OFFICERS INSPECT LOCAL UNIT OF CCC

Major Thos. G. Jenkins of Temple, district commander of CCC camps, and Captain B. R. Galbreath, inspected Camp Chester Harrison, the local CCC unit, Wednesday, and placed their official OK on the work being done at the Lake Brownwood State Park.

The two officers stated the work and affairs of the camp generally are highly satisfactory. Major Jenkins stated again that he and other officers appreciate the cooperation that has been given them by the citizens of Brownwood.

POULTRY GROUP TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT TO PLAN FOR SHOW

Brown county poultrymen will meet Friday night, February 22, at the J. E. Hill feed store, to perfect organization of a Brown County Poultry Association, make plans for staging a poultry show in Brownwood in December and discuss poultry problems.

All persons interested in poultry are invited to be present at the meeting.

Unless serious opposition develops, it is felt certain that the association will sponsor a poultry show in Brownwood the latter part of the year, and will invite the International Cornish Club to hold its annual show here in connection with the local event.

Cooperation of the county agent, the home demonstration agent and the Brownwood chamber of commerce has been pledged to the proposed show.

JUDGE SARAH HUGHES INVITED TO ADDRESS LOCAL B&PW BANQUET

Miss Kate Adele Hill, district home demonstration agent and director of district No. 3 of the state federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, and Miss Mayesle Malone, Brown county home demonstration agent, were guests of the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club at their regular meeting Tuesday night.

A George Washington program was held with every member taking part. Dr. Mollie Armstrong made a report on the President's Birthday Ball, which was sponsored by the club.

The club decided to ask Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, first woman district judge in Texas, to be principal speaker at the annual public relations banquet of the club to be held during National Business and Professional Women's Week, which begins March 17.

CORN-HOG CONTRACTS FOR 1935 SHOULD BE SIGNED BY SATURDAY

All farmers who have not signed 1935 corn-hog contracts and who wish to be included in the 1935 reduction program are urged to meet their community committeemen at the office of County Agent C. W. Lehmborg on Saturday of this week.

The committeemen will be there to complete the signing for this county.

Report comes from Jones county that at the training school held for the pantry demonstrators of the county home demonstration clubs 75 people learned how to make and lay tile for garden subirrigation. These citizens will in turn teach their neighbors in their own communities to make tile so that gardens may prosper and fruit trees flourish come rain or no.

SCHOOL CENSUS FOR COUNTY WILL START EARLY NEXT MONTH

Work on the county school census will be started early next month. Supplies for taking the census have arrived and are now at the office of County Superintendent F. D. Pierce, who wants officials of every school in the county to call at his office to receive their supplies.

As soon as all schools have received their supplies and instructions a complete list of enumerators will be announced so that citizens of the county may be able to cooperate with them in the census taking, Mr. Pierce said.

Adds Romance to Literary Career

Her mother waited 60 years for recognition as an author, Etta Stephens Prichard's childhood dream coming true at 67 with publication of her first book, but Margaret Prichard, above, New York short story writer, refused to wait for recognition—or romance. Well on her literary way, she'll combine a matrimonial career with work, her wedding to be a summer event in Chicago, the bridegroom, with whom she grew up in Princeton, Ill., to be James A. Carlson, now of Chicago.

2,563 MAKE PAYMENT OF 1934 POLL TAXES

Brown county poll tax payments for 1934 totalled 2,563, it was announced this week by Tax Assessor-Collector Winston Palmer. The number is 2,563 less than paid last year, when 5,322 poll taxes were collected. However, the number is slightly in excess of payments two years ago, when 2,354 poll tax payments were made. The figure approximates the average off-year payments for the county.

During the month of January, a total of $95,687.92 in state, county and common school district taxes was collected by the office. State taxes totalled $28,715.81 and county school taxes amounted to $66,971.11. The total is slightly larger than that shown for the same period of 1934.

Attention was again called this week by Mr. Palmer to the fact that only 30 days remain in which to pay all delinquent taxes without penalty and interest. Brown county tax payers are urged to make payments of delinquent taxes during the next 30 days in order to avoid penalty and interest payments, which increase with each month's delay.

Under the new law, 1935 automobile license tags may be used on automobiles immediately after payment of the license fee. This law was passed last week by the Texas legislature. Previously it had been a violation of the law to use these tags until after April 1, and many had delayed paying the license fee until nearer that date.

Breeder Purchases High Bred Jerseys

Sale of a registered Jersey heifer and bull by Shelton Brothers dairy to O. F. Jones, breeder of Oglesby, Texas, was announced this week through the Brownwood chamber of commerce, which arranged the sale. Purchase was made by Mr. Jones after four months consideration of Jersey herds throughout the Southwest.

Shelton Brothers also delivered this week a prize registered Jersey bull to the State Hospital at Terrell, to augment their dairy herd.

ANNUAL MEETING OF C OF C TO BE HELD ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Everything was in readiness Thursday for the annual membership banquet of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, to be held at Hotel Brownwood Thursday night.

The meeting, this year is in the nature of a new departure in annual banquets, in that there are no "principal speakers", no musical numbers and no visitors. In fact, no set program has been arranged for the meeting, which is to be a business session.

During the past few months, directors of the organization have been working on plans for a trade extension program for Brownwood merchants. Volumes of statistics have been reviewed and discussed, and letters have been written and received from a number of cities that have conducted trade extension programs with more or less success during the past few years.

From this material, a plan of action has been devised. This will be presented, the membership Thursday night, and from the meeting should evolve a definite plan of action for local merchants during the coming year.

At the meeting, seven new directors, chosen in mail balloting that has been in progress during the past week, will be presented. They are: Gus J. Rosenberg, D. T. Strickland, D. C. Pratt, Brooke Ramey, Rufus Stanley, D. Coalson and Leo Ehlinger. These directors succeed B. P. Bludworth, Dr. Ben Shelton, F. S. Greenwood, Ben A. Fain, F. S. Abney and J. H. McKee, present directors, whose terms expire and who hence are ineligible under the by-laws of the chamber of commerce to succeed themselves. Holdover directors who will serve another year are: H. M. Jones, Walter Emison, Henry Wilson, Joe Weatherby, Henry Gibbs, Joe Shelton, J. Turner Garner and Wendell Mayard.

The new board will meet next Wednesday, organize, and begin work on the new program.

REDUCED INSURANCE RATES IN PROSPECT

Brownwood will receive 3 per cent credit on fire insurance March 1 because of the decreased fire losses. The credit appeared in a list of ratings announced by the Fire Insurance Department of Austin yesterday. Credits and penalties are based on fire records of cities for the past three years. This year the city had neither credit nor penalty.

The 3 per cent credit means that fire insurance policies on and after March 1 will be figured at the regular rate and then 3 per cent of the premium will be deducted. This will mean a saving of several thousand dollars to property owners of the city.

Unofficial figures give $19,244 as the fire loss in Brownwood for 1934.

Veterinarian Says Vaccination Will Stop Cattle Fever

A veterinarian from the State Livestock Sanitary Commission was in the Bangs section Tuesday inspecting cattle infected with Hemorrhagic Septicemia or stockyard fever and making plans for the eradication of the disease in this county. He said that vaccination would stop the disease even though it is highly contagious.

County Agent C. W. Lehmborg acting on authority for the commissioners' court was instrumental in bringing the veterinarian to this county.

Revival Dates Are Changed By Church

Dates of the revival at Central Methodist Church which had been set for March 10 to 24 have been changed to March 17 to 31, according to the pastor, Rev. H. S. Goodenough. Rev. Goodenough and Presiding Elder J. T. McClure will conduct the services the first week. Bishop H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth will be the evangelist for the second week of the revival.

Rev. D. B. Edmaist, pastor of Bangs Methodist Church, will direct young people's work during the revival and will be song leader.

All Methodists of the city are urged to attend the services, particularly those during the Bishop's visit to the city.

CENSUS OF CHURCH MEMBERS PLANNED

Final plans for a church census for Brownwood will be worked out at a meeting of workers at the First Methodist church Friday night, it was announced this week. The census is being undertaken under the direction of the Brownwood Ministerial Alliance, with Dr. Karl Moore, pastor of the First Baptist church, in charge.

Twelve workers from each church in the city will visit each home in Brownwood, securing data regarding church affiliations.

MARCH 29-30 SET AS TENTATIVE DATE OF JUDGES CONVENTION

The West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association probably will hold their spring convention in Brownwood March 29 and 30, although definite dates have not been fixed by the association. Judge Clyde E. Garrett of Eastland, county judge of Eastland county and president of the association, will be in Brownwood the latter part of this week, he said in a recent letter to County Judge A. E. Nabors, to fix the tentative dates. Here, he will confer with Judge Nabors and Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood chamber of commerce, regarding the most suitable dates for the meeting.

While Judge Garrett did not set out preferred dates, he stated the association would arrange dates suitable to local authorities, probably the latter part of next month. Earlier dates would be in conflict with other meetings to be held here, Mr. Harrison stated this week, making March 29 and 30 most suitable here.

The convention will be one of the most important held in Brownwood during the year. Approximately 500 people, mostly county judges and commissioners from 147 West Texas counties, are expected to be in attendance. In addition, the convention attracts a large number of state officials, who will be here for the two days.

The business program will be arranged by Judge Garrett and association officials, in cooperation with the state officials of the county judges and commissioners association. Entertainment features will be left to Brownwood people, and will be worked out under the direction of Judge Nabors and chamber of commerce officials.

The convention meets twice annually, the last convention being held in Plainview. Approximately 400 attended the Plainview convention, where it was decided to come to Brownwood for the spring meeting.

Safeway Stores, extensive operators of chain grocery stores, will establish a Brownwood store in the near future, according to persistent but unverified rumors this week. It is expected that one unit will be opened on Center Avenue within the next few weeks.

The Safeway Stores operate throughout the West Coast states and in the Mid-West section, and form one of the largest chains in the grocery retailing business.

There is more than $4,600,000,000 worth of tax-exempt property in New York City alone. The city owns $3,400,000,000 worth of this, while the remainder is privately owned.

SOUTH IS QUOTED ON TOWNSEND PLAN

Congressman Charles L. South of this district, is quoted on his stand on the Townsend Old Age-Pension plan in the February 12 issue of the Washington Herald, leading Washington newspaper.

The Herald prints a picture of Judge South at his desk. His opinion, quoted along with several others, is:

"I do not believe the Townsend Plan is at all reasonable and do not believe it stands any chance in the world to pass. The money required to pay this enormous amount for one year would equal the total income of this government for at least six years."

Opposition To Race Track Gambling Is Urged Upon Davis

Telegrams were sent by a number of opponents of legalized betting on horse races in Texas to Senator E. M. Davis Wednesday urging his support and vote to repeal the law which allows betting.

Petitions requesting his support for the repeal of the gambling law were sent to Senator Davis earlier in the week.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR DR. FLOYD

The Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion, held memorial services Monday night for Rev. I. K. Floyd, who was chaplain of the local post before his recent death.

Miss J. Rosenberg and Rev. Carl Moore were speakers on the program. Joe Blagg, Jr., sounded taps. The following resolution in memory of Dr. Floyd was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Supreme Commander of the Universe has seen fit to remove from our ranks our beloved Buddy, Rev. I. K. Floyd and

WHEREAS, our esteemed Comrade gave of his time and talents wise counsel and sound judgment in the affairs of the local Post and the State Department of the American Legion, having served as Post and Department Chaplain, and whose friendly association assisted materially in bringing about the proper spirit of cooperation.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that we deplore the loss of our distinguished Comrade and extend to the bereaved family our deepest sympathy, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, copy thereof be sent to Mrs. Floyd and a copy thereof be furnished to the Department Headquarters of the American Legion.

Brownwood delegates to the 21st district convention to be held at Kerrville February 16 and 17 were named as follows:

Commander Joe Blagg, Adjutant Fred R. Donohoo, Gus J. Rosenberg, John A. Collins, Walter D. Wells, and Dr. O. N. Mayo, Alternates named were: B. C. McLean, Dan Rimmell, Jim Gilbert, S. H. Wain, M. C. Townsend and Waldo Carson. The 21st district is one of the largest in the state. O. H. Turner of Brownwood is district committee man and Fred R. Donohoo of Brownwood is district adjutant.

Dr. Karl Moore, pastor of First Baptist Church, was elected post chaplain. He formerly was chaplain of Arthur O. McNitzzy Post No. 71 at Denton.

A Nieman, Pecos county, planted 45 acres of cotton which a July hail storm demolished. He plowed under the cotton plants and late in July planted beargrass which produced an average of five tons per acre at a cost of $11 per acre. Mr. Nieman sold his crop at the rate of $17 per ton, netting a nice profit.

Robert Breen Is The Young Hamlet Of Oxford Players

Dominant factors in the success of the Oxford Players, coming to the Howard Payne auditorium on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 7th and 8th, are youth, beauty, and charm.

According to advance reports, this organization vests the important work of Shakespeare and other dramatists, with a fresh vitality and power heretofore absent in similar dramas.

All who are familiar with their Shakespeare know Hamlet to be a young man. Why not, then, have a young man to play the role? A new Hamlet rose to answer that question in the person of Robert Breen. In his twenties, he has given the lie to the old legend that "by the time an actor really learns how to play Hamlet, he is too old for the part." Mr. Breen has achieved such distinction in the role that, while the Oxford Players carry no stars as such, he is referred to by many as the most promising young actor in America. Commenting in the St. Paul Dispatch, James Gray, critic said Breen's Hamlet "moved me more than any other in the course of a reasonably long and very conscientious career of Hamlet 'attendance.'" Dr. James J. Campbell, of King's College, London, England, said, "no production or interpretation of Hamlet pleased me or thrilled me so much as this."

During the engagement here, Mr. Breen will be seen on Thursday night as a young Romeo playing opposite the beautiful and charming Wilva Davis as Juliet, which is something rare in the theatre. On Friday night in Hamlet, he will reveal a newly conceived and remarkable portrait of the Prince of Denmark.

Additional Relief Funds Depend On Congress' Action

Unless additional appropriations for relief are made by Congress the $3,256 allotted to Brown county for direct relief, work relief and administrative costs in the first half of February, may be all that will be received here, according to C. E. Boyett, County Administrator.

The present work relief program in the county was scheduled to end February 7, but work cards were issued Thursday to carry on the program without a break through February 21. The new program will begin February 8.

Mexico's 'Red Shirts' Line Up to War on Church

Enrolled to war on religion, capital, smoking, drinking, and all social evils, Mexico's "red shirts," the Revolutionary Youth Corps, is shown here in its impressive first official review in Mexico City. Claiming to be the "molders of the future of Mexico," the red shirts have taken a militant attitude against Roman Catholicism and have clashed in bloody conflicts with church groups. Reverberations reached the United States Senate with Senator William E. Borah's proposal for an investigation of the persecution of all faiths in Mexico.

$200,000 Finale In "Kid Millions"

As a magnificent gesture of confidence in the American public's appreciation of novelty in screen entertainment, Samuel Goldwyn expended $210,000 on the production of a unique Technicolor fantasy ending for "Kid Millions," his new Eddie Cantor picture showing Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Lyric Theatre. Yet this sequence provides less than 600 feet, or slightly more than half of one reel, of the picture!

Nothing quite like this sequence has been filmed before. It may best be described as "Silly Symphony," done with human beings and with exaggerated settings and properties instead of animated cartoons.

Among the amazing settings are a fantastic ice cream factory, three huge "contented cows" which moo and nod and swish their tails while lovely Goldwyn Girls as milk maids sing and dance for them; a gigantic ice cream freezer on the top of which an ice skating ballet of thirty beautiful girls is staged; a free ice cream counter where 600 youngsters are served ice cream to the rhythm of a new Kahn and Donaldson song hit, and a row of truly colossal ice cream sodas, each of which is thirty feet high. The technical ingenuity which made these settings possible is a splendid tribute to the imaginative genius of studio artisans.

CORN YIELDS HAVE INCREASED FOLLOWING DROUGHT YEARS

A STUDY of the past reveals that corn yields have a pronounced tendency to return to normal or better following seasons of abnormally dry weather. As indicated by the shaded columns in the above graph, the production per acre after the three severe drought years of 1924, 1931, and 1932 rose from a low average of about 19.6 bushels to approximately the normal United States annual average of about 26 bushels per acre. The yield of both barley and oats also was higher in two out of the three seasons following years of unusual drought. The reasonable expectation in 1935, therefore, is normal or near normal corn yields. This fact has an important bearing on corn planting intentions for the coming spring. Material adjustments in cattle and hog numbers between a year ago have lowered corn requirements to such an extent that even the average acreage of recent years would produce, at normal yields, a burdensome surplus of corn.

Under the 1935 production adjustment contract, being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, corn-hog farmers will have an opportunity to control corn acreage in keeping with these reduced requirements and the expectation of a normal yield per acre.

HOG NUMBERS FOLLOW CHANGES IN CORN PRODUCTION

HOG numbers in the United States follow closely the changes in corn production. Since 1920-21, as indicated by the bottom line in the graph above, there have been three peaks of heavy hog slaughter—the marketing years of 1923-24, 1928-29, and 1933-34. The increases in hog slaughter during these years can be traced to the big corn crops during the periods beginning in 1920, in 1928, and again in 1932, as shown by the top line above. Over a period of years, a change of one per cent in corn production has been followed by a corresponding change of about one per cent in the number of hogs slaughtered under Federal inspection. Moreover, changes in corn production are closely associated with changes in the weight per hog marketed through the following year. Because of this fundamental relationship, effective control of corn acreage is a vital factor in controlling hog production. The 1935 corn-hog contract now being offered farmers provides control of corn acreage and, therefore, will be doubly effective in preventing excessive hog production during the next year or so. Lack of adequate acreage control in 1935 not only would result in a large surplus of corn and low feed prices, but undoubtedly would be followed in 1936 and 1937 by heavy hog feeding and relatively low hog prices.

How 'To Keep Colds UNDER BETTER CONTROL

When Colds THREATEN

At the first sneeze or nasal irritation, quick! a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol. Its timely use helps to prevent many colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

If a Cold STRIKES

At bedtime, massage throat and chest with Vicks Vaporub, the mother's standby in treating colds. All night long, by stimulation and inhalation, VapoRub brings direct relief.

To Build Resistance to Colds: Follow the rules of health that are part of the clinically tested Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. (The Plan is fully explained in each Vicks package.)

VICKS PLAN FOR BETTER CONTROL OF COLDS

SECOND GOOD WILL TRIP IS PLANNED

Plans are being made this week for a second good will trip to a nearby community following the successful program at May last Thursday night. The May trip was sponsored by the Brownwood Lions club, who were joined by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce and members of other civic clubs.

The May home demonstration club served supper in the basement of May Methodist Church, and several girls from May High school entertained with songs. Dr. W. R. Hornburg, pastor of Cozgin Avenue Baptist church of Brownwood was the principal speaker. Short talks were made by both Brownwood and May citizens during the evening.

Will Talbot of Brownwood presided as toastmaster. Preliminary arrangements were in charge of D. C. Pratt. The program opened with each Brownwood man introducing himself and his guest. Invocation was by Rev. W. T. Veatch, pastor of the May Methodist Church. Miss Annie Mae Lappe, president of the home demonstration club, gave the welcome address. Response was by Walter U. Early.

Entertainment numbers by the May girls were: Quartet, Misses Willie L. Keeler, Ellie Turpin, Christine Parson and Ida Bell Morrison; trio, Iris Shultz, Willie L. Keeler, and Emma Jean Bailey; duet, Ida Bell Morrison and Christine Parson.

May citizens who spoke included E. A. Robason, B. H. Bettis, W. W. Harlowe, Horace White and Weldon Chambers. Chester Harrison, Brownwood Chamber of Commerce secretary, told of efforts to secure establishment of an agricultural experiment station in the cross timbers, sandy land belt in Brown, Callahan, Eastland, Comanche or Erath counties. May is located in the sandy land section of Brown county. The group passed a resolution to be sent to the Legislature endorsing and recommending establishment of the station.

Members of the May home demonstration club who with Miss Annie Mae Lappe, president, prepared and served the supper were: Mesdames A. N. Lancaster, Mack Holt, Doc Dewbre, B. H. Jingle Bells, Jingle Bells, Jingle Cares Away

The swish of cutter runners and the jingle of sleigh bells brought back boyhood thrills to President Roosevelt as he stepped the lines over the back of his chestnut mare and sped in his red and black sleigh over the roads he traversed 50-60 years ago, while spending a quiet week-end at his estate in Hyde Park, N. Y. Enjoying the ride in the crisp February air were the president's two new grandsons and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt.

COUNTY ADMINISTRATOR SHOWS EXPENDITURE OF $85,000 FOR RELIEF PROJECTS SINCE APRIL

EXPENDITURES OF $85,862.98 in Brown county on direct relief and work relief since April 1, 1934, is shown in a report of the nine months activity of the Brown County Relief Board. The report was filed with the board this week by County Administrator C. E. Boyett.

A report on activities prior to April 1, 1934, has heretofore been made and approved.

The report shows in detail the scope of the work and how it is conducted. Following is a summary of the report:

Audit of Period.
Under the present system inaugurated by the Texas Relief Commission effective April 1, 1934, audit is made of each county's records the close of each month's business by the Texas Relief Commission staff.

All disbursements from county funds are made by check, and each check is supported by either disbursing or payroll. The relief client acknowledges receipt of disbursing orders by signing the disbursing order after receipt of the commodity listed thereon, and acknowledges receipt of payroll check by his endorsement thereon.

If and when errors appear on any document or in any account, such errors or accounts are placed in a suspense account until errors are corrected.

The County Administrator may issue checks only for labor performed and for the redemption of disbursing orders. For example, checks for all direct relief, work relief, teams and trucks, administration staff employees and non-relief personnel are issued in the county administration offices. All other payments—lights, water, gas, purchase of all materials, supplies and equipment, etc., are made from Austin.

Requisitions for all purchases must be made to Austin and approved by the state office before purchase is made.

All relief grants are made by the Welfare Department and paid by the Accounting Department. No one person has authority to make relief grants and pay for these grants.

Both the Administrator and the Certifying Officer are required to approve all expenditures. Bank statements and all cancelled checks are submitted to the Austin office monthly for audit and reconciliation.

Scope of Work Relief.
All cases of relief coming to this organization for assistance have been properly investigated, first by a trained worker, who ascertains whether the applicant is eligible to receive relief under State and Federal Rules, and application is taken during this interview. When need and eligibility are shown by interview, a home visit is made, and the applicant is either accepted or rejected, depending upon the result of the investigation. When the client is accepted for relief, a budget is set, and the case worker then grants needs, or whatever promotion of the client's needs as our funds will allow. Each case on our rolls is visited once or more each month in the home by the

The Bangs Home Demonstration Club will serve a supper Monday night, March 4th, at Bangs, for Isham A. Smith Post, American Legion, it was announced this week by Joe Bliagg, commander of the post.

Several members of the local post live at Bangs, and they will assist the demonstration club as hosts to the post.

Dr. Karl Moore, pastor of the First Baptist church of Brownwood and chaplain of the local post, will make the principal address at the meeting, which will take the place of the regular meeting of the post.

All ex-service men who live at Bangs, and who are not members of the Legion will be guests of the post at the supper, Mr. Bliagg announced.

The 10,000 acres was blocked by W. D. Gully of Brownwood, who has been working on the project for some time.

Falling to find oil in paying quantities at the Ordovician formation, the well will be drilled to the Cambrian formation, it was stated. Only three wells have been drilled to this formation in Texas, according to information received here.

Gilliam Trial Is Continued By Court
Continuance of the trial of E. B. Gilliam, Sr., charged with embezzlement from the Daniel Baker College campaign fund, was granted on defense motion when the case was called Thursday morning in district court.

Mr. Gilliam has been tried on the charge in two previous sessions of court, the first trial resulting in conviction, which was reversed by the higher courts, the second resulting in a mistrial when the jury was unable to reach a verdict.

COUNTY TO ASSIST IN LIVESTOCK WORK
County Judge A. E. Nabors was authorized to purchase equipment necessary to carry on the eradication of diseases among livestock in Brown county at the regular meeting of the Commissioners Court Monday. The equipment is that recommended by the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission for work to be done here next month.

Winston Palmer was advanced the sum of $108.24 to enable him to pay enumerators for assessing taxes for the current year. Frank Smith was paid $30 as bounty on two wolves caught in December.

Two road petitions were read before the court. One was to straighten the Grosvener road over a short distance and the other was for the Cross Cut-Lake Brownwood park road.

SECOND GOOD-WILL TRIP MADE TUESDAY NIGHT TO ZEPHYR

Between ninety and a hundred men and women of Brownwood and Zephyr met for a program and supper held at the Zephyr school Tuesday night in the second of the series of good will trips to nearby communities sponsored by the Brownwood Lions club.

Each of the Brownwood visitors had a supper guest from Zephyr. The supper was served by the Zephyr Home Demonstration Club.

Glidden Wilson was toastmaster and had each one present to introduce himself or herself. Leslie Griffin, superintendent of the Zephyr schools, welcomed the Brownwood guests, and the response was by J. A. Wise of Brownwood.

A program by Zephyr musicians included songs by a quartet composed by R. C. R. L. and Lee Van Zandt and Miss May Van Zandt; vocal solos by Miss Mary June Allcorn, and piano solos by Mrs. Dorothy O'Brien, who also played Miss Allcorn's accompaniments.

Dr. G. C. Schurman of Brownwood was principal speaker, delivering an address set forth forcefully the need of friendship, fellowship and understanding.

The ladies of the demonstration club were thanked for the excellent dinner. Responses were made by Miss Esther Underwood, president of the demonstration club, and Miss Mayesie Malone, county demonstrator.

Application has been made for the extension of the CCC camp period at Lake Brownwood State Park for another six months. As we view the matter, it is of vital importance that favorable action should be taken at Washington on the application. Otherwise, Camp Chester Harrison would be abandoned, and the good work which has been started would stop before it had been completed.

Retaining The Camp

The CCC boys are doing a good work at the park. To be sure, they had a rather ambitious program outlined for them, and it is certain now that it will not be completed by the end of the first six months. This is not due, however, to any inefficiency on the part of officers in charge or the boys themselves.

The camp came to Brownwood a few weeks late. Hardly had they started in their new work when some 60 enrollees, representing at the time more than one-third of the strength of the camp, were discharged because their periods of enrollment had expired. Nearly 100 new enrollees were sent in, and their period of conditioning took up a week or more of time before they got down to constructive work.

In spite of this, the camp has wrought a wonderful development of the state park. The natural beauty of the park in its wild state has been enhanced by expert work; the park has been made accessible, and the lake a convenient adjunct instead of being merely an attractive background. The camp houses under construction will be of lasting value both to Brownwood people and visitors.

The economic value of the 250-man camp to Brownwood, through the addition to the city's business activities has been of consequence, and should be extended.

But more important is the work the boys are doing. Hardly able to get their program under way, it would be a waste of government money and the neglect of a golden opportunity to allow the camp to be moved at this time. We believe that government officials who must make the decision will view the matter in the same light. It is to be hoped that they do.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the Administration desires the continuation of the NRA for another two-year period has been met with varied comment throughout the country. No one doubts seriously that this recommendation would be made; but business generally dreaded it.

Continuing The NRA

No doubt it will be continued, but it is not to be extended without serious protest from many sources.

There is much good in the NRA. In theory it is what was needed, and in fact it did serve to speed up business for several months. But, taken as a whole, business regards the NRA as an unnecessary burden which has not paid its way in bettered business conditions. It has increased the problems of small business; it has not relieved big business of its problems.

In a recent newspaper article, Richard Washburn Child, former Ambassador to Italy and noted author, pointed out that there are only two sources of jobs and payrolls: One source is the government; the other is private industry.

Where Jobs Come From

Jobs can be provided by the government in but two ways. Either all businesses must be nationalized and operated by a bureaucracy, or government must continually borrow more money, raising taxes all the while, in order to put idle men to work.

Under the first, the government will inevitably become communistic in principle. The worker is the tool of the state—he lives solely to advance the interest of the political ruling class. He is regarded as a machine, to be worked as cheaply as possible until he wears out—then thrown into the human scrap heap.

Under the second, all may be well for a while, until the government's source of credit dries up. It becomes impossible to raise more money through taxes when businesses and individuals already have been bled white. Obligations cannot be met, and government goes into bankruptcy.

One of these plans must inevitably be followed if we depend upon government to permanently provide us with work and livelihood. But Mr. Child does not believe that the American people will pursue this Utopian Wilful of the Wisp.

His conclusion is that "the steady job will come from American enterprise, improved, with a new breath of life. Nowhere else!"

The most pitiful story that has come to our attention in many years concerns Frank Grege, who found $42,000 in securities, and returned them to their owners. He had been a sandwich man, drawing $6 a week, prior to the discovery. But he was a happy man, his wants were few, his complaints about life unimportant to him.

Too Much Money

So highly does the American public appreciate honesty that his action shot him into the national picture. He received $5 for a five minute radio interview; a $75 cash reward, a $20 monthly endowment for six months and a good job as a messenger for the grateful company that owned the securities.

It was too much. His mind snapped. He became violent, and now is being held in a straight jacket. Probably he will spend the rest of his days in a psychopathic ward. A simple, happy man transformed by chance into a raving maniac.

Maybe, after all, the unimportant lot of the most of us is for our own good.

"In my play, 'The Perfect Fool,' a few years ago, I performed what the public calls a mind-reading stunt.

"Before I began my act, I always made sure to tell the audience that I did not believe in mind reading, that my act was the result of four years' study and mental training. I had to memorize, to develop a code with my assistant, of 2,100 words, and to know the names of all famous generals, the capitals of all countries, the names of steamships, etc.

"One evening after I, blindfolded, had been reading the numbers on bills for people, I heard in the creaky tones of an old gentleman's voice, some one challenging me defiantly.

"You can't tell me what I have in my pocket."

"An elderly gentleman in the audience says I cannot tell what he has in his pocket," I repeated.

"How do you know I am an elderly?" he retorted.

"You, sir, I began in a portentous voice, have in your pocket a passport to Europe. Your name is W. L. Cowen; you are sailing late tonight on the steamship—"

"In the meantime," I was receiving by code, from my assistant in the aisle, the word Skythia. I knew that there had been some error, that there was no steamship by that name. As I groped for the right word, there flashed through my mind the headlines of the morning papers: 'Steamship Seythia making maiden voyage today.'

"I finished the sentence, 'You are sailing on the steamship Seythia.' 'Because I was annoyed by the man's antagonism to my work I added:

"Moreover, you are going to have a bad voyage and you will never make another trip to Europe."

"Four weeks later I received a letter from England. I read:

"We, the undersigned, take the privilege of writing to you. We believe this to be a matter of world importance.

"We were in the audience the night you told a man that his name was W. L. Cowen and that he was sailing for Europe on the steamship Seythia. We, too, were sailing on the Seythia; we were being sent to England to do psychic research for the University of Pennsylvania.

"After your performance, we went to see if there was a Mr. Cowen on the boat's passenger list. We found there was not, but the next morning we saw his name on the additional list. That evening, we wanted to speak with him to discuss your reading, but he was sitting at the captain's table, and we decided to wait for a more opportune time. The following morning he was dead in his cabin.

NRA AND LABOR

(San Antonio Light)

One thing stands out in General Hugh Johnson's revealing story of the confusion, squabbles and failures of the NRA, now appearing in the Saturday Evening Post.

His attitude toward organized labor was frank, friendly, without cringing, and quite in the best American tradition. His main concern was the general well-being of industry, including every interest it embraced.

He was willing to recognize every legitimate claim of labor, but not to assign it a position of special favor nor to encourage it in the feeling that its whim as well as its word, was law under all conditions that might arise.

Naturally he suffered much from intrusion into NRA's problems of the labor department's partisan voicing of labor's exclusive demands.

General Johnson makes the very sound point that the labor department is by its very nature a "pressure bureau," charged by statute with the special advocacy of labor.

He regards that fact alone as precluding the central attempt by the present secretary of labor of other governmental instrumentalities such as the NRA, or the labor tribunals.

It is natural, however, that labor should have chafed at the restrained and judicial friendliness of General Johnson and prefer the interfering endeavors of the labor department, although short-sighted and contributing nothing to the advancement of labor's true interests.

This took the form of criticism by labor spokesmen of General Johnson, most of it undeserved and this criticism undoubtedly contributed to his retirement from public service.

When General Johnson resisted the utterly unreasonable demand of labor, he was allowed to withdraw as head of the NRA.

The same fate has recently threatened Donald Richberg.

When he did the same thing, he too was asked to withdraw, and well-known labor representative branded him as "a traitor to labor."

It seems that the NIRA is in many respects merely a labor organization, and not a very effective one as it has not reduced unemployment.

It merely makes difficulties between employers and employees

ON TEXAS FARMS

Olton—From a car-load of 15 calves fed in a dry lot and one individual calf fed on a nurse cow, Merrill Briggance, Lamb county 4-H club boy, made a profit of $370.20 last year, according to the report of D. A. Adam, county agricultural agent. The nurse-fed calf won two first places and grand championship in stock shows in the county and sold for 9 3/4 cents a pound. The car-load of calves won second place in the 4-H club division of a stock show at Fort Worth and third place in the open class, which brought $75 in prize money. The car-load of calves had an initial weight of 5985 pounds, with a gain of 9495 pounds reported during the feeding period. The purchase price was $509.65 and the feeding cost was $509.40. The calves were sold for $1,212.25, and only the $75 prize money this year at a profit of $370.20.

Fort Stockton—An average of five tons of beargrass per acre was harvested in 1934 by A. Niermann of Beem county from 45 acres planted to beargrass in July on land where cotton had been plowed under following a hail storm which destroyed the crop, according to L. E. Talley, county agricultural agent. The cost of production was $11 per acre and the price received per ton was $17, which left Mr. Niermann a net profit of $74 per acre. For the entire 45 acres of his profit amounted to $3,330.

Fort Worth—From a one-acre demonstration plot planted to cantaloupes, G. B. Howard, Tarrant county 4-H club boy, made a net profit of $70.55 in 1934, according to M. C. Counts, county agricultural agent. Young Howard broke his land deep in February and hand-disked and bedded it in five foot rows.

In March he applied three loads of barnyard fertilizer in the furrows in addition to commercial fertilizer and then covered with a turning plow. Later he ran over the beds with a small disk which left the ground nearly level. He planted his hills about three feet apart so that the young melons would be shaded by the vines and so that the moisture would not evaporate from the soil. Hoeing and plowing to keep down the weeds was the only cultivation given. His expenses were small because he did the work himself. He began to harvest his crop on June 15. His were the first cantaloupes in the county to ripen due to his use of fertilizer.

Canyon—From a garden 90 to 100 feet, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, farm food supply demonstrator for West Side Home Demonstration Club in Randall county, produced more than enough vegetables and fruits to fill a food budget for her family of two in 1934 according to Miss Sadie Kate Bass, home demonstration agent. In a new concrete lined cellar, costing $15 and containing 125 feet of shelves, a gas light and a water faucet, she has stored 856 containers valued at $184.65. In addition to 150 quarts of canned meats, she has 200

C. Y. Early, vice-president and general manager of Walker-Smith Company, was re-elected president of the Texas Wholesale Grocers' Association at their annual convention held in Austin last week. Mr. Early has served as president of the association for several years. Other officers of the association also were re-elected and James Weardon of Victoria was added to the executive committee.

Powers of the NRA grocery code were studied by the grocers today as they sought greater cooperation among themselves to eliminate chiselers.

The body was sent to Ft. Worth Tuesday and later was taken to Sherman where funeral services were held. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Abney, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Abney and Mrs. Addie Moore attended the funeral.

Ten Deer Added To Breeding Stock At Cox-McInnis Ranch

Ten head of deer, eight doe and two bucks, have been added to the breeding stock on the Cox & McInnis ranch near Lake Brownwood through the efforts of John Yantis. The deer were received from the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. They were released on the ranch last week.

Last February six head, two bucks and four doe, were obtained and let loose on the Cox and McInnis ranch. Reports from the ranch are that all six are alive and in good condition, but no fawns have been sighted.

Brown county has a closed season of five years on deer, and it is hoped that the present stock will multiply sufficiently to allow hunting by the end of that period. If the increase is not enough to justify an open season petitions requesting the continuation of the closed season will be sent the commission at that time.

Mr. Yantis has been very anxious to get this county again stocked with all kind of game. Through his efforts the deer were secured and he hopes to increase the number of quail and other game in the county.

Municipal Plant In Stephenville Loses In Voting

The proposal for the construction and operation of a municipal electric plant, which was to call for an investment of approximately $190,000 was rejected by the citizens of Stephenville in a special election held Tuesday. The vote for the proposition was 229 and against it 462.

Mayor Henry Clark was the principal sponsor for the municipal plant idea. It was a major issue in the election of last year when he was returned to the mayor's office. The special election climaxed a spirited campaign during which more interest was manifested than in any recent political issue in Stephenville.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

Spring means suits! And this year the costume suit is fashion's darling. The one shown has a very simple dress with shoulders set in like those on the jacket, and a row of buttons down the front. We would suggest silk or light-weight wool, with a grosgrain bow under the chin, and matching jacket. Make the ensemble later on in linen or gingham and you will find it smart for almost any hour of the summer day. The dress, of course, can be worn without the jacket, and the jacket, if you plan on a fairly neutral color, is perfect to slip over other dresses for town wear. This particular style is especially becoming and slenderizing for the woman who is a bit plump. You can purchase this Butterick Pattern at your local department store.

ICE MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS LAUNCH PROGRAMS ON RADIO

Announcement was made of the beginning of a fifteen minute radio program over the Texas Quality Group to be started on Thursday, March 7, at the opening of the morning program of the meeting of ice manufacturers of this district which was held in Brownwood Thursday.

The program will go on the air over the four stations of the quality group at 6 p. m. every Thursday and will be known as the "Ice Carnival." It is sponsored by the Southwestern Ice Manufacturers Association.

Ice dealers, manufacturers and salesmen attended the meeting which was held to discuss the future of the ice business and plans for expanding the industry. The morning program included discussions of marketing problems as well as proposed legislation, both in Texas legislature and in the national congress. The afternoon meeting was devoted to round table discussions of the ice manufacturers' problems.

J. G. Gorman, leader of the Central Texas group, was in charge of the meeting, which was held at Hotel Brownwood. O. T. Clark, Fort Worth, chairman of the publicity committee for the association, and Sidney Krings, Dallas, executive secretary of the association, spoke at the morning session, which was followed by a luncheon served at 12:30.

Those present included O. T. Clark, Fort Worth; A. G. Robinson, Gorman; B. H. Smith, Gorman; G. E. Hammet, De Leon; Sam Dickens, Lampasas; F. B. Hall, Jr., San Saba; Carl Davenport, Brady; A. J. Only the choicest wheat grains go into CAKE FLOUR... then by a special process of washing and bleaching it gives it that white look and wholesome smell.

It won't take you long to agree with us once you try just one sack of this wonderful "all-purpose" flour. Just in case you don't believe there's a difference in the taste of your baking products, just tell your grocer you want CAKE FLOUR. That'll convince you.

Try a sack today, and if you're not thoroughly satisfied with this quality flour then it'll be just a small bit of trouble to call your grocer for a pick-up and a refund. And better still, we'll consider it a favor if you'll call our attention to it.

GIVES CARS NEW LIFE

Is your car losing its original pep? Disappointing on pick up? Over-heating on long runs? Then, a pleasant revelation is in store, the first time you use PYROIL.

PYROIL does immediate wonders for any car—new or old. Simply added in small quantity to regular gasoline and oil supply, PYROIL establishes a heat, wear, dilution-proof surface of self-lubrication on every moving metal part. Actually, builds lubrication into the metal. PYROIL withstands the withering heat of the motor head where ordinary oil burns into carbon. Hence, it supplies constant lubrication to valves, stems, guides, pistons, cylinder walls, that no motor heat can affect; that can't wear off as long as sustained; that can't wash off. Frees sticky valves at once. Seals rings. Aids compression. Banishes hard carbon. Makes your motor better every mile you ride. Drive into your filling station or garage and ask more about PYROIL. The greatest lubricating process ever developed. Ask for a free copy of the amazing "Story of Pyroil."

ATTORNEYS HONOR
MEMORY OF NOTED
MEMBER OF BAR

The Brownwood Bar Association honored the late Judge C. H. Jenkins at a memorial service held on the fourth anniversary of his death, February 23. Short talks were made by a number of those who were associated with Judge Jenkins during his life time. Resolutions were adopted embodying the sentiments of the association. The resolutions were read by C. L. McCartney. Following the reading he told of his early association with Judge Jenkins. He told of his coming to Brownwood and of his first meeting with the Judge. He said he was the only one who encouraged him, then a young man, to attempt to establish himself in Brownwood.

Statements and resolutions, signed by Judge McCartney, Walter U. Early and R. L. McLaugh, as committee, were adopted as follows: "Judge Jenkins was born May 17, 1852, and died February 23, 1931. He cast his fortunes with this community in the year 1878, in which year he became a member of the Brownwood bar and remained a member until the time of his death. He served as a member of the Court of Civil Appeals for the Third Supreme Judicial District from the year 1910, until his voluntary retirement from that court in the year 1923.

"Looking in retrospect and with these fundamental references in mind, it is the prerogative of your committee to offer the foregoing as an expression of the unprejudiced sentiments held toward Judge Jenkins, who, while in the meridian of his powers, was not only distinguished as a lawyer, judge, citizen and friend, but who in his declining years exemplified a high and noble philosophy of life.

Resolutions. "Therefore, be it resolved: That the members of the Brownwood Bar who survive the Honorable Charles H. Jenkins, in a meeting called for the purpose of honoring his memory on this anniversary of his death, esteem it a cherished privilege to lay aside their daily routine of affairs, take occasion to pay admiring tribute to our departed brother and to do honor to his memory;

"That the above declarations of esteem and regard meet our hearty and approving response;

"That his call to heed the last summons meant a loss to his community in being deprived of the richness of a life of unselfish service that has been rarely equaled, and the vacancy in the community left by his death has not yet been filled;

"That in being deprived of a member so conspicuous, this bar has lost an asset not easy to be replaced, but has been left an example of those things which ennoble a lawyer's life worthy of our emulation and regard;

"That the State of Texas has lost a great lawyer, a great judge and a highly patriotic citizen;

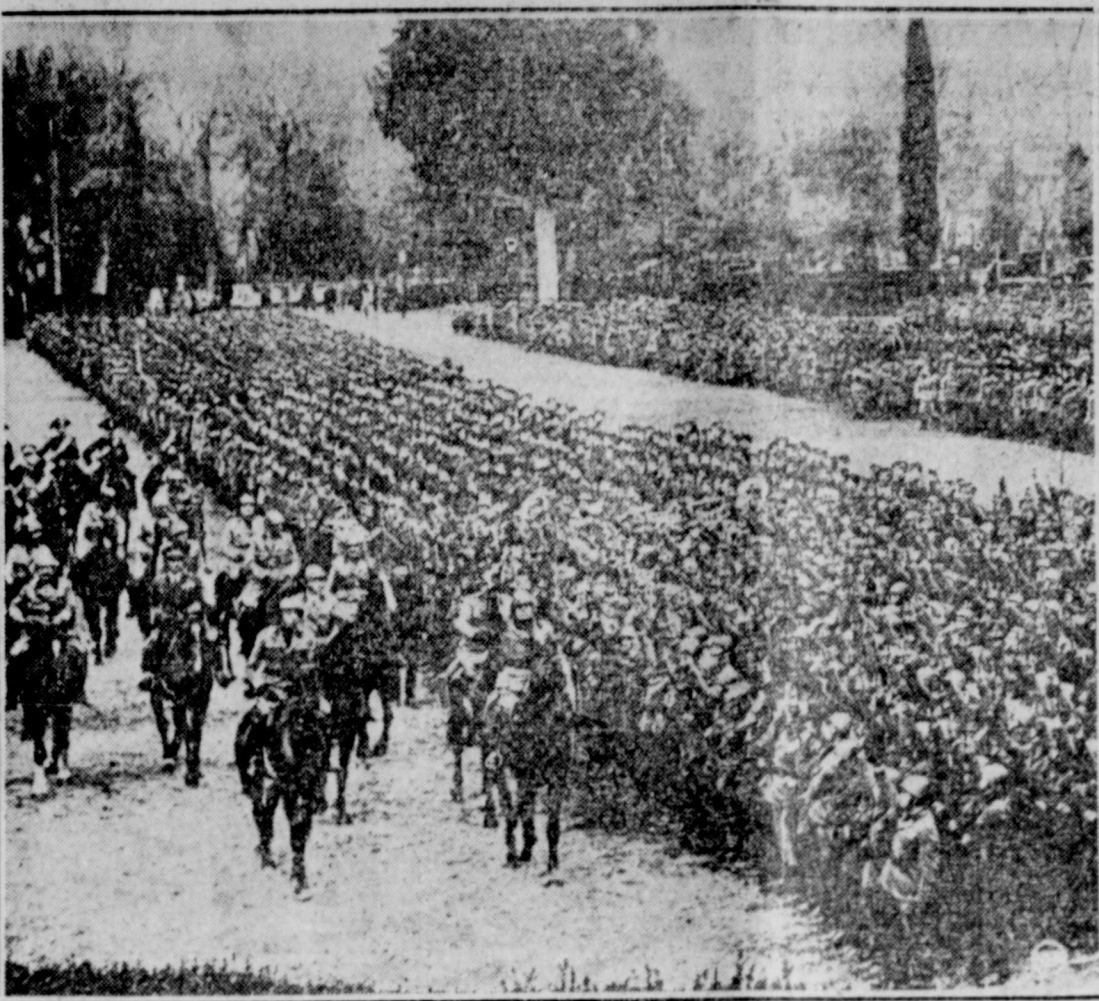

"That his earthly recompense in his declining years was the consciousness that his life had been dedicated to efforts to ease the burdens and soothe the woes of the unfortunate."

SOIL CONSERVATION
BEING UNDERTAKEN
BY RELIEF BOARD

A soil conservation program designed to save the agricultural resources of the state is being formulated by the rural department of the Texas Relief Commission. It has been announced by V. K. Smitham, manager of the rural department.

The plan will make it possible for farmers to preserve their lands and for rehabilitation clients to work on self-liquidating projects which will afford them cash wages to apply on their obligations to the rural corporation.

Under W. M. Burkes, formerly county agent in Upshur county, the conservation service section of the rural department was established last week. Mr. Burkes was named to the place of mutual agreement of rural department officials and officials of the Extension Service at A. and M. College, which will cooperate in the program.

"Terracing alone will not save the soil in Texas," Mr. Burkes declared. "We believe it good practice to take land with an eight to ten per cent slope out of cultivation and convert it to pasture or timber land."

The conservation program will consist of erosion control, running terrace or contour lines, building terraces or contours, terrace outlets, spillways, gully controls, lams and planting legumes, grasses, trees or other cover and soil improving crops; water conservation in the form of wells, dams and ponds; building of trench silos and storage houses for crops and livestock; forestry, where work will assist in conserving the soil.

County agents have been asked to help start the program by offering the service to farmers in the various counties. Where requests for running terrace lines on as much as 4,000 acres are forwarded to Austin, a conservation assistant upon approval of the request, will be sent to a county to supervise work there. From one to four squads of four men each, to be supplied from rehabilitation or relief rolls, will be needed in the work, it has been estimated.

Equipment will be furnished locally. The service will be paid for by the owner of the property at its appraised value on a job, unit, or time basis, the rate to be determined by the extension agriculture engineer, the county terracing committee, and the representative of the rural department of the Texas Relief Commission, and agreed to by the owner.

After terrace lines have been run the conservation assistant will remain in the county to supervise construction of terraces. No part of the construction costs, however, will be borne by the rural department.

"Need for this work is best described," Mr. Burkes said, "by the fact that not more than one-tenth of the land in the state needing conservation work has received it and in most instances where this work has been carried on, it has been incompetently done."

There are 10,000 villages in America without churches, 30,000 without resident pastors, and 400,000 children under 12 who are receiving no religious instruction.

MUCH VOCATIONAL WORK IS DONE IN BROWNWOOD DIST.

From the Stephenville district office comes the following summary for the nine vocational agriculture departments in the Brownwood district, stating that a total of 70,000 yards of terrace lines were run by the vocational agriculture departments in January. Other soil conservation work done by the nine departments include 99 acres of cover crops planted and 61 acres of seed beds prepared; three farms diagrammed for strip cropping, and six acres of project land fertilized with barnyard manure. High points of the report follow:

Believing in a well-rounded farming program, the V. A. departments are doing work on other farm problems other than soil conservation. Six hundred fruit trees and 194 shade trees were pruned. One hundred thirty grape vines and fifty-five berry plants were pruned.

One hundred-fifteen fruit trees and pecan trees, one hundred forty grapes and $20,000 worth of berry plants were set out by the boys studying vocational agriculture.

Knowing the value of good seed, the boys bought 300 pounds State certified milo seed, 28 bushels cottonseed, and three bushels corn seed.

While doing all the soil conservation and plant improvement work the boys found time to test 45 cows for butter fat, buy 550 baby chicks, buy 3 registered gilts, and cull 220 hens, treat a cow for blood, treat 230 head of sheep for hemorrhagic septicemia.

"We must be able to produce our own living at home," states a Future Farmer. Evidence of their interest in learning to produce a living at home is evidenced by the fact that one beef was slaughtered, eight hogs slaughtered and cured, and five gardens prepared for planting.

Three baby beeves and five pigs were put on feed in January.

Forty-five pecan trees were treated for borers.

The teachers are working hard with their educational work. A total of twenty-nine evening school and part time meetings were held. One curing plant for potatoes is under construction, two soil tests were made, 800 pounds state certified milo seed, 12 bushels corn seed, 15 pounds watermelon seed, and 10 pounds rape seed purchased by farmers attending evening schools.

The vocational agriculture teachers were able to find time to hold two relief demonstrations in which six hides were tanned, and 430 feet of rope made. Applications are filed for seven agriculture relief teachers, to teach terracing. One $1500 project application has been filed.

All chapters attended district officers meeting and training school at Brownwood January 17. Other chapter activities include eleven regular chapter meetings held, 21 initiated into Green Hand degree, 22 new F. F. A. manuals purchased and sent to boys, and one banquet held.

Anthony Zeoli, the flaming Italian evangelist, and Arthur W. McKee, singer, will conduct a revival at the Fundamental Church beginning Sunday, March 17.

Mr. Zeoli, who is considered one of the greatest evangelists in America, was, before his conversion, a hold-up man and dope fiend, and he served several years in the penitentiary. He is said to know more Scripture than any man living.

Mr. McKee will direct the entire program of music and have charge of other work.

MATRESS MAKING WILL BE DEMONSTRATED HERE

Miss Mayes Malone, county home demonstration agent, will hold a demonstration on making mattresses for the club women and girls of this county in the near future. The demonstration will be held in her office on second floor of the courthouse. Five mattresses are expected to be present.

Miss Malone was in Abilene last week attending a meeting of home demonstration agents from district 3. A demonstration of making mattresses was given at the meeting. Every agent in the district was present.

The nine vocational agriculture teachers traveled a total of 4,105 miles, an average of 551 miles each, at a total cost of $239.77, or a cost of $36.32 each, visiting a total of 119 boys and 21 farmers, and made 16 other official trips.

Vocational agriculture departments included in this report include Brownwood, Bangs, Coleman, Winters, May, Williams, Pioneer, Rising Star, and Santa Anna.

DEMONSTRATION CLUBS

The Buffalo Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Jack Thigpen Tuesday, February 26th.

The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. B. Schofield. After the business a very interesting program on Texas was given by Mrs. G. R. Bivins, Mrs. H. B. Schofield and Miss Fern Ragdale.

The members of the club decided, when the weather is bad on the regular meeting day, to meet on the following Friday. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Arnold Ragdale, March 12.

Refreshments of hot chocolate, pie and cookies were passed to the following members: Mesdames O. G. Curry, H. B. Schofield, Arnold Ragdale, G. R. Bivins, Misses Fern Ragdale, Myrtice Graves and the hostess, Mrs. Jack Thigpen. —Reporter.

Both classes of the agriculture boys attended a pruning and spraying demonstration on Mr. Kennedy's farm, which is near May. The boys took notes on the lecture, watched intensely during the demonstration and then passed a quiz on the demonstration work when they arrived at school.

The boys are extremely interested in orchard work because it is so badly needed. The boys in the Williams Chapter have pruned 50 trees in class and many of the chapter members have pruned their home orchards.

Material is being collected and studied for the terracing contest which will be held in April. The boys are working hard, all having hopes of making the team.

Agriculture II boys castrated and docked 21 lambs for J. M. Moore last week. The boys try to study every problem that farmers have.

CHAPTER THREE LIANY UNMASKED (Conclusion)

After a period of unhappiness as a child, Copperfield, an orphan, was rescued and adopted by Aunt Betsy Trotwood, at the Wickfield home school days he and Agnes became fast friends. Downy, he had departed London for a career as a lawyer. Not without misadventure, however, for he was that Uriah Heep, Wickfield's clerk, was a scheming rascal. But in London, seeing with his friend Steerforth the met Dora Spewlow, was a whirlwind courtship day, David, on the with Steerforth near Downy, raised his eyes to a and unexpected sight.

David looked. Then he stood over, for at sight of Dora's little boat home, of his childhood visit, he told Steerforth of them, made their way rapidly around and he and Dora made their residence at Highgate, in a charming little cottage. In spite of Dora's child-like helplessness about everything, they were blissfully happy until the evening Aunt Betsy and Mr. Dick came to dinner. Then everything went wrong. The roast was burnt on one side, the oysters were unopened and the cook was in a drunken stupor. Finally, David, exasperated and humiliated, spoke sharply to Dora. The tears welled in her eyes and she flew out the door. Aunt Betsy patted his shoulder. "You must have patience, David," she chided him gently. "Remember,

When Aunt Betsy had left Agnes told him of Uriah's new partnership with her father, David was aghast. "Father says it's his own choice," she said. "But I know that it was forced upon him. He never confides in me anymore. He's changed. I can't explain Uriah's power over him either."

Uriah Heep moved into the house and that night after dinner, he cleared his throat as if about to make a speech. "Come, fellow partner," he began pouring some wine. "I'll give you one to the divinity of her sex — Agnes Wickfield."

Uriah Heep leaped to his feet with a terrible cry. "Look at him," he shouted. "He dares. I see him now for what he is —"

Uriah scowled menacingly. "Better stop his mouth Copperfield or he'll say something he'll be sorry for afterwards."

THE EARLY HISTORY OF TEXAS AS SHOWN FROM THE AUSTIN PAPERS

(Note: This is one of a series of articles taken from the 300 special collections of family archives in the University of Texas library. The collections cover all periods of Texas history, from the earliest days of the Spanish missionaries in the province of Texas, through the colonial era, to the present. This series of articles presents interesting excerpts from a number of these family collections, some chosen for their intrinsic significance in the development of the empire of Texas, others for their purely human interest in portraying personalities, economic conditions and social intercourse.)

AN AUTHENTIC view of the political situation as it confronted the colonists in Austin's settlement just a hundred years ago is given in letters written by Ira Ingram, one of the settlers, to his uncle, Roswell Ingram, in New England. Ingram was one of the leaders of the community, and being a member of the Texas Congress, was in a position to be in close touch with the various developments of the move for recognition as a state of Mexico and with other governmental matters. These letters are part of the Ingram collection of unpublished historical material in the archives of the University of Texas library. They cover the period from May 12, 1836, to January 9, 1837.

On March 9, 1835, Ingram wrote: "As to Texas—the civil commotions which have overspread a considerable portion of Mexico proper, with suffering and fevers, have rather tended to invigorate and improve her condition. Too remote from the theatre of action, and too unimportant in resources to attract the eye of ambition, it was the obvious policy of this portion of the country, to do little else, than watch the progress of events, and hold itself in readiness to improve them to the best advantage. This policy was adopted early in the contest, and has been pursued with the most patriotic fidelity and zeal. All that has thus far been done by the people of Texas (about thirty thousand in number; twenty, to twenty-five thousand of whom are North Americans) is to remove those out-works of ambition which the usurper had thrown around the principal settlements, by capturing the garrisons, or permitting them to retire without bloodshed or annoyance; and to adopt measures preliminary, and preparatory to the formation of a State government, as a member of the confederation.

A convention by deputies, of all the people of Texas, has been called, in pursuance of previous arrangements, to meet on the first of April next, for the purpose of framing and adopting a constitution for the state of Texas—this step is likely to be very warmly opposed, by what is here called the Aristocratic party, headed by Stephen F. Austin, the founder of this colony. The leaders of the opposition to the state question, are engaged by its friends, with having combined in a scheme, for engrossing a very important and extensive portion of the domain of the country, which belong, of right, to the people. A few well-meaning and credible, but ignorant men, have innocently, though unworthily inclined to the side of the question espoused by the speculators. Having listened to the artful and ingenious tales of these rapacious swindlers, they have been led to believe that their true interest would take place as we now flatter ourselves in continuing for a time, at least, as we now are, without any local government at all. It will therefore be attended with some delay, will require firmness of purpose, and some perseverance, to evict and exhibit the facts on the subject, in a light, and with that connection required, to dispel the delusion."

"I must speak plainly Agnes," David said earnestly, "I must tell you. I went away loving you, I stayed away loving you, I returned home loving you."

hope to obtain, we can move quietly and prosperously along for some time to come, attached as we still are, to the government of Coahuila. And indeed, under even a partial reform, making our situation at all tolerable, I would greatly prefer temporary delay, to the untold expense of organizing immediately, with present materials, a separate State government."

"The reaction which I feared and more than half predicted in my last, is now in full progress. The Congress of the Nation, was I have since learned, composed mostly of young men—inexperience of course and too hasty in the work of reform. This I feared. How the powers that be can soothe the awakened sensibilities of the mass of the nation, without making concessions according to the friends of toleration, and of highly prejudicial to political freedom, is beyond my pretensions to forecast. However, these moral and political excitements do not affect all portions of the country alike. We of Texas, are immediately, but little affected by them. But they have an indirect and remote influence, even on us. They excite alarm for the security of rights, and thus retard immigration."

"The State question is lost—at least, for the present. And for the cause, we may look to the infidelity of its professed, but weak-minded and indiscreet friends. The benefits, therefore, which were anticipated from the immediate organization of a State government for Texas, are now indefinitely deferred. And perhaps it is better to defer the change until we have more and better materials to organize with."

"In short, our policy is to merit, that we may command and enjoy, in case we should need them, the sympathies of the civilized world. I leave here for the town of Brazoria, 70 miles below, to superintend the publication of our Memorial to the Congress, and our constitution. From there, I will write you again."

In mid-summer, July 23, 1832, he hinted at the possibility of independence of Texas from Mexico: "News from the interior of Mexico, augurs unfavorably to the cause of union and united councils. Our present executive, Gen. Santa Anna, appears anxious to give a new, and vigorous impulse to the civil authorities of the country, by reducing the privileges of the clergy, and the influence of the military. This has already led to some irregularities on the part of the latter, favored no doubt by the secret intrigues of the former. Where or how or when these commotions will terminate, is impossible to apprehend, for any living man to foretell. The ordinary laws of domestic and national strife, afford no barometer by which to calculate the incantations of a nation of semi-barbarians. If they will listen to the claims of Texas, and receive her as a State, by herself, in this quarter, all is safe. But if not, and Mexico revolutionizes, Texas must go for herself and stand or fall, alone."

The question of adoption of the Texas constitution was still unsettled almost six months later. On December 9, 1833, Ingram wrote: "No doubt is now entertained that Texas will soon be a co-ordinate, and co-equal member of the Mexican Federation. Should this ourselves it will, within the ensuing year, and we can succeed in putting our private affairs in the train which we now have in contemplation, it may be in our power, if life and health are spared us, to visit ere long, the land of our nativity."

Spring still found the political status of Texas undecided, but prospects were more promising, Ingram wrote: "The question of a State government is yet undecided, and may be suspended for some time to come, but many improvements have recently been made in the local affairs of Texas, occasioned, no doubt by the spirit indicated by the conventions of 1832 and '33; reconciling the people, for the time being, to a temporary suspension of the act of separation. An entirely new and greatly improved organization of the judiciary system of Texas, is one of the effects already realized, of the general and decisive movements here one and two years ago. With this, and such other improvements as we much need, and

INCOME TAX MAN TO BE HERE MARCH 6-8

A. E. Brooks of the Dallas office of the Collector of Internal Revenue will be in Brownwood, at the Hotel Brownwood, March 6, 7 and 8, according to announcement received from W. A. Thomas, collector for the Dallas office.

Many important changes effecting the filing of income tax returns are embodied in the Revenue Act of 1934, several of which are likely to be most confusing to income taxpayers. Mr. Thomas writes. For that reason, Deputy Collector Brooks will spend three days to confer with or assist anyone who wishes to avail himself of Mr. Brooks' help.

11,500,000 BALES IS EXPECTED TO BE THE 1935 COTTON QUOTA

A cotton crop about 11,500,000 bales should be planned for 1935, C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton production section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, states in a letter received this week by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg.

The letter follows: The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has investigated the present supply, the probable market requirements, the probable carry-over August 1, 1935, of American cotton, and the foreign situation in an effort to determine the size crop that would bring producers the largest income in 1935. As a result of these investigations, it would seem that a crop of about 11,500,000 in 1935 should be planned for. While a crop somewhat smaller would in all probability bring a higher price per pound, the total income from the crop might be less. On the other hand, a crop materially larger than 11,500,000 bales would unduly depress the market in 1935 and make it difficult to reduce the carry-over to a desirable figure by August 1, 1936, and in this way would affect the 1936 price as well as the 1935 price.

If the objective of a crop of approximately 11,500,000 bales is to be achieved in 1935, it will be necessary for contract signers to take the full 35 per cent reduction permitted in 1935. If producers who signed contracts in 1934 and those who sign contracts in 1935 reduce 35 percent, it is estimated that a crop of about 11,500,000 bales will be produced if yields are no more than average.

It will be to the advantage of individual cotton producers to remove 35 percent of their base acreage from cotton production and receive the maximum rental payments permitted under their contracts in 1935.

It will be to the further advantage of individual producers to plant in 1935 only 65 percent of their base acreage because in no case will the bases used in making allotments of tax-exemption certificates be more than 65 percent of a producer's base production. Producers should therefore be cautioned against planting more than 65 percent of their base acreage with the anticipation of buying surplus exemption certificates at reduced prices in 1935. It will be our recommendation that provisions be made which will prevent surplus exemption certificates being sold much below full amount of the tax. We will also recommend that the tax be kept adjusted at 50 percent of the price. Neither of these things were done in 1934.

Due partly to the drouth, food and feed will be somewhat less plentiful and prices will be higher in 1935 than they were in 1934. For this reason cotton producers should plant only 65 percent of their base acreage to cotton, thus making available additional land on which to produce food and feed for home consumption.

It should also be called to the attention of producers that if two crops of different sizes are sold for the same gross value, a larger proportion of the total market value is usually returned to the producer from the smaller crop. It is certain that the farmer cannot produce the larger crop as cheaply.

Whether contract signers rent 25 percent or 35 percent in 1935 will be determined by how well they are informed of the need for a 35 percent reduction in 1935, and it is felt that you are in the best position to inform them as to the action they should take in 1935.

The efficient manner in which you handled the 1933 and 1934 programs is known and appreciated in Washington. We expect that you will succeed in the 1935 Cotton Program.

Very truly yours, C. A. COBB, Chief, Cotton Production Section.

Twenty-six bulls and six heifers from the registered herd at the Diamond Ranch, Albany, were offered in the auction. The average price for the bulls was slightly under $400.

City Starts Drive On Violations Of Traffic Ordinance

Chief of Police Bert Hise issued a warning to motorists this week that violations of the traffic laws must be stopped. He particularly stressed the fact that those who are failing to stop at red lights and stop signs and those who are double parking in the business section will be fined.

Extra efforts to catch violators of the traffic regulations is being started by members of the police department this week.

Booster Pump Will Increase Efficiency Of Fire Department

A chemical truck of Brownwood fire department was taken to Dallas last week where it will be left for about 30 days for the installation of a 200-gallon per minute booster pump and a 300 gallon water tank, which the city council purchased recently from the American Top, Body and Equipment Company of Dallas.

Fire Chief Rance Pettitt says that the installation of the pump and tank on the truck will add a great deal to the fire fighting equipment of the city. The tank will be kept filled at all times and in case of fire the firemen will have 300 gallons of water to start fighting the fire with, while hose is laid to a fire plug. During a fire a line of hose also can be laid to the tank and it kept full of water, which will be thrown onto the flames with force by the pump.

Difficulties Balk Honeymoon Plans

Difficulties beset the efforts of Mrs. Madeline Astor Dick Fiermonte to start a second honeymoon with her prize-fighter husband, Enzo Fiermonte. Reports from Italy stated she reached a financial settlement with his first wife and then faced the task of retrieving his passport from Italian authorities. She's shown as she landed at Naples.

They will have self-feeders, constructed the A. and M. way, and shelled corn combined with protein supplement will be the ration. Local bankers have set up a revolving fund to help the boys finance the venture and the Goliad rotary club has underwritten it for them.

Don't Shoot Mad Dogs In Head, Is Doctor's Advice

Dogs suspected of having rabies should not be shot through the head, but through the body, Dr. Roy G. Hallum, county health officer, advised this week. Shooting the dog through the head makes it impossible to make an examination. If the suspected dog is shot thru the body, the head is available for examination.

Dr. Hallum's advice followed the killing of a dog, suspected of being mad, by a Mr. Howard of the Mt. Zion community, Wednesday. Dr. Hallum stated that the dog had not bitten anyone, but evidently had rabies, although the dog was shot through the head in such a manner that a definite examination was impossible.

This is the second dog that has been thought to have had rabies in the Mt. Zion community. Dr. Hallum advises that anyone having a dog suspected of being mad should immediately pen the dog for observation. A dog with rabies usually dies within about three days.
