

TON ACREAGE REDUCTION PLAN NEARS CLOSE IN BROWN COUNTY WITH GOAL IN SIGHT

Further extension of time is granted by Secretary Wallace, and the cotton acreage reduction plan will be brought to a Brown county Saturday night, July 8, according to S. A. Palmer, agricultural agent, in charge of the work in this county. County farmers are responding to the government's request to the extent that no extension of time will be needed in this county.

This year's cotton crop in Brown county gives prospect of being well above the five-year average for the county, according to opinions expressed by members of the government's community committees working on the cotton acreage reduction plan. The opinion was expressed freely by committeemen from various sections of the county, as they visited the offices of the central control committee in Memorial Hall during the week to make reports or secure additional information.

"The prospects for a good crop this year are mighty fine," one of the committeemen stated, "but of course, the cotton is not made, and we are a bit scared yet."

Government payments for cotton destroyed under the reduction plan are based on the five year average, and not upon the prospects for this year's yield. However, committeemen must make an estimate of the condition of the present year's crop, and the prospective yield, according to their opinions. This estimate accompanies the farmer's application for payment for plowed-up cotton.

The five-year average for Brown county, as compiled by the government for the guidance of the committee, is 111 pounds lint per acre. The actual yield last year was 175 pounds lint, the highest yield obtained during the five year period. The average is brought down by lower yields in past years, the lowest being in 1930, when the yield in this county was only 55 pounds lint per acre.

Palmer received 1,000 blank contracts from the government by July 4, but this supply was exhausted quickly. Word was received that additional blanks had been received as soon as they were printed. In the meantime, farmers had registered their names and data regarding their acreage, plans, estimated yield, and their local committee, the government views this as a temporary contract and will be bound by the committee's records just the same as if the contracts had been signed. The contract blanks were not received until after the start of the campaign, in which the temporary records will be used until all farmers have signed the final contracts.

It is pointed out by Mr. Palmer, however, that farmers who wish to accept the government's offer should get in line with their local committee this week without fail. The present plans, the committee will close Saturday, July 8. Once it is closed, local committees will be without authority to sign up additional acreage. If the campaign is as successful in other parts of the county as it is in Brown county, there will be no reason for extending the campaign for this week.

GARNER CANNOT BE AT PECAN MEETING

Word was received in Brownwood this week by the Brownwood chamber of commerce and others who had issued invitations, that Vice President John N. Garner would be unable to attend the summer meeting of the West Texas Pecan Growers' association in Brownwood July 27. Mrs. Garner answered the invitations, expressing regret that the Vice President would be unable to be here for the meeting.

One of the features of the meeting was to have been the christening of the new "Garner" pecan, a new variety named in honor of the Vice President.

The program for the convention is in charge of H. G. Lucas, president of the National Pecan Marketing Association, J. T. McDonald and T. O. Hurst.

HIGHWAY 7 IS NOW READY FOR TOPPING

Workmen started this week at Clear Creek on highway 7, topping the highway with asphalt from that point north toward Brownwood. As soon as this work is completed, the topping will be extended from Clear Creek south to the Colorado River. Work has been delayed several times through inability of the contractors to secure asphalt, but it is thought that this trouble has been corrected and work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Highway 7 from Brownwood east to the county line is ready for topping, and asphalt will be put on this highway as soon as work is completed on Highway 10, according to Leo Ehlinger, district engineer. The completion of this highway will end the major highway projects in Brown county, although one project still is in Austin.

This calls for the improvement of a 2500 foot strip from Seventh St. to Main avenue, across the Santa Fe tracks, within the Brownwood city limits. It is expected that approval of this project will be forthcoming soon.

Texas Leads In Divorce Cases

Despite a decrease of 1,621 in number of divorces, Texas again led the United States in 1932. A total of 14,167 divorces were granted in the Lone Star state last year, according to figures released today by the census bureau. California was again second with 14,097.

Texas, along with most other states, however, had a reduction in its divorce rate, which averaged 2.38 per thousand population in 1932 as compared with 2.67 the year before. Besides Nevada, which, of course, ranked first with 42.89, only two other states had higher divorce percentages than Texas. They were Oklahoma, 2.46, and Wyoming, 2.61.

The numerical decrease in divorces in Texas was slightly more than 10 per cent; for the United States the percentage of decrease was 12.7. Divorces granted in the entire country last year numbered 160,329 as compared with 180,664 in 1931.

Marriages performed in Texas last year totaled 40,192, as against 40,512 in 1931. Both figures indicate the effect of the so-called gin-marriage law, as in years prior to enactment of the law requiring three days' notice as many as 65,000 or more marriages were performed in the Lone Star State. Last year there was one marriage to every 2.8 divorces in Texas.

Texas Population Has Gained 200,000

Texas on July 1 has an estimated population of 6,023,000, as announced by the Bureau of the Census. This is an increase of 198,285 over the official census taken April 1, 1930, when the total population was established at 5,824,715.

The total is arrived at by estimating the increase since 1930, upon the basis of the available data regarding births, death, immigration and emigration. The population of the several states is then estimated by distributing the increase in the United States population to the various states according to the percentage which each state increase was of the United States increase between 1920 and 1930, except that where there was a decrease between 1920 and 1930, the 1930 census figure is retained and no estimate is made.

The Country's Flag

On the fourteenth of June, 1777, Congress officially adopted the stars and stripes as the banner of the nation, and early in August of that year, the new flag was first flown in battle, at Fort Stanwix on the Mohawk River, in the state of New York. Although the general design has remained unaltered, the United States never has had precisely the same flag in any two years.

Of all the poets who made the flag a theme for their verse, Francis Scott Key is best remembered. His house in Washington was torn down a few years ago to make room for the abutments of a new bridge, but his last resting place, at Frederick, Md., is within an hour's drive for Washingtonians.

Principal provisions of the code adopted call for a 40 hour work-

MEMORY OF J. W. MCARTNEY IS HONORED BY ATTORNEYS

Resolutions of respect to the memory of James W. McCartney, prominent young local attorney who died April 18, 1933, following an airplane accident, were adopted by members of the Brown county bar at memorial services held in his honor Monday in the district court room. Following the services Judge E. J. Miller adjourned court for the remainder of the week out of respect to Mr. McCartney's memory.

Judge Miller presided at the meeting, which was attended by all members of the local bar and many friends of the young attorney. Brief talks were made by the assembled attorneys, who praised their deceased associate.

A committee from the bar association, composed of T. C. Wilkinson, Jr., Edward Johnson, McGilvray Muse and Conner Scott, presented the following resolutions, which were adopted unanimously:

"That in his life the world has been made richer in the virtues that adorn and elevate our lives, in the amenities that soften life's hardships, and in the inspiration that only strength and intrinsic excellence of character can give.

"That in his death the state has lost a patriotic and public spirited citizen; the legal profession a staunch advocate of the high principles for which it stands; the bar of this community an esteemed and true friend, and society a shining and impressive example of those virtues which spread cheer, happiness and good will.

"That the members of this bar deplore the loss of our friend and associate for whom we held such an affectionate esteem, and deeply sympathize with his loved ones in their overwhelming and irreparable loss.

"That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this court as a lasting memorial and tribute, and that a copy of same be sent to his family and to the local press."

After the resolution had been adopted, Judge Miller gave the following order:

"It is ordered by the Court, this 3rd day of July, A. D., 1933, that the foregoing testimonial and resolutions, adopted by the assembled bar, and presented to this court, touching the life, service and death of James W. McCartney, who died April 18th, 1933, be entered by the clerk upon the minutes of this Court, and that this Court be recessed the remainder of this week in honor of his memory."

Printers Meet To Discuss New Code

Printers and publishers from the 25th senatorial district met July 4 in Coleman to discuss a code for the printing industry under which to operate in compliance with the terms of the national recovery act. Nineteen establishments in this district were represented. Minor changes in the tentative code, prepared at a meeting in Dallas last week, were suggested by the district meeting, and delegates to a sectional meeting to be held Saturday in Fort Worth were elected.

H. M. Jones of Brownwood is chairman of the temporary organization in this senatorial district, and Harry Schwenker of Brady is co-chairman. H. H. Jackson of Coleman is co-chairman of the Ft. Worth district, which comprises the northwestern part of the state. Delegates of the Fort Worth meeting selected were Ed Blanton of San Angelo and Mr. Schwenker. Mr. Jones and Mr. Jackson also will attend the Fort Worth meeting, as will N. H. Pierce of Menard and others.

Principal provisions of the code adopted call for a 40 hour work-

Egg Powdering Plant Started At Abilene

A new egg drying plant with a capacity production of more than a million pounds of powdered eggs annually has been established at Abilene by the American Dried Egg Corporation and an additional and entirely new outlet for the egg production of West Texas has come into being.

Machinery for the plant has been installed, according to word from Manager Carswell of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, and the entire production of the plant for this year has been sold in advance.

L. Coquet, who established the huge plant at Fort Worth two years ago, is president and general manager; C. Barnhill is vice-president and production manager, and C. M. Powell, Dallas, is secretary-treasurer, in charge of the Dallas office.

The printing industry is the first in Texas to begin operations under the provisions of the national industrial recovery act.

FARMERS' OPTIONS ON COTTON MAY BE TAKEN UP ANY TIME

New instructions received by S. A. Palmer, emergency agricultural agent for Brown county in charge of cotton acreage reduction, show that farmers who take options on government cotton under the acreage reduction plan may exercise their option at any time.

Previous information indicated that the Secretary of Agriculture would have the authority to say when such cotton should be sold.

The option cotton will be taken by farmers who choose to accept part payment on their land at the time it is plowed under in the campaign to raise the market. The amount so taken will be based on the number of bales the plowed under land would have produced, under the five-year average production.

Mr. Palmer received specimen contracts for the farmers to sign in taking options on government cotton. The contract is nontransferable and expires May 1, 1934, unless exercised before then. The option must be exercised in full. The contract carries a form for giving notice to the agricultural adjustment administration designating the date on which the option is to be exercised.

If the farmer designates a date prior to December 1, the Secretary of Agriculture may postpone compliance with the notice until a price of not less than 9 1/2¢ a pound can be obtained for cotton covered by all like options.

After the option is exercised, the Secretary will pay to the producer the difference between 6¢ a pound and the price at which the cotton is sold. Special provisions are made for farmers who buy spot cotton and those who buy future contracts, the margin available being generally similar in both. In neither case will the Secretary make any deduction for carrying charges, brokerage fees or other expenses.

The milk must be delivered to the plant in Comanche by 10:30 a. m. daily, the committee learned. Tentative plans call for the assembling of milk in Brownwood at 8 a. m. daily, to be trucked to Comanche. A central assembling plant must be established here, where the milk can be left by dairymen, and where empty cans can be picked up.

It is not necessary that the milk be cooled before being delivered to the cheese plant. The only requirement is that it be delivered sweet, and be delivered to Comanche every morning.

Dairymen who discussed the matter this week felt that the plan offers an opportunity badly needed by farmers of this county to dispose of surplus milk and possibly points the way to improvement in the dairying business.

All farmers who have milk to sell, regardless of the amount of their production, are urged to be present at the meeting Saturday.

Processing Tax To Mean Money For Wheat Crop

An extra 20 cents per bushel is in store this fall for Texas wheat growers for that part of their crop that goes into domestic human consumption in the United States if the domestic allotment plan of the Agricultural Adjustment Act works out satisfactorily, says O. B. Martin, director of Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Returning from a regional wheat conference for representatives of nine southwestern states last week he pointed out that it is the firm intention of the administration to force wheat prices up to a parity with the general price level through distribution of a 30-cent per bushel processing tax proclaimed effective July 8th by the secretary of agriculture.

CHESTER HARRISON C OF C SECRETARY

Chester Harrison, who has been serving several months as acting secretary of the Brownwood chamber of commerce, was elected secretary of the organization at the weekly luncheon of the directors Wednesday. Mr. Harrison accepted on a half-time basis.

Mr. Harrison has been serving as secretary without pay since March and refused at the meeting Wednesday to accept payment for this work. He stated that at any time the directors desired to elect a full-time permanent secretary, he would resign.

Quiet Fourth Was Observed Locally

Absence of any local program made July 4th a quiet day in Brownwood. Many from Brown county attended the festivities at Brady, while smaller numbers went to Cisco and to the big rodeo at Stamford, where the largest crowd in the history of the annual event was present.

Brownwood stores were closed generally throughout the day.

DAIRYMEN CALL MEETING TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR SELLING SURPLUS MILK TO NEW PLANT

All dairy farmers in Brown county are called to meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Court House in Brownwood to discuss the new market for milk afforded by the opening of a cheese factory last week at Comanche. The call was issued by a committee of local dairymen composed of J. R. Shelton, Earl Foster and E. J. Hood, who visited the Comanche plant Wednesday.

The committee found the Comanche cheese factory anxious to secure all the milk that can be supplied by Brown county farmers and dairymen, and willing to pay a price higher than afforded by the local market.

The cheese plant is being operated by Armour & Company, and is under the direction of Earl Major, manager. Although put into operation only last week, the plant is consuming from 10,000 to 15,000 pounds of milk daily, and has a capacity of 40,000 pounds. It is amply able to take care of all milk supplied by Brown county and affords a ready cash market for such milk.

Payment for the milk will be made on the basis of 25 cents per pound butter fat at present, members of the committee reported. This is considerably higher than is being received on the local market. Brownwood quotations this week were 18 cents per pound butter fat.

It is necessary, however, that dairymen and farmers in this county get together and perfect plans for getting the milk to the Comanche plant daily, members of the committee pointed out, and it is for this purpose that the meeting Saturday is to be held.

The milk must be delivered to the plant in Comanche by 10:30 a. m. daily, the committee learned. Tentative plans call for the assembling of milk in Brownwood at 8 a. m. daily, to be trucked to Comanche. A central assembling plant must be established here, where the milk can be left by dairymen, and where empty cans can be picked up.

It is not necessary that the milk be cooled before being delivered to the cheese plant. The only requirement is that it be delivered sweet, and be delivered to Comanche every morning.

Dairymen who discussed the matter this week felt that the plan offers an opportunity badly needed by farmers of this county to dispose of surplus milk and possibly points the way to improvement in the dairying business.

All farmers who have milk to sell, regardless of the amount of their production, are urged to be present at the meeting Saturday.

SPLIT TAXES HAVE BECOME PAST DUE

Final payments on split taxes became delinquent July 1, and final half payments now carry the 10 percent delinquent penalty, plus interest. Split taxes were due by those who last year paid half their taxes prior to December 1, with the intention of paying the remaining half by June 30.

The legislature placed the split tax payer in a peculiar position, in that he is penalized heavily for making part payment, provided he failed to make final when due. Under the law, all delinquent taxes carry the 10 per cent penalty. The last legislature, however, reduced the penalty from 10 per cent to 1 per cent on all taxes delinquent at that time.

The second payment of split taxes was not then due, so does not come under the provisions of the new law. The effect is that if a taxpayer's entire 1932 taxes are delinquent now, he may pay them with only 1 per cent penalty; if only half his taxes are due, he must pay a 10 per cent penalty when paying them.

Endorsement For Texas Centennial Is Being Secured

Brown county's quota of 4,500 signatures to petitions endorsing the Texas Centennial for 1936 will have been secured within the next few weeks, with many signers to spare, according to O. H. Turner, post adjutant. Work of securing signatures will not be stopped when the quota is reached, but efforts of the legionnaires will be continued until the largest possible number of people have been seen.

Several members of the post have set quotas of 1,000 for themselves, and at least one member has secured this number of signers, Turner stated. Others have not made final reports, but one local member has turned in his petition with more than 1,000 names attached.

Enthusiastic response is greeting members circulating the petitions, indicating a strong local interest in the statewide celebration of Texas' 100th birthday.

Reports of the committees circulating the petitions will be heard at the regular Legion meeting Friday night.

Costly Laws

The past session of the legislature paid too much attention to new methods of raising taxes; too little to lowering governmental expenses.

When it comes to cutting out a department, eliminating a bureau, reducing school or departmental expense, the legislature is unable or unwilling to resist the onslaught of the interested minorities vitally affected by the reductions.

In fact, the legislature itself set a bad precedent when it was unwilling to withstand a reduction in the pay of its own members.

Here are the figures as compiled by the Texas Tax Journal: "The Texas Legislature is composed of 150 members of the House of Representatives and 21 senators, total 181 members."

Newspaper Values

Manufacturers and wholesalers generally appreciate the value of newspaper advertising above all other forms.

"The value of your local newspaper to the success of your business cannot be overestimated. It's worth all the support and cooperation you can give it, for the newspaper is a mirror reflecting the life of the community in which you and your store have an important part."

Too Much Business

A little notice on the front page of the June 30 issue of the Rosebud News, published over in that thriving little city in Falls county, was reminiscent of war-time conditions, when a short supply of news-print paper, and a large supply of advertising caused every newspaper publisher to be torn between the desire to print all the advertising he could, and at the same time give his readers the news they were clamoring for.

The notice said that the volume of advertising contained in that issue sue of the News made it necessary that a number of important news items and editorials be omitted from that issue, and the indulgence of the readers of the paper is asked.

The proportion of advertising to reading matter in most newspapers during the past year has been so small that it would be a hard-hearted group of readers, indeed, that would not be indulgent with a harassed editor who for one week at least finds it necessary to omit a few news items.

May there be many such weeks ahead for the Rosebud News.

A Quiet Fourth

It's a bit discouraging to an enthusiastic citizen of Brown county to see so many people leaving this favored section of the earth to do their Fourth of July celebrating, and incidentally spending their Fourth of July money in nearby cities.

Brownwood is the largest city in a radius of at least 90 miles, and is the natural trade territory for this sizeable section. It also, with little effort, could be the natural entertainment section, for it is favored with entertainment possibilities not equalled in those cities that draw from Brownwood each year.

With the development of Lake Brownwood as a resort, this movement of patriotic pleasure seekers might be reversed, and in a few more seasons we might see the crowds coming to Brownwood instead of leaving.

We like a quiet Fourth. But not too quiet. And some day we hope to see something that approaches a revival of Gun Club Park, some water sports at the Lake, maybe some 32 racing events, or whatever it takes to bring the roving crowds this direction—the way they really want to be going, anyway.

Out of a Job

B. F. Williams was dismissed by Governor Ferguson as State Reclamation Engineer, after a number of years of faithful service, which causes The Dallas News to bemoan Fergusonian policies with regard to replacement of state officials.

If memory serves right, it was Thomas Jefferson who adopted the now accepted policy of replacement of office holders not in sympathy with the new administration, and who theoretically, at least, are out of sympathy with the majority of the voters.

The Dallas News did not see fit to offer criticism when the United States District Attorney for the Northern District of Texas, presumably an able and efficient officer, received a curt note from Washington that his resignation would be acceptable, although the district attorney's term of office had many months to run.

In this instance, it probably is cause for regret that Texas loses an efficient reclamation engineer. But it is our system of government that is at fault and that should be criticized, if criticism be due, and not the present administrator of that system.

THEY CAN'T SPELL

It is reported that among 298 young men and women who took a civil service examination in New York recently all but three failed in spelling.

This is not surprising to those who have had occasion to observe the spelling of the average high school graduate, or even that of some college men and women.

Why our schools do not give more attention to spelling is an unsolved mystery. Hundreds of hours are devoted to subjects which a pupil never thinks of after leaving school, yet the art of spelling, which must be practiced every day of his life, is given scanty consideration.

Perhaps it is thought that every one should be permitted to develop originality. If so, the plan works well. Few show greater originality in any respect than in spelling.

BETTER BUYING VITAL

Better business will bring better buying. Let's help the good work along. If those to whom money is owing are too insistent upon the payment of old debts by those who have newly won employment, the money will not flow in the directions which will help business the most.

Those who have been without work have many needs. They must have new clothes for themselves, for their children. They need many necessities. If they are allowed to buy them, the demand they create will give work to other persons, who need things as badly.

It is not a time when emphasis should be placed too rigidly upon capital payments. The honesty of the debtor and his ability and willingness to make interest payment are the factors which deserve scrutiny.

NEWSPAPER ADS RISE 20% WHILE RADIO DECLINES 39%

An increase of 20 per cent in newspaper advertising lineage during April, bringing it within 15 per cent of last year's level, was cited by the Commerce department recently in its survey of current business as evidence of improved business conditions.

"Advertising lineage increased seasonally in April," said the department. "The expansion in magazine lineage amounted to 7 per cent and was the fourth consecutive month to register a gain. Newspaper advertising increased 20 per cent and brought the current level to a point 15 per cent below the same month a year ago."

BREADFUL JOBS.

Few men past forty are so lucky that they have never known the distress of unemployment. Even though they may not have lacked for bread and meat and the pinch has not left them without coats to their backs or shoes to their feet, there has been, nevertheless, the unhappy mind. They are rudderless, drifting at large on the sea of fortune under an unbroken expanse of gray, threatening cloud.

But, for all the heavy heart, brings with us, the bitter waking of mornings with no regular objective for the day's occupation, perhaps G. K. Chesterton is right when, in a recent essay, he speaks of "the more subtle horrors of employment." For there are jobs so repugnant in their nature, with hours so long and hard under the grinding taskmasters, that the lot of a slave looks bright by contrast.

Far better the open road and vagabondage and the wind in the clearing. But for most so situated this alternative is out of the question. To quit the irksome toll is not to be thought of, for there are little mouths to feed, little bodies to clothe, and a weary wife to comfort. There is no other course but to carry on, oppressed with the brooding terror that is ever present at midnight and noonday, of being laid off.

The sweetness of the labor a man delights in is compensation for many things, and, contrariwise, nothing is so bitter, so without hope, as to have the capacity for doing good work and be obliged to earn a bare livelihood at tasks for which one has neither natural aptitude nor training—doomed to be a lifelong misfit and bungler.

There are men who start in life thus handicapped, men like the late Theodore Vail, who, by a happy turn of fortune, get out of the rut and find a wide field for the exercise of their genius. The best lot a man can ask for in this world is to have plenty of work at a trade or profession into which he can put all his mind and heart.—Boston Transcript.

TEXAS FARM NEWS

Houston—They bathed, dressed, cooked, canned and made ice cream in the kitchen at the home of Doris Pledger, age 11, Allef Community, Harris county 4-H club girl, until about a month ago. Now Doris has the prize bedroom for 1933 in Harris county and the kitchen is what a kitchen is supposed to be, with a brand new bathroom in the home and other improvements in keeping with the improved bedroom.

The west side of the Pledger home, says Miss Opal Roberson, home demonstration agent, was one big room, ceiling-less, paperless and otherwise unfinished when Doris decided to be bedroom demonstrator for her club. "The roof leaked like a sifter," she writes in her story, until it was repaired and this bare stretch of walls was transformed into a bedroom for her, one for her mother, and a bathroom between them.

Gonzales—A remarkable record of raising 97% of a flock of 900 baby turkeys to the age of 8 weeks has been made by Oscar DuBose of Gonzales in a demonstration with J. M. Saunders, county agent. The semi-confinement method of sanitation was followed. Hens were confined in movable coops and the coops moved to new ground at least twice weekly.

Canyon—Lack of money should not keep one from having a beautiful bedroom, according to Mrs. George Hardman, Randall county farm woman who has improved her room at no cost at all. As demonstrator in bedroom improvement for the Edgetown Home Demonstration Club she traded an old discarded oil stove for a dresser and made several hooked rugs from old dresses, coats, sweaters and hose that were too worn for any other use.

Groesbeck—Canning kitchens for helping Limestone county families who do not have canning equipment at home have been established in Groesbeck, Mexia and Kosse. Those who do not have cans do the work and leave half the product in payment for the cans. More than 1200 containers of food were put up at the Mexia kitchen the first week it was open, according to Miss Cora Kirkman, home demonstration agent.

Kenedy—One of the 1904 cotton demonstrators of Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, founder of Extension Work, is still demonstrating the worth of good agricultural practices for his community. Robert Burns, Karnes county farmer, seeded 12 acres of alfalfa in 1929 and is showing that alfalfa will produce profitably on average dry land of the county. This spring one crop has been grazed off by dairy cows and a second crop is about ready to cut, according to H. C. Robinson, county agent. Mr. Burns has a 90 per cent stand of alfalfa in spite of much droughty weather the last four years. He grinds the hay and mixes it with other feed for work stock and cows, thereby saving a considerable cottonseed meal bill.

Mineral Wells—Because mesquite trees on pasture ranges in Palo Pinto county hinder the growth of the best pasture grasses under and around them, 23 ranchers and farmers are cooperating with J. H. Jameson, county agent, in killing mesquite by spraying under pressure the bottom two feet of the trunks with cheap kerosene. Cost ranges from 17 1/2 cents per acre to $1.27 per acre, and the kill reported two weeks after spraying runs from 70 per cent to 100 per cent.

Dublin—The May experience of five 4-H dairy club boys of Erath county points to a better outlook for dairy farmers, states Mark Buckingham, county agent. Improved pastures and butterfat 5 cents per pound higher than a year ago enabled these lads to average a profit above feed and pasture cost of $6.37 per cow for the month. Production averaged 48 pounds of butterfat per cow, with 88 gallons of skim milk per cow which the boys fed to calves, pigs and chickens. Home-grown feed was used.

Canton—With less than one-third of Van Zandt county farmers killing enough hogs for family use, and with corn yields averaging 7 to 11 bushels per acre, the county council of agriculture cooperating with W. D. Seals, county agent, has undertaken a program of demonstrations to increase the meat supply and evade a feed shortage. More than 1000 farmers are cooperating with the council in this work, among whom are 683 who borrowed from Federal funds this year.

So successful is the move that dealers reported it difficult to keep supplies of sudan grass and peanut seed this spring, says Mr. Seals. Demonstrations stress peanuts, grain sorghums, cowpeas and sudan grass for summer and fall feed and pasture, and oats or other small grains for winter pasture. Farmers also plan to use surplus squash, melon and similar crops as summer hog feed, and to hog down peanuts and sweet potatoes in the fall to lighten the drain on the corn crop.

Plainview—The prevailing winds of the Plains do more than just turn a windmill for J. W. Williams, farmer living near Hale Center who has converted wind energy into electricity on his farm with an improvised system that is giving good results.

Using an old generator from a worn out car, and a propeller of two blades made from a board 2 by 10 by 10 feet long; all of which he mounted on the top of an iron pipe, Mr. Williams is securing sufficient electrical energy to keep his 32 volt batteries fully charged at all times, and has electric cur-

WOMEN DO MOST BUYING.

Long before women got the ballot their influence in state matters was large. The official lives of some of the world's greatest men have been influenced by women. Today women are taking a much greater part in government and in business. It is estimated that 75 to 90 per cent of all retail buying in this country is done by them.

Some may argue that while women do buy food, clothing and the like, their influence does not extend further in manufacturing and business. Makers of many other products know differently. Take the household washing machine for example. Those of even ten years ago were ugly, clumsy and inefficient compared to those of today. Women became tired of the unattractive old models, demanded machines that would help enrich and beautify their homes, and the manufacturers quickly took the hint.

Consequently, today's washers are sleek and efficient, made in glistening enamels and shiny metals, easily rubbed bright and clean. They do their work quickly, easily, economically, of course.

Modern woman's influence on manufacturing through her buying power is something that dealers, too, should heed. Women buy most readily from the dealers who most convincingly show how the things they sell will fill real needs in the homes, save money, time and labor.

Potatoes kept well in log potato dry kilns built last summer by Jasper county farmers, and the county agent plans the building of 12 more demonstration kilns this season. Several farmers are now finding these houses very satisfactory for storing Irish potatoes.

The whole system was set up and constructed on his place with the exception of re-winding the generator which was done by an automobile electrician in a local garage.

The plant has worked efficiently during the few months it has been in operation and he has had no expense in operation or upkeep. A slight breeze is all that is required to generate a good current, and the batteries are easy to charge. It is only necessary to charge the batteries a day or so at a time to get them back into shape and then the generator is turned off.

Childress—A rat killing campaign that 362 Childress county farmers report has rid them of more than 100 rats per farm is estimated to have saved a loss of $1810 worth of feed, according to V. E. Mafer, county agent. Red squill as recommended by the U. S. Biological Survey was used at a total cost to farmers of $90.50, or an average cost per farm of 25 cents.

Sure Way To Get Rid of Fleahopper

A reader of the Banner-Bulletin has forwarded the following item from a Temple newspaper with the request that our readers be given benefit of the advice contained:

There's one sure way to keep the cotton fleahopper out of your cotton, J. H. B. Gunn of Troy tells the farmers of this section who are bothered with the pest.

The remedy is to plant four rows of kaffir around the field. The reason Mr. Gunn knows it's a remedy is that it worked for him. Here's his story:

Back in 1902, when he was living in Comanche county, western Oklahoma, a 45-acre cotton field was destroyed three times in one spring.

A couple of cowboys came thru from western Kansas and told him of a sure cure. They said they'd never seen any grasshopper that could get through four rows of kaffir. Mr. Gunn tried it. He had another bit of the bitterness of the kaffir explains, evidently the fleahoppers had gotten into the cotton patch.

Because they destroyed the programs, Mrs. Gunn died of Plint, Mich. terminated by her mother, Moore.

Jelly-Making

Rules Given For Benefit of Returning June Brides.

Getting off to a good start in married life depends, in some measure, upon getting off to a good start in the kitchen—or kitchenette, as the case may be. For that reason the category of What Every Bride Should Know ought to contain the item—how to make jellies and jams of the gorgeous fruits that are ripe now while she's getting her first household in order.

Simple Task.

One of the chief reasons why the bride should know how to make a batch of jelly is that there is no longer any excuse why she should not. Jelly making stepped out of the ranks of arduous tasks long ago. Today it's one of the simpler sink-and-range undertakings. Actually, in 15 minutes after the fruit is prepared, the bride can pour a lovely stream of jelly into wide-mouthed glasses or ladle a thick, delicious jam into jars. That is, if she knows modern methods—There is absolutely no reason for suffering the chagrin of having her first batch of jelly a failure—not even when the bride is a novice at the art. Fully ripe fruit and bottled fruit pectin to insure its jellifying are her guarantees of success.

Some recipes that the bride and the more experienced housewife can safely use are given here:

Combination Jam.

4 cups (2 pounds) prepared fruit, 7 cups (3 pounds) sugar, 1-2 bottle certo. To prepare fruit, grind about 1 quart each fully ripe strawberries and blackberries, or crush completely one layer at a time so that each berry is reduced to a pulp. Combine fruits. Measure sugar and prepare fruit into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire and stir in Certo. Then stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 10 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Red Currant Jelly.

5 cups (2 1-4 pounds) juice, 7 cups (3 pounds) sugar, 1-2 bottle Certo. With black currants, crush about three pounds fully ripe fruit; add 3 cups water. With red currants, crush about 4 pounds fully ripe fruit; add 1 cup water. To prepare juice, bring mixture to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add Certo stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1-2 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 glasses (6 fluid ounces each).

Reforestation has begun in Burleson county with 1600 pine trees set out in three demonstrations with the county agent. More than 90 per cent are growing.

American cheese is no longer exclusively a factory product. Using home demonstration methods thousands of Texas farm women are making this dairy product at home. Among them is Mrs. T. Cowan of Lynn county who recently made 28 pounds at an actual cash cost of 50 cents.

The butcher offered him only $15 per head for eight beef calves, but he had been watching his 4-H club girl feed out a calf in a demonstration, so Huzh Frazier of Cottle county put the calves in a pen and fed them the county agent way. After 63 days he sold one of the calves to the same butcher for $30.

Burns Fatal To Julian Malone

Julian W. Malone died Friday, June 30, from burns received two weeks earlier when a gasoline engine upon which he was working exploded. Mr. Malone was working on the engine, located in a well from which water was pumped to irrigate his truck farm. Fumes from the engine became ignited and the subsequent explosion threw burning gasoline over him, severely burning his face and body.

He was immediately taken to a hospital and given the best of medical attention, but was unable to survive. Mr. Malone was 29 years of age at the time of his death. He was the son of the late John W. Malone and Mrs. Malone, pioneer Brownwood citizens. He was born in Brownwood January 21, 1904, and had made his home here all his life, having been educated in the public schools and Daniel Baker College.

Funeral services were held from the home of his mother, Mrs. J. W. Malone, 606 Coggin Avenue, with Rev. J. N. Renfro, pastor of the First Methodist church, presiding. Interment was in Greenleaf cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, two children, June and John B., his mother, Mrs. J. W. Malone; two sisters, Miss Mayesie Malone, Brown county home demonstration agent, and Mrs. C. A. Lindsey, and two brothers, Robert Malone and Miles Malone, all of Brownwood.

Orange Juice Aids Child Health.

Children suffer more during the intense heat of the summer months than their parents sometimes realize. Every precaution should be taken to keep the child from losing weight and vitality. Orange juice is a mid-meal lunch that is especially recommended for children since experiments have shown it to be healthful in promoting a weight gain in children.

These fruit juices, moreover, may be combined with other fruit juices, with eggs, or with milk, in many delicious beverages easy and economical to make at home—for example: Orange foam (serves 1) 6 tablespoons orange juice, 6 tablespoons milk or 4 tablespoons evaporated milk, 6 tablespoons cold water, 1 teaspoon sugar. Beat and shake well in a glass jar. Serve at once in a large glass. Variation: omit 3 tablespoons of water and add 1 scoop of ice cream.

Frizzy lemonade (serves 1) 1 lemon, 2 to 3 tablespoons of sugar, 1-2 cup cold water, 1-2 cup of charged water. Slice of lemon for garnish. Mix lemon juice, sugar and water. Serve at once in tall glass with slice of lemon over rim.

Nothing could be better for your child or more appetizing to the taste than one of the above recipes on a sultry July day—try one and see for yourself. To put his name before every housewife as candidate for city commissioner, Lew Hurtig of Spokane, Wash., had it stamped on 12,000 eggs.

A hog shipping association in Hockley county shipped 396 head for its members in May at prices estimated to have made owners about $390 extra for the cooperative effort. George Bakke of Grand Forks, N. D., told police he couldn't attend graduation at Northwestern University because a thief stole his cap and gown.

Surviving children are: M. R. Lynch, Mrs. J. H. Sides and Mrs. T. H. Ward, all of Blanket, and Mrs. J. B. Thompson of Seminole, Oklahoma; three brothers, J. M. Powell, Ves Powell and J. P. Powell, all of Menard, and one sister, Mrs. J. W. Bradford, of Menard.

Upon coming to this country, he engaged in the ranching and farming business, and later was in the mercantile business.

How To Enjoy Your Vacation

Vacation days are here again bringing a desire to get away from the daily grind and a longing for a change of scene. Pleasure without regrets is a goal to strive for, and for this reason the Texas State Department of Health urges you to consider the following suggestions in planning your vacation:

First, pick a spot new to you if possible, where you can see new scenes, enjoy new activities, where you may act and dress as you please and, above all, be carefree. Make up your mind to leave all your troubles behind. Second, make sure that the place selected is right from a sanitary standpoint. Be sure that the water, milk and food is clean and pure.

Third, before you leave home you should consider the advisability of being protected against typhoid fever. This protection can be secured through inoculation with typhoid vaccine. Fourth, when you start on your vacation, change your regular habits gradually. If you take little outdoor exercise during the year, make this your change. Do not try to set a record the first day but increase your exercise gradually.

If your purse will not permit you to go to a summer resort this year, make up your mind that you will get a real vacation at home. Plan your days as you would were you miles away; sleep a little longer in the morning, read your newspaper in bed. Get out in the morning sunshine, do your exercising, preferably in the morning before the sun is too hot. Relax in the afternoon, get a good book, a quiet spot, and forget that you have anything more important to do than relax and read the book. Vary your activities each day. You can benefit just as much by this kind of a vacation as you could if you went away.

James Corwith of Duluth, Minn., applied for an injunction to stop his wife from talking but his plea was turned down.

IRONING CURTAINS

A housewife writes that she has discovered a new and satisfactory way to iron curtains. She says: "Fold the curtain lengthwise, but not through the exact center—about four inches more on one side. Then iron almost up to the center, but not to make a crease. Fold the curtain exactly and iron the other side without ironing over the middle to make a crease. There you have a curtain without a crease and it will hang straight. I iron all my curtains this way."

GRAIN PRICES MOUNT TO NEW HIGH FIGURE

Sweltering heat, a short crop, and the government's new processing tax combined this week to send grain prices to new high figures on the local market. The higher prices paid this week brought considerable grain to local markets, and the Brown county crop now generally is being marketed as soon as harvested. Harvesting is continuing throughout the county, and will be completed in a short time.

Prices quoted Thursday, July 6, by Austin Mill & Grain Company showed a 6 cent increase for wheat during the week. No. 1 milling wheat was quoted at 86 cents, as compared with 80 cents of last week. This represents a 26 cent increase in the past three weeks in the local wheat price. The Banner-Bulletin of June 15, 1933, shows wheat was quoted on the local market that day at 60 cents.

No. 1 Durum was quoted Thursday at 80 cents, an increase of 5 cents over last week, and an increase of 25 cents over the 55 cent price quoted June 15. No. 2 red oats is selling today for 42 cents, an increase during the week of 4 cents, and No. 2 barley took a 10 cent rise to 50 cents. Barley has nearly doubled in value in the three-week period, having been quoted at 28 cents on June 15.

Death Takes J. M. Radford

He awoke during the night, complained of a pain in his chest, and asked his wife to get him a glass of water. While drinking the water, he dropped over dead.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in Abilene. L. W. Beavers, manager of the local branch of the large wholesale grocery house, and Mrs. Beavers, together with other employees, attended the funeral.
