New Bridge To Span Mulberry At Brice

The state highway department has officially confirmed the building of a bridge over Mulberry Creek to open a new highway to the South Plains area. Hall county Judge John Russell has announced. Construction is to begin in August, he added. The order by state officials was conditioned right-of-way being furnished by Hall County without cost to the state.

It is understood that the new bridge site will be picked out by engineers but will connect with the present route that is being prepared for paving at the present time leading out of Clarendon south to Brice. The new bridge will be a welcome sight to all those who live beyond Mulberry and have to drive over the old bridge that is used at the present time.

It is also understood that another job concerning this same highway route is due to come up for letting between now and some time in August. This is the unpaved strip between Clarendon and Jericho. The strip has been approved for a long time and it is understood that something will have to be done by August as that is the deadline.

A report coming in to the Leader office about noon today was that a portion of the Mulberry bridge was washed out last night.

Approximately fifty agents from over the state will attend this school.

New Pastor of Methodist Church

DR. STANLEY N. HAYNE.

Dr. Stanley W. Hayne, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Quanah for the past two years has accepted the ministry of the local church here and moved to Clarendon last Thursday.

Dr. Hayne went to Quanah two years ago from Mungler Place Church in Dallas. His place for years had been as head of large churches in Dallas, Nashville, Tenn., and other important church assignments.

In regard to Dr. Hayne's qualifications, etc., we wish to quote a piece from the Quanah Tribune published last week.

"With his qualifications as a student and as an accomplished speaker, Dr. Hayne had built an admirable friendship within his church, in Rotary and with all citizens of Quanah with whom he came in contact. The respected and genial minister, by his resignation, leaves a place vacant that has not been so capably filled by many of his predecessors.

Sugar Rationing Ends Last Night

The nation's housewives reached the end of a five-year coupon ordeal last night when the government ended rationing of sugar for households, hotels and restaurants, effective as of midnight, June 11th.

Last of a multitude of things that once could not be bought with money alone, sugar was freed from ration controls because larger quantities are available.

However, price controls remain. So does rationing of industrial sugar. (All sugar controls are due to end Oct. 31 unless Congress says otherwise).

A heavy deluge of rain and streaks of hail covered a large portion of the county late Wednesday afternoon and losses in crops has been estimated in the thousands of dollars.

According to information we could get from the areas reached by phone, the hail streak covered an area several miles wide from the east side of the county to the Brice highway south of town, losing part of its force at this point but doing considerable damage on farther west. Bob Solomon whose place is about a mile south of Hedley reported a complete loss to wheat and other crops. About the same report came from south of Lelia Lake and in the Chamberlain area. It was reported also that the hail beat the roofs off most of the houses and stripped trees down to the bare limbs. There were several reports of hail measuring as large as hen eggs.

The Ft. Worth & Denver reported that the Memphis area had a heavy hail and that around four to five inches of rain was recorded at Giles with the remainder of the area up to Clarendon receiving from that amount down to three inches which was recorded at the official weather station at the depot.

Besides the hail damage, the heavy rain will cause practically all farmers in the heavy rain area to plant everything over as very few have had the opportunity to get anything up large enough to withstand the heavy rain after planting several times already. Cotton seed is terribly high this year and is really costing those fellows who have had to plant over so many times and most of them are out hunting seed again this morning.

The rain as a whole was the most damaging to be experienced around here in several years. It fell in such a short time and washed roads and fields terribly.

LIBRARY NOTES

By Mrs. C. A. Burton

Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, bibliophile and rare book dealer, has presented to the Free Library of Philadelphia his collection of early American children's books—816 imprints dating from 1682 to 1835. No comparable collection exists. One of the books is "The History of Little Goody Two Shoes," 1775.

The John Day's $1,000 Foreign Service Book contest prize was won by Charles F. Knox, Jr. for his manuscript "Thirst", a novel about ranch life in South America. Knox is a career officer attached to the U. S. Embassy in Caracas, Venezuela.

"Heart of Danger," Howard Pease's best selling novel for high school readers, has been given the 1946 award of the Child Study Association.

Transatlantic visitors during May include Rebecca West, author of several books, including "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon", and Carlo Levi, who has come from Italy to publish his novel, "Christ Stopped at Eboli".

Stanley Vestal, one of the best known writers of the Southwest, is to be in Amarillo in July for a three course in writing for the Panhandle Pen Women. His real name is Walter S. Campbell, director of professional writing courses at the University of Oklahoma. He has several books to his credit, only one of which we have on our shelves. Stanley Vestal was the first Rhodes Scholar from England, to attend Oxford in England—is in the Oklahoma Hall of Fame, is a member of the Society of American Historians and has recently completed research for the Rockefeller Foundation.

Globetrotting author, Somerset Maugham, whose latest is "The Razor's Edge," has established a trust fund of $2500 to be offered to promising young British writers—to stimulate travel and acquaintance with the manners and customs of other countries.

The citizens of Lubbock have recently approved a half-million dollar bond issue for construction of a new public library. The vote was overwhelming in favor.

Mrs. Loma Shaver who recently visited in Clarendon wrote a book some years ago and presented our library with a copy—"Chuck Wagon Winders and Range Poems." She says she has in preparation another book on the Southwest—because she has specialized in this section. She now lives at Borger.

The Louisiana State Library has received a check for $10,000 from a former state senator to serve as a nucleus of a fund for a future library in his home town Franklin, and parish St. Mary. It is hoped to inspire others to do likewise.

The University of California at Los Angeles Library is having many gifts to perpetuate the names of former students who gave their lives in World War II. In many cases parents have given the books belonging to the deceased veterans and have provided funds for additional books.

FINAL RESTING PLACES CHOSEN FOR WAR II DEAD

Next of kin requesting burial of World War II dead overseas may choose any one of the 14 permanent American military cemeteries and 3 National cemeteries which the War Department plans to establish as final resting places, according to an announcement received today by Col. C. C. Strawn, Commanding Officer, San Antonio General Depot.

Temporary U. S. Military Cemeteries laid out during World War II but which will become permanent cemeteries are: Cambridge, England; Margraten, Holland; Hamm, Luxembourg; Henri Chappelle, Belgium; Neuville-en-condroz, St. Laurent, St. James, Epinal, St. Avold, and Draguignan, France; Nettuno, Italy; and Manila, Philippine Islands.

Florence, Italy and Tunis, Tunisia will also be cemetery locations, although the exact sites are not yet chosen by the Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

The 3 new National Cemeteries to be established under the plan are Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands; Guam in the Marianas; and at San Juan, Puerto Rico. These National Cemeteries will provide final resting places for any armed forces personnel or honorably discharged veterans who may wish to be buried in Hawaii, Guam, or Puerto Rico in addition to those who died during World War II.

Meet the boss!

MEET BABS BROWN, the Boss. We don't mean Mister Brown's boss, either. We mean our boss—and a very nice one, too.

Sound odd to you? Well, it isn't. It's a solid fact that your electric light and power company is owned by a lot of people like Babs Brown—and Bob Brown—yes, and yourself.

Housewives, doctors, teachers—industrial workers, craftsmen, farmers—mechanics and milkmen—people from all walks of life have put some of their savings into electric companies such as ours. They're the direct owners.

But there are countless indirect owners, too—and many of them have no idea of their stake in the electric industry. They are the people who have savings accounts or life insurance policies—and that means nearly everybody. It works like this: When banks and insurance companies accept your money they must invest it safely, wisely. And because business-managed electric companies have a long record of faithful public service, much of this money is invested in utility companies on physical property installed and dedicated to the public's service. So you, too, are probably one of our bosses.

SURPLUS
NEWS WAA

A half million dollar site clearance of four West Texas installations will be held at the Midland Army Air Field, it was announced this week through the War Assets Administration's sub-regional office at El Paso. The clearance will be an informal bid sale of surplus materials located at Midland; Pacific Air School, Fort Stockton; Pyote Air Field and Pecos Air Field. Hardware, kitchen supplies, furniture and a few vehicles will be included in dozens of lots of related materials to be offered. Inspection and bidding will be carried on at each of the four locations on June 17, 18 and 19, with the bid opening scheduled for 9 a. m. June 20 at the Midland field.

Fourteen military chapels, including all installed equipment, at Camp Bowie, Brownwood, Texas, are to be offered for sale until July 9 through War Assets Administration. First consideration concerning use of the chapels after sale shall "be given to their use as shrines or memorials and second consideration shall be for use for religious purposes," it was said. Offers on the chapels will be accepted by WAA for transmission to the Chief of Chaplains, War Department, who, with the advice of representative church groups, will recommend the person or organization to whom disposal shall be made, WAA officials declared.

Various regional offices of WAA cooperate with each other in disposing of stocks of surplus property that might be "slow" in one area and in sharp demand in another. This practice resulted in the sale of 70,000 gallons of outside white paint to a Texas dealer recently. The paint was located in the inventory of the Spokane WAA regional office, where its sale was rated as "slow". This paint was in "tight" demand in the Grand Prairie region, where a customer was seeking the product. Correspondence between the two regional offices effected the sale and delivery of the 70,000 gallons to the Texas dealer.

Army folding cots in quantities sufficient to bed down nearly 40,000 soldiers are for sale until June 25 through War Assets Administration. They will be sold through sealed competitive bids on lots. A sample is on display at the Customer Service Center of the Grand Prairie WAA office as well as at San Antonio and El Paso.

Items in short supply for the June set-aside list for veterans include veterinary operating tables, bacteriological incubators, jeep trailers and portable electric drills. Except for the quarter-ton trailers, all items will be placed on catalog sale through the Customers Service Center at the Grand Prairie WAA regional office. The jeep trailers will be sold by WAA's location sales division in the near future.

Water coolers, spot lights and explosion proof receptacles are contained in $50,000 worth of plumbing, heating, electrical and refrigeration supplies which are listed in a sale closing June 20, War Assets Administration officials announced. Descriptions of all articles may be obtained through the Customer Service Center at Grand Prairie WAA offices.

Veterans' News

Nearly 897,000 dependents of 557,000 deceased veterans of all wars and peacetime service are receiving compensation and pension checks from the Veterans Administration at the rate of over 32,000,000 a month, V-A reported this week.

More than 45 percent, or 396,000, are dependents of deceased World War II veterans. Of these, all but 3,525 are receiving compensation as the result of service-connected death of the veteran.

Another 41 percent, or 363,000, are beneficiaries of deceased World War I veterans. Only 96,000 of these receive benefits resulting from service-connected deaths. The rest are being compensated in cases of veteran deaths which did not result from service in the armed forces.

The rolls also include 78,000 dependents of deceased Spanish-American War veterans, 19,000 from the Civil War, 2,345 from the Indian Wars, 47 from the Mexican War, and nearly 20,000 dependents of veterans who died in peacetime service.

The Veterans Administration, forecasting a record school enrollment this fall, is urging veterans to get busy right now and line up their school plans for next fall.

This is especially important for those veterans who may be going to school for the first time under the provision of the G-I Bill.

They should apply for a certificate of eligibility at the nearest

V-A office. This certificate will be required of them before they can enter their school.

Since most schools have a quota for veterans, it is wise for veterans to make arrangements with schools now so that they may be assured of a place in classes starting next September.

Veterans already in training, who plan to attend a different school this fall, must obtain a supplementary certificate of eligibility.

These can be furnished by the nearest V-A office or by the V-A training officer at school or college. This certificate is the basis for payment of tuition, fees, supplies and the subsistence allowance to the veteran.

The foresighted veteran also will make an effort to line up housing and other personal arrangements at the school of his choice, V-A said.

American Agriculture At The Crossroads

By Cong. Eugene Worley

EDITORS NOTE—The following speech was made by Congressman Eugene Worley during debate on the Agricultural Appropriation bill in the House of Representatives on May 27. Of all the Appropriation bills affecting our part of the country this is perhaps the most important, and the speech which Mr. Worley made was designed to support the contentions of the Democrats that this bill would do serious injury to the farming and ranching interests of the Nation. For the convenience of our readers, Mr. Worley has divided his remarks into three parts, which will appear in your Donley County Leader during the following weeks. The first part of the Congressman's speech follows: Mr. Chairman:

A distinguished writer once called the parable of the prodigal son the most perfect story plot ever contrived. That parable has provided the frame-work for the story of human frailties many times in many forms. It provides an ideal framework for the story of American political life of the last decade and a half. Let me tell you the story of American agriculture and American political parties in that framework.

There was a great nation called the United States. And this nation had two great political parties. One was called the Democratic Party, and the other was called the Republican Party. Now the Republican Party in the year one thousand, nine hundred and twenty said to the nation, "Give me that part of the estate which

And the nation—foolishly—did as it was asked. It gave to the Republicans the rich inheritance of leadership of the land which had become the wealthiest and the strongest on earth.

But, alas, this Party encouraged lavish and worthless investments in far off countries. It watched the paper values of the exchanges on Wall Street rise high on the hot wind of speculation. It looked at the ticker tape and clapped its hands and said, "All is right with the world. Such and such a stock is up another five points."

Yes, stocks on the market exchanges were up. And that seemed good indeed. But stocks on the farms were up, too—piling up year by year in mountainous surpluses of cotton and wheat—and that was bad, because as the surpluses grew, the prices shrank until taxes, mortgages and interest ate up all the income and farmers were knocked into bankruptcy like tenpins by the big black ball of economic depression.

First it was only the farmers. But then, like a great dark cloud, economic catastrophe overtook the speculators in the exchanges, and the manufacturers, bankers, and merchants in the markets, and the laborers and clerks in their humble homes. A terrible famine of jobs and profits spread over the whole land. The price of wheat was never so low in three centuries as it was then. The value of farm exports was never so low in well nigh fifty years. The buying power of farmers' products fell to about half their pre-World War level. The farm fourth of the nation virtually ceased to be customers for city goods.

Desperate in the effort to hold their properties, farmers mined the soil, frantically endeavoring to dig up, as if by the roots, enough cash to meet their costs of interest and taxes. And millions of acres lost fertility and topsoil while farmers lost their homes and their land.

Agriculture was prostrate. The low state to which agriculture had fallen by 1932 is not easily forgotten. In that year farm operators went bankrupt at a rate of one every two minutes—and this they did twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week. Many farm laborers were glad to work for room and board. Mortgage debt alone took a tenth of the farmer's gross income—to say nothing of taxes and other costs.

The average price of a bushel of wheat fell to 38 cents; corn to 32 cents; oats to 16 cents. The price of a pound of tobacco was 11 cents; cotton 7 cents; beef 4 cents; hogs 3 cents.

And the carryover of cotton rose almost fourfold in less than a decade, so that the people of my own State of Texas and of the whole South trembled on the brink of wholesale bankruptcy.

And over the radio, punsters quipped, with an undertone of fear in their voices, about signs in public places being changed from "Keep Off the Grass" to "Don't Eat the Grass."

The Republican Party had dissipated the nation's economy. Such was the inheritance of the Democratic Party when called upon by the people to rehabilitate a prostrate nation.

Then began the long struggle which has brought to this nation the greatest agricultural prosperity it has ever known.

Net income from agriculture last year was not two or three times, but eight times as great as in 1932.

Foreclosures and assignments were reduced not to one-half or one-fourth of the number in 1932, but to one-twentieth.

From near collapse, American agriculture has today reached a position where it is a hundred billion dollar plus industry, where its quick assets of currency, bank deposits and Government bonds total some 20 billions, where farmers have a 93 percent equity in their business.

What a difference! From a level of about 50 percent below parity in 1932, farm prices climbed to 32 percent above parity in October 1946.

From a condition in which the elephant heel of surpluses, of cotton and wheat particularly, were crushing the life out of agriculture, we have today only a normal carryover of wheat and no more Commodity Credit Corporation cotton to sell.

From a total mortgage debt of about nine billion dollars in 1932—and a negligible amount of quick assets—agriculture in mid-1946 had a total mortgage debt of little more than five billions—and quick assets nearly four times that amount.

In 1932, agriculture was flat broke. In 1946 it was richer than at any time in history.

What a difference! And how that difference is making itself felt. In 1932 farmers were no longer sizeable customers for tractors and trucks, for new homes and barns, for furniture and clothing. But today, manufacturers and merchants can hear the jingle jangle of coins in farmers' jeans—and back of those coins are plenty of rectangular green-backed pieces of paper that fall soundlessly but joyously into the cash registers, even as the gentle dew from heaven.

Farmers want tractors—200,000 a year a survey showed, for three years after the war's end.

Farmers want trucks and cars—a billion dollars worth.

Farmers want building improvements—another billion dollars worth.

Farmers want household goods—400 million dollars worth a year for three years after the war.

And they have the cold cash to back up their wants in a way that gives solid assurance of continued prosperity.

GRATITUDE.

Recently, at the close of school, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Darden of this city, to more properly express their appreciation of the public school teachers who had a part in instructing their daughter the past term, wrote some ten letters to tell the teachers how much they appreciated their efforts. The teachers replied in the same manner. In a sense, the replies though couched in simple terms of appreciation, bore an underlying tone of pathetic themes. One teacher, who is known to have served the Clarendon schools well and faithfully for more than forty years, stated that she never before had received a letter of appreciation from a patron. Others wrote in the same vein. Teaching is the only profession in which the tears of angels are mingled with the lives of those who labor on earth, and for whom their is waiting a crown of glory in the world to come. God bless those who guide the footsteps of infantile humanity into the nobler paths of righteousness, instruct and mold character all with little financial reward, and largely because those who labor, love the cause they represent. There is no nobler or grander profession known.

HINT TO GRIPERS.

Never miss an opportunity to make others happy, even if you have to stay away from them to do it.

OBJECT LESSONS.

Farmers make up the largest class in our nation, and fewer of that class go to prison than any other. Next in number are Truck drivers, ninety percent of whom safeguard the lives of others with care. Of all the deaths on our highways, statistics show that truck drivers cause the least.

EXPLANATION.

American Agriculture At The Crossroads

By Cong. Eugene Worley
 EDITORS NOTE—The following speech was made by Congressman Eugene Worley during debate on the Agricultural Appropriation bill in the House of Representatives on May 27. Of all the Appropriation bills affecting our part of the country this is perhaps the most important, and the speech which Mr. Worley made was designed to support the contentions of the Democrats that this bill would do serious injury to the farming and ranching interests of the Nation. For the convenience of our readers, Mr. Worley has divided his remarks into three parts, which will appear in your Donley County Leader during the following weeks. The first part of the Congressman's speech follows: Mr. Chairman:

A distinguished writer once called the parable of the prodigal son the most perfect story plot ever contrived. That parable has provided the frame-work for the story of human frailties many times in many forms. It provides an ideal framework for the story of American political life of the last decade and a half. Let me tell you the story of American agriculture and American political parties in that framework.

There was a great nation called the United States. And this nation had two great political parties. One was called the Democratic Party, and the other was called the Republican Party. Now the Republican Party in the year one thousand, nine hundred and twenty said to the nation, "Give me that part of the estate which

And the nation—foolishly—did as it was asked. It gave to the Republicans the rich inheritance of leadership of the land which had become the wealthiest and the strongest on earth.

But, alas, this Party encouraged lavish and worthless investments in far off countries. It watched the paper values of the exchanges on Wall Street rise high on the hot wind of speculation. It looked at the ticker tape and clapped its hands and said, "All is right with the world. Such and such a stock is up another five points."

Yes, stocks on the market exchanges were up. And that seemed good indeed. But stocks on the farms were up, too—piling up year by year in mountainous surpluses of cotton and wheat—and that was bad, because as the surpluses grew, the prices shrank until taxes, mortgages and interest ate up all the income and farmers were knocked into bankruptcy like tenpins by the big black ball of economic depression.

First it was only the farmers. But then, like a great dark cloud, economic catastrophe overtook the speculators in the exchanges, and the manufacturers, bankers, and merchants in the markets, and the laborers and clerks in their humble homes. A terrible famine of jobs and profits spread over the whole land. The price of wheat was never so low in three centuries as it was then. The value of farm exports was never so low in well nigh fifty years. The buying power of farmers' products fell to about half their pre-World War level. The farm fourth of the nation virtually ceased to be customers for city goods.

Desperate in the effort to hold their properties, farmers mined the soil, frantically endeavoring to dig up, as if by the roots, enough cash to meet their costs of interest and taxes. And mil-

ions of acres lost fertility and topsoil while farmers lost their homes and their land.

Agriculture was prostrate. The low state to which agriculture had fallen by 1932 is not easily forgotten. In that year farm operators went bankrupt at a rate of one every two minutes—and this they did twenty-four hours a day and seven days a week. Many farm laborers were glad to work for room and board. Mortgage debt alone took a tenth of the farmer's gross income—to say nothing of taxes and other costs.

The average price of a bushel of wheat fell to 38 cents; corn to 32 cents; oats to 16 cents. The price of a pound of tobacco was 11 cents; cotton 7 cents; beef 4 cents; hogs 3 cents.

And the carryover of cotton rose almost fourfold in less than a decade, so that the people of my own State of Texas and of the whole South trembled on the brink of wholesale bankruptcy.

And over the radio, punsters quipped, with an undertone of fear in their voices, about signs in public places being changed from "Keep Off the Grass" to "Don't Eat the Grass."

The Republican Party had dissipated the nation's economy. Such was the inheritance of the Democratic Party when called upon by the people to rehabilitate a prostrate nation.

Then began the long struggle which has brought to this nation the greatest agricultural prosperity it has ever known.

Net income from agriculture last year was not two or three times, but eight times as great as in 1932.

Foreclosures and assignments were reduced not to one-half or one-fourth of the number in 1932, but to one-twentieth.

From near collapse, American agriculture has today reached a position where it is a hundred billion dollar plus industry, where its quick assets of currency, bank deposits and Government bonds total some 20 billions, where farmers have a 93 percent equity in their business.

What a difference! From a level of about 50 percent below parity in 1932, farm prices climbed to 32 percent above parity in October 1946.

From a condition in which the elephant heel of surpluses, of cotton and wheat particularly, were crushing the life out of agriculture, we have today only a normal carryover of wheat and no more Commodity Credit Corporation cotton to sell.

From a total mortgage debt of about nine billion dollars in 1932—and a negligible amount of quick assets—agriculture in mid-1946 had a total mortgage debt of little more than five billions—and quick assets nearly four times that amount.

In 1932, agriculture was flat broke. In 1946 it was richer than at any time in history.

What a difference! And how that difference is making itself felt. In 1932 farmers were no longer sizeable customers for tractors and trucks, for new homes and barns, for furniture and clothing. But today, manufacturers and merchants can hear the jingle jangle of coins in farmers' jeans—and back of those coins are plenty of rectangular green-backed pieces of paper that fall soundlessly but joyously into the cash registers, even as the gentle dew from heaven.

Farmers want tractors—200,000 a year a survey showed, for three years after the war's end.

Farmers want trucks and cars—a billion dollars worth.

Farmers want building improvements—another billion dollars worth.

Farmers want household goods—400 million dollars worth a year for three years after the war.

And they have the cold cash to back up their wants in a way that gives solid assurance of of continued prosperity. What a difference!

There's a line at the heading of the Woman's Column in my paper that reads: "Women through the years have stood keepers of the flame..." Pretty easy to see what it means; whether it's the flame on the hearth, or the candle in the window, or the feeling of warmth that surrounds a home. It's the women who are guardians of the things we cherish about homelife—who are tolerant of ashes on the rug; the rings a glass of beer can leave on tables; or the comfortable but too-worn chair that we can't bear to throw away. From where I sit, those little satisfactions become more and more important in this world of strife and change. THE TEMPLE OF TRUTH

By the Apostle

GRATITUDE.

Recently, at the close of school, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Darden of this city, to more properly express their appreciation of the public school teachers who had a part in instructing their daughter the past term, wrote some ten letters to tell the teachers how much they appreciated their efforts. The teachers replied in the same manner. In a sense, the replies though couched in simple terms of appreciation, bore an underlying tone of pathetic themes. One teacher, who is known to have served the Clarendon schools well and faithfully for more than forty years, stated that she never before had received a letter of appreciation from a patron. Others wrote in the same vein. Teaching is the only profession in which the tears of angels are mingled with the lives of those who labor on earth, and for whom their is waiting a crown of glory in the world to come. God bless those who guide the footsteps of infantile humanity into the nobler paths of righteousness, instruct and mold character all with little financial reward, and largely because those who labor, love the cause they represent. There is no nobler or grander profession known.

HINT TO GRIPERS.

Never miss an opportunity to make others happy, even if you have to stay away from them to do it.

OBJECT LESSONS.

Farmers make up the largest class in our nation, and fewer of that class go to prison than any other. Next in number are Truck drivers, ninety percent of whom safeguard the lives of others with care. Of all the deaths on our highways, statistics show that truck drivers cause the least.

EXPLANATION.

The fellow who is going around looking for something soft, has broken his false teeth.

MAXINE ELLIS IS BRIDE OF W. K. HARDIN

In a candle-light service Tuesday at St. John The Baptist Episcopal Church, Miss Maxine Elizabeth Ellis, daughter of Dr. Thomas Henry Ellis and the late Elizabeth Dyer Ellis, became the bride of W. K. Hardin, son of Mrs. Watt Hardin.

Rev. W. Warrin Fry read the single ring ceremony in an elaborate setting of purple gladioli, blue marconi daisies and blue candles. An arch of blue flowers outlined the altar which was appointed with blue daisies and white candles. Tree palms, baskets of purple gladioli and blue daisies and blue candles and blue satin ribbons outlined the chancel. Single blue candles tied with blue ribbons marked each pew and each window.

Proceeding the ceremony, Mrs. Homer Charles Speed sang Grieg's "I Love Thee" and "Oh Perfect Love". Mrs. Millard Word, organist, played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

Gowns of the bride's attendants carried out the purple and blue colors. Miss Ruth McDonald of Fort Worth formerly of Clarendon, wore lavender marquisette designed with shirred bodice, short puff sleeves and low around neckline and taffeta sash with bustle bow. She wore matching ruffled net halo and mitts and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of purple gladioli.

Mrs. Dexter Todd of Clovis, N. M., sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Emmett Simmons were bridesmaids and wore blue marquisette gowns identical to the maid of honor's with matching halos and mitts, and carried identical bouquets. All wore pearls which were the gift of the bride.

Linda Kay Hardin, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a white organdy dress made with bands of lace in the tight bodice and full skirt. She wore a ruffled blue net halo and blue mitts and carried a nosegay of blue forget-me-nots.

The bride, given in marriage by Henry W. C. McClelland of Los Angeles, wore a period-style wedding gown of white mar-quisette, designed with high round yoke of illusion outlined with a band of lace. Bands of lace trimmed the tight bodice and were used at intervals in the full skirt which fell into a full train. The long, full sleeves were caught by bands of lace. Her finger-tip three-tiered veil was held by bands of passamentrie embroidered in seed pearls which trimmed a dress worn by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Minnie E. Dyer, at a wedding in 1886. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a bouquet of vanta orchids centered with a purple orchid and satin streamers caught with agephelia. She carried a blue prayer book and a Mexican lace handmade handkerchief belonging to Mrs. J. D. Jefferies.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Sam Dyer, wore black chiffon made with long sleeves and full skirt. She wore a black hat trimmed with pink roses and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Watt Hardin, mother of the bridegroom, wore a smoke blue crepe dinner dress with a corsage of pink gladioli.

A reception at the Ellis home followed the ceremony. The dining table was decorated with arrangements of purple gladioli and blue candles and purple gladioli and blue satin bows encircled the punch bowl and the three-tiered wedding cake. The cake was decorated with blue flowers and a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Henry McClelland of Los Angeles and Mrs. Edwin J. Barnes Jr. of Fort Worth presided at the table and Mmes. Joe Jones, Hall Hardin, Homer Charles Speed, Warrin Fry, and Miss Mary Cooke, assisted in serving.

When the couple left for Colorado Springs and Estes Park, the bride wore a pale grey gabardine suit with cutaway jacket. She wore navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Hardin is a graduate of Clarendon high school and Texas Tech and attended Southern College in Petersburg, Va. She is a great niece of the late Mary Ann Dyer Goodnight.

Mr. Hardin served 52 months in the 7th Army, including three years overseas in the ETO. He attended schools in Tennessee and Clarendon.

The vows were exchanged before an arch decorated with a garland of Plumous Fern and white wedding bells. Each side of the archway was banked with floor baskets of white gladioli and pink Marconi daisies and palms.

As the guest assembled, Miss Cora Lee Muse sang "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding march was played for the professional and a soft musical accompaniment during the ceremony.

Mrs. Doc Adamson, attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a blue suit with pink and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Marilyn and Karilyn Stewart, twin nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They carried bouquets of pink and white roses with streamers of white and pink satin ribbons. Jackie McElroy, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Jack Shelly, brother of the groom was best man.

Entering on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a white dressmaker suit with gold trim and accessories of brown and white. Her bouquet was of brown orchids carried on a white Bible.

Mrs. Rhodes, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue sheer dress and Mrs. Shelly, mother of the groom, wore a black dress. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored with a reception. The table was laid with a lace cloth and was decorated with a garden bouquet in pink and white and the four tiered wedding cake.

Miss Jean Porter registered the guests, Mrs. Wayne McElroy served the wedding cake and Mrs. Marvin Jones presided at the punch bowl. Assisting in the entertaining rooms were Mrs. Glen Riley, Mrs. Howard Stewart and Mrs. Ben Chamberlain, all sisters of the bride.

The couple will make their home at Lubbock after a short wedding trip.

Miss Dorothy Menick sang "Come My Beloved" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mrs. Millard Word who played the traditional wedding marches and "Because" during the ceremony. An improvised altar flanked by baskets of primroses and tall candelabra formed the setting for the ceremony. Above the altar was an arch made of honeysuckle wreaths centered with white wedding bells.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a dressmaker suit of white eyelet pique and white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with an orchid.

Mrs. Charline Denny, sister of the bride, was in attendance as matron-of-honor. She wore a pink silk print with black accessories and a white carnation corsage. Bob Terry of Shamrock was best man.

ceremony Miss Helen Rhoades presided at the punch bowl and Miss Edna Mahaffey served the wedding cake to approximately thirty-five guests. AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE FROM THE TEXAS BUTANE DEALERS ASSOCIATION—

BUTANE and PROPANE Users!

Is Your BUTANE or PROPANE System Ready for Next Winter?

The Texas Butane Dealers Association asks every domestic butane or propane gas user to take stock of your present system. If your tank cannot furnish gas enough to serve you through the four winter months without refilling, you may find yourself without heat this winter.

New industries developed during the war now demand tremendous amounts of butane and propane gases throughout the year. On the other hand, domestic users of gas burn four to seven times more in winter than in summer. Because of tremendous demand, your dealer is able to furnish you very little more gas in winter than in summer. In order to "level off" this high winter load, heating gas users must plan now to tank up far ahead with a four months' supply.

By doing this you can be absolutely sure of your supply. It's "Winter Insurance," just as the farmer has always stored grain early for winter use. Housewives do their canning in the summer. Your gas will already be in your tank when you need it most. And by taking less time for your dealer's services, he can supply you and your neighbors more efficiently and more economically at the time when winter roads usually hold up gas delivery.

Before you buy any system, consult your local gas dealer. He is your friend, he knows butane-propane, and he will cooperate in every way to help you prepare for winter now.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH LELIA LAKE
Ernest Phillips, Pastor
The attendance at Church and Sunday School was not what it should be last Sunday. Bro. Rackley, our Supt. is giving his best in our Sunday School work; won't you come and cooperate with him and the teachers in our Sunday school? We believe it is important that you and your children be in Church on Sunday; won't you bring your children and give them a chance to be what God would have them be? Won't you give your children parents that are Christian in practice as well as in name?
Next Sunday, June 15th is Father's Day. We are urging every Father in our community that do not attend church elsewhere to be in our Services next Sunday. The pastor is bringing a message to men on this subject, "When Laymen Lay" at the morning hour. We especially invite every Daddy to be present with us.
"Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

Who's the Atlas of our family --- the mighty man of brain and power?

Who's our Valentine our Hero

Who's our lion of the hour?

Who's the prince of all good fellows

Who's as sharp as any lad

Who gets the honors June 15th? Pop the question, it's our DAD!

BROOKS Dry Goods
The Quality Store
Just for Pop --- we have gifts galore to make June 15th his red letter day!

Can we make it? Will our patience hold out? Will the Hail Clouds stay away? Acres and acres of the yellow gold. Oh me, the strain of the last two months of the year, for a Wheat Farmer.

Have you had an unusual or a funny experience? Have you got a good idea on what is good or bad about all of us? Write us and tell us about it. The House and the Senate thought we should spend a little more on our eleemosynary institutions, and from the reports we should, but the Governor had promised that he wouldn't favor any new taxes, and that he would only be generous with the balance that Uncle Coke had left for him, so he whacked the appropriation off. These poor folks don't have a vote, so I don't guess it matters whether they like it or not. Did you ever see as many mosquitoes? I was driving down a weedy road the other evening between sundown and dark, and they were so thick that they affected by view of the road. When I would drive in to a swarm of them it would sound like rain on a tin roof. This is honest, and on the level, and I hope someone will back me up on it. When I got to town I began telling it, and one fellow told me this one: He said, "He was down in Louisiana one summer, and that my little experience wasn't anything. That they were so thick and so large that you had to carry a hammer around with you for protection. One night, he said he was fighting a losing fight, even with the hammer, so he crowded under an old fashioned wash pot. They started lighting on it and sticking their bills through trying to get him. He said, ever time one would stick his bill through the iron he would brad the end of it. After a while he had so many fastened to the pot that they flew off with it and a new bunch set him up." He didn't crack a smile, but somehow I got the feeling that he didn't believe my story, but I swear it was the truth, and as I say I hope someone will agree with me.

Attention Cotton Growers

Cotton is going to be worth lots of money this fall. NOW is the time to protect it from HAIL. While it's young and tender it can be easily damaged and it costs no more to insure now than later on. Just as soon as it's up to a full stand is the time to take out a policy. See us at once about this needed protection. We write only in old line Stock Companies—prompt adjustments—prompt payment of losses.
