Bulldogs Buzz Lamar

The Clarendon College Bulldogs whizzed by Lamar College and Air Force Prep and dropped a contest to Air Force Junior Varsity last week. Head coach Joe Mondragon expects a good game Thursday at 8 p.m. when Frank Phillips takes on the Bulldogs at 8 p.m. in the college gym. Former Clarendon High School basketball standout Danny McCampbell will return to his old stomping grounds as a starter for his Frank Phillips team, which beat Clarendon in overtime in late November. McCampbell was an All-State player for Clarendon High School in 1994-95. As of press time, Frank Phillips was tied for first place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference. "We expect a close contest, they're a good ball club," Mondragon said. "It was a very good basketball game to watch at Frank Phillips. I expect more of the same." Clarendon started off last week in style dancing over Lamar College, 93-71, Jan. 29 in the Bulldog Gym. A strong first half put the Bulldogs in control of the contest as they rolled to a 44-26 halftime lead, Mondragon said. Randy Williams had 16 points in the second half -- most of them were put-backs. Scoring for the Bulldogs were Randy Williams, 20; Wright, 14; Eric Brown, 13; and Chuncey Williams, 12. The Bulldogs traveled to Colorado Springs Friday night for a match-up with Air Force Prep. Clarendon won the contest in a thrilling overtime match-up, 97-89. Cold shooting plagued the Bulldogs in the first half as they entered the locker room 51-38. "We were cold, and we just didn't have a lot of time to warm up," Mondragon said. "And it was cold in the gym." Randy Williams had 10 points and kept the Bulldogs in the ball game, and Marty Hardy had 8 off the bench. The Bulldogs continued to struggle midway through the second quarter where they were down by as many as 13. Brown hit 21 points in the second half in the nip-and-tuck contest and the Bulldogs cut it to 1 when Rene Sierra missed a wide-open lay-up. On Air Force's next possession, the Bulldogs fouled a player who made both free throws to put Air Force up by 3 points. Mondragon put in four shooting guards and a rebounder. "We had three attempts at the three, and we kept rebounding and kicking it out. Eric (Brown) hit one from 25 feet and falling down with four seconds left on the clock to send it into overtime." At the end of regulation, the score was tied, 85-85. "I just told the guys at halftime, this is our half," Mondragon said. "When we hit that shot, this is where

A Special Invitation To The Games Of The Year

Remember the days when the old college gym literally rocked whenever the Clarendon College Bulldogs played a home game? Of course, I wasn't here at the time, but people tell me that there was a day in Clarendon when you had to get to the gym early to make certain to get a seat. Latecomers had to stand or dodge the old poles in the bleachers to get a glimpse of the action. This Thursday night represents a great opportunity to re-live those days in Clarendon. Our Lady Bulldogs and Bulldogs will play host to our college's greatest rival, Frank Phillips College. Earlier this season, our men's team lost a highly controversial, overtime heart-stopper to the Plainsmen in Berger. A buzzer basket attempt by Bulldog postman Angel Gutierrez spun out of the hoop at the end of regulation, and Coach Joe Mondragon's troops ended up swallowing a bitter pill. Our boys want to get that taste out of their mouths Thursday night in the worst way. Especially for our men, Thursday stacks up as the game of the year — our bowl game, so to speak. The Plainsmen are on a roll, making a run for the Western Junior College Athletic Association Conference title. They are a powerful team, led by a giant postman named Lorenzo Hall and Clarendon's own Danny McCampbell.

Our guys are always tough on their own floor. We've lost only one game at home all year, a close contest to a highly talented and sharpshooting Air Force Junior Varsity squad. Our home record is 9-1. Our Lady Bulldogs will tip off the night's action at 6 p.m., and they will be severely tested by the nationally-ranked Frank Phillips team. Our ladies will be a big underdog, but Coach Joel Zehr's team is not going to roll over and play dead. Our girls are undefeated at home this year with a 7-0 record, but they'll need all your support to have a chance to keep it that way.

Yes, it's going to be a big, big night for basketball fans in Clarendon. There are some special events planned. For instance, no one has won the 25-inch color TV yet. That's still on the line.

But, more importantly, our community pride is on the line. So, here's a special invitation to be a part of the biggest night for college basketball in Clarendon this year. If you've got something green, wear it! If you don't, come anyway!

Let's show our rivals to the north what spirit is all about. Sincerely,
Scott Elliott

Bronchos Stampede Wildcats, Now Running 2nd In District

The Clarendon Bronchos squeaked by Canadian and dropped a close game to Panhandle last week as they continued to remain in the play-off hunt in District 2-A.

Their record is 19-6 overall and 2-1 for the second half of district play.

The Bronchos finished in a tie with Panhandle for first place in the first half of district and remain in second place behind Panhandle for the second half at press time.

Panhandle traveled to a packed house at the Clarendon gym Friday, and the Bronchos, who had lost to the Panthers in their last four outings, played tenacious defense and ended the first quarter tied 14-14.

Clemmie Smith's inside post moves dazzled the Panhandle defenders as he unleashed four field goals before the half.

Roy Williams erupted in the second quarter, hitting two back-to-back three-pointers to bring the crowd to its feet and to pull the Bronchos ahead. Dean Stanzione added a trey of his own. Clarendon headed into the locker room with a 35-27 lead.

"Those three-pointers were really big," head coach Jimmy Avery said. "They gave us the confidence and the momentum we needed at that point."

Clarendon pushed their lead to 12 points in the third quarter. Stanzione popped a trey, and Smith added two baskets. Heading into the final period, the Bronchos led 46-39.

The wheels fell off in the fourth quarter as Clarendon committed three successive turnovers and then fouled Chad Bertrand - Panhandle's three-point and free-throw shooting specialist - while he was shooting a trey.

Panhandle outscored the Bronchos, 32-18, in the final quarter.

The Panthers converted 13 of 15 free throws in the fourth period.

"It was a real heartbreaker. We came so close, but those three turnovers and that foul killed us point-wise and mentally. You can't make those kind of mistakes when you're playing Panhandle with their slew of shooters."

Scoring for the Bronchos were Williams, 15; Smith, Chris Brown, 10; Stanzione, 10; Kareem Abdullah, 9; and Drew Jeffers, 6.

Clarendon dominated their Jan. 30 contest in Canadian, but the Wildcats did not go down without a fight and threatened the Bronchos near the end of the fourth quarter before Clarendon pulled out a 57-50 win.

Williams rattled off three field goals in the opening period, and Brown and Lorenzo Moore chipped in two apiece for a 17-12 lead.

They increased the halftime lead to 30-24 behind a balanced scoring attack by five Bronchos. Brown, who had 9 rebounds and 13 points scored 5 points in the second period.

"Chris (Brown) probably had one of his best games of the year," Avery said. "He really came through for us."

Williams, en route to a team-high 16 points, put in two baskets in the third period as the Bronchos outscored the Wildcats, 10-8.

Canadian had its most productive quarter in the fourth, outscoring Clarendon, 18-17. The game was disappointing for Avery.

"We didn't play as well as we should and could have. When it was all over, I was just happy that we had won."

Scoring for the Bronchos were Williams, 16; Moore, 13; Brown, 13; Smith, 7; Stanzione, 6; and Abdullah, 2.

Clarendon's regular season ends Friday with an 8 p.m. match-up with Amarillo Highland Park in the Clarendon gym.

Avery predicts a much-improved Highland Park team, which gave the Bronchos fits earlier in the season. The Hornets may suit up a transfer student from Pampa who may be eligible by game day.

Happy Birthday, President Reagan

Tuesday marked the 85th birthday of a man whom I consider to be the greatest president in the second half of this century. That man is Ronald Reagan.

Throughout his life, Ronald Reagan has stood up for his values and for his belief in what has made America great. He never wavered from his principles.

Reagan has an optimism that is infectious. He made us proud to be Americans at a time when many said our nation's best days were behind her. At a time when things seemed bleak, Reagan kept us focused on the "Shining City on a Hill," his vision of America.

And when the nation mourned its tragedies, President Reagan mourned with us. He did so, not with the phony emotions so many of our elected officials display, but with genuine feeling — with empathy rather than sympathy.

Some might say that Reagan's effectiveness as a communicator came from his life as an actor, but I disagree. Reagan is an effective speaker because Reagan believes in what he says with every fiber of his being.

I always remember the speech President Reagan gave at Omaha Beach on the 40th anniversary of D-Day. The words he spoke regarding those brave men who invaded Normandy reach deep down and touch the very core of the American soul. "We will always remember. We will always be proud. We will always be prepared, so we may always be free."

But the legacy that Reagan will leave will be that which results from his actions rather than his words. When Ronald Reagan became president, he did so with a sense of purpose and a clear sense of what he wanted to do.

He vowed to cut taxes, and he did. In so doing, he spurred on the largest peace-time expansion of the economy that this country has ever seen.

He pledged to rebuild America's defensive capabilities which had been neglected since the war in Vietnam, and he did. The military build-up under his administration scared the bee-jeebies out of the Soviets and made mince meat out of the Iraqi Army. Thanks to Ronald Reagan, America was a force to be reckoned with.

He promised to fight Communism, and he did. He did more than fight it — he killed it. With Reagan as its Commander in Chief, America went on the offensive in the Cold War. Barely a year after Reagan left office, the Soviet Union fell to dust.

Ronald Reagan has given more to America than we can ever repay, and now, he faces his toughest fight. Yet he looks at his fight with Alzheimer's Disease with the same outlook he has always had — an optimistic one.

In his last letter to the American people, Reagan wrote: "I now begin the journey that will lead me into the sunset of my life. I know that for America there will always be a bright dawn ahead."

In the face of a debilitating disease, he is more focused on the future of his country and his countrymen than on his own fate. That is leadership. That is Ronald Reagan.

-R.E.

How can we not believe how can we not do what is this last best hope for man struggles to restore America, country, hope for our future victories earned through courage of every citizen — and will not turn back. How could we do less?

in the greatness of America? right and needed to preserve on Earth? After all our — after all our hard-won the patience and courage we cannot, must not, we will finish our job. We're Americans.

— Ronald Reagan

Letters

Dear Texans,

Hi, my name is Chris Sass. I live in Phoenix, AZ. I go to Clarendon Elementary. I am in 5th grade in Miss Eppley's class.

I am doing a report on Texas. Would you please print my letter in the paper? Kids, please send me answers including your name, age, and grade.

This is some information I would like to know. What is the most popular college football team? What sport is played most by kids? What do you eat? What is your school like?

Please send me a copy of my letter. Thanks for your help.

Sincerely,
Chris Sass

We were glad to help out Chris. Good luck with your project.

Dear Editor,

I read your editorial "Texas joined the United States 150 years ago this week. Was it worth it?" and wanted to thank you.

You are right — we're trying to take power away from big federal government and put it back in the states where it belongs. Besides the issues of speed limits and the Endangered Species Act which you raised, I have been a long-time supporter of Regulatory Reform. The federal government has been very heavy-handed in dealing with all aspects of our lives, and it is time to return to the role the Constitution originally stated it was to play.

I appreciate your insight, and look forward to reading future editorials in The Clarendon News.

Kay Bailey Hutchison,
U.S. Senator

Dear Editor,

When I hear less than flattering remarks about small towns, I am quick to point out, by example, why they are good places in which to live.

Clarendon can act as a model for community effort and support when the story of David and Buffie and Taylor and Tyler Smith is told. As a part of their extended family, I have heard countless stories of caring people bringing food to their home, giving them money for gas, cleaning their home, mowing their yard, and just dropping by their business to see how things are going. All of this has been done without having the opportunity to even see the little boys!

Patience is an act of kindness and hopefully that patience will be rewarded this spring when the boys are bigger and stronger.

The community of Clarendon is to be commended for its support of David and Buffie. The Marty Hamricks have been great as they have ministered to the family. Countless others have offered their services as well as their much needed prayers.

On Jan. 27, Taylor and Tyler were 6 months old. I have heard them called "miracle babies." If this is true, the community of Clarendon can certainly claim a part of making the miracle happen. The David Smith family is indeed fortunate to live in a small town!

"Clarendon College: The Best Deal In Town"

Anyone who has watched the Green Bay Packers on television over the years has undoubtedly heard game analysts comment on how the little Wisconsin town is an enigma in the National Football League's mega-market.

It's highly unusual, if not perplexing, that a hamlet the size of Green Bay has been able to support a major league entity like the green-and-gold Pack. Yet, not only has frigid little Green Bay persevered, but, on the contrary, it has flourished. The city's success is no accident. It has to do with Green Bay's tradition, pride, and sense of ownership. The team is, in actuality, owned and operated by local citizenry.

If you really think about it, Clarendon in its relationship to its college, is not unlike Green Bay's to its Packers. Clarendon College is also an enigma of sorts. Because I have been privileged to visit community college campuses across the nation, I am somewhat qualified to make that statement.

There are very, very few cities of 2,000 or so citizens that can boast of a college — especially one as nice as ours.

But because the college is nearly 100 years old and has been as fixed an asset in the community as its red brick streets, I think it would be easy to take the school's impact on the city and county for granted.

I, however, enjoy the perspective of a newcomer. Therefore, I'm still amazed in considering what the college brings to the community.

Let's assess the institution's economic impact. I would guess that the college is the county's second-largest employer behind the Clarendon Independent School District. We employ roughly 163 individuals, either full- or part-time, with an annual payroll of about $2 million.

The vast majority of those employees reside in Donley County, meaning that most of that $2 million is invested back into the community in some form or fashion, whether groceries, clothing, building materials, gasoline, or church offerings and on and on.

The college's total annual budget is about $4 million, meaning approximately half of that total is allocated for payroll and the other half for operating the institution. I can tell you that much of the operating budget of the college is also invested in the community. Back in August, I totaled the bills paid to local vendors, and it was about $11,000 for the month. And that did not take utilities into account.

Now, here's what's really interesting about the college's finances. Did you know that out of our $4 million annual budget, only about $200,000 is a product of local taxes? That means only five percent of the college's budget comes from local taxation. The other 95 percent comes from such sources as the State of Texas, federal grants, and tuition and fees collected from students.

If you think about it, our college is a tremendous bargain for Donley County. Locals are asked to cough up $200,000 and, in return, get upwards of $4 million back on their investment. Try getting that kind of ratio on Wall Street.

Some might argue that the college invests a lot of its money in Gray County through the Pampa Center. That's simply not true. We lease a dilapidated elementary school building in Pampa for a buck a year and run the place with a skeleton crew on a shoestring budget. The college gets a big-time bang for its buck in Pampa.

And that doesn't tell the whole story, in terms of the college's contribution to the area economy. We have about 800 credit students enrolled this semester, and only a small number of them hail from Donley County. We have the capacity to house 218 students on the Clarendon Campus, and those are people who come to our town each year and spend monies on and off campus. Then we have other students who rent housing in Clarendon, and yet others who commute from other townships. Both groups spend money in Clarendon.

Our students are here nine months out of 12 every year. What other entity in the county can deliver 300 semi-permanent visitors to the town year-in and year-out?

While this column has focused on the college's economic influence on the community, there can be no doubt that the institution contributes in myriad other ways. Check out the college's master calendar, and you might be surprised to see how many community events are held on the campus every month. The facilities are, unquestionably, vital to Clarendon.

Perhaps as important as anything is the college's contribution to the community's sense of pride, tradition, and identity. That came home to me several months ago in talking to my parents, who reside in Vero Beach, Florida — about 2,000 miles from Clarendon.

My parents related a story to me about chatting over the fence with their next-door neighbors about my becoming the new president of Clarendon College. One might have expected their neighbors to respond, "Where's Clarendon?"

Instead, my folks' neighbors, a well-traveled couple, said, "Oh, Clarendon. Yes, we know where that is. That's the little town with the beautiful college up on the hill. We pass it every year when we go out West."

"The little town with the beautiful college up on the hill" — that's a descriptor from people who live on the Atlantic Ocean, for Pete's sake! I kind of beamed inside when my parents told me that story. It was gratifying to learn that the college with which I was to become associated was a landmark in its community.

I'm not sure how many folks know or think about the things of which I've written. Like I said, I'm fresh off the bus; so, it's something I've had reason to ponder. I have come to regard the college as a treasure in this community and, therefore, feel a strong sense of responsibility to its constituents as the institution's president.

I am the occupant of my office, not the owner. That's what a public trust is all about.

I'm very proud that the college is a major player and partner in the community, and I would hate to imagine Clarendon without it.

Dr. Scott Elliott is the president of Clarendon College.

it was going to pay off. We just stepped up and played well to win it."

Clarendon outscored Air Force Prep, 12-4 in overtime.

Scoring for the Bulldogs were Randy Williams, 22; Brown, 21; and Hardy, 12.

Clarendon held onto the lead with 3 minutes to go in the half Saturday against Air Force Junior Varsity, but Air Force made a run and went into the locker room with a 38-36 edge.

Randy Williams scored 12 points in the first half.

"The second half was worse," Mondragon said. "We were playing well in adverse conditions. It was a big coliseum. We were playing prior to the Colorado State, Air Force Varsity game. They have a good squad. They brought three guys up from the varsity. They were pretty good."

Randy Williams continued to lead the pack, putting in 13 for the second half, while six other players contributed 2 points apiece.

"We didn't hit any threes, and they had two or three inches on every position. It was hard to shoot over them."

Air Force J.V. prevailed, 76-63. Scorers for the Bulldogs were Randy Williams, 25; Angel Gutierrez, 8; and Hardy, 8.

Other games this week include a Monday contest at 7:30 p.m. against South Plains College. The Bulldogs travel to Bethany, Okla., Thursday for a 3 p.m. contest with the Southern Nazarene Junior Varsity.

Clarendon College's Lady Bulldogs take on the Frank Phillips Lady Plainsmen at 6 p.m. in the Clarendon College gym. Former Texas standout Johnna Pointer's squad is in third place in their conference, and Clarendon head coach Joel Zehr expects a tough contest.

Plant Trees For Wildlife

Most people enjoy the presence of songbirds, deer, and other wild creatures. In the Panhandle of Texas tree plantings can support wildlife that add beauty and pleasure to our lives. Wildlife are attracted to trees and shrubs because they provide the best (and sometime the only) cover in some areas.

Windbreaks when properly designed, offer nesting, roosting, loafing, food, and escape cover for a variety of wildlife. To attract wildlife, plantings do not necessarily need to be in windbreaks, but can be placed in draws, arroyos, or other "unused" areas of the property. To be of greatest value to wildlife, a tree planting should include a variety of trees and shrubs. Evergreens are especially good winter cover; shrubs provide food and dense cover; and deciduous trees provide nesting sites and some food. Certain trees and shrubs are better than others for wildlife.

Those species beneficial to wildlife that are sold by the Donley County Soil and Water Conservation District are Evergreens, Red Oak, Little Walnut, Hackberry, Osage Orange, Honey Locust, Russian Olive, Fruiting Mulberry, Caragana, Lilac, Honeysuckle, Cotoneaster, Plum, Sumac, Nanking Cherry, and Sand Cherry. The District also offers wildlife packets that include a variety of trees selected to attract a particular type of wildlife. Each packet includes 100 trees (25 each of 4 different kinds). We have packets for quail and pheasant, squirrel, turkey, and deer.

All trees sell out quickly so if you're interested in placing an order call 874-3576 or come by the NRCS office in Clarendon as soon as possible. They would be happy to assist you with all phases of tree planting and wildlife management.

If the term, reference book, has a "not so appealing" sound to you, the ones I examined at Burton Memorial Library will likely change your mind.

Prominent ornithologist, Roger Tory Peterson, and expert on environmental effects, Virginia Marie Peterson, have authored a 435 page folio entitled Audubon Bird of America. Following a commentary section are full-page, life-like, color paintings so unique to nineteenth century artist, John James Audubon's style. The book contains an index and a convenient two-way concordance.

Even though Audubon is often better known for unusual paintings of ornithology, Imperial Collection of Audubon's Animals includes 150 of his finest animal paintings. The original text by Audubon and Reverend J. Backman interestingly reveals the artist's travels as he studied various animals. Also included is an informative new text by Victor Cahalane.

Larousse Encyclopedia of Animal World, introduction by Desmonda Morris, identifies structure, anatomy, daily life, common within groups of reptiles, mammals, amphibians, insects, and sea life, accompanied by 1,000 color illustrations. On page 454 is a fascinating musical transcription of songs of the woodpecker, yellowhammer, robin, and nightingale.

Panhandle Pilgrimage by well-known Texas authors, R.L. and Pauline Durette Robertson, brings the reader to familiar settings as it enticingly traces history in the Texas Panhandle.

A comprehensive look at Texas today is found in John Clements' New Edition of Texas Facts which is a county by county study of our state.

It's more than an almanac. Of course, my favorite section concerns Donley County on page 209-211 and on 749-750. Current data about Donley County's land, economy, communication, transportation, and utilities update the reader. Our schools, Clarendon College, and Burton Memorial Library are three of the 15 community services acknowledged. Each Texas county is described with same detailed information. Major market areas as well as tables of agriculture, employment, and population are involved. Interested in the latest happenings in your state? This is the book in which to find it.

Would reference sections be complete without a Guinness Book of Records? The 1995 edition with approximately 15,000 records is available.

Burton Memorial Library offers as much variety in its reference section as in other reading sections. Why not check it out?

AAU Basketball To Be Organized

A meeting is scheduled for February 8, 1996, at 8:00 p.m. in the old gym to discuss the organizing of boy and/or girls basketball teams to compete in AAU basketball leagues. Teams can be organized for boys or girls ages 10 years old to 18 years old.

There have been changes to the UIL rules that allow whole teams to be formed in a single town or school district. This opens up the opportunity for Clarendon children to compete in basketball in the spring months after track season ends. Competition is tough, but it should strengthen the Clarendon school programs.

Some people may be acquainted with AAU from the summer track program that many participated in this past summer. If you are interested in your child participating in AAU basketball, please attend this meeting on Thursday night. If you can not attend or you want more information, contact Eddy Helms at 874-2528 or catch him at Little Dribblers practice.

Donley County Farmers Eligible For Disaster Assistance

US Sen. Phil Gramm has announced that farmers in Donley County are eligible to apply for low-interest emergency loans to help recover from crop losses caused by a tornado which struck the county on June 8, 1995.

For those who cannot obtain credit through normal channels, the US Department of Agriculture will make loans available at below-market interest rates to family farmers.

In addition, seven other Texas counties have been named as contiguous counties and therefore are eligible for assistance.

The counties affected by the tornado are Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Collingsworth, Gray, Hall, and Wheeler.

The Consolidated Farm Service Agency (CFSA), which will supervise the loan program, is charged with providing aid to the farmers and ranchers in order to assist their economic recovery from natural disasters.

Local CFSA county offices can provide affected farmers with further information and assist them in completing applications for assistance.

C. Smith Goes To London

Charles Smith of Clarendon, a graduate of Clarendon High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lige Smith, is one of over 30 Austin College students who will spend the next few weeks in London, England, as part of a January Term course of study on London theater.

Taught by Dr. W.D. Narramore and Dr. Kathleen Campbell of AC's communication arts faculty, this course will provide the students with an introduction to London's cultural, and more specifically, theatrical heritage where many of the current theatrical milestones have originated, such as "Les Miserables," "Cats," "Miss Saigon," "Sunset Boulevard," "Phantom of the Opera," and "An Inspector Calls," among others.

While in London, the students will attend 15 plays and musicals and spend two night at Shakespeare's birthplace and the home of the Royal Shakespeare Co. to see two plays.

Austin College's four-week January Term, in which students take only one course, provides students the opportunity to study in depth on subject, often outside their regular area of study. Many students spend the month in career exploration through individualized study at business sites or in study trips abroad. This month Austin College students can be found in England, South Africa, Japan, France, Mexico, and Canada.

Coaches Demolish Stallions In Fund Raiser Game

The Clarendon coaching staff jumped out to an early 18-7 first quarter lead and never looked back as they trounced the Stallions Saturday in a fund-raiser for the Broncho Booster Club in the Clarendon gym.

Assistant football coach Jerod Bellar led all scorers with 8 points in the opening period hitting a trey, two field goals, and a free throw. Head basketball coach Jimmy Avery connected on three baskets, and powerlifting coach Darryl Cash hit two buckets.

Assistant basketball and football coach Joe Sexton missed two free throws.

The Stallions were led by former Clarendon all-star Nathan Lowery's three-pointer. Former Hedley standout Joe Lemley and former Clarendon basketball and track standout Keith Floyd added a basket apiece.

The coaching staff outscored the Stallions, 20-8, in the second quarter. Sexton broke out of his scoring slump in the second quarter when he hit a three-pointer and two field goals.

Greg Collins, a member of the 1994 regional finalist basketball team, hit a three-pointer and two baskets. Avery added 4 points, and athletic director Kent Allison scored a bucket.

The much-older Stallion team substituted freely as Kelly Hill, Floyd, Lowery and former Clarendon Broncho Randy White contributed a basket apiece as the coaching staff led 38-15 at halftime.

Avery got the hot hand in the third quarter, hitting one from behind the arc and two field goals. He also shot a free throw with one hand because of nerve damage incurred to one hand during a good-natured scuffle with old college foe Keith Floyd under the basket.

Cash also hit a field goal in the third quarter.

After a 10-minute halftime intermission, the elderly Stallion team roared back with 7 points in the third quarter. Floyd and White each scored a basket, while Lowery connected on a field goal and a free throw.

The coaches held onto a sizable 48-22 third quarter lead.

The Stallions outscored the coaching staff, 20-9, in the final quarter. Hill led all scorers with four field goals and a free throw. Lowery hit two treys, Lemley scored a basket and a free throw, and White knocked in a bucket.

Avery hit two field goals in the final period, while Cash hit a trey and Sexton scored one more bucket.

Scoring for the coaching staff were Avery, 22; Sexton, 9; Cash, 9; Bellar, 8; Collins, 7; and Allison, 2. Other members of the team were coach Byron Bass, coach Sherri Richardson and band director Todd Baker.

Scoring for the Stallions were Lowery, 14; Hill, 11; Floyd, 6; White, 6; and Lemley, 5. Other members of the squad were Clarendon ISD superintendent Phil Barefield, JAMZ owner Jeff Howard, and school board president Johnny Floyd.

CHS Sponsors Lady Broncs Split Pair Of District Games Financial Aid/College Night

Decisions about what college to attend and how to pay for a post-secondary education are never easy. Clarendon High School attempted to make that decision a little easier for area juniors and seniors and their parents. On Thursday, January 25, approximately eighty people gathered at the CHS auditorium and the CISD cafeteria to discuss financial aid and speak to representatives from area colleges.

The evening began in the auditorium with Clarendon College's Financial Aid Officer, Donald Smith, explaining the FAFSA, or Free Application for Federal Student Aid. Following a question and answer period, everyone dismissed to the cafeteria to meet with representatives from area lending institutions, colleges, universities, and armed forces.

The financial institutions that attended were Panhandle-Plains Higher Education Authority, The Opportunity Plan, Inc., and the Donley County State Band. The colleges represented were Clarendon College, South Plains College, Amarillo College, and Frank Phillips College. The universities in attendance were West Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Wayland Baptist, and Oklahoma Panhandle State. The US Army and Marines were also represented.

Parents, students, and school officials from Clarendon, Claude, Silverton, Lakeview, Wellington, Groom, Samnorwood, and McLean gathered information at the college night hosted by Clarendon High School National Honor Society. Refreshments were provided by the Panhandle-Plain Higher Education Authority and were served by the CHS, Student Council.

Clarendon split a pair of games in the second-to-last week of District 2-2A with a win over Canadian and a loss to Panhandle.

Their record stands at 17-9 overall and 2-1 for the second half of district at press time.

The Lady Bronchos jumped on Canadian early running to a 13-4 lead, Jan. 30. Kasi Ashcraft, who scored a career-high 31 points, cranked into overdrive early sinking three field goals and going 2-for-2 from the charity stripe.

Melisse Campbell knocked in a trey, and Corey Knorpp was 2-for-2 from the charity stripe.

Knorpp led all scorers in the second quarter putting in two field goals and going 3-for-4 from the free throw line as Canadian outscored the Lady Bronchos, 13-11.

Clarendon held onto a healthy 24-17 halftime lead.

Ashcraft scored 10 of the Lady Bronchos 20 third-quarter points. "She made some really tough shots and just shot well," head coach Steve Schmidt said.

Ashcraft, who is averaging 20 points, 10 rebounds a game is continuing to improve, he said.

"People got the ball to her. They didn't double-team her much. She was just shooting over them. I think the difference between being a freshman and sophomore is big. She's had some really big nights. She has a lot of confidence."

Canadian outscored Clarendon, 20-17, in the final period. Ashcraft reeled off three field goals and was 4-for-4 from the charity stripe.

Knorpp, who had 8 assists knocked in a trey, and Floyd and Campbell put in a basket apiece.

Scoring for the Lady Bronchos were Ashcraft, 31; Knorpp, 12; Campbell, 8; Nettie Wilson, 4; Floyd, 4; and Lindsey Eads, 2.

Behind a tenacious full-court man pressure defense that forced several Pantherette turnovers, Clarendon jumped out to a 7-point lead three minutes into their Friday contest with Panhandle.

"We caught them by surprise and we were playing pretty emotional and with a lot of intensity," Schmidt said. "They took a time out and settled down and then it evened out. They adjusted and, I guess, regrouped."

Panhandle led 18-16 at the end of the first quarter - Campbell hit two treys, and Ashcraft and Wilson scored two buckets apiece. Knorpp knocked in a field goal in the effort.

Panhandle knocked in 10 points in the second quarter, as Ashcraft and Wilson scored a bucket apiece as Panhandle led 28-20 at halftime.

Ashcraft and Wilson scored 4 points apiece in the third quarter, as Panhandle knocked in 14 points. They were 6-for-6 from the charity stripe as they increased the lead to 42-28.

Knorpp erupted in the fourth quarter sinking two treys and two field goals as the junior point guard scored 10 of the Lady Bronchos 12 points.

Panhandle was 18-for-29 from the free throw line.

Scoring for the Lady Bronchos were Knorpp, 12; Ashcraft, 10; Wilson, 10; Campbell, 6; and Eads, 2.

Clarendon ends its regular season Friday with a 6:30 p.m. tip-off against Amarillo Highland Park in the Clarendon gym.

NEW PRODUCTS—OUTDOOR WORLD

After spending another cold winter plotting and planning for the next fishing season, anglers across the Golden Spread are ready to go fishing, the only problem is that the good fishing on our local lakes doesn't start until March. What's a fellow to do?

If fishing is your passion, the OUTDOOR WORLD '96 at the Amarillo Civic Center on February 9, 10, 11, will introduce some new fishing products that will help you catch more fish in 1996.

Dick Apple of DICK'S PRO-STYLE LURES in Garden City, Kansas, will introduce a brand new, deep-diving crankbait. His "20 foot-plus" is a perfect lure to use on those early fishing trips. Last year in March and April, Rodney Sweet of Borger won both Fun Tournaments at Lake Greenbelt by avoiding the shoreline temptations and working the deep water points. Dick's new deep diver should be perfect for reaching bass that are missed by most shallow water anglers.

Bill Graham of TOPPER BAITS will introduce a new lead-head fishing jig. This jig is so new that it doesn't even have a name! Visit the Topper Bait booth located in the lure Tour area on the coliseum floor, and be one of the first angler with their new jig.

Gary Cameron, at the CAMERON RODS booth, will introduce a new line of fishing rods that are light as a feather, strong as a pool cue, and sensitive as a laser beam.

Weldon Kennedy will pack his huge 20 x 40 booth with the newest PowerBaits from BERKLEY. His bulk selection of soft plastic baits is incredible, and his prices can't be beat.

Johnny Jackson of OKLAHOMA CUSTOM TACKLE specializes in custom-built spinnerbaits and unique buzzbaits. Tell Johnny your favorite blade combinations and your favorite colors. He will build it while you wait. All his custom-lures come equipped with Owner hooks.

Roy Whittington of LIL HUSTLER LURES in Oklahoma will introduce a full line of fancy baits that are almost too beautiful to throw in the lake. His special paint job triggers a strike from even the most reluctant fish. Roy will also be introducing a new Wrap-Around Rod that features guides on the bottom of the rod blank instead of the normal on-the-top location. His unique guides increase the sensitivity of a graphite rod. The average angler will detect bites that used to go unnoticed.

Professional guides and lake representatives from fourteen different lakes will be on hand to answer your questions.

Other attractions include door prizes, hunting guides, trophy displays, a giant 40-foot glass-walled aquarium, fishing and hunting seminars by the experts, and the kids can catch delicious rainbow trout.

A total of 125 exhibitors will pack the Amarillo Civic Center making OUTDOOR WORLD '96—the largest RV, Boat, and Fishing Tackle Show between Dallas and Denver.
