HERE IS WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU:

3. Your account is paid in full in case of death.
4. Your account is paid in full in case merchandise is lost by fire, tornado, or other hazards.

This is real protection, isn't it?

CLUB NEWS -- We Want It!

Clubs which have disbanded for the summer months are resuming their meeting dates with the coming of September and new officers are assuming their respective duties. We welcome all new and old reporters to our staff of news helpers whether club representatives or reporters of school activities.

Through our society pages we hope to serve and please as many as possible. Due to our limited space and mailing schedule it is necessary that copy be submitted as early as possible as all press runs must be finished Wednesday afternoon.

"Deadlines are an aggravation and go against the grain with all of us but are a necessity in many lines of business —NEWSPAPER included! Reports of meetings Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays are due the following Monday. Reports of Monday gatherings are due Tuesday and those of Tuesday should be reported as early Wednesday morning as possible. Late reports will not be carried the next week; first because few like to read old news and second because available space is filled with current news and events to come.

We will appreciate your continued cooperation as in the past and hope, with your help, to publish a society page you will be proud of and enjoy reading. Phone 418.

Texas Crop Report

Texas Dept. of Agriculture

Some 26.1 million acres of Texas land have been put into crops for harvest this year—more than any year since 1949.

Texas farmers had to shift a large number of acres of land to other crops to offset restrictions on cotton and wheat plantings this season but the crop land is still about three million acres above the twenty-three million finally harvested in 1953. Reductions in cotton and wheat were exceeded by a record acreage of sorghums. Plantings of corn, oats, barley, rice, sweet potatoes, and hay crops also were increased.

The 1954 season got off to a slow start in central, southern and southeastern counties. This was due to delayed planting, irregular germination and slow early growth brought on by critically dry conditions. The plains area and South Texas have been relieved by some rain.

Cotton in cultivation early in July was estimated at eight million acres or sixteen percent less than the 9,568,000 acres last year. Acreage allotment restrictions accounts for some of the reduction and the extreme drought is another factor.

Wheat production is estimated at 31,180,000 bushels with a final figure due soon. Last year's crop was 23,035,000 bushels. The 10-year average is 56,221,000 bushels.

Most recent estimate on all sorghum acreage for harvest as grain and forage was 8,661,000 acres—about 65 percent above the 5,240,000 acres harvest last year. This is the largest acreage on record and some 31 percent above the long-term average.

First forecast of corn for the season placed this year's crop at 38,448,000 bushels which would compare with 33,874,000 bushels last year. The 10-year average is 51,266,000.

Oats production may reach 42,412,000 bushels, topping 1953's 39,150,000 bushels and far exceeding the 10-year average of 26,309,000.

Rice acreage estimated at 620,000 is a record high.

Prospective sweet potato production is at 2,475,000 bushels or three percent below 1953. Irish potatoes are predicted at 2,160,000 bushels, 13 percent below last year's 2,484,000 bushels.

Peanuts are growing on about 364,000 acres, some 6 percent more than last season.

Miss Merlene Ivey spent the last week with her sister, Mrs. Bonnie Hatfield at Masterson, Texas.

Veterans' News

Post-Korea veterans now have three years from the date of their discharge to start Korea GI Bill training under a new law signed by the President August 20, 1954, Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Lubbock, Texas, announced today.

Particularly benefited are the majority of veterans discharged before August 20, 1952. Under the old law, they had to start training before last Friday, August 20, 1954; but, since most fall school terms begin after that date, those unable to get in training before the deadline would have lost their entitlement, Sisson stated. The new law, which re-established their entitlement for another year from separation, permits those with extended deadlines to enroll for the fall term this year.

For veterans discharged after August 20, 1952, the new law allows them to start training within three years of their separation date. Under the old law, they had only two years.

But veterans separated before August 20, 1951, still will not be able to make fall terms. Neither will veterans separated shortly after that date, whose three-year deadlines end before the 1954 school year begins.

Today's new law also adds another year to the wind-up of the Korean GI Bill training program. Training now must come to an end within eight years from the date of a veterans separation, or eight years from the end of the present emergency — whichever comes first.

Another section of the law benefits some disabled veterans who have not been able to begin or complete training under Public Law 16, a special vocational training program for the disabled of World War II and Korea. These veterans get a four-year extension in their deadline for completing training.

Veterans desiring further information should contact their nearest Veterans Administration office, Sisson concluded.

The Veterans Administration

Direct Loan Program to aid veterans in the purchase or construction of farmhouses or homes in areas where private financing is not available has been extended and increased, under Public Law 611 signed by the President August 21, 1954, Robert W. Sisson, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office at Lubbock, Texas, announced.

The new statute extends the program until June 30, 1955 and authorizes the Treasury to advance VA up to $150,000,000 in quarterly allotments of $37,500,000 during the fiscal year. The newly authorized funds will be distributed to eligible direct loan areas in quarterly allotments. Veterans already on waiting lists will have first call on funds in their respective areas.

There were 39,000 veterans on the waiting list June 30, 1954, however, VA believes a considerable number of these veterans have made other plans and will not follow through with their direct loan applications when their turns are reached.

During the four years the Direct Loan Program has been in operation, VA has made loans to 49,311 veterans and reserved funds for another 7,536 for a total of more than $430,500,000. Only 90 direct loans have resulted in foreclosure or voluntary conveyance to the Government in lieu of foreclosure. Currently, direct loans bear interest of 4½%.

MY WIFE has a theory about giving gifts. She says you should always give something that you know the recipient would like to have, but would never own unless someone presented it to them as a gift.

I must say that I agree wholeheartedly with this idea. Yet I must raise a strong point of objection. Just how does one go about the matter of deciding what the object is that another person is anxious to have, yet wouldn't spend money to get?

Within the past few months, having observed Father's Day, a birthday and a wedding anniversary, I have been greatly enlightened to discover that I once had secret ambitions to own (1) a portable outdoor grill; (2) a set of lawn chairs; and (3) a pair of bright blue walking shorts.

Now I am confused. Would I have longed for a portable grill had I known that there would be a family rule that no one else in the family would cook on it?

Did I realize how much trouble lawn chairs really are? One must tuck them in and out of the garage a day to protect them from the weather and as often as four times a day should it cloud up and look like rain.

And walking shorts? In Florida, California, New York City or Chicago, maybe, but not in the old home town. Take one step out of the backyard with those knees showing, mister, I just dare you! Taking everything into consideration, however, I guess the little woman is rather smart. Cooking outside the way I do three or four nights a week would get awful boring if I couldn't wear shorts to keep cool.

THE LION'S TALE

By Carl Allmond

The attendance contest was off to a good start Tuesday with 80% of the membership present. The remaining 20% will be notified of a committee meeting held at the club hall this week, in order that they may make up their attendance.

Drennan was back in the groove Tuesday; as part of the program, he introduced four young ladies from Goodnight. Misses Doris Newberry and Elizabeth Smith, accompanied by Miss Lugenia Hubbard, entertained us by singing two numbers. Miss Floy Sutton gave two piano solos. These numbers were enjoyed by the club, and we appreciate the girls coming down on their first school day in Clarendon.

Lion Truitt was more or less responsible for these girls appearing on the program. Drennan asked him to give us a talk, but due to a lack of time to prepare (just all summer) he ran in these girls; no one seemed to care.

However, Truitt did have some welcome news concerning the Junior College. Tuesday, the first day, 112 students registered. Only a few times in the past fifty years has this figure been reached. The membership waked up and applauded that statement. Truitt also informed us that last year the attendance never fell below 90%, and several months it reached 95%. He expressed his appreciation to the parents for their cooperation, and asked for their continued support in this matter of attendance. Check up and see what YOU have done to help increase the enrollment of the college from an average of 60 students to 112 in one year. If you haven't done anything, we will wager Truitt will have some ready suggestions. "Thar's gold in them thar hills."

As an after-thought—wish we had some one to push the re-opening of the hospital as Truitt and our school board have the school system.

We had two members just in from Raton, La Mesa Park, that is, Tunney Kent was dragging around complaining about everything; his eyes were baggy, his hair was fuzzy, the food wasn't good, and even ole Jim seemed to be 'in mourning. Maurice Hart had a fresh shave, hair well groomed, white shirt and bow tie, and a glad word for every one. Sure was hard to tell who had won and who lost.

Guests for Tuesday were Kenneth Vaughn, Harper Scoggins of Borger, Pat Slavin, and Bill Cushing. Two new reinstatements, Lee Bell and Curtis Mears; that's four reinstatements in the past month. Sure wish we could get to 112 again.

BUTANE DEALERS SCHOOL AT LUBBOCK SEPT. 13

Butane dealers from a wide area of the Plains section, according to Ray J. Noblitt of Noblitt Sale Co. here will go to Lubbock on September 13 to attend the second annual session of the Plains Butane Management Institute. They expect to spend four days there attending sessions of the institute which is a training school for butane dealers.

This school, according to Mr. Noblitt, is operated by the Texas Butane Dealers Association, of which his firm is a member. It is a unit of the Association's Management Institute, now in its sixth year, which until last year held a single annual session in Austin. The plains unit was established, Mr. Noblitt said, because many dealers of this section were unable to attend the Austin sessions which are held in the spring.

Miss Joan Thompson of Dallas spent the week end here with her father, L. E. Thompson and other relatives.

Joe Bownds and Glenn Adkins spent the week end fishing at Lake Buchanan near Lampassas, Texas.

LIBRARY NOTES

By May L. Prewitt

This week we have filed some new memorial books that are really worth your reading. "Getting to Know God" by John Readhead and "Pattern for Successful Living" by Fred Pierce Carson were given by Mrs. Joe Goldston and Mrs. Harry Brumley in memory of Mrs. Land. Then "You Can Conquer" by Clarence E. McCartney and "The Presidents Men of Faith" by Bliss Isely were given by Mrs. Harry Brumley and Mrs. Joe Goldston in memory of Mrs. Rufus Dawkins. Bliss Isely was twenty-two years collecting the material regarding the Faith of the Presidents. He had given up several times, but his book is complete as it includes Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A number of children have checked in their books, and will not renew their cards until next summer. The girls' books have had considerable usage, and many shall have to be replaced before the next season. Perhaps it will soon be the season for adults to read.

"Forget each kindness that you do as soon as you have done it; Forget the praise that falls to you the moment you have won it; Forget the slander that you hear before you can repeat it; Forget each slight, each spite, each sneer, Wherever you may meet it."

Many of us try to always be thankful and grateful for the every day blessings that we get in this life. For the friends, the kind deeds that are done for us, and most of all for the blessing that come from above which of course includes every good thing in the world. But, sometimes we have to face some trouble, either in our life or in the life of a good friend to really appreciate these things as we should. For instance, we never attend a funeral but what we are made to be thankful for the comfort that comes from His Book. What a terrible occasion this would be if no preacher stood in the pulpit, and no one read from God's Word. This is another test that proves beyond any doubt that in this game of life; "The grave is not it's goal".

Someone has said that: Swearing is an effort of a feeble mind to express itself forcibly.

Uncle Bob sends us this poem:
Again I hear that creaking sound;
He's rapping at my door.
Too well I know the boding sound
That ushers in a bore;
I do not tremble when I meet
The strongest of my foes;
But Heaven defend me from a friend

Who comes, but never goes.
He talks about his fragile health
And tells me of his pains;
He suffers from a score of ills
Of which he ne'er complains;
And how he struggled once with death
To keep the fiend away;
On theme's like this away he goes -
But never goes away. . .

If we would do more and doubt less, we would stew less about more.

My Uncle Fudge would have said; "God may not mind helping us up now and then but I reckon that he may get a mite tired jes' toten some people all the time."

When we grow up, and especially up and out, folks usually comment on our weight, our gray hair, or lack of it, whether we look our age, or more so. But, with the young folks, and more so at about this time of year, our comment to them is usually about school. "How do you like school? What grade are you in, etc.? Guess we ought to have better manners and not force them to talk about this subject so much. I imagine with all the burden of having to study hard to try and be wiser than older folks, it is just plain aggravation to have to answer so many beside the point questions. . . Anyway, forgive us this one more year. . .

"When two men in business always agree, one of them is unnecessary." "Some people are in debt because they spend what their friends think they make." Triumphs and Sidelights Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN — Texas voters, in record-shattering numbers, went to the polls Saturday and re-elected Governor Allan Shivers for an unprecedented third term. Shivers claimed more than 53 per cent of the votes, which totalled higher than 1,460,000.

"I want to continue to be the governor of all Texans. I do not only want but I need the cooperation of every Texan who is interested in the future of Texas. We must go forward together and continue the fight for the rights of all the people of our great state."

"This is a great victory, not only for Allan Shivers, but for Texas. My family and I stand tonight with deepest humility and hearts overflowing with gratitude. This gives us a renewed determination for the future.

"I hope that all Texans will join me in a prayer tomorrow for the welfare of our great state and its wonderful people."

In his statement conceding the race to Shivers, Ralph Yarborough commented:
"We fought a hard, clean fight and we lost."

For Conservatives
Shivers' re-election was a triumph for the conservative Democrats as opposed to the liberal-loyalist faction.

Apparently the Shivers group will be in control of the state Democratic party convention, to be held in Mineral Wells September 14.

Essentially, although there were many issues, the campaign was a continuation of the long-running fight between the conservatives and the liberals.

Liberals vowed to defeat Shivers for his support of President Eisenhower as opposed to Adlai Stevenson.

Brewster Re-elected

Associate Justice Few Brewster was returned to the Texas Supreme Court as the result of his run-off race with Alfred M. Scott of Austin.

Brewster's vote total was about twice that of Scott's.

Drought Aid
Thirty-three additional Texas counties have been named by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson as eligible for federal-state cooperative drought aid.

Naming of the additional number, bringing the eligibility list now to 75, came shortly after state and federal officials announced that "rough spots" in the aid program had been ironed out in a series of conferences.

Counties included in the second eligibility list were okayed after a request by Texas Governor Allan Shivers that they be added.

Schools
Texas schools will open to face last year's problem—a shortage of teachers and school rooms.

Research Director E. L. Galvan of the Texas State Teachers' Association said that although the state stands 47th in the number of teachers with degrees "there is an acute shortage of elementary school teachers."

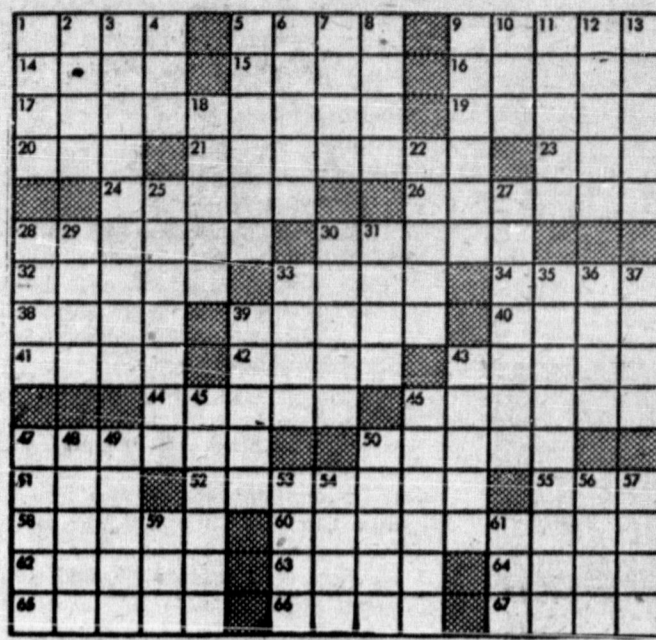

Increases of teachers and classrooms have not been able to keep pace with a rapidly rising state enrollment figure, he said.

Farmers
Central Texas farmers this week completed the election of new committeemen to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for Texas.

The Committee administrators much of federal programs for farmers. New community elections were part of a revision of ASC community personnel as drawn up by the U. S. Agricultural Department.

Humble's new HOUSTON RESEARCH CENTER

... is dedicated to man's impelling curiosity in the search for knowledge and its useful application in the specialized fields of petroleum exploration and production.

Dedicated to Man's Impelling Curiosity

Most of us interpret the value of research in terms of immediate benefits. Research means that we get a better automobile, an improved gasoline, or an outstanding motor oil.

At Baytown Refinery, the Humble Company maintains one of the finest laboratories in the petroleum industry for that kind of research.

But behind the study that goes into the improvement of the products it sells, Humble for years has fostered basic research related to the discovery and production of oil and natural gas.

The United States uses so much oil from day to day, and needs so much more to provide for the emergencies of national defense, that studies leading to the discovery of new supplies and the more efficient management of existing reservoirs are more important than ever before. Consequently, Humble's expenditures on this sort of research are the heaviest in the Company's history and its staff of research scientists is larger than it has ever been.

To house the expansion of these research sections, Humble recently completed its new Research Center at Houston and will formally dedicate it this week end.

Here the scientists of the various departments involved in the discovery and production of oil will utilize common facilities, and here they will have the stimulation of close association with other scientists whose efforts are dedicated to a common end.

ENLISTS IN MARINE CORPS WILLIAM JAMES THOMPSON
 William James Thompson, 19, son of Mrs. Cordie Thompson of Clarendon, has recently enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps. Thompson, who enlisted for four years, was accepted for enlistment recently at the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Amarillo. He is currently undergoing 10 weeks of intensive training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. Thompson's older brother, SSgt. George Parker, is currently home on leave after a tour of duty at Headquarters, Marine Corps, Washington, D. C. Other duty stations included the Fleet Marine Force in Korea and on Embassy duty in Spain. George reports to Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, California for processing with an overseas draft for another tour of duty in the far

DEBT LIMIT:
 The Senate reluctantly agreed to raise the ceiling on the national debt from 275 billion dollars to 281 billion dollars, after Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, fiscal expert and vigorous advocate of governmental economy, urged the increase.

Senator Byrd led the fight last year against the Administration's proposal to increase the debt limit by 15 billion dollars, and I supported his stand. In agreement to a temporary increase—for only one year—the Virginia Senator made it clear that he did so because it was unavoidable to keep the Treasury from breaking through the 275-billion-dollar ceiling between December and March.

ECONOMY NEEDED:
 Senator Byrd urged the Administration to return to its quest for a balanced budget despite the troubled international situation. "This period of international crisis may continue for years," he said. "We must live with it, and we must adapt our financial affairs to it."

The Senator also pointed out that his opposition to a larger and permanent increase in the debt limit was not motivated by any desire to embarrass the Administration. "To the contrary," he said, "the effort to hold the lid on the debt is to strengthen the Administration's hand for economy, leading to the balanced budget which the President sacredly pledged."

Senator Byrd made good hard sense. He usually does.

missioner of the Public Debt show that the national debt is now 18 billion dollars more than it was when the present Administration took over.

In fact, figuring the public debt on the same basis that has been used in the past, it now stands at the highest point in our history.

The present Administration adopted a different method of figuring interest on savings bonds, entering on the books only the current value of the bonds. In the past the debt was figured on the basis of the bonds' maturity value. This is a legitimate bookkeeping method, no doubt, but it may have caused people to believe mistakenly that the national debt has been reduced in the last two years. It hasn't. Incidentally, the only year in which the United States had no public debt was 1836.

ATOMIC ENERGY BILL:
 Along with other Senate Democrats, I felt two vital principles were involved in our refusal to accept the conference committee report on the Atomic Energy Commission bill.

First, this conference report would have seriously impaired the preference rights of REA co-operatives, municipalities and other public bodies to buy public power. Second, it would have nullified the provision for compulsory sharing of patents, which we wanted in order to prevent a few large firms from getting a stranglehold on this important source of energy.

So I voted with 47 other Senators to reject the conference report and return it to the Committee. The Senate amendments finally were accepted by the conference committee and included in the bill as enacted.

SOCIAL SECURITY:
 One of the most important measures acted on in the Senate as this session of Congress neared its end was a bill revising the Social Security system. Social security coverage was extended to some six million additional persons. The President proposed to bring in ten and a half million more, but the Senate

SKILLED LATHE OPERATOR Heinz Kruger of Kaiserslautern, Germany, is one of more than 133,000 Europeans employed by the U.S. Army to support its soldiers on guard against aggression.

excluded some 3,600,000 farm workers and about 400,000 self-employed professional persons.

The bill increases benefits at least $5 a month for single retired persons and as much as $31.25 for some families. Benefits at present range from $25 to $168.75.

Social Security taxes will be increased $12 a year for employees and the same amount for employers. Taxes on self-employed persons coming under the law will increase $18 a year.

Provisions governing the earnings of retired persons were liberalized.

PERSONAL: Barring unforeseen developments, this session of Congress will have ended by the time you read this.

It has been a privilege to bring you these reports during the last eight months. I appreciate the letters so many of you have written me about them. I am grateful to the several hundred newspaper editors who have published the reports regularly in their papers. Thank you -- and I hope to see you soon.

Aug. 20, 1954 OUTLAWING INDIVIDUAL COMMUNISTS

The question: "What is the most effective method of dealing with the communist threat?"

The answer: "By outlawing the individual communists."

The uproar that you read about during the last days of this Congress concerning the outlawing of the Communist Party, actually boiled down to nothing more than a play on words. The entire controversy centered around an amendment offered by Senator Humphrey, of Minnesota, to the bill originally introduced by Senator Butler, of Maryland. Senator Butler's bill was primarily directed at depriving communist infiltrated unions of bargaining rights before the National Labor Relations Board. Senator Humphrey offered an amendment to this Butler bill outlawing the Communist Party and imposing heavy fines for individual membership in that party or any of its affiliates, whether it was going by the name "Communist", or changed to some other name. This quickly passed the Senate, 84 yeas and no nays. This meant that the fat was in the fire. The Communist Party had been outlawed and penalties had been declared against individuals belonging to such party or its affiliates. This was something that the administration had studiously avoided on the theory that to outlaw the Communist Party would mean that its members would go underground and would be much more difficult to catch or watch.

The bill then came to the House where an attempt was made by amendment to outlaw the Communist Party but striking out any penalty against individuals for being members of that party. The overall result of this would have been very little more than a slap on the wrist. The Communist Party would have been denied the right to go into court and do a few other things about which they care very little. Communists are not interested in courts unless they control them, so denying them the right to go into one they did not control would have very little effect as punishment. However, those of us who have long supported outlawing of the Communist Party had no chance to put some teeth in the penalty clauses because of the rules of parliamentary procedure. Therefore, we passed the bill as it was, sent it back to the Senate, and immediately started the machinery to have it properly amended in the Senate. This move was successful, and the Senate amended it, outlawing the individuals as members of the Communist Party and providing a penalty for being a member of that party. My only objection to the penalty in the Senate bill was that it was not strong enough. In any event, the bill came back to the House, and a move was made to have conferees appointed to iron out the differences. At this point Congressman Martin Dies arose and moved that the House instruct its own conferees to accept the provisions put into the bill by the Senate, outlawing the Communist Party and the individuals as members thereof, and creating a penalty. In my opinion, this was the real test vote to determine whether or not you really wanted to outlaw the Communist Party and settle the issue once and for all. The vote on this was 208 for outlawing the members as such and creating a penalty to deal with them, as against 100 who voted against the Dies motion.

The anti-communist drive has been going on since the days of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, who served in the 1920's. That the Communist Party is a criminal conspiracy dedicated to the destruction of the democratic form of government is so widely advertised by the Kremlin itself and so well known to anyone who has had the slightest opportunity to study it, no one denies. However, it has long been argued that to outlaw the Communist Party would be to partially destroy democracy. At first blush this argument might appear to have some merit, but even a surface study of communist intents and purposes reveal that here is a force bent on the enslavement of mankind, wholly void of any sense of fair play, and having not even the slightest regard for any laws, rules or regulations, a force to which a constitution is a contaminated piece of paper. I can think of nothing that can be more of an outlaw under a democratic form of government than the Communist Party and those who make it up. To say that these people as individuals should have the protection of our laws and to exercise the rights of citizens under the constitution of this nation is in my opinion tantamount to saying that beasts of the jungle should be allowed to roam at large among the citizens of this country until such beast decides to devour a man, woman or child, or perhaps all three. If he does eat someone, then he is to be fined or imprisoned for not more than five years, but none of his compatriots are to be molested until they have committed an overt act. The communists in this country who are taking their orders from Moscow are not as good as these so-called beasts of the jungle. Generally, the animal would kill only for the sake of satisfying his appetite. The communist is one who is fatally bent on mischief with a wanton and total disregard for the rights of others, and to whom the end results sought is sufficient to justify any means to which he may decide may be resorted.

One of the first orders of business for the 84th Congress should be to re-insert into the anti-communist bill the teeth that were extracted by a compromise when the bill passed the Congress. This bill does not represent the overwhelming sentiment of the Congress or of the people and will not represent that sentiment until the communist as an individual is outlawed and the punishment provided for violation.

Attention Cattlemen

By WALTER ROGERS
Congressman 18th District

Not long ago, a gentleman came into my office and wanted to discuss Alaska beef producing potentialities with me. He knew I was from Texas, and he saw the Hereford hide on the wall so, no doubt, he concluded that he would have a willing ear. About the time the conversation got started good, the bells rang and I had to leave him in order to get to the House in time for that day's session. He promised to write me a letter about it, and sure enough he did. It is very interesting, and I wish I could put the entire letter in this letter, as I know you cattle people would enjoy it.

This man, his wife and four children, have been growing and marketing farm products since 1942. The father went up in 1941 to Alaska, and the family followed the next year. He tells me that they are meeting with great success and want to expand.

He tells me that there are several islands involved that are warmed by the Japanese current and sheltered by the Alaskan peninsula. That only occasional snowfalls occur and quickly disappear so that the cattle range out and thrive unsheltered in the wild state all the year round. The average winter temperatures are 20° to 42° Fahrenheit, and the average summer temperatures are 35° to 54° F., with 3° F. the coldest recorded and 80° F. the highest recorded. He also says that from July through December, the natural range grasses furnish beef carcasses able to compete with beef shipped in from the states, and that with a minimum of expense, grass silage can be provided to enable furnishing beef fit for market all the year. There is an ample constant flow of fresh water, seaweed on the beaches for salt and mineral, and very little fencing is needed. There are no predators or poisonous weeds on the islands.

The main market centers are Fairbanks, which serves about 37,000 people, and Anchorage, serving about 90,000 people.

He wants to interest some other fellows in this project so that the operations can be measurably expanded and will be glad to go into detail with anyone who might be interested. He will be glad to send full data concerning the weather, soil and grass analysis, market volume and prices, references, etc., or will make a personal visit to discuss the matter in full.

If anyone wants to go into the cattle business in Alaska, I will be glad to give you this man's name and address. I never saw him before he came into my office, but was impressed by his love for cattle and his apparent knowledge of Alaska.
