It was satisfying to hear Saturday that the US Olympic Committee's House of Delegates voted to go along with the President's request to boycott the Moscow Olympics. However we ought to avoid getting too enthusiastic because of the still unsettled matter of a deadline. The understanding is that US athletes will participate if the Soviets get out of Afghanistan by May 20.

Since that kind of whirlwind evacuation seems unlikely, our participation seems equally unlikely. But if Reds should happen to meet the demand they will have made a dramatic start in exploiting the big sports show for its utmost propaganda value.

This situation is complicated somewhat by a statement from Press Secretary Jodie Powell saying that the President authorized him to say there will be no change by May 20, therefore for all practical purposes the vote means that US will not send a team to Moscow. So, it seems the issue isn't quite settled, and if the Soviets get out of Afghanistan before the deadline we can expect a confrontation of the Olympic Committee and the President. Even if the Reds evacuate after the 20th, the Committee will put on pressure to participate. Remember, it was most reluctant to vote for the boycott.

Throughout this hassle we've been hearing sympathy for the athletes. We have to agree with the Olympic Committee that it is a massive let-down to young men and women who have trained and sacrificed for years, and just when they are ready they are deprived of a thrilling experience and a chance for glory. It's not easy on short notice to accept the fact that they are a part of this great nation, and when the chips are down they have to join lots of others in supporting their country. In fact their sacrifice is still small by comparison with the sacrifices of war.

It has been suggested that the disappointment of athletes could be offset to a great extent by promoting another international sports event elsewhere for countries that will join the boycott. It is a great idea which, if started soon, can help many countries make up their minds about the boycott and possibly end in a great success rivaling the Olympics. In fact this show would probably be better than Moscow's. It would not have the cheating and propaganda that features the Red effort to prove Red superiority, nor the handicaps of competing with professionals.

To carry this idea further, it seems like a great idea for the future. It ought to be offered to the world in competition with the Olympics and give countries a choice of having an honest and friendly athletic meet rather than the politically dominated extravaganza.

The sad fact is that the Olympics, like the UN, has come under the influence of Communism. Both organizations started with noble ideals which have deteriorated through the years as the Reds constantly used them in their conquest of world domination. It's high time that the US, as a matter of responsibility to its own people and all of the free world, take up the job of making some changes. It needs to recruit the help of other free countries to get rid of evils that have infiltrated both organizations, otherwise start new organizations with emphasis on freedom, peace and justice.

A familiar slogan tells us to "get US out of the UN, and the UN out of US". It could apply just as well to the Olympics.

Muenster High tennis teams won all of the first places and two of four second places last Thursday in the 14-A district tournament hosted by Pottsboro at Grayson County College. Schools participating were Muenster, Sanger, Celina, Pilot Point and Pottsboro.

The sensational victory qualifies four boys and four girls to participate in regional tennis at Stephenville, the girls playing April 15 through 17 and the boys April 22 through 24. Sanger, second place winner in both boys and girls doubles, will have the remaining entries of this district at the regional.

Numbers 1 and 2 in boys singles were Jim Biffle and Steve Luke. And numbers 1 and 2 of the girls singles were Barbie Wimmer and Carla Walterscheid.

In doubles play Todd Richey and Phil Wolf were the boys' champs, Karen Walterscheid and Brenda Wimmer were the girls' champs.

Congressional Comment

A TASK FORCE to explore the government's efforts to protect farmers from the effects of the Soviet grain embargo has been formed recently and I have been asked to be a member.

The Government Operations Subcommittee on Intergovernmental Relations and Human Resources, which oversees the Department of Agriculture, requested the investigation, which will be headed by Congressman Glenn English of Oklahoma.

Our primary concern will be to look into actions by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, following assurances that farmers would be protected from the kind of market slump which we are experiencing following the embargo.

Wheat producers were told recently that USDA has been instructed by the President to "do whatever was necessary to protect farmers from the (grain export sales) suspension's effect — those actions are working."

Since those remarks, made by the Department of Agriculture, grain prices have dropped dramatically across the country. The Department's failure to act effectively to carry out the President's policy raises serious questions about its operations and efficiency.

Several other congressmen on the House Agriculture Committee and the Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee will be involved in the probe of USDA's actions.

It is important that the commitment that the Administration made to American farmers be met and I hope that our efforts will contribute to a swift solution to the drop in market prices.

YOU MIGHT be interested to know that Texas ranks high on the list of states receiving the most Federal funds — third, in fact. But, when compared on a per capita basis, our ranking in the share of tax monies drops drastically, to the 29th position.

According to the Federal Information Exchange System, Texas received $26.2 million in Federal funds during fiscal year 1979, 5.6 percent of the national total. Only heavily populated California and New York received more.

But on a per capita basis, the District of Columbia received the lion's share — 22 percent of the total, or almost $23,000 per individual.

Texas ranks 41st in the nation in the amount of Federal funds spent for education per student, primarily because our strong state tax base — supported by oil and gas production — carries the burden for education.

But when we look at Federal expenditures in the energy-related area, we find Texas receives only 1.1 percent of the national total, placing us in 22nd position.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The windfall profits tax, even as it was signed into law last week by President Jimmy Carter, caught flak from one more Texan: Attorney General Mark White.

White said he thinks the new law and an old one regulating severance taxes on natural gas are classic examples of bad energy policies. Into that rap he also includes misguided federal funding to study potential oil spills in Alaska.

He's upset because the feds are spending about $20 million a year to study potential offshore oil spills in the frozen north and have not furnished $7 million needed to study the effects of Ixtoc I, the record-setting blowout which blackened Texas beaches for weeks before engineers capped it two weeks ago.

Lump No. 2: White criticized a federal law which prohibits Texas from putting a severance tax on natural gas like the one Montana has on its coal, much to the vexation of many Texans.

This law, and the windfall profits tax, are energy policies heavily weighted against Texas, he said. "If they put a lid on coal mining like this, no one would be mining coal."

Bullock Wins One

The Texas Supreme Court last week upheld State Comptroller Bob Bullock's method for determining utility company franchise taxes.

The decision means an immediate $8.5 million for the state treasury and more in the future.

A Bullock spokesman said the state can now keep some $3 million in taxes paid under protest by five electric power companies who sued to have the revenue returned plus $5.5 million more in back taxes from other companies.

Vice-President Clements?

Governor Bill Clements, a former deputy secretary of defense under Nixon and Ford, said last week he would not accept a cabinet post "of any kind," but left the door open for the veep spot on the Republican ticket.

That's not likely to happen, according to him. "No one has ever talked to me about being a vice-presidential running mate. I'm Rita's (his wife) running mate," he quipped.

No MX Missiles Here

The Governor was serious in his opposition to locating a proposed MX missile system in the Texas Panhandle. The feds are eyeing Texas after officials in two western states protested missile sites in their home states.

Clements said the program requires "a tremendous amount of money" to locate the missiles on huge tracks to avoid pinpoint targeting by foreign enemies.

Clements is basically opposed to the mobile concept of missile installation and said he favors installing the new missiles in existing silos.

Brilab Charges Nearing

Legislators are expecting the federal grand jury to deliver up their indictments in the Brilab investigation sometime after it reconvenes April 28, probably after the May 3 primary election if it indicts central figure House Speaker Bill Clayton. A formal charge on Clayton just before the primary could cause voter sentiment to "throw out" all incumbents in the Legislature, some fear.

Clayton himself is reportedly optimistic he will eventually be cleared, but he is expecting to be indicted. In his opinion, there is too much pressure from the U.S. Justice Department for an indictment.

Those watching the Speaker's race are divided into two camps: the ones who think it has settled into a three-way contest between Gib Lewis of Fort Worth, Bill Carraway of Houston and John Bryant of Dallas — and those who think the one who will be speaker has not emerged.

Speculation — on which way the black legislators vote, on whether the Republicans will splinter or vote in a bloc, and how much of a general turnover of faces following the election — is presently a big part of the speaker's race.

One thing only is sure: most members will not commit until Speaker Clayton is cleared or indicted.

POSSIBLE PUNITIVE GASOLINE TAX

There is a very strange philosophy sweeping the highest echelons of our federal government: the Carter administration and the Congress. That is the belief that the way to solve the energy crisis is with higher taxes. The whole idea revolves around the correct economic understanding that the higher prices are for any commodity, the lower will be the demand. For some strange reason they seem blind to the corollary principle that the higher the prices, the greater will be the supply.

In 1959 some 23 percent of our oil was imported; today we import almost fifty percent. There are several important ramifications of this situation which concern our government leaders. For one thing, billions of dollars leave the country in payment for this oil. But this is really no problem in itself because those billions flow back in purchases of American goods by oil producing nations. Our oil purchases do not contribute to our balance of payments problem for this reason. In order for us to export, we must import. Importing nations buy our goods with the dollars we pay them for their goods. Can we produce a barrel of oil domestically for less than we can import it? If we can we should not import it, but if we can't we should. The only reason we are producing oil in America for less than we can import it is that government regulations and interference in the petroleum marketplace has prevented it and caused us to turn to foreign oil for almost fifty percent of our needs.

The second reason our leaders are concerned about the high level of oil imports is because of the national defense implications. The fear is that in time of war we could be denied vitally needed oil. The Iranian crisis has brought this concern home to nearly everyone.

The causes of concern are real enough, but what the Carter administration wants to do about it would be very harmful: they want to increase the federal tax on gasoline to fifty cents a gallon in order to reduce demand or consumption. If this were the real reason for wanting the tax, all the administration would have to do is remove at once all price controls on gasoline and other petroleum products. It matters not what causes prices to rise, the effect will be the same.

Prices are the devices in the market economy which function to ration scarce resources. When prices are free the demand for a commodity, such as oil, will equalize with the supply of it at the free market price. Consequently, there will be neither shortage nor surplus. Isn't a shortage what we are trying to solve? To solve it, all we need do is remove all price controls immediately.

Why doesn't the federal government take the obvious and correct step to reduce gasoline consumption by permitting prices to rise to their free market level? Well, here are two answers: in an election year not doing so makes it possible to buy the votes of a considerable bloc of the public which has become accustomed to improving their living standards at the expense of others; and, because federal spending has ballooned to such an extent that every possible avenue of revenue must be utilized. The proposed fifty cent per gallon tax on gasoline would bring the big spenders $60 billion a year to buy votes at our expense.

You will remember there has been no proposal to use the income from a windfall profits tax to make a payment on the national debt, or to lighten other taxes. It is marked for new spending, apparently to make more political friends.

LIGNITE COAL.

Saving TP&L customers millions of dollars each year.

In the late 1960's Texas Power & Light Company began reducing its dependence on natural gas and oil by planning and constructing generating plants that use lignite coal as fuel. Lignite is cheaper than gas or oil and it's readily available right here in Texas.

Today, TP&L has eight lignite-fueled generating units in operation and others are under construction.

For TP&L customers, this means that even though the fuel portion of electric bills has increased in recent years, bills would be millions of dollars higher each year if lignite were not being used.

Moreover, TP&L's use of lignite coal is helping reduce our national problem of dependence on foreign oil. Lignite now accounts for more than 50 per cent of the electricity TP&L generates for its customers. And, we plan to use more lignite in the future.

For State Representative
 He needs your vote
 you need his voice.

Dear Fellow Citizens,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many friends I have made in Cooke County for their encouraging and positive response to my candidacy for the State Representative of the 23rd District. Since last fall I have visited every town in Cooke County and the support I have found has been most gratifying.

However, for those I have not met, I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself. I make my home in Howe and have been a lifelong resident of this district. I was raised on a farm and I know the particular problems now facing the farmers, ranchers and dairymen of Texas.

I graduated from Texas A&M with a degree in political science. In 1972 I received my law degree from the University of Texas. I proudly served in the U.S. Army attaining the rank of Captain, a rank which I still hold in the reserves. I have practiced law in Sherman for eight years.

I see this election as one of political contrasts. Politically, I am a Conservative Democrat while my opponent has professed more liberal beliefs. I have never run for political office, therefore I cannot be considered a "professional" politician nor do I want to be. All I want is to represent the people of Cooke County and my District as a fellow citizen and taxpayer.

It is my hope that I can continue the fine representation that my good friend Bill Sullivant has provided for Cooke County during his term in office. I especially want to continue the tax reform movement which Bill started, and plan to see additional legislation of this type placed on the books.

I will do my best to meet as many of you as possible and I wish to again thank all of you for working in my behalf. I will not let you down in Austin.

Sincerely,

Ray F. Grisham

2000 Entries Expected For German Fun Run

An attendance of 2000 is in sight as the 5th annual German Fun Run approaches its D-Day on Sunday, April 27.

Dan Hamric, co-chairman with Rumpy Hess in the big race, said that about 400 entries are on file, indicating good prospects for topping the attendance of near 1400 in 1978 and 1979. The event had about 250 as a start in 1976 and 700 the second year. Contestants normally come in droves from North Texas, including the Metroplex, plus a good representation from neighboring states.

The fun run this year will be held in two separate races, 15 km. and 5 km. The longer race, in men's and ladies divisions, will have nine age groups from under 9 to over 50, and each group of each division will receive trophies for the first three places and medals for the next 3. In addition there will be steins for the first 100 finishers, and lots of free beer and soft drinks for all participants after the race.

Both races will be run on streets and roads in and near Muenster with aid stations and water stops along the way and arrangements to reach medical facilities if necessary.

Michael Lehnertz Dies in Crash

Michael Wayne Lehnertz, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lehnertz of Gainesville and grandson of Mrs. Agnes Lehnertz of Muenster, was killed early Friday morning in a motorcycle accident at California and Dixon Streets in Gainesville.

As told by investigating police the westbound motorcycle driven by Lehnertz collided with a southbound car driven by Eddie Micheal Musick of Gainesville. Apparently no witnesses saw the accident.

Lehnertz was pronounced dead on arrival at Gainesville Memorial Hospital with injuries to his chest and head. Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:
This is in reference to the "Reward" advertisement for finding a lost miniature collie (Shelbie) in last weeks Muenster Enterprise (Friday, April 11 edition).

We want everyone to know she has been found. Misti was returned Friday, April 11 by Jim Yosten of Muenster. A friend of his found Misti on Saturday, April 5 in Saint Jo and sold her to Jim. Jim saw our advertisement in the Muenster Enterprise and called us. Thanks so much to Jim for being concerned and honest enough to return Misti, she means so much to us.

Also, we want to thank the Muenster Enterprise for publishing such a fine advertisement. We had faith that after the paper came out, if someone had found Misti, they would call us. Sincerely, Larry and Mary Gholson Cedar Hill, Texas

Garden Center Bulletin

Canker worms or inch worms are out again. They are stripping the new leaves on Hackberry, Live oak and other trees. They are thin green worms about 1 inch long usually seen hanging from webs. They can be controlled with Sevin or Malathion.

We don't need to tell you about the cutworms in your garden. They're the worst ever this year. Protect your plants from further damage by using a Diazinon (Spectacide) spray on the plant and surrounding soil.

If you haven't fertilized your lawn, it's a good time to do it now. Stop by the GARDEN CENTER for all your fertilizer or spray chemicals.

We are also having a sale on Snapper lawn mowers until the end of April. Stop by for a demonstration of a walk behind or a Snapper Riding Mower. We have many models to choose from.

Two Special Events Enhance Easter Season

The Easter Season in Muenster was enhanced by several events impressive and uniquely beautiful; by traditional Church services; and by the usual number of family reunions and family gatherings associated with the holiday.

Preceding Easter Sunday, on Wednesday, April 2 was the CCD Paschal Meal held in the K.C. Hall at 7 p.m.

Following the holiday, on Easter Monday was the concert of sacred music by the Cooke County Symphony and Chorale and the Cooke County College Chorus directed by Harold Alan Kafer and presented in Sacred Heart Church in Muenster.

The CCD Paschal Meal, or Seder, was hosted by the CCD Commission, the CCD Liturgy Committee and Sister Romana Rohmer, CCD Co-ordinator. It was attended by a number of invited guests including Muenster High School students and teachers.

Participating in the ceremonies preceding the meal were the following: Mrs. Betty Rose Walterscheid, in the role of the traditional Jewish mother who presided at the ceremonial table and lighted the seven-branched candelabra. Also Dan Hamric who traced the history of the Jewish Passover and read from Scripture.

Jerry Stinson offered the traditional Passover Prayers and representatives of the four high school classes presented questions. They were Mark Felderhoff, Carol Klement, Doug Walterscheid and Shelly Zimmerman.

The Invocation was given by Father Stephen Eckart of Sacred Heart Church and the Benediction by Rev. Keith Thomas of Muenster Baptist Church. Father Denis Soerries also attended.

Spiritual selections and special music given by Craig Richey, Sandy Scivally and Gene Wyatt.

The meal was prepared and planned by a large group of volunteers and served by members of the CCD Committee and their spouses to about 150.

Special decorations included a seven-branched candelabra on the head table, also several Easter lilies, 3 white lamb cakes and old fashioned oil lamps.

Guest and student tables were covered in white and centered by a purple band and sprigs of ivy and each was lighted by several oil lamps. Also on each table were the traditional Matzos (unleavened bread) bitter herbs, haroses, greens and salt water.

Additional decorations included a three-dimensional wall banner depicting a sacrificial lamb, a cascade of purple grapes and a sheaf of wheat, designed and made by Mrs. Betty Kleiss and Mrs. Sharon Walterscheid. The theme of the ceremony was "Why Is This Mmes. Dale and Skinner and Mrs. Boyd were co-hostesses for the anniversary and reception, with Open House from 2 to 5 p.m.

The honorees have asked that their friends be told of their great enjoyment of the wonderful day with their children, grandchildren and friends. They received many cards and gifts.

The Boyds moved to Forestburg several years ago and live on the Alvord Highway.

Marilyn Luke Heads Wunderschön (Very beautiful) Bluebonnet Club

A Salad Supper and Election of Officers highlighted the April 7 meeting of the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club.

Michelle Knauf was hostess at 7:30 p.m. and each member brought a meat-vegetable or dessert salad for a delightful assortment. The group met in the TP&L Building. A Germanfest Planning session was included.

The following were elected to lead the club for the next year; Marilyn Luke president; Anne Perkins vice-president; Joyce Abney secretary-reporter; Sharon Walterscheid treasurer;

Monica Hess council delegate.

Thirteen members attended and one new member, Lisa Miller of Saint Jo joined the group. Kathy Thomas was a guest.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Jo Carol Stinson on May 13 at 7:30 p.m. when the program will be on make-up.

Draw The Line On Crime.

Alarming increases in criminal activity in our state is the biggest single threat to the well-being of Texans. It is time our elected officials start to get concerned about crime. Bob Glasgow has served for seven years as a criminal prosecutor. During that seven years he successfully prosecuted 864 criminal cases—that illustrates how he feels we should deal with law breakers. As state senator Bob Glasgow will fight for laws that protect the law abiding, not the law breaking. Draw the line on crime. Elect Bob Glasgow.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

Even the "gloom and doomers" say... we're in the right place, at the right time. These particularly pessimistic economists are the ones who see no solution short of a major recession or possibly a depression. However, even in the dreariest forecasts, they acknowledge the best place to be is... in a town like ours. One without big transportation problems. One where people actually could walk to work and to the store. One where people still know how to plant a garden. Raise a cow. Fix a faucet. One where a majority of the population is not dependent on government services. A town where people still befriend other people. One where people are not afraid to share their talents and skills with others. A town where work is a practiced part of living.

For those who feel there is no hope or relief, maybe all they need is to spend a day in a town like ours. It might even change the forecasts. You Can BANK On It!

Texas Library Week

The week of April 13-19 has been designated Library Week in Texas by Governor William P. Clements, Jr. Throughout the state, Texans are being reminded to "Remember the Library" when they need information or recreational reading.

Mrs. William P. Clements, Jr., the State's first lady, is serving as honorary chairman for this year's observance of Library Week. Public, academic, and school libraries throughout the state will have special activities to call attention to the services and materials they have for Texans of all ages. Texas libraries have materials that range from a copy of the Gutenberg Bible through specialized scientific materials to this year's best sellers. And today's libraries not only have books and other printed materials but also make available microfilm, videotape, and other non-print materials.

Library Week in Texas is sponsored by the Texas Library Association, an organization of more than 4,000 men and women who work in libraries or are simply interested in libraries.

UT attracts Merit Scholars

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — Giant strides have been made at The University of Texas at Austin in the number of National Merit Scholars it has attracted.

For 1979-80, UT enrolled 190 such scholars — an increase of 57 per cent over the previous year. The increase moved UT Austin from 26th to 15th place nationally.

UT ranks third in Texas (behind Rice and Texas A&M) in the number of Merit Scholars. UT has been an institutional sponsor (that is, providing financial support) for National Merit Scholars only since 1978.

In addition, UT ranks first in Texas in the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students.

Foreign language

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The chairman of The University of Texas Classics Department views American indifference to learning foreign languages as "a failure to live up to the expectation of world leadership."

Dr. Karl Galinsky believes Americans have relied too much on technology to stay ahead of other nations and not enough on the need to understand the thoughts and cultures of other peoples.

In Dr. Galinsky's opinion, the challenge of foreign-language educators is to find a successful way for combining the study of both language and culture, to go beyond the appreciation of literature that has traditionally marked language study.

MHS Students Are High in Math Test

Muenster High School was well represented in the National Math Exam, according to returns received this week by Dan Hamric, instructor.

Of 24 students taking the exam on March 8, the overall grades were good and the top three were 56 by Mark Felderhoff, 56 by Glenn Fisher and 53 by Larry Fleitman. Their total was combined for a team score of 165, which became the official MHS score, and ranked eighth high of the 26 schools in Class A. Numbers 1 and 2 of these, Felderhoff and Fisher were given awards which will be presented at the all-awards banquet on May 5.

Hamric said that the examination summary indicates it was taken by 21,552 students in 294 Texas schools this year. This is the 13th time MHS has participated, and it has been in the top 10 of the school's classification every year. One year it was second in the state.

African Revolution Effect Felt Here

Some say that being awakened by a newsy sound from clock radio is more pleasing than by the harsh ring of an alarm clock, but it was not that way for the David Fettes Saturday morning. The first words they heard told that a revolution had erupted in Liberia, the president was assassinated and the city of Monrovia was in flames. And instantly they realized that they were involved. That's where Pam's parents, Colonel and Mrs. R.R. Gosney, and her sister, Amy, are living ... and she was haunted by fear of injury or death in the riot or hostages as in Iran.

Their first reaction was to call the Colonel's brother at Temple who put in a call to the State Department, received a confirmation of the report and told the Fettes that Americans apparently were not in trouble.

Next Pam tried a phone call to her family in Africa. Her mother answered promptly saying that the situation was tense, with looting and shooting which was partly in celebration of the coup's success. And searches were under way for officials of the slain president's administration. Colonel Gosney was sent to Liberia some 20 months ago as ambassador and chief of the US military mission. For the past six months his duty has been confined to the military, as commander of his troops and advisor to the native army, and had his office in the headquarters of the Liberian army.

Mrs. Gosney told Pam that her husband was awakened at 3 a.m. Saturday (10 p.m. Friday, our time) by the outbreak of violence and learned that the murdered President Tolbert had been replaced by an army sergeant, Samuel Doe. About 5 a.m. Gosney went to the US embassy rather than his office. Meanwhile Mrs. Gosney and Amy remained at home, with firearms handy just in case the rough stuff should spread to their house. They maintained communication with him by CB radio for about 48 hours while he was confined to the embassy and unable to return to his home.

Colonel Gosney tells that he was depressed by the situation because he was personally acquainted with victims on both sides, and more killings were expected as the new government sought out and executed its political enemies. Hatred is widespread, he said, because of corruption in the old government. He added that special efforts are under way to avoid escape of former officials and collaborators. The country has been sealed off and Americans as well as natives cannot get out until the trouble is over.

There have been questions about the cause of the revolution, whether internal or external, but no answers to date. Americans apparently have no problems. The new government has sought help of the US mission to establish control, and it is asking for recognition by the US State Department.

Young Homemakers of Texas Meet

Herbie Knabe, a former Fire Chief with the Muenster Volunteer Firemen, presented a program on fire safety, with tips on the use of fire extinguishers, when he spoke to the Muenster chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas on Wednesday evening, April 2. A question and answer period followed.

Sue Trachta presided for the business meeting. Janet Fisher gave the financial report and Kathy Sicking read previous minutes and correspondence including "thank you" notes. Mrs. Trachta reported on progress at the historical marker with a dedication set for the opening of Germanfest.

The next meeting will be on May 7, featuring election of officers and an aerobic dance program by Theresa Walterscheid. All meetings are held in the Homemaking Department of Muenster High School.

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

My husband and I are in the planning stages of building a home. At present we are planning a double fireplace where it will be a focal point of the living and den area. It will be used to help heat both rooms.

These rooms do not have a wall division. The type of flooring and the fireplace will be the only division of rooms. We want to be sure we can utilize this fireplace not only for beauty, but for heat as well. Can this double fireplace be an energy efficient type of fireplace?

We would also like to know the pros and cons of using a heater type unit of some sort versus a man-made fireplace with a damper. Is one more efficient than the other? If so, in what way? E. C. S., Port Lavaca.

On the matter of a double fireplace, our building construction advisor recommends that you first check the fire code in your area to see whether a double fireplace is allowable.

In order for any type of fireplace to be efficient, it must have three essential features: fresh air inlet, door cover, and heat exchanger. A double opening fireplace is likely to be less efficient than any other because more internal air will be drawn from the house to guard against smoke entry into the house. It is possible to reduce air loss from the house by using a glass cover on each side, but the glass door cover then reduces greatly the amount of heat offered.

Concerning the type of fireplace unit described in your letter as opposed to a man-made fireplace with a damper, the first unit that you mention is better in lieu of a masonry fireplace. This is assuming that it has the three essential components of fresh air inlet, door cover, and heat exchanger. This type is better because it doesn't rob air from the house.

Hornets Open 14-A By Blasting Sanger

The Hornets started their 14-A baseball schedule with a 12-1 scoring spree at Sanger last Friday. Working on 8 hits and 8 errors they served up the game in the fifth on the basis of the lead of 10 or more in that inning.

Their success resulted partly from Phil Wolf's no-hit pitching, which was partly spoiled however by 3 walks. Sanger's only run came in the fourth on the fortunate grouping of two walks and two errors.

Meanwhile MHS hitting averaged .337 on 8 hits. The Hornet hitters were Floyd Felderhoff a homer, Todd Richey a triple and a single, Phil Wolf a double and a single, Dale Swirczynski, Curtis Pagel and David Flusche, each a single.

The Hornets are playing at Celina Thursday, after which they will be at home for the next four games... Callisburg and Pottsboro, then their second games with Sanger and Celina. The district season is a double round robin: two games with each of the four opponents.

Carl Zimmerer earned Muenster's only points in the eighth grade division of district track. He was second in the 880 meter run with a time of 2:46.63.

NEWS OF TRAVEL

When you plan a visit to the Soviet Union, your friends may be a bit surprised, but you are on the right track for seeing sights that most people will never see — or even imagine — in their lifetime.

Visiting the great cities of the Soviet Union, you're also likely to save a great deal more money than you would visiting other European capitals — and you'll have the chance to spread word of America abroad.

How many sights you see, and how much you save in the Soviet Union may depend on understanding one very important facet of Soviet tourism; that is, Intourist, what it is and how it works.

Intourist is the official Soviet travel agency for foreign tourists in the USSR.

The organization maintains close relations with travel agencies, tourist agencies and transportation companies around the world. Throughout the country, Intourist maintains an extensive network of self-operated hotels, motels, camping sites, restaurants, cafes and bars as well as a vast fleet of cars and buses.

Whether you want tickets to a performance, a recommendation for a special restaurant, an interpreter or a guide, Intourist personnel are on hand to assist you.

Few Americans fully grasp the enormous size and vibrant diversity that is the Soviet Union. Fifteen culturally and geographically distinct republics make up the nation. Russia is only one of these.

Ukrainian Folk Dancers

The way to plan your travel and hotel arrangements for a Soviet visit, is to contact one of the travel agents in the United States who can arrange travel in the Soviet Union.

Whether you prefer to explore the USSR on an individual or group basis, Intourist has designed a stunning array of travel and vacation options, ranging from splendid river cruises along the Volga and Dnieper, to itineraries in such cosmopolitan cities as Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev — or even hunting trips for stag, bear, boar or chamois in the Ukraine or Central Russia.

Intourist also offers a spectrum of plans for people who have more than tourism as a goal: medical cures and treatment at Spas along the Black Sea, in the Caucasus and on the Baltic Sea Coast; special Russian language seminars or perhaps equestrian experience in Pyatigorsk for beginning riders.

For those who have the time to really experience the vast distances, the drama and the diversity that are the Soviet Union, Intourist will help arrange transit travel from Moscow by train and/or plane across the vast expanses of Siberia, and from there either to

Japan or Hong Kong by Soviet passenger ship.

For more information about a Soviet vacation, see your travel agent, or write Intourist, 630 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Shocked goats are more edible, claim researchers

COLLEGE STATION — Using an electrical stimulation process originally developed at Texas A&M University to make beef more tender, scientists are now applying the technique to goat meat.

The researchers apply 600 volts of electricity to the goat carcass early in the processing. The result is a goat steak that is at least 30 percent more tender.

"There's more international interest in this process than there is in the United States," says Dr. Jeff Savell of Texas A&M's Animal Science Department and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. "That doesn't mean research on goats is any less important in Texas."

Texas, in fact, is the number one goat producer in the nation, a statistic lost in the state's reputation as a cattle producer. The researchers say they are trying to increase the palatability of goat more than the acceptability of the meat as a delicacy in the United States.

Ancient grain could decrease modern food shortages

COLLEGE STATION — A 2,000-year-old staple of the Inca empire described by Texas A&M University scientists as an "almost ideal food protein" could provide an ancient answer to modern food shortages.

The grain, quinoa (key-no-ah), is a cereal with a protein rating of about 16 percent, compared to a skimpy 6 percent in most American wheat products. This makes quinoa far superior to most cereal grains.

Quinoa is only under experimental testing in the United States at Texas A&M test plots, but researchers agree quinoa could be adapted to American high technology agricultural production methods. Particularly in the dry Texas High Plains.

Tips For Safe Bicycle Riding

It's estimated more than one thousand bicyclists are killed in traffic accidents each year while another fifty thousand sustain injuries. What's more, the number of bicyclists is growing at an incredible rate of close to ten million annually. Experts say there are now over one hundred million bicyclists in the U.S. — close to one half the total population.

"Anyone riding a bicycle should know and obey all the same traffic laws as a motorist," says Milt Nachbar, a traffic safety expert at CNA Insurance.

"Parents can do a lot to help their children learn and use safe bike-riding practices," Nachbar comments. "For one thing, children learn from observing. How do you drive your car or your own bike?"

He offers these tips for safe bike riding:

- Be sure the bike is in good condition. Many local police departments provide a free bicycle inspection — often coupled with a safety program and riding skills test.
- Make certain the bike and its rider can be seen and heard. Reflectors visible from all four sides, a good headlight and a loud bell or horn should be standard on all bikes. At night, the rider should wear light-colored clothing with reflective strips on the arms and legs.

Lightening: The Springtime Terror

Every spring, nature has a convincing way of demonstrating its awesome power. Tornadoes, hurricanes, thunderstorms and lightning interrupt the peace and calm of a lazy springtime world.

While killer tornadoes like the one last April in Wichita Falls fill us with fear, few realize that lightning kills more people yearly than either tornadoes or floods. About 150 die across the U.S. along with about 250 reported injuries. And annual property loss is placed at more than $100 million.

Lightning comes in several different forms. Streak lightning, the most common, is a single bolt from a cloud to the ground. Sheet lightning, on the other hand, is a shapeless flash most often from one cloud to another. On a hot Texas day, heat lightning is not an uncommon sight and is thought to be a reflection of lightning occurring over the horizon. Other forms are ribbon lightning, several flashes of streak lightning whose strokes look parallel to one another, and bead lightning, which appears as an interrupted stroke. Ball lightning, a rare form about which little is known, reportedly appears as a globe or ball whizzing from a cloud to the earth. Some have even reported seeing this form rolling over structures or suspended in the air.

The destructive power of lightning lies in both its tremendous heat and electrical force. A single bolt can pack as much as 100 million volts of electricity. Such a bolt can literally explode wood or brick on impact.

When lightning threatens, following these rules can help keep you safe:

1. Seek shelter indoors immediately. While indoors, stay away from open doors, windows, metal pipes, electrical wiring and appliances.

In fact, don't use any electrical appliances during a storm — not even the telephone.

2. If caught outdoors away from shelter, avoid hill tops, wide open spaces, wire fences, metal clothes lines, exposed sheds, power lines, pipelines, trees, poles, and any tall objects that might conduct electricity. Find protection in a ditch or canyon. In a forest, look for a clearing or area with head-high clumps of trees.

3. If working on a tractor, stop immediately. Tractors and farm implements in contact with the ground are struck frequently.

4. Get out of the water and off of small boats.

5. Stay in your car if you're traveling. In fact, cars offer excellent protection.

6. Stop using metal objects like fishing rods, metal baseball bats or golf clubs immediately. Golfers should take extreme care since their steel cleated shoes make them like human "lightning rods."

7. Don't handle any flammable liquids in open containers.

8. Drop to the ground immediately if you feel your hair standing on end or your skin tingling from an electrical charge. This is a sign that lightning may be about to strike you.

Lightning victims can often be revived by cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) even though they might appear dead. Such persons carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. If a group of people is struck, begin CPR immediately on those who appear dead. Those who show signs of life will probably recover on their own while CPR is in process on the others. While serious burns and other injuries can result from lightning, recovery is usually complete except for possible loss of sight or hearing.

You have a problem - but since we reside in the Wise County REA district I can't help you with your problem. The young man that called me about his frustrations at least gave me his name. Him I could relate too. See you next week ---

CHEMISTRY IN OUR LIVES

How You Will Benefit AN ONION A DAY? Although it's probably premature to put an onion on your medicine shelf, scientists have found a substance in the humble vegetable that is known to lower blood pressure.

Onions have been found to contain a substance that lowers blood pressure.

The new findings, reported at a meeting of the American Chemical Society/Chemical Society of Japan, marked the first time that one of the compounds called prostaglandins has been found in plants. Prostaglandin A1 lowers blood pressure when injected intravenously. Whether the onion could actually lower blood pressure would depend on its untested ability to survive the digestive process.

Folklore has long held that eating onions could hold blood pressure down. Now scientists feel there may be some reasons to investigate.

Expert cites aerobic benefits

COLLEGE STATION — To many a beginning runner, the pain and agony often obscures the benefits of a new exercise program.

One of the main advantages of aerobic exercise, such as running, jogging or cycling, is the effect it has on cardiovascular fitness, says a Texas A&M University physical fitness expert.

The fit body gained from sustained exercise, as in running, increases the lungs' capacity to deliver and utilize oxygen and the heart's capacity to pump blood, says Dr. John Chevrette, a Texas A&M health and physical education professor and co-author of "Running for Fun and Fitness," a handbook for the beginning runner.

Chevrette also cites reduction and prevention of hypertension, reduction of cholesterol in the bloodstream and weight control as additional running benefits.

Rye Bread Is Surprise In This Stew

Cook up a good old-fashioned stew the easy way. Take stewing beef flavored with paprika, pepper and onions and add the surprise ingredient — torn pieces of rye bread. Simmer for 2 hours, and you will find the stew beautifully thickened. Now all you have to do is to add sliced carrots, parsnips, celery and accent with the chewy texture of California ripe olives.

Surprise Stew will give you a hearty main dish served over egg noodles or with a whipped potato border. Add green beans or broccoli for complete nutrition.

California ripe olives are an appetizing ingredient in any dish adding nutty flavor, firm texture and appealing color contrast.

- Surprise Stew
- 2 lbs. stewing beef
 - 2 tablespoons oil
 - 1 large onion, diced
 - 1 tablespoon paprika
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 2 cans (10 1/2 ounce) condensed beef bouillon
 - 1 cup water
 - 3 slices caraway rye bread
 - 1 cup pitted California ripe olives, sliced
 - 3 large carrots, sliced
 - 1 parsnip, sliced
 - 1 1/2 cups celery, sliced

Brown beef in oil until well browned. Add onion, paprika, salt and pepper. Stir well. Add bouillon, water and rye bread, torn in small pieces. Cover and bring to a boil.

Simmer, stirring occasionally, until meat is almost tender, about two hours. Add olives, carrots, parsnip and celery. Cook 15 minutes longer. Makes 8 (1 cup) servings.

Crimes increasing at parks, camp sites

COLLEGE STATION — The ballooning crime rate among campers is so striking that a Texas A&M University park expert warns campers from the city not to leave their street sense at home when venturing into the wilds.

"For some reason, people in a big park seem to think they are completely safe and secure," said Dr. Jim Fletcher, a professor in Texas A&M's Department of Recreation and Parks. "They don't put gear away. They don't lock their cars. It's just as essential to take the same precautions in the woods as they would when they're home in the city," he warned.

Thefts in the state and national park systems have ranged from expensive down sleeping bags to four-wheel drive pickup trucks.

Fletcher suggests campers always lock their cars and secure personal possessions like stoves, clothing and sleeping bags when away from the camping site.

Confetti...

When talk of the boycott first got started lots of people mean mouthed the US for bringing politics into the Olympics. We have to admit that our country provoked the charge, but we also insist that it was fully justified. This was a peaceful but forceful way of objecting to the Soviet take over of Afghanistan. Its purpose was to penalize Russia as an outlaw and aggressor nation through loss of prestige and profit. However, harping on America's fault in this regard is ridiculous. The significant point is that the Olympics has been loaded with politics for many years. Hitler tried to use it in 1936 to establish the superiority of the Aryan race, but he was humiliated by Jesse Owens. Politics was evident as recent as this winter's Lake Placid Olympics when Taiwan was barred from participation. South Africa has been barred for years because it resisted the efforts of Red revolutionaries to overthrow the country. Other countries likewise have been shut out because of the influence of Communists.

Even more definitely political is the purpose of Red Countries to use the Olympics as a means to build up their own greatness. The Soviets and other Communist-bloc athletes are in fact professionals, because they make their living training and competing, "not for the good of sport and amateurism but as servants of the party and state for the advancement of political goals."

Behind that kind of background the Reds have politically motivated policies of competition, as attested by American athletes who have been there. They have experienced instances when the Reds used any means to win, and when officials and judges shaded the scoring or downright cheated for their teams and athletes.

If there can be any doubt about the political motive of the Reds, it can be found in a brochure published by Russia relative to the coming games. "The decision to give the honor of holding the Olympic Games in the capital of the world's first Socialist state was convincing testimony to the general recognition of the historic importance and correctness of the foreign policy of our country."

Liturgy...

presented by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swirczynski and son Dale.

Rene Stelzer sang the Communion Song, followed by an Inspirational Reading: "Listen to a Child", by Mrs. Paul Fisher as follows: "The Year of the Child" is over; the "Year of the Family" has begun. What time could be more appropriate than now to reflect again on the simple, profound truths in "Listen to a Child".

Listen to a child and the child will teach you something of LOVE, FAITH, and WONDER. Listen and you will learn from the child what this old proverb suggests: If there is right in the soul, There will be beauty in the person. If there is beauty in the person, There will be harmony in the home. If there is harmony in the home, There will be order in the nation. If there is order in the nation, There will be peace in the world.

You're probably wondering why your car was stolen. You forgot to lock it.

Funny thing about your car. You left it, just for a minute, to run in for some dog biscuits. Next thing you know, you and the dog biscuits are standing on the corner, waiting for a bus. Maybe this hasn't happened yet. But if you keep leaving your car unlocked it probably will. So lock your car, and take your keys, every time you leave it. And don't leave tempting packages on the seats. Find out more about preventing crime. Write to: Crime Prevention Coalition, Box 6600, Rockville, Maryland 20850. That's one way to...

The atlas got its name from the Greek mythological figure who supports the world when this figure was used as a decoration in an early atlas, probably that of the Flemish geographer Gerardus Mercator.

Be wary of claims about so-called "Vitamin B15." It's really pangamic acid, and there is no proof it's a safe additive or diet supplement -- or that it cures heart disease, diabetes, glaucoma or many other things promoters say it does, warns Mary K. Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.
