares no trouble or expense to keep falsehood and error off its pages, and to this end its advertising columns are as carefully edited as are its news and editorial columns.

Neither fear of criticism, greed for profit, nor consideration of personal ambition ever sways the newspaper man who is a newspaper man at heart from the control of his sense of obligation to his readers and his community.

GOLDSTON CLUB GIRLS MEET

The Goldston Girls Club met Tuesday, February 3rd, in regular meeting at the school building. Each girl enjoyed the first meeting after organization and the time was spent in the "lesson" to be learned on a Cup Towel," as: "how material is made," "number of sets of thread in a piece of material and their names," "how to straighten an edge to be hemmed," "what a hem is and how to make one," "how to baste, and purpose of a basting," "how to put in a hem." Not that all cup-towels should have the hems put in by hand, but something for us to learn how to make the hem, so that we can put the hems in our dresses. Thirteen members were present and six new members, hoping to have more new members next time. Our next meeting will be February 22nd. Program: Poultry, discussions; "How to build a hen's nest;" "How to set a hen;" and "Causes and remedies for diseases and insects." Each girl have her cup towel ready to hand in to be graded.

AUTO ACCIDENTS INCREASE IN 1926

According to statistics compiled by the National Safety Council, an increase is shown in the number of auto accidents occurring in 1926, there being 23,000 estimated deaths last year from this cause. This figure includes deaths from collisions of automobiles with railroad trains, street cars and other heavier vehicles, with about 300 deaths from motorcycles. The 1926 record is an increase of 4.5 percent over 1925, while 1925 fatalities were approximately 9 percent in excess of 1924.

Texas contains about eight percent of the area of the United States.

Winter laying depends upon what they are fed from now on!

IT is a big mistake to wait until too late and then try to force your hens for extra eggs! It takes a hen a little time to manufacture eggs. She cannot be rushed. The eggs she lays in the coming months are really started by the feed she gets now.

You do not take a chance when you are feeding Purina Chows. When you buy your Purina Poultry Chows, we will give you, free, egg record blanks, so you can mark on them the extra eggs you get every day. We want you to check up that way, because you'll never buy anything but Purina Chows, once you see what they actually do for you. Start feeding for those extra eggs now.

Music Notes

The requirements for the contest songs in the Music Festival have come, and the Choral Clubs and Band plan to go to work as soon as the new music arrives. The money for this music is to be taken from the literary society funds. The song for the girls choral club is, "Tiptoe" by Molly Carew; for the boys glee club, "Song of the Sea" by George B. Nevin; and for the mixed chorus, "Goodnight, Goodnight, Beloved" by Pinsuti.

Manner Lesson

In chapel Monday morning, February 14, the student body had some instruction on table manners, due to the influence of the approaching banquet. Miss Clinty Phillips sat at one side of a small table, Miss Jesse Burson at the other to demonstrate the points in Miss Beck's talk. Miss Phillips showed the incorrect way of eating, Miss Burson the correct. On the bulletin board was drawn a correct cover and Miss Beck told us which fork to use first, so the Juniors or Seniors would not have to look around to see if they were eating according to the rules of etiquette. Her comments and hints were interesting as well as instructive.

Scout Program in Chapel

When we sang "The Boy Scout March" in chapel, Wednesday morning, Feb. 9, none of us suspected anything, but soon we were delighted to hear Mr. Morgan announce that the boys would put on a program, as it was Boy Scout Anniversary week, and Wednesday was their National School Day. We held our breath the entire time for fear some one would be hurt during the following program:

The Three Man Lift.

Skin the Snake.

Talk by Mr. Wickline.

Rev. Crocker Talks in Chapel

Reverend Crocker took his text from Hebrew 4:12 and then told his personal experiences in the late war, in chapel February 11. He told his experiences to show the side of the soldier life that is not attractive. He urged that one does not need to fight as a soldier in order to show his patriotism. Peace as well as war calls for courage. The fight against wrong need not be one of bloodshed.

Meeting the Demand of the Public

It has only been a short time since it was merely a question of how little will it cost to do a wiring job. This however is not true with the home builder of today. Since ELECTRICITY has become the valuable servant that it is, the house wife of today takes as much pride in the installation of her ELECTRIC SERVANT as any of the details that go to make the home more than just a place to live.

We specialize in wiring for LIGHT, HEAT, and POWER.

Are always at your service and would consider it a pleasure to help you plan your wiring for any kind of electric service.

Only the very best quality of material used on any job.

ART EXHIBIT AT HIGH SCHOOL MOST BENEFICIAL

A three day exhibit of prints of famous masterpieces was held at the high school last week, with great benefit to all pupils from the three schools who attended. The prints are the best obtainable, and the collection contains all the best known and most popular paintings. To see the prints and study them was a valuable opportunity. Most teachers accompanied their pupils on a visit to the exhibition, talking with them about the masterpieces and the artists. Students in the Ward Schools were then required to write descriptive and historical essays on the painters and their works. Mr. Morgan, Superintendent of the Schools, says that he and the other teachers consider that the exhibit was most beneficial from the cultural view.

The money obtained by charging each child ten cents to see the picture, will be spent for prints for the schools.

CHAPEL HOUR IS FILLED BY CHINESE MISSIONARY

Rev. Jno. C. Hawk missionary to China for the past twenty years was present in Clarendon Wednesday morning and spoke to the students of Clarendon College during the chapel period.

Dr. Hawk in his talk showed clearly how the Chinese people were thoroughly able to cope with other nations in every way for world wide progress if they were only given an opportunity to consolidate their energies.

The three main grievances of the Chinese people today towards the nations of the world according to Rev. Hawk were:

1. The entire control of customs, postal and tariff regulations are in the hands of the British Government. No Chinese however well educated can ever hold places of trust in their own country.

2. Extra territoriality which means that no foreigner is amenable to Chinese laws. United States has only one concession among the many held by foreign nations.

3. The customs that are in effect in China were passed in 1842 and allow only five percent whereas the same commodities pay one hundred percent to enter the Japanese Empire.

Dr. Hawk brought the message of 35,000 college trained Chinese people who are pleading for their rights and are only asking for the working of the Golden Rule in the working out of their ultimate Republic of world powers.

TIME TO PLAN FOR THE SPRING GARDEN

Collage Station, Texas, Feb. 16.—With spring just around the corner, now is a good time for every farmer, and for that matter folks in the city also, to begin planning for the home garden. J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas, pointed out in a recent talk on gardening delivered over Station WTAW, the A. & M. College radio station.

Among other things of importance to be considered in planning the garden is the question of site, Mr. Rosborough said. "One fourth of an acre of vegetables properly planted and cared for is sufficient for a family of six grown persons, throughout the spring, summer and fall, and will give in addition, a surplus for home canning and storing," he added. "It is seldom advisable to plant more than one-half acre of vegetables for home use, regardless of the quantity of land at hand. In the city the size of the garden generally depends upon the space available."

In selecting the site for the garden, attention should be given to adequate slope for suitable drainage in case of excessive rainfall and also to sufficient air drainage to prevent a possible pocketing of frost. Convenience to the house and distance from large trees which may shade the soil and shade the vegetables are other matters to be considered.

Virtually any type of soil can be used for a home garden if properly fertilized but a sandy soil is to be preferred, Mr. Rosborough said. The sandy loam soils are more easily worked, will respond more readily to fertilizing and are not injured by tramping when wet. For early crops a light soil is best.

"Prior to breaking the land for the garden it is important that a heavy application of well rotted stable manure, at the rate of two tons to the one-fourth acre, should be spread over the surface and then turned under," the horticulturist advised. "Fresh manure applied to the garden soil at this time may cause a burning of the plants due to the short period for decomposition now before the crop is to be planted."

Those plants which mature quickly and produce large yields in proportion to the space occupied were recommended for the small garden, such, for example, as beans, cabbage, or onions. "Early vegetables," said Mr. Rosborough, "may be recommended for the small garden, such as spinach, turnips, and lettuce. Those crops such as squashes, corn, or sweet potatoes should not be grown where the area is limited but are satisfactory for the large farm gardens."

Use only the best seed, for "old seed saved from the previous season or purchased at half price can usually be relied upon to give half priced returns and results," Mr. Rosborough added.

GAS PROMISES TO REPLACE COAL FUEL

According to Floyd W. Parsons, editor of Gas Age-Record, New York, gas will eventually take the place of one-third of the 600,000,000 tons of bituminous coal now annually consumed in the United States.

Mr. Parsons points out that at present manufactured gas companies are using approximately 12,000,000 tons of coal a year to produce gas, at the same time saving valuable by-products of coke, tar, ammonia, sulphur, etc., from which innumerable dyes and drugs are derived.

In view of the evils of smoke and the high cost of handling coal and ashes, he believes that eventually manufactured gas will supplant a very large part of this great use of coal, resulting in not only better living conditions, but a very decided increase of the national wealth.

COTTON SLEDDING BECOMING IMPORTANT HARVEST METHOD

Low cotton prices this season have stimulated in Texas and Oklahoma a great increase in a low-cost method of harvesting cotton which was first practiced about 10 years ago. This is the use of sleds or strippers for pulling or snapping cotton from the stalks. Two main types of sleds are in general use, says the United States Department of Agriculture. One type is adapted for harvesting small cotton (the kind usually grown in the Staked Plains area) and the other for harvesting cotton where the plant has a more vigorous growth. The latter type is used chiefly in the bottom lands of the plains area, and in some areas farther east.

Although this method of harvesting cotton often leaves 15 percent or more of the crop in the field, it is immensely cheaper than picking. It is considerably cheaper than snapping cotton by hand. It is obviously advantageous, in seasons like the present one, when cotton prices and labor rates are such that the crop will hardly stand the expense of harvesting by picking or snapping. Indeed, it is generally believed by the cotton farmers that sledging is only an emergency method of harvesting. Nevertheless, some producers contend that sledging has come to stay, and that great improvement will be made in this harvesting method. Ginners say that cotton sledged under ideal conditions is of about the same quality as the usual run of snapped or pulled cotton. But where fields are grassy or where badly constructed sleds are used, the method may give poor results.

Other conditions besides low cotton prices may favor the spread of cotton sledging. Among them are scarcity of labor and early frosts. In the newer cotton areas of Texas and Oklahoma, where machine methods enable cotton to be produced on a more extensive scale than in other parts of the Cotton Belt, farm families can cultivate much more cotton than it is possible for them to harvest without additional labor. Thus the problem of harvest labor in the cotton fields arises. Furthermore, the picking operation becomes too difficult after killing frosts, because the burs then break off the stalk at a touch. Sledging partially solves the double problem of economizing harvest labor and saving cotton that has been caught by early frosts.

Although sledging cotton has been described as simply a mechanical means for snapping or pulling cotton, the operation is not really adequately described by the terms snapping and pulling. The sleds have toothed arrangements, not unlike mower guards. They strip all bolls from the stalks, regardless of their state of maturity. Naturally considerable foreign material is harvested at the same time. This at first caused some ginners to oppose the use of the sled, but recently they have shown less opposition.

Sledging was used on an enormous scale in the western part of the cotton area the past season. Data are being compiled by the department as to the amount of cotton harvested in this way. Estimates of the amount of snapped and sledged cotton in Texas and Oklahoma run from three to four million bales, which is a good proportion of the western crop. Probably more than half of the cotton in the semiarid regions of Texas and Oklahoma were harvested by sledging. The method is most applicable in areas where the height of cotton is rather uniformly from 12 to 15 inches. Small, dwarfed cotton stalks are universally found in the semiarid regions. A sled has been devised for harvesting cotton from the taller stalks, but this is not the demonstrated success that the ordinary sled has been on the shorter cotton.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION—IT IS NO PUZZLE

Why is traffic congested? Look along the curb. Automobiles parked in a virtually solid line on both sides of downtown streets narrow the streets to the width of alleys. And all moving traffic must be accommodated in the narrow path that is left. Traffic is congested whenever traffic ways are occupied by standing vehicles.

Out on the highways it sometimes happens when several cars are stopped in the road opposite a baseball game. Traffic is congested whenever traffic ways become grandstands and bleachers.

OUR SEC. SAYS

A landlord and a tenant were overheard in a conversation sometime ago as to what should be done with a part of the land on which the tenant had made a trade to farm during the year. Said the tenant to the landlord, "If it is all right with you, I shall break up that twelve acre patch that has been used for pasture and plant it in cotton," whereupon the landlord said, "I have 150 acres of cotton in the regular field and if you desire to put that patch in cotton also and not have pigs for your meat it is time for you to move before you get into debt and have all the neighbors angry at me. I once lived here and kept hogs, chickens and some cows and was able to meet my debts at the end of the year."

The tenant took the hint and placed two good brood sows on this patch which was planted in Sudan grass and true to the prediction of the landlord, the tenant made more money from the increase of those sows than the entire 150 acres netted him. The early freeze in 1925 caught the cotton just in time to completely ruin the tenant's hopes for a crop and the pigs from those two sows sold about what were needed for meat actually netted the tenant more money than the entire 150 acres of cotton.

Another story is of interest that comes to the attention of the secretary in his conversation with farmers of the county.

A tenant asked a landlord to advance him $24 to purchase three young gilts. After consideration the loan was advanced.

The tenant fed and cared for the three young gilts giving them the waste from the kitchen table, pasturing them on a small grass patch and giving them feed as needed.

In the thirteen months that the tenant has owned the three gilts one gilt lost the entire litter of pigs and was sold fattened for $39.85; another was killed for home consumption that weighed out $55; the third is valued at $40. Thirteen pigs are still in the pasture that have caused their owner to refuse $255 for them.

When comparing $24 and the use
