

Second Concrete Bridge Ready by December 1

Work was started Monday on the reinforced concrete bridge which will replace the wooden bridge on Second Street across the big ditch east of Kearney Street.

The new bridge will be very similar to the one on First Street and will be of reinforced steel construction, with a twelve ton capacity.

BIG SPRING TO BE HOST TO ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Preparations are under way in Big Spring for the entertainment of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which convenes November 9-14.

Bishop John M. Moore, whose Episcopal area includes the Northwest Texas, the Central Texas, New Mexico and West Texas Conferences, will preside.

The first business session will be held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, November 9.

The approaching session is the eighteenth, and brings the body to Big Spring for the first time in its history.

But few pulpits changes are expected as comparatively few of the preachers come under the four-year rule, until recently binding upon the itinerants of the Methodist Church.

Two presiding elders have completed their four-year term of service, and since the old four-year limit still holds good for the presiding elder, will be given other work.

Pastors who have completed four years' continuous service and whose prospective appointments are creating interesting speculation are: E. D. Landreth, Oak Street, Abilene; T. W. Brabham, Cross Plains; J. W. Watson, Lamesa; M. S. Leveridge, Halls (five years); L. N. Lipscomb, Plainview; J. R. Bateman, Westover circuit; T. M. Johnston, Margaret and Thalia.

The Northwest Texas Conference is one of the five ecclesiastical divisions of Texas Methodism. It embraces eight presiding elders' districts as follows:

W. E. Lyon, Abilene district; W. M. Pearce, Amarillo; J. T. Griswold, Clarendon; D. B. Doak, Lubbock; E. E. Robinson, Plainview; John H. Hamblen, Stamford; G. S. Hardy, Sweetwater, and O. P. Clark, Vernon.

The conference membership consists of approximately 200 clerical members and 64 lay delegates. It represents a Southern Methodist constituency of about 60,000 members.

HILLCROFT CLUB DEFEATS PAMPA

CLARENDON GOLFERS LOSE 1 MATCH IN 16 IN TOURNAMENT SUNDAY

Sunday's tournament between the Pampa golfers and the Hillcroft team, which was played on the local course, ended in a decisive victory for the Clarendon players.

The individual matches of Sunday's meet are given below with the names of the victor coming first:

Thomas and Merchant, 1 up; Fred Buntin and Studer, 8 up; Walter Buntin and Myers, 5 up; Bennett Kerbow and Suggs, 2 up; Phillips Gentry and Crow, 1 up; Holman Kennedy and Daly, 1 up; A. N. Woods and Carlson, 5 up; V. A. Kent and Castinger, 6 up; R. C. Weatherly and Baver, 1 up; Robert Weatherly and Ashly, 4 up; C. J. Douglas and Holloway, 8 up; McHenry Lane and Vickers, 10 up; Rex Reeves and Ra-Mer, 6 up; Forest Taylor and Smith, 5 up; Lesoda Goldson and Webb, 9 up; Leonard Fims and Boston, 4 up.

JOIN LEGION OF MERCY-COOLIDGE

PRESIDENT URGES ALL CITIZENS TO JOIN RED CROSS IN ANNUAL ROLL CALL

From the White House, President Coolidge has issued an urgent appeal to every citizen in the United States. He says: "The American Red Cross has a foremost place in the ranks of distinctive American institutions which we honor and loyally support."

"We have had frequent occasions to witness its readiness for instant and effective response at the call to duty."

"We have tested the Red Cross in war and in peace. It has never failed us. It never will so long as it holds your support."

"As President of the United States and as President of the American Red Cross, I earnestly ask all our citizens to renew their membership in this legion of mercy."

Last year, in asking your support, the Red Cross warned against inevitable future disasters—explained the imperative need for preparedness. The American people responded—willingly. And in the nick of time for them, followed two of the worst catastrophes this nation has known. In Florida, a devastating hurricane. In seven states, the Mississippi flood.

When a wall of water, at some points ten and twenty feet high, poured over the Mississippi Valley, 350,000 inhabitants were left homeless—bereft of all belongings. For several months, until the flood crest passed, the Red Cross sheltered them, fed them three meals a day, clothed them and gave them expert medical advice.

Today a trained force of Red Cross workers is laboring valiantly to rebuild the homes of those 350,000 refugees so that they may "carry on" as before.

The same month which saw the Florida hurricane also witnessed a tornado in Ohio, a devastating fire in Alaska, and floods in Illinois, Kansas and Iowa. In every case, the Red Cross directed the immediate relief, carried out the permanent rehabilitation, acting quietly, unobtrusively, as your agent of relief.

Now—once more—the Red Cross must prepare for future catastrophes. And 5,000,000 members are necessary if the needs are to be met. The Red Cross asks that you renew your membership and that of every member of your household in the legion of mercy, during the annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

LARGE CROWD SEES PLAY AT COLLEGE

COMEDY STAGED BY SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS PROVES HIGHLY ENTERTAINING

"Scenes in a Union Depot," one-act play presented by the Win One Class of the Methodist Sunday School Thursday evening, was seen by the largest crowd that has attended any entertainment feature in the College auditorium in several years.

The play, as the title suggests, portrayed in highly exaggerated terms what might happen in any union depot any day in the year. Interest centered on the characters, rather than on the plot. The characters, while true enough to life to be possible, were at the same time ridiculous enough to be highly amusing; and those portraying the various comic roles spared nothing of their vanities in making their parts as screamingly funny as possible.

Mrs. J. L. McMurtry as the talkative Mrs. Larkin who had an eight hour wait in the depot; Mrs. Ralph Kerbow as the typical old maid; H. T. Burton as the depot master; G. L. Boykin as the father of five small children; and Mrs. O. T. Smith as Mrs. Aurelia Hummer were particularly good. Mrs. Forest Taylor played three parts very cleverly, while Ira Merchant and James Patman each showed versatility in two roles.

The play was directed by Miss Rita Foster, head of the Speech Arts Department of Clarendon Junior College, and to her is due much credit for the success of the play. The entire performance was marked by that smoothness which comes only from the best of direction.

LIONS DISCUSS ARMISTICE DAY

SUGGESTIONS HEARD FOR CITY WIDE CELEBRATION OF HOLIDAY

Almost one hundred per cent attendance was registered Tuesday of this week in the Lions Club. Some of the members were late, but the Tail Twister more than made up for the loss of time by the number of fines he collected from the tardy members.

An innovation was presented in the roll call, when each member was asked to respond with the given name of his buddy as was given him last week. Those who had no buddy were to answer with their own name. No fines were collected by the Tail Twister on this part of the program.

The visitors for the club were introduced following the roll call. Lion George H. Craze of Austin was the first to appear, taking a part of the hour with an explanation of the work of the Texas Public Health Association. This work has to do with the education of the public as to the dangers of tuberculosis and its eradication from the country. Funds for the work are derived from the sale of the seals commonly seen around the Christmas and New Year holidays.

D. O. Stallings was the remaining guest, stating that he had read of the work of the club and thought that a great number of the items of the club should be carried to completion by the city at large.

Lion Cub Sherman was then introduced to the club for his club speech. He reiterated his statement that Clarendon was the best town he had ever seen for his line of business and that the Lions would agree with him if they would take a long trip and investigate the possibilities of other towns of the nation. His services were offered to the club in any manner that they could be used.

Lion Frank Houston of Childress was welcomed to the club as one who had been away for a great number of meetings.

Lion Porter made an announcement of "National Education Week" and asked that the club go on record as recognizing the event.

Lion Boykin raised the question of a celebration for November 11 and suggested that the club offer their assistance in whatever way was possible to commemorate the occasion. A committee was authorized to assist in any way possible with the plans for the celebration. Lions Douglas, Sherman and Watson were appointed on the committee.

Lions Griswold and Moore stated that this would probably be the last meeting they would attend in Clarendon and both expressed their appreciation of the fellowship they had enjoyed during their stay in the Clarendon club. They asked for transfer cards that they might become affiliated with any club in the towns where they might be located. Lion Moore gave his address and invited the Lions to visit him at any time they were in Roswell.

Lion Burton announced the football game for Friday and assured the club that any who attended the game would be welcome. Adjournment as usual.

Bulldogs to Tackle Yearlings at Canyon

The Junior College football squad is off tomorrow to re-engage the Yearlings of West Texas State Teachers College. The 0-0 tie of three weeks ago filled the Bulldogs with determination to whip the Yearlings on their home lot. Being much improved in offense and defense since the first encounter with the Yearlings, the Canines feel that they have an even break with their opponents.

CIVILIZATION AND JAZZ SUBJECT OF FRANCIS' TALK

Mere immensity counts for little in the valuation of a nation, said George Emerson Francis in a lecture at the College Wednesday evening. A nation's appreciation for the finer, more genuine things of life marks the neth of any nation's civilization, said the lecturer. Americans, he declared, are showing a tendency to live too much on the surface and too little within themselves. Hence the falling off in respect and reverence for the deeper and finer phases of life, and hence our characteristic ego. Mr. Francis talked at length on courtesy and the importance of courtesy in every life.

The lectures, which was the second number of the season's lecture program, was heard by a small but appreciative audience.

Miss Lynn La Fon, who is teaching in Nowlin this year, spent the weekend at her home in this city.

J. W. Martin and daughters, Misses Mildred and Helen Martin, will leave this afternoon for Norman, Oklahoma, where they will visit Miss Leta Verne Martin, a student in the University of Oklahoma. They will be accompanied by Mrs. J. T. Patman, who will visit her daughter, Miss Evelyn Patman, at Warner, Oklahoma.

JURY RETURNS 3 CONVICTIONS

CRIMINAL DOCKET TAKEN UP AFTER RECESS OF ONE WEEK

After being recessed for one week, District Court opened Monday morning and took up the criminal docket. While somewhat longer than the civil docket, the criminal docket is not heavy and a number of cases have been finished. Up to this time, there have been three convictions and sentences. Bob Perry, colored, found guilty of unlawfully selling intoxicating liquor, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Florence Phelps, charged with burglary in connection with the robbing of the Bynum Filling Station at Leila Lake, was convicted and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. E. T. Tucker, charged with burglary in connection with the same crime, was also sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

ARMISTICE DAY PLANS UNDER WAY

COMMITTEES PLANNING TO CARRY OUT PLANS FOR ANNUAL AFFAIR

The proclamation of Mayor Taylor carried in this week's issue of The News for the closing of the city for a celebration of Armistice Day, one week from Friday, is to be carried out by the greater part of the business men of the city. Early in the year, an agreement was entered into stating that the business houses would be closed a certain number of days this year and November 11 was on the list.

Although plans for the accomplishment of the event will not be completed in time for publication this week, committees from the citizens and from civic organizations are busily engaged in getting matters lined up for a fine celebration.

The schools of the city will in all probability be included in the plan and a program worked out that will be similar to the program completed last year. The football game in the afternoon will be a welcome diversion and should draw a good crowd. Watch for the program in next week's issue of The News.

EPWORTH LEAGUE SETS PLANS FOR FREE TURKEY BARBECUE

A free feed is in sight for the Epworth Leaguers of Clarendon.

The feed will be held soon after December 4, the date set for the close of the contest which will mark the winners and the losers of the contest. Captains have been chosen for the two sides and the Leaguers who were present Sunday evening were chosen on the two sides. All who come after this date will be new members and will count points accordingly. Attendance and other points will count in smaller denominations, with the new members scoring higher than any other item on the score card. Jack Crow is the leader of "The Crusaders" and Miss Frances Chapman is leader of "The Winners." The loser in the contest will be forced to give the winners a turkey barbecue with all the trimmings. The start was excellent and the interest in the matter is excellent. The League meets each Sunday evening at 6 o'clock.

BASKET BALL SEASON OPENS WITH McLEAN FRIDAY EVE

The season of basket ball of the Clarendon High School will open Friday evening of this week with the McLean girls as the first victims of the local players. The game will be played in the gymnasium of the South Ward School and the public is cordially invited to attend and help the girls win their first game of the year. For several seasons, the girls have played an excellent game of ball and it is felt that they will continue in their hard work this season. Friday evening, November 4, is the date. Remember it.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Connally returned Monday morning from Waco, where they had been since the fourteenth of October in the interest of Mrs. Connally's health.

MRS. SIMS HEADS HEALTH SEAL SALE

PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION CONTROLS TUBERCULOSIS CHRISTMAS SEALS

Mrs. John T. Sims of Clarendon has been appointed by the Texas Public Health Association as chairman of the 1927 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale for Donley County, according to George H. Craze, field representative of the State Association, who was in Clarendon on Tuesday making arrangements for the coming Seal Sale in this county.

In this work, Mrs. Sims will have the co-operation of the County Superintendent, Judge J. R. Porter and the local superintendent, Mr. H. T. Burton, and the Clarendon High School P. T. A., of which Mrs. Sims is president. Of particular interest to the schools is a useful and attractive "First Aid" cabinet, which will be awarded by the State Association to every school selling $10 worth of the seal, which are more beautiful than ever this year. Few people perhaps realize that about $5,000,000 worth of the familiar little stickers with the double-barred cross were sold in the United States last year.

The wide and varied health program of the Texas Public Health Association, which is affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association, is supported entirely by the sale of the Christmas Seals. The Seal Sale is no longer directed by the American Red Cross, having been since 1920 under the entire control of the National Tuberculosis Association. Hence the public should distinguish between the "Red Cross Roll Call" which extends from November 11 to Thanksgiving Day, and the "Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale" which covers the period from November 25 until Christmas.

Much of the work of the Texas Public Health Association is in connection with the schools, last year some 60,000 children in Texas being taught health habits through the well known method of the Modern Health Crusade. Over 8,200 school children were given a thorough physical examination. Other work of the Association included tuberculosis surveys; tuberculosis clinics; work among negroes and Mexicans; and the endowment of a Child Health, Care and Training Course at the University of Texas.

The State Association's field workers gave a brief talk before the Club on Tuesday, explaining to the members the significance of the tuberculosis problem and the progress made in combating the disease.

IRISHMEN WIN FROM BRONCHOS

BRONCHO LINE CROSSED FIRST TIME THIS YEAR BY UNDEFEATED TEAM

In a hard fought game at the College field here Friday afternoon, the Shamrock team defeated the Clarendon Bronchos by a score of 6 to 0. The Irishmen showed a good ground gaining team but were unable to buck the Bronchos' line when in dangerous territory. Three times during the game they were within the Bronchos' fifteen yard line but each time the Bronchos showed that old fighting spirit and held them for downs. The Clarendon boys put up as stubborn a defense as has been seen here in some time. They were kept on the defensive most of the game and did a creditable job of defending their goal line, which had not been crossed until this game this year.

Shamrock scored their touchdown on a well executed forward pass in the latter part of the last quarter. The pass was good for twenty yards and three steps put the Shamrock right end over for a hard earned touchdown. Scraggs failed to kick the goal.

The Clarendon boys feel that hard luck has been following them all year but sooner or later lady luck ought to be with them. In this game they were without the services of Captain Arnold, who has been the backbone of the team. An injury received two days before the game kept him on the side-lines. With Arnold in the lineup the Bronchos would have been an entirely different looking football team. Arnold should be ready for the game with the Childrens at Childress next Friday.

The game was clean from start to finish, the only penalties being for offside. The victory for Shamrock should give them an undisputed claim to the championship of this district.

Misses Frances and Helen Cooke were home for the weekend. They are teaching in Panhandle this year.

A report has been received from Dallas that a daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Stricklin, on Thursday, November 3.

Highway 88 to Receive Attention Immediately

According to advices received from County Judge J. R. Porter, the highway leading out of Clarendon to Jericho is to be worked in the immediate future by the State Highway Department. District Engineer W. A. French was in the city the early part of this week and stated that the road would be worked all the way from Clarendon to Jericho just as soon as the machinery could be placed on the ground. In case the machinery of the county can be secured, the work will start at once. Otherwise, the time for working the road will be extended to that date when the equipment can be removed to Donley County.

A. & M. ENROLLMENT SHOWS INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Enrollment in the A. & M. College of Texas for the current academic year totaled 2,444 on October 10, as compared with 2,350 on the same date last year, according to announcement from the office of the registrar. The enrollment on October 10, 1925, was 2,084. Enrollment figures for the present year show an increase of 360 over two years ago and 114 over last year.

The total of 2,444 for the present year is divided by classes as follows: Freshmen 1,095, sophomores 654, juniors 391, seniors 307, graduate students 58, special students 24, students in two-year course in agriculture 5.

Miss Nettie Seitz of Mobeetie was in Clarendon Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guiberson and the latter's mother, Mrs. E. F. Bryan, of Amarillo spent the first days of the week here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Keener, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bryan, and other relatives.

TEXAS MOST FAVORED STATE IN UNION DURING SEPTEMBER

Austin, Texas, Sept. 2.—Texas, during the month of September was possibly in the most favorable position of any state in the Union, according to the recent monthly business review published by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

"The number of new enterprises applying to the Secretary of State for charters in September was greater by 49 than those in August." In contrast to this, Bernard Nichols, editor of the publication, says, "In both 1926 and 1925 there was a drop in the number of new charters from August to September. A total of 149 new enterprises received charters, compared to 109 in August and as against 166 of September of last year. Most of the companies were comparatively small, as indicated by the capitalization which amounted to but $4,626,000. Permits were granted to fourteen outside companies, or nine less than in August."

"The building industry was less active in September. After a very active spring building program, permits began a downward trend until August when they were again sharply upward. The twenty-eight cities reporting to the Bureau of Business Research for September show total permits of $10,792,458; this compares with $11,408,740 in August and $8,332,320 in July. The industry has been hampered by high construction costs and the fear of an over-built condition in the larger cities. However, the trade has been very reluctant to accept this apprehension so that the total building value for 1927 is quite likely to compare favorably with the record of 1926."

BRONCHOS PLAY BOBCATS FRIDAY

BOTH TEAMS PREPARED FOR HARD BATTLE ON THE CLARENDON FIELD

The Clarendon Bronchos will play a conference game at the College Park on Friday, November 4, when they meet the Childress Bobcats. The Childrens team to date has not had much success, but they are coming to Clarendon determined to take the Bronchos into camp. The Bronchos, smarting under their recent defeat at the hands of Shamrock, are working hard in preparation for Friday's game and expect to come out on top. They were without the services of Captain Arnold last week, and it is doubtful if they will have him with them this week, but for that reason they are working the harder to get in shape for the game.

The Bronchos need the support of every Clarendon fan. Every one who likes a good scrap is urged to be on the sidelines and root for the High School team Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Gardner of Scentinel, Oklahoma, are guests of the latter's aunt, Mrs. Georgia Burrell. While Mr. Gardner will return home within the next few days, Mrs. Gardner will remain for a visit of three weeks.

Proclamation
I, H. W. Taylor, by authority vested in me as Mayor of the City of Clarendon, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 11, 1927, a holiday in Clarendon. I call upon the citizens of Clarendon to close their places of business for the entire day, commemorating the ninth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice closing the World War.
I further call upon the entire citizenship to participate in the open air exercises celebrating the occasion, which will be held at the intersection of Kearney Street and First Street at 10 a. m. and to indulge in other exercises befitting the day.
Given under my hand and seal this the 3rd day of November, 1927.
H. W. TAYLOR, Mayor, City of Clarendon, Texas.

The greatest question facing Donley County people today is the question of highway building. It is.

Now comes an inventor down about Weatherford with a machine that will rid Texas of the boll weevil. His machine has whirling paddles, and yes—it spans 'em to death.

Shall we construct good roads in Donley County, or shall we drop to the rear of the procession insofar as progress is concerned here in the Panhandle? "The eyes of Texas are upon us."

It is said that among the children of the Panhandle where gas is being used for fuel for the first time this fall, there is a great distress. The kiddies can't figure out how Santa Claus is to get down the chimney when there isn't any chimney.

If some plan could be worked out that would give Clarendon an adequate city auditorium and at the same time provide a place for indoor athletic events and of suitable display room for county fair purposes, our town and our county would profit a hundred-fold over the cost of such a project. These demands are becoming more urgent and it is worthy of the best thought of our most aggressive leaders.

The News is in receipt of an invitation to attend the formal opening of the new home of the Cleburne Daily Times at Cleburne, Texas, which happy event occurred last Friday afternoon. The Times is the property of George W. Bowman, and is one of the best afternoon dailies outside of the large cities of the state. Our special interest in the matter is the fact that George Bowman began his newspaper career under the tutelage of this editor some twelve years ago. We wish much prosperity for the Times and for George Bowman.

There is a neat sign on the outskirts of Childress inviting tourists to go into the oil fields and to Amarillo by way of Wellington and Shamrock rather than continue their journey up the Colorado-Gulf highway through Hall and Donley Counties. This enterprise of our neighboring counties is commendable and with the road building projects in Wheeler and Gray Counties, it is very certain to greatly diminish our tourist travel, more than has already been noted. We have the most direct route for tourists over the C-G highway. Hall County paved roads are rapidly becoming a reality, so the holding and increasing of the tourist crop is up to Donley County. Right now, too.

Any time an editor gets despondent and feels that there is no attention paid to his editorial efforts, something is sure to happen to prove to him that such an idea is foolish. Over at Deport two weeks ago Sam Holloway wrote a paragraph about the big interstate football game over at Dallas during the Fair when "A. & M. beat Vanderbilt." Talk about rubbing the fur the wrong way—those Texas Exes all over East Texas began bombarding Sam with phone calls, telegrams and letters "pouring it on him" for giving A. & M. credit for that Texas U. victory. Sam sidestepped by saying that it was a Texas school that won, and that was what counted, and he hopes that gets over all right. Now Sam is thoroughly convinced that his weekly writings are carefully and generally read, and like most Texas editors, is willing to admit that journalists make errors in about the same proportion as other professional men.

There are many who are advocating an uninstructed delegation from Texas to the next national convention of the Democratic party. Personally, this writer would much prefer an uninstructed delegation as regards any candidate for the nomination for the presidency, yet we are heartily in favor of instructing our delegation to vote only for a man openly and avowedly in favor of the strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. The Democratic party will commit certain suicide if it becomes less dry than the Republican party, which is none too dry. One thing is certain, and that is that Texas Democrats will not follow the leadership of a "wet" candidate for the presidency. Let us instruct as to principle—the man can be taken care of when the time comes to vote.

OUR NEIGHBORS ARE TALKING ABOUT US—AND WONDERING WHEN DONLEY COUNTY WILL BUILD ROADS

Were it not for the fact that the editor of The News knows so many Donley County citizens who are chagrined over the lethargy of this county over the economic need for improved highways, we would think from the comment appended hereto that outsiders are taking more interest in roads for Donley County than we are ourselves. The clipping from Mr. T. E. Johnson's Plain-Speaking column in the Sunday Amarillo News-Globe is a fair sample of what thinking people over the Panhandle are thinking and saying about road matters in Donley County, and the comment is written in a sympathetic attitude, for Mr. Johnson is himself a Donley County product.

People over the Panhandle are greatly interested in what Donley County proposes to do about good roads, and most of them are our friends.

This is how Mr. Johnson expresses the proposition:

Donley County is rapidly finding itself being left in the background in the permanent improvement of roads, which reflects none too favorably upon the progressiveness of the citizenship. Hall County is paving Highway No. 5, formerly known as the Colorado-to-Gulf, and with Hardeman County now spending $2,000,000 on the same route, and Childress preparing to do likewise, Donley has one of the biggest unpaved gaps in this national highway. Armstrong County, between Potter and Donley, has no paving program, but does not have the sand that Donley has and, therefore, its natural roads usually are in much better condition.

The apathy toward bond issues for roads in Donley county has been a source of worry for years to many of the leading business men in Clarendon. They realize the county that doesn't make some provisions for improving roads, especially the more important routes, stands in line to be entirely cut off from these same routes. The big difficulty in Donley is that only the lower half of the county is traversed by the Colorado-to-Gulf. Taxpayers in the upper division are opposed to a county-wide issue, believing they would benefit but little from the paving.

It is an illogical position to take, but so long as taxpayers feel that way about roads which happen to cross through some other end of their county, the solution is in forming special road districts. Childress is now busy on such a plan. In addition to Hall paving to the south of Donley, Wheeler County has an election coming up for a bond issue which would improve 150 miles of roads, adding to the discomfort of Donley's position. Another drawback in Donley County has been a controversy over routing Highway No. 5 in the extreme southeastern corner of the county. The state highway department has taken an arbitrary stand in favor of changing the road, whereby it would miss some of the smaller towns on the Denver railroad. Donley should have the right to locate its roads, if it is in seriousness about wanting to pave, and as The Clarendon News so aptly stated last week, the first of the year would be a very opportune time to call an election. The county that doesn't improve its roads is standing in its own way.

FRANK MARSH NOW DEAN OF FINE ARTS, BAKER UNIVERSITY

Frank E. Marsh, Jr., who was head of the Department of Music of Clarendon College in 1919-20 and who has a large circle of friends in this city, is now Dean of Fine Arts and professor of piano and theoretical music in Baker University, Baldwin, Kansas.

Mr. Marsh is one of the most highly trained teachers and one of the most artistic performers who has taught in Clarendon. It will be remembered that he was influential in bringing such artists as Leo Ornstein, Eddie Brown and Madame Lefevre to Clarendon during the year he was with the local school.

PATHFINDER CLUB STUDIES TWO NOVELISTS OF TEXAS

The outstanding literary works of the most distinguished women novelists of Texas, Ruth Cross and Dorothy Scarborough, were studied by the Pathfinder Club in an unusually interesting program Friday afternoon. Sketches of "The Golden Cocoon" and "The Unknown Goddess" by Ruth Cross, and Dorothy Scarborough's "In the Land of Cotton" and "The Wind" were given and characters in the books were compared. Mrs. C. A. Burton had charge of the program. Others who took part were Mrs. W. H. Patrick, Mrs. Floyd Keener, and Miss Lottie Lane.

Mrs. Sella Gentry and Mrs. Paul Shelton were hostesses to the Club for this meeting, entertaining in Mrs. Gentry's home. Miss Luella Kennedy of Los Angeles, who was Mrs. Homer Glascoe's house guest last week, was a special guest at the club meeting. Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

Demonstration Club Honors The Retiring President

A recent affair of interest was the social meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at the home of Mrs. J. D. Stocking, October 21, on which occasion the Club presented the retiring president, Mrs. J. C. Estlack, with a shower of exquisite handkerchiefs. Twenty members and three special guests, Mrs. Belle Smith, Mrs. E. B. Lampkin, and Mrs. A. T. Cole, were present. A delicious salad course was served in the late afternoon.

Little Betty Mae Farmer Celebrates Third Birthday

The third birthday of little Miss Betty Mae Farmer was properly celebrated Friday, the twenty-eighth, in a birthday dinner at the home of her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mulkey. A big white cake, topped with pink candles, centered the table. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Mulkey presented the little honoree with a scarlet sweater.

Chamberlain, Mrs. W. H. Cooke, Mrs. Sella Gentry, Mrs. A. R. Letts, Mrs. J. B. McClelland, Mrs. W. H. Martin, Mrs. George Ryan, Mrs. J. T. Sims and Mrs. James Trent.

Country Club Scene of Halloween Dance, 31st

One of the most enjoyable of the numerous Halloween festivities was the informal dance at the Country Club, at which members of the Dinner-Bridge Club and their friends were guests. The hall was gayly decorated in Halloween colors. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock, after which dancing was enjoyed by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Forest Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Holman Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Grady, Dr. and Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Perrine, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trent, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Selden Bagby, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Merchant. Music was furnished by a four piece orchestra.

Mrs. Charles Bell Entertains At Bridge Saturday Afternoon

One of the most delightful social affairs of the week was Mrs. Charles Bell's bridge party of Saturday afternoon, which featured clever and elaborate decorations suggestive of Halloween. Six tables were arranged for the game, and the guest list included the following names: Mrs. Forest Taylor, Mrs. Sam Dyer, Mrs. Charles Trent, Mrs. A. M. Beville Jr., of Amarillo, Mrs. Phillips Gentry, Mrs. Clarence Miller, Mrs. J. H. Miller, Mrs. Louis B. Merrell, Mrs. J. H. Morris, Mrs. Clyde I. ## KAZMEIER'S POULTRY HINTS AND SUGGESTIONS

By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas.

Does It Pay to Buy High Grade Stock?
There are still a large number of people who believe in buying and feeding cheap stock. Too many have not yet learned the lesson that you must pay for quality, that cheap stock will produce cheap chicks, that no breeder can sell good stock at cheap prices and stay in business very long. Few, if any, poultry breeders that know their business are in the business for glory. Look at this illustration. A hen must lay about 100 eggs a year to pay her room, board and other expenses. Which flock would you rather have, 100 hens averaging a yearly production of 110 eggs per hen per year, or a flock of 50 hens averaging 180 eggs per hen per year, or a profit in eggs of 4,000 a year? The 100 hens eat about twice as much feed, require twice as much room and more labor than the flock of 50 hens. Valuing eggs at an average price of three cents each the year round, the flock of 100 hens above mentioned will return a net profit of $30 for the year. There are hundreds and thousands of such flocks. The flock of 50 hens above mentioned, at the same price for eggs, would return a net profit of $120 each year. Think this over. Does it pay to keep good bred-to-day chicks? The time has not yet come when you can buy something for nothing. It may never come in this world.

Too Much Grain and Not Enough Mash

Many people still consider the practice of filling up their crops with grain. For several years poultry educational leaders have been pleading for a more liberal feeding of mash and less of grains. Grains contain nothing not found in all mashes. The only possible excuse for feeding grains at all is to induce exercise to create an appetite for more mash. Whole grains must be ground up by the fowls. This grinding process requires energy and it takes feed to make energy. For this reason it is a waste of feed to provide hens with a ration composed largely of grains. A good grinder can grind cheaper than a hen's digestive system. We believe it will be a question of time before laying hens and baby chicks will be fed largely on mash feeds. The past year's experience clearly proved that grains are not necessary. In the case of breeding stock we might want to qualify this statement. All mashes should be ground just as fine as possible. This saves energy on the hen's part. Coarse ground mashes are not desirable. Don't worry that the fowl's gizzard will not have sufficient to do. Remember the bred-to-day hen of today is entirely different than the one ten years ago. To get the full benefit of mash breeding, fine ground mashes low in fiber are necessary and less cracked or whole grains.

Maintaining Weights on Pullets

Each year poultrymen, as a general rule, practice hatching earlier. In the case of the Mediterranean breeds, this brings up the problem of keeping or preventing the pullets from going into a partial moult in the Fall. We are not prepared to state that this can be done successfully all the time. Our last year's experience, however, in this connection may be interesting. Information available at this time seems to indicate that one way of preventing pullets from going into a neck moult is by keeping them laying. If you can keep them laying they are not so apt to go into a moult. We have observed by careful experiments that as soon as your pullets are beginning to lose in weight they are preparing to go into a moult. These pullets after laying for a period unless given special feeding and care are almost sure to go into a moult. As long as you can maintain their body weight and keep them laying there is much less danger of their going into a so-called pullet moult. A good plan is to band about twenty-five in a flock of 200 with colored bands, and regularly check on a certain day, weighing these pullets separately and collectively. Compare the weights. If they are losing weight, change your plan of feeding. If they are maintaining their weight and laying the chances are they will not soon go into a moult. People differ in their ideas as to the best means of maintaining body weight. Our experience has been that a too heavy feeding of egg mash and too little grain will force heavy egg-production and cause the bird to draw more heavily on the surplus stored up in the body, causing a loss in weight. One way of preventing this is to feed more liberally of grains, no wet mashes and less dry mash. A heavy feeding of scratch grain in the morning will help reduce the mash consumption. Feeding milk and liberal supplies of fine cut, tender and succulent green food will also aid in maintaining body weight. It is well to caution against making any radical and sudden changes in feed or method of feeding, because the same may throw the flock into a premature moult.

Feed Consumed Per 100 Chicks

This is a question that has lately been asked us many times so that we dug up experimental bulletins and farm poultry keeping records to check against our own figures, fully realizing that figures don't lie, but that liars figure. The best information we can furnish along these lines, are the following figures: First to fifth week, inclusive, 120 pounds; sixth to tenth week, inclusive, 750 pounds. These figures are, of course, only to be used as approximately correct. You will notice we did not sub-divide the amount of feed consumed into the amounts of grains and mash. This we have found by actual experience to vary so much that it is not safe to make even an estimate. Some broods consume equal amounts of mash and grain, and on this basis above figures should be divided by two, giving approximate amounts of grain and mash consumed.

SAVE OUR SHOES

Shoes kept in a warm, damp, and dark place are almost certain to mildew. Mildew probably will not seriously harm the shoes unless it is allowed to remain too long, but it may change their color. When first detected, the mildew should be washed off with soap and warm water, or simply wiped off with a moist cloth and the leather well dried. It is better to prevent mildew by keeping the shoes in a well ventilated, dry, light place.

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE FOR NORTHEASTERN ENGLAND

Hull University College, England, will probably be opened to students in October, 1929. The organization board hopes that residential accommodations and ample provision for recreation for 500 students will be ready by that time. The college grounds will comprise 45 acres, and it is announced that the buildings will be of moderate size but sufficient for the probable needs of the next 50 years. A donation by Right Hon. T. R. Ferens of 250,000 pounds ($1,216,625) will provide for the beginning of the institution, but the organization board announces that large additional funds must be procured to assure the success of the undertaking. The college will probably specialize in subjects related to the fishing industry of Hull and Grimsby. The city of Hull now possesses eight secondary schools, a technical college, a school of art, a nautical school, and a training college, the plants of which are valued at about $10,000,000. The new university college will supplement these institutions. Its attendance will be drawn largely from Hull, the East Riding, and the northern part of Lincolnshire.—A. E. Carleton, American Consul, Hull.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATIONS ACTIVE IN 5 STATES

For about a quarter of a century school improvement associations of leagues have been important agencies in the improvement of school and community conditions, especially in the South. Such organizations have aided in arousing popular interest in schools and in promoting school legislation, according to a study of State school improvement associations, by Edith A. Lathrop, published by the Interior Department, Bureau of Education, as Rural School Leaflet No. 42. The associations maintain close relations with State departments of education, and in South Carolina the association works under the immediate direction of the department. The chief activity of the associations is in raising money for school improvement. Such local associations in 1925 raised and expended for this purpose $93,800 in South Carolina and $170,000 in Virginia. Local Virginia leagues expended in five years more than a million dollars for educational purposes. Membership in the associations, according to latest available records, was 15,000 in Arkansas, 22,000 in South Carolina, and 70,000 (including juniors) in Virginia. Maine reported 600 local leagues in 1921. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers is doing in many States work formerly carried on by school improvement associations.

NORTH PANHANDLE IN PROSPEROUS ERA, SAYS OFFICIAL OF W. T. C. C.

E. H. Whitehead, publicity manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, visited Amarillo Thursday en route to Dalhart, where he will begin a tour through the western half of the newly formed Trans-Canadian District of the West Texas Chamber. Last week he visited the counties in the eastern half of the district and upon the completion of his tour of the district he will write a series of stories on the towns and counties of the district which will appear in the Amarillo News-Globe and other publications.

Last year he secured stories dealing with the history and general features of the score of towns in the section. The series he is now working on will deal with specific features of each town and will convey much information to persons interested in the development of the North Panhandle of Texas.

Conditions throughout the Trans-Canadian district, or at least that part of it which he has visited are flourishing, he said. The people of the counties are untroubled by the slowing down of oil operations and are going ahead building on a foundation of agricultural development. Never has a better wheat prospect been seen anywhere than that in that region at present.

Thousands of acres of sod have been broken and planted to wheat, and the wheat is now up to a good stand and is beginning to spread. A considerable increase in wheat acreage will be registered this year, although due to the fact that Texas produces only a small portion of the nation's wheat crop, this increase is not likely to cause any decrease in the price of the grain, according to Mr. Whitehead.

The feed crop throughout the Trans-Canadian country is practically matured now. In some places light frost has stopped the growth of the plants and killed the top of vegetation. However, farmers state that this will prove of benefit since the sap which has been going into leaves will now go into the grain. Another week of pretty weather will see the entire feed crop safely past the danger of freeze, and farmers will be assured of plenty of feed for another crop.

The most gratifying feature observed throughout the section, according to Mr. Whitehead, was the evidences of diversification apparent on every farm. Farms which in 1925 were planted strictly to wheat with no poultry, feed or hogs are now diversified farms. Large flocks of chickens, and turkeys or hogs may be seen around every farmhouse. Big fat hogs and droves of pigs may be seen in almost every barn lot or grazing in pastures. Almost every farm has big stacks of grain sorghum around the barns, and few are the farmers who do not have truck-patches large enough to supply home needs—and many of these patches are provided with irrigation.

These were the principles advocated by Col. R. Q. Lee, who, when president of the West Texas Chamber, campaigned the entire western half of the state preaching the doctrine of diversification and the seeds which Colonel Lee sowed have borne fruit, he said.

The towns in the section are showing the effects of the program of safe farming now under way. The frame store buildings of two years ago are giving way to new brick structures. New businesses of all lines have opened in almost every town, and stores have expanded and improved their stocks of goods. The short wheat crop of the past season has hampered the country to some extent, but on the basis of future outlook the Trans-Canadian section of West Texas is perhaps in the best condition it has ever enjoyed. The bumper crop of 1926 has to a large extent made up for the small crop of 1927, and 1928 promises to rival 1926 as a banner crop year. If such is the case, an era of development is promised which will eclipse anything ever before seen in Texas, according to many well informed men who have studied the situation.

MANY STATES ARE CONDUCTING ADULT EDUCATION

Legislation to promote adult education and citizenship has been enacted in 29 States and the District of Columbia. In 24 States instruction of adult illiterates is conducted under State supervision, and in 13 States full time supervisors of elementary instruction for adults have been provided, as shown by a study of public education for adults for the years 1924-1926, by L. R. Alderman, specialist in adult education, of the Interior Department, Bureau of Education, published in Bulletin, 1927, No. 18. Classes for the instruction of adult illiterates, native or foreign born, were maintained during 1924-25 with an enrollment of 306,219 persons, and during 1925-26 with an enrollment of 314,640 persons.

AGRICULTURE GRADUATES PRACTICE AGRICULTURE

Approximately 75 per cent of all graduates of State agricultural schools in New York are known to be engaged in farming or related occupations, according to a recent survey, results of which have been summarized by the State department of education. This is exclusive of short term and special students who attended school for less than the three year curriculum. Ten and five-tenths per cent of the graduates are known to be engaged in nonagricultural pursuits, and a number have died. It is estimated that, if information were available concerning those whose occupation is not known, it would be found that of the nearly 2,000 graduates of State agricultural schools about 83 per cent are at present following agricultural pursuits.—School Life.

CHILDREN'S SCHOOLS FOLLOW THE BRITISH TROOPS

Schools for British soldiers' children are found all over India and in all the colonies garrisoned by Imperial troops, including Egypt, Gibraltar, Malta, Aden, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Jamaica. The personnel of the army educational corps are well trained, and courses of study are so arranged that children moving with the army can carry on their studies with little interruption. Wherever possible schools are centralized, and the larger corps of teachers makes specialized teaching possible. In India, where moves are frequent, the schoolmistress accompanies the troops from place to place.

Because of the wide experience gained by the traveling army children, their acquaintance with foreign peoples, and their possession frequently of some knowledge of different languages, numbers of soldiers' children are successful in winning scholarships in competition with other English school children, and are often able, if an army career is chosen, to attain higher rank than their fathers in the service of the Empire.—School Life.

POULTRY HINTS—SUGGESTIONS

By F. W. Kazemier, Bryan, Texas.

The Chicken Business
After you read this perhaps you will agree with the writer that the chicken business now may be called by the more dignified name, "The Poultry Business."

In the U. S. each year over 568,000,000 chicks are raised. More than one and one-quarter billion hatching eggs are required annually in the U. S. to produce the above number of chicks raised.

At least 30 million breeding hens are necessary to lay the hatching eggs of the U. S.

The total capacity of commercial hatcheries in the U. S. is placed at one hundred million eggs at one setting.

At least 250 million baby chicks are produced each year for sale, by commercial hatcheries. A total of one billion baby chicks are hatched each year. Comparing this with other figures, shows that about 50 per cent of all baby chicks die each year. What a terrible financial loss. What a wonderful field for improvement.

In the state of Ohio there are over 700 commercial hatcheries, with a total egg capacity at one time of 17 million. Forty-six of these hatcheries have capacities above one hundred thousand eggs.

In Texas, also, we have been making rapid progress. Today we have a commercial hatchery egg capacity of over eight million eggs at one time. We have over 400 commercial hatcheries in Texas, and more going in every week.

Community Hatchery
In every town there is a need for one or more community hatcheries. Towns and cities not having these public hatcheries or community incubators can well afford to look into the question looking forward to their establishment. There is nothing that will develop the poultry industry as rapidly as a community hatchery.

Breeding Farms
In every community there is a wonderful field for the establishment of from a half dozen to two dozen and more specialized poultry breeding farms. It takes 1,000 hens to supply a 12,000 egg incubator with eggs. In communities in which public or commercial hatcheries are being established there is at once created a market for high class hatching eggs. In every community there is a need for trapnest breeding farms in such varieties as Barred Plymouth Rocks, S. C. R. I. Reds, S. C. White Leghorns, Mottled Anconas and other too numerous to mention here.

Specializing
The commercial hatchery is the first step in the specializing of the poultry industry. The trapnest breeding farm is the second step. In communities with such commercial hatcheries and trapnest breeding farms, there positively does not exist one good reason for the presence of mongrel, duke's mixture, crazy quilt, cross-bred, just eating chickens. In such places, farmers can buy well bred baby chicks from trapnest and bred-to-lay hens at reasonable prices, and when they want them. The nearer home chicks are produced and the less distance they have to be shipped the better. In such communities farmers can keep 200 or 300 good hens, can replace half of them each year by buying baby chicks from bred-to-lay stock. In such communities commercial egg farms, also, soon make their appearance.

Two Nyal brand articles for the price of one. Stocking's Drug Store.

Poultry Schools
The very fact, previously mentioned, that about one-half of the baby chicks hatched each year die, than an egg production at this time of the year of 25 per cent is the exception rather than the rule, all is evidence that poultry information may be available but most certainly is not being taken advantage of. What do you think of a two-day poultry school, or a poultry short course for your community? If interested, get in touch with your County Agriculture Agent or your County Home Demonstration Agent. These people are in position to provide this kind of a school of instruction for you. In such a school, such topics as making hens lay, raising baby chicks, building houses and poultry diseases are discussed.

If you are not fortunate enough to have a County Agriculture Agent and Home Demonstration Agent maybe you can interest the secretary of your local Chamber of Commerce.

If you have not any of these, then it is high time to have a public meeting and bring about a great change in your community.

TEXAS CHOLERA SITUATION DECLARED GROWING WORSE

By Upshur Vincent

Star-Telegram Market Editor
For the past year the hog cholera situation in Texas has been growing steadily worse because of the lack of regulations governing the treatment of infected hogs into the state and from one county to another within the state.

From the time the State Sanitary Board was inaugurated, Texas was considered a clean state so far as hog cholera was concerned, and the disease was kept fairly well under control. Hogs coming into the state from other states were compelled to have a health certificate that the State Sanitary Board of Texas would recognize; such hogs must have been immunized, dipped and placed in a disinfected car. The state, by such regulations, was fairly protected from infection from other states.

Bootleggers Appear
When outbreaks of cholera occurred in Texas, the state board quarantined the farms or county and did the best they could to keep the disease under control, and much progress was made.

Then came good roads. Then also came the drought in the great grain sorghum belt of Texas and the West Texas farmers shipped out their hogs. This was followed by the largest crop of grain sorghums in the history of the region which caused an unprecedented demand for gilts. Carloads of gilts began to come into the state, and speculators became very active.

the movement of hogs from infected districts, truckloads of hogs began to move from East Texas to West Texas and spread hog cholera, and many of the hogs shipped by truck were lost.

These men who were handling hogs from East Texas were called bootleggers. They disregarded the quarantine regulations because there was no penalty for violating the regulations of the sanitary board. This condition has placed a commercial quarantine against East Texas hogs.

The only safe outlet for East Texas hogs is to market for immediate slaughter; or to be immunized at Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Wichita, Kan., or Oklahoma City, where they can be treated under government supervision, dipped or sprayed, and shipped in a disinfected car.

All Restrictions Removed
The law recently passed by the Legislature allowing farmers to immunize their hogs themselves has removed all restrictions, and there is nothing to prevent bootleggers from moving hogs from infected districts, unless the local authorities prevent their being unloaded.

In order to make hog raising safe and profitable in Texas there must be such laws passed as will make the movement of hogs within the state just as safe as the movement of cattle, horses and sheep.

There must be co-operation between the United States Department of Animal Industry and the State Sanitary Board, so that outbreaks of cholera can be handled like the hoof and mouth disease was handled.

Above all, there must be an understanding of the hog cholera situation on the part of members of the Legislature of Texas to the end that owners of hogs may be protected against "bootleggers" of the animals in defiance of those rules which safeguard health of the citizens as well as of the hogs.

AN ORDINANCE

REWRITING SECTION FOUR, AMENDING SECTION SEVEN, REWRITING SECTION TWENTY, REWRITING SECTION TWENTY-TWO AND REWRITING SECTION TWENTY-THREE OF AN ORDINANCE NO. 250 ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE FIXING AND REGULATING THE USE OF SEWERS BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS AND CORPORATIONS IN THE CITY OF CLARENDON, TEXAS," PASSED ON THE FOURTH DAY OF APRIL, A. D. 1910, AND DECLARING NULL AND VOID THE OLD SECTION FOUR AND THAT PART OF SECTION SEVEN THAT WILL CONFLICT WITH SECTION SEVEN AS NOW WRITTEN AND DELETING THE OLD SECTION TWENTY-TWO AND OLD SECTION TWENTY-THREE OF SAID ORDINANCE. BE IT OBTAINED BY THE City Commission of the City of Clarendon, Donley County, Texas:

That Section 4 of Ordinance No. 250, entitled "An Ordinance fixing and regulating the use of sewers by private individuals and corporations in the City of Clarendon, Texas," passed April 4, 1910, be rewritten to read as follows, to-wit:

SECTION 4: Application and License. A person, firm or corporation desiring to do business in connection with the Sanitary Sewer System of Clarendon, Texas, shall file in the office of the City Secretary the name of the individual or firm and place of business, and asking for a license to execute and deposit in the office of the City Secretary with his application a Surety Bond, secured by him as plaintiff and surety security, payable to the Mayor of the City of Clarendon and his successors for the sum of $1,000.00, conditioned that he will indemnify and save harmless the City of Clarendon and its officers and damages caused by neglect in protecting his work, or by any unfaithful, imperfect or inadequate work, or by any failure to comply with the terms of his license, and that he will also replace and restore sidewalk, pavement or street surface over any opening or excavation made by him to a good state and condition as he found it and keep and maintain the same in good order to the satisfaction of the city for the period of six months next thereafter, that he will pay all fines imposed upon him for a violation of any of the rules or regulations. On receiving his license he shall have recorded in the office of the City Clerk his actual place of business, the name under which the business is transacted, and shall immediately notify the plumber of any change in either thereafter. No license will be granted for more than one year, and the first year's license shall be paid for by the applicant to the City of Clarendon for said year's license, and thereafter for each year thereafter that said applicant shall apply for a renewal after his first year, he shall pay to the city the sum of $10.00 per year or any fractional part thereof.

And that part of the old Section 4 in the original ordinance heretofore referred to in conflict with Section 4 as hereinabove written is hereby declared null and void and of no further force or effect.

SECTION 7. Inspection. The City Inspector is to be given notice when any work is ready for inspection and all work must be left uncovered for examination until inspected and approved, and for which inspection a fee of $1.00 shall be charged for one fixture and a fee of $0.75 will be charged for each and every additional fixture in and about said work. Such inspection shall be made within twenty-four hours after notification has been made. If required to do so, the plumber shall apply either, poppermint, water or smoke test in the presence of the plumbing inspector and the plumber shall repair or remove any defective material or labor when so ordered by the inspector. And that old Section 7 as written in the original ordinance heretofore mentioned and declared null and void and of no further force or effect, where the same is in conflict with Section 7 as hereinabove written.

And that Section Twenty (20) of the above described ordinance be rewritten as follows, to-wit: SECTION 20. Joints. All joints in soil and waste pipes, must be filled with cement, and the lead and hand called as to, make them tight and water tight. All connections of lead pipes with cast iron pipes must be made with brass ferrule of the same size as the lead pipe, put in the hub of the branch of the cast iron pipe and securely called with lead and oakum, the lead pipe must be attached to the ferrule by a wiper joint. All connections of lead, waste and vent pipes shall be made by means of wiper joints.

And that old Section 20 as written in the original ordinance be declared null and void and of no further force or effect, when in conflict with Section 20 as hereinabove written. And that Section 22 of the original ordinance described above be rewritten as to read as follows, to-wit: SECTION 22. Stacks. At the bottom of each main stack, if accessible, should be a clean-out plug, preferably a "cleaner" with a one-eighth inch clean-out plug. All sink lines and long runs under concrete or inaccessible places must have a clean-out plug where required by the plumbing inspector. One lavatory waste and one sink waste may be run into main stack, connecting to the stack in the usual manner and from opposite sides of stack, provided there are no fixtures above and the distance is not greater than thirty-six inches from the center of the waste to the center of the stack and the primer (waste line) has a fall not to exceed one-half inch per foot. Waste lines may be attached to stack by means of tapped tee or cross, by brass male solder nipple provided nipple is one size larger than waste line, so that said nipple may be run the length of the nipple. Dayton vent tees may be used on lavatory and sink waste lines. And that old Section 22 in the original ordinance be declared null and void and of no further force or effect, when in conflict with Section 22 as hereinabove written. And that Section 23 of the original ordinance described above be rewritten as to read as follows, to-wit: SECTION 23. Traps. Every water closet, urinal, sink, wash tray, bath tub and every tub or set of tubs must be separately trapped and capped. All bath tubs must be trapped with a four by eight drum trap when lid is placed on floor line, inlet and outlet must be at bottom, trap and outlet must be brought up so that four inches of water will stand in trap, inlet may be of 1 1/4 inch lead and outlet must be of 1 1/2 inch lead. A vent will not be required where it is not more than ten feet from the center of the waste to the toilet ferrule or waste line, provided the fall is not greater than 1/8 inch and other fixtures are above which use the main stack for a waste line. Traps must be placed as near fixtures as practicable. In no case shall water from the bath tub or other fixtures be connected with the water closet trap. Where vent is required on drum trap, it must be taken off at high point of waste horizontal runs of lead pipe supported where needed. And that old Section 23 as written in the original ordinance be declared null and void and of no further force or effect, when in conflict with Section 23 as hereinabove written. Passed and approved this 4th day of October, A. D. 1927.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

West Texas Chamber of Commerce

Happy.—Building in and around Happy is active at this time. Several residences are being completed and remodeling work on other homes is under way.

Santa Anna.—The ten thousand mark has been passed in cotton ginnings at Santa Anna already this season.

Bowie.—A home grown products luncheon will feature the Red River District Convention here November 21. A number of ex-Bovietes who are now prominent commercial and industrial leaders of Fort Worth will attend the meeting as well as state notables. Amon G. Carter will be toastmaster at the luncheon.

Marble Falls.—Marble Falls, a unique industrial town of the Heart of Texas, will be one of a number of towns with writeups in the November "West Texas Today."

Tuscola.—The month of November has been set as membership month for the Tuscola Chamber of Commerce and a vigorous campaign will be staged to secure new members.

Sweetwater.—Governor Dan Moody will attend the Central West Texas District Convention here which has been reset for November 30 in order to make his presence possible. President R. W. Haynie and Manager Homer D. Wade of the West Texas Chamber will occupy parts of the program and a record meeting is indicated.

Munday.—Natural gas for domestic and commercial purposes will be in use here by December 1. It will be piped from Amarillo fields and will be on the same line which is to serve Stamford.

Texline.—Clay deposits in the vicinity of Texline of commercial proportions and possibilities are attracting widespread attention. Samples of the clay have been sent to a number of manufacturing concerns interested in the quality and quantity of local deposits.

Dublin.—Dairy interests are being promoted to a large degree in this section. The town has had half a dozen representatives studying dairying and its problems in Memphis, Tenn., and plans to bring an expert here to make a survey looking toward securing a condenser or cheese factory in this territory.

Hereford.—Contract has been let for a new $25,000 city hall and fire station for Hereford. The building will be completed by Christmas. Four brick business buildings are now being erected and a number of modern homes are under construction.

Plainview.—Construction work on paving Highway 9 through Abernathy, Hale Center, and Plainview from the north end of Garbuck County, to the south line of Swisher County is expected to get well under way at an early date.

Clarendon.—Work is under way on remodeling the Clarendon City Hall to make room for a fire station and to provide living quarters for a fireman. Standard fire equipment has been ordered which will arrive by the time the construction work is finished.

Electra.—The Electra Chamber of Commerce has started a campaign of education to explain the benefits of the Peace River Irrigation Project to be known as Peace River Improvement District No. 3. As planned, this project will water 150,000 acres of land lying along the Red River Valley in Wichita and Wilbarger Counties and will furnish domestic and industrial water for the cities of Electra, Vernon, Iowa Park, Quanah and Crowell.

JIM HICKMAN STARS IN ARCHERY GOLF SUNDAY

An interesting golf event of the week was a match played by Jim Hickman and A. N. Woods, Sunday morning, in which Hickman used a bow and arrow while Woods used a club and golf ball. This is the first time in history that an archer has appeared on the Hillcroft course in competition with a golfer, and in this first match the archer won by a large majority, 9 up in 18 holes. Hickman made some remarkably long shots, the longest of which was 250 yards. He made only one shot that was over two feet off a straight line, and that one was sideways with the wind, said Woods. On number five, which is 500 yards, he was hole high in two shots.

Cottingham, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Tomlinson, Mr. W. T. Kennedy, Miss Moody Kennedy and Mrs. Gatis.

The carnival at the school Saturday evening proved satisfactory in a financial way. The sum of about $85 was raised for library and athletics. A cake for the most popular young lady was given to Miss Margarette Crystal. A generous donation for the fish pond, made by the business men of Clarendon, was appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Smith and daughter visited Saturday and Sunday in Claude.

Miss Corda Holland, who is teaching at Hedley, spent the weekend at home.

Miss Dora Kelly, who is attending Clarendon College, spent Sunday with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Batson of Memphis visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Lewis, Sunday.

Miss Minnie Mace entertained her friends with a party Monday evening.

The seniors and juniors and their friends were entertained Wednesday evening with an informal party in the S. R. Tomlinson home, where the spirit of Halloween prevailed. On arriving, the guests were met by a ghost with a "deadly hand" and ushered into the witches' room, where they saw the three spirits and were made to eat some cold boiled macaroni before they were allowed to join the other guests. When all the guests arrived, they went on a long journey, through the barn and into the forest; following the witch. She brought them back to her house, entered the back door and took them upstairs, which was dimly lighted and decorated with corn stalks, hay, black cats, witches and bats. Here many games were played and all visited the graveyard and had their fortunes told. Apples and popcorn balls were served.

The Fidelis and Berean Classes of the Baptist Sunday School entertained the Builders Class of Ash-tola Union Sunday School with a Halloween frolic in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crystal, Friday evening. The guests were met by a receiving line of ghosts reaching from the highway to the hall where they were entertained. Games were begun on entering the home. Everyone was delighted in having his fortune told, taking a trip to the moon, seeing the three spirits, and visiting the chamber of horrors, where there was groaning and gnashing of teeth. After fifteen minutes of vainly trying to "follow the leader" over a path that would be difficult to follow in daylight, the masqueraders returned to the "witches' tent" and were served devil's brew, gingerbread and popcorn. The Ash-tola young folks returned home very appreciative of the hospitality of the Baptist Sunday School Classes.

BUGBEE EXHIBITS PAINTING AT WACO COTTON PALACE

"Beginning the Spring Roundup," a painting by Harold Bugbee, is among the many interesting works of art on exhibition at the Cotton Palace, which opened in Waco October 22. Mr. Bugbee is one of several Western painters and Taso artists who are exhibiting by special invitation from the art committee of the Cotton Palace.

SUBSCRIBERS CONTINUE TO POUR INTO NEWS OFFICE

Even though the campaign for new subscribers to The News closed some weeks past, the list of subscribers to the paper is steadily increasing every day. They are coming in by mail and many are calling in person to say that they want The News for another year or for their first year. The territory near Clarendon was worked with a fine toothed comb, there were some who could not take the paper at that time and consequently they want the paper when they can get to taking it. Strange to state, most of the new ones received in the past week have been from Clarendon and the immediate vicinity.

MAYOR IS INVITED TO AIR PORTS CONFERENCE, CHICAGO

The News is in receipt of a letter from Chicago, stating that Mayor Thompson of that city has requested the presence of Mayor Taylor to attend a National Air Ports Conference in Chicago on December 12 to 15. This letter comes in line with the thoughts of many of Clarendon's citizens, who are thinking of establishing an air port for the town. There are a number of sites that would be available and the work on them could be reduced to a minimum. Very little is needed to cause the establishment of an air port here and the starting of such an enterprise might mean a great deal to Clarendon at some time in the future.

"BIG PARADE" IS DELIVERED FROM DALLAS BY AIRPLANE

One of the advantages of fast delivery was established Monday of this week for the Pastime Theater when it was discovered that an error had been made in shipping the film for "The Big Parade" from Hereford to Clarendon. The film was shipped direct to the exchange at Dallas rather than to Clarendon as had been instructed. When the desired article failed to show up at the desired time, long distance telephone was called into action and the exchange was notified of the delinquency. Immediately, an airplane was chartered and the film was started on the way. The trip was made to Clarendon in little more than three hours, and the picture was shown as advertised Monday evening. Those who have seen the picture have seen a part of the real war, and will long remember that they have actually seen some of the boys in action while they were over there. Those who missed the picture will long regret that they overlooked an opportunity of seeing a picture that will live long in the history of filmdom.

C. H. Dean Dies Monday After Brief Illness

C. H. Dean, Secretary of the Retail Merchants Association, died Monday noon, after suffering a stroke of paralysis the preceding night. Funeral services were held at the First Methodist Church on Tuesday afternoon, with Dr. J. T. Griswold, the Reverend A. L. Moore and the Reverend S. R. McClung in charge of the last rites. A large attendance at the service and an immense offering of flowers from the various organizations with which the deceased and his family were associated, as well as from many individuals, were proof of the love and esteem in which the late Mr. Dean was held by those who knew him. Interment was made in the Citizens Cemetery.

Charles Harrison Dean was born in Dallas County, February 23, 1869. He was 58 years of age at the time of his death. He received his education in the schools of Dallas County and at Baylor University, Waco. He was married to Mrs. Mattie Mims, September 9, 1887. To their union were born three sons and two daughters, all of whom survive their father. Mr. Dean joined the Methodist Church in 1907 and was a member throughout the remainder of his life, serving in the office of steward many of these years. He was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mr. Dean moved to Clarendon ten years ago and for several years engaged in the grocery business. He had acted as secretary to the Retail Merchants Association since selling his store more than a year ago.

Surviving Mr. Dean are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Leola Nowlin, Ashola and Miss Julia Dean; three sons, Charles Dean of Clarendon, Duff Dean of San Francisco, and Pat Dean of Dodge City, Kansas. He is also survived by two stepsons, John Mims of Munday and Will Mims of Clovis, New Mexico; a sister, Mrs. Julia Jenkins Waxahachie; and two brothers, W. H. Dean and D. H. Dean of Cordell, Oklahoma. All these were present at the time of his death, with the exception of the son in San Francisco and the sister.

These services will be the last rendered by the pastor. The Quarterly Conference will meet Sunday evening at 8 p. m. to close the work for the year. The Board of Stewards will have a called meeting, Friday evening at 7:00 at the church. Let all the stewards be present. Come to church, Sunday. You are invited.

A. L. Moore, Pastor.

WATCH OUT FOR "COLDS"

If you have a "cold," do not treat it lightly, advises Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, who stated that everyone suffering from this malady should consider it a distinct disease that needs prompt treatment.

"A cold is a communicable disease that when contracted may lead to serious results, weakening the resistance powers of the body to the extent that the "cold" victim may likely succumb to the marauding germs of pneumonia, tuberculosis, or other serious diseases. A cold is also quite often the first symptom of influenza, many of the diseases common to children, and other maladies, and should in no instance be allowed to run its course without treatment," Dr. Anderson stated.

Prevention of Colds

"One of the best methods of preventing a cold is to keep in all-round good physical condition. To do this, one must get sufficient outdoor exercise; eat at regular hours; get sufficient sleep in a well ventilated room; not overwork; keep clean both on the outside and inside, and keep a cheerful disposition. "Hygienic rules that are an aid in the prevention of colds are: Avoid exposure to wet and cold, and sudden changes of body temperature; wash hands before eating; when sneezing or coughing, hold handkerchief or cloth over mouth and nose, so as to prevent transmission of germs to others in the near vicinity; keep away as much as possible from others suffering from a cold, and avoid crowds."

FLOOD SUFFERERS NEED CLOTHING

LOCAL CHAPTER RED CROSS ASKS FOR WINTER GARMENTS TO BE SENT NOW.

An urgent appeal for clothing, to meet the pressing winter needs of more than half a million flood sufferers in the Mississippi Valley, has been issued by the local chapter of the American Red Cross at the direction of the Midwestern Branch Office of St. Louis.

Not less than 75 carloads of warm winter garments are needed according to the communication from Washington, which is based on a personal survey of the situation by Vice-Chairman James L. Fieser and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, Chairman of the President's special Red Cross committee. Throughout the vast flood area, where the organization still has under its care a veritable army of homeless and destitute persons, the suffering will be intense unless the needs are speedily met, they say.

Not only among those who actually lost their homes, together with all clothing and other possessions, but as well among a large percentage of the general population, whose earning capacity has been crippled by conditions in the Valley, the Red Cross will have to continue to act as the "Greatest Mother" until conditions approximating the normal have been restored. Latest reports are to the effect that most of the 607,000 flood sufferers who have received aid from the organization, will have to be supplied with winter clothing by the Red Cross.

Adding to the urgency of the situation is the fact that without sufficient supplies of warm garments, the danger from those diseases caused or augmented by exposure will be greatly increased. Many of the flood sufferers are still in quarters of a temporary nature, and will in fact need a more abundant wardrobe than they would under normal conditions.

Listed among the types of clothing needed are:

Women: Coats, dresses, underwear, stockings.

Children: Coats, underwear, girls' dresses, boys' suits and shirts, socks, and sweaters of all sizes; layettes and baby clothes.

Men: Coats, suits, shirts, underwear, and socks.

The appeal stresses the fact that all donated clothing should be suitable to the conditions of those in need and that it should be clean and in reasonably good condition. Mention is made in the letter from St. Louis that no furs, shoes, or hats are required.

Those in Clarendon who have suitable garments to donate are asked to communicate at once with Mrs. Kate B. Carroll, Chairman of the Donley County Chapter of the Red Cross. Mrs. Carroll is in charge of collecting the clothing in this county and will arrange to have all donated garments sent to the relief workers in the stricken area.

FACTS ABOUT FISH

By J. G. Burr, of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commissioner, Austin.

The days of "the poor fish" are few and full of troubles. They come forth by the millions and are cut down. If by chance they escape the angler and other dangers, the water hole or stream may dry up; and that is what happened the past summer in many parts of Texas. For the first time in the history of the department, deputies were assigned to rescue work and approximately half a million fish were transferred from vanishing streams and ponds to places of safety, as shown in the annual report of Commissioner Will J. Tucker.

As an interesting sidelight, stagnant pools and occasional dead fish told the story of vanishing oxygen. Stagnation, putrefaction and disappearance of dissolved oxygen go hand in hand. The life of a fish is keyed to a normal supply of oxygen and when this is depleted the fish is undernourished. Also, long, hot summers reduce the oxygen, especially ponds where there is little aeration by movement of the water, and the resistance of fish is broken down.

Recent reports to the department told of fish dying in apparently good ponds where no pollution existed, and while no field tests were made, sufficient indication pointed to insufficient oxygen. Artificial aeration was suggested to one correspondent, whose pond was supplied by a pump, by spraying the water as it entered the pool. Super-saturation of dissolved oxygen is thus obtained, other conditions being favorable.

The normal dissolved oxygen at sea level in a given volume of water is 0.6 per cent. Authorities claim that 0.4 per cent is the danger line and that 0.2 per cent is insufficient to sustain fish life. Clearly a one-third loss of ration is serious, and two-thirds loss, indicated by the lower figure, would necessarily be fatal to fish.

SECRETARIAL SCREENINGS

CLARENDON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
G. L. BOYKIN, Secretary

A petition is being circulated to get an International Harvester Company short course to come to this town. There is no cost to the course, the only thing required of the community that gets it is to furnish a meeting hall and a good attendance. If you have not signed the petition do so at once as it requires 300 or 400 names to get one. These courses carry no advertising features at all, are free, and cost us nothing. Ask anyone who has seen one about their value. It is a farmer's meeting put on by farmers, each man on the program being actively engaged in farming for a livelihood. If we get the course an advance man will be here a month ahead of time to make arrangements and at this meeting organization will be perfected. Watch this column for further notices and be on hand if needed.

State Highway Engineer W. A. French of this district is in his office today and stated that in addition to the work already done on Highway 5 through this county, that the state would probably start some work on number 88 in the near future. If that be true this county will have received its share of road upkeep this year.

Now comes the Amarillo News and hopes on Donley County for paving its highways. We are due the blame, I guess, but still we will not be left at the mercy of the opinion of most progressive men and women voters of this county. Not only should this county's highways be paved but there are many lateral roads that should be improved along with it. If this county should vote on a bond issue, let's make it county-wide, and save the county money and give every user of the roads the benefit of a good road, whether he be on a state highway or not. Donley County must improve her roads or take a back seat and let the travel go elsewhere.

Plans are being worked out for a November 11 celebration to justly commemorate the part that this town had in the war. Let's all do our part. It will be appreciated.

First frost on November 2, and it not heavy. The world is not so bad after all is said and done, and Donley County is still here with a good crop and one more year without a failure.

LINDBERGH GIVEN PRESENT BY LOUISIANA MASONS

New Orleans, La.—At the banquet given in honor of Charles A. Lindbergh, Edwin F. Gayle, Grand Master of the Masons in Louisiana, presented the hero of the air with a gold and platinum case in which to carry his membership cards, on behalf of the Masonic lodges of New Orleans.

One side of the case bears a platinum replica of the Spirit of St. Louis, and the reverse bears the Masonic emblems and the following inscription:

"To Brother Charles A. Lindbergh, who, exalted in purpose, fearless in execution and modest in accomplishment, has in every detail of his well ordered life exemplified Masonic ideals. From the Masonic lodges of New Orleans, October 3, 1927."

FEDERAL ROADS UNITE COUNTRY

$840,000,000 APPROPRIATED TO HELP BUILD 184,161 MILE HIGHWAY SYSTEM.

By E. E. Duffy.

Federal aid roads are forming a network of highways over the country that will bring all portions of the United States within hailing distance of each other. The total amount of money that has been appropriated or will be authorized for appropriation to build this network is $840,000,000.

Nearly 75,000 miles of federal aid roads were completed or under construction according to the latest figures obtained June 30, 1927. Also according to these figures the system will include nearly 186,000 miles of road when the highway program is completed. To build these 75,000 miles of road, more than a billion and a quarter dollars has been expended. Of this sum 44.7 per cent was spent for concrete highways, 18.7 per cent for gravel and 3.3 per cent for bituminous macadam; the rest of the money was divided into smaller portions among other types of roads.

According to the conditions under which the money for roads is given each state, it must keep up its own system. The plan briefly is this:

If any state fails to maintain its roads the Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to repair the highways and charge the cost of the repairs to the amount of money the federal government has on hand of this particular state's portion. The money thus spent is deducted from the money the state has coming and all allotments are withheld from this particular state until the money has been paid back. When the cost is refunded it is reapportioned among all the states so that the state failing to keep up the roads loses all but a small sum.

Thus the states are anxious to build roads that will require a minimum amount of maintenance. For this reason permanent roads such as concrete are preferred. A hard surfaced thoroughfare requires less cost to keep up and the money formerly spent in upkeep of semi-permanent roads can be used in extending the state's highway system.

Another provision of the federal aid system is that the minimum width of roads be eighteen feet. No minimum is made for the special permission is obtained from the Secretary of Agriculture to reduce them in width.

Federal aid is given to the state for road building on the following basis:

Before any state can benefit from this act it must first be approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, consisting of not more than seven per cent of the total mileage of roads in the state. This has been done in all states.

States receive money according to their population and the extent of past roads in relation to the totals of all the states. Each of these phases are given a rating of one-third in determining the amount of money the state is to receive. Except in states where more than five per cent of the area is unappropriated public land, the amount of federal aid received on any project is limited to 50 per cent of the cost of labor and materials. In the states five per cent or more of whose area is public land, the 50 per cent allowance is increased by an amount equal to one-half of the percentage of public land in the state.

For example, under the above provision Arizona is given 72.34 per cent of the cost of the roads. Nevada benefits to the extent of 87.72 per cent of the road expenditure. Thus western states with a small population are enabled to build extensive highway systems.

Pennsylvania has 90,000 miles in its state road system. Approximately 4,000 miles are federal aid roads, laid out as a unified system according to federal provisions. Built for permanence, 3,900 miles of Pennsylvania roads are of concrete construction.

TURKEY TIME

To fatten turkeys for the market, begin about the first of November. Feed just enough at a time so the birds will go away a little hungry, gradually increasing the quantity until they are given all they can clean up three times a day during the week before marketing. It is a good plan to feed equal parts of wheat and oats during the first part of the fattening season, gradually changing to corn as the weather becomes cooler. Old corn is much better for turkeys than new corn, but it must be free from mustiness. Heavy feeding of new corn often results in scours.

THE FOREST FIRE SCORE

Forest fires caused damage amounting to approximately $27,000,000 in the United States in 1926. This immense loss resulted from 91,800 fires which burned over 24,000,000 acres of the lands of the country. More than 72 per cent of the fires are known to have been caused by man, and 12 per cent by lightning; the cause of a little over 15 per cent are not known. Careless smokers lead all others as forest incendiaries with a known total of 5,625 fires or over 16 per cent of all; railroads come next with 13 per cent, and brush burning is the third most important cause with 12 per cent.

Mrs. F. A. White left Wednesday morning for visits in Cross Plains and San Angelo. She will be away ten days or two weeks.

EASTLAND COUNTY FARMERS MAKE LIVESTOCK PROFITS

Co-operative marketing of livestock has been talked of in Texas for a long time, still few people know that a little community in years has made a success of it in a big way, said C. C. French, industrial agent of the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company and the Belt Railroad, after a recent trip through West Texas.

At Pleasant Hill, 10 miles south of Cisco, that long ago the farmers found that they were losing most of their livestock profits to the middleman. To stop that leak and to learn more of the livestock business they began holding monthly meetings at the school house.

First on their programs came animal readings. When that part of the program was finished books were opened and each of those present announced what livestock he had for sale. One or more cars would be made up and the date of shipment announced when the farmers had the highway plan was valuable. At that time mixed cars were sent to market in Fort Worth, but gradually the livestock was graded and full cars of a particular grade of hogs or cattle or sheep came to market.

Always a different member of the organization came to Fort Worth with the car so that the livestock was under the supervision of the shippers until it was sold. In that way the shippers were protected against damage in transit, and also against prices below the market.

Higher prices were received than would have been possible on individual shipments; and the middleman's profit has been entirely eliminated.

There are no initiation fees, says French, and no dues. The business is kept up and the project is known as the Co-operative Livestock Association and is conducted by the man who first organized the farmers into this money-making plan. He is R. L. Poe of Cisco, and he draws no salary. Expenses of each shipment are prorated according to receipts from that shipment.

"So far as I know, there is no other organization like it in Texas," says French. "Farmers bring cattle, sheep and hogs 20 miles to take advantage of this marketing facility."

"They know they are going to get full value of everything shipped, whether it is one cow or 40 hogs, and they are strong boosters for the co-operative plan.

"Such an organization in every community in Texas would mean a great deal to the farmers as well as to the livestock industry. The industry cannot thrive unless the farmer and rancher thrive with it—and co-operative marketing has surely proved a success at Pleasant Hill.

The success of the Eastland County enterprise is amply attested, French said, in the amount of money something between $300,000 and $400,000 that has been deposited for the participants in Eastland banks. In quite another way the project is proving a benefit in that it is automatically reducing the cotton acreage by pointing the way to better revenues from raising livestock.

Poultry breeders of the United States sold about 800,000 baby chicks last year. Egg production in the United States was at the rate of about 760 eggs each second, or 2,000,000,000 dozen in the year.

RICH MAN OR POOR MAN?

The "two-ton" local to Clarksburg was an hour late. Four men sat on empty egg crates in the narrow strip of shade cast by the squat little yellow depot. Prize fights, aviation, war and politics had been gone over thoroughly.

"I wish," said one young man, "I had a million dollars. I would buy a new car every year and give my wife all of the new clothes she wants."

Another young man added his wish. "I'd be satisfied with a cool hundred thousand." I would travel and see the world.

"If I had plenty of money," added the third salesman, "I would put up a new factory and make a product that every merchant would want to handle."

The fourth, a man of perhaps 50 years of age, said nothing, but gazed into the distance with his eyes almost closed.

"What is your wish, Mr. Johnston?" asked one of the younger men.

A sad and dejected look came into the old man's eyes and his lips quivered as he spoke. "I want a little cottage nesting quietly under old shade trees. I want roses growing over my doorway. I would like for that cottage to have a side porch that looks out over a smooth cropped lawn, fringed with hollyhocks and zinnias. I want my babies back again playing and prattling in the shade of the cherry tree. I long to hear a voice and feel the warmth of a loving cheek against mine. I want those back who have been taken from me. All of these things were mine once, and though I had little money, I now realize I was a rich man. Now, I have plenty of money, but these things I mention, I have not, therefore, I am a poor man, lonely and sad."

There was a hint of flushed cheeks on the three younger faces and lumps came into three throats. Tears were trickling down a kind old face. The younger men spoke in cheering tones, but the Dreamer heard not for he gazed into the distance, for even though he was rich, he was indeed a very poor man.—Sweco Engraver.
