

County Voters Oppose All Of 8 Amendments

Constitutional Changes Lose in State Balloting Tuesday.

County voters in the General Election Tuesday opposed all eight proposed amendments to the Texas State Constitution. Reports indicated that the amendment, proposing to change the University of Texas lands for school purposes in several counties, was the only one that Texas counties had carried in this county, but when the general was made, it was found that this amendment shared the fate of the other seven.

The vote on the eighth amendment was close, the measure being carried by only four votes. The vote was 813 for and 817 against.

According to latest reports from the county, all eight amendments were rejected by Texas voters by the following vote:

- Amendment 1—For 492, against 1061.
- Amendment 2—For 358, against 1061.
- Amendment 3—For 524, against 1061.
- Amendment 4—For 337, against 1296.
- Amendment 5—For 343, against 1061.
- Amendment 6—For 107, against 1127.
- Amendment 7—For 813, against 817.
- Amendment 8—For 813, against 817.

County, as always, went overwhelmingly Democratic with Democratic nominees for state, county and precinct offices winning by approximately 1,600 votes. There were only 39 or 40 Republican votes cast, five or six Socialist and one Communist vote being cast in Ward No. 1.

Due to lack of interest only one fourth of the county's voters went to the polls Tuesday.

EL BAKER WILL SERVE HOMECOMING DAY ON NOVEMBER 10

Annual homecoming exercises at Baker College will be held today of this week and according to present plans, ex-students will find an extension program in their honor awaiting them when they return to the campus that were familiar to them. They were students in Daniel Baker College. A complete program for the day has been completed by the Broad, president of Ex-Students Association, and Allen Daugherty, chairman of a committee in charge of festivities. The homecoming program will get under way at 2:30 Saturday morning and will be concluded with the annual El Daniel Baker football game that night.

The homecoming will include several organizations, a memorial service for several former students of the college who met accidental deaths in the year or two, a special service for former football captains of the college and a barbecue on the campus or in the gymnasium.

The complete program follows: Music at 3:30; invocation by S. E. Chandler; welcome address by Dr. R. G. Davis, president of the school, and Jack Broad; by Mrs. Robert Hall; yells by the cheerleaders; addresses by several ex-students including H. H. Howard of Paint Rock, John B. Howard and Roy White of Hamden, and E. J. Stringer of Winter, and

Texan Speaks In New York

PETER MOLYNEUX, editor of The Texas Weekly and widely known economist, told the Academy of Political Science in New York Nov. 7th that international cooperation is the only safeguard of peace. Mr. Molyneux (above) shared the subject, "The Outlook for World Peace", with Newton D. Baker at a banquet presided over by Owen D. Young.

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL SELL POPPIES SATURDAY, NOV. 10

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will sell poppies Saturday, November 10, in the downtown business district, these being in memory of the World War dead and for the benefit of the war disabled, widows of war veterans and fatherless children. The custom of wearing poppies in memory of the war dead is sixteen years old this year and is generally observed throughout the English speaking world. In the United States the women of the Legion Auxiliary have developed it into a great national program for commemorating the services of those who sacrificed their health, strength and life in the nation's service. Nearly ten million Americans wear poppies each year on Armistice and they contribute nearly $1,000,000 annually for distribution by those in charge for needy cases that are direct results of war service.

Cotton Exemption Blanks Received

County Agent C. W. Lehmburg has received an additional 291 cotton exemption certificates for farms that had cotton in 1934 but that did not have any during the base period. This allotment practically completes Brown county's quota of exemption certificates. There may be a small number of certificates to come yet from farms where low yields caused by abnormal conditions during either the base period or since that time were had. A total of 2,709 certificates have been received in the county this year.

The last two allotments of certificates were for farms where no cotton was planted during the base period upon which the amount on these were drawn from the ten per cent of the state allotment held in reserve for such purposes.

Mrs. Fielding Early, Claude Kilgore, J. Claud Smith, Mayfield Gibbs and B. D. Dozier, all of Brownwood. A memorial service for Lee Moody, Betz Baker, Joe Tongate and Lucien Long, all of whom met accidental deaths, will follow. During the afternoon reunions of the Gamma Sigma Phi and Omega Sigma Phi fraternities will be held. A reunion of the "Chugheads" will also be held and officers for another year elected.

DECISION EXPECTED SOON ON FUTURE OF SHEEP, GOAT BUYING

Whether or not the government's sheep and goat purchasing program will be continued in Brown county will be determined at an early date, County Agent C. W. Lehmburg stated this week. Mr. Lehmburg was in receipt of a letter from state headquarters at College Station asking that a survey of the county's needs be made and a report made to the state organization.

It is believed that the program will be continued in this county, but nothing definite is available at present. It will first be necessary to determine the number of sheep and goats that farmers and livestock men wish to sell to the government.

Mr. Lehmburg has asked all sheep and goat raisers in the county to come to his office and report the exact number of animals they wish to sell to the government. All applications made in the original purchasing program will be given preference in the second allotment for this county, that is if the program is resumed.

"We had a large number of such applications and I want these to get the preference where it is possible. On the other hand, I want every grower who wants to sell either sheep or goats to report to me immediately so I can make my reports, Lehmburg stated."

The government buys sheep and goats from one year old up but will take no kids or lambs. The price being paid is $2 per head for sheep and $1.40 per head for goats. The first program here included the sale of 2,900 head of goats and 5,900 head of sheep.

SENATOR WOODWARD OUTLINES POSITION ON COLORADO BILL

In reply to a telegram sent him by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce this week asking him to support the House amendment to the Colorado river authority bill, Senator Walter Woodward, of Coleman, stated that he has never opposed the water priority amendment, except that he deemed it unnecessary. Senator Woodward's complete reply follows:

"Replying to your telegram and many others, wish you would give publicity to my attitude as follows: "I have never opposed so-called water priority amendment to Colorado river bill, except that I thought it was unnecessary and because I was advised by public works attorney that federal government would not make loan to complete dam if this amendment was adopted."

"I believe cities now have prior right to impound water for municipal purposes, and also believe irrigations have prior right over hydro-electric power. If I have any assurance that federal government will make loan notwithstanding water priority amendment, and I am inclined to believe the government will do so, I will heartily support amendment."

"We must not overlook fact that present permits involved are now held by private corporations and that defeat of Colorado river bill will still leave these permits in possession of private interests, whereas passage of bill will place these permits back in the state."

"I have never voted for any bill which I thought injured the rights of our section and will resolve all doubts in favor of our section."

NOV. 30 DEADLINE FOR SPLIT TAXES

November is the last month for split-tax payments. County Tax Collector Lee Meek points out. Half of state and county taxes can be paid the remainder of this month with the remaining half paid before June 1, 1935.

To date, comparatively few have availed themselves of the divided payment plan of tax-paying, although payments of taxes have been fairly good since October 1, when current taxes became due. If the first half payment is not made before November 30, the taxes must be paid in full on or before January 31, 1935, if one would avoid having them become delinquent, and therefore subject to a 10 per cent penalty and interest.

FARM CENSUS WILL START IN THIS DISTRICT ON JANUARY 2; BROWNWOOD HEADQUARTERS

ENUMERATION of farm statistics under the U. S. Bureau of the Census plan to take a census of American agriculture will get under way in this district January 2, 1934, it was announced this week by Hon. Chas. L. South, congressman-elect. Judge South is in Brownwood attending his final term of court as district attorney.

Brownwood will be the headquarters for the Seventh Supervisor's District of Texas, Judge South has been advised by W. L. Austin, director of the Bureau of Census, in a letter received from Washington this week. The district will include twenty-seven counties, the exact territory included in Judge South's new district in Congress. It includes, in addition to Brown county, the counties of Bandera, Coke, Coleman, Concho, Edwards, Gillespie, Irion, Kendall, Kerr, Kimble, Kinney, Lampasas, Llano, Mason, McCulloch, Menard, Mills, Real, Runnels, San Saba, Schleicher, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green, Uvalde and Val Verde.

The general plan of the census will be to group the counties into districts, based on the number of farms, irrespective of Congressional lines, Mr. Austin writes. There will be 24 such districts in the United States. Each district will require one supervisor, one assistant supervisor and a force of enumerators.

Enumerators will be selected directly by the supervisor of the district. Supervisors for the districts will be announced from Washington shortly. Enumerators will be employed for 15 or 20 days and will be paid on a piece-price basis, an energetic enumerator being able to earn $4 or $5 a day. This pay is subject to the five per cent reduction provided by law for all government salaries.

"All applications for enumerators should be submitted to the supervisor immediately upon his appointment," Mr. Austin's instructions state. "The enumerators should be residents of the small areas which they are to canvass within the counties, and will be required to pass a Census test to determine their fitness for the work."

"As this is a census of farms, the farmers, farmers' wives and farmers' sons and daughters will be selected wherever practicable. Preference will be given, wherever practicable, to properly qualified veterans. Persons having husbands or wives in the United States Government service are not eligible for any of these appointments."

The supervisor and assistant supervisor for the district will be located in Brownwood. Approximately 76 enumerators will be employed in this district, Judge South estimates. It is expected that the work will require approximately three months to complete.

Dr. Karl Moore To Deliver Armistice Sermon For Legion

A special Armistice day service for Brownwood and Brown county will be held at the First Baptist Church at 11 a. m. Sunday, November 11, with Dr. Karl H. Moore, pastor, delivering a special sermon to the war veterans.

Plans for the service were made at a joint meeting of the Legion and Auxiliary Monday night. All World War veterans are given special invitations to attend the Sunday morning service.

At the joint meeting Monday night, delegates to the 21st district convention to be held in Llano November 17 and 18 were elected. The delegates are: Commander Joe Blagg, Adjutant Fred R. Donohoe, E. M. Davis, John Collins, C. W. Carter, Gus Rosenberg, W. D. Wells, Dr. Homer B. Allen, Dr. O. N. Mayor, J. W. Hale and Mark Callaway.

Court House Gets New Roofing Job

Workmen this week are laying a new roof on the Brown county court house, contract for the work having been let by the commissioners court recently. A complete new roof is being constructed, and the fire walls are being re-plastered. The old roof was leaking so badly that it was thought impossible to repair it properly. Ballinger Roofing Company has the roofing contract; A. J. Milam the contract for the plaster work.

The Key to the Golden Gate

Seen from the air, the fender and trestle of the mammoth Golden Gate bridge, together with Fort Point, take the form of a gigantic key. A circle of concrete 750 feet in circumference and reaching 100 feet to the bottom of San Francisco bay forms a fender within which the south pier of the bridge will be built, protected from the tide-swept waters. The fender is seen lower right foreground in this picture, copyrighted by the Associated Oil Company.

600 FEED AND SEED APPLICATIONS RECEIVED BY AGENT

County Agent C. W. Lehmburg has received a total of 688 applications for feed and seed loans from Brown county farmers and a total of $26,724 has been received on applications that were approved and accepted. When all applications are approved and allowed, the county will have received total benefits of over $32,000.

The seed and feed loans are made on the monthly plan with farmers receiving monthly checks. Interest on the loans begins upon receipt of the checks. Each month the borrower must bring receipted bills for feed and seed expenditures during the preceding month, this being a prerequisite to an additional check.

The program will continue until June 30, 1935, but with most farmers the program will stop before that in that most will not need government help that late in the year.

ALL IN READINESS FOR RED CROSS AND COUNCIL FUND DRIVE

Final plans for the Red Cross Roll Call and Community Council drive for funds, to be launched Monday under the direction of D. T. Strickland, general chairman.

The business section of Brownwood has been zoned, with team captains for each zone, while the residence district has been divided among teams from the Junior Service League, which also is participating in the funds to be secured from the one-week campaign.

Team captains met Monday night with Mr. Strickland and received supplies and final instructions. Information regarding the activity of the Community Council and the Junior Service League will be mailed Thursday to all business men in Brownwood, in order to acquaint them with the need for raising funds at this time. Members of the Junior Service League met with Mr. Strickland and Miss Mary Bess Sawyer, general chairman for the League, Monday morning for instructions.

The work of the Red Cross will be continued throughout the year on the same plan as in the past, with funds received in the annual Roll Call, which this year has been made a part of the Community Council drive. Membership in the Red Cross will be sold as in the past, and in addition, business men of the county will be asked to contribute to the Community Council.

In the residential districts, Red Cross memberships only will be solicited. Conner Scott is chairman of the drive in Brown county, outside the city of Brownwood. Gilbert Harrison is general vice chairman, assisting Mr. Strickland, and J. H. McKee will handle special assignments in the roll call and drive.

Turkey Market Opens Friday; Price Is Good

Dealers Ready For Rush Season; 15c Opening Price Set With Advance Expected.

Turkey raisers of Brown county will begin cashing in on their 1934 flocks Friday of this week with the opening of the Thanksgiving market in Brownwood. Buyers have announced that the market will open at around fifteen cents a pound. It is estimated that the Brownwood market will handle about 100,000 birds for which the raisers will be paid approximately one quarter of a million dollars. Buyers estimate that at least fifty car loads of Central Texas turkeys will be shipped from the Brownwood market during the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's market.

Most of the eight turkey dressing plants in Brownwood were scheduled to open Friday with others to open Monday or later next week. The Thanksgiving market will continue through November 19 or 20 and the Christmas market will open about December 1.

Brownwood dressing plants will afford employment to 400 or 500 people who will be used as pickers, loaders and for other work in connection with preparing the turkeys for shipping. Pickers are usually paid five cents a bird and at this rate pickers will be paid about $5,000 for their labor this year.

The Central Texas turkey crop is said to be below normal this year with the quality of the flocks also being lower than usual. However, many growers have improved their birds by good feeding in recent weeks. Others will hold their birds for later markets in an effort to get them in better condition for marketing. Growers have been advised not to bring their birds to market unless they are fat but in this connection they are warned not to feed their birds the day before they are brought to market. Growers will make more money by not feeding them just before marketing them, dealers advise.

Although this year's turkey crop is shorter than one year ago, the growers will receive about as much money for their flocks as they did in 1933, this being due to better prices this year. The market last year was about 9 and 10 cents a pound.

Last year Brownwood dealers shipped 75 carloads of turkeys, this giving Brownwood first place as a Texas turkey marketing center.

ALARMED AT SHRINKAGE IN EXPORTS OF COTTON

Concern over the shrinkage in this country's cotton exports spread this week from other administrative circles with various proposals offered as remedies for the situation, according to reports from Washington.

They tell the reason for the shrinkage in exports begins on October 25, when only 1,812,000 bales were shipped compared to 2,202,000 for the same period last year. The staple have averaged around 8,000,000 bales annually for the past several years.

The AAA began its crop control plan, the 13,000,000-acre plan, for American cotton in 1933, and next August 1, 1934, will have made progress toward getting rid of surplus.

It is estimated that the AAA will have made progress toward getting rid of surplus. The AAA will have made progress toward getting rid of surplus.

Still Have Surplus. The AAA's crop, estimated at 9,000,000 bales, is one of the smallest in years unless consumption abroad and domestic use of the AAA will have made progress toward getting rid of surplus.

When ill, Ontario citizens may telegraph their symptoms to the provincial health department and a doctor will prescribe through the microphone.

One 4-H club boy in Shackelford county reports gains of 300 pounds on his baby beef calf after four months feeding at a cost of $12.06. The calf weighed 330 when it went on feed.

Buying Power Lacked.

The Secretary's explanation is that inability of other nations to buy dollar exchange, lack of purchasing power, in other words, is the real reason why customers abroad are cutting down on their cotton buying. He cites Germany as an example and the plaint of German officials that they can not buy our cotton unless the United States buys more German products.

Administration critics, however, reply that there has been an increase in the use of foreign cotton because it is cheaper than the domestic product. From the south has come the suggestion that Secretary Hull seek additional outlets for cotton in reciprocal tariff treaties now being negotiated.

George Peck, special adviser to the President on foreign trade, has said that the Treasury Department might use a portion of its $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to acquire German marks, for instance, so that former foreign customers might buy cotton again.

More Acreage Suggested. Others have proposed a greatly expanded acreage to meet the competition of other growths and there are any number of other suggested solutions for the problem.

A bit bewildered, the AAA is proceeding cautiously toward its 1935 voluntary program. In 1934 the plan called for a reduction of 40 per cent from the yearly average planting of about 41,000,000 acres.

The contract was for two years and the maximum acreage reduction which may be made this year is 25 per cent from the 41,000,000 base. Since so few bales of American cotton, comparatively speaking, are going abroad the full 25 per cent cut probably will be ordered, although the AAA had hoped to announce an expanded acreage for 1935.

When ill, Ontario citizens may telegraph their symptoms to the provincial health department and a doctor will prescribe through the microphone.

Mr. Bradley qualified himself to conduct these schools by attending firemen's short course at Texas A. & M.

Drills are held twice monthly and from ten to sixteen members have been attending each drill. Schools will be conducted for three month periods throughout the year. Examinations are given at the end of each period. Thirteen firemen passed the first examinations, Mr. Bradley's report states.

Instructions at the school include: Knots and hitches, how to tie and where to use; ladders, how to raise and how to use; hose lines, a complete evolution on hose line; small tools, where kept on trucks and how to use; fire prevention, different fire hazards discussed; salvage, how to use the salvage cover; ventilation, a complete discussion on ventilation of fires.

Farmers Urged To Deliver Exemptions To Gins By Nov. 20

Brown county cotton farmers are being urged to turn over their cotton exemption certificates to their ginner not later than November 20. County Agent C. W. Lehmborg has made an ardent appeal asking that farmers do not delay in giving their certificates to their ginners, thus enabling the ginner to make his report on November 30. Mr. Lehmborg has issued a statement along this line. It follows: "The turning of these certificates is absolutely necessary because the ginners must have up his report and turn them to the government and can not wait for anyone to give their certificates to him.

"Failure on the part of the cotton growers who is holding certificates to turn them in to the ginner may result in their having to pay the taxes on the cotton. I don't want to see any farmer in this county be required to pay the taxes because of an oversight so I am trying to stress the importance of this announcement as much as possible," Mr. Lehmborg said.

There are many types of unique trades in India, among them being averters of hailstones, sellers of grasshoppers, pourers of water on gods, identifiers of witnesses, and charity receivers on burial plats.

Faith Essential To National Progress

By JOHN HENRY KIRBY

Faith is essential in all human affairs. The home will perish without it; the finest friendship will die beyond its frontier. Faith holds the stones together in the royal arch of life.

Nineteen months ago the people of this country had a faith that was almost sublime in the man who then took hold of the reins of government. No president since Washington had gone into office with such inspirational solidarity back of him. The Democrats were almost of a single mind and the beaten and bewildered Republicans yielded tamely to the wishes of the new captain.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had America at his feet. More cheering "soldiers" followed him than fought with Wellington at Waterloo; he held the strings of a bigger purse than the German kaiser when ambition betrayed him into an effort to glorify himself and strengthen his empire by shedding the blood of the world. Not a note of discord could be heard; not a stone was rolled into his way. With patriotic fervor the hearts of the Nation beat hopefully, and every watchman on his tower shouted that all was well.

It was a happy and a promising start. But the months have gone by; billions of dollars have been scattered over the land as if they were dry leaves swept before the storm, and still we stand at the foot of a frowning crag, surrounded by helpless millions begging for employment. The campaign of experimentations made to end the panic has hung out an all-time record for the wild and reckless and wasteful expenditures of money; yet we are far from victory.

I shall not question the sincerity of the President. I believe that he set out full-hearted to drive the depression from our shores, and that if faith had ridden through with him that task would have been accomplished. He appeared invincible; he carried the royal warrant of the electorate and had the exchequer at the end of his fingers. But he didn't choose lieutenants who honored the Constitution. He didn't select counselors faithful to those matchless principles of the Republic which must abide if Liberty is to live.

In the fog of doubtful aims, and in the mist of confusing executive encyclicals, the star of faith has grown dim.

When the Federal government, created to conduct the external and larger affairs of the Nation, laid hands upon the farmer's crop, and when it crossed the frontier of its delegated power to regulate the cobbler at his bench, the printer at his press, and the barber at his chair, that breach of promise and that betrayal of the Bill of Rights, chased faith away. No red-blooded, self-reliant American wants to yield the management of the property he has earned by his labor to even the softest dictatorship. He insists that the profits of his venture, as well as its losses, should be measured by the character of energy and genius that he himself gives to it. He takes the risks and he has a right to reasonable rewards.

If the situation were clarified, and the prevailing uncertainties dismissed with positive declarations instead of cryptic phrases, the smoke would clear away and we could again behold the delectable heights of thrift and progress.

Many who thought they saw the dawn when temporary measures for relief were adopted now peer inquiringly into the dark and anxiously ask questions. The right wing of the administration gently flutters and hope takes heart. Then there is a rustle at the left, with the declaration that the present vexing regulations for business and restraints upon private energy and choice are to remain as permanent policies of the Government. That is a withering anathema which accompanies the extinction of hope. To subject an individual's interest to the tentacles of a bureaucratic octopus, destroys both the flower and the fruit of Constitutional government.

The depression cannot be conquered by handcuffing industry to which the people must look for gainful employment. It cannot be arrested by limiting the production of necessities which have almost become strangers in millions of American homes. Waste isn't an effective remedy for want, whether it takes the form of destroying something which has already been produced or forbids the production of something that adds to the wealth of the world's supply. Such violations of human rights, and sound economics, and the Constitution, are without value and are altogether vicious.

One of the decisions made by the Supreme Court in its golden lays of wisdom, courage and independence, contained the following statement:

"No doctrine involving more pernicious consequences was ever invented by the wit of man than that any of its (the Constitution's) provisions can be suspended during any of the exigencies of government. Such a doctrine leads directly to anarchy or despotism."

Our present need is to set the stakes of the Federal Government back where the Imperial Surveyors, the Fathers of the Constitution, placed them. If the sovereign rights of the States, and the individual rights of the citizens were reestablished; if the investor were assured of a sound dollar, and the business man guaranteed that the profits of his employed savings would not be consumed in confiscatory taxes levied for unconstitutional pursuits or commandeered by the "Sinclairists" for the social purpose, there would be a revival of activity in this land with the fervor of a religious camp meeting.

It is faith that we need. The faith that put those silvery stars in our flag. The faith that inspired the Declaration of Independence and looked with valiance down the irradiant gun barrels of the Revolution. Recovery will come with the return of such a faith just as light comes at daybreak or the blades of grass hasten forth when merciful showers kiss the parched earth.

Faith is the missing span in the bridge between distress and relief. It is the master key that will unlock the gate leading out into a brighter field.
