ones there were on the first Christmas. The mother and tion visitors was passed. Every woman of the church is invited. Joseph, the shepherds, and after a while the Magi from the East. The crowded inn was also doubtless surprised when there passed from lip to lip the word that a child had been born in the lowly manger. Finally Israel was surprised-and Rome and the ends of the earth and the surprise is not over yet. The goodness of God broke through every barrier, overflowed every channel, and became incarnate in the only Begotten Son.

II. By common consent we insist that the children must have a Christmas surprise. For the rest of us, we are not so much concerned. We are missing the meaning of it all, however, if we are not still overawed by the glad surprise of goodness that seeks us on Christmas day.

III. The surprise of love is not exhausted, however by childrens gifts. Husbands may give their wives such assurance of unbroken trust and fidelity that diamonds will become lusterless in comparison. Wives may renew their vows of loving and chaste allegiance in such a variety of ways that the holiday will become a glorified honeymoon.

Friendship may be made to glow with a radiance that is not earthly, as each friend brings to the other some hitherto unreveal ed gift or strength, or patience, confidence or courage. Masters and servants, in every modern relationship of our toiling life may seal the prosperity of the enterprise in which both are engaged, by the gift of each to the other for the good of all.

The wayward boy may bring to a heart-broken mother his own broken heart, and in the glad surprise of the gift both his heart and hers will be healed.

The faraway child of God may draw near with "full assurance" joy of the Saviour. Yes Christ-is unfathomable; possibly it is because they have never seriously read Dickens. The average student can, if he desires, find interest in Shakespeare's dramas, in Milton's "Paradise Lost," or in any of the dozens of other masterpieces of literature. He may also find equally beneficial writings in the better class of current magazines, if he will be careful in his selections. If he will only try reading some of these works carefully and if he will guard against reading them with the pre-concieved notion that they are dry and uninteresting. he will probably be agreeably surprised to discover that interest, and he will then realize how superior these works are in every way to the cheap literature which he formerly thought he liked.

"Christ grew in Wisdom and statue and gained favor in God and Man." The speaker said that people should be strong mentally, physically, and religiously. He told h's audience that Samson was the strongest man in body but was weak in mind because therein was betrayed where his strength lay. Also that Solomon was the wisest man but used his great mind in sinful ways: therefore he was no more than a fool. Elder Stanridge concluded with the statement that he had rather be crippled both in mind and body than to be a college or high school boy or girl who did not use the mind and body for religious gain. school and college building, seven

The teaching staff of the Clarendon schools is above the average in scholastic training. Seven hold M. A. degrees and sixteen hold A. B. degrees. There is a state wide program to study Orientation this year and curriculum building next year, the object being to revise the entire public school curriculum to meet the changing conditions. Twenty-three of the members of the faculty are taking an extension course under Dr. Harris Cook of the West Texas State Teachers College. Others are taking similar courses from ther sources. The teachers are ed either the twelfth and thirteenth grades of high school, junior college work. The main reason for this opinion is that statistics show that there are more criminals nineteen years of age than of any other age and that the eighteen year old comes next among criminals. Educators realize that this situation is primarily due to the fact that only six per cent of the students finishing high school at the average age of seventeen are able to go to college unless there is a college in their home town. A very small per cent of these young people have for the past several years been able to find jobs. The result is the increasing number of eighteen and nineteen year old criminals.

Although educators are chiefly concerned over the welfare of youth, they as well as others, are alarmed that one fourth of our national income is spent on prosecuting criminals, or to put it in other words, crime costs the tax payer of this country three times as much as is spent for all types of education.

keeping abreast of the times. Clarendon High School offers 30 1-2 credits, thus giving the students a choice from a variety of subjects. students who graduate from Clarendon High School can not only enter any college or University in Texas without entrance examinations but can enter any college or University in any Southern state without entrance examinations. There are only 216 high schools in the state that belong to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Of this number, 26 are in the 26 Panhandle counties.

The writer has taken some data from the Southern Association year book for 1932-33, the last one printed to date, relative to these 26 schools which belong to the Southern Association. Five of these schools are located in towns which have a junior or

There are only seventeen public junior colleges in the state of Texas today, that is, colleges which are in a part of the public school systems. Clarendon has one of these seventeen. At the present time, there are a large number of cities and towns in Texas planning to organize public junior colleges, if they can get the permission of the State Board of Education. The requirements are that a district must have a twelve million dollar property valuation and five hundred students in high school. Clarendon has only a two and one-half million dollar property valuation and 271 high The only school enrollment. reason we were able to get a junior college is that when the junior college law was being written, a citizen of Clarendon inserted a clause that the above requirements were to be waived in a case a college was in existance in 1898; hence, we are single, in that we are the only small town in Texas which has the benefits of a public junior college. Clarendon Junior College was established in 1927 and is maintained by a tax upon property of Clarendon Independent school District joined by eight neighboring school districts. The college is well equipped. The students have access to a library of seven thousand volumes, laboratories for scientific and commercial courses and studios for the teaching of Artistic Courses. Added to this equipment is the training in the departments of English, Mathamatict, Natural Sciences, Foreign Languages, Education and Commerce. The training given

RUSSELL MEAT MARKET

Although owned by Fred Rus-sell, the Russell Meat Market is connected with the Piggly-Wig-gly, and located at the rear of the store. The meat market was added to the Piggly-Wiggly the eighth day of December in 1927 eighth day of December in 1927. Prior to that date, the market occupied the old Clarendon News Building in the North Block of Kearney, four doors from the Antro Hotel. This market specializes in all meats, cheese, cream, and pickled foods. Other than the owner, there are no employees in this market.

FRED RUSSELL was born in Denton County. At the age of seven, he moved with his family to McLean and attended school there. He has been in the meat business eighteen years, having owned a market while in McLean. For the past eleven years, Mr. Russell has been a favorite meat distributor of this city. His two children, Louise and Cleo, are both popular students of the sixth grade. NORWOOD'S PHARMACY Norwood Pharmacy was estab-lished in August of 1931 when George Norwood and Ted Wil-iams purchased the stock of the Jones Drug or Clarendon Drug. HAILE'S SERVICE STATION

Located on the corner of the center block on the west side of Kearney, Haile's Service Station was opened on the 5th day of November of this year when Byrum Haile bought out John F. Harlan. Gulf products are sold, and storage service, flat service, grease and wash service are specialities of this station. The station has a front space of twenty-five feet.

BYRUM HAILE, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Haile, was born five miles from Borger but has reside din Clarendon since he entered grade school. After graduating from Clarendon High School, he attended Texas University. In January of 1934, he married Miss Martha Jean Pirtle of Pampa, and worked in the Phillips 66 Station located on highway 370 on the corned across from the County Jail. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Haile moved to Pampa where Mr. Haile engaged in the trucking business and then moved to Lubbock where Mr. Haile followed the same business. They moved back to Clarendon the first of November and this popular young couple now resides in the Latson apartments. JACK BELL, employee at the Haile Service Station, is the son of that well known and jolly ranchman, M. E. Bell. Jack has lived in Clarendon all his life and at the present is attending Clarendon High School.

CITY GROCERY AND MARKET E. F. FOX, owner of the City Grocery and Market, founded his firm in Clarendon in 1932. In the three years that Mr. Fox has satisfied his customers with a complete line of staple and fancy groceries, he has once moved the location of his building, having first called his firm, which he moved here from Wellington, the Jitney-Jungle with its location in the Martin building now occupied by the Clifford and Ray Grocery. At the present, the City Grocery and Market is located in the South block on the west side of Kearney street. Connected with this grocery is a market, managed by Jimmy Chilton and carrying a stock of meats, cheeses, cream, and pickled foods. MR. FOX has lived in Donley County for nearly forty years, although he was born in Burnett County and before moving his firm here was residing in Wellington. His wife and three children, Pauline, Claudine, and Mary Frances, are now residing in Ft. Worth. MR. CHILTON, manager of the meat market, has been in Clarendon for twelve year, having moved here from McLean, Texas. He first came to Clarendon and was employed by Fred Russell in the meat market business, but later moved to Childress and to San Angelo, returning in 1932 to manage the market in the Jitney-Jungle which is now the City Grocery and Market. He was born in Hollis, Oklahoma, and received his schooling there. He is married and his three children, Edridge, Opal Jewell, and Billy all attended school in Clarendon

With contour ditches, Hal Mc Campbell, ranchman living near Hebbronville in Jim Hogg County, is utilizing the waste water from his artesian well to irrigate land which he has sown to grain for winter pasture. Mr. Mc-Campbell plans to plant and water 100 acres in this way.

From a garden subirrigated with old pipe, Mrs. W. J. Stone-man of the Anderson ranch in Baylor County gathered tomatoes from June to November. "We've had plenty all summer, pickling from a gallon to two hushels a gallon to two bushels We have eaten them raw anned them many ways," from a gallon to two bushels daily. and canned them many ways,' she said.

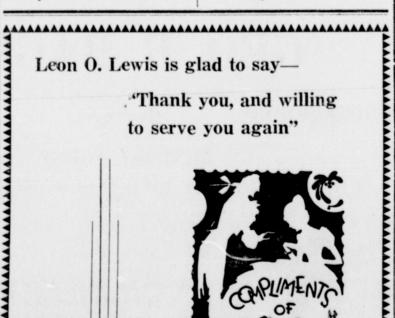

Placing second and third with two car loads of feeder calves at the American Royal Live Stock Show has confirmed Clyde Mc-Elroy of Randall county in the practice of creep feeding. About $2 worth of cottonseed cake was creep fed to each of the calves, and they brought $9 a head more than they otherwise would have brought on the market, not to mention the premium money.

62,136 Hours

of Carefree, Unceasing, Untroubled

SERVICE

Day in and day out since November 9, 1927, good weather and bad, we have given you a fuel service of convenience, cleanliness and comfort that no other fuel has ever equalled, with the exception of two unavoidable interruptions for a total of less than 24 hours-One day out of 2589 days. On neither occasion was service interrupted in extreme cold weather. 62,136 hours of carefree, unceasing, untroubled service!

When you light the burner of your gas appliance and the flame springs to life instantly, you see results - - - comfort and convenience - - - not causes.

It is SERVICE that provides heat at the burner automatically, when, and as you want it. Back of the flame of your burner stands the service of your Gas Company Service must be with its skilled employees and its facilities for delivering the gas. maintained! Service is what you are paying for!

The fact that your Gas Company must maintain the year round, at great expense, capacity equal to the coldest day of the year-even though this peak capacity is not required except on a few cold days in Winter-is merely one of the items of this responsibility called SERVICE!

Your Gas Company takes pride in having given you 62,136 hours of carefree, unceasing, untroubled service . . . !

CAUTION—As the Holidays approach and colder weather comes on we urge every customer to check up on all gas burning equipment, so that no accidents from defective causes will mar your happiness and security. If you need help or suggestions call Phone 111.
