The value of a strategic retreat is evidenced in the acquittal in Chicago of Samuel Insull and others charged with him in the collapse of the gigantic utility interests headed by the Chicago magnate. That he would have been convicted had the trial been held immediately after the filing of charges almost goes without saying.

The Insull Acquittal

The tremendous expense to which the government has been put in attempting, unsuccessfully, to make a case against Insull probably will be a decisive factor in determining whether or not the other charges against him will be pressed, and at the present time it appears that the remaining charges will be dropped. The result will be a complete court vindication of Mr. Insull, although he probably has been eliminated as a factor in serious finance in the United States in the future.

It is just possible that Mr. Insull's flight was the means of preventing an injustice being done the man; just as it is possible that justice was thwarted by the failure of the government to secure him for trial immediately. Certainly, if the government was unable to make a case against the man when he was returned, the evidence could not have been so conclusive at any time.

Over the country, people will regret that hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent unsuccessfully in the prosecution of this case. But much good can come of it. Already, the Insull collapse has resulted in the enactment by Congress of stringent bills regulating the sale of securities, and if these new laws are enforced, it will be exceedingly difficult for the public to be swindled out of millions of dollars by financing enterprises in the future.

Two courses were left open to Governor Ferguson when General Jacob F. Walters resigned his command of the Texas Cavalry brigade. She could have made a purely political appointment of a man to serve until a new Governor went into office, or she could have appointed one whose past service merited the promotion. We believe all of Texas will applaud her appointment of Col. Louis Davidson of Dallas, who has some thirty years of service in the Texas National Guard to his credit.

General Wolters Resigns

Col. Davidson has made a splendid officer. He was second in command to General Wolters when his general resigned, and had been for many years. The Texas National Guard is one of the finest in the United States, and it should be kept so. The Fergusons have done their part in keeping it free from politics on more than one occasion.

Incidentally, much of the glamour that surrounded General Wolters was dimmed by the statement accredited to him during the past political campaign when he vigorously opposed the nomination of Jas. V. Alfred for Governor. General Wolters was quoted as saying that he would resign rather than serve under Alfred as Governor. He did not deny making the statement, and his action in resigning a few months before he reached the compulsory retirement age will be taken as his means of putting his words into action. We have no quarrel with the General for indulging in politics. That was and is his privilege. But we never could get the viewpoint that politics was a personal matter, and such a statement, followed by this week's action, seems to take a bit of the edge off the glory that should be the distinguished General's.

Publication a few weeks ago of an editorial on the benefits of milk as a food has brought to this office a number of comments, including a very interesting article on the research done by scientists during the past generation designed to increase the number of uses of milk and milk products.

Research And The Dairyman

To the layman, milk is a product generally used in liquid form, changed by the farmer's wife to butter, and occasionally used after it has been processed into that delectable and valuable food, cheese.

We were quite surprised to learn, then, that more than 100 uses for milk have been devised by scientists, the pioneer of whom was that former Texan, Gail Borden. In 1856 Mr. Borden, working almost single-handed, developed a process for the condensing of fluid milk—the first method of preserving the product. This later developed the use of evaporated milk, powdered milk and that old drug store favorite, malted milk.

And so we learn that in 1932 the production figure of powdered skim milk was approximately seven times the volume for 1922, while during the same period there was an increase of about four times in the production of casein. One of the most recent uses developed for powdered milk is a fish food which has been rendered insoluble in water. The importance of this development may be judged by the fact that 60,000,000 domestically raised gold fish are sold in the United States annually, and that about one family in every 17 has an aquarium.

The large number of industrial uses for casein have been the result of intensive research. Casein glue is one of the strongest adhesives known to science today. Casein is likewise used by the automobile industry, in the making of leather and of oil cloth, and solidified casein is made into buttons, beads, combs, cigarette holders, fountain pen barrels, pipe stems, radio parts and similar articles.

Milk sugar, or lactose, now is under scrutiny of the scientists, and increased uses are expected to result.

Truly, research men are the allies of the farmer. Science and humanity benefit from their efforts, but the farmer benefits most of all, since every new use for milk means a larger potential market for what he has to sell. And still remains the most valuable product of the farm.

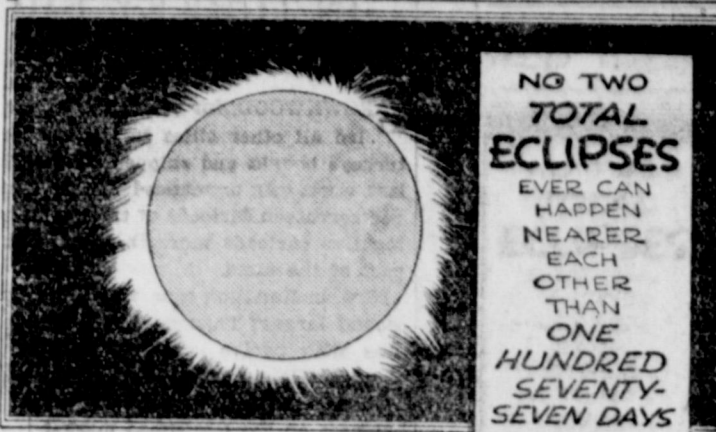

Frequently we hear people praising Russia, and stating that the Russians have solved, better than we, the economic problems of life. Such talk naturally is increased in times of depression, when everyone is in worse condition than normal, and all are hoping for a return of better times. We, quite naturally are prone to think we are worse off than anyone else.

Are We Better Off?

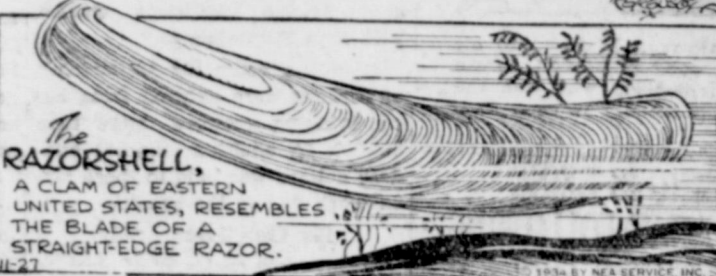

A few nights ago Will Rogers, returning from a trip to Russia, made a radio talk about the country. The most frequent question asked, he said, was the comparative condition of working people in Russia and in the United States. He knew the answer. "There are something like ten million Russian workers," he said, "and not one of them owns an automobile."

He might have added much more, but he would not have told the story any more clearly, and not half so effectively.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen by ELMO SCOTT WATSON

An Early Empire Builder. THEY say that "trade follows the flag" but quite as often "the flag follows trade," and it is not at all impossible that the American flag might not have flown over the Middle West if George Morgan, trader, had not shown it the way before the Revolution. As the junior member of the famous firm of Baynton, Wharton and Morgan, Indian traders, this young Philadelphian took charge of its newly-organized Indiana company in the Illinois country.

From the beginning Morgan made himself popular with the wild Indian tribesmen of the West. In fact, the Delaware thought so highly of him that they conferred upon him the name of their greatest chieftain, Talmemend, or Tammany. Unlike so many other white men of the time, he treated the Indians kindly and justly and so great was his influence over them that soon after the outbreak of the Revolution the Continental Congress appointed him Indian agent at Fort Pitt.

Finding himself thwarted and his advice on how to handle the Western Indians to keep them neutral unheeded, Morgan resigned in 1779 and returned East where he entered the Continental army and rose to the rank of colonel. At the close of the war he settled in Princeton, N. J.

But this empire-builder could not resign himself to life in a quiet college town. During his career as a trader in the West, he had seen the vast possibilities of that region and he had spent almost as much time in encouraging the development of agriculture there as in his trading activities. So in 1788 he visioned a Utopian colony beyond the Mississippi under the flag of Spain. He secured a huge tract of 15,000,000 acres and founded the town of New Madrid opposite the mouth of the Ohio.

But the plotting of Gen. James Wilkinson checked the development of the plan and when the new federal government under the Constitution extended its power in the West, Morgan abandoned his project entirely, retiring in 1796 to a vast estate, "Morganza," in Washington county, Pennsylvania. To him there came Aaron Burr with a similar colonization scheme, but a traitorous one of which he could not approve, and it was Morgan who gave to President Jefferson the first authentic information about the Burr conspiracy. Morgan died in 1810 but not until he had become a leader in scientific agriculture which was to do so much to develop the great empire of the Middle West.

CENTENNIAL AND TRAVEL (Houston Post)

"The next two or three years will witness the greatest moving about of the American public that we have ever seen," says Ralph Hitz, nationally known in the field of hotel management.

That ought to be a prediction encouraging to those working to get the Texas Centennial celebration launched for 1936. If Mr. Hitz is a true prophet, by the time the Centennial exposition is ready for opening America will again be on the move.

The hotel chief cites a number of plausible reasons why he believes travel in America will be on an unprecedentedly large scale by 1936. During the last four years, he says, most Americans have not been financially able to travel far from home. The majority have foregone vacations. They are tired of staying in their own vicinities and are eager to step out and see other parts of the country.

Particularly are women, who ordinarily make up a large percentage of the travelers, tired of staying at home and skimming along. Business is becoming better, the outlook for further improvement is good, and neither men nor women are as reluctant to spend money on travel as they were last year and in the preceding three years.

Texas has an opportunity to capitalize this developing travel urge by setting up the Centennial celebration on a scale worthy of the State and splendid enough to attract the travelers from all parts of the country. Millions of Americans will be on the move in 1936, as Mr. Hitz forecasts. Texas should invite them and entertain them.

Successful gardening depends upon shallow cultivation after every rain, according to Mrs. Monroe Reynolds of the Hastings home demonstration club in Shackelford county. Mrs. Reynolds has raised a garden every year for 25 years and this year has 37 varieties of vegetables, five of which are new to her experience.

Snyder—Fresh vegetables representing a cash value of $248.80 have been gathered from the Scurry county relief garden and consumed by people on the relief rolls, according to Miss Nellie Ward, home demonstration agent. The garden measures 118 by 124 feet and is subirrigated by concrete tile made by relief roll workers.

The evaluation of the garden was made on a basis of four cents per pound for the 6,220 pounds of all varieties gathered. This included black eyed peas, lima beans, pinto beans, beets, Swiss chard, spinach, carrots, turnips, rape and radishes. Because of the demonstrated value of the use of concrete tile in this garden many families in the county are now preparing tile for use in spring gardens.

San Angelo—A tufted bedspread costing $1.61 has been made by Mrs. John Yancy of Tom Green county as a part of her bedroom improvement work, according to Miss Nette Schultz, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Yancy bought three yards of ten quarter unbleached sheeting and dyed it rose. She then bought a large ball of wrapping cord which she dyed a lighter rose and used for tufting. The wrapping cord when damp fluffs and looks like candlewick tufting yarn and is much less expensive. Mrs. Yancy washed the spread as soon as it was finished to make the tufting fluff still more.

Floresville—Twelve plants of diced pineapple and two pints of juice canned at home are displayed in the pantry of Mrs. Howard Hawk of Wilson county, according to Miss Martha Hickman, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Hawk purchased six pineapples and canned five. The actual cost of the product was 75 cents, and as they are worth $2.30 at the current market price, she saved 66 per cent of her money by her ingenuity.

Corseana—J. A. Young of Navarro county has an outstanding demonstration of a profitable use to be made of government rented acres, according to C. C. Morris, farm demonstration agent. Mr. Young planted seven acres of rented land in 18 inch rows of sudan grass for pasture. He reports that this pasture has cared for four head of work mules and five milch cows, and that after the restrictions were removed that he permitted a neighbor to pasture 10 dairy cows on this same field. Mr. Young estimated that the grazing figured at 75 cents per month per head would easily have netted twice what the land would have produced in cotton.

Mount Pleasant—Trench silos came into their own this year in Titus county, according to the report of J. O. Graham, farm demonstration agent. The case of W. A. Ford who salvaged his perishing grain sorghum crop by making silage is typical. Mr. Ford stored away 60 tons at a cost of approximately $1.25 per ton for cutting and storing. So satisfactory was this method of putting up feed that Mr. Ford expects to add more trench silos next year.

RELIEF CLIENTS TO GET SURPLUS RICE

Two thousand pounds of rice will be distributed to relief clients in Brown county, having been received this week by the relief office for distribution as a surplus commodity. The shipment of rice is one of several received by the relief office for distribution here. It was purchased from rice growers in an effort to hold the price of this product.

The office last week received 2,000 pounds of Maine Irish potatoes which are being distributed on a basis of 30 pounds per family per month. Also, 4,000 pounds of butter recently were received for distribution here.

One hundred mattresses have been received for distribution, 20,000 mattresses being given to relief families in Texas. In addition, comforter covering, mattress cotton and mattress ticking will be distributed soon.

Electric Franchise Passes Council On Its First Reading

A franchise granting an electric light and power franchise in the City of Brownwood to R. C. Mathews was passed on first reading by the city council Tuesday night. To be effective, the franchise must be passed on two more readings.

The council reserved the right to specify in the franchise that it become void in event a plant is not built within one year. The council also wants to reserve the right to purchase the plant should it desire to do so. It is offered for sale.

The city now is served by the Texas Power and Light company.

INCREASED CHURCH ATTENDANCE SHOWN DURING CAMPAIGN

With the Spiritual Recovery campaign in its third week in Brownwood, attendance at all of the city's churches is said to be steadily increasing. Pastors of all of the participating churches based their sermons on John 3:16 last Sunday as they did the first Sunday of the campaign. And for four more Sundays the various ministers of the city will continue along the same theme.

Pastors of the city's churches, in reporting increased attendances at all services, are enthusiastic over visible results of the campaign. However, as one pastor stated there were no increase in church attendance the spiritual revival of regular attendants would more than justify the concerted action of the churches of the city in the campaign.

Brief reports have been obtained from pastors of churches participating in the campaign. They follow:

A considerable increase at the evening service was reported by Rev. P. E. Chappell, pastor of First Methodist Church, who states that "even if there was no increase in attendance, I think the campaign is an excellent one and that great benefits will be derived from it."

Dr. C. C. Schurman, pastor of First Christian Church, is most enthusiastically in favor of the Spiritual Recovery and Go to Church campaign, and states that the congregation at his church Sunday morning was the largest since Easter.

Dr. Schurman spoke Sunday on "The World God Loves" and he will follow this up next Sunday morning with a sermon on "The Divine Gift."

Splendid services were held both morning and evening at First Baptist Church, according to an announcement by Rev. R. O. Ekert, assistant to the pastor, Dr. Karl H. Moore. Good crowds attended, he says. Dr. Moore has announced as his topic for next Sunday morning "A Gospel as Wide as the Universe."

Increased attendance was noted not only at the church services but at Sunday school and B. T. S. as well at Coggin Avenue Baptist Church, according to Dr. W. R. Hornburg. Dr. Hornburg is well pleased with the Spiritual Recovery campaign and states that a decided upward movement in all the church activities is evident.

"The World Necessity for the God of Love" is the topic announced for next Sunday morning by Dr. Wm. H. Foster, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, who is also joining in the campaign. Mr. Foster states that although there was no tremendous gain in attendance at his church, two good services were held.

Fine services were held at Central Methodist Church, according to the pastor, Rev. H. S. Goodenough, although there can be no comparisons made with former services since Sunday was his second in Brownwood. However, Mr. Goodenough is enthusiastically joining with other pastors of the city in the campaign.

Rev. I. K. Floyd, pastor of Austin Avenue Presbyterian Church spoke Sunday morning to his congregation on "The God of Love."

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID DR. JOHN POWER AT BEAUTIFUL SERVICE

Dr. John Power, "The Scoutmaster," "The Minister," "The Citizen," and "Dr. Power, Our Friend," was honored at an appreciation service held last Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church under the auspices of the Brownwood Business & Professional Women's Club, an organization that annually publicly honors one of Brownwood's outstanding citizens.

Dr. Power, after about thirty years as rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, has retired from active charge of that congregation to assume the role of rector emeritus. During his long residence in Brownwood, "The Parson," as he is affectionately known by all, has taken a very active and effective, though unassuming, part in religious, civic and social activities of the city.

Dr. Mollie Armstrong, long prominent in activities of the Brownwood Business & Professional Women's Club, presided at Sunday's meeting and at the outset stated that the club had never undertaken anything more beautiful than the program to express the appreciation of the town and community for the life and service of Dr. Power.

The invocation was by Dr. S. E. Chandler, long time associate of the honoree. Special music for the service included songs by the High School Glee Club, twenty-four girls in their beautiful glee club costumes and making their first public appearance for this year, under the direction of Miss Gail Arnett; a vocal solo by Mr. S. B. Gamble; a vocal solo by Miss Mavis Douglas, and a violin solo by Miss Sally Beth Evans. Mrs. McAdoo Keaton and Miss Frances Merritt were the accompanists, and the program proper was preceded by a fifteen minutes organ recital by Mrs. Keaton. Members of the Business and Professional Women's club acted as ushers in seating the congregation, which filled the large main auditorium of the church.

The speakers and their subjects were: Tom C. Wilkinson, member of the first Boy Scout troop in Brownwood, which was organized in Brownwood, "Dr. Power, the Scoutmaster;" Dr. W. R. Hornburg, pastor of Coggin Avenue Baptist Church and president of the Brownwood Ministerial Association, "Dr. Power, the Minister;" James C. Write, editor of The Bulletin, "Dr. Power, the Citizen;" Mrs. J. W. Trapp, member of the Daniel Baker faculty and member of the Business and Professional Women's club, "Dr. Power, Our Friend."

The comments of the speakers, each of whom spoke with a feeling of personal affection and unmistakable sincerity, included such expressions as "His general excellence of character," "The grand old man of Brownwood," "A life of snow white spotlessness," "A beacon light to send its rays of kindness, love and sympathy into dark places."

"What a heritage," said one, "is Brownwood's in having for the last thirty years a man like this!"

At the close of Mrs. Trapp's address a very large and beautiful basket bouquet was brought in and placed before Dr. Power. Mrs. Armstrong explaining that it was from the four civic clubs of the city. Dr. Power arose to speak, but tears filled his eyes and his voice choked with emotion. Raising his hand in a gesture to those who had spoken and to the audience, he haltingly said, "I can't," resumed his seat. Scores of handkerchiefs were raised to eyes in the audience.

Thanksgiving

A Symbol of Gratitude Since the Days of the Pilgrims

This Thanksgiving Day should stand today for what it stood in that primeval wilderness of early Colonial America when a struggling, forlornly brave little band of settlers set it aside as a day of thanks for the blessings they had received.

How much more we have to be thankful for than had those wearisome Pilgrims! Today, in our comfortable surroundings, it is even difficult to imagine their sufferings. Unfortunately, our many blessings have become such a habit of our daily lives that we are prone to overlook them entirely. As we gather about the family board today let us, as good citizens, remember the homeless and the friendless and, if possible, put a speck of sunshine into their lives.

Let us observe the occasion in the becoming and strengthening spirit of community and national service. Let us avoid the perils of indifference which has threatened our prosperity. In short, let each and every one of us be sincerely grateful in our hearts.

Motor Registration Starts In February

Registration of automobiles for 1935 will not start until February 1, 1935, under the new law, it was explained this week by Lee Meek, county tax collector. In previous years registration for the new year started on December 1, and motorists had until February 1 of the new year in which to pay their license fees.

Under the law as passed by the legislature last year, motorists have until April 1 to pay their license fees. They will be placed on sale on February 1. Automobile owners who paid their license fees the first of last year will get 15 months use from their 1934 license plates, as they are good until the first day of April.

New license plates have not been received at the local collector's office. They are being made this year for the first time by Texas prison labor. In other years the license plates have been made by commercial companies on low bids.

NEW LOAN PLAN WILL BENEFIT FARM HOMES

"Our farmers and people living in the smallest communities will benefit as much as the city dweller from the Better Housing Program," it was explained by Smith Bell, chairman of the local campaign committee, in stressing the wide scope of Title 1 of the National Housing Act.

"We have learned through the United States Department of Agriculture," he said, "that out of every 100 farmhouses, probably 50 are under the desired standard of livability; that 15 need new foundations; 15 to 20, new roofs; 10 to 15, new floors; 10, new walls; and a large number lack running water and bath facilities.

"This modernization program offers the farmer the same means of bringing his property up to modern standards—also, of improving his barns and other buildings—as is given the city home owner.

"Under this plan, the money for such improvements is available through a local approved financial institution as a character loan, payable by farming-income seasons over a period of 3, and in certain cases 5, years. The borrower is fully protected from excessive financing charges.

"Here is a brief outline of the procedure:

"1. A modernization loan is solely for the purpose of repairing, altering, or improving the farm home, barn, silo, shop, store, or other building (with deepening or digging wells permissible in drought-stricken States). Diversion of the money to any other purpose is prohibited.

"2. The loan cannot be for less than $100 or for more than $2,000. In addition, the borrower must have a regular source of income equal to at least five times the annual payments.

"3. The loans can be made for a term up to 3 years (5 years in special cases), but may be paid in full earlier than the maturity date if the borrower desires.

"4. Maximum charges, including interest and all fees, cannot exceed an amount equivalent to $5 discount per year per $100 original face amount of the note.

"5. The property owner files a 'property owner's credit statement' with the bank, showing his financial condition, sources and amount of income and other information necessary to determine his ability to repay the loan.

"If the bank considers the improvements advisable, and the property owner able to meet the payments when due, it can advance the money on the personal note of the property owner. No endorsers or cosigners are required, and no mortgage or collateral security is necessary, unless State laws or bank officials demand it."

P. C. Colgin, farm demonstration agent of Baylor county, has worked with one leather demonstrator who has tanned 127 hides since the Short Course in 1933. Of these, 95 were cow hides, 16 were sheep pelts, 10 were wolf and coyote skins, two were horse hides, and four were bob cat skins.

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.
Fonds of firm healthy flesh instead of bare scraggy bones! New vigor, vim and energy instead of tired listlessness! Steady, quiet nerves! That is what thousands of people are getting through scientific latest discovery—the Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil concentrated in little sugar coated tablets without any of its horrid, fishy taste or smell. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, they're called "Cod Liver Oil in Tablets," and they simply work wonders. A little boy of 8, seriously sick, got well and gained 10 1/2 lbs. in just one month. A girl of thirteen after the same disease, gained 9 lbs. the first week and 2 lbs. each week after. A young woman who could not eat or sleep after baby came got all her health back and gained 10 lbs. in less than a month.
You simply must try McCoy's at once. Remember if you don't gain at least 3 lbs. of firm healthy flesh in a month get your money back. Demand and get McCoy's—the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets—approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Refuse all substitutes—insist on the original McCoy's—there are none better.

BANKHEAD ACT IS NEEDED TO REDUCE ACREAGE, IS CLAIM

Unless cotton producers continue the Bankhead Act for another year, they may count on an increase in production of about one million bales, says an article in The Dallas News, which continues:

The November cotton report indicated a production of 3,540,000 bales, about 3,500,000 less than the crop of 1933. No threat was contained in the statement from the adjustment administration of the large increase but it arises from a stipulation in the cotton reduction contracts. The Bankhead law limits the crop to 10,000,000 bales.

Thus it is apparent that the reduction program for next year depends somewhat on the outcome of the producers' vote on the Bankhead law. Details for taking the referendum are being completed rapidly by the department and it will come about the second week in December.

The prospective increase results from a stipulation in the contracts with producers that the Secretary of Agriculture must announce the national program for next year and that the acreage reduction may not exceed 25 per cent from the base or five-year average. It is estimated that this would mean an increase of about 4,000,000 acres, and, in turn, roughly this is estimated to mean about 1,000,000 bales more.

Announcement to Come Soon

Secretary Wallace is expected to announce next year's program next week, since it is stipulated in the contract with the growers that such announcement must be made by December 1. He may provide that there shall be a 15 or 20 per cent reduction, in as much as the contract stipulates that the maximum may not be more than 25 per cent.

but it is not assumed that the lower ratio would be adopted as that would mean still more cotton, with every prospect of enlargement of the carryover in face of a declining export market.

The department's attitude toward the Bankhead law is that farmers may take it or leave it and if it is rejected, Wallace has said that the department would do the best possible under a voluntary program.

"Cotton farmers must decide," said Secretary Wallace recently, "whether in their opinion the adjustment of cotton production under voluntary contracts is sufficient to meet the requirements of the present emergency. Will the efforts of a small minority of nonoperators, the tendency toward more intensive cultivation and the possibility of new lands coming into cultivation combine to increase total production above the point which seems desirable?"

"That, it appears, is the central question involved in a decision on continuing the Bankhead act for another year. Or, stated another way, do cotton producers want the mechanism afforded in the Bankhead act as a supplementary control to the current efforts under the agricultural adjustment act?"

Up to the Farmer.

"Cotton farmers have had one season's experience with the type of control embodied in the Bankhead act. Numerous difficulties obviously have been encountered. It is reasonable to expect that with some latitude in the act for the coming year many of those difficulties can be avoided. But it is for the cotton farmer to choose."

will bear all the aspects of a secret political election. Senator Smith of South Carolina and others in Southeastern States have said they will ask for the repeal of the Bankhead law as soon as the new Congress convenes in January. It is considered doubtful however that Congress would repeal the law were the cotton farmers, by two-thirds' vote as the law requires advocate its continuance for next season.

In many respects the decision will be a sectional one. That is, States or district that made more than their allotment of cotton—and some of these districts are in Texas—and thus were required to pay a tax on ginning the excess, may be expected to register themselves against continuing the law.

RANKIN—William Jasper Rankin, 67, of the Amity community, died suddenly Tuesday morning, November 20, on the streets of May. Funeral services were held the following afternoon at the Amity church with Rev. W. S. Fisher, of Rising Star, officiating. Burial was made in the Amity cemetery with the Masonic lodge, No. 57, of May, in charge. Austin - Morris Funeral Home of Brownwood, had charge of arrangements.

W. J. Rankin was born June 16, 1867, in Belfont, Arkansas. After spending his youth in Arkansas, Mr. Rankin came to Texas and to Brown county where he had been prominent as a citizen and farmer. He united with the Methodist church at Macedonia in 1890 and continued his membership with that congregation until his death.

Mr. Rankin was married to Miss Zou Robertson, April 1, 1888. To this union five children were born, four of whom survive, as does his wife. The children are S. L. Rankin, Rising Star; Mrs. A. V. McBride, of May; Mrs. Roy Rasco, of Sweetwater, and R. R. Rankin, of May.

FULLER—Mrs. Mattie Fuller, 76, of Brownwood, died in a Brownwood hospital, Wednesday afternoon, November 21, her death being attributed to lockjaw resulting from an infection. Funeral services were held Friday morning at the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church with Revs. W. R. Hornbush, pastor, and J. M. Cooper, officiating. Corn Liquor Spring Found By Officers, But It's Dry Now

Corn whiskey bubbling up out of the ground just as water pours out of a mountain spring would be music to many a red nose guzzler of the fluid that has been outlawed by the laws of Texas, and such a spring would likely be drunk dry within a short while after discovery. But throughout the centuries the boys who find pleasure in their cups have never been able to discover that "fountain of corn."

It remained for Sheriff Jack Hallmark and Deputy Chester Avinger to discover the spring that flows, not water but corn whiskey. Last week-end the sheriff and his deputy were cruising in South Brownwood and ran onto what appeared to be a spring that flows corn liquor. They claim that the liquor was coming up out of the ground and was flowing off into a gutter. The officers found an old syrup bucket and dipped up about half a gallon of the fluid, this to be used as evidence.

The liquor spring was found near an unoccupied house, hence no arrests were made. The officers had no search warrant for the house and did not attempt to enter it. Their theory is that the liquor had been poured into a trap in the basement and that the liquor spring was caused by the liquor seeping up through the ground.

Searching parties are warned that the spring has now ceased to flow.

CONNORS—Mrs. Katherine Connors, 70, died suddenly Wednesday morning at 3:45 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emmett Evans at 1714 Austin avenue. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence with Rev. Phil E. Chappell officiating. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery with White & London in charge.

Mrs. Connors has been in poor health for several years but became ill only about 20 minutes before her death. Attending physicians stated she suffered an acute attack of indigestion.

Mrs. Connors came to Brownwood in the early 1880's with her mother, Mrs. Mollie Maxwell Sigman from their home in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada. She was married in June, 1880, to John J. Connors and to this union two daughters were born, one of whom survives. Mrs. Evans. Her husband died a number of years ago. One other relative, Mrs. Annie Weaver, of Kansas City, Missouri, survives.

She was a member of the First Methodist church of Brownwood, having been affiliated with that organization since childhood. She was an active member of the Women's Missionary Society until her health prevented taking part in its activities. She was also a member of the Brownwood Woodmen's circle.

FINAL GRID BATTLE OF SEASON HERE TO BE PLAYED THURSDAY

Jackets To Meet Southwestern Before Thanksgiving And Homecoming Crowds.

Howard Payne's Yellow Jacket football machine, 1934 champions of the Texas Conference, will clash with the Southwestern University Pirates in Brownwood Thanksgiving Day in the final grid battle of the year on Brownwood soil. Although this game is a conference affair it will have little effect on the final standings of the teams involved. The Jackets are undefeated in or outside the conference and have the title sewed up and the Southwestern eleven is far down the ladder with only one victory for the season in conference play, that being a 13-12 decision over Trinity University. However, a victory over the Jackets would go far toward making the season a success, as far as the Pirates are concerned.

But the Yellow Jackets will be playing before a large homecoming crowd and do not intend to let their almost perfect season's record be marred by an upset in the final game of the year. The Jackets have only a 7-7 tie with Austin College to mar their otherwise perfect record. Last week the Jackets won handily from Westmorland Junior College in San Antonio by a 21 to 6 count. In this game Westmorland scored first with the Jacket shock troops in the game. Coach Cheaney immediately rushed in his first stringers and little time was lost in putting the game on ice.

Daniel Baker's Hill Billies closed their 1934 conference season last Friday night in Georgetown by trimming the Southwestern University outfit 12 to 6. The Billies scored a touchdown in the first three minutes of play, added another early in the second quarter and successfully fought back a determined Southwestern assault in the last half. The Pirates finally pushed over a touchdown in the fourth quarter on a pass that netted twenty yards and the score. The victory Friday night left the Billies tied with St. Edwards University, 1933 champions, for second place in the final standings. The St. Edwards outfit has also finished its conference schedule, hence the deadlock for runner-up honors will remain unbroken.

The Billies left Brownwood again early Monday for Kingsville where Tuesday night they played the powerful Texas A. & I. Javelinas in the final game of the season for the Blue and White. A. & I. won the game, 26 to 0.

The Lions of Brownwood High School closed their most unsuccessful season in history last Friday in Ranger, losing to the powerful Bulldogs by a 44 to 0 score. The Lions no-scoring jinx was almost broken in that game when Baker, quarterback, took a Ranger fumble out of the air on his own goal line and raced 95 yards only to be brought down from behind on the Bulldog five yard stripe. The Lions played eight games this year and were never able to score a point of any kind. They got within a yard or two of pay territory in several games but the boys who wore the maroon and white this season never enjoyed the thrill of making a touchdown, safety or field goal. They played many good games but some kind of a jinx kept them from ever cashing in on their efforts. They were handicapped by injuries, illness and the ineffectibility busaboo.

Growing chickens and turkeys, much of the needed feed and food for flocks and family, and depending on a variety of truck crops for cash is the way W. H. Nixon of the Henry Prairie community in Robertson county has weathered the gale of hard times. He tried an acre of cucumbers this year for the first time and the first picking paid all the expense of the crop except 10 cents.
