

GOVERNMENT OUTLINES PLAN TO REDUCE 1934 COTTON AND LOAN 10 CENTS ON 1933 CROP

DETAILS of the plan to reduce the 1934 cotton acreage throughout the south were given in information received this week by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg of Brown county from the extension service of A. & M. College. The plan was explained to the College in a telegram received by O. B. Martin, director of the Extension Service, from C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section.

Wheat Committee Meet Saturday To Review Progress

All members of community wheat committees will meet Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the county court room, Brownwood. C. W. Lehmburg, county agent of Brown county, announced this week. The meeting will be for the purpose of reviewing the progress of the government's wheat allotment program in this county to date, turn in application blanks received, and make plans for the wheat campaign during the next few weeks.

He'd End Retail Price Slashing Under a New Banner

Deputy Administrator A. D. Whiteside of NRA, above, has recommended approval of a master code for retail trades which would forbid merchants to sell goods at less than cost plus a certain percentage, contending that price control is necessary to stop ruthless competition. The Consumers' Advisory Board opposes the provision.

Under a New Banner

This week the Banner-Bulletin has ceased to exist, and in its place is the Brownwood Banner. A name that has become familiar to newspaper readers through many years of continued association is discarded. In its place is adopted, with only slight variation, a name that in reality has been in use for fifty eight years.

Will Be On Program At Legion Meeting

JUDGE OTIS MILLER

Orville H. Turner, District Committeeman for the 17th District, American Legion, has received word from Judge Otis Miller, of Anson, accepting an invitation to appear on the program at the District Convention to be held in Brownwood, October 28 and 29.

EFFORT TO GET C. C. C. CAMP TO BE RENEWED FOLLOWING ADVERSE FEDERAL DECISION

RENEWED efforts to secure a C. C. C. Camp on Lake Brownwood will be made, following announcement from Washington and San Antonio of the locations of the winter camps in Texas. Brownwood was not included among the list of 35 camps announced from Washington, nor was it on the San Antonio list, but hope still is held out by Chamber of Commerce and Isaak Walton League officials that Brownwood will be on the next list announced.

Robert Fichter, director of emergency conservation work, under Secretary Ickes of the Department of Commerce, released a list of winter camps in Texas this week. At the same time he announced that 42 camps will be located in this state during the coming month. The fact that only 35 locations were announced gives rise to hope that Brownwood will be included in the next list of sites released.

Efforts to secure a camp at Lake Brownwood were launched some weeks ago by the Isaak Walton League under the direction of David Henley, president. A 530-acre site on Lake Brownwood was selected, and arrangements for its purchase and donation to the state as a state camp were made. The deed to the state was drawn up, and is being held in escrow at the First National Bank, Brownwood, pending the location of a camp here. When decision to locate the camp is made, the deed is to be delivered to the state.

Brownwood people had the assurance of D. E. Colp, chairman of the State park board, that such a camp would be located here, and has been depending strongly upon this assurance. Even now, Mr. Colp feels, according to word received from him by local men, that the camp will be placed here later in the winter.

Last week when it became apparent that Brownwood was not to be on the first list of accepted sites announced, Mr. Colp was contacted by telephone. His word was that while Brownwood was not on the first accepted list, the Brownwood application had not been rejected, and that he had recommended its acceptance.

Colp in Controversy Brownwood suffered through the controversy some weeks ago between Colp and Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief Commission. Mr. Colp had been placed in charge of the location of the Texas camps, and Mr. Westbrook questioned this authority. Westbrook was the apparent winner in the controversy between the two men. When Mr. Westbrook was approached by local chamber of commerce officials, he stated that he had recommended a number of sites for Texas camps, but that he was unaware that Brownwood had filed an application.

Chester Harrison, secretary of the Brownwood chamber of commerce, has written and shipped United States Senator Morris Sheppard and Congressman Tom Blanton, and enlisted their aid in securing a camp here during the coming months. Both have promised to use their influence in behalf of the local camp.

Even if Brownwood is not able to get one of the camps this fall, there is hope that one will be transferred from one of the accepted sites to Brownwood at the end of the six-month period when transfers are made and new locations selected.

Meanwhile Brownwood is not on any of the government lists, and apparently will not be until some new avenue of approach to the old sources produce unexpected results.

Sites Selected The list of designated sites for Texas camps, as announced by Fichter, is as follows: State park camps at Lampasas, Lampasas county; Stephenville, Erath county; Davis Mountain, Bosque county; four camps at Palo Duro Uark, Randall county; Meridian Park, Bosque county; Grayson, Grayson county; Lake Ahline, Taylor county.

Twenty-four camps on private property, in following counties: St. Augustine, Sabine, Hardin, Taylor, Angelina, Houston, Trinity (2), San Jacinto, Polk, Collin, Cooke, Jack, Johnson, Erath, Bosque, Nacogdoches, Jasper, Liberty, Walker, Montague, Bell, Williamson and Young.

Three camps will be on state property in Cherokee, Jasper and Montgomery counties.

Part Cash Rentals.

The grower will be compensated in part by cash rentals for the land left out of production on a sliding scale based on the productivity of the land. The big feature of the new plan, according to Dr. Cobb, is the domestic allotment clause which provides that a grower shall receive approximately parity prices for that part of next year's crop consumed in the United States.

Payments are to be based on the proportion of the 5-year average production which is domestically consumed.

The new program will operate through county cotton production control associations through which growers will enter into contracts for two years with the Secretary of Agriculture.

PECAN SHELLERS TO START FRIDAY

The Ramey Pecan Shelling plant will begin 1933 operations Friday, October 6. The plant will give seasonal employment to approximately 100 people, with the number increasing as the season advances.

Roosevelt Scores Again

It is an amazing personality who occupies the White House, and members of the American Legion, in convention in Chicago, found that personality disarming this week as President Roosevelt stepped to the rostrum and told the boys in plain language that there would be no bonus, no liberalization of present veteran legislation. The hoots and boos that greeted a Hoover emissary a year ago when he appeared to make excuses were turned to applause for the President who came to deliver a straight forward message.

Some weeks ago there was talk that the Legion would give Roosevelt serious trouble. There had been rumblings for more than six months, in fact since the government tightened up veteran legislation in an effort to balance the budget. Many said that the convention would mark the turning point in the popularity of the President, that Roosevelt could not stem the tide of opposition to his veteran legislation policies.

Then came the statement from National Commander Johnson that the Legion was supporting the President in his NRA and other activities. Last week Wright Patman, leader of Legionnaires in Congress, admitted he had made a mistake and announced his support of Mr. Roosevelt in all his policies. An honest confession that did much to clear the situation.

Much of the controversy between the government and the veteran comes through the "non service connected" disability. That is, disability allowances for veterans who left the service in good health, but who since have developed disabilities that have rendered them dependents. The Hoover administration had been most liberal, too liberal many thought, with these "non service connected" cases. Payment of huge sums to this type of dependent was a drain on the federal government. It also had become a source of graft and dishonesty in government.

President Roosevelt himself is in this class. He served during the war as Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Following this service, in 1922, he developed infantile paralysis which for several years rendered him totally disabled, and made it even this week difficult for him to walk to the rostrum to address his comrades.

There just wasn't any answer when the President, smiling friendly, said: "The fact of wearing a uniform does not mean that the veteran can demand and receive from his government a benefit which no other citizen received."

"It does not mean that because a person served in the defense of his country, performed a basic obligation of citizenship, he should receive a pension from his government because of a disability incurred after his service had terminated, and not connected with that service."

The President further explained that each veteran could demand, and would receive, the same treatment accorded other citizens in similar circumstances.

The speech sounded the death knell of immediate payment of the bonus. But the great hall resounded with applause when the President issued this call to the American Legion:

"I ask your further and even greater efforts in our program of national recovery. You who wore the uniform, you who served, you who took the oath of allegiance to the American Legion, you who support the ideals of American citizenship, I have called to the colors again. As your commander-in-chief and your comrade, I am confident that you will respond." It was a dramatic moment in an administration that has been packed with drama, and it marked the greatest personal achievement of Mr. Roosevelt's career as President—swaying an important block of some 300,000 voters and citizens from their program to the course he has outlined for them.

Poll Taxes

Governor Ferguson has sent to the legislature a bill, with recommendation for its passage, reducing the state poll tax from $1.50 to $1.00. It is assumed that the bill would permit counties to levy a poll tax of 25 cents, as at present, making the total in most counties $1.25 instead of $1.75.

This is a step in the right direction, but it is not enough. The poll tax law should be repealed altogether, or at most, the tax should be reduced to the 25 cents the county is permitted to levy.

The poll tax law was passed following the Civil War, when it was felt necessary to require payment of the tax to prevent domination of the ballot box by negro voters.

This was largely due to the fact that many white voters were disfranchised through service in the Confederate Army, which at the time was a bar to voting. Following the lifting of this ban, the poll tax was retained so as to continue white supremacy at the ballot box.

It might be very well if it served its purpose, and possibly it did in years gone by. But now it is so difficult for the average voter to raise $1.75 or $1.50, and so many are allowing property taxes to go delinquent, that the result is the disfranchisement of many worthy citizens who should be entitled to vote. A much better plan would be to substitute for the poll tax, a 25 cent registration fee, to go to the county, and allow all who paid the fee and established their citizenship and right to vote, to have a voice in the government. White supremacy now is taken care of by the democratic primary, anyway.

Cotton Reduction

Now that the Department of Agriculture's cotton acreage reduction plan for 1934 and 1935 has been announced in outline, fear expressed by many during the past weeks that it would mean the ruination of the cotton farmer are dispelled. The plan is similar to that being put in operation among wheat growers, and calls for the rental to the government of approximately 40 per cent of the present acreage. The government's goal will be to hold acreage to approximately 25 million acres during the coming year.

The confidence that the government has in this plan for increasing the price of staple is indicated in the plan to loan to the farmer 10 cents per pound on the present crop, which will enable the farmer to hold his cotton until prices are nearer a fair exchange value.

The program will allocate the acreage by states among cotton farmers and restrict total plantings to about 60 per cent of the five year average. A crop production control association, similar to that now employed in reducing wheat acreage, will be organized and put into operation.

At no time in the history of this country has the government made such serious and such practical efforts to boost the price of farm products, and as the various plans are put into operation there is more and more evidence that for once the government is on the right track.

From 7 pounds of sweet corn bred by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station J. H. Duff of Meridian gathered a wagon load of fine sweet corn after canning enough for the family of five for a year.

Balanced rations and the use of good toms results in high hatchability of turkey eggs, R. Schorlemmer of Llano county has found from records kept in a flock demonstration in cooperation with the county agent.

The highest producing dairy herd among the 48 that supply milk to the cheese plant in Muenster are owned by men who had tested their cows in a herd test association a few years ago, and who had been using herd sires from high producing cows. The county agent says the cheese plant now offers to test customer's herds six times per year for $12.

"Times are not any harder than they have ever been," says Mrs. D. G. Sifton, farm woman living in Smith county. Come to find out, she has averaged $17.50 per month in sales in the home demonstration club market or around town. Chickens and eggs are her chief sales but she also gets cash from butter, cake, soup, nuts, vegetables, rugs and fresh meats.

MORE THAN ONE relative of the blue nightshade is a Dr. Jennyl and Mr. Hyde of the plant world. The black nightshade, a world-wide dweller of damp and shady places is such a plant. Its berries are frequently used in pies and preserves, but great care should be taken to see that they are ripe, and thoroughly cooked, for they are poisonous when green.

TEXAS FARM NEWS

Wharton — Because she wanted a more attractive yard, Edwina Strack, member of the Plainview Girls' 4-H Club, became yard demonstrator for her club, reports Miss Madeline Rector, assistant home demonstration agent of Wharton county. Her demonstration she put in November of 1932. She put out 256 cuttings in a cutting bed. Of these 100 rooted and 80 are now living. Her lawn is level, well grassed, and Edwina keeps it trim with a good mowing each week. She plans this fall to move her nine rose bushes to a small plot in the back, lay a cobblestone walk in the front, move her yard fence to enlarge the front lawn, and complete the planting around the foundation of the house.

Besides her demonstration in yard improvement, Miss Rector says Edwina has raised 106 baby chicks this year. Twenty-six of these were thorough-bred single comb buff leghorns. She now has 14 hens and 5 roosters from this group. She sold 6 fliers. One rooster drowned in the cow tank, leaving 25 chickens that she raised out of 26. Accurate records of production and costs are kept on her poultry flocks. The thorough-bred buff leghorns are kept in a pen separate from the other flock. Edwina had a garden with her mother. She is 11 years old and in her second year of club work.

Canadian — August may have been a vacation month for some people but her report indicates that it was a busy month for Mrs. W. W. Lewis, home demonstration club member of Hemphill county, as it shows that she made 2 coats, 16 dresses, 3 slips and 7 children's dresses; canned 27 quarts of chicken, 14 quarts of peas, 9 quarts of squash, 5 quarts of grape juice, and 19 quarts of jam. While to her house furnishings she added two new floor coverings, one new cook stove and a pressure cooker.

Graham — Dry summer weather is the time to probe the value of concrete tile sub-irrigation according to the report of Miss Norfleet Grimes, home demonstration agent of Young county, who gave 19 demonstrations to 19 different home demonstration clubs in the making of this tile. At each meeting the tile was first made by Miss Grimes and then different persons in the crowd were allowed to try their hand. After allowing a sufficient number of days for the tile to dry, G. R. Warren, Young county farm demonstration agent, followed the same schedule and demonstrated the method of taking the level of the gardens, and laying the tile, making the connections and testing the system.

Wharton — A marked increase in feed crops, in size of gardens and in number and production of hens for 1933 over 1932 as revealed in a survey of 50 Wharton county farms shows the trend of the times toward better balanced farming, says J. O. Graham, county agent. Of the 50 farmers answering questionnaires, 38 had government seed loans and the other 12 were selected at random. Feed crops on the 50 farms increased from 450 acres in 1932 to 840 acres this season.

The chefs and managers of West Texas cafes were quick to place orders for Mrs. R. W. Fenton's cans of black eyed peas after they had tried samples sent them by this enterprising home demonstration club woman in Lynn county. "They don't taste like canned peas—the best peas I have ever eaten" were typical of the comments of the chefs.

On the 38 farms of borrowers there were less than 500 hens producing an average of less than 10 eggs per month in 1932 while this year there are 50 hens per farm and production has averaged 14 eggs per month per hen. Gardens increased from less than 1-10 acre in size to between 1-2 acre and 1 acre in size this season, the survey shows. This year every farmer either owned a cow or had one borrowed.

Menard — Declaring that his native pecan bottom will yield more nuts this year than in the last 15 years put together, Wilkes Kothman of Menard county gives the credit to the thinning he gave the grove two years ago. Helped by Frank N. Newsom, county agent, he took out the excess timber and left the most desirable trees properly spaced for topworking and budding to improved varieties. He says when he started with the axe the trees were so thick they gave dense shade all day. There were only a few trees producing enough pecans to be worth the thinning expense. In addition to the pecan crop this year he has had as revenue the sale of wood.

Atlanta — Fourteen combination ensilage cutters and feed grinders bought cooperatively by 93 Cass county farmers as an outgrowth of the county food and feed program were distributed for use in 14 communities recently, reports M. C. Jaynes, county agent. The power to operate the equipment is to be obtained from old automobiles stripped down for the purpose. The drive shaft will be cut in two and a pulley attached for the drive belt. Two such automobiles, ready to operate, were donated by two leading auto sales companies of Atlanta. A local civic organization and the dairy committee of the county agricultural advisory council cooperated with Mr. Jaynes to make possible this important development in the move for economical production of dairy products.

Gonzales — Unstinted praise has been given by farmers throughout Gonzales county to the one-variety cotton program that has furnished pure seed for more than 16,000 acres from an original seed block of 4,000 acres in the Schoolland community, says J. M. Saunders, county agent. Started more than a year ago in cooperation with the Federal Experiment Station at Greenville, the one variety cotton has been carefully rogued and ginned exclusively at one gin. By agreement with the station, seed has been sold at 10 cents per bushel above oil mill price. So enthused are Gonzales county farmers with results already obtained that the 30,000 bushel production of seed in Schoolland community this year is expected to fall short of county demand for it.

The chefs and managers of West Texas cafes were quick to place orders for Mrs. R. W. Fenton's cans of black eyed peas after they had tried samples sent them by this enterprising home demonstration club woman in Lynn county. "They don't taste like canned peas—the best peas I have ever eaten" were typical of the comments of the chefs.

Carole Lombard BRIEF MOMENT Gene Raymond Novelization by Arrangement with COLUMBIA PICTURES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED Rod Deane, rich young playboy, marries Abby Fane, night club singer, against the wishes of his wealthy, aristocratic family. They go to Europe on a gay honeymoon, then return to find their home all completed by Rod's friend, Harold Sigrift, a sponging friend. Sigrift, of course, uses the Deane money to furnish the apartment. Life for Abby, after their return, is one frivolous moment after another, with liquor as the chief stimulant. Abby gets tired of all this, wanting to settle down. She implores Rod to give it up and go to work for his father. Just as he agrees, and they plan to spend an evening at home, Sigrift and a group of high-flying friends pop into the apartment with the announcement that they are all going to the Scandals. Abby wishes to stay at home and an argument occurs. Rod leaves Abby alone in the apartment to go with Sigrift.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY Rod came home that night—dead drunk—in the supporting arms of Sig. Sad because of the shameful plight of her husband, Abby retented in her pity.

The next morning she went down to the Deane bank to ask Franklin Deane, Sr., to give Rod a job. It ended in an argument and Abby left—no better off than she was before.

Deane, Sr., apparently sensed something sincere in Abby's manner. "The girl seems to be really interested in Rod's welfare." "Not at all," said Franklin, Jr. "It's just her way of dominating him."

"How do you mean?" "Well, from what Sig tells me, she does nothing but try to make Rod feel inferior. The thing is psychological. She's conscious of having married above her and that's her defense against it."

The elder Deane thought a moment. "I see. Then it's a sort of victory for her—Rod's coming to work."

"That's all." Abby returned home. Rod, with the aid of the butler, had managed to come out of his drunken stupor. Abby immediately went to her room and started to pull her personal things from the dresser drawers.

"What are you doing?" asked Rod. "What does it look like?—I'm leaving you, Rod."

A frown creased Rod's forehead. "Don't be foolish. Don't do something you'll be sorry for later."

Abby went on stonily. "There's no room for me in your life, Rod. You've proved that, acting as you did last night."

"That was in the heat of argument. I only did that because of what you said."

Abby went on packing. "Then you'll always go on doing it, Rod, because I'll always go on saying the same things. I can't change any more than you can, so I'm leaving you and your friend Sig to do what you want."

"I want you, Abby—" "You said that last night."

"I mean it this time, Abby—I meant it then—only a fellow's liable to do anything, when he's sore. I was thoughtless, that's all."

"That makes it just too bad for anybody who tries to help you." "Nobody ever tried before. Maybe that's why it's not easy to take." Abby looked at him, her eyes filling with tears.

any more. Hardly any time for me, even. Then, Steve realized how little she knew. "Oh! Well—that's great—that's great, Abby." "You know, Sig was to blame more than Rod, for the way he acted. It was a wise thing to drop him."

"He doesn't see him now, eh?" Abby smiled. "You don't know how it makes me feel—knowing I was the one who made him settle down."

"Sure I do," Steve stood up. "You're a hundred percent kid—and I'm for you—remember that, will you?"

The door bell rang once again. "Gee, that's Rod, now," Abby stood up also, "and I haven't got the presents wrapped. Steve, will you keep him busy a few minutes?"

Rod came in and Abby hurried off to complete her party preparations. Steve and Rod were talking.

"How are the horses treating you?" asked Steve. "Me? I haven't been to the races in months."

"No? I thought I saw you a few times at Belmont."

"No-o-o. Not me—I've had my nose to the grindstone."

"Yeah," said Steve. "I noticed it was kind of red."

Rod related, then, that Steve knew. "Nice detective work."

Steve began to lose his temper. "You poor sap! How long do you think you can get away with that? She'll find out—she's got to find out."

"Keep your voice down, will you?" "What for? She's going to find out because you're going to tell her."

"I am not!" "No?" Steve made a wry face. "Then I will."

"Now, look here, Steve—if I don't want to work, that's my affair—and what I tell my wife is my affair, too. If it makes her happy to think I'm down at that office all day, then I'm going to make her happy."

"You're going to tell her the truth."

"Listen, I've had enough of your interference," Rod's fists clenched. "I'm not taking orders from any imitation gangster."

"You're not, eh? You cheap little double-crosser." Steve's open hand whipped across Rod's face. Abby came in just too late to see the blow, but she sensed the strained silence.

"Rod! What's the matter?" There was a startled look in Abby's eyes. "Sit down, Abby. I wasn't going to tell you this—and I wouldn't tell you now if Steve weren't here. But I guess I might as well make a deal of it." Rod had come to a decision.

Dix Great Lover Again In "No Marriage Ties"

The perennially popular Richard Dix and his latest film, "No Marriage Ties," will be seen tomorrow at the Lyric Theatre in the RKO-Radio Picture which stars him once more as a ladies' heart-breaker and business man's head-breaker.

The powerful climax which should grip Lyric Theatre patrons presents the triangle in a tragic but sympathetic denouement.

Roman Postal System The Romans depended on travelers and traders to carry letters to distant points, and if the message was important code writing was often used.

"Just Make Yourself At Home"

It's an old expression, but it's typical of the warm, friendly atmosphere at the Crazy Water Hotel.

People get acquainted here, because so many of them come back year after year to drink Crazy Mineral Water and take a course of Crazy Mineral Baths. They enjoy meeting their old friends just as you will—But more than that, you too can get back "in condition" for another year just through drinking Crazy Mineral Water and enjoying those baths under the supervision of trained masseurs.

This year all the facilities of the Crazy Water Hotel, including a large, comfortable room, all your meals, mineral baths, and all the Crazy Water you can drink served to you in your room or at the noted Crazy Water bar may be yours for as low as $20.00 per week.

Supplies For Quick Meals

Emergencies occur in the best regulated households, when sudden changes must be made in carefully planned meals or perfect supplies. Perhaps the groceries may not arrive. Perhaps you get too late to prepare the meal intended. Or you are too tired, an unexpected company arrives. Or a member of the family must have an early dinner without previous notice. There are lots of reasons why you have to serve rush meals sometimes—a dinner put together at the last minute, or a hurried lunch or a Sunday night supper is a jiffy.

On such occasions you haven't time to go to market for provisions, you haven't time for much cooking. But if you have the "fixing" on hand, there's nothing to worry about. "Twin emergency dishes"—one in the cupboard and one in the refrigerator—are what is needed.

There is nothing particularly about having an emergency in the pantry, but unfortunately the staples you can keep do not take care of all the emergency needs. For instance, bread and butter in some form will save a winter. Cold meats, salted materials, milk, eggs, cheese and various other perishables are as important as canned goods and preserves.

The Bureau of Home Economics of the department of agriculture suggests keeping a list of the foods that should be on hand to take care of just such occasions. When some article is used from the usual supply of staples, replace it at once. The emergency shelf in the kitchen can not be stocked for an indefinite period. If no emergencies arise, these foods must be used up in the course of daily meal making and replaced by fresher materials.

It's also a good idea to work out menus for these rush meals—menus that take just a few minutes to get ready and serve.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

The most important dress in the life of any woman is the dress that may be depended upon to go any place at any hour of the day. Such a dress isn't always easy to find for most dresses that are tailored enough to wear when you go about your shopping and the ordinary business of the day are too tailored to wear for luncheons and afternoon bridge parties. But when you find a dress

Fits All Needs. A fruit salad can be used almost anywhere in a dinner menu. In the East a "fruit cup" without dressing is often served as an appetizer, but in California salads with dressing are used for a first course, and a fruit salad course would have French or mayonnaise dressing on it. For convenience, many people put a fruit salad on the table to be eaten with or just after, the main course. It adds to the decorative effect of the table and saves changing one course of dishes. But if dinner is somewhat formal, the fruit salad would be served alone, after the meat course. Finally, fruit salads may be served as desserts, with cream dressing, French dressing, or mayonnaise, says the bureau of home economics of the U. S. department of agriculture.

For a warm weather lunch or Sunday night meal or party refreshments, a crisp, dainty fruit salad is about all anyone wants. In addition to sandwiches or rolls, it might be accompanied by a cube or ball of soft white cheese, or made partly of fruits stuffed with cream or cottage cheese, or served with a cheese dressing. Cherries, plums, prunes, figs, and other fruit that can be hollowed out are suitable for stuffing with cheese. Ripe or canned Bartlett pears are particularly good with grated American cheese sprinkled over them, and served with mayonnaise or French dressing on lettuce leaves.

Almost any combination of fruits, both fresh and canned, may be used in a mixed fruit salad. Some grapefruit or orange gives pungency in mixtures of other fruits. Canned or fresh pineapple improves the flavor, and so does banana. Cherries, firm seedless grapes, ripe peaches and Bartlett pears are good summer fruits to use. Sometimes the juices are stiffened with gelatin so that the fruits can be attractively molded. Or they may be frozen and still served as a salad.

so designed that it will fill both needs, you would do well to make it once and let it be the blessing of your life.

The dress sketched above is just such a dress. Its simple lines keep it from looking too "dressed up" for the simplest occasion, yet its beautiful details and graceful silhouette make it suitable for the more important events of a day. Notice the looped shoulder detail and the very "slit-frenet" side-closing. Make it in wool and it will be grand, particularly if you make yourself a black satin hat, gloves and bag to wear with it.

This pattern may be bought at your favorite department store.

Fattest Baby? Utah Says So

Gerald Reynolds of Ogden, Utah, is all in favor of Mae West's program to doom the flat-like figure. He's so enthusiastic that he has gained 20 pounds 4 ounces in five months. He weighed only six pounds at birth. Now he tips the beam at 26 pounds 4 ounces. Mrs. Cyril Reynolds, his mother, challenges the country to beat his record.

NEW DRESSINGS GIVEN FOR TASTY FRUIT SALADS

"A salad a day" is an even better health motto than the old saying about an apple a day. You can, of course, put the apple in the salad anyway—but in summer you can have other salads in great variety and at low cost. Fruits and vegetables right out of the garden—and especially fruits—make the best kind of salads during warm weather.

COMMUNITY FARM VENTURE STARTED BY DALLAS WOMAN

DALLAS.—A stone's throw from the downtown district of Dallas, a community farm venture is flourishing.

Situated in the Trinity river industrial district which separates Dallas and its largest suburban sector, Oak Cliff, the farm of 1,000 acres offers recreation and nourishment to hundreds.

The farm is not a highbrow sociological adventure—it is simply Mrs. Jean Well Burchfield's scheme for producing food for those not otherwise able to get it. Unusually fertile because of its proximity to the Trinity river, the land has been made to produce cotton, corn, cane and vegetable products. The cotton, corn and cane provide cash with which to buy supplies for the men who tend the crops.

Mrs. Burchfield, operator of the Good Sinners' Recreation club adjacent to the fields, plans to lay out enough foodstuffs to keep her charges throughout the winter.

"I employ those who helped me plant the crops," Mrs. Burchfield said, speaking of some 250 men picking cotton in a nearby field. "The money they make will help them to send their children to school and buy food and other necessities.

"Proceeds from the crop will be used this winter in feeding these unfortunates and there will be no charge made, only that they will be expected to continue their help whenever possible in manual labor to carry on the work.

"We have more than 1,000 acres under cultivation and everything we can raise will be used in taking care of the needy during the winter. We are building a kitchen in the rear of the Good Sinners' Club where he will cook beans, corn meal and other foodstuffs raised on the farm. We will make some of our cane into syrup. We have 18 hogs that will be turned into meat for winter use.

"During the past eight months the Good Sinners' club gave away 4,096 garments and 4,740 loaves of bread.

"We play no politics and there is no red tape connected with our work. Our job is to make people happy by filling their stomach and keeping them busy at a gainful occupation."

Success Rules. Success salads are dainty, refreshing, cold, crisp and while sufficiently seasoned they should never have too much dressing. Appearance contributes to their "appetite appeal" as well as taste. When the juices or colors run together, or the lettuce looks wilted, the salad is no longer attractive. Be sure the lettuce is clean and very crisp. Drain the juice from the fruit or it will dilute the dressing. You can save this juice for other uses, or use some of it in making the dressing. Orange, lemon and grapefruit juice are often used instead of vinegar in French dressing for fruit salad. Spiced vinegar left from pickles or pickled fruit will also make an unusually good French dressing.

Have all the ingredients cold when you are ready to put a fruit salad together. Don't cut the fruit up into too small pieces. Mix carefully to avoid mashing or breaking them, if you are planning to serve the salad from a bowl or platter at the table and pass the dressing in a separate bowl.

MOVING FENCE IS AID IN LAWN WORK

"I have figured out how we can move that fence to make our front yard wider," Dorothy Dixon's father told her one morning when he got up. Dorothy is yard demonstrator for the Indian Creek 4-H Girls' club living about 3 miles south of Indian Creek.

She started her yard improvement on January 26th when the teacher at Indian Creek took 37 of the girls in the school bus for the work. At this meeting her yard was landscaped, and the foundation planting started with shrubs collected for her yard by the agent and the yard of the demonstrator in the women's club, which was started several years ago.

The yard plan called for a larger yard, a walk and screen plantings.

When the agent visited her yard this week, the fence was moved out about 15 feet, the flat stone walk was beautifully laid and all the shrubs planted in January except one were growing nicely. With a very limited water supply by saving all waste water and rain water she had kept all alive. She plans to have a cutting bed this fall to start her screen planting and to plant Bermuda grass on the new part of her yard.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BROWN COUNTY-GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, That you summon by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Brown if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, Robert Guy Houston, Johnnie Houston, William Sidney Houston, Lola Wyatt Powers and husband, Rev. Powers, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be held in the County of Brown, on the 30th day of October, A. D. 1933, at the Court House thereof in Brownwood, Texas, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court, on the 27th day of September, A. D. 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 6455, wherein Mrs. E. E. Yantis is plaintiff, and H. V. Hoover, Calvin E. Eaton, Frances E. Smith, Robert Guy Houston, Johnnie Houston, William Sidney Houston, and Lola Wyatt Powers and her husband, Rev. Powers, are defendants. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit:

(1) Suit in trespass to try title, to recover title and possession of three certain tracts of land situated in Brown County, Texas, being Subdivision No. 59, the East half (1/2) of Subdivision No. 58, and the Northeast quarter (1/4) of Subdivision No. 41, of Brown County School Land, as more particularly described in deed from Sidney J. Houston, individually and as community survivor of Annie Houston, deceased, to Ben D. Godwin, dated October 26, 1921, of record in Vol. 178, page 257, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, said deed and record thereof being here referred to for more particular description of said land, together with costs of court and such other relief, general and special, as plaintiff may be entitled to receive, either in law or in equity.

(2) Alternatively, plaintiff alleges that upon execution and delivery of certain hereinbefore mentioned, the grantee, Ben D. Godwin, as part of the consideration for said land, executed and delivered to Sidney J. Houston, four promissory notes in the principal sum of $1,000.00 each, dated October 26, 1921, bearing 8% interest from date, payable January 1, 1924, 1925, 1926, and 1929, respectively, with post due interest to bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum providing for accelerated maturity, at the election of the holder, on default in the payment of any of said notes or in installments of interests thereon when due, and also for 10% additional on principal and interest as attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection; that said notes, with all right, title, lien, interest and estate in said land, securing the payment of same, were transferred by S. J. Houston to T. C. Yantis, by assignment dated February 16, 1922, of record in Vol. 178, page 442, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, and conveyed to the legal and equitable holder and owner of the unpaid balance of said notes, of November 26, 1923, by agreement with defendant C. E. Eaton, of record in Vol. 245, page 16, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, extended and renewed Notes 2, 3, and 4, of said series, Note No. 3 having been theretofore paid, so that $500.00 of said balance should become due and payable on January 1, 1929, and a like amount on January 1st of each succeeding year thereafter, until the balance due should be fully paid.

That S. J. Houston, et al, on April 22, 1926, by deed of record in Vol. 203, page 296, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, conveyed Subdivision No. 59, of Brown County School Land, to Calvin E. Eaton, who, as a part of the consideration therefor, assumed Notes 2, 3, and 4, of the series hereinabove described; that thereafter said Calvin E. Eaton and wife conveyed to H. V. Hoover, deceased, December 28, 1929, of record in Vol. 234, page 360, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, said Subdivision No. 59, of Brown County School Land, as hereinabove described, as a part of the consideration therefor, agreeing to assume and pay the last five payments of $500.00 each, of the series of notes hereinabove described, and as renewed and extended in the manner hereinabove indicated.

That Sidney J. Houston, to whom Vendee Godwin conveyed all of said lands above described, by deed of record in Vol. 284, page 261, of the Deed Records of Brown County, Texas, subsequently conveyed to Robert Guy Houston, Johnnie Houston, William Sidney Houston, and Lola Wyatt Powers and her husband, the defendant Lola Wyatt Powers, the East half (1/2) of Subdivision No. 58, and the Northeast quarter (1/4) of Subdivision No. 41, of Brown County School Land, situated in Brown County, Texas, as hereinabove described.

There remains due and unpaid the last five installments of $500.00 each, of said series of notes as above described, renewed and extended as hereinabove mentioned, with interest thereon from October 26, 1929; that demand has been made therefor and attorney's fees provided in said notes have accrued and become a part of said obligation.

That the defendant Mrs. Frances E. Smith is claiming some character of right, title or interest in the East half (1/2) of Subdivision No. 58 and the Northeast quarter (1/4) of Subdivision No. 41 of Brown County school lands, situated in Brown County, Texas, as hereinabove described, but that whatever character of right, title or interest said defendant may have in said lands is subordinated and inferior to the right, title, interest and estate of the plaintiff in said land. Plaintiff requests that said defendant be required to appear and answer herein and set up whatever claim she may have in and to said lands and premises. Plaintiff prays for judgment against C. E. Eaton and H. V. Hoover for the balance of principal, interest and attorney's fees due on the notes hereinabove described, for foreclosure of her vendor's lien on all of the lands and premises hereinabove described, and against all defendants for order of sale in terms of law, costs of court, and such other relief, general and special, as she may be entitled to receive in law and in equity.

HEREIN FAIL NOT. And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, this, the 27th day of September, A. D. 1933.

ALLEN D. FORSYTHE, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BROWN COUNTY-GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon J. E. Fisk and Ellen Ora Fisk, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published in your county, but if not, in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Brown County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof, in the City of Brownwood, on the fifth Monday in October, 1933, same being the 30th day of October, 1933, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 27th day of September, 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court 6453, wherein John W. Goodwin is plaintiff and G. C. Leach, Ella Leach, E. J. Hunter and City of Brownwood are defendants.

Plaintiff sues the defendants, G. C. Leach and E. J. Hunter, for the balance due and unpaid on one promissory note for the principal sum of $3,000.00, dated January 27, 1927, bearing interest from date at the rate of 8% per annum and all past due interest bearing interest at the rate of 10% per annum, containing the usual provision for 10% additional as attorney's fees. If placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or if collected by legal proceedings, and executed by G. C. Leach—said note being payable in consecutive monthly installments of $25.00 each, beginning February 27th, 1927, and the interest thereon in consecutive monthly installments beginning February 27th, 1927, until the full payment of said note.

Plaintiff alleges that defendant, E. J. Hunter, expressly assumed the payment of said note as a part of the consideration of the conveyance to him by G. C. Leach and Ella Leach, of the hereinbefore described real property; and that the balance now due and unpaid on said note is $1,675.00, with 8% interest, plus attorney's fees, 19% late credits, or fifteen days, aggregating $90.00.

Plaintiff further alleges that for the purpose of securing the payment of said note, defendants, G. C. Leach and Ella Leach, on January 27th, 1927, executed to Frank H. Sweet, as Trustee, a deed of trust, in common form, on the following described real property, to-wit: 67x157 1/2 feet of land, being 20 feet off of the N. W. side of Lot No. Eight (8) and 37 feet off of the S. E. side of Lot No. Seven (7), in Block No. Three (3), of Leach Addition to the city of Brownwood, in Brown County, Texas, described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at a point in the N. E. line of Tenth Street, 20 feet N. W. from the S. corner of said Lot No. Eight (8)—Thence N. W. with the N. E. line of Tenth Street, 67 feet to stake for corner—Thence N. E., parallel with common division line between said Lots No. Seven (7) and Eight (8), 157 1/2 feet to an alley—Thence S. E. with said alley, 67 feet to a stake for corner—Thence S. W., parallel with said common division line, between said Lots No. Seven (7) and Eight (8), 157 1/2 feet to the place of beginning.

Plaintiff also alleges that defendant, City of Brownwood, is asserting a lien against said property; but that said lien, if any, is subsequent, inferior, and subject to the lien of said deed of trust.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against defendants, G. C. Leach and E. J. Hunter, for his debt—principal, interest and attorney's fees, and for judgment for his costs and expenses. Plaintiff further alleges that defendant, F. L. Mayfield, J. E. Fisk, and Ellen Ora Fisk, expressly assumed the payment of said notes, as a part of the consideration of the conveyance to them, respectively, of the above-described land; and that the defendants, W. C. Dew, Jennie Dew (formerly Mrs. Will H. Trent), H. V. Hoover, The Citizens National Bank in Brownwood, Texas, and F. S. Abney, as Conservator, and the Citizens National Bank in Brownwood, Texas, are asserting some kind of interest in, or lien against, said land, the full nature and extent of which are unknown to plaintiff, but which interest and liens are inferior to said vendor's lien.

Herein, fail not, but have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness Allen D. Forsythe, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

Given under my hand, and the seal of said Court, at my office in Brownwood, Texas, this, the 27th day of September, A. D. 1933.

ALLEN D. FORSYTHE, Clerk of the District Court of Brown County, Texas.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF BROWN COUNTY-GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon E. J. Plaintiff also alleges that defendant, City of Brownwood, is asserting a lien against said property; but that said lien, if any, is subsequent, inferior, and subject to the lien of said deed of trust.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against defendants, G. C. Leach and E. J. Hunter, for his debt—principal, interest and attorney's fees, and for judgment for his costs and expenses.

Plaintiff further alleges that defendant, F. L. Mayfield, J. E. Fisk, and Ellen Ora Fisk, expressly assumed the payment of said notes, as a part of the consideration of the conveyance to them, respectively, of the above-described land; and that the defendants, W. C. Dew, Jennie Dew (formerly Mrs. Will H. Trent), H. V. Hoover, The Citizens National Bank in Brownwood, Texas, and F. S. Abney, as Conservator, and the Citizens National Bank in Brownwood, Texas, are asserting some kind of interest in, or lien against, said land, the full nature and extent of which are unknown to plaintiff, but which interest and liens are inferior to said vendor's lien.

Plaintiff further alleges that defendant has been made in the payment of said notes, except that the two first have been paid in full, and interest on all to January 1st, 1931; that by reason of said default he has declared all of said notes due and payable, as by their terms he is authorized to do; and that the balance due and unpaid is the whole of the principal of the nine of said notes last maturing, with interest due thereon from January 1st, 1931, and interest on the interest due since that date.

Plaintiff prays that in the event he is denied a recovery of said land, as sought by his first count, that he have judgment against defendants, J. E. Fisk, F. L. Mayfield, J. E. Fisk, and Ellen Ora Fisk, for his debt—principal, interest, and attorney's fees, and for judgment for his costs and for a foreclosure of said vendor's lien on the above-described land against all of said defendants, and for a sale of said land to satisfy said indebtedness; and he further prays that he be given general relief.

Plaintiff prays that in the event he is denied a recovery of said land, as sought by his first count, that he have judgment against defendants, J. E. Fisk, F. L. Mayfield, J. E. THE GOSPEL RECORDS

A Fourfold Record of Our Lord Jesus Christ

By REV. SAM ROSING

MARK'S RECORD

Mark's gospel seems almost an abridgment of Matthew's, yet as regards the Person of Christ, it is entirely in contrast with it. He is at the very outset declared to be the "Son of God," but this is only to give special character to the lowly service in which He is continually engaged. We have the "Kingdom of God," the special theme of Matthew mentioned, but never the "Kingdom of Christ" or of the "Son of Man." And save His ascension upon the cross, He is never even hailed as "King of the Jews." Also His title of "Lord" is seldom noted.

But He is the "Son of God" in service, with divine power and riches in His hand dispensing from His storehouse of love to the poor and needy. For a servant there need be, and therefore is no genuineness. His earnest and incessant service is marked by the frequency of the word "immediately," which is the same word translated "anon, straightway, forthwith." Half of all the occurrences of this word in the New Testament are found in this Gospel. The singleness of His service is noted by His knowing nothing of His Master's business, except that which is given to Him to communicate—chapter 13:32. The tenderness of His service is manifested in all the smaller features of His ministry: "He was moved with compassion," "He was grieved," He "touched" one, and "lifted up" another, "He marvelled at their unbelief." The reality and weariness of His service is emphasized, as when "they took Him, even as He was in the ship." Here, too, as in Luke, the ascension is given as the fitting close to His path of humiliation. One who descended in the same also that ascended up, for above all heavens, that He might fill all things." Eph. 4. But even here, His service being unceasing as His love, we read, "And they went forth and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the Word with signs following."

Yet we do not find in Mark the earnest joy of Luke. The Father's house has not yet been reached. God is mentioned as "Father" only once—chap. 11:26. For not the children's place but the servant's are children. Governmental responsibilities and rewards are set before us, as in Matthew; but in the latter the individual disciple is in view; each is subject for himself; while in Mark it is the labors for the accomplishment of divine purposes, they who minister after the pattern of Him, who as the Son of God "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life a ransom for many"—Chap. 10:45.

There seems to be a shadow cast upon both Matthew's and Mark's records. Mag is held somewhat at a distance. And this is clearly revealed when we look at the cross wherein each the Lord's cry of agony, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" is repeated. But this is in harmony with the aspect in which Christ is presented—Sin and Trespass offerings. In these two latter the judgment of sin is the side that is dwelt upon, the necessary result of holiness, but not that in which God finds delight. In the Trespass offering sin is viewed as injury against the government of God, while in the Sin offering it is against the divine nature. The one has to be repaired, "amends" has to be made; the other has to be expiated.

It is the latter phase of the atoning work of Christ that mark shows forth, though Matthew seems closely related. The difference between them appears difficult to discern, because in the type the Sin offering alone displays the full judgment of sin; for the victim is burned outside the camp, "his hide, his flesh and his dung." And this is said of no other sacrifice. Yet both these gospel records show Christ in this outside place; for the cry of forsaken sorrow is in the one as much as in the other. But when we know that the Trespass offering has to do with the question of government, we are at no loss to understand; for it plainly manifest that Matthew's gospel speaks of government. Therefore it is clear why the Trespass offering should put on in this respect the aspect of the Sin offering; for sin against God's government requires the display of His wrath

"Father" but five times, and "your according to the holiness of His nature.

In Mark the result of the cross is fuller than in Matthew—"the gospel to every creature," preached with the sign following, witnessing to the fact, that the power of Satan has been annulled, even the effects of man's judgment at Babel is seen overruled in the "new tongue" which was to and does follow those who believe.

Also the result of the cross in the gospel is seen as unmixered Auldama; for there is no prophetic Auldama? No "His blood be upon us and upon our children," no judgment of even the traitor mentioned here. For who is to be judged that God has made His own beloved Son a Sin offering and so judged Him? In the governmental aspect, these have their proper and In the governmental aspect, these necessary place and their omission would be as much a defect in this gospel as it is a perfection in this gospel of the Sin offering, the patient laborer—ox ready for sacrifice or service.

Thus Mark closes, with the end achieved, the shadow taken from the face of God, the sanctuary opened to those believing in Him. The Servant-Son returns up to the place from whence He came; but He returns not as He has taken on and which He will never put off. He has changed the sphere of His service; but the service itself He has not given up. He takes humanity itself up to the throne of God. Mag is exalted in Christ from the lowest to the highest place, and it is this gospel of Mark which shows Him to us in both extremes. The blood of the Sin offering opened the sanctuary, the holiest of all, but more; He who has shed it has entered heaven in the power of that blood, and entered it as a man, the head and representative of a new race of men for whom He is the guarantee before God.

But the consequence and joy of this are not entered into here. They are found in after communication of divine grace. The place at the right hand of God, the place of power is of course peculiar to Himself; but He is there in our behalf and His power is at our disposal; for not only does His heart still abide with His people, but His hand works with them. Like the Hebrew servant, he loved His Master, His wife and His children and He would not go out here. He has His ear nailed to the door of His Master's house—Ex. 21:5. His love has made Him a bond slave forever.

History of the Church. The church was established in 1901 as a mission of the First Baptist Church out on Second Street. A Sunday School was maintained there for two years. Thos. Ball was the first superintendent, Mrs. Edna Savage Saunders, pianist; Mr. Clyde McIntosh, secretary; Mrs. H. T. Savage, Mrs. Georgia Baker and Mrs. N. G. McIntosh, teachers. Moved to the corner of Coggin and Second Street in 1903 and the building enlarged. The church was constituted September 6, 1908.

Rev. W. R. Earp, pastor of the First Baptist church, Brady, Texas, was called as the first pastor. He began his work with the church Oct. 1st of the same year and remained with the church for six years. The first brick building was erected in 1909. The education unit of the new building was erected in 1927.

The church has had four pastors in the twenty-five years of her existence. Rev. W. R. Earp, now of Dallas, Texas, six years. Rev. Geo. W. Shafer, now of Dallas, Texas, four years; Rev. R. A. Scranton, now of Smithville, Texas, eighteen months; and the present pastor, Rev. W. R. Hornburg, thirteen years.

Sixty-One Members. The church began with sixty-one charter members and has had a remarkable growth. It has grown as the town has grown. Some years she has gone forward by leaps and bounds. Other years she has not done so well and in this she has reflected the growth of the city. 1929 was perhaps the weak year when Brownwood was experiencing its greatest growth, when there were 289 additions to the church with a hundred and eighty-seven baptisms. During the present pastorate there have been more than 2,500 additions to the church. And although during that time two other churches have gone out with more than three hundred members, the present membership of the church, as reported to the Brown County Baptist Association in its recent meeting at Blanket, is 1,456. More than seven hundred have been dropped from the roll because they could not be found.

During the thirteen years the present pastor has been in Brownwood, he has held sixty revival meetings in as many towns and cities of the nation in which more than three thousand people have been led to Christ and into the churches. He has delivered before various groups of the local church 3,280 sermons and addresses. He has baptized more than five hundred people, married more than a hundred couples, and conducted more than two thousand funerals. Officers Still Active. Of the six officers of the Mis-

Brookesmith. The singing convention was held here Saturday night and Sunday. There was a large attendance and good singing. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Roy and Mrs. Cummings have gone to the Nazarene annual assembly at San Antonio. Mrs. W. A. Featherstone and daughter, Mrs. Dowds visited Mr. and Mrs. Nesbit Rice Sunday. Several from here attended the ice cream supper given by Mrs. Arthur Williams Saturday night. Everyone reported a nice time. Miss Mattie Zue Featherstone spent the past week-end with Miss Stella Rice.

Coggin Avenue Baptist Church Has Anniversary

Sunday, October 1, 1933, Coggin Avenue Baptist church celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary since organization. The pastor, Rev. W. R. Hornburg, read a short history of the church during the past twenty-five years after which the various members of the organization gave expression to their appreciation of the church in telling what the church has meant to them.

DOCTOR REMEMBERS OLDER TIMES HERE

Fifty years ago and longer in Brownwood and this section of West Texas were recalled this week by Dr. S. S. Munger of Marlin, who was in Brownwood this week attending the convention of the Fourth District Medical Society. Dr. Munger formerly lived at Trickham, where he practiced medicine, and he knew many of the old timers who practiced medicine and received treatment at the hands of the pioneers of the horse and buggy day.

Dr. Munger attended the first meeting of the Fourth District Medical Society, at which time the district organization was perfected. The meeting was held in Brownwood, at the call of Dr. B. A. Fowler, who then was secretary of the Brown County Medical Society, which fostered the larger organization.

The organization meeting was held in 1892, Dr. Munger stated, and he recalled that the night of the one-day meeting was the night of the cyclone at Santa Anna. Dr. Munger spent the night at the home of Dr. Johnson in Brownwood and the wake of the cyclone swept a heavy gale through Brownwood that did some property damage here, among which was the destruction of Dr. Munger's buggy.

Dr. Munger, Dr. Fowler and their associates who had assembled in Brownwood hurried to Santa Anna the next morning to do relief work. There they found that the cyclone had torn a patch of some 200 yards through a section of the country, doing much property damage.

Without means of transportation, Dr. Munger bought a buggy from Dr. Fowler, he recalled, and drove it home after the meeting.

"It was a fine buggy," Dr. Munger stated, "and had a coil spring under the seat that could be adjusted to the load. I was prouder of it than anyone now is of a new automobile."

Dr. Munger left this section of the state a few years after that. He now is associated with Dr. N. D. Bule at the Bule Clinic at Marlin, and came to the district convention to assist Dr. Bule in his part of the program of the local meeting. Dr. Munger has prepared a number of very valuable slides which he showed in connection with Dr. Bule's paper which was read before the Society.

MORTUARY

MITCHELL — William Green Mitchell, 50, for more than 20 years a resident of Brown county, died at his home eight miles northeast of Brownwood Sunday morning, October 1.

Mr. Mitchell was a member of the Masonic lodge, and had been a member of the Church of Christ for a number of years. He had a wide circle of friends throughout the county.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Jones Chapel.

with interment in the cemetery there. Mitcham Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Surviving are the following children: W. W. Mitchell of Brownwood, Mrs. L. B. Bell of Temple, Mrs. L. C. Kegans of Mercedes, C. T. Mitchell of Whom. Eleven grand children and two sister, Mrs. Annie Bost of Coleman and Mrs. J. B. Allen of Glen Rose also survive.

SIEMORE — Joe Abn Sisemore, six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Sisemore, 510 Milton Avenue, Brownwood, died at the home Sunday morning, October 1.

Funeral services were held from the Mitcham Funeral Home chapel Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with Rev. C. M. Moser, pastor of the Church of Christ, Brownwood, officiating. Interment was in the Greenleaf cemetery.

Surviving are the parents and two step-brothers, A. J. and Stanley Riggs.

WHITE — Mrs. Maude White, 47, died at her home in Brownwood Monday, October 2, following an illness of more than six months' duration.

Mrs. White was born August 4, 1886, at Grapevine, Texas. She was a member of the Methodist church practically all her life, and had taken an active part in church work during the year of her residence in Brownwood. With her husband, C. E. White, she had moved to Brownwood a little more than a year ago.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, October 3, from the chapel of the Mitcham Funeral Home, with Rev. John N. Reinfro, pastor of the First Methodist church of Brownwood officiating. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery.

Mrs. White is survived by her husband, C. W. White, and the following children: L. Porterfield, of Brownwood; Lewis Porterfield, of Hamilton; Helen Louise Porterfield, Marvin Porterfield and Chas. "HOW DID YOU GET THAT CORN IN THE JAR?" IS UNIVERSAL QUESTION AT AGENT'S OFFICE

"How did you get that corn in the jar so perfectly?" asked an interested visitor to Miss Mayesie Malone's office Monday as she looked at a beautiful array of canned corn that occupies a place of importance among an exhibit of Brown county products in Miss Malone's office. Miss Malone is home demonstration agent for Brown county. And that made 100,000 people, by over and over almost every day for unoffical count, who had asked the same question during the year or more that the exhibit has been on display in Miss Malone's office. But unlike procedure at A Century of Progress, there was no official waiting to grasp the hundred thousandth one's hand, present her with a handful of souvenirs, and have her picture taken. Miss Malone just sighed, and went into her routine explanation. The same explanation that has been made is no wonder that so many inquire about it, for the finished product gives the impression of a huge ear of perfect corn, every grain in perfect alignment, canned in the quart fruit jar. There are two such jars, one of white corn, and one of yellow, and they are the painstaking product of Mrs. Lee Baugh of the McDaniel community. Mrs. Baugh is a member of the McDaniel Home demonstration club. There are many other jars of canned products — beans carefully cut and placed in intricate and interesting designs, okra pointing alternately up and down and just exactly filling the jar, cherries each an exact duplicate of its neighbor, and other products just as enticing to the eye and appetite. But none of them can compare in curiosity-arousing features with the two jars of corn. It makes no difference whether the inquirer ever expects to can corn or not. The display occupies a conspicuous place just to the right of the door, where anyone cannot help but see it on leaving the office. Most people come to the office anyway to ask questions, so it is natural, as they leave and are attracted by the display of canned goods they stop to ask that final question. And each inquirer gets a careful, cheerful explanation, so that, should the occasion demand, Miss Malone is sure that every ear of corn in Brown county could be canned overnight, with every grain in perfect alignment. And no harm is done, because a home demonstration agent is supposed to answer questions, anyway.

Finishing Turkeys For Early Market

By RUEL McDANIEL
In Southwestern Poultry Journal

It can be said, with ample argument to back it up, that feeding of finishing the turkey as early as approaches is the most important step in the entire cycle of market turkey production. Regardless of the excellence of stock, the way in raising and economy of production to this point, unless the turkeys are finished off for market correctly, much of the potential profit in them is lost.

Thanks to the consistent efforts of leaders who have worked untiringly toward that end, Texas turkeys are beginning to come into their own on eastern markets. Texas turkeys are being graded properly now, and they are bringing prices commensurate with their value. Never was it so important now for Texas growers to produce turkeys that will grade No. 1. It is estimated that it requires but five pounds of good feed to produce a pound of turkey. Normally a poor range-fed tom, weighing fifteen pounds, brings say ten cents per pound and of course grades No. 2. The same tom fed four weeks on the proper ration gains five pounds, bringing its total weight to 20 pounds. And he grades No. 1. Normally a No. 1 turkey brings about seven cents per pound more than No. 2. Thus the tom, after being fed for four weeks, brings seventeen cents per pound for his twenty pounds, or $3.40. Marketed without the proper feeding and finishing, he would have been only a No. 2 at ten cents, bringing $1.50. The feed for four weeks cost about twenty-five cents. Thus a quarter of a dollar invested in proper feeding increases the value of the tom by $1.90. The twenty-five cents worth of feed put into the bird is the best investment made in the turkey during its entire life cycle.

Turkeys must be fed to produce flesh, bones and fat. Grains add fat, but grains alone will not produce the best finish. They must be supplemented with the proper balanced ration, which includes meat scraps, milk and bonemeal.

A fully developed, full-featured and fat bird, without bruises and deformities, will grade No. 1, irrespective of size. Last season the smaller, short shanked bird was in greatest demand. A bird showing pin-feathers or having a crooked breast-bone cannot go into the No. 1 grade. Accordingly, it is important that the flock be culled and divided closely at marketing time. A good program to follow is to divide the birds into four groups, as follows:

- (1) Mark the best birds to save for breeders.
- (2) Pen and sell the finished ones.
- (3) Save for further feeding and later market the small, late-hatched birds, and those showing pin-feathers or lack of fleshing.
- (4) Eat or can the deformed or crooked breasted turkeys, rather than dump them onto the market at the ruinous price that will be offered for them.

In preparing turkeys for market, don't fill their crops with feed just before taking them to town. Instead, give them all the feed they will eat the night before shipment; but don't give them any water.

Next morning give them all the water they will drink, but no feed. This will insure the birds reaching the dressing plant in good condition and with an empty crop, but weighing as heavy as if they were filled with fresh feed.

It is a good idea to begin studying the situation early, so as to determine the approximate percentage of birds to prepare for the Thanksgiving market and how many to hold over for Christmas.

Chief of Police.

Resolution endorsing the Boy Scouts of America and similar organizations were adopted August 3, 1933, at the convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Sherman Hotel, in Chicago.

Whereas, it is essential to the future welfare of our nation to properly train the youth of America to the responsibilities and duties of good citizenship, and

Whereas, the Boy Scouts of America and kindred organizations are providing a medium for such training and the molding of the character of our future citizens.

Now, therefore, be it resolved, that the International Association of Chiefs of Police, in convention assembled, does hereby heartily endorse their program.

Troop 14.

Recent chapel exercises at the Early High School were in charge of Scouts of Troop 14. The program begun with Scout Oath and Laws in unison. A mock tenderfoot investiture ceremony was given with Scout Elmo Klard acting as a candidate and Samuel McLaughlin, patrol leader, Chris Hoover, senior patrol leader, and George Edwards, acting as scoutmaster. They next presented on the program was a stunt entitled, "Dumb Dave." This stunt is given in the patrol leader's handbook. Burman McLaughlin took the part of Dumb Dave, Samuel McLaughlin the part of the mother, and James McHan the part of the groceryman. This stunt offered a great deal of fun on the part of the audience. Demonstrations in First Aid work that is taught the Scouts in their advancement work was given by a number of the Scouts. Mr. Boyd, superintendent introduced the officers of the troop, Chris Hoover, Samuel McLaughlin and Elmo Klard, patrol leaders, George Edwards senior patrol leader; Mr. Hopkins, assistant scoutmaster and the troop committee which is composed of John C. Edwards, H. V. Hoover, and L. W. Garman. The troop is in a two month contest by patrols.

Points are given for various accomplishments and attendance, etc. The winning patrol will receive a patrol flag.

TILE CUTTING BED DEFEATING DROUGHT

"My sub-irrigated tile cutting bed has proven to be the very best method I can use to get cutting to grow during our long, hot, dry summer without very much water either when tested outside by side with a cutting bed of the old type," said Miss Otie Willson, yard demonstrator for the Dublin Club about 1 mile from highway number 10.

There is not a single cutting living in the other bed while she has 24 nice shrubs growing and ready to transplant a little later in her front yard in the sub-irrigated bed. Miss Willson said "I would of had none left if it hadn't been for the sub-irrigation."

Miss Willson acted as yard demonstrator because she loved nature, and loved to work in her yard, with flowers and wanted to improve her home. Her pantry also has been well cared for with about 300 containers of food for winter use of many varieties.

She is president of her club and when her second year wardrobe demonstrator was ill and could not be in the county clothing contest, Miss Willson took her place in order to have her club represented.

"All my shrubs came out nicely after the freeze and I have about fourteen to transplant from my cutting bed this fall," said Mrs. Edna Hancock, yard demonstrator for the Union Grove Home Demonstration Club about 1 1/2 miles this side of Rising Star on Highway No. 29.
