THIS WEEK

- 2 The City of Clarendon needs a clear plan for dealing with its sad streets.
- 4 A quilting bee will be held next week at the Howardwick Community Center.
- 5 A local church will host a world renowned pianist Sunday.
- 6 And three local Masons get their 50-year member pins.

All this and much more as The Enterprise reports in this week's amazing edition!

Thornberry to meet with locals Aug. 26

The Donley County Republican Party will host Congressman Mac Thornberry and his wife, Sally, at the Bairfield Activity Center on Thursday, August 26, at 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The congressman will say a few words and then answer questions from the folks in attendance. Organizers encourage folks to write their question down and bring that note to the meeting.

The party will also host other Republicans appearing on this year's local ballot. Finger foods and cool refreshments will be served.

Free concert will aid Genesis House

A free benefit concert with Katie Askew and other local talent will be held August 15 from 7 p.m.-9 p.m. at the Donley County Activity Center on Hwy 70.

Forty-five different prizes will be available to win, and tickets can be purchased at the event.

Donations accepted with proceeds going to Genesis House in Pampa.

Ashtola/Martin reunion is Saturday

The Ashtola/Martin Reunion has been scheduled for Saturday, August 14 beginning at 10 a.m. The intended location is at the Donley County Senior Citizens in Clarendon.

Shot clinic to be held next Thursday

The Texas Department of State Health Services will hold an Immunization Clinic in Clarendon August 19 at the TDSHS office at Five Medical Drive from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1:00 to 3 p.m. and the first ten clients at each time block will be served.

Please bring a copy of your child's shot record for immunizations to be administered

Poll says streets should be priority

The majority of people responding to a ClarendonLive.com poll said city leaders should make street improvements their top priority.

Of the 62 people who participated in the non-scientific poll, 65 percent said the city should focus on streets, while 31 percent said improving water lines and/or water quality should be the top priority.

City's seal coat plan dies after estimate goes too high

A plan to seal coat the city's newest streets died during a called session of the Clarendon Board of Aldermen last Tuesday, August 3.

The city had planned to seal coat ten blocks and had budgeted $20,000 for the work, but cost estimates came in higher than expected and reduced the number of blocks that could be done to nine.

City engineer Che Shadle

encouraged aldermen to proceed with the work.

"You're not doing a lot, but you're doing something," Shadle said.

Alderman Larry Hicks voiced concern about seal coating the best streets rather than focusing efforts on the worst ones.

"The damage (on the bad streets) is structural," Shadle replied.

"We're trying to protect the good streets. It's like water coating a fence."

Shadle said the best way to repair Fourth Street, an example of a bad street, is to rip it up and start over.

Hicks asked if the city could do anything with $20,000 to make Fourth and Sixth streets better. Shadle replied, "No."

Alderman Will Thompson said the city should plan to look at the worst streets in 2012, which is when tax notes on the 2005 paving project will be paid off.

Thompson moved to seal coat ten blocks for $22,000, but his motion died for lack of a second.

In other city business, Aldermen voted 3-1 to accept a proposal from Kyle Hill to create new office space in City Hall for a $4,340 contingent on available funds. Thompson opposed the measure.

The board also voted to purchase a 1998 pickup from Greenbelt Water Authority for $1,100; and aldermen discussed budget and tax issues.

A public hearing on the proposed 2010-2011 budget will be held August 24.

The Clarendon Broncos continued two-a-day practice this week as they prepare for their first scrimmage against Nazareth. The practice game will start at 10 a.m. at Bronco Stadium this Saturday.

Broncos on schedule for a great year

By Sandy Anderberg

Last year was a great year for the Bronco football team, and this year's team is looking for things to go just as well or better as they continue with their pre-season practices.

According to head coach Gary Jack, the kids are tending to business and working hard.

"Things are going well for us," Jack said. "Our Midnight Madness went well with about two to three hundred people in attendance. Things look very promising with about 45 kids on the team. The older kids look good and the younger kids are doing a great job."

The Broncos will have a scrimmage at Bronco Stadium Saturday, August 14, at 10:00 a.m. against Nazareth to get a feel of how things are going.

"The scrimmage will tell us where we are at and what we need to get ready for," Jack said.

The Bronco Boosters will be hosting Meet the Broncos Tuesday, August 17, at 7:00 p.m. at Bronco Stadium.

The Bronco football team and high school cross country teams will be introduced at this time. All Bronco fans are encouraged to attend and show their support for all Bronco and Lady Bronco athletes.

SWEPCO sets new electric demand record

SHREVEPORT, La., - Extreme summer temperatures of 100 degrees and above and high humidity across Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas last week sent usage of electricity by customers of AEP Southwestern Electric Power Company (SWEPCO) to a new all-time high level.

A new peak customer demand was established Wednesday, August 4, 2010, with a record 4,990 megawatt (MW) load on the SWEPCO system, breaking the old mark of 4,950 MWs set August 4, 2008, when the Shreveport temperature was 102 degrees.

The record 4,990 MW load (0.8 percent over the previous all-time high for the summer) was set at 5:00 p.m. last Wednesday when the Shreveport temperature was 101 degrees. The SWEPCO peak load for 2009 was set on July 13, with a 4,750 MW load when the temperature in Shreveport was 102 degrees.

Many SWEPCO customers will see higher electric bills because of

Donley County courthouse in state magazine

Clarendon is getting some good press as part of a "True, Texas" series in the September issue of Texas Highways.

The magazine calls True "a collective community of imagination" that features landmarks and icons from across the state that symbolize one idea of the authentic Texas.

The Donley County Courthouse is featured as an example of the buildings across Texas which "reflect the independence and fortitude of a resolute people determined to create order... out of a wilderness." The Clarendon edifice "shines among the 230 historic Texas courthouses."

Other landmarks in "True, Texas" include a water tower in Bandera, the Majestic theatre in Eastland, a café in El Paso, the town mascot in Muleshoe, and many others.

"These institutions and icons are fragile," said editor Charles Lohrmann. "Each one reflects a sense of purpose and commitment to keep a locally focused vision alive."

What's the next step for city streets?

Streets have been a problem for Clarendon for decades; and although the Board of Aldermen has tried to tackle the issue many times, it continues to plague the city. We have a great community, but many of our streets are frankly an embarrassment and a disgrace.

A typical example of this is the streets around the baseball fields. We have better ball park facilities than most towns our size, but you can't drive past them without risking the well being of your car or causing brain damage to your passengers. Drive too fast down Sixth Street with your infant, and the little tyke could well end up with shaken baby syndrome.

editor's commentary
by roger estlack

Currently a city crew is trying its darnedest to patch our thousands of potholes. They have made some progress, but it's a massive undertaking to say the least, and it's seems clear that they don't have all the resources they need for the chore.

City Hall also had planned to seal coat about ten blocks this year, but estimates came in higher than expected (big surprise), and they only had enough money to do nine blocks. Some city leaders wanted to seal coat as many of the new streets as possible and take care of what's still paying for, and others wanted to seal coat or work on older streets. The results last week: No action.

The streets that were paved in 2005 do need to be seal coated on a regular basis to preserve them, but the larger problem is the older streets. Spending $20,000 to seal coat streets such as Fourth from Koogle to Jefferson would be a waste of time and money because frankly there isn't much left to seal.

The city has two years left on its payments for the new streets. The original plan five years ago was to pay for those streets and then do another big paving project. That's still a good idea, but what do we do in the meantime to keep people from losing their front end on the way to the post office? Two years is a long time, and the city can't afford to wait until 2012 to think about a solution.

City Hall should develop an aggressive plan to tackle this issue – smoothing out the rough places while protecting the investment that has been made in the new streets. Figuring out how to do that with the limited resources available to the city will be a challenge, but a solution needs to be found because this has gone on long enough.

A recent poll on ClarendonLive.com found that 65 percent of those responding wanted the streets to be the city's top priority. It is time for city leaders to deliver on this issue. If it means other priorities have to take a backseat, that's fine. We can delay adding new office space in City Hall or codifying ordinances (for the second time) if it means seeing real results on the roads.

As city leaders look for a new administrator, knowledge of street and infrastructure improvements needs to be at the top of their "wish list" as much as knowledge of municipal finances and grant writing, and other qualifications. We don't need our top man (or woman) putting dirt in potholes, but we do need someone who knows how it should be done and knows how to allocate the resources to see that business is taken care of.

Mosque not the main issue at Ground Zero

Conservatives across the nation are all abuzz about a planned mosque near Ground Zero – the former site of the World Trade Centers in New York.

A planning board in that city gave the project a green light, but opponents say the planned 13-story Islamic center would be an insult to the people who lost their lives on September 11, 2001, and a sort of victory for the terrorists.

I disagree. The insult isn't so much the planned mosque as it is the vacant spots where the Twin Towers once stood.

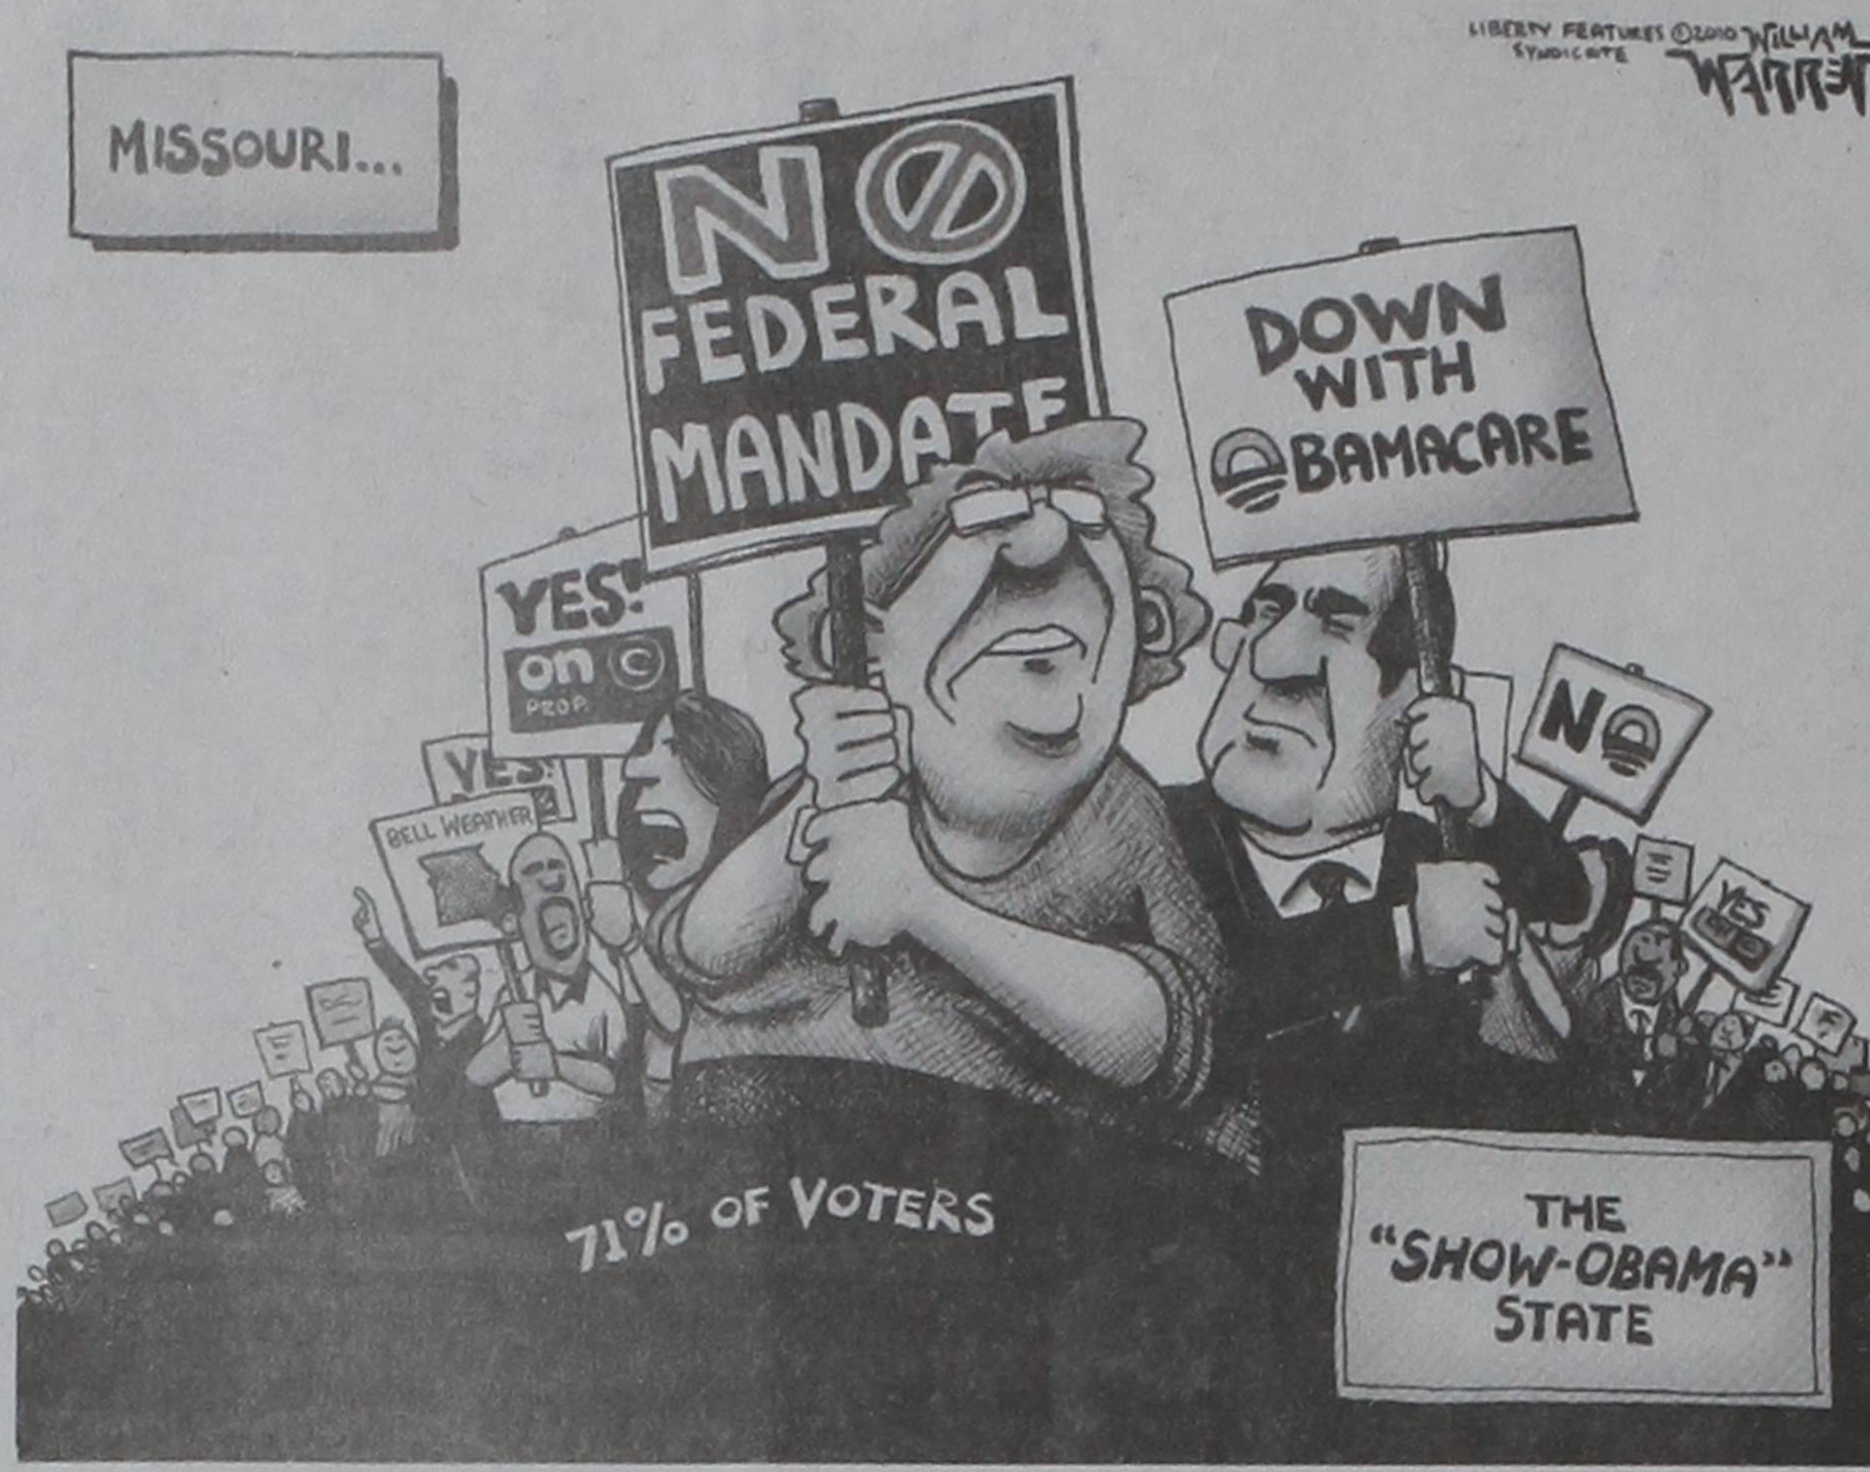

Generally speaking, a mosque or a synagogue or a church is a celebration of our religious freedom in this nation. As New York Mayor Bloomberg correctly pointed out, the firemen rushing into save people that fateful day didn't stop to ask what God the person believed in.

It's been nearly nine years since the towers fell. Long before now, they should have been re-constructed exactly as they were, or new, more magnificent towers should have been erected in their place.

The fact that we're left with two holes in the ground is a sad commentary on the state of our nation. We've gone from a country that did great things and built buildings that soared to great heights to a country that wrings its hands in fear of offending someone.

Instead of second-guessing "Freedom Tower" designs and protesting the construction of a house of worship, America should just move forward and come back stronger than ever before.

Let them build the mosque but rebuild the Twin Towers, too. Now that would be a testament to the greatness of America.

Insurance mandates defy authority

Late last year, when the Senate was debating the health care reform bill, my colleagues and I protested countless objectionable provisions that would undermine the quality and raise the costs of health care in America. One of the most troubling provisions was the individual mandate which would require that all citizens purchase health insurance. The trouble with the individual mandate is that the federal government doesn't actually have the constitutional authority to force Americans to buy something that they may decide they don't want or need.

We fought hard against this mandate. Insurance regulations are the historic and constitutional prerogative of the states. During the debate, I called for a vote to raise this critical constitutional issue on the floor of the Senate. Unfortunately, my attempt was defeated on a party-line vote.

In some of the first good news since the White House forced the health care bill through Congress, a federal court has just given the Commonwealth of Virginia the green light to proceed with its constitutional challenge to the health care law. Because Virginia has a law on the books that conflicts with the new federal health care law, Virginia has argued this is a violation of the tenth amendment and filed suit against the government. The federal court found that Virginia has a right to bring this case against the federal government's overreaching law.

But the health care law tramples the rights guaranteed under the tenth amendment for all states. The amendment reads, "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively or to the people." The language couldn't be more simple or clear. That is the beauty of the U.S. Constitution. It was written to be a limiting document. Our founding framers wisely limited the authority granted to the federal government because they knew that each state's government is closer to the people being governed.

This law creates a massive role for the federal government in health care and it goes against the state-based authority that has been in place for over 60 years. The Obama Administration argues that under the Supremacy Clause, the state must comply with federal law. But that can only hold if the federal government is acting within its enumerated powers, specified in a list of items in Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution, which defines the authoritative power of Congress. Forcing every American to buy a good or a service falls outside of Congress's power.

However, under the authority of the tenth amendment, many states have taken full responsibility for creating, maintaining, and overseeing the health insurance plans that meet the specific and varied needs of their residents. In Texas, we have established a fully self-insured plan for state employees and teachers that keeps administration and oversight completely within the realm of our state's power. Under the new federal health care law, Texas, and all other states, will now have to justify any changes to the terms of their insurance plans with federal bureaucrats. This flies in the face of the founding framers' intent that it is the prerogative of the states to make the laws that affect their citizens, particularly on issues as fundamental and personal as health care.

Last year, I asked the Attorney General of Texas to use every resource at his disposal to preserve our state's rights, guaranteed under the constitution, so Texans may be protected from the heavy hand of the federal government. Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott has joined forces with attorneys general from twenty other states and filed a lawsuit to challenge the constitutionality of the new health care law. This lawsuit is similar to the one that is being argued in federal court in Virginia.

The early victory in Virginia is encouraging. We can win back the states' rights, limit the role of the federal government, and repeal this costly and damaging health care law. Americans deserve a medical system that keeps them – and not bureaucrats – in control of the decisions governing their own health.

Deputy saves 'Griswalds' at lake

On a July Wednesday, my family and I headed out to Greenbelt Lake for fun and boating. This would be our first time at the lake with the boat, and Griswald doesn't touch the top of the iceberg for the events that would unfold.

While driving to the lake, wind catches the padded engine cover and tears it off the boat. After retrieving it from the highway, we finished our drive. Camp was set up at Sandy Beach and we started loading the boat in the water. I must have had an invisible "first timer" sign all over me, and a gentleman seeing I had no idea what I was doing helped me get the boat in the water and my wife and three boys (ages 8, 5, 2) and I were off for boating and tubing.

After having a blast for about 45 minutes, the fuel pump quit on us. We washed to shore about 2 1/2 miles up the shoreline from our trailer, and with a 25 mph wind going against us, rowing back was out of the question. I get out of the boat to tie it off and while doing so I realize I'm waist deep in water with both cell phones in my pocket. Whoops!

So the family and I decided to beat feet and walk up the shoreline. Bad idea with three little ones. After getting nowhere for 30 minutes, we walk up a dirt road into the town of Howardwick. I see a couple driving a truck and wave them down. They were so kind as to give the five of us a ride to our camp at Sandy Beach.

Just as I'm pondering how I might get the broken down boat out of the water, like a knight in shining armor a Donley County Deputy Sheriff shows up. Turns out the gentleman who helped me get the boat out of the water. Turns out the gentleman who helped me get the boat in the water was a deputy.

Deputy Sonny Marasco came back to check on us. After learning of our situation, he went back into town, got his truck and boat and came back to tow us in and get the boat on the trailer. I had $40 on me and tried to give it to him, but he declined and told me to put it in the boys' college funds.

Sonny definitely went above and beyond that day, and my family and I are extremely grateful to him. The boat is fixed, and we are anxiously awaiting trip number two. Hopefully it won't be as Griswald as the first trip.

We will never forget that July afternoon when Sonny Marasco saved the day.

State athletes

Caitlyn and Melanie Nowlin of Clarendon recently competed at the State Games of Texas held August 5th- 9th in Waco. Caitlyn took 10th place in Discus with a throw of 74 feet 1 inch, and took 8th place in Shot Put with a throw of 32 feet 9 1/2 inches in the 14 and under Division. Melanie took 17th place in Shot Put with a throw of 15 ft 7 1/2 inches in the 10 and under Division. They were among the 7,000 State Qualifying athletes that participated from across Texas, of which 4,000 were Track & Field Athletes. While there, they also participated in the Parade of Athletes. They are the daughters of Bill and Brenda Nowlin, who are also their coaches.

CC Regents okay two new hires at meeting

The Clarendon College Board of Regents approved two new hires when it met in called session August 5.

The board confirmed Chris Marks as the head women's basketball coach and Evonne Mendoza as the assistant to the vice president of the Pampa Center.

Regents also accepted a bid for athletic insurance from Southwest Special Risk of Fort Worth for $38,000 and reviewed all written policies of the college.

The administration received a consensus from the board to maintain the college's current summer hours year-round. Administrative offices will continue to be open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to noon on Friday.

In other college news, the search for the next president of CC continues with a committee looking through more than 30 applications.

Wednesday, August 11, the Amarillo Globe-News is doing a story on the Hedley Senior Citizens. Please watch for us in the paper.

Great news for Patsy and Kathy Spier! Emory and Dasia are here from Burselon for a couple of weeks before their school starts. We sure are really enjoying them. We are taking them around the country side and taking pictures of wild animals. They are really enjoying it.

Someone dumped a tiny baby kitten at the back of the Senior Citizens; and of course, guess who took it home? Mother says no, but the girls are having a good time with it. (Mom loves on it too.) That makes me seven cats and two dogs. Please people, don't dump you animals for someone else to take care of. I won't let them starve, but I don't need any more. Try to find them a home. If you are going to dump your animals for someone else to take care of, at least leave some money for food.

The 58th annual Hedley Cotton Festival is coming up on October 9. We hope everyone can come help us celebrate. If anyone would like to be in our parade, please call me at 856-5302. All you need to do is be set up at the school by 1:00 p.m. on October 9, 2010.

Recipe: Bananas Foster French Toast: 8 slices cinnamon bread, cut into 1/2-inch cubes (about 8 cups), 8 eggs, 1 cup milk, 2 1/2 cups real maple syrup, 1 teaspoon rum extract, 6 ripe bananas, cut into 1/2-inch slices, 1 cup chopped pecans. Spray bottom of 13x9 inch (3 qt) baking dish with cooking spray. Arrange bread cubes in baking dish. In large bowl, beat eggs, milk and 1/2 up of maple syrup with wire whisk. Pour over bread in baking dish. Cover and refrigerate 8 hours or overnight. Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Uncover; bake 35-40 minutes or until golden brown along edges. Let stand 7-10 minutes before serving. Meanwhile, in medium microwavable bowl, microwave remaining 2 cups maple syrup uncovered on High 1-2 minutes, stirring every 30 seconds, until warm. Stir in rum extract. Sprinkle banana slices and pecans evenly over bread; drizzle with warmed syrup mixture. Serve immediately.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting August 10, 2010, with Boss Lion Roger Estlack in charge.

We had 15 members, Lion Sweethearts Annie Patton and Ashlyn Tubbs, and one guest this week - Lloyd Stice, guest of Lion Bill Auvenshine.

Lion Tex Buckhaults reported that more than 50 freshmen attended Bulldog Days last week at the college and said the dorms are near capacity. Volleyball players will check in the 15th and begin home games here in September.

Lion Mike Word reported on registration going on at the school and said summer projects were coming to a close. The Broncos will scrimmage Nazareth this Saturday morning at home.

Lion Larry Capranica said world renowned pianist Ross Jutsum will be performing at the Community Fellowship Church this Sunday at 6 p.m.

Lion Auvenshine reported that Lion Jack King, a frequent guest of our club, is now president of the Texas Lions Camp.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.

Morrow family reunion draws 46 to Clarendon

The journey started in Randall, Oklahoma, and De Kalb in 1909. Then to Plainview; Alanreed; Vernon; Cheyenne, Oklahoma; Heaton, Oklahoma; Goodnight and finally to Clarendon in 1945.

Now, the Morrow families have spread throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Alabama, and other states. The families come to Clarendon once a year for a very brief visit and a chance for family photos to be taken for future generations to view and talk about, and hopefully to carry on the traditional family gathering.

A special thanks to Earl and Sharyn Morrow for organizing this reunion.

"We have 46 present, and it was the best," Sharyn said. "Everyone mingles and enjoyed each other's company and had a great time."

Thanks to Mary and Charles Brown, who seem to keep everything going in the right direction.

Thanks to Wanda for asking Deanne to take the group pictures. And finally, thanks to everyone who attended.

Attending this year were: John Tom Morrow and Mary Louise, Earl and Sharyn Morrow, Mary Morrow Brown and Charles, Rosey Morrow Meyer, Lucy Morrow Torres, and Marie Percival Morrow.

Quilting bee to be held next week at Howardwick

August is flying by along with school supplies from the shelves. My granddaughter has boys entering first and second grades. I look at those school supply lists and shake my head, wondering how parents can afford it.

First grade for me meant a Big Chief tablet, a fat pencil, box of crayons, blunt-nosed scissors, and a bottle of LePages school glue.

In later years I remember an eraser, but in 1943 rubber was rationed, and erasers were not made. All school children were encouraged to buy Saving Stamps, fill a Victory Savings Book, and turn it in for a War Bond. I still have a partially filled book, I wonder if it is worth more than the 10 cent stamps it contains. I loved school and I hope the new ones entering school enjoy it also.

I am excited about next week's quilting bee that I am hosting August 17, 18, and 19 at the Community Center in Howardwick Park. I invite anyone who is interested in hand quilting to come help or just watch. The Golden Needles quilting club will be here Thursday, but I hope to have help the other two days also. Just drop by the Center from around 9 a.m. until everyone tires out. It will be fun and something different, so bring a thimble if you have one and a sandwich if you stay through the lunch hour.

Howardwick is hosting a Festival on August 21 at the park beginning about 10 a.m. and lasting all day. It will be a fun day so come out.

Following in His Steps

By Mary Beth Nelson

"Follow in His Step." That's quite a challenge, isn't it? How can we imperfect humans follow the steps of the only One without sin?

Even though we can never truly gain the perfection of Christ, it is a goal to which we can strive. We may think, "I can never be a missionary in foreign fields. I can never evangelize a city. The important things to follow in His steps are beyond my reach." Really?

In 1 Peter 2: 22-23, we are reminded that Christ never told a lie. He never retaliated when he was hurt by harsh words from others. He never threatened to "get even" with those who harmed Him. He was gentle, compassionate, respectful, patient, and a hundred other things which we can integrate into our daily living.

We might ask ourselves: When did I last take some food to a neighbor, visit a shut-in, offer help or a sincere smile to someone of which I am not too fond? Am I working on my attitude toward that person?

Humans are blessed with ability and opportunities to successfully meet daily responsibilities in a healthy way. We like that, don't we? In fact, many of us like it so much that it might become easy to increase such a busy schedule for ourselves, not realizing our gradual neglect of others.

Follow in His steps? Each effort we make to benefit others and purify our own lives is an important part of following Christ's example.

BIBLE THOUGHT: "To this you were called because Christ suffered for you, leaving you an example that you should follow in His steps." 1 Peter 2: 21 (NIV).

2010 Property Tax Rates in City of Clarendon

This notice concerns 2010 property tax rates for City of Clarendon. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

General Fund
Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	235,202.94
Last year's debt taxes	134,068.12
Last year's total taxes	369,271.06
Last year's tax base	56,810,933
Last year's total tax rate	0.650000 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	303,801.78
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	45,136,736
= This year's effective tax rate	0.673069 /$100
(Maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearings.)
In the first year a city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:
- Sales tax adjustment rate	0 /$100
= Effective tax rate	0.673069 /$100
This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate, and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	270,120
+ This year's adjusted tax base	45,136,736
= This year's effective rate	0.598448 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	0.646323 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	0.235775 /$100
= This year's total rollback rate	0.882098 /$100
A city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:
- Sales tax adjustment rate	0.181057 /$100
= Rollback tax rate	0.701041 /$100
Statement of Increase/Decrease
If City of Clarendon adopts a 2010 tax rate equal to the effective tax rate of $ 0.673069 per $100 of value, taxes would increase compared to 2009 taxes by $ 0.00.
Schedule A — Unencumbered Fund Balances
The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.
Type of Property Tax Fund:	General	I&amp;S
Balance:	$ 0.00	$ 0.00
Schedule B — 2010 Debt Service		The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).
Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid from Property Taxes	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment

= Total Debt Levy			$	107,593.00
Schedule C — Expected Revenue from Additional Sales Tax		For hospital districts, cities and counties with additional sales tax to reduce property taxes) In calculating its effective and rollback tax rates, the unit estimated that it will receive $76,617.00 in additional sales and use tax revenues. For County: The county has excluded any amount that is or will be distributed for economic development grants from this amount of expected sales tax revenue.

Community Fellowship welcomes pianist

You are cordially invited to the Ross Jutsum praise and worship service and free concert held Sunday, August 15 at 6:00 p.m. at the Community Fellowship Church.

Dr. Ross Jutsum, pianist and composer, has written over 100 songs and hymns.

Jutsum hails from Queensland, Australia and now resides in Sierra Madre, California. He received his doctorate of musical arts at the University of North Texas, his master of arts degree in piano performance at California State University in Los Angeles, and his bachelor of arts degree at Ambassador University, where he also served for more than 20 years as a faculty member, Chair of the Music Department, and minister of music.

In July, 1997, he founded "State of the Heart" music ministry, an inter-denominational ministry of reconciliation and renewal of life worship, dedicated to building bridges in the Body of Christ. Since 1997, Jutsum has been privileged to lead worship and present seminars and concerts in more than 120 different denominations in over 1,000 churches, in more than 500 cities in the United States, Canada, the Caribbean, Western Europe, Australia, and Africa.

Jutsum's recordings have been distributed around the world. He assisted the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association with pre-crusade music in Los Angeles.

He also is a musical consultant to Martha Williamson, executive producer of the TV series, Touched by an Angel.

Please join us for an evening concert of inspiring music, wonderful worship and uplifting family fun. This would be a great opportunity to bring the whole family. He always has special music for the children!

For more information, contact Pastor Larry Capranica at 806-874-0963. The Community Fellowship Church is located at 4491FM2162.

Gun magazine article recalls local history

History buffs should pick up a copy of the spring edition of Texas Gun Collector to read an interesting tale with ties to Donley County.

Lynn Chenault, who sometimes hunts with Ken Mayer's Outfitters in, recalls in the magazine his days as a youth in Donley County and visiting Pete Borden's boot shop, where he would marvel at the bootmaker's gun collection. Chenault's grandfather, "Willie," was the blacksmith in Lelia Lake.

Through an interesting turn of events, Chenault acquired an 1874 Sharps buffalo rifle that was once in Borden's collection. The article weaves a lot of local history into the tale of this gun.

Stauder shoots age during men's golf game

By Sandy Anderberg

Golfer Tom Stauder is 78 years young and last Wednesday during the men's weekly golf game, he shot his age on the nose.

The feat was witnessed by Bo Morrison, Ellis Knight, and Don Hinton. Stauder went on to win third place in the game with a net 68.

Ellis Knight turned in the best score of the game with a net 66, and Bo Morrison was second with a net 67.

Sandy Anderberg won low gross in the weekly women's game on Thursday with an 81. Mary Ann Sawyer and Sherol Johnston tied for low net with a 68.

Thirty-five teams competed in the Jack and Jill scramble held August 7-8 at the CCC. John Mark Ferrell and Maci Davis tied for first place in the Championship flight with the team of Ross and Melissa Donahue with a total of 123 for the 36-hole competition. Three playoff holes were played until the winner was decided. Ferrell and Davis were named the champions. Scott Weatherly and Stacy Knoll tied for first place in the first flight with Gary Jack and Lacey Eads with a score of 132.

After a card playoff, Weatherly and Knoll claimed the top spot. Third place went to the team of Ray and Karen Aragon with a 133. Tyler and Sarah Hanes won the second flight with a 135, and Matt Lichtie and Stevie Sharp were second with a 138. George and Gail Leathers took third with a 139.

P.J. and Jana Lemons won the third flight with a 140, and Joel and Kim Layton turned in a 142 for second place. Rex Miller and Theresa Schollenbarger won third after a scorecard playoff with Dee Bichsel and Cindy Byrd with a 143. Bruce and Lea Ferguson won the fourth flight with a 148. Ken and Theresa Shelton finished second with a 149, and Jerry and Ouida Gage were third with a 151.

Michael Thompson had the longest putt on number nine at 17'0", and Martin Steven was closest to the pin on number 15 at 7'2".

The team of Norm Hagood, Michael Thompson, Tom Thompson, Jackie Bell, and Chris Moore and the team of Lance and Judy Thornberry and Jeff and Sandy Anderberg tied for the top spot in the Friday night scramble at seven under par. After a one-hole putt-off, the team of Norm Hagood took the top spot. The other two teams came in at six and five under par.

Summer is winding down, but there are still lots of things happening at the Clarendon Country Club. The Friday night nine-hole scramble begins at 6:00 p.m. with entries taken until 5:00 p.m. that evening. Call the Pro Shop for more information.

Drugs in the News

Hepatitis Cases Decline After Vaccination

In a recent report, Center for Disease Control (CDC) researchers associated an increased rate of vaccination to a decline in the incidence of hepatitis A in the US. Researchers attribute this trend to the new vaccination schedule recommended in 2006. The Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) recommended hepatitis A vaccination of all children starting at 12 months of age as opposed to the former 24 months. Results showed a remarkable increase in hepatitis A vaccination with both one and two dose regimens. The CDC received this data from eight immunization sites. Researchers state that even though a single dose of vaccine is very effective, a second dose is highly recommended for on-going protection. Healthcare providers are advised to encourage full hepatitis A vaccination in children beginning at 12 months of age.

Hepatitis A virus is transmitted through contaminated feces. A person can also be infected by eating undercooked shellfish contaminated by sewage. Common symptoms of infection include nausea, diarrhea, yellow discoloration of skin and eyes, darkened urine and right-sided abdominal pain.

Private pesticide applicator license training, testing scheduled for Aug. 12

Texas AgriLife Extension Service in Potter County is offering a private pesticide applicator license training and testing on Aug. 12 at the Texas AgriLife Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West, Amarillo.

The three-hour training session, which begins at 8 a.m., will give participants the needed information to take the private applicator license test administered by the Texas Department of Agriculture at the conclusion of the training, said Brandon Boughen, AgriLife Extension agriculture and natural resources agent for Potter County.

Cost of the training is $5 and training materials will be available for purchase for $20. The test is free, Boughen said.

Anyone in the Texas Panhandle may and are encouraged to participate if they need a private pesticide applicator license. The private pesticide applicator license is for agricultural producers and land owners who apply restricted use pesticides to their own property.

For information, contact Brandon Boughen in the Potter County Extension Office at 373-0713.

Panhandle area conservation districts to meet in Dalhart

The Panhandle Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts (PASWCDS) will meet August 17, beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the Dalhart XIT Rangers Hall in Dalhart.

David Ahlem, Site Manager of the Hilmar Cheese Company located in Dalhart will be the featured speaker at the meeting. Hilmar Cheese Company specializes in the production of cheddar and American cheese utilized by private label and national brand, retail and food-service companies across America. The state-of-the-art cheese and whey protein plant in Dalhart processes more than 500,000 gallons of milk each day.

Ahlem will speak to the conservation district directors attending the meeting on how the company reduces, reuses and recycles water. "Recycled water accounts for more than 60 percent of the water used at our facility. The Dalhart facility uses a modern pond and digester system to produce clean irrigation water on a daily basis," Ahlem said.

Speakers during the business session who will update SWCD directors on state and national soil and water conservation programs and issues include Bob Gruner, Program Specialist, Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board and Bob Perry, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service Program Liaison.
