JUNIOR COLLEGE ENROLLS 84 STUDENTS; SETS NEW HIGH RECORD

MORE THAN SEVEN HUNDRED IN CITY

SENIOR HIGH ENROLLS 180.
JUNIOR HIGH 180 AND
263 FOR SOUTH WARD

That Clarendon's Junior College continues to grow in favor among its patrons is evidenced by the fact that the enrollment this year has already reached the new high mark of 84 as compared with 66 at the end of the first week of last year.

Not only the parents of local citizens, and of the school districts which are a part of the special district whose taxes maintain the school, but parents of neighboring towns are appreciating more and more the great advantages offered by a college which gives two full years of college courses, and securing admission for its graduates to the Junior classes of the great universities of the State.

Appropriate opening programs were observed at both the College and the Junior High buildings Monday morning. At the college the principal address was made by Rev. Robert S. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. His subject was "Why we go to school," and his remarks were thoughtful and inspiring. Representing the school board O. C. Watson made a short talk that was much appreciated. Rhodin Chase gave a piano solo, and singing by the students was led by G. L. Boykin, with Mrs. Elizabeth Powell at the piano.

At the Junior High School, Rev. B. N. Shepherd, pastor of First Baptist church, made an impressive address on "It pays to do right," applying it to individual conduct both in school work and elsewhere. Mr. Watson also made a brief talk. The students sang "America."

Enrollment Reaches 707
A total enrollment of 707 students in all the city schools was reported up to Wednesday night, distributed as follows. In the College proper, 84; in the Senior High school, a total of 180, including 53 in the Senior class, 53 in the Juniors and 74 in the Sophomores. The Junior High School had 180 enrolled and the South Word school 263.

Mule Comes Back After Five Years

Five years ago J. T. Bain sold a mule named Sam. He didn't want the mule. That was why he sold him. But the mule has promised himself all these years that if he ever got a chance he'd go back to Tom Bain's. He liked Tom better than Tom liked him.

About dusk the other day Mr. Bain noticed in the half light that a mule was working at a wire gate nearby just as Sam used to do when he wanted to open it. He thought it was Jack, another mule, and rebuked him in this wise: "Jack, are you trying to learn that Sam mule's trick?"

In a few minutes the mule walked through the gate he had opened, and Mr. Bain opened his eyes wide in astonishment, for it was wise old Sam, who was further identified by his habit of snoring, even when he is wide awake. Sam is a brown mule, but Mr. Bain insists that he does not need a brown mule. And he wishes the owner would come and get him, pronto. Does anyone know who has lost a brown, snoring and very wise mule?

Mrs. R. A. Chunn and son, R. M. had as their guests over Labor Day J. M. Chunn and family of Amarillo, and C. B. Chunn and family of Groom. Miss Nell Chunn, of Mineral Wells, who has been visiting her grandmother here, accompanied the J. M. Chunn to Amarillo for a visit with them for a short time.

We're Threatened With Cotton Checks

News dispatches of the last 24 hours announce that Childress county has received five cotton acreage reduction checks, totaling $604. The checks were mailed to the county agent.

This outbreak, it is felt, exposes Donley county farmers to a similar fate and indications are that they are collectively and individually refusing to try to escape it. County Agent T. R. Brown wears a look which frankly says, "I am prepared for the worst. Here's hoping that it happens quickly and it can't be all over too soon for me. No, SUH!"

LOAN BOND PLAN MORE ATTRACTIVE

BONDS MAY BE TRADED BACK FOR ORIGINAL NOTES IN THREE YEARS

The new ruling announced last Thursday by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, through J. C. Anderson, Jr., manager of the Amarillo branch, will in some instances solve difficulties created by reluctance of mortgagees to accept the loan bonds for their notes. Sam M. Braswell, local appraiser for the corporation, has found several cases where the holders of mortgage notes are unwilling to exchange them for the corporation's bonds, and believes that the new plan may prove more attractive to them.

Under the announced amendment, bond holders may trade the bonds back to the corporation for the original note after a period of three years on corporation terms of payment, Mr. Anderson stated.

Accommodation to Both
"The ruling was made," Mr. Anderson said, "as an accommodation to both home owners and loan companies. While the owner is afforded immediate relief and the mortgagee protected by the bonds, conditions may alter circumstances three years hence that both parties will be satisfied to restore the obligation to its 1933 status."

"In that case, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation will transfer the lien and note back to the original holder who in turn returns the corporation's bonds. The home owner is credited with whatever payments he has made on the debt and allowed to continue his payments to the first mortgage holder in the same amount and at an increased interest rate of only 1 per cent. Requests Applicants Be Patient.

Property appraisals are being made daily by corporation officials. Applications are being rushed through as quickly as possible and it is believed that the first loan will be granted within the next two weeks. Officials have requested that applicants be patient and await their turn for appraisals.

Continue Payments
He urged that home owners keep up their payments, stating that loan companies are co-operating with the corporation to the full extent of their resources and a negligent dismissal of obligations by mortgagors is unfair to them.

"By ignoring payments when due," he said, "home owners are subjecting themselves to legal foreclosure. Just because applications have been submitted to the Home Owners' Loan Corporation is not sufficient reason for stopping payments. Loan companies are showing a willingness to help and it is unfair to cause an unnecessary hardship to them."

A total of 805 applications have been received by the Amarillo branch, asking an aggregate sum total of $1,587,000 in loans.

Lloyd Benson and Bill Greene, Jr., accompanied the latter's father Sunday to Roswell New Mexico where they will attend the New Mexico Military Institute the coming school year.

Appeal Made By Red Cross For Hurricane Sufferers

Dead ----- 24
Injured ----- 600
Families destitute ----- 1750
Homes destroyed ----- 2000
Homes damaged ----- 5000

The terrible destruction wrought by the hurricane of Monday night which laid waste the most thickly populated part of the Rio Grande Valley is emphasized by a telegram received today by Homer Mulkey, chairman of the Donley County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The telegram makes an urgent appeal to the people of Donley county for cash contributions to add to the large amount contributed outright by the national organization. It suggests $50 as the amount which the Chapter should raise here.

LEGION SECURES NOTED CORNETIST

BOHUMIR KRYL'S BAND TO PLAY ENGAGEMENT HERE ON SEPT. 19TH

Arrangements were completed last week by the executive committee of the local American Legion for the appearance here of Bohumir Kryl, world-famous cornetist, and his equally well-known band. They will be heard in symphonic concert on Sunday, September 19th.

The appearance of this premier musical attraction here was made possible only by the fact that it plays in Amarillo Saturday night and at Wichita Falls the following Monday night. Clarendon people may well count themselves fortunate in having the opportunity to hear at home the same program which will be rendered throughout the band's mate of the property damage in dollars and cents, although newspapers have carried estimates ranging from 15 million to 50 million dollars. Such havoc to homes cannot fail to be accompanied by distress to which none who can afford a small contribution can turn a deaf ear. If a tornado were to wipe Clarendon off the map kindhearted citizens the country over would alleviate immediate distress by their financial assistance. Chairman Mulkey is anxious to send the small amount requested, $50, as quickly as possible and hopes that it will largely be in the form of voluntary contributions.

The telegram received says: "Confirmed reports of destruction Rio Grande Valley hurricane justify immediate and urgent appeal for contributions to Red Cross Relief Fund STOP As com-

All Ex-Service Men Invited To Barbecue

Members of the Aubyn E. Clark Post of the American Legion will be host to all ex-service men and their families at a barbecue to be held next Tuesday night at the city park near the Junior High school. It is hoped that all ex-service men, whether members of the Legion or not, will accept the invitation and come out to the barbecue for a pleasant evening.

Barbecued meat, bread, pickles and coffee will be supplied in abundance. Any other side dishes and delicacies for sweet teeth may be brought along as desired. The Legion is making plans for a large attendance as barbecue, such as the Legion cooks know how to prepare, is well nigh irresistible.

S. B. Kinchen and family, formerly of Breckenridge, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dewey, on the JA ranch, prior to their departure soon for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Kinchen has a brother in the employ of the U. S. Government printing office.

The telegram was signed by William M. Baxter, Jr., manager, St. Louis.

LIONS PROGRAM REVIEWS HISTORY

NEW LION JOE GOLDSTON ASKS OLD LION STALLINGS FOR "INFO."

The numerous additions to the membership of the Clarendon Lions club in recent weeks prompted the presentation Tuesday of the first of a series of special features arranged by the program committee. The programs, from time to time, will present in the present-day popular form of interviews between members of the club, a brief but authoritative group of questions on various phases of Lionism.

This part of the program was conducted this week by new-member Joe Goldston, who sought information from old-member D. O. Stallings on the history of Lionism. The question and answers brought out many interesting bits of the history of Repeating one more an all too frequent performance, auto wheel and tire thieves made another successful raid here Tuesday night.

Wheel Thieves Make Another Raid Here

They were more modest in the tribute levied this time, taking wheels and tires from only two cars, four from A. A. Mayes' car and the two rear wheels from G. L. Boykin's cars. The two cars were in adjoining garages.

Mr. Mayes' own jack and tools were used to remove his wheels, and the thieves stacked bricks underneath both cars' axles to keep them off the ground. The bricks were taken from a pile from which Mr. Mayes' new home is being built.

Sheriff Guy Pierce left early Wednesday morning for Amarillo to make a search of all suspected "fences" in the hope of locating the stolen wheels and tires, together with the thieves. He is confident that a ring is working Clarendon and other towns regularly, and is determined to break it up if possible. A peculiar thing is that the thefts are all said to have occurred on Tuesday nights.

DEWEY DEVENPORT KILLED IN CRASH

DR. JOHN W. TYNDALL IS ALSO VICTIM AS CARS COLLIDE NEAR ALTUS

Dewey Devenport, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Devenport of the Martin community near Clarendon and Dr. John W. Tyndall, president of Randolph College at Cisco, Texas, were instantly killed on the highway near Altus, Okla., Monday night when Dr. Tyndall's automobile collided with a truck. The crash occurred at about 6 p. m. twelve miles south of Altus.

The other persons in the Tyndall car, H. H. Hopkins, about 40, of Ft. Worth, and Paul McDonald, son of W. C. McDonald of this county, were injured, McDonald's injuries being reported as slight. Both Tompkins and McDonald were unconscious when taken to an Altus hospital.

Dr. Tyndall was widely known here as he had held no less than four revival meetings for the First Christian church, his ability as a preacher and his stalwart Christian character and sunny disposition winning the love and esteem of all who came into contact with him.

According to friends of the families, Dewey Devenport and Paul McDonald left Clarendon about 6 a. m. Monday morning for Paul's Valley, Okla., where they expected to find employment at cotton-picking. Dr. Tyndall was driving his automobile and, although details were not available, it was believed that the two boys occupied the rear seat. Devenport immediately behind Dr. Tyndall, who was giving the boys a lift toward their destination.

Dr. Tyndall's car was headed north when it crashed into the truck at a cross-road. The truck was driven by Coy Byerly, of Hess. Byerly was accompanied in the truck by his uncle Ernest Byerly, and a nephew, Jimmie Byerly, 6 years old. None in the truck was injured.

Witness said that the truck had reached a point nearly off the intersecting road when the automobile crashed into the cab. It was believed that the wheels on Dr. Tyndall's car locked just before the crash. The passenger car was demolished by the impact.

Mrs. Tyndall arrived at Altus early Tuesday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Devenport, parent of the dead youth, and W. C. McDonald, father of Paul, left here Monday night with Bert Smith, soon after the news was received about the tragedy, about 7:30 p. m.

HIGHWAY WEST OF CLARENDON FIRST

LOWE ADVISED STATE HAS PLANS READY; WAITING FOR RIGHT-OF-WAY

Early clearing away of obstacles to paving highway No. 5 from Clarendon west to the Armstrong county line was forecast today by County Judge S. W. Lowe, who stated that gratifying progress is being made on the eastern end of No. 5 in the county.

"I am aware that there has been a considerable amount of impatience among the citizens who have been so eager to see actual highway construction begin, for the direct benefit it would bring to the unemployment situation and to business in general," said Judge Lowe. "I wish it were possible for them to know the innumerable obstacles which have beset every move that has been made. A great many of these obstacles have been of such a nature that they required unavoidable and tedious waiting. It's too long a story to attempt to detail it."

"But I am glad to say now that I believe many of the obstacles are behind us—not all of them, but many of them. It now appears that we shall be able to deliver completed right-of-way deeds this week from Clarendon to the Armstrong county line. Highway Dept.'s Letter

Under date of Sept. 4, W. J. Van London, resident District engineer at Amarillo for the State Highway department, wrote Judge Lowe as follows:

"In view of the fact that this section of Highway No. 5 (F. A. P. 438-B, Armstrong county line to Clarendon) is set up for construction under the National Recovery Highway program, it is very urgent that this right-of-way be secured at the earliest possible date. It will be necessary to secure the entire right-of-way before we will be able to award contract. Plans have been completed for this work. As soon as you see your way clear to obtain the remainder of right-of-way on the section from Clarendon west, please advise this office and we will provide the necessary payroll forms or statements to be

GARAGE AND FILLING STATION OWNERS MEET

Garage and filling station operators of Clarendon, including practically all in the city, met Tuesday night at the salesrooms of the Clarendon Motor Company, for a discussion of the problems relating to fair competition among themselves.

The meeting was quite harmonious and policies were worked out which will be advantageous to the general public and to those at the meeting.

DON'T KILL A CHILD!

"All drivers of cars in Clarendon are earnestly urged to be more careful than ever now that school children are on the streets," says City Marshal T. M. Pyle.

He especially urges that they be careful on streets near the schools. The driver of a car must not depend on the child to take care of itself. Its mind is not on the danger of getting run over. The tragedy of killing a child accidentally is not lessened by the fact that it was the child's fault.

SLOW DOWN! Keep the safety of children in mind. Be just as careful as you would want others to be if it was your child on the street. Marshal Pyle patrols the most dangerous points when schools are being dismissed, but he wants all the help that can be given him by careful driving.

NO BAGGAGE? . . . CASH, PLEASE!

Concerning the incident in which General Hugh Johnson, NRA chief, recently became irritated when the hotel clerk insisted on advance payment by the general who came without baggage, our good friend T. H. Peebles writes after this manner:

"Is it not lamentable that a big man can not be big enough to appreciate and respect another man's fidelity to duty? It is the universal practice of hotels to require advance payment by guests without baggage; and instead of conforming with good humor and courtesy to this practice, the General consigned the hotel to that region of 'soot and sorrow.' Alas for human greatness!"

Man has always found that even his idols have feet of clay. General Johnson is generally regarded as a highly efficient officer, with an Army man's unswerving devotion to his duty, whatever it may be and however distasteful. He is charged with the responsibility of nursing back to health the sickest patient in the history of the world. It is a real job. It may have made him hard to get along with at times. Maybe he went into the hotel at the wrong time. He was wrong, of course, in his attitude, but all of us forget ourselves occasionally. And so we'll forgive the General this time for his rough reply to the clerk.

WHAT THE HECK'S THE MATTER?

If General Johnson had demanded some real speed in getting cotton checks to the farmers who so willingly plowed up over ten million acres of cotton, NRA could be claiming a worthwhile victory by this time, at least in the cotton states. It is beginning to appear that the clerical work involved is being purposely extended for as long a time as possible for the benefit of a staff wholly inadequate to handle the job.

On August 3rd we read a circular letter from the Cotton Section which stated that 1200 clerks were working in three shifts, 24 hours a day, and were disposing of 5,000 contracts per day. With over 1,000,000 contracts to handle it would take 1200 clerks 200 days to finish the job.

And at the same time Government was launching its NRA drive to increase employment, asking employers to shorten the work week, raise wages and put more men on the job!

Why did Government not put on enough clerks to completely finish the check-writing job before Sept. 1st? Down in Nueces county, along the Gulf coast, the cotton crop is practically all ginned, but newspapers from the deep south of the cotton belt have said nothing yet about cotton checks coming in. They really have the right to expect theirs before cotton farmers in the northern areas.

We have heard a real deal about the country "at war" against an economic enemy. But during real war times every department of government is expanded to put speed into ALL movements against the enemy.

The News is unable to imagine any possible reason why the multiplied hundreds of office rooms in the many government buildings should not have been used to provide employment for as many clerks as would have been required to get those checks out, ALL of them, before Sept. 1st.

For weeks and weeks they have had the correct names and addresses of all the farmers; they have known for the same length of time EXACTLY how much money each farmer was to receive; they should have had checks waiting for return of the first certificates of performance. They urged all possible speed on the part of farmers and committees in doing their part of the job, and then leave them to wonder what the heck's the matter that the checks don't come along.

There may be perfectly good reasons offered some day for the delay, but we doubt if they will make good sense.

GET READY FOR SCHOOL

Approximately 30,000,000 children, ranging from near-graduates to kindergartners, will converge on streets and highways this September, all approaching central points. Through the summer they have been scattered throughout the length and breadth of the land; now they are to be mobilized, crossing our city thoroughfares or country lanes in long lines going to school or coming home.

It is the solemn duty of every motorist to see to it that these youngsters have a safe passage. By following a few simple rules, he can cut down the toll of 3,400 children killed and 152,550 injured in 1932. Every motorist should remember to approach a school zone with care; to slow down at all intersections; to watch his speed on curves in the country. Above all, he should look out for the unexpected. Children who meet after two months' separation, become so absorbed that they forget about the danger of dashing into the roadway, darting from behind parked cars, or trying to retrieve a ball from under the fender of a moving vehicle. The motorist must do their thinking for them.

The reduction in motor accidents to children of school age in the United States, is the brightest picture in the safety movement, but there still remains much to be done to further reduce the number of tragedies—90 per cent of which are avoidable. Educators, school authorities and teachers constantly emphasize the dangers of modern traffic conditions, to the children. The one person able to bring about great improvement is the motorist. He should drive at all times as he would if his child were out in that crowd ahead.

Cause of freshening of courage and revival of drooping spirits is found in the September statement of business conditions by Dun and Bradstreet's, Inc. They report a 17 per cent increase in retail sales during August and remark that August is always expected to show a decline called "seasonal," which usually carries over into September, past Labor Day. The great statistical organization naively remarks that NRA activities were nicely timed to coincide with the upturn of early September that may normally be expected. It implied that NRA had hustled the upturn along about 30 days.

One hears, here and there, rumblings whose import it is that the NRA is "not getting the job done." Perhaps not. But neither was anything else, nor yet anybody else, getting the job done. NRA is making a gigantic effort in that direction. And that's something to think about. Breaking the grip of the thing that has had our shoulders to the mat so long is a gigantic job. Would anybody like to have General Johnson's job? Or anybody's under him? Or the committee's job in Donley county? Joe Goldston, Jim Trent and Ralph Porter would have big signs of relief if they were notified that somebody else had their assignments. All of which is by way of saying that if you can't offer something better than NRA, the patriotic thing to do is to let NRA alone. The News has spoken its mind about what NRA might have done to speed up cotton checks for the farmers, and it meant it all. But nevertheless, it is for the NRA and believes the government is going in the right direction. It may get off the track sometimes, but it is headed right.

The farmer and the grain dealer found one recent government report of great interest. It was the latest crop forecast. Highlight was that the wheat crop would not be as short as had been expected, and prices dropped accordingly. Most remarkable revelation, however, was that all grain crops will be extremely short. Total will be smallest in decades.

The farm relievers are faced with one very perplexing question—heavy hogs. The nation now has 1,000,000 expectant mother hogs, and if the birth rate is up to normal there will be a great oversupply. Probable solution will be to encourage the marketing of small pigs by paying a higher price per cwt., and by placing a stiff processing tax against heavy hogs. To bring supply in line with demand, it will be necessary to remove 500,000,000 pounds of pork and pork products from the markets during the remainder of this year, and 2,000,000,000 pounds next year.

A 16,561,000-bale cotton crop forecast for the South. It is estimated that this will be reduced to 12,314,000 bales by the destruction of 10,500,000 acres of cotton plants under contract with the Adjustment Administration.

The Public Reaction to Advertising

A group of merchants wanted to decide for themselves recently the answer to the oft-repeated question: "What type of advertising attracts you most? In typical business style these merchants conducted a survey and sent out questionnaires to a large number of people, asking that question. The results were extremely interesting. . . .

What they found in tabulating 331 replies

Advertising	173
Window Display	36
Friend's Opinions	45
Circular Letters	10
Mail Order Catalogue	2
Hand Bills	4
Billboards	3
Radio	2

In other words, when these 331 individuals set down the advertising that attracts their attention most, more than half of that number set down newspaper advertising. Of course, this doesn't mean that other forms of advertising do not have merit, for they do. It does mean, however, that for mass circulation and reader interest, the newspapers are head and shoulders above any other advertising medium.

Advertising is a subtle force and tests have proved that often it exerts its influence without the knowledge of the individual being influenced. In glancing over a newspaper, reading news stories here and there, the reader may not consciously read an advertisement, yet subconsciously will note a trade name, slogan or illustration—be instrumental in making him a buyer.

Ralph Summers Is Doing Erosion Work

Genuinely interested in the work in which he is engaged, Ralph Summers, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Summers, gave a News reporter a description of the Civilian Conservation Corps' activities which will be of interest to many of our readers.

Ralph was assigned to the camp at Rush Springs, Okla., along with about 25 boys from the Texas Panhandle, and was given a short leave of absence to spend the week-end with his parents here. The boys in the group paid a truck driver $1.10 each for the round trip.

When asked about the nature of the work being done by his camp, Ralph stated that there are 190 boys there, under a major and two captains of the U. S. Army, who have charge of feeding, discipline, etc. A corps of expert soil engineers, six in number, direct the work of the boys.

"Rush Springs was selected as a camp site because of the fact that most of the farms of three counties in the area are subject to heavy damage by washing which occurs after every rain of any consequence. In each case the most badly washed farm in a community is made a demonstration of soil erosion control the farmers gladly co-operating in the work by donating teams and other assistance. Soil dams, terracing, drop culverts and all other methods known to soil erosion and rebuilding eroded farm lands are included in the work being done," said Ralph.

"I shall very likely become a farmer myself," he said, "and I have learned things that are going to be valuable to me when I get on a farm. The work that is being done over there is being watched closely by the farmers of those counties and it is certain that it will mean the eventual stoppage of loss of farm land by erosion, or washing deep and wide gullies. Over there are many farms with gullies in them 50 to 100 feet wide and as much as 30 feet deep. Once a gully is started, each successive rain cuts it deeper and wider until the land waste seriously lessens the usefulness and value of the

Mrs. Ruth Martin is Buried at Lakeview

Funeral services were held today at Lakeview for Mrs. Ruth Martin, widow of J. G. Martin, who died this morning at 4:25 o'clock at the family home in Clarendon. Her husband preceded her in death on Dec. 1, 1929. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ollie Apple, pastor at Lakeview.

Ruth C. Deaton was born at Corinth, Miss., July 22, 1865. She was married to J. G. Martin, eight children being born to their union. Mrs. Martin joined the Methodist church at 14 years of age, and lived a consistent Christian life, her membership being in the First Methodist church here at five deaths.

Three sons and five daughters who survive her were present at her funeral. The sons: G. L. Martin and Dewey Martin, both of Lakeview, and J. C. Martin, of Amarillo. The daughters: Mrs. W. W. Adcox, Lakeview, Mrs. A. H. Jones, McLean, Mrs. J. M. Pounds, Amarillo, Mrs. P. F. Wiedman, Clarendon and Miss Lola Martin, Clarendon.

The News joins the friends of the family in deep sympathy in their bereavement.

"42nd Street" Here Soon, Says Mulkey

The many picture fans who have been asking Homer Mulkey, manager-owner of the Pastime theatre, when "42nd Street" is coming will be glad to know that it won't be long now.

One of the most widely publicized pictures ever produced, and a picture that has delivered the goods by its publicity, every person who ever sees motion picture shows of any kind has promised himself that he will see "42nd Street." It is a Warner Bros. production, which means that it can be depended on to please.

Directed by Lloyd Bacon, with the story adapted from Bradford Ropes' daring novel by the same name, Warner Bros. call it the most important entertainment since they gave you Vitaphone. It employs a wonder chorus of 200 of the loveliest girls in film-dom, assembled in one cast after a search for the world's most beautiful. It is a breath-taking extravaganza of drama, mirth and song. Coming Sept. 18-19.

Mr. Sam Bond of Canyon visited in Clarendon Tuesday morning.

He returned Monday to the camp where his enlistment will keep him for another three months.

Tom M. Roach Dies At Home Suddenly

Funeral service was held Friday morning at 11 o'clock for Tom M. Roach, of this city, to whom death came without warning Thursday evening about 8:30 o'clock, as he sat in his chair conversing with his family. The service was held at First Methodist church, by Rev. E. B. Bowen, who was assisted by Rev. M. M. Beavers. Following the service the body was taken overland to Lipan, Texas, for interment.

Tom M. Roach was born at Lipan on April 16, 1875 and at his death was 58 years, 4 months and 15 days old. He spent the greater part of his life at Lipan, and in 1889 was married to Martha Vandergriff. To this union was born a son, Wade, and a daughter, Pauline, both of whom survive their father.

In addition to his wife and children, he is also survived by three brothers and six sisters: W. J. Roach, Seminole, Okla.; W. H. Roach, Mineral Wells, Texas; C. J. Roach, Lockney, Texas; Mrs. R. L. Bulman, Bluffdale, Texas; Mrs. Henry Bull, Mineral Wells, Texas; Mrs. C. C. Perry, Tokio, Texas; Miss Lorena Roach, Oklahoma City; Mrs. T. R. Saxon, Miami; Mrs. J. B. Allen, Lockney.

He was converted in early manhood and joined the Methodist church at Lipan, where he was a faithful member, and a member of the board of stewards until he moved to Clarendon, about twelve years ago. He moved his church membership to Clarendon and became an active member of First Methodist church here, and was a member of the official board at the time of his death. He was a consecrated Christian, who loved his church, his Sunday school and every activity of either, and his quiet and unassuming influence will be genuinely missed by the people who came to know him and love him during his residence among them.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Watson and daughter, Ruth, of Bishop, Texas, and their son-in-law, Bill Saums, of Pampa, spent Sunday in the home of Mrs. T. M. Pyle, who is Mr. Watson's sister. Mrs. Pyle had not seen her brother for about 18 years and their visit was especially enjoyable. Mr. Watson and his family are moving to Pampa.

Book Club Luncheon Is Huge Success

No lovelier place could have been chosen for the 1926 Book Club luncheon than the beautiful rock garden on the lawn of the C. W. Taylor home.

The club colors of green and gold were artistically carried out in the place cards, floral centerpieces and luncheon courses.

Rita Foster Stocking, as toastmistress, had charge of the clever impromptu program, which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present. Lotta Bourland, the incoming president of the club, was asked to discuss the "Probable effect of the NRA on Matrimony," while Mary Thornberry told of the "Hopes and Aspirations of a Vice-president." "Brevity is the Soul of Wit" was the subject of Joyce Clark, who will be recording secretary. Edgar Mae Mongole gave her "Idea of the Most Interesting Type of Correspondence," and Ella Kent, the new treasurer, discussed the old adage, "All that Glitters is not Gold." As parliamentarian, Jennie Dale Porter told how to "Spare the Rod and Spoil the Child" and Alta Lane, one of the Directors of the Little Theatre described how "The Show must go on."

Several members were then called on to impersonate celebrities doing "this and that." Next came a request that each one tell the "most interesting thing they had done this summer."

At the conclusion of the delightful luncheon and enjoyable program, the guests took their leave each happy that the time had come for the club to resume its work.

Among those present were Mrs. J. Roy Wells of Abilene, Mrs. Lloyd Stallings of Pampa, and Mrs. C. W. Taylor, guests; and Mesdames Rita Stocking, Edith Ballew, Virginia Bryan, Mary Thornberry, Mae Nell Teer, Ella Kent, Luma Smith, Eunice Buntin, Myrtle Ingram, Alta Lane, Edna Boykin, Jennie Dale Porter, Imogene Brumley, Joyce Clark, Hazel Dillard, Ruby Bromley, Zell Tomb, and Misses Temple aris, Edgar Mae Mongole, Lotta Bourland, and Lorraine Patrick, members.

NOW We Are Three!

KATHERINE and BILL—what fun it is to know them! They seem to get so much out of living. You met them just a little over a year ago—the week before they were married. Ten days later it gave you a pleasant glow of anticipation to receive the trim card telling you when they would be "at home."

And today you got another card, headed "Now we are three!" Bill's signature comes first, then Katherine's, and then—the guided, chubby scrawl of the newcomer, Jeremy.

You happen to know that although he is in line for an important promotion, Bill's present salary isn't large. Most other young couples would consider themselves "up against it" if they had to manage on so little. Yet Katherine and Bill maintain a standard of living that is the admiration of all their friends.

You know how they do it, for Katherine has told you. They budget all expenditures. And when they decide a purchase is to be made, whether it is a new shade for the reading lamp, or a suit for Bill, or shoes for Katherine, they study th advertisements until they find just what they want for the price they can pay. Careful, budgeted buying of consistently advertised merchandise enables them to get the most out of their dollars.

It's a wise baby that picks parents like these. Take advantage of the advertisements in this paper. They are your guide to profitable buying.

Editorials

As the reporters of the various classes have not been elected, our staff is not yet complete, therefore, we must wait until next week to publish our entire staff.

We are looking forward to this year as the most active and most pleasant of our school life.

The same spirit of enthusiasm that has recently stimulated business seems, also, to be prevalent among the students. Every pupil seems to have entered this year with definite plans to succeed in the course which he has chosen. It was noticed, also, this year that the majority of the pupils chose courses which would be most beneficial to them rather than those courses which were a "snap."

Perhaps, the new enthusiasm which prevades among the student body is the result of the large number of new students, the enrollment of students who have not attended for several years, or the result of so many students who were promoted from Junior High. However, the real cause of the new enthusiasm is that the students, in a sense, have drawn up a "NRA code"—each has decided to go back to work.

To continue through the year as we have started, we must each contribute to some school activity. Contributing to the "Broncho Range" is both interesting and educational. It has been said that a school paper must, indeed, be a school paper; the entire school must take interest in it and contribute to it to make it a real success. Through cooperation, we can make our school paper worthy of school and its instructors.

The student body joins with me in welcoming the new students, our Sophs, our ex-students, and both new and old teachers to a school year which, we hope, by our combined efforts will be outstanding in its activities and scholastic achievements.

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Mr. C. B. Jackson, who is head of the Commercial Department, and Miss Roach, who will teach foreign languages, are new additions to the faculty this year. The students are glad to have them among the faculty members and will endeavor in every way to make it a pleasant year.

ASSEMBLY

Monday morning Rev. Robert S. McKee, Presbyterian pastor, delivered exercises for both Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior College. "Why We Go to School" was the subject Rev. McKee adequately discussed. Some, he said, go for cultural value while others attend merely to say they have been to school. The real reasons for attending school, in Rev. McKee's estimation, however, are to be able to accomplish tasks efficiently and gracefully, to know one's self, and to learn how to live in order to get the most out of life.

Mr. D. C. Watson gave a talk in behalf of the school board. He expressed the wish of the school board to cooperate in any worthwhile activity which the school chose to undertake.

Mr. Rhodin Chase played a piano solo. Mr. G. L. Boykin led BOOM RAH, BRONCHOS!

Already that glorious name that puts a thrill into the heart of every loyal school boy and school girl is on everybody's lips—"The Bronchos." The Bronchos of '33 and '34 have started in a manner that the whole school should be proud of. On Tuesday there were as many as 27 to show up for work-out, and the coaches said they expected many more to join later in the week. Surely that is a prospect that is extremely promising. Out of that many men there is bound to be some good material.

Not only is the season's prospects favored by such a large number of boys coming out, but there will be letter men back this year. That is a great advantage, for certainly everyone knows that to become a letter man on a C. H. S. Broncho team a player must be good. These letter men are: Lloyd Martin, Carroll Hudson, Heavy Whitlock, T. J. Mann, John McMahan, Elery Watson, J. T. Easterling.

The school is looking forward to a very exciting and successful season for the Bronchos, but, Student, you must realize that no matter how good the team is it cannot stand alone. It is up to the students and school as a whole to back the Bronchos to the very limit.

Let us all join in and make this year successful in every way and especially on the gridiron. Let us get together and start a whirl of enthusiasm that will even surpass the incomparable spirit of '26. What a wonderful year could be had if the students would only make it so! While the nation is recovering from the depression through NRA, let us make the school recovery from its lethargy with a revival of good old school and football spirit. Go on Bronchos! The school is behind you!

JUNIOR CLASS

All great successes must have their beginning. So it was with the present Junior Class came years ago, just at the close of summer, before the first Aulunnae tinges had begun to appear, the present Junior Class came into being. Through our Freshman year we toiled over Algebra and worried because we couldn't see the point to jokes told by the Profs. But as Sophomores we quickly over-came the idea that we were "all of it" that has been so characteristic of other classes.

As Juniors we are extremely happy. We no longer worry over studies. Spanish and English are mere trifles if the past. The Juniors may not make as much noise as some of the other, but in our quiet, unassuming way we have led.

What shall be the future of the class of '35" is unknown, but when the present jolly Juniors shall be called upon to assume the dignity of the cap and gown, may none of us be afflicted with the painful swelling of the head that so often appears in the Senior year.

JUNIOR COLLEGE FRESHMEN

The Freshmen Class of Clarendon Junior College starts out with a bang. Although the number enrolled cannot be accurately given, it is certain that this class will be the largest ever to enter the college. Many of its members were also members of that '33 Senior High Class, which broke so many records. That should give you an idea of what wonders this class is planning to accomplish. Watch out for the Freshmen!

SENIOR REPORT

The heads of the sophisticated seniors are just too large for their hats. It is really amusing to see them walking down the hall with their chests out and their heads high, laughing at the sophs who are timidly weaving their way to and from their faces. The seniors intend to make the most of their last year of dear old High School, and fill it with all the pleasures possible.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENTS

During the summer months the campus has seen several changes. Three months ago, the students left the "rock pile" to return this fall to find a drastic change. The entire campus is planted in grass, and the trees and shrubbery which were set out before school was out are growing beautifully. Our campus is now among the prettiest in West Texas. Surely the change that Cinderella underwent could not have been greater than the change our campus has undergone during the last three months.

SOPHS TOO BUSY

The Sophs regret that they do not have a report this week, but their time has been fully occupied "finding their way around." They are a strong class and will have many activities to report during the year. They will probably "get located" by next week and have a report.

Sport Sputters SAYS -

Father Time has once again turned the wheels of time, school bells are again ringing, and "FOOTBALL" comes to the lime-light. The moleskins are pulled down from their resting place, and the "hope to be Bronchos" fall into line for quick-fire action. With numerous amount of real football material, the prospects for a winning team are very bright. Since the repeal of an old football rule, the Bronchos are now eligible to play a game within three weeks after training has started, which will make September 23rd the day of the Bronchos first game.

For the first three days workouts some 40 odd lads were on hand. Wit hno conflict whatsoever they showed plenty of that "Broncho fighting spirit". Last year's men to report were McMahan, Whitlock, L. Martin, O. C. Watson, Easterlin, Holtzclaw, Mann, Gorman, E. Watson, Hudson, McCrary, F. Jackson, J. Jackson, Word, Green, Nichols, Tidwell, Boston, Evans and Estlack. New Material who reported were: Barrow, Behrens, Beverly, Lynn, Turnbow, Duckett, Grady, Powell, V. Martin, P. Whitlock, Thomas, Mayo, Gattis, F. Butler, G. Butler, Fowler, McGowan, Merrit and Walker. A few more are expected to enter training as soon as school gets into full swing.

Prospects for a heavy line and a medium weighted, fast backfield was favorable. This year's line vacancies will probably be filled by Behrens, Gorman, Mann, Burrow, and Holtzclaw; in the backfield by Turnbow, Powell, Green, Evans and Gattis. The main trouble with the Bronchos this year, and it has been for years back, is that most of the boys get "Charlie-horses" between the ears."

The Bronchos' first conference conflict will be with the under-rated Wellington Skyrockets, at the sizzling city on October 6. However, the 23rd and 29th of September are open, but will probably be filled soon by some class A or strong class B school. Coaches Hutton and Stocking extended a cordial welcome to all you fans to come up to the field and watch the High Stepping! Bronchos preform. They start the workouts every afternoon at 3:30 p. m.

In the Texas League, Houston, Galveston, Dallas and San Antonio—that's the finish of the upper division of this year's race—the race started yesterday. The Dallas Steers who finished in third place will win the Texas League. Washington has the American League in the bag. In the National League the Boston Braves have a slim chance.

The school has had two distinguished guests during the week. Mr. J. Roy Wells has been back to visit the school and Dr. Collis Stocking visited the school Tuesday.

A BETTER AMERICAN HE IS

Harger Smith lives in Arkansas on a cotton farm. A Texarkana representative of the New Deal explained to Hagar about plowing up cotton to support President Roosevelt. That is to say, the town man went out to Hagar's farm to explain the idea. When he got there he found Hagar already plowing up three acres out of his fifteen acres of cotton.

Semi-Weekly Farm News.

"Boss," said Hagar, "I don't want no money to help Mr. Roosevelt. I'se gwine plow up my part and everybody else ought to do the same." And Hagar smote his mule and went ahead with the plow. The city man folded up the contract blank and stuck it in his pocket, plodding back to his car by the roadside. And Hagar plowed on.

Hagar is a negro with the mark of Africa written large upon his undissimulating face. But his is a better Americanism than most of us can claim. Loyalty without price is loyalty indeed.

Women Live Much Longer Than Men; Why? They're Stronger Physically

The latest crop of life insurance statistics, produced by Dr. Louis I. Dublin of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, show conclusively that women of all races and under all conditions of life live longer than men. That reason, according to Dr. Dublin, is that women are "better organized physically than men."

The average American now lives a little more than 61 years. As Dr. Dublin explains in the American Magazine: "At birth, a white male child may look forward to a life of 59½ years; a white female child may expect 63 years. In all civilized countries the female is longer lived than the male, enjoying an advantage of from 2 to 4 years."

"The finest longevity records of all are found in far-away New Zealand. There the average life for men is 65 and for women 68, nearly 6 years better than in America. That is because the people of New Zealand have given more attention than the rest of us to sanitation and to personal and community hygiene."

"Among all peoples the women outlive the men. Statistics show that from 105 to 106 males are born for every 100 females. But as they grow older the higher death rate of the males equalizes this in spite of the heavier male immigration. Very old people are predominantly women. There seems to be no question that women are better organized physically than men. Also, women enjoy greater protection and, despite the hazards of child-bearing, lead lives which are less physically exhausting.

"If you are married, whether you are man or woman, you have a better chance of living long than if you are single. The old joke that it only seems longer may be disregarded. At age 25, for example, the married man may expect 5 years more of life than the bachelor of the same age."

"Married women have an advantage over the spinsters all along the line, except in a few of the child-bearing years. In Germany the advantage is limited to between the ages of 20 and 22, when the risks of child-bearing temporarily shorten the married woman's expectation."

"The advantage enjoyed by the married people is partly due to selection. In other words, people

CHEVROLET IS LARGE RAIL FREIGHT SHIPPER

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 5—How one transportation system supplements another was revealed here today in the statement by the Chevrolet Motor Company that in the first six months of this year the company moved by railway freight 69,596 full carloads of incoming materials and outgoing finished parts and automobiles.

This represents an increase of 38 per cent over the full carload movement in the same period last year, according to C. R. Scharff, Chevrolet Traffic Director, and does not include 72,000,000 pounds of railway freight carried in less-than-carload lots, and additional 2,100,000 pounds moved by railway express and 24,000,000 pounds moved by freight forwarders.

Millions of dollars have already been paid to the railroads this year by Chevrolet for the traffic haulage essential in the movement of parts and raw materials to the company's twenty domestic plants, and the out-bound carriage of parts and finished automobiles to dealers and zone warehouses, Mr. Scharff pointed out.

The long sustained buying market for automobiles this year is reflected in the Chevrolet freight movement in June, the last month for which figures are available. In this month alone the company handled 16,409 full carloads of freight, or more than three times as much as in June, 1932.

Mr. Scharff stated that 65.3 per cent of all freight handled by Chevrolet in June was moved by rail. The remainder was divided between motor trucks, drive-aways and water transportation.

How He Spends Fortune Left Him By Richest Woman In The World

When Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world, died at the age of 81, there were many guesses as to what would become of the $100,000,000 fortune which she left behind her. Public attention focussed on the son and heir, Col. E. H. R. Green, who was almost unknown.

Hetty Green had lived in a simplicity which at times was not far from poverty, because she was happiest when her thin fists were closed tight around her cash. Her greatest pleasure in life was the accumulation of money.

With the passing of the years her son, Col. Green, has become a public figure of quite a different kind. The story of his trusteeship of her fortune is told in the American Magazine by J. B. Griswold.

"Col. Green," says Mr. Griswold, "is a huge man with a big heart and only one leg, a devoted son who gave half his life to his eccentric mother, and who at the age of 48 started out to try to buy some of the happiness he had missed."

"When Col. Green was born 65 years ago, his mother told her friends that she was going to make him the richest man in the world. When she died, 48 years later, she had failed to make good her boast. But Colonel Green was well satisfied. He had an ambition that never seems to have occurred to his money-loving mother. He didn't want to be the richest millionaire. He only wanted to be the happiest. And he had some happiness coming to him. For the last six years of his mother's life he had been with her almost constantly, taking over the management of her enormous and intricate investments and conducting her affairs with an efficiency that made the dollars roll in even faster.

"Colonel Green was a bachelor when his mother died. Though he had been in love several years, he had never married, for Hetty Green's wishes were the queen's command, and her son, tied to her apron strings, with his youth far behind him, knew that his mother wanted him only for herself, as long as she lived.

"Her son is no more like Hetty Green than a big, friendly St. Bernard dog is like a fox. Hetty Green's guarded dollars have gone bouncing merrily into circulation, performing kindly acts and capricious ones. In his effort to prove that money can buy happiness—not only for himself but for others—Colonel Green, squandering impulsively but never riotously, has become one of our most human.

"For a year after Hetty's death, Colonel Green sat quietly and respectfully mourning a mother whom he truly loved. Then he got under way."

TEN GREATEST SONGS AS PICKED BY VOTE

The ten greatest popular songs of the past decade, as picked by vote of 370 American orchestra leaders and musical authorities and published in the Woman's Home Companion, are: Old Man River, The Man I Love, My Blue

Heaven, Goodnight Sweetheart, When Day Is Done, Stardust, I'll See You in My Dreams, Tea for Two, Love Come Back to Me, and Russian Lullaby.

All but two of these were written by Americans; one is British and one Austrian. It is interesting that a somewhat similar selection of seventeen favorite songs in England included twelve American numbers.

According to the judges, "Clearly there is some quality in American life and traditions and perhaps something in our far-flung facilities for broadcasting and other performances which constantly inspires music and lyrics that go most directly to the hearts of great numbers of people. One at least we believe may survive through generations as Swanee River has. We refer to Old Man River."

ARCHITECTS URGE USE OF OLD STONE FENCES

For country and suburban homes, the newest fashion in fences is a stone wall, built as nearly as possible like those of old New England farms. Current architectural advices show a notable revival of interest in, and admiration for, the stone wall as a highly decorative feature of any important landscaping of Mr. Average American's front yard.

A bulletin issued by the architectural editors of the new National Encyclopedia goes into considerable detail as to the new vogue for "fences" of stone. An interesting side-light is a description of "one of the sturdiest and finest monuments of this kind now in existence." It is a beautifully-laid stone wall in Dutchess County, New York, near the home of the Delanos, cousins of President Roosevelt. According to the bulletin:

"It was laid without mortar, and the slabs of granite were so carefully quarried and fitted together as to attract admiration for many decades. A granite coping of heavy slab tops the wall. It was built by a man named Josiah Howe, and took him eight years, all by himself. At the end of the wall the old artisan had left a poetic inscription, now shadowed by sturdy evergreens. It reads: 'Josiah Howe, 1880: Just as it stands, with his own hands, he quarried and he cut em; when he is gone, may every stone, stay where Josiah put em.'"

More space has been sold at the State Fair of Texas for the 1933 exposition than has been sold in the past three years, it has been announced here by directors in charge of the space and concession departments. One reason for the increase in the demand for space is the Texas Manufacturers Show which will occupy one half of the Main Building.

By shouting so loudly that his voice was heard, according to judges, in three states at the same time, a distance of eight miles, Lee Chrisman, Kentucky farmer, set what is claimed to be a world record.

Library Notes

By MRS. C. A. BURTON

Hubert V. Coryell of the Brown and Nichols School in Cambridge, Mass., says he has been teaching and feels that he can confidently name some of the books that seem most appealing and worthwhile to boys. Of the list of twenty which he named, thirteen are on our shelves as follows: "The Biography of a Griggy" and "Wild Animals I Have Known" by Ernest Thompson Seton who started the run on wild animal stories and is still very much in the running. "The Call of the Wild" and "White Fang" by Jack London, who tells so thrillingly the red-blooded dog stories of the far north. "Lad, A Dog" by Albert Payson Terhune, the man who became famous by making his own dog famous. "Black Beauty" by Anna Sewell—the story which is the classic of horse life and is still popular. "The Jungle Books" by Rudyard Kipling up with wolves, told so realistically that they seem real to the boy who would like to have this experience. "Men of Iron" and "The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood" by Howard Pyle, painter, student of history, and imitable interpreter of the spirit of Robin Hood. "The Black Arrow" and "The Three Musketeers" by Robert Louis Stevenson and Alexander Dumas, both of who tell a thrilling story and give it a nearly perfect historical setting. "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" and "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" by Mark Twain. We can not imagine these two boys' books ever growing old, so full are they of thrilling human interest—so exactly "just boys." "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens who makes boys enjoy watching a twisted human soul become straight and hearty and merry. "Treasure Island" by Robert Louis Stevenson who wrote about pirates and hidden treasure to please one boy who was dear to him and succeeded in pleasing millions of boys and thus becoming dear to them. One of the most popular books ever written for boys.

Mr. Coryell might have added to this list "The Story of a Bad Boy" by Thomas Bailey Aldrich. This is the story of a bad boy who was also a very human boy whom we might meet any day—Tom Bailey who opened a theatre over the carriage house—who formed a Centipede Club—who led the great feud between the North-End and the South-End boys who fought the memorable snowfort battle on Statter's hill. Mr. Aldrich who has written many splendid things is at his best in this story of New Hampshire School boy life.

All of these boys' stories make us sense the truth of the following lines.

"There are lands that are Strange and fair and wild, And many a magic tale That is only waiting for any child Who will travel the story book trail."

A suggestion by her husband that she continue working after their marriage caused Mrs. Gladys Watson of Oakland, Calif., to file a divorce suit.

WHAT makes one motor oil higher in lubricating quality than another?

For one thing, the earth conditions in the geological age when the crude oil was formed. For another, the expertness of the refining process.

For these reasons the Sinclair Refining Company uses only the famous Bradford-Allegany District crude from the Pennsylvania field in its big, new Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil refinery at Wells-ville, N. Y.—where Sinclair Pennsylvania is triple-filtered, and the wax removed at as low as 60° F. below zero—thus making it more uniform than most oils, and far less productive of carbon.

The Bradford-Allegany crude that goes into Sinclair Pennsylvania was one of the few crude oils formed in the Devonian Age—a period in earth's long history when conditions of heat, pressure and materials were nearest perfect for the forming of oil. And the crude has lain there mellowing and filtering for a hundred million years—long enough to filter out undesirable compounds—long enough to bring the crude to a point where its superior lubricating quality commands the highest price of all Pennsylvania grade crude oils!

Have us change your oil to Sinclair Pennsylvania according to the Sinclair Law of Lubrication. Then examine this oil after long, hard driving. Note how it stands up—how it comes out of the crankcase almost as good as it went in. Note, especially, how little has been used up—positive, visible proof that this rich, Pennsylvania oil protects the last mile as well as the first!

Judge Lowe stated to a News reporter that he had received personal assurance from all parties concerned that all details incident to securing the right-of-way would be completed this week, and he will be able, he said, to give Mr. Van London's office definite assurance on the right-of-way west from Clarendon this week, in time to get the project in line for an early award of the contract.

This morning Judge Lowe received advice from the Ft. Worth and Denver road that it would accept a tentative proposal which had been made as to the Bell Creek drainage problem. Under the proposal the highway could be built close to the railroad tracks on the south side and avoid a big swing to the south at that particular point. Judge Lowe expressed great satisfaction at the progress which is being made on ironing out the many difficulties which have prevented the construction of Donley county's badly needed highways.

Rhodin Chase favored the club with two selections on the piano, playing "Trouble in Paradise" and "Mood Indigo," also inviting the Lions and visitors to attend the informal program which was given by himself, Bill Word and Arthur Chase on Tuesday evening at the Methodist church.

Lion H. T. Burton announced that his prediction of the week before, that the Junior College would have its greatest enrollment this year, had come true. Last year the initial enrollment at the end of the first week was 48. This year, on the second day, the enrollment had reached 75, with indications that other enrollments would be made. The same condition, in varying proportion, obtained in all other departments of the school, he stated. Homer Mulkey told of a young girl from a nearby community who is very anxious to obtain room and board in return for housework in order that she may attend school here. It developed that members of the club had information of several such cases, and Supt. Burton expressed the hope that any family which could provide worthy girls with the opportunity to get an education in this manner will get in touch with him, so that such arrangements may be worked out. "I feel a genuine sympathy for any girl who wants an education and has no other way of getting it," he said.

Visitors at the luncheon were Roy Wells, of Huntsville, Dr. B. L. Jenkins, Curry Powell, R. E. Drennan and Miss Rhoda Wiedman, who accompanied the club singing on the piano.

Critics throughout the world are quite unanimous in their statements that Bohumir Kryl is the greatest cornetist of the present day. The sobriquet, "the greatest cornetist in the world," is not one of the past year only but one which has rightfully possessed for a score of years. An outstanding feature of his mastery of this instrument is his ability to play two full octaves below any other cornetist, thus doing what has always been considered impossible.

In all his band work Kryl plays and features symphonic music. Thousands of listeners have likened his concerts to great pipe organs, so perfect is the musicianship of his group and so perfect his control over them.

In the personal make-up of the man there is found the rare grace which accompanies every movement on the stage. There is the unforgettable head crowned with tawny, yellow hair, and the blue eyes which reflect every mood of his musical spirit.

The career of this celebrated band master reads like a chapter from almost unbelievable fiction. Born in Prague, Bohemia, the son of a sculptor, ran away from home when he was eleven years old and joined a circus then travelling Europe, acting as an acrobat during the shows and playing his horn in the parade. For two years he cavorted through the air on the trapeze, tumbling and jumping over elephants, and other various antics of the circus tent. But a fateful day arrived when in jumping he met with an accident and had to quit the circus. After quitting the circus he walked two hundred miles to his home town.

Less than six months after the circus accident, Kryl was on his way to America, paying for his passage by playing his violin. Some ten years later Sousa heard of a young cornetist who was working as a sculptor at Crawfordsville, Indiana, engaged in doing a likeness of General Lew Wallace, and hearing him play persuaded him to lay down the chisel and become cornet soloist with the Sousa Band. A few years under Sousa and other noted band masters of the day and Kryl was ready to take his place with his symphonic band in the halls of music throughout America. Engagements were held for weeks at a time in Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Cincinnati, as well as the yearly tours when he crossed and recrossed the continent playing to packed houses and welcomed as the "picturesque bandmaster," and spoken of frequently as the "cornetist with the golden tone."

GEORGE MARTIN HOME
WRECKED BY HURRICANE

"House demolished by storm, we are safe, tell Burt," was the wording of a telegram received Wednesday by Carl Saye from Mrs. George Martin, of McAllen. Mrs. Martin is Burt Ayres' sister, and Mr. Martin is a brother of Bela Martin, of Amarillo.

Mrs. Martin and her husband moved to the Rio Grande Valley six or seven years ago, and their friends will be glad to know that they are safe, although their home was destroyed. McAllen was not in the area most affected by the hurricane, and reports have indicated that damage there was not extensive. Mrs. Martin was formerly on the sales force of the T. M. Little and Company.

John Beverly, of Pampa, spent Tuesday and Wednesday here on business.

Farmers To Be Paid Premium on Wheat For Consumption In the U. S.

COLLEGE STATION—The wheat farmer who signs a contract with the Government to reduce his acreage for 1934 and 1935 is paid for his cooperation in the form of a cash premium on that part of his crop used for human consumption in the United States, Extension Service officials at Texas A. and M. College explain. It is an effort, they say, to give the farmer a price of 54 percent of his crop sufficient to make it equal the pre-war purchasing power of wheat. For the 1933 crop, growers who sign contracts are promised 28 to 30 cents per bushel less local administrative costs for 54 percent of their average production for 1930-31-32. This production is adjusted up or down to put it in line with the county five-year average for the period 1928-32.

If John Doe produced an average of 1000 bushels during the years 1930-32 and lived in a county where the county five-year average production was the same as the three-year average production, he would be awarded on signing his contract a farm allotment of 540 bushels of wheat. On this amount he would be paid such benefits as the Secretary of Agriculture might announce each year of the three years the contract runs. For 1933 this figure was set at 30 cents per bushel when the wheat processing tax was levied. Out of this might be deducted as much as 2 cents per bushel to promote exports of American wheat, and out of this would be deducted a small amount to pay the cost of applying the plan in the county. John would be paid 20 cents per bushel this fall on the 540 bushel allotment, and the remaining amount about June 1st next.

If John's wheat blew out last spring he would receive the payments just the same. If he fulfilled his contract in good faith the Government will pay him his benefits on his allotted 540 bushels each of the three years 1933, 1934 and 1935. If he fails to carry out his contract it will be cancelled and all advances paid John will be collected.

In return for his benefits, which may vary from year to year but which will always be calculated to bring the price of the allotted bushels up to pre-war purchasing power, known as parity, John contracts to reduce his wheat acres as much below his three-year average acreage as the Secretary of Agriculture directs, but never more than 20 per cent. This fall he will have to reduce 15 per cent. Suppose he averaged 100 acres in 1930-32, he will be called upon to reduce down to 85 acres. He might reduce still further but would have to agree to sow enough wheat to produce his allotted 540 bushels assuming average yields. In this case his average yield was 10 bushels per acre, hence he would have to sow at least 54 acres but would not be allowed to sow more than 55 acres.

If John is a tenant he will have to get his landlord to sign the contract with him, and the two will share in the benefits in the same proportion as they share in the crop. If he is moving to another farm this fall he will still get his benefits on the land he farmed last year if he signs a contract with his landlord before leaving. The new tenant would have to assume the contract for the remaining two years. If John moves to a new farm where the landlord and tenant have signed a contract he will continue to participate in the benefits. The contract follows the farm and binds all parties for the life of the contract, whether they be new tenants or new owners.

The administration of the plan will be in the hands of wheat production control associations to be organized as soon as county agents with the aid of temporary campaign committees have explained the plan. Every man who signs an application for a contract will have one vote in electing a community allotment committee, the chairman of which will be one of the members of the board of directors of the county wheat production control association. Acting through the county allotment committee composed of board members, the new farmer association will work out all the farm allotments, sign contracts, inspect farms, and generally administer the affairs of the wheat allotment plan in their own interests and in accordance with provisions of the Government.

County educational campaigns are now beginning in most of the 131 Texas counties growing wheat, and every grower in the State is to be given an opportunity to sign a contract if he wishes.

Big Melon Grown
by S. W. Lamberson

Eighty pounds of watermelon in one package, prepared by Mother Nature herself, is a lot of watermelon as those who saw the 80-pounder Wednesday at Shelton and Sanford's grocery store will testify.

The melon was grown by S. W. (Stock) Lamberson, on the Nolie Simmons farm northeast of Clarendon. Stock is more than just pretty good at growing good watermelons. He brought in a bunch of other good melons that would have looked quite sizeable if the big boy had been out of the picture.

Ever since the watermelon season opened Mr. Lamberson has been fetching fine specimens to the local market, and says that he has a large number of other melons now in the making, many of which promise to be worthy mates of the 80-pounder.

Panhandle Rfg. Co.
Takes Long Lease

Extensive alterations are being made by H. C. Brumley on his building across the street east from Holland Bros. in preparation for its occupancy by the Panhandle Refining Company, of which Claude R. Gamblin is the local distributing agent. The company has taken a five-year lease on the building.

Workmen under the direction of Edd Barnes are remodeling the front of the building to provide a drive-in filling station and office space for Mr. Gamblin's wholesale oil and gasoline business. The remainder of the building will continue to be used by I. O. Noble's garage.

Mr. Gamblin became the Panhandle Refining Company's agent a few months ago, and has steadily increased the volume of business done, according to a statement made in connection with the change of quarters. "I have been well pleased with the business which my friends have given me and think that the new location will enable me to serve them more effectively, as it will be closer to the wholesale plant," he said.

The lease contract calls for completion of the remodeling by Oct. 1, or earlier, and Mr. Brumley expects to be ready for occupancy soon after Sept. 15th.
