

GRAND JURY MADE RECOMMENDATIONS

URGES CITIZENS OF THE COUNTY TO DO LESS TALKING ON NEGRO PROBLEMS.

Upon being dismissed last Saturday afternoon, following a week in a special session of District Court, the Grand Jury submitted a report which will be of unusual interest, together with recommendations which apply to the entire citizenship of Donley County. This report and the recommendations are given below.

Clarendon, Texas, Aug. 19, 1927. To the Honorable District Judge of the 100th Judicial District. We the Grand Jury empaneled for special term of Court in said District, beg to submit the following report:

"We have very carefully and diligently gone into the matters which your charge instructed us to investigate at the time we were empaneled, and from the evidence which has been brought before us by witnesses testifying under oath, we have in addition to returning several bills of indictment drawn some general conclusions, relative to the disturbances in some of the communities in the County, over the negro question, and wish to offer the following suggestions, in regard to the matter."

"We believe that a feeling of prejudice and hatred between some of the citizens of the County and the negroes, as well as unfriendly feelings between some of the substantial citizens of the County, is being intensified and aggravated by too many of the citizens in general, permitting themselves to engage in general conversations and discussions about the negro question and incidents and affairs that have transpired which relate themselves to the negro question."

"We believe that the best interest of the entire County and particularly those communities which have been involved by the negro question, both those who are concerned and those who are not concerned, will decline to make this matter a current topic for discussion or if possible to refrain from a discussion of the matter either confidentially with friends, or in public."

"We further urge the importance of every citizen keeping fresh in mind, his duty, as a citizen, to assist in any way he can within the law to promote peace and harmony, and that if a circumstance of any nature arises that jeopardizes or interferes with the rights of any one or more citizens that the law and justice of our Land should always have fair opportunity to correct the evil, and that the law is entitled to the full co-operation of each and every citizen in an effort to correct such wrongs."

NEW WATER WELL FINISH DATE SOON

TEMPORARY MACHINERY TO BE USED FOR SIXTY DAYS TO HOLD WATER SUPPLY

The water well of the city of Clarendon was officially completed the latter part of last week in so far as the actual development of the project is concerned. The final and official test was made the fore part of last week and was found to be entirely satisfactory to all concerned. The well was found to produce in excess of 180,000 gallons per day, with a production of considerably more than this amount for short periods."

The new machinery and equipment that is to be installed on the site of the well just west of the Light Plant will not be in the city and in operation before the end of sixty days. In the mean time, the present equipment consisting of the compressor and the air lift pump will be used to pump the water supply. This well does not deteriorate any other wells in the city with the exception of the one that is now being operated at the Light Plant. When the new well is being used, this well is completely out of the running, but recuperates quickly and is in position to work in thirty minutes or less after the well is stopped. Other wells that the city is operating are not affected by the operation of the new supply.

The new well is being rigged up and will be in operation by the latter part of this week. It is entirely possible that the well will be further developed as long as the present system of pumping is employed and should be in excellent condition by the time the regular equipment is received and put into place.

COUNTY FAIR LIST NEAR COMPLETED

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND HOME DEMONSTRATOR TRY TO COMPLETE PLANS.

Further plans of the County Fair for Donley County that will be held in Clarendon on October 14th and 15th are working to a fast completion date as the Secretary of Chamber of Commerce and the Home Demonstrator complete their lists. At last report, the premium lists of the part handled by Miss Key were nearing completion and would be filled by the latter part of this week. The Chamber of Commerce list that is being worked to completion by G. L. Boykin will need some further attention this week before the final plans can be presented to the public. Special prizes of various natures will be solicited from the business men this week and the list will in all probability be ready for publication by the end of this week.

Present plans indicate that the Central Ward School building will be used in part to present the displays to the public. The lower rooms of this building will be cleared of their equipment and will be used to hold a part of the community and club displays. The yard and grounds of the building will be utilized as display spaces for the livestock and other displays that materially assists in making the fair the success that it deserves to be.

The clubs of the girls over the county are all enthusiastically endeavoring to put the fair over in grand style and all of them state that they will have an exhibit of first class to show for the work they have done in the few months that Miss Key has been here at work. The farm produce will be in fine condition at that time and it is thought that some of the very best products that have ever been in this county will be available at that time.

Mrs. C. A. Daniels and daughter, Mrs. Pal Merritt, of Sudan and Mrs. Tom Dennis of Plaska were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Duncan Thursday of last week.

FARM OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT FOR YEAR

INDICATIONS POINT TO BEST CROP EVER SEEN IN EASTERN PART OF THE COUNTY.

One of the fastest transformations that has ever been seen in this county has taken place here within the past three to four weeks since the rains have fallen and have given the producers of this county a chance to show that their lands would make crops if they were given the opportunity.

In the eastern half of the county the crops are better in most places than they have been for any number of years, while near Clarendon on all sides the prospects are better than were thought to be when the dry weather of the early summer threatened to extend through the summer months.

Even those who waited to plant until the rains had fallen are now feeling that their prospects are excellent for a fair crop. Almost every farmer has a good stand of feed stuff and will be enabled to tide over the winter on this. In some parts of the county, where corn and other crops were planted in the dust, crops are better than they have ever been.

More farmers than ever before are turning to the sale of farm produce for their livelihood and the markets in Clarendon are being supplied with watermelons, canteloupes, green corn and other like produce in unbelievable quantities. Many farmers are sending their produce to the markets in the oil fields and are finding a ready market for all their products. One farmer who lives near Clarendon stated the fore part of this week that he had sold more than $250 worth of products up to that part of the month and that a part of his produce was not yet ready to go to the market. Cream, butter and eggs and poultry are finding their way into town in increasing quantities until it seems that the Donley County farmer is following the example of the more thickly settled parts of the nation in their methods of living at home all the time.

Bankers and merchants of Clarendon are preparing for a big business this fall and will not be disappointed in their preparations. Buyers are in the markets for their fall and winter goods and everyone is looking forward to a fine business during the months that will close the year of 1927.

BOYDSTON CLUB HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

At a meeting of the Boydston Home Demonstration Club Wednesday August 24th, new officers were elected. Mrs. Ben Bentley is the new president; Mrs. O. O. Morris was elected vice-president; and Miss Ivy Morris was elected secretary. Fourteen members were present and unusual interest was shown in the work the Club plans to do in the next few months. A general discussion on plans for the County Fair to be held in October was held by the membership. Announcement was made that the next meeting will be an all day one, which will be held in the home of Mrs. Thomas. The Club will make a rug at that time.

Wednesday's meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Helm, during the social hour which followed the business session, the hostess served delicious punch and cake.

Miss Elizabeth Alexander of Bryan, who is spending a month's vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Alexander, visited her sister in Crowell last week.

FIRE MARSHAL COMPLIMENTS CLARENDON ON CONDITION

The state Fire Insurance inspector was in Clarendon the fore part of last week and has stated that Clarendon is one of the cleanest and best kept towns he had visited in the many weeks that he had been away from his home city. The inspector has to do mainly with the business section of the city altho the residence section was gone over pretty thoroughly by the inspector in a car. The down town section of the town is especially inspected with the idea in view of preventing fires before they are given an opportunity to start. Defective and exposed wiring and containers of extra volatile materials are brought under the ban of the inspector and unless they are remedied, the building and contents are liable to a severe raise in their rates. The citizens of Clarendon are proud of the record that has been made by these inspections and feel that the residents of this part of the state have a mark to reach for when they look at Clarendon and go home to do likewise. The Yard Beautiful contest offers another good reason for making the town cleaner and more sanitary than many other reasons that can be given.

SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 5TH

INSTITUTE TO BE HELD HERE 3RD, 4TH. PROGRAM TO OPEN COLLEGE AND H. S.

September fifth will be an important day in the history of Clarendon, for on that day will be opened the new Municipal Junior College. The public schools of the city, including the newly established Junior High School will open on the same day, and interesting program has been planned for the event.

This program will be given in the auditorium of the Administration Building, which will house both the Junior College and High School, and will begin at nine o'clock. A man of state wide prominence will be the principal speaker of the day. The business men's organizations are co-operating to produce a fitting program, and the ministers of the city and members of the Board of Trustees will be on hand, of course. Miss Rita Foster, teacher of expression and public speaking; Miss Helen Martin, teacher of piano and theoretical subjects; and Miss Ruth Denison, public school music instructor, will make their first public appearance in Clarendon on this program, a fact which will be of great interest to prospective students and their parents. Superintendent Paul Morgan is now working out the program in detail, and it is expected that it will be one of the most worth while opening exercises ever staged here in either college or public school.

A two day institute will be held for all teachers of Clarendon, September third and fourth. The school system in the city presents problems of organization which will of necessity be settled in a local institute. Practically the entire two days will be spent in study of organization, says Superintendent Morgan, under whose supervision the program will be held. Provision for such institutes is made under a new law and the Board of Trustees has granted for such a one, at the recommendation of Superintendent Morgan. Other schools of the County have signified a wish to send their teachers to the Clarendon meet, rather than to the district institute at Canyon, but this matter has not yet been passed on by authorities.

Dean H. T. Burton of the Junior College, Mr. Morgan, members of the Board of Trustees, business men and others are most enthusiastic concerning the prospects of the new school organization. Dean Burton says that indications are that there will be between eighty and one hundred college students ready to enter the Junior College during the Fall matriculation. Girls from out of the city will room in the Girls' Dormitory on the campus, while boys from out of town will find rooms in private homes near the College. Enough rooms have already been offered for the number of boys who will come. Dean Burton says, and he anticipates no difficulty in this matter. Boys who desire to do so may have their meals in the dining room of the Girls' Dormitory. Inquiries about the new college have poured in steadily since the first definite plans were made for its establishment, but they have been very numerous indeed in the last two weeks. All signs point to great success for both the Junior College and the public schools under the new system.

DONLEY COUNTY TO EXHIBIT AT FAIR

LATE ANNOUNCEMENT FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. EXHIBIT WILL BE MADE.

Under the new ruling that a prize or premium will be paid to all counties for an agricultural exhibit shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo on September 11th-17th, the Chamber of Commerce of Clarendon has made plans to have a Donley County exhibit in its place when the fair is opened.

Miss Key has offered the support in securing exhibits from the clubs of the county to fill spaces and to make the exhibit as fine as can be shown. From the information that has been received, it is thought that the county will not be entered for competition with the other counties of the Panhandle due to the fact that the crops are late in this section and that little work has been done in the past to secure an exhibit of any nature.

The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce will be glad to talk to anyone who has anything that will be needed to make a complete showing at the fair.

WALTER MOREMAN TO ENTER BUSINESS WITH HIS FATHER

Walter Moreman has resigned his position as instructor in the Biology Department of Texas Christian University at Fort Worth to enter the ginning business at Hedley, in partnership with his father, W. B. Moreman. Walter Moreman has held the instructorship for the past two years, and before accepting it, he was student assistant for a year. He received his degree from T. C. U. three years ago, after making a brilliant record in the school. His many friends wish him every success in business.

He arrived Friday night and is visiting his parents. Misses Ruth and Fern Cummings arrived this week from Clifton, to spend the coming school year with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Cummings, managers of the Antro Hotel. They were accompanied to this city by their grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Goldston, who will make a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Cummings. The young ladies have spent the summer in Clifton.

LIONS HEAR MUCH TALK OF GAS LINE

SMALL AND SPIRITED ATTENDANCE DISCUSS APPROACHING LINE FOR CITY

One of the most interesting luncheons that has been had in this city for the past few weeks was that had Tuesday of this week. The Boss Lion and all three of his assistants were out of the city and Ex Boss Lion Watson held the chair for the period of the luncheon. The roll call elicited much merriment when the Lions were asked to answer by calling the name of some Lion that was absent from the meeting.

Joe Goldston, enterprising business man of the city was introduced to the club as the guest of the day and stated that he was more than impressed with the club and its work and that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the work that was being pressed by the club and its members.

This was followed by a series of discussions on many subjects that are near and dear to the hearts of all Lions. First came the announcement of the convention at Wellington and the request that all Lions attend if at all possible. The band will be taken from here and will aid much in the entertainment of the day.

The remainder of the hour was taken with a discussion of the pending gas for the city of Clarendon. The many sides of the question were discussed with several of the members adding their news to the little that was first available when the luncheon opened. When completed, it was found that considerable information had been gathered first and last.

Lion Chase stated that he had visited the pumping plant at Rockledge and that this was a place of interest to anyone, revealing many items that are not ordinarily known to the man who has never seen a plant of this nature. It was further stated that they were glad to show the plant if the visitor will call at the office before seeking entrance to the place.

Lion Watson raised the question of an exhibit for the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo and it was later learned that the Chamber of Commerce had authorized such an exhibit under the new ruling of the Fair Committee from Amarillo.

A report on the water well of the city was given by Lion Chase, who stated that the well would be in active operation by the latter part of this week and that it would be sixty days before the contract was filled and the pumping equipment could be secured and put into operation.

Adjournment was had in the usual manner.

LAST STORY HOUR TO BE HELD TUESDAY, 30TH.

The last of the Pathfinder Story Hours of this summer will be held at the Central Ward School building and grounds next Tuesday at seven o'clock in the evening. All children under twelve years of age are invited to attend. An interesting story-teller will entertain for an hour, after which there will thirty minutes for playing in the school yard.

The Story Hour has not been held for the past two weeks, because of the health situation, but as all possible danger seems to have passed, the Hour will be held at the usual time next week.

Miss Elizabeth Holloway, who has spent three weeks here as the guest of her brother, Louis Holloway, returned to her home in Dallas Friday night. During her visit in Clarendon, Miss Holloway was honored at a number of delightful social affairs.

JURY RETURNS 24 INDICTMENTS

GRAND JURY ACHIEVES MUCH IN SPECIAL SESSION HERE. THREE CASES TRIED.

Twenty-four bills of indictment were returned by the Grand Jury sitting in the special session of District Court which was held here past week. During the six day session of court, many urgent cases were investigated, the majority of which were connected with the charges of white capping in the eastern part of the county. Of the twenty-four bills returned, thirteen were misdemeanors and eleven were felonies.

Three cases were tried during the session, each resulting in conviction. These were: State of Texas versus I. P. Thomas for theft of truck, convicted and given five years in the penitentiary, suspended sentence; the State of Texas versus O. L. Williams for theft of car, convicted and given three years in the penitentiary; the State of Texas versus Howard Sims, colored, for manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor, convicted and given one year in the penitentiary.

The list of the indictments returned, with the exception of two on which warrants have not yet been returned, is given below. The indictments for felonies were: Raymond Everett, perjury; Grover Moore perjury; Shelley Doshier, murder, four charges in connection with the killing of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weatherby and two children; Annie Doshier, murder, four charges in connection with the killing of the Weatherby family. The indictments on misdemeanor charges were the following: Mack Shaw, aggravated assault; Dan Latimer, malicious mischief; Dan Latimer, aggravated assault; Dan Latimer, Malicious mischief; and Sam Chenault, Slim Ellis, Leonard Walls, Jasper Shaw, Jack Whitesides, G. Z. Sherman, and Grover Heath, for riot and unlawful assembly. All the misdemeanor bills grew out of the charges made in connection with violent demonstrations against the negroes. It was said, as did the two bills not mentioned.

SUPPLY LINE APPROACHES TOWN

PIPE LAYING AND WELDING CREW WILL BE NEAR CITY LIMITS WITHIN FEW DAYS

Late reports from men who have been to Memphis within the last few days state that the welding crew and pipe laying gang of the Upham Gas Company are approaching the city at a rapid rate. At this pressure, the estimate by some of the local people to be more than three hundred pounds per square inch.

It is further stated that the crews for the laying of the pipe in the city will be ready to come here in a short time and that they will be in fine shape to meet the demands of the city when the gas reaches the city. The inside crews are busy in cities further toward the center of the state and will be released as soon as they can complete some minor details that need their attention.

The line that is being laid to Clarendon will be a four inch welded line, coming out of a six inch line that makes its end near Memphis on the north. The six inch line will supply more than two four inch lines and will carry big pressure. This pressure is estimated by some of the local people to be more than three hundred pounds per square inch.

In the city proper, some lines will be laid that are as large as six inches. This is done to allow for the expansion of the gasses and to allow for the reduction of the lines that will be used in piping the houses. The gas is delivered to the homes and to the users of the gas as a seemingly small pressure of six to eight ounces.

Plumbers state that some houses are being piped and others are planning to have the work done as soon as the plans of the piping in the city are secured. It is supposed that the lines will be run in the alleys as much as possible, but very little work is being done until the terminals of the lines can be determined.

LITTLE MERCANTILE HAS NEW SIDE WALK

A new side walk was placed at the entrance of the Little Mercantile Company store this week, running the full length of the building. The new blocks were laid with a slight slant, in order to give a better drainage. The new improvement adds much to the appearance of the building.

BOY SCOUTS WILL HAVE 3 DAY CAMP

SWIMMING AND LIFE SAVING LESSONS TO BE GIVEN BOYS AT COUNTRY CLUB

A three-day Boy Scout Camp will be held near the Country Club grounds for all Clarendon Scouts, commencing September 1st, and lasting until September 3rd. There will be no expense to the Camp for the boys in attendance. Each boy will bring his own eats and his own equipment. The Scoutmasters will supply each boy with a list of things to bring.

It is hoped that every Scout in Clarendon will find a way to get to the camp. Water activities will be one of the main features of the camp, and will come under the direct supervision of Mr. Edmonds Knittle, Field Executive of the Panhandle Council. Special instruction in swimming and life saving will be given every day. Handicraft in leather and wood carving and other Scout tests will be on the program of activities.

All boys who expect to attend the Camp must see their Scoutmasters at once for complete details. A number of local camps have been held throughout the Panhandle this summer, and they are proving so successful and so popular that it is the intention of the Council to make a yearly affair of these camps.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT CONVENTION

FINE DELEGATION FROM HERE ATTENDS DISTRICT MEET IN WELLINGTON TODAY

Even the hour of leaving was early, a fair attendance from Clarendon is present at the District Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Wellington today. The Clarendon Band is present and is making the air lively with tunes that are guaranteed to help much in the hilarity of the occasion. The delegation from Clarendon is headed by G. L. Boykin, Secretary-Manager of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce and by J. T. Patman, President of the same organization. These men have been busily engaged all this week securing attendance for the occasion and it is due to their efforts that the attendance is what it should be.

The delegation left Clarendon this morning in the seemingly wee small hours that they might be on hand to help in the opening of the festivities at 9:30 this morning. Some of the delegation state that they were after the attendance prize that has been offered for the town making the best showing.

The race for the next meeting of the convention is guaranteed to be close since three towns wanted the convention when it was held here last year.

Judge C. C. Small will be in charge of the morning session and Homer D. Wade will act in the capacity of toastmaster for the luncheon which will conclude the program of the day. The visitors will return to their homes this evening after the end of all festivities.

The East is flooded out; boll worms and boll weevils are in portions of Texas; it looks like the Lower Panhandle section is the favored part of the Grand Domain today. Men who come here from different parts of Texas and other States say that this particular part of the United States looks better to them right now than any other portion they know of. The opinions of these men are worth much. They are correct in their analysis of the situation. The Lower Panhandle is today the best fixed of any part of Texas. It looks as though we are going to make a bumper crop, and there is every prospect of getting a fair price for the stuff this season. In language of one traveling man who comes here regularly, "It looks good, gooder, goodest" to the folks in Cottle County this year.—Paducah Post.

Not infrequently someone causes a stir with the old, old cry that civilization is decaying and that the world is headed straight for perdition. If the remarks of the calamity seer are carefully analyzed, in the majority of cases it will be found that he has a pet "grouch." He has "specialized" on one form of present day diversion of people, and too close study has convinced him everything is wrong. He doesn't see clearly. It may be prohibition, or it may be immorality. It may be the movies or it may be apparent lack of reverence for the religious or social standards of past generations. Whatever it is, we can't afford to take these one-sided people too seriously. The fancied evils of society today are no more serious than were the troubles of the generations that have passed. Remember when every boy who read dime novels was believed to be on the road to a career of crime? —Paducah Post.

GARY AND ARMOUR

Two men who long have been identified with big business in the United States died within a few hours of each other Monday and Tuesday of last week. Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, and as such virtual head of the American steel industry, died in New York Monday. J. Ogden Armour, chairman of the board of directors of Armour and Company, noted financier and capitalist, died Tuesday in London.

Each of these men carved a deep niche in the business world in which they took such leading parts. Judge Gary, as head of the steel corporation, piloted the destinies of the greatest single concern in the business world, and to his vision and untiring efforts in increasing the scope of that company, much of the recent growth is due. Organized during a time when "trusts" were legitimate game for attack from all sides, Judge Gary helped to prove that large business was not necessarily inimical to the interest of the people, but when properly managed, performs greater service than would be possible for smaller companies to perform.

J. Ogden Armour handled with credit a great business handed down to him by his father, Philip D. Armour. In the last few years he had not been directly associated with the company which bears his name, due to his many other business interests. Unlike Gary who leaves an immense fortune, Armour is said to have an estate valued at only $20,000, because of his losses on the stock market; losses which he met by sacrificing his personal holdings until these were reduced to the present low point.—Denton Record-Chronicle.

There are many things which tend to puzzle the people of today, but one of the most puzzling of all is why a father who is money-mad, and a mother is card and club mad, will rush to the telephone and call the preacher to come over at once when their boy or girl is found to have landed in some kind of a social or moral mess. They have been so busy grasping for dollars or playing games for prizes that they could not find a minute to council son or daughter. The latter have been left to go it alone, and when, as is usually the case in a haphazard way of living, the offspring make a sad mistake and get into trouble then it is the father and mother bemoan their fate, crying out in anguished tones that they can not see why such a punishment should be visited upon them. The children should not be censured. The blame should fall where it justly belongs—upon the shoulders of the neglectful parents into whose hands the lives of these young people were given.—Paducah Post.

PROSPERITY ASSURED

Prospects for a bumper crop of cotton in Wilbarger County could hardly be brighter than they are at the present time. Rains have come at just about the right intervals, and insect infestation has not threatened to such an extent as to become serious. There is always more or less apprehension during August on the score of insects, but the crop has safely passed the middle of the month, without any serious threat and favorable weather for the next three or four weeks should bring the crop to maturity in fine condition.

Of equal interest to our prospects is the prospect of a fair price for cotton this fall. The first crop estimate by the Government was lower than expected and reports of crop deterioration in certain sections will have the effect of keeping prices steady, it seems, for some time. It seems now that we will have a good crop in Wilbarger County and will get a good price.

To these factors, add the advantages of good feed crops and the fact that most of the farmers were compelled to go through the year on lower than normal borrowings at the bank and it is easily seen that we face one of the best conditions in the next few months that Vernon and Wilbarger County have known in many years.—The Vernon Daily Record.

AIRPLANES FOR WAR

The Daily Papers Sunday carried a story to the effect that President Coolidge has approved "a material increase in next year's expenditures for the national defense." Meaning that the United States Government is just now beginning to realize the real need of airplanes for aggressive and defensive fighting in the next war.

This step is a civilization of public sentiment. Public sentiment has been molded by the press over the United States. The readers of the Standard who read Arthur Brisbane's column "This Week" which is prepared for Weekly papers, and readers of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram who read Brisbane's column "Today" which is prepared for daily papers know to just what length Brisbane has gone to impress upon the public, and by public we mean from the President to the least influential. Brisbane has been an influence.

Wars are nauseating when they are brewing, devastating in the fighting and horrible in the aftermath, but the problem of averting war has never been solved, apparently therefore the world must continue to have its wars and its rumors of wars.

Occupying a position pre-eminent in the world affairs it is nothing less than foolhardiness for the United States to kid herself into thinking she is too big, too rich or too brave to be assailed by another power in the future. Our idea is that the United States should foster peace, happiness and prosperity, but when another power takes a swat at her she should retaliate with a wallop that does its own talking.

The best way to protect yourself from an enemy, or possible enemy, is to be prepared when the time comes.—The Collingsworth Standard.

SAD BUT TRUE

The following paragraphs appeared in the Friday edition of the Vernon Daily Record under the head of "Home Town Stuff." We considered it of sufficient importance to be reproduced in our columns.

Yesterday morning while H. T. was waiting around a drug store for a friend of his to offer to buy a drink, he listened in on a conversation between the manager and one of his customers that illustrates a peculiar trait of human nature. It seems that the customer had purchased a flashlight from the store and it failed to function properly. The customer walked in rapidly and immediately launched into a recital of his purchase of the flashlight, what he paid for it, when he bought it, what it would do, what it wouldn't do, what he thought of a store that would take honest money in exchange for such inferior merchandise. The druggist smilingly expressed his regret that the light turned out badly and gave it to an assistant with instructions to replace the defective parts, assuring his customer that he would have it fixed in a moment. But the customer argued. And finally left the store in a rage. What he wanted was argument, not satisfaction. In all probability the customer would have gone away happy, if the druggist had first denied the light was defective, then denied liability if it was actually defective, next declaring he wouldn't fix it if it was defective, and then gradually weakened before the customer's argument until he would do what the customer insisted upon. A maxim in business is to give the customer what he wants. This customer wanted argument and the druggist gave him service. Therefore the customer was displeased.

CHEVROLET REGISTRATIONS OUTSTRIP OTHER AUTOMOBILES

Figures just released show that for the seventh consecutive month Chevrolet registrations have led every other single make of car in Wayne County, Michigan, in which Detroit is the leading center.

During July just ended Chevrolet not only topped every other make of car by registering 935 passenger models, but also led the list of truck registrations with 106 commercial cars, an increase of more than 100 per cent over Chevrolet's own high mark in July, 1926.

Commenting on these records, R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, declared that "Chevrolet's consistent leadership is a definite tribute to the public's utter confidence in and appreciation for our cars."

It is especially significant that Wayne county should show this overwhelming preference for Chevrolets. Wayne county is the center of the industry. The people here live on and work in the automobile factories. They are motor wise. They do not put their stamp of approval on a car unless they believe that it represents the utmost in motor car value.

Chevrolet factories, Mr. Grant said, are continuing their record-setting pace by turning out more than 3,600 units daily, so fast that by the middle of August the entire output for 1926 was expected to be passed.

Investigation reveals the probability that the giant meteoric stone now on the grounds of the State Fair of Texas and which will be marked with an explanatory tablet by the Dallas Astronomical Society before the fair opens, Oct. 8, is a part of the famous Biela's comet, which went to pieces in 1885 and one part of which, now in the National Museum, in Washington, was found across the border in Texas. The State Fair meteor fell somewhere between Brownwood and San Angelo and the fair management is seeking more information as to the exact locality.

Electricity And Progress

Are talked about as one and the same thing today.

Electric Power is the world's greatest labor saver. The only way in which people can live at a higher material level is by making their work more useful and more productive. Electricity does this in the first place, and thus improves the lot of each individual. Later on Electricity enables that individual to carry on his work more easily and more agreeably.

The Increase in Electric Power in the United States has been 1,000 per cent since 1907.

The citizens of Clarendon have had a part in this development program of which they can justly feel proud, for in the enormous amount of money which has been spent in this program of expansion Clarendon has shared.

BIG POULTRY SHOW AT THE STATE FAIR

The poultry show at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, will be the largest and the best ever held in the Southwest, according to Walter Burton, of Dallas, head of that department for the past 15 years.

When Mr. Burton began the show room at the disposal of the poultry industry cooped about 500 birds. It answered its purpose then, for the industry had not grown to its present great proportions. As time went on the space was gradually enlarged until now the building has a capacity for displaying over 5,000 birds.

Even with all this space at his command, it will hardly hold the 1927 exhibit, according to Mr. Burton, for the entries are coming in from all parts of the country and he therefore advises all intending exhibitors to apply for space early.

The State Fair of Texas looks forward to the greatest attendance in its history in 1927, because of the splendid condition of all crops and the recent increase in the price of cotton, which added many millions of dollars to the wealth of the farmers and planters. Moreover, more and more of the farmers are giving intelligent attention to poultry raising and this year thousands of them plan to invest in birds of the best breeds as the nucleus of larger and better flocks.

Over a million people will visit the poultry show this year, it is predicted, and Mr. Burton believes that the poultry men can get no better publicity than at the State Fair and this, he says, is proven by the fact the same exhibitors come back year after year and always do well.

There is no question about Mr. Burton's enthusiasm and his knowledge of his business. He is always on the alert to look after the interest of the exhibitors in his department. Even the humblest of them receives earnest attention, one of the reasons why the Poultry Show at the State Fair always has been a success.

Nevertheless he is very strict as to the quality of the birds offered for exhibit, and this is as it should be, the best exhibitors say. Burton also sees that each year a splendid educational program is offered the visitors, with such authorities as Professor Reid, of the Department of Poultry Husbandry, and others of like reputation as the principal speakers, offering a post graduate course in poultry raising for financial success.

The Texas Baby Chick Association will meet for two days, this year instead of only one, as in the past. There will be an interesting and profitable program. Entries in the poultry department close Saturday, Oct. 1st. Write Roy Rupard, Secretary, State Fair of Texas, for a complete premium list of the poultry department.

BUY AND KISS AT HOME

There is a good story of a man who found himself bankrupt and came to break the news to his better half. She did not seem so wonderfully depressed as he had expected and asked him to go with her to a certain bank where she opened a safe deposit box and show him a great stack of bills, sufficient to put him back on his feet. "Whose is this?" asked the man. "It is ours," replied the wife. As his wonderment increased, he asked where she got it and how she saved so much.

"You remember when we were married you promised me one dollar for every kiss. You always kept your word. I saved the money and this is the result."

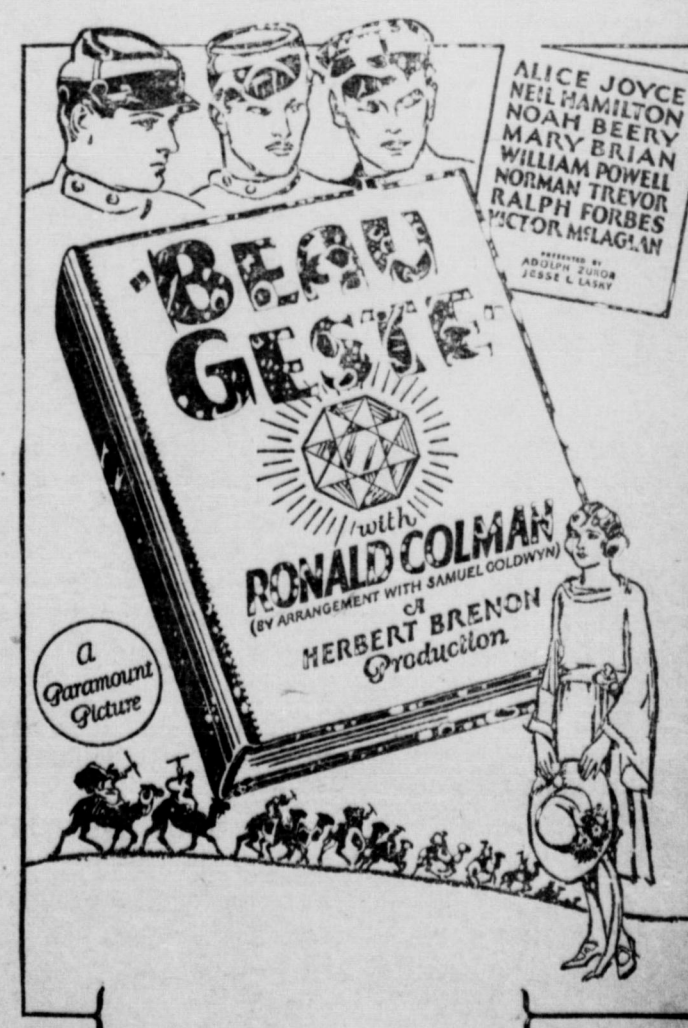

In his astonishment the man exclaimed, "I wish I had done all my kissing at home."

The above is a fine illustration of trading at home. Every dollar you spend in your town remains there and helps the town. Every dollar you spend out of town makes the community that much poorer.

Do your buying—and your kissing—at home and the money will be as broad east upon the waters. When most needed it will be there to help you.—Gainesville Register.

OAKLAND PIONEERS WITH PROVEN MOTOR FEATURES

An entirely new motor car which really is not new at all; this is the paradox presented by the new Oakland All-American Six, in which the American public is finding so much interest today. For while the All-American Six is new to the public, both in point of engineering advances and in brilliant performance to which they contribute, it is old in point of service. Having undergone hundreds of thousands of test miles at the General Motors Proving Ground, Oakland engineers knew its capabilities thoroughly, long before it was publicly announced.

The Oakland All-American Six, which the public is admiring and buying today, illustrates aptly the evolution of a motor car. Tentative models of the All-American Six, designed to provide the style, performance and reliability demanded by the American people, were familiar sights on the roads of the Proving Grounds many months ago.

Here, in actual operation, Oakland engineers learned exactly what might be expected of the car in the hands of the public. The tests to which it was subjected were far more rigid than any the public ever could impose. Each test car underwent thousands and thousands of miles of gruelling punishment on heart-breaking grades, on rough and rutty dirt track, on brick roads, and on the speedway, demonstrating its possession of those qualities which the public was known to want.

The resulting motor car, Oakland engineers are convinced, is fully up to the highest American standards. It is large and roomy, with ample head and foot room. Its big 212-cubic-inch displacement engine is a marvel of smoothness, power, and reliability. Oakland speed and Oakland getaway are greater than ever before, and Oakland's well known ability to hold high speed all day without harm is still further enhanced by a new oiling system. New upholstery and hardware inside, and new and resplendent Duco colors on the bodies, round out the list of attractive Oakland features, and new and lower prices clinch the argument decisively.

The owner of an Oakland All-American Six, like the owner of a Pontiac Six, enjoys the comfortable assurance that there is not a single untried feature in his entire car. Everything has been subjected to tests more stringent than he can impose.

A list of the refinements and advances in Oaklands of other years is the owners assurance that those of today will be permanent, because proved before adoption. Such a list would include counterbalanced crankshaft with harmonic balancer, mechanical four wheel brakes, Duco finish, full automatic spark, rubber silenced drive and rubber insulated chassis, tilt beam head lamps with foot control, and many others. Several of these advances were still further developed in preparation of the All-American Six, but none, it will be noted, were abandoned.

The value of the General Motors Proving Ground to the Oakland or Pontiac owner is obvious from these facts. He is driving, not a test car on whose possible deficiencies in performance future changes will be based, but a thoroughly tested and proven car, whose present and future performance is assured by endless trial, and whose sponsors offer it with the unqualified statement that it has no deficiencies, even when examined in light of the highest American standards.

MAINTAINING EGG PRODUCTION DURING SUMMER

By F. W. Kazemeier,
Bryan, Texas.

We have put off writing on this subject, until we could see an upward trend of egg prices. This week, price of fresh laid fertile eggs, has jumped up 30 cents per dozen net to the producer. A few more weeks and fresh laid eggs will again bring about four cents each. In view of these facts we have the courage to write more on this subject.

The successful farmer and poultry raiser feeds and cares for his flock, so as to receive a good production every month in the year. Don't worry about the hen wearing herself out laying eggs. Give her good care and feeding and she will come thru this hot weather, even when laying heavily, in better condition than the other flock that is on a vacation and poorly fed.

Keep dry mash before your flock all summer long. This is very important. It is better to cut down on scratch grain feeding, to induce heavier consumption of dry mash in hot weather.

In order to be certain that the hens will consume enough dry mash, reduce number of grain feedings to one a day and that preferably in the afternoon, and this should only be a very sparing feed during this hot weather.

We recommend giving one feeding a day about the middle of the afternoon of a moist or crumbly mash, using regular dry mash mixture, moistened with sour milk of buttermilk, to a crumbly consistency. Give all they will eat up clean in 30 minutes. If milk is not available use water.

Hot dry weather, will dry up the available green food supply. Plans must be made to provide additional succulent and fresh green food. While the weather is still hot you may plant sudan and if necessary irrigate it. Later in the fall be sure and start a good sized oat pasture for your flock of laying hens. Remember fresh, tender, juicy green food is important.

Some of the flock, already are in the moult and the rest soon will be. It takes mineral matter to form feathers. Since oyster shell is cheap, place a good sized box full of them before your flock and keep a liberal supply always available. It ought not to be necessary to mention the importance of fresh water, yet only recently I made a trip throughout Texas and found fresh water sadly neglected for most flocks. I believe I am confining myself to facts when I tell you more than 75 per cent of the flocks were suffering from lack of fresh water. In hot weather a hen can do better without feed than without water. Stop to think but a moment and you can readily realize the importance of fresh drinking water for your flock. Laziness alone is responsible for our poultry flocks having to do without water.

In our country, hen houses, at this time of year should have liberal sized openings in all four sides of the house. Go out at night and see whether the fowls are comfortable. If they are panting and spreading their wings, it is too hot, open up the house more on all sides. Don't be afraid of a direct draft over the birds at this time of the year. Fresh air is important, even tho it still is free. Not only should they be comfortable while on the roosts at night but also during the day time. If natural shade is not available near the house, then artificial shade must be provided. Most anything no matter how crude and low to the ground will do. A low arbor built out of scraps of lumber, brush, hay, straw or anything else will answer the purpose. If possible soak the ground beneath these shelters once or twice a day with water, this will help provide a cool place.

Don't forget the red mites, spray or paint all fixtures especially roosts and nests with some good disinfectant as crude oil or kerosene.

Miss Vera Taylor arrived Saturday from Denver, to take charge of the Beauty Shop at Little Mercantile Company. She has spent the summer in studying beauty culture.

AN AWAKENING

Washington officials, as well as people throughout the country, have been thoroughly awakened to the menace of the radical alien class in this country who have no desire to become helpful law abiding citizens, but whose object is to stir up trouble, preach anarchism, radicalism, cause strikes and discontent generally. An opportunity was offered to them in the case of Sacco and Vanzetti and with what avidity they seized upon it. Here was a chance to gain public sympathy by displaying these two men as martyrs, a chance to arouse international feeling against the United States, already somewhat perturbed by the debt settlements and this administration's Latin-American policy. How eagerly they broadcast propaganda describing the injustice of organized society, alleging that these two men were convicted not because of murder but because of their confessed beliefs in radicalism, while outwardly they plead for the lives of Sacco and Vanzetti and portrayed themselves as enlisted on the side of justice, at the same time bombing buildings, encouraging riots and strikes, and endangering the lives of innocent people. Is it really Sacco and Vanzetti in which they are interested or is the case being used by the leaders as a means to stir up disorder and revolution in a peaceful and prosperous nation? Have those who would institute a reign of force and terrorism any conception of right or wrong, justice or injustice?

There are thousands of radicals in our midst eagerly awaiting opportunity to stir up strife. To a great many of them justice, respect for law and order are unknown. In many cases they gained illegal entrance into this country, a thing that is possible to almost anyone who is willing to pay the price of alien smugglers, and in their breasts burns an unquenchable hatred of this government or any government. From this element comes the leader who incites the mob into denouncing the Government and its administration; if interfered with, he loudly proclaims his privileges under the Constitution and seeks protection from that which he would trample under foot.

And yet they remain in spite of the laws which provide for the deportation of illegal entrants and alien violators of the law, possibly because the public has been unaware or indifferent towards their sinister influence, or of the strangle hold they would obtain upon this country. But the recent disgraceful incidents have awakened the American people to this imminent danger. Washington officials have started in earnest to round up the group that have obtained illegal entrance into this country in the hope that a large part of the dangerous radical element may be eliminated. They have

UNITED STATES TO HAVE EXHIBITS AT TRI-STATE

The greatest agricultural exhibit of them all, owned by the United States Government, and occupying a space 100 x 12 feet, will be displayed in the Agricultural Hall at the TRI-STATE EXPOSITION, which is to be held from September 11-17th, inclusive.

Col. Harve H. Haines, Manager of the Board of City Development of Amarillo, secured this exhibit after making a personal trip to Washington, D. C. In addition to the Agricultural Exhibit, Col. Haines also secured the Treasury Department's permission to exhibit the Government's collection of all the coins minted, and paper money printed since the inception of the Nation.

Thus the visitors to the TRI-STATE EXPOSITION will find presented for their approval two of the outstanding exhibits that graced the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia last year.

The Agricultural Exhibit alone, according to Bob Emmett, Secretary-Manager of the Exposition, is worth traveling two hundred miles to see. In it will be shown everything grown in the United States, from the grains and fruits of the semi-tropics of Florida, to the harder grains and fruits of the northern states. There will be an expert from the Agricultural Department at Washington, to answer questions.

The value of the display of coins and paper money is said to be at least a quarter of a million dollars. The Treasury Department sends a heavy detail of secret service men to watch over the coins. Numismatists declare it is an entire education in itself to spend an hour viewing these coins.

INTEREST IN T-O FAIR GROWS AS TIME NEARS FOR SHOWING

With cash premiums of more than $12,000 posted, interest in the coming Texas-Oklahoma Fair is becoming more keen throughout the entire agricultural section of West Texas, and indications are in advance of the Exposition point to one of the greatest regional fairs ever held in the Southwest.

Under the direct supervision of Mayor R. E. Shepherd, also Secretary-Manager of the Fair Association, the detailed plans for the Exposition are rapidly being completed. In his efforts to make this year's Fair the biggest ever held in West Texas, Mr. Shepherd is being supported by W. E. Hamilton as President, and more than a score of prominent business men of the city, directors of the organization.

Already several counties have filed proper entry blanks for county exhibits. Hardeman County is the first to enter, the entry blank having been signed by Carl Guin, secretary-manager of the Quannah Chamber of Commerce. The second entry came from Canadian, Hemphill County. Total premiums for this department amount to $3,000.

Total cash premiums for the cattle division are approximately $4,000. Several exhibits have already been pledged for this division. The prizes will be divided among the following classes: Herefords, Shorthorns, Baby Beef Clubs, Dairy Herds, all classes, as well as the various classes of beef cattle. Premiums in the swine department amount to approximately $1,500, while for sheep and goats the cash premiums total more than $1,200. In addition to these, there are cash premiums amounting to several thousand dollars for the various varieties of Poultry. This year's poultry show is expected to be one of the biggest in the State. There were 1256 birds in the show pens last year.

The entertaining features of the Fair will be without a parallel in the history of the organization. Automobile races are planned for October 2 and 3. Motorcycle races will likely be run on Tuesday, October 4th. This will be Wichita Falls Day. Plans are also now being considered for horse races to be run on at least two days of the show. The auto races will be under the direction and sanction of the AAA. Some of the fastest drivers in the nation are expected to share in the $3,000 cash premiums.

Other features in front of the big steel grand stand will be six high class vaudeville acts. These acts are said to be something new in the South and will be staged each afternoon and evening.

The big Musteal attraction will be Thaviu's band of fifty-two pieces. This organization won first prize at the San Francisco Exposition as well as first prize at the Sesqui-Centennial in Philadelphia. A program of Grand Opera selections as well as popular music will be given each evening.

Reports from all sections of West Texas indicates this section of the State in a most prosperous condition. This fact is based on the many inquiries which are being received, indicates that more counties will have exhibits this year than ever before. All indications point to at least 20 county exhibits.

GIVE A SIGNAL

Did you ever drive down the street in your car and almost before you knew what was happening the fellow in the car just ahead of you had made a sudden turn and a wreck seemed unavoidable and somehow you've ended it by a quick turn? Every day it happens thousands of times. This one thing itself causes many deadly accidents—just failure to give the proper hand signal when making a turn.

Hold out your hand! Keep in mind that there are other motorists who may not know just exactly what you contemplate doing.

When turning to the left, the driver should hold out his hand, pointing downward at a forty-five degree angle; when stopping he should hold his left hand straight out, parallel with his shoulder; when turning to the right, he should hold his left hand out pointing upward at a forty-five degree angle.

Do not wait until you are ready to make a change in your course and then shove out your hand about one-half a second and then jerk it back. The motorist behind may not have his eyes focused right at you and your car and you should be fair enough to give at least a warning of one-half a minute by giving the signal 75 feet ahead of the turn. Remember the other fellow and help him save your fenders and perhaps your life by holding out your hand!—Floydada Hesperian

"AS YE SOW, SO SHALL YE REAP"

AN EDITORIAL

Sober minded men and women were appalled at the exhibition of lawlessness which took place Saturday afternoon in the very heart of the business section, following an alley brawl between some white boys and a negro.

Observant and distressed men have sensed the coming of such a disgraceful spectacle for several months. They have seen the gradual growth of scorn for the law among men and boys who obey no law because of its inherent rightness but only because they fear the officers. And when fear of the officer who represents the law gives way to scorn and contempt for him, such scenes as occurred on Childress streets are sure to follow.

"As ye sow, so shall ye reap," said a man who knew men as does no other. Childress has been sowing slot-machine, crap shooting and card gambling, in both social and professional circles, wide-open bootlegging with prominent business men, known as customers of bootleggers, and with broad hints on all sides that vice and crime is operating under protection.

What to do about it is a perplexing question, complicated by all the entanglement of established rule and urgent necessity. The thing that was done Saturday tore down, in a few short hours, much of the careful work of city and county building that has taken as much as ten years of time. The disrespect for law, now clearly apparent, will break out again in more violent form—unless an awakened citizenship sees to it that radical steps are taken to re-establish law and order among those who scorn and disregard it.

The steps that are taken must not be directed along at the boys who staged the disgraceful scene of Saturday. They must go back of them to the older men whose cool and calculated violation of law has been the pattern for the boys who were in Saturday's brawling. Speaking plainly, the time has come in Childress when the citizenship that is self-respecting must assert itself, or we shall stand idly by and watch more intolerable conditions develop, as they surely will.

How assert itself? Men have long been accustomed to gathering together in mass meeting to discuss issues of vastly less importance. The men, and the women, of Childress could do no better thing than to hold an early and well advertised mass meeting to give concrete form to the determination of the people to unite solidly behind a program of law enforcement and efficiency of officers. Such a meeting could band together those valiant spirits such as laid the foundation for our nation and inspire them to patriotic mass action against the recurrence of such scenes as on Saturday when gangs were rushing up streets and down alleys, hunting negroes like dogs hunt rabbits. A hundred men should be banded together and pledge to act swiftly in breaking up such unlawful assemblies as Saturday's.

The commercial aspect of the incident adds to its enormity. On the eve of a gigantic cotton crop, when pickers will be sorely needed, the negroes in our midst are terrorized. Will others come in, when our resident negroes are leaving? The farmers know that this situation can not be laid at the door of the best people in Childress, and the loss, if any, will fall on farmer and businessman alike. But it is a disgusting climax to the careful plans which have been developed for getting cottonpickers into Childress County. We shall be waiting for cottonpickers this fall, and who can blame them if they refuse to come? There are many angles to Saturday's mob scenes. The question is, what are you going to do about it as an individual?—Childress Post.

A REFLECTION

Outrageous destruction of buildings, costing the lives of innocent persons, and parades bearing banners insulting to this country have taken place since Gov. Alvin T. Fuller of Massachusetts announced his decision refusing executive clemency to the radicals, Sacco and Vanzetti. His decision and the report of the committee reviewing the case were based upon the fact that they were unable to find, after exhaustive research, any basis for a new trial, any sign that the trial had been unfairly held, and the belief that these two men were guilty of murder beyond a reasonable doubt.

The incidents that have taken place since that decision are a reflection upon the law-abiding citizens of the United States. That such things could happen in this country, all because two members of an organization had been sentenced to die for committing a brutal murder and justifiably denied executive clemency is hardly believable. Unbiased minds are certain that these two radicals have been given every chance. Their sentence has been delayed for six years; every move possible was made in their behalf. In fact, as one whiter aptly expressed it, "justice has leaned backward in an effort to be fair."

But is this taken into consideration by those who desire to attain their ends through force and a reign of terror, or at any cost? No. It becomes necessary in this, a supposedly civilized country, to guard all public buildings with armed forces. Not only here but in foreign countries American buildings must be guarded through fear of destruction. In Paris the police had difficulty in defending the American consulate against a mob of hostile Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers. In Morocco the American flag was unspeakably desecrated and burned. And in many other countries acts of a similar nature, insulting to every true American, have taken place.

At least it will serve one good purpose. The public will awaken to the danger of such groups, composed largely of a foreign element, that threaten to undermine the structure of this government. It will demand, no doubt, that the full force of the law, providing for the deportation of aliens guilty of violent acts, be swung into action. Groups seeking to weaken the present immigration laws by opening a little wider the gates which allow the influx of such an element, will meet with more opposition.

This has already been indicated by Representative Albert Johnson, chairman of the immigration and naturalization committee of the House of Representatives, who said that Sacco and Vanzetti should never have been admitted to the United States. He hopes to pass stricter laws, in regard to the admittance and the naturalization of aliens, in the forthcoming session of Congress. He declared:

"We hope soon to put through Congress a law by which naturalized citizens who, after swearing allegiance to the United States, wear black shirts and swear undying allegiance to Mussolini or any other dictator, or who support any other government, shall be deprived of their naturalization. Citizenship is the greatest gift the United States has to bestow. It has been gladly received by millions. The time has come when such acquired citizenship shall not be used by radicals to the danger of this great Government."

LARGE SCALE ADVERTISING

"Henry Ford has changed his ideas about advertising," says J. George Frederick in the July Review of Reviews, according to a newspaper report. For a time the Ford Motor Company was counted as one of the largest advertisers in country weeklies, but Mr. Ford made a decision that advertising was an economical waste. That was some months ago. In the meantime, the General Motors Corporation has staged an extensive and persistent campaign. It is very evident that the company is getting results.

The General Motors advertising appropriation for 1927 is 50 million dollars, ten million of which is for the Chevrolet alone, according to Mr. Frederick. He continues that "Ford has started work on preparing advertising for the new model. These two giant automobile manufacturing concerns are today the best examples of the lesson of advertising. If the goods are dependable, then they should be advertised. Any good business man can see that advertising is a recognized and established force that is rendering greater and greater services.

Three new business houses have opened doors in Clarendon during the last month. We wish them success in their various lines.

There are now thirty entries in the yard contest. Lets have some more before the closing date on September 1st.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

B. F. Hardy

The reorganization of the American Public School System into six primary grades, (five in Texas) three intermediate and three Senior high school grades was not an accident, but it came as a natural growth in the development of our educational program. The objectives in education have changed and the schools now no longer try merely to fit the pupils for college. The curriculum is gradually broadening in order that the schools may better prepare the children of the masses for the economic, social and democratic life of today. Society has changed from what it was a decade or more ago, and since schools propose to meet the needs of existing conditions they are changing also.

Representing the latest views of the leading school men, Mr. Briggs, head of the Speyer Experimental Junior High School, gives the general aim of his school as follows: To teach pupils to do better, those desirable activities that they will do anyway and to teach them by means of material in itself worth while; to reveal higher types of activities and to make them both desired, and to an extent, possible.

If worked out it seems that this aim meets all the demands of a practical education. It also raises the child's standards of life and living and leads into fuller appreciation of the beautiful and good.

In full accord with Mr. Briggs a number of other leading educators of America have formulated the purposes of the new junior high school movement. On most points practically all of them agree and it is the object of this article to present the summary of these purposes of the junior high school.

1. To provide a suitable environment for children approximately from twelve to sixteen years of age.

This purpose clearly stands foremost in the minds of the junior high school leaders. All stress it directly or indirectly agreeing that the old system does not meet in the best way the demands of the early adolescent child. All are agreed that this environment was provided through the organization of a new unit with a distinct atmosphere, an enriched and flexible curriculum, new methods of discipline and teaching, specially trained teachers and improved equipment.

2. To explore the interests, abilities and aptitudes of children of junior high school age.

In some form or other all writers of the junior high-school age. They agree that individual traits come into greater prominence at this early adolescent age than at any other period of the child's development and that individual and differentiated activities increase in children as they advance through the junior high school age. They say that the junior high school must discover and direct these interests, aptitudes, and abilities of the pupil through such agencies as an enriched and flexible curriculum, explanatory courses, individual diagnosis, and occupational guidance.

3. To explore the major fields of human endeavor.

So many children of marked ability completely miss their calling and thus disappointed are forced to drift through life. In fact all have their niche where they best serve themselves and society; and it is the school's business to help them find their places. The various fields of human activity, the vocations, occupations, professions, etc., with their chief characteristics are taught to the children that they may better select the work suited to their own interests and aptitudes.

CANNED FOODS

The housewife should use care in the selection of canned foods according to Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer, who gives some information as to how spoiled canned foods can be readily recognized.

"In selecting canned foods," Dr. Anderson stated, "reject any can that is bulging or abnormal in any way; and any can that is rusty or that shows signs of having been reprocessed. Both ends of a can should be flat or curve slightly inward, and should not slap back when pressed; all seams should be tight and clean with n trace of leaks.

"When can is opened, no outrush of gas or spurt of liquid should occur; there should be no trace of foreign or objectionable odor; no disintegration or mold should be present; and the inside of can should be clean and bright, or well lacquered, and not extensively blackened or corroded.

"Food poisoning is not uncommon, and is caused by eating 'spoiled food' which is food with bacterial contamination. If every can of food was sterile, no trouble would be experienced, but this is not always the case, due to faulty metal, accidents, mistakes in operation, and negligence, all of which account for unsterile cans to which air and germs have gained access.

"For this reason, housewives should use care in selecting canned foods. However, it is well to remember that any spoiled food will
