Under the heading of "The Federal Rathole" the current issue of Conservative Digest presents a few examples of the massive sums of taxpayer money being squandered by various federal agencies.

One of those was CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) about which President Carter recently bragged to a group of Ohio senior citizens and community leaders. He proudly told them that the program is more than twice as large ($9 billion) as when he was elected.

This is one of the federal programs which operate on the principle that problems are solved by throwing our tax money at them, but have little to say about the benefits derived. One of those results revealed by the New York Times tells that New York City officials spent thousands of dollars for a program teaching young people how to print. The knowledge they acquired was applied in producing some $50,000 in $10, $20 and $50 counterfeit bills. The bogus money was printed at the Brooklyn based Community Alliance for Youth in Action, which received tax dollars for young people who qualified for CETA. The print shop training program receives more than $465,000 in federal CETA money.

Administrative policies of CETA apparently have no more merit than their programs. Washington Post reports that the D.C. Department of Employment Services, having more money than office space, spent $2,384 in CETA funds to rent ten rooms of swanky hotel space to review CETA job training proposals. One would expect that the bureaucrats, with their over abundance of accommodations, could find space for such meetings in their own offices.

Another CETA program concerns the Institute for Careers in Tourism which doled out more than $100,000 for such things as "Happy Hour Training" at D.C.'s Red Lion and Black Tahiti restaurants. Another CETA contractor used federal tax dollars for a $2,850 wedding reception on the Queen Mary.

More tax money down the federal rathole is reported in the food stamp program. A random audit for November 1979 in Florida estimates that one fifth of the state's food stamp recipients probably obtained $4 million worth of food stamps in a single month by fraud, and 15 percent of the recipients received all or part of $1.5 million worth through error. It's believed that rules and regulations of the Department of Agriculture can be blamed for much of the fraud. No one is permitted to visit recipient homes without their consent to check whether the number of people living there is correctly reported.

Along with such cases of plain fraud we find the exasperating money dumping spree at the end of a fiscal year, referred to as "use-it-or-lose-it" spending, which is estimated to cost taxpayers at least $2 billion a year. The motive is to make sure of spending all that has been appropriated so that Congress will not think that less will be sufficient for the next budget. The custom is an inexcusable two way waste. First the squandering of left over money, and also the request for more than needed the next year. It's disappointing to know that people lack the pride to show efficiency in their jobs or in returning un-used money to taxpayers, or the honesty to hold requests down to the size of needs.

When the time comes for changes in government, we fervently hope for reforms in this line. Every request Continued on Page 16...

Growing Succeeds Endres as Mayor City Adopts $248,686 Budget

LEONARD ENDRES

Adult Classes Begin Sept. 15

A basic education class for adults is available again this year at Muenster Public School. Mrs. Marie Mosman announced this week. The organizational class will be held next Monday, Sept. 15, from 6:30 to 9:30. Persons of 16 years or older are welcome.

Those who did not complete high school have the opportunity to work toward a General Equivalency Diploma (GED). Otherwise they as well as high school graduates can concentrate on study of math, English, science or other subjects. Instruction is personal and individual.

Interested persons are invited to call Mrs. Mosman, 759-4138, for additional information.

Leonard J. Endres resigned Monday night as mayor of Muenster. He made the announcement at the end of the regular meeting, saying that failing health makes it difficult to keep pace with responsibilities, which are expected to increase as the lake project gets under way. He was also concerned with his schedule of treatment and medication being in possible conflict with official duty.

Endres will be succeeded by Alderman Richard Grewing, mayor pro tem.

Grewing will be succeeded by someone to be appointed by remaining council members at the next meeting. That person will serve until the next election.

RICHARD GREWING

Members of the Muenster City Council in session Monday night adopted a budget of $248,686 for the coming fiscal year. The estimate is based on actual expenditure of $234,762.52 for the current year.

In relation to the budget, the council set a tax rate of 50 cents on $100 of assessed valuation, which is expected to yield $83,300 in ad valorem tax. With a total valuation of $17 million, the income should come to $85,000, however the usual 98 per cent collection figure reduces the amount to $83,300.

Setting aside 9 percent of the amount for interest and sinking fund the city will have $75,803 for its operating fund.

Other city income is estimated as follows. Penalty and interest on delinquent tax payment $500. Franchise taxes, $25,683. Federal Revenue Sharing, $13,000. Swim pool receipts, $6,000. City sales tax, $67,400. Corporation court fines, $15,000. County fire fighting contract, $2,250. Garbage fees, $38,000. Licenses, $450. Oil royalties, $900. Building permit, $100. Miscellaneous receipts, $35,000.

This income is used for operation of all departments of the city except water and sewer departments, which have a separate source of revenue. Total expense in the other departments $220,998, leaving a surplus of $27,688.

Estimated expenses are Police department, $52,792. Fire department, $6,350. Garbage department, $53,406. Brush and limb service, $3,700. Street department, $51,550. Health department $2,650. Park department, $8,400. Swim pool, $10,200. Library, $3,700. Administration $29,250.

Operation of the water and sewer departments is calculated to produce a revenue of $147,553. Operation and maintenance of the water department is estimated at $61,794 and billing and administration expense at $13,667, a total of $75,461. Operating and administering expenses of the sewer department are estimated at $21,040. Combining the figures indicates a total of $96,501 for the two departments, and deducting this amount from total revenue leaves a net operating revenue of $51,052. Of this $7,200 is needed for debt retirement, $12,000 is designated for the lake fund, and the estimated surplus is $31,852.

This carry over fund, like that in general operating fund, is about equal to that of previous years. Its purpose is to meet emergencies, if necessary, or to finance the operation temporarily if revenue is late in arriving. When not used the money earns interest for the city.

Hopefully, No More Booms

Relief from the nuisance and damage of sonic booms may be in sight for people of Muenster and neighboring areas. Roger Taylor, who initiated the complaint, has word from Senator Bentsen and the Air Force that investigations were made and a change of corridor for supersonic flights is being considered.

The subject is somewhat involved. US Air Force pilots flying General Dynamics planes, admit that they have been passing over this corridor. Also G.D. has been reporting flights to the Pentagon, but the reports apparently were overlooked in the shuffles of official paperwork. The net result, it seems, is that only people of this area were aware that the booms were happening.

The information received by Taylor is understood to mean that the nuisance is ended. If not, perhaps there will be compensation for damages. It's reported that G.D. is expected to accept responsibility for supersonic flights.

Elm-Red District Sponsors 31st Grass Judging Contest

The Board of Directors of the Upper-Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District along with other agricultural workers in the district set September 25th as the date for the annual grass judging contest. "This will be our 31st annual contest," said J.H. Bayer of Muenster, Chairman of the board of Directors of the Upper-Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District. "The Board started this contest back in 1950 and it has lasted down through the years, and has proven to be one of our best contests for the youth of this district," Bayer added.

This year's contest will be held at the Community Center Building in Gainesville. Registration will start at 12:30 p.m. and judging at 1:30. It is open to all agricultural extension service 4-H clubs and Future Farmer of America chapters in the three-county district.

This is a unique contest in that it is based on actual knowledge of fifty plants growing on the farms and ranches of this district.

Lake Area Being Staked Out

In a report to the city council Monday night, Henry Weinzapfel, president of the Muenster Water Board, said that the first step toward purchase of land for the city lake is currently in progress.

He said SCS personnel are busy staking out the perimeter of the lake, and when that is finished a certified surveyor will determine the acreage to be bought from each land owner.

Weinzapfel added that the watershed which will drain into the lake has an area of 7,000 acres. He said this report is intended for people who doubt that run-off area is adequate for the lake. The lake is engineered for a total volume of more than 4,500 acre feet at the permanent pool level, and the surface area at that level will be 309 acres. This figures to an average depth of 15 feet, including shore lines and many other shallow areas. To compensate for the shallow areas others will

These plants are identified by giving them the correct common name and then classifying as to grazing value, wildlife value, annual or perennial, native or introduced, and as to whether cool season or warm season growing plants.

Chairman Bayer stated that awards will be presented to winning teams and high scoring individuals at 4:30 p.m. Over 2450 students have participated in this contest since its beginning.

This contest will have a junior division for the first year agriculture students and a senior division for advanced students. A team will be composed of four students and the team score will be made up of the three highest scoring individuals. Each school or county 4-H is requested to enter a team in each phase of the contest.

New Beauty Salon Opens This Week

Muenster's newest business is Main Hair Fashions owned and operated by Alice Hellman at 404 North Main Street. Its first day was Thursday.

Open Tuesdays through Fridays, with late appointments available on Wednesdays, the business will offer the complete line of beauty salon services and specialize in ladies and men's hair styling. Mrs. Hellman is starting alone, expects to have an assistant soon.

Rains May Bring Toxic Buildup

Livestock producers should be on alert to the fact that a prusic acid buildup may occur in certain plants that have been stressed by the drought followed by rain that causes the formation of new growth. Livestock losses have already occurred through Texas and other losses may occur where conditions cause a buildup of toxicity in stressed plants, according to Gary Rainwater of the Muenster SCS office.

There are many plants containing the toxic principal that can cause poisoning. Some of the more common toxic plants are Johnsongrass, sorghum hybrids, sorghum, and sudan grass.

Persons should be very careful when grazing plants that have new growth following a shower. This is particularly true where these plants have been under a drought stress and the new growth is the result of a shower.

Prusic acid poisoning works fast and affected animals rarely survive more than one or two hours. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10 to 15 minutes of eating toxic material and may die within two to three minutes.

Caution may prevent these losses. Don't forget that wilted or new growth of Johnsongrass, sudan, sorghum, and sorghum hybrids can be dangerous. Hungry animals should not be turned in on pastures with plants that may be dangerous.

Correction

Our August 29th report in the Enterprise stated erroneously that Ken Stoffels sustained a mental injury in Vietnam and that he received treatment at Rusk State Hospital. The fact is he served in Korea and was treated at the Veterans Hospital in Waco. The Enterprise regrets this error.

Harvest Hoedown Sept. 27

Harvest Hoedown is coming on the last Saturday of September, and Dennis Hess will be the chairman, but particulars in the plan are still scanty.

The report, given at Tuesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting, indicated that the purpose is to promote Muenster's image as a good place to visit and to buy. Attractions will include bargains, entertainment, eats and drinks, with the details still to be decided by Hess and his committee.

The Chamber also took a long look forward to Germanfest. Sam Endres, president, named Alvin Fuhrman and Monica Hess to propose someone who is willing to be general chairman.

Endres also said that the Chamber is about to establish an office in the Tom and Jerry building. Furniture and equipment are to be moved in soon.

 NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

FOREIGN AID: OBJECTIVES
 The foreign aid program has been sold to the American people on the basis of several major assumptions: that it would prevent the nations receiving aid from "going communist"; that it would enhance the image of the United States around the world; making us more popular and increasing our prestige; that it would improve U.S. and free world security; and that it would promote peace by developing international trade and prosperity.

This rationale was presented by former Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a speech delivered in Miami in 1961, as follows:
 "Whenever an underdeveloped country makes economic, social and political progress, it expands the frontiers of freedom. Whenever we cooperate in breaking down the barriers of ignorance, poverty, disease and despair, we further not only the well-being of mankind but our own security."
 "Surely we can all agree with the goals outlined by former Secretary Rusk, and the hopes envisioned in the basic assumptions of those who have promoted foreign aid. But the question is: Have the goals been realized and have the assumptions proved true? Let's look at the record.

Has foreign aid helped prevent countries from going communist? Since the program was begun in 1946, 21 nations have "gone communist." All of these were recipients of American aid, with the exception of Bulgaria, North Korea and Tibet.
 Not only have 18 foreign aid recipients become part of the International Communist Empire, many other nations have "gone socialist," part-way to communist, facilitated by U.S. foreign aid.

In its report, "Foreign Aid and You," the Citizens Foreign Aid Committee states that "Britain's economic program, directly or indirectly, has helped to nationalize the Bank of England, and the gas, electric, railway, canals and coal mining enterprises of the British Kingdom. Our dollars also have assisted Britain to adopt socialized medicine."
 "In a like manner our aid has helped to strengthen the nationalization processes in Norway, Austria, France, Italy, Turkey, Pakistan, India, Indonesia, and even in Communist Poland and Yugoslavia."

"By assisting recipient countries to nationalize their industries, foreign aid contributes materially to the creation of governmental systems and institutions hostile to those which have been derived from our Declaration of Independence and our Constitution."
 Foreign aid might well be said to be a communist program. Joseph Stalin wrote in his Marxism and The National Colonial Question:
 "It is essential that the advanced countries should render aid — real and prolonged aid — to the backward nationalities in their cultural and economic development. Otherwise, it will be impossible to bring about the peaceful co-existence of the various nations and peoples — within a single economic system that is so essential for the final triumph of Socialism." (emphasis added)

As the Committee states in its report, "From the start the Kremlin has been determined to make capitalism pay for its own funeral."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A new tax revolt may be brewing in Texas.
 At the grassroots level, taxpayers are upset with local tax increases—and their complaints are communicated to the State Capitol along with the question: what happened to the promised tax relief?
 In 1978 voters approved the Tax Relief Amendment which authorized the Legislature to follow up in 1979 with tax relief legislation. Taxpayers were expecting to benefit from new tax breaks this year, but they are enraged to find their property valuations are going up, in most places.

Clements Endorsement
 The bill was hailed as both a blessing and a curse at the same time. Governor Clements listed it as his foremost legislative achievement of the session, and it had the backing of several labor groups as well. Other legislators felt the reform might cause confusion which would inevitably lead to higher taxes, not lower taxes.
 The Peveto Bill definitely contains some advantages for taxpayers, notably a provision for a local referendum to roll-back taxes and provisions for truth-in-taxation.
 The controversial part is the creation of a central property appraisal district for each county. Each county is required to create one by 1982, and many counties are already setting up such offices.

is to wonder how much higher their property taxes will be this year . . . and they begin to seek the answer.
 The answer is this: the amount of tax will depend on the tax rate set by local officials. Although the property valuation is hiked, actual taxes can be kept at last year's dollar figure if local officials opt to drop the tax rate low enough.
 Here's the rub: in this period of inflation, local governments are as hard-pressed to meet rising costs as local homeowners. To acquire extra revenue, local governments cannot go out and moonlight . . . they must raise taxes, and that is not a popular action these days.

Find the Scapegoat
 For the average taxpayer, no explanation is readily available, which adds to the frustration.

As a general rule, when the taxpayer inquires at the local tax office, he is told the blame lies with the Texas Legislature, a charge which many legislators are quietly preparing to throw back into the faces of local officials.

Another scapegoat is the newly-enacted property tax reform law, also known as the Peveto Bill, after its author, Rep. Wayne Peveto of Orange.

The Peveto Bill was already somewhat of a legend on the day of its passage last season. Peveto had worked on the property tax code reform for six years, researching and polishing after each defeat until it was finally approved by two House votes and one Senate vote last year.

Blame Anyone Else
 Hence, the tendency by some local officials, not all, to place the blame on the Legislature.
 Unfortunately, legislators are up for re-election in two months, and they do not like being saddled with what they feel is an undesired stigma.
 They have, up to now, avoided throwing the charge back on local officials, much out of sympathy for fellow elected officeholders. However, activity in Capitol offices indicates several legislators are preparing to fight back.

Evaluations Up
 Many new boards opted to go to 100 percent evaluation this year, and the results are startling. When taxpayers open their notices, they are shocked, in many cases, to find the value of their property has been driven up considerably. Their first reaction

As one solon put it, the legislature did its best to cut taxes in 1979. Now it's the time for local officials to tighten the belt and hold down spending.
 And it may happen that spending will be held down. It's easier for a taxpayer to attend a city council or school trustee meeting than to wait four months and travel to Austin to argue with the Texas Legislature.

Letter to the Editor

I am a new teacher at Sacred Heart Elementary School. All of the returning teachers had told me that we had a lot of support from the parents of our children and the community in general.

Last week I began to see that support at our first Home-School meeting. One ceiling fan was donated to the school.
 When I returned to my classroom Tuesday, there were two fans on my ceiling, and on everyone else's ceiling too!

I know I speak for all the teachers and the students when I say thank you to all the parents and friends of Sacred Heart School. You are the kind of people anyone would be proud to work for.
 Sincerely,

SLOW DOWN

THEY DEPEND ON YOU

Congressman
Charles W. Stenholm
Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Recent warnings by Saudi Arabia of sharp cutbacks in Arab oil shipments to the U.S. take us back to the pre-OPEC days when similar warnings were ignored. It took the 1973 oil boycott to force this country to face the unpleasant reality of our dependence on foreign energy supplies.
 Seven years later, how much better prepared are we to deal with that dangerous reality?

We seem to have made some progress, almost in spite of ourselves. We can all be heartened by the 12 percent drop in oil imports this year, thanks to market pressures, increased domestic production and conservation efforts. As we move toward decontrol of oil and gas prices, we can expect that those influences will continue control of our usage patterns. In spite of one of the most serious blights on the long-range energy picture — passage of the Windfall Profits Tax — domestic production has increased temporarily. We have also tripled funding for solar energy research and development from last year, along with other commitments to development of other renewable energy sources.

All of these steps are vital to any long-range energy policy. But what of our short-range — emergency — capabilities to deal with another crippling boycott?
 Congress voted down the first attempt at a rationing plan to deal with such an emergency in early 1979. I voted against that preliminary plan because it had no provisions for a target amount of shortages, or "trigger" mechanisms. I fully supported a later bill which authorized the President to devise a plan, requiring a 20 percent shortfall for 30 days before rationing could be put into effect. That measure was passed.

Why then did I vote to block implementation of the Administration's proposal later? I objected — as I still object — to Congress's refusal to accept their responsibility to the people and to make use of a procedural vote such as this was to "duck" the issue. If we, as an elected body, were in favor of a rationing plan, we should have reflected those feelings with legislative votes rather than taking the easy way out and accepting, by procedural vote, the Administration's proposal that we had not thoroughly considered and debated on the House floor, parts of which are already causing Members to have serious second thoughts about the plan.

A less serious objection (and one overridden by the recent Saudi warning) was that once the door was open, so to speak, Congress would be pressured into dropping that trigger level to a less desirable, non-emergency level. For instance, the long gas lines formed last year with only a 6 percent shortfall. That was an inconvenience, to be sure, but not a true emergency which warranted rationing. In such a case, rationing would be used as the primary tool to cut usage instead of relying on conservation methods and market pressures first.

While I remain philosophically opposed to rationing, no one can deny that if we reached the point of a 20 percent shortfall, we would have no better choice. I also agree that the time to make provisions for such an emergency is now, not after another boycott has been announced. But, as a Congressman, elected by the people as their voice in such serious matters, I would rather that that rationing plan had received a more thorough hearing before implementation.

Ever wonder why things look so dark these days? Could it be that we're not asking for the light of Christ?

Opinion.....

By Pam Fette

My grandfather is a great man. With only a third grade education he has come from a small farm in Oklahoma and raised a family of three in a comfortable fashion. Granddad was a forward looking person and diligently saved throughout his life for his retirement years and was proud and comforted knowing he and Grandmother would be taken care of. Today my grandparent's savings couldn't sustain them for 2-3 years. Inflation has whittled down the value of his dollars and Granddad has turned to Social Security and other compensations to keep him going. We are all growing older. Will our savings be worth anything in our retirement years?

Inflation is probably the number one problem facing the American economy today. It is safe to say that the majority of consumers are aware of this problem and have come to expect the overall rising of prices which means inflation to us. A survey conducted by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center May 1979 showed consumers increasingly fearful of inflation and increasingly doubtful of Washington's willingness and ability to do anything about it.

"On the average," the survey research center said, "consumers expected prices to increase by 8.2% during the next twelve months."

Awareness among the public about this staggering problem is not the issue today. Everyone knows that inflation is undesirable and that it eats away at the confidence that businessmen and consumers have in the American dollar. How to stop inflation is the problem and an even greater problem is the fact that the majority of Americans are not informed properly as to the real cause of inflation. Not knowing the cause of a problem often leads to solutions that merely antagonize rather than solve. For example, the Gallup Organizations latest consumer survey indicates that an increasing proportion of Americans think that the only hope for stopping inflation is another try at wage-price controls. Fully 50% of the respondents favored controls, leaving only 39% opposed. Frankly survey results like this have me scared and if this survey is representative of national sentiment it shows an overall lack of understanding by the American public of basic economic principles.

Citizens must be made aware of what actually causes inflation and when informed they should have the ability to grasp the key to stopping it.

There are many terms bandied in the media today that try to explain inflation. Peoples, congress, and Presidents ponder over terms, they discuss, they argue - demand pull causes inflation, no wage-push is the cause. Others call it gold inflation, credit expansion or imported inflation. Though I won't go into all of these terms now, there are some examples of these symptoms of inflation in recent history. But these are merely symptoms.

What consumers like you and I need is an orderly and systematic understanding of the primary cause of inflation. For without knowing the cause of a problem, how can we expect to cure it?

Lets start from the basic fact that there is no record in the economic history of the world of a serious and prolonged inflation which was not preceded by a large increase in the money supply. This generalization is documented in most economic texts which deals with inflation and holds true for developed as well as underdeveloped in capitalistic countries and even in centrally planned economies. Our nations money supply is now growing at an annual rate of 11.5%. In discussing inflation, money matters most and stopping this ever increasing supply is the key to stopping inflation.

Why is this money supply increasing? It is vital that citizens understand that it is increasing because the largest most powerful business in our country operates in the red. Today the federal government has a 500 billion dollar budget with a 60 billion dollar deficit. This deficit is financed by the Federal Reserve Bank who literally creates money for the government to pump back into the economy. The US government has been given an open checkbook with no worries about overdraw and each year is pumping millions of dollars into our money supply. Money becomes cheaper and cheaper as there is more of it, thus taking more money to buy the same goods.

If these facts are known then why would congressmen and consumers and as I mentioned earlier favor attacking inflation from the other end - wage price controls? Every week mention is made in the news about considerations on wage price controls. If controls were implemented to freeze all wages and prices but the money supply kept increasing, inflation would merely be disguised. On the surface it would appear to have stopped, but as soon as the controls were lifted we would be in the same boat. Besides can you imagine the administrative mangle that would have to control such a program. They would have to make decisions like: which prices should we allow to rise? Should some prices rise more than others? For example a new industry may see its prices rising by large margins at first, but then slowing down once their output meets up with their new demand. How would this be dealt with? The administrative duties would be staggering. I for one believe that prices should be determined in the market place, not in government.

Besides being unpractical wage-price controls do not get at the heart of the inflationary problem - the Federal government. The government must be made to operate with only funds available through taxes, not newly created funds. Wasteful spending must be cut. New programs that cannot be implemented without deficit spending must be done away with. The government can tighten its belt and suck in its stomach and its going to have to if inflation is going to be curbed.

If we can get leaders to start this belt tightening process, if the government does move to abolish deficit spending, I foresee the growing tide of inflation as receding. Our dollar will stop devaluing and once again our businessmen, savers, and investors, will have confidence in our currency. Inflation will end at the welcome expense of less government, a more responsible, concerned government who will be forced to spend our tax dollars more wisely.

Until we can convince congress, Presidents, and the public of inflations real causes and cures I see no end to the current patterns. More and higher rates of inflation, a weaker dollar, and the ever present mangle of a huge unwieldy government.

The ultimate responsibility for the government lies with you and I, the voting public. Voters need to elect politicians who are not afraid to put the federal government on a diet, who do not fall prey to every type of special interest group, who believe in fiscal stability and conservation. Luckily we do have some candidates and incumbents who fit this description and it is up to a responsible voting public to seek these and more out.

There must also be a change in attitude among many people. Congress and you and I need to get away from the idea that the government is a handy tool for insulating individuals and businesses from every degree of economic distress.

Schleswig-Holstein Will be Honored at German Day

Special pomp and ceremony honoring the German state of Schleswig-Holstein will distinguish this year's observance of German Day in Texas, a two day program in Dallas on October 11 and 12. The first event is the 18th Annual Pioneer Ball and the second is celebration at the State Fair of Texas.

For the formalities Eleanore Linsmayer, German Consul of Houston, will represent Dr. Gerhard Stoltenberg, minister-president of the honored country.

Honorary chairman of the celebration is Gershon Canaan, founding chairman of German Day in Texas and of the Goethe Center of Dallas.

Young Homemaker Officers Installed

The Muenster Chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas held formal installation ceremonies on Tuesday September 4 at 7:30 p.m. in The Center Restaurant. In a special tribute to out-going officers, each was recognized and presented a long stemmed red carnation.

New officers installed were Glenda Russell president; Lou Moster vice president; Debbie Fisher secretary; Janet Fisher treasurer; Janie Hartman reporter;

Carol Klement historian; and Joni Sturm, advisor. They were also presented a red carnation.

Fourteen members enjoyed a buffet salad supper followed by a business meeting conducted by new officers. Joni Sturm welcomed them into the new year. Members voted by ballot on programs, fund raising projects, club and service projects and community projects.

Ideals were discussed and

Ladonia Man Opposes London

Cal McNeely made the first move to formally declaring as a write-in candidate for state representative, district 23, with the appointment of Ladonia chemist Doug Franklin as his campaign treasurer. Naming of a campaign treasurer is the first step in becoming an active candidate for office.

Franklin, a former mayor of Ladonia, is active in a number of technical and civic organizations and has chaired the employee's political action committee at E-Systems, Inc. where he is employed.

McNeely, a Ladonia stockman, faces David London of Bailey in the November General Election. London won a spot on the ballot in a controversial recount of votes from the Democratic Primary that had originally declared Ray Grisham of Howe as winner in the race. McNeely said he would seek support from Democrats, Republicans, and Independents in his write-in candidacy. He said he would elaborate on the issues facing the next legislature as he campaigns across the district. "I want to represent the people of the twenty-third district on those issues," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Doughty of Marysville celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on August 10 with a reception in the TP&L Building in Muenster, hosted by their children.

Joe R. Doughty and Vernie E. Hodges of Burneyville, Okla. were married on August 10, 1930 in Marysville, where they have lived most of the time since. They were parents of six sons. Four of them are, Weldon and Wayne of Keller, Douglas of Valley View and Jimmy of Eules. Two are deceased. They have 15 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

A three tiered wedding cake, baked by a granddaughter, Mrs. Melinda Cloer of Valley View, was served with punch and coffee. About 125 friends and relatives attended from Texas and Oklahoma.

Club Hears Talk on CPR Awareness

Twelve members of the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club heard a program by Mrs. Pat Wimmer on "CPR Awareness" during their August meeting in the home of Mrs. Sharon Wolf, club president, who presented a gift plant to the speaker, in appreciation.

While enjoying refreshments served by the hostess, members reviewed the past year's accomplishments. Highlights were: a refreshment booth at Germanfest annually, when hot dogs and German Sweet Chocolate Cake became established favorites. The profits are used for the Club's Charitable projects.

Another highlight was the club's Christmas party for members and spouses held in the Bernard Luke residence. A "family picnic" was held at the park and pool in July.

Profits from the Germanfest booth helped the Bluebonnet Extension Homemakers Club to donate $500 to a needy family in Muenster; to donate $80 to St. Richard's Villa for weekly bingo games for residents; to hold a Valentine party for St. Richard's residents; and to furnish refreshments.

Other donations were two books to Muenster Public Library and one book to each of the two school libraries, on religious cults. In December, shortly before Christmas, the club donated $500 to the Cooke County Development Center in Gainesville, to help purchase a sewing machine, an electric roaster and a freezer. In June the Bluebonnets made another donation, choosing not to wait until next Christmas. With this $750 donation a Rockwell arm saw was purchased, and new teaching aids for a new class to be offered this fall were provided.

TV...20th Century Tool in Evangelism

Television is "God's chosen tool of the 20th Century in evangelism," but it never can replace the fellowship of believers in the local church, one of the best known "television converts" believes.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., remembered by millions as Inspector Lew Erskine of "The F.B.I. Story," talked recently of his conversion and the electronic medium that brought him into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

Zimbalist was interviewed while at The Christian Broadcasting Network, Inc., to appear on CBN's magazine-style TV show, "The 700 Club." The network is based in Virginia Beach.

Television, one of the most powerful and pervasive forces in modern life, is an effective adjunct to the church, Zimbalist suggested, but not a substitute for it.

Christian television is an effective tool for "catching fish," said Zimbalist.

He should know. He was caught in the "net" cast by Channel 40, KTVN, the Christian television station in Los Angeles that broadcasts 24 hours a day.

A chronic insomniac, Zimbalist spent many nights watching old movies on TV. One sleepless night, unable to find anything interesting, he began fiddling with the dial and located Channel 40.

He recalls being amused at first by the programming. But he was fascinated. "I came to feel that I knew these people," said Zimbalist. And he began to listen to what they said. "I came to think a lot about my own salvation. I thought I had been saved. I thought sprinkling was all there was to it."

After watching and thinking for a year, Zimbalist one night—quietly, in his family room at home—telephoned a counselor at the Christian station and gave his life to Jesus Christ.

He hesitated to call, Zimbalist said, afraid that his name would be recognized at once. He wanted anonymity.

"Everything came together at once," he said. "I came to see that if I didn't confess Christ before men, He would not confess me before God. And that, in effect, I was ashamed to admit that I needed Him in my life. Once that was made clear to me, I called the show and spoke to one of their counselors."

Zimbalist said he had been on a lifelong search for a personal relationship with God. That search had taken him from a traditional church into nine years of Transcendental Meditation.

"I was seeking God," the veteran actor recalls. He remembers that on his TM membership application, in the space where it asked by he wanted to join, Zimbalist wrote: "To come closer to God."

"I think God honored that," said Zimbalist. He never found meditation satisfying, he added.

Zimbalist, who starred in two of TV's best known and longest running series, "77 Sunset Strip" and "The F.B.I. Story," now sees the medium as a powerful weapon in the war for souls.

But he takes issue with the "electronic church" label now in vogue with regard to religious TV programming.

"We're called to a fellowship of believers," said Zimbalist. "The way the Lord has chosen for us is a fellowship. I don't think television can substitute for that."

He talked about sharing and interaction among believers. "You can't sit watching a TV screen and have these things happen to you," said Zimbalist.

Ministry is not confined to pulpit or television screen, but takes place "in the whole body," he added.

Call-in counseling ministries, such as that pioneered by CBN, go a long way toward converting the television ministry from a one-way street to a two-way dialogue between viewer and televangelist.

Last year, for example, CBN's 83 domestic and foreign counseling centers staffed by 12,000 volunteers received 1.4 million telephone calls from "700 Club" viewers worldwide.

Counselors prayed with these people to receive Jesus Christ; for physical healings; to resolve marital problems; and for a myriad of other matters.

But often this is "emergency aid," and not adequate for sustained Christian growth. So "700 Club" counselors try to link callers—particularly new converts—to local churches. More than 5,000 church congregations nationwide cooperate with CBN in this undertaking and accept referrals for in-depth counseling, if needed, and church affiliation.

While television ministries enrich and supplement local church programs, "Christians shouldn't be dependent on Christian television" for their total spiritual nourishment, said Zimbalist.

Christians must "take responsibility and action," he added, and the channel for those is the local church.

The people at Channel 40 put Zimbalist in touch with a nearby congregation, the Church of the Way. Zimbalist is still a member of that fellowship, where a number of people from the entertainment world also worship.

Zimbalist's television career was launched inauspiciously in 1946 with a bit part in "Mr. and Mrs. North," one of the first TV whodunits, now a classic.

The son of a concert violinist, Zimbalist in the early 1950's worked four years with his father at the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, mostly composing classical music.

His acting career has run the gamut from Broadway to motion pictures to television.

Monica Gehrig, Roger Haverkamp Exchange Vows in Two-Ring Nuptial

Monica Gehrig became the bride of Roger Haverkamp Saturday, September 6 in a late afternoon Nuptial Mass and traditional double ring ceremony officiated by Father Stephen Eckart and Father Nicholas Fuhrmann, uncle of the groom, in Sacred Heart Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schilling and the late George Gehrig. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Haverkamp. Both are graduates of Sacred Heart High School and she is a graduate of Grayson County College with an ADN in Nursing and is employed at Gainesville Memorial Hospital. He is a welder employed by National Supply Co. in Gainesville.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her mother and stepfather. Meeting them at the entrance to the sanctuary were the groom and his parents.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar decorated with large arrangements of white gladioli and burgundy and pink carnations, with lighted candles at the main altar and the couple's anniversary candle on the front altar.

For her wedding the bride chose a formal gown of white chantilly lace fashioned with a Victorian neckline, long torso bodice, long slim sleeves, with a crystal pleated ruffle falling softly over the wrist, and a similar ruffle edging the sheer yoke, accented with sequins and pearls.

A sheer cascade of overlapping tiers, each edged with crystal pleated ruffles formed the overskirt and extended into the chapel train.

She wore a bridal hat of re-embroidered Chantilly lace enhanced with finger tip streamers of English illusion.

In keeping with tradition she wore her mother's diamond ring for "something old" and carried her Grandmother Muller's rosary for "something borrowed." Her diamond earrings were a gift from the groom. She carried a cascading bridal bouquet of burgundy tiger-lilies, pink sweetheart roses and phlox, surrounded by lily of the valley, babies breath and English ivy.

Attendants

Bridal attendants were her sister Dianne Bedolla, matron of honor; Laurie Walterscheid maid of honor; Stacie Walterscheid, bride's niece and Jeanie Haverkamp, groom's sister as bridesmaids; and Kerry Haverkamp, groom's sister as junior bridesmaid. They were identically gowned in dresses of burgundy dacron polyester organza designed with draped bodice, bell sleeves and double wrapped tulip skirts. Their flowers were complementary to the bride's and were carried on an elegant French lace fan. They wore a burgundy tiger-lily and a sprig of white babies breath in their hair.

The best man was the groom's cousin, Billy Huchton. Groomsmen were Nicky Stoffels, another cousin; and Bernie Fette and Joe Hoedbeck, classmates of the groom and Kyle Walterscheid, bride's nephew as junior groomsmen.

Ushers were Darrell Walterscheid, bride's nephew, Brent Hess bride's cousin, Mike Stoffels groom's cousin and Glenn Hess, a friend of the couple. Mass servers were Jason and Ryan Gehrig, bride's nephews and Linus and Kevin Fuhrmann, groom's cousins.

Wedding music was given by Mrs. Linda Flusche, and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Yosten, a vocal group, and Carolyn Luke, soloist.

The Offertory gifts were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gehrig, the bride's brother and sister-in-law and their son Michael. Liturgical Readings were given by Yvonne Campbell, bride's sister, Julie Bayer, a friend and Beverly Fuhrmann, a niece.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple, for 500 guests. Securing signatures of guests were Mrs. Yvonne Campbell sister of the bride and Monica Hartman a friend. The bride's book was on a table covered with a lace cloth made by the groom's Grandmother Fuhrmann. Also displayed were the couple's memory candle and portraits of the bride. Reception assistants were Betty Rose Walterscheid and Monika Blanton and Michelle Blanton of Mineral Wells, Laura Richards of Euless, Vicki Muller of Bedford and Sherri Muller of Muenster, cousins of the bride.

The bride's table was covered in white with a pink net over-skirt, which was caught up in swag-effect and tied with burgundy ribbon, white pom-pom mums and white wedding bells.

Centering the bride's table was a three tiered wedding cake over a burgundy fountain and two complementing side cakes with connecting bridges and stairways. Miniature wedding party figurines were placed on the stairs. Pink roses and white satin wedding bells ornamented the cakes. Adding to table decor were the bridesmaids' flowers and lace fans. On either end of the long table was a cluster of three hurricane lamps in circles of flowers.

Guest tables were decorated with silver spiral candleholders, burgundy candles, silver and burgundy silk flowers. Suspended from the ceiling above the dance floor was a large hanging basket filled to overflowing with white flowers and greenery, made by Mrs. Arnold Knabe.

Following dinner, traditional toasts and visiting, guests danced to music by Hard Times.

The rehearsal dinner was held on September 4 at The Center Restaurant, hosted by the groom's parents for 30 guests, family members, grandparents and wedding party and Fathers Stephen and Denis. A floral centerpiece was given to the bride by the hosts, and the couple presented gifts to their attendants.

On August 19, a lingerie and bath shower honored the bride in the home of her mother when hostess were Mmes. Julian Walterscheid, Jim Gehrig, Joe Bedolla and Duncan Campbell. Sixteen relatives and classmates attended.

When the couple returns from a trip to Las Vegas they will be at home in Muenster.

Walterscheid Baptism

Erik Earl Anthony Walterscheid, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Walterscheid, was baptized on Sunday, August 24 at 1 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church with Father Stephen Eckart officiating. His godparents were an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Walterscheid. Others attending were a sister and brother, Jeannene and Kenneth, Jr. and a grandmother, Mrs. Flo Walterscheid and the great-grandmother, Mrs. Rosie Walterscheid. The baby wore the same baptismal dress as his sister and brother, and handmade by their mother. Following the church service the parents hosted a dinner in their home. Joining them were the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Klement.

Gieb Baptism

The baptism of Stacie Diane Gieb was held Sunday, September 7 in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay. She is the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gieb. Father Cletus Post officiated at 10:45 a.m. Baptismal sponsors were an aunt, Mrs. Sharon Bridges of Gainesville and an uncle, Robin Wimmer of Muenster. Stacie Diane wore the traditional Christening dress of the Andy Wimmer family and handmade by Mrs. Wimmer. Following the church service, attended by about 30 members of both families, all were luncheon guests of the Louis Giebs.

Hermes Baptism

Loren Michelle Hermes, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Hermes, was baptized in Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, September 7, with Father Stephen Eckart officiating. The baptismal sponsors were an uncle, Karl Klement and an aunt, Kellye Grewing. Relatives attending were grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Klement and Mr. and Mrs. Tony Hermes; also the great-grandmother Mrs. Joe Haverkamp of Gainesville; and Loren's brother Jeffrey and their uncle, Kirk Klement. Loren wore her mother's christening gown, made by Mrs. Martin Klement. Following the church ceremony, the baby's parents hosted a family gathering in their home, when a decorated cake was served with ice cream and coffee.

Four Make Tour of Alaska

Mrs. Arthur Hellman returned home recently from a two week tour in Alaska. She was accompanied by her son and daughter-in-law, Doug and Mary Hellman of Dallas and their nephew of New Jersey.

The group flew to Anchorage where they were greeted by a pleasant 52 degree mid-day temperature.

From Anchorage the tour led to other points of interest including Fairbanks, Mt. McKinley, huge glaciers, Sitka and Juneau.

The short summer season was ending early this year, consequently the tour experienced unusually cool weather. Several nights were recorded at 32 degrees. Snow fell for three hours one day, and in another area there was a three inch blanket of snow when they arrived.

The last phase of the tour was aboard a luxury cruise ship for the trip from Juneau to Vancouver. This was especially interesting because of the spectacular views of the huge glaciers.

J. J. Reynolds celebrated his birthday Mon. Sept. 8th - he was honored with a family party by his granddaughter Mrs. Larry Elridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie G. Snider have purchased the Gerald Lanier house close to the Forestburg School. I am given to understand that Mr. Snider is a retired Service man. The Sniders have moved into their new home. One lovely Forestburg lady said she hoped they'd be a big asset to our community and that we should all welcome them warmly. I certainly agree with this lady but I just hope that the Forestburg Community will be a big asset to Mr. and Mrs. Snider. This works both ways.

Happy 30th Birthday from Mom & Dad and Brenda

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Britian and son Jason and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Britian of Saint Jo visited their parents the week end.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Berry Sunday August 24 were Miss Johnnie Christian and Mrs. Lauream Robertson of Denton, George Stephenson of Gainesville, Mrs. Ima King of Bowie, and Miss Kathryn Fortenberry of Decatur.

Mrs. Nell Roach tells us that the new pastor at the Forestburg Baptist Church is the Rev. Bob Ellis, of Fort Worth. Rev. Ellis also attends the Seminary in Fort Worth.

The annual Berry reunion was held Sunday August 24 at the Ross Point Community Center, with approximately 75 relatives attending. They were from states New Mexico, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas, and Texas cities, Wichita Falls, Electra, Vernon, Grand Prairie and the Cooke and Montague County area. One gentleman 86 years young made the trip from the state of Arkansas. Some of the relatives from Arkansas had a laying house with 35,000 birds, and said the eggs were gathered and washed all automatically, another relative in Arkansas had a broiler house with 45,000 birds.

A very delicious lunch was served at the noon hour and all had a very enjoyable time visiting.

Miss Lois Bewley and Mrs. C.H. Christian were Muenster visitors Monday, August 25 and visited Mrs. Bertha Bewley in St. Richards Villa and then visited Mrs. Essie Agee in Yes-ter-Year, Saint Jo.

The third week in July Mr. and Mrs. Winston

Roach went deep sea fishing, some 10 to 15 miles off shore, they caught 50 large King fish, and on Sunday August 24 they shared their nice catch by having a fish fry at their home. The fish were served at 6 p.m. then following the fish fry at 7:30 the Rev. Bob Ellis held his regular Sunday night church service at the Roach home. After the service they enjoyed a time of fellowship with volley ball, ping pong and other games. Those in attendance were: Dale and Linda Hudspeth and Leal, Beth Holzbug, Mr. and Mrs. H.K. Iund and Brad, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Brewer and Channa, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lovette, Jason Bowman, C.P. Roach, Olin and Cariece Merritt, Mrs. Wilma Thurman, Mrs. Louise Shults, Mrs. Frances Brewer, Mrs. Lyndal Richardson, Marilyn and Garry Greenroy, and Rev. Ellis and the Roaches, and Milinda and Jimmy Smith, Brad and Deann Roach.

Mrs. Ida Kuykendall continues to be improving from her recent illness at the home of her daughter Melba in Irving.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lovette accompanied Rev. Dennis Pellett, pastor of Lewisville Baptist Church, and a Church activity group to Eureka Springs, Mo. to attend the passion play of Christ.

Wessley and Warren Sicking accompanied their sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Tony Mosenbocker of Gainesville to Six Flags, Mon. Aug. 18, all report an enjoyable time.

Mrs. Jimmie Britian reports that her mother Mrs. Ida Kuykendall has been admitted to the H.E.B. hospital in Bedford, she will have tests Tuesday September 2. Mrs. Kuykendall's son-in-law Charles Cook was admitted to H.E.B. hospital Wednesday August 27 and dismissed Saturday.

Mrs. Estelle Kelley accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Kelley and children to Plainview Friday August 29, for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Don Kelsey. They found Don at home after having had skin grafting on his leg. He will have to re-enter the hospital later for more of the same. They returned home Sunday August 30 and came by the Transcendental Meditation Center where they toured the building.

Miss Lois Bewley, Lonnie and Clyde visited Mrs. Ima King in Bowie Sunday afternoon August 31.

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Amis of Plano visited her mother Mrs. Estelle Kelley the weekend of Aug. 22-23.

Sadness came to our community three times last week. First the Berry Families learned of the death of their sister and aunt Miss Ruth Berry.

Miss Ruth Berry was born Dec. 31, 1905 in Rosston, the daughter of the late Hollis M. and Zuma Berry. The Berrys were a pioneer family of Rosston. Ruth passed away at her home 301 Pecan St. in Gainesville. She moved from Rosston to Gainesville several years ago and was a nurse in the Denton State School in Denton, and was retired. ## Women's Commune Offered Shelter to Battered Wives

COLLEGE STATION — Many pioneer women who helped settle Texas wanted independence, not from Mexico, but from their husbands, said a Texas A&M University English scholar who has been researching a 19th century women's commune in central Texas.

The commune, known as the Sanctification Sisters of Belton, was founded by Martha McWhirter, who "got a different kind of religion" and turned away from her old church and husband in the 1870s, said Dr. Harriette Andreadis.

"She offered a haven for women who had been battered by their husbands or who had had so many children that they couldn't cope any longer," Andreadis said.

However, these women were not following current trends of abandoning husbands and children. They took their children to the commune, Andreadis said, adding that at its highest population there were about 50 women and children in residence.

From now until early October is the proper time to apply BALAN, a weed killer that kills weeds before they sprout. It will control winter grass and many other fall sprouting weeds that cause problems in the spring. A repeat application in February will control summer weeds like crabgrass, grassburrs, dallis grass and other summer weeds.

It's also time to plant your fall bulbs and bedding plants. We have just received new shipments of both. Stop by the Garden Center for all your lawn and garden needs.

Cub Scout News Den 4

Den 4 Cub Scouts opened a new year of Scouting by meeting on September 2 in the home of den leader, Lupe Evans. Jason Brogdon is Denner for September and Don Joe Park is Assistant Denner.

The Cubs were shown changes in their uniforms and discussed the Scout-A-Rama scheduled for November 15 in Gainesville. After learning a new song they continued the meeting out-of-doors, working on their Physical Fitness Achievement.

A birthday cake brought by hostess Cheryl Polk, was served to honor Johnny Herr and Joseph Shane Wimmer on their birthdays.

Working toward their Bear Badge are all Den 4 Cubs; Johnny Herr, Joseph Shane Wimmer, Jeff Walterscheid, Don Joe Park, Jason Brogdon and Murlin Ray Evans.

Eleventh Graders Lead CCD Liturgy

Eleventh graders of the CCD classes of Sacred Heart Parish led the liturgy last night during the regular Wednesday evening Mass. Theme of the special liturgy was "GRACE - God's LIFE WITHIN YOU."

The first Reading was given by Charlotte Fleitman and the Responsorial Psalm was led by Doug Walterscheid. Prayers of the Faithful were led by grade 11, whose CCD teacher is Mrs. Maryanne Fleitman. Offertory gifts were presented by Carla Walterscheid, Jill Walterscheid, Dale Swirczynski and David Flusche.

Mass servers for the 8 p.m. Mass were Jerry Brawner, Rodney Knabe, Ricky Walterscheid, Stuart Hess and Joe Pagel.

On Wednesday, September 17, the liturgy will include "A Tribute to the CCD Altar Boys."

Books by Mail List 100 New Titles

The Books By Mail Service of the Northeast Texas Library System announces the release of a new book catalog supplement. This list of 100 recently published titles, including current best sellers, romances, westerns, and books for children, is currently being mailed to residents of Northeast Texas who qualify for this service.

Over 1,000 titles in paperback on subjects ranging from biography to homecrafts are offered through Books by Mail. A selection of Large Print books is also available.

Books by Mail serves residents in counties where there is no local library service and is offered upon request to anyone who is homebound due to a physical handicap, lack of transportation, or residency in a nursing home. This service is made possible by state and federal funds through the Northeast Texas Library System.

If you qualify for this service or would like more information, contact Books by Mail, Northeast Texas Library System, 1954 Commerce Street, Dallas, TX. 75201.

Bluebonnet Seed In Short Supply But Available

Now is the time to plant Bluebonnet seeds--if you can find them.

The crippling drought has reduced the Bluebonnet seed harvest to a fraction of the usual production.

Carroll Abbott of Kerrville--the state's only fulltime wildflower seed and plant collector--usually sells tons of Bluebonnet seeds each season, but he is now limiting his customers to a maximum of 50 pounds each.

The short supply of seed, however, have an extremely high rate of germination. "It seems like Mother Nature wanted every seed which was produced to grow," Abbott says. "Our germination rate was tested at the State Seed Laboratory and came out to an amazing 94 per cent."

Despite the shortage, Abbott's mail-order seed firm--Green Horizons--still sells the smaller packages at former prices. A thousand seed, for example, costs $2.35, including tax and postage. With each order, Abbott sends along cultural notes on how to grow Bluebonnets successfully and a list of nearly 60 other wildflowers which should be planted now.

His address is 500 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, TX. 78028.

Bluebonnets are easy to grow--if you follow a few simple rules, Abbott explains. Prepare the seed by soaking three or four days in baby-bottle-warm water, changing the water daily, to dissolve the lacquer-like coating on the seeds. Plant the seeds in late summer or early fall and cover them up with soil. Tamp the seed bed to make it firm--even walk over it lightly. And then water thoroughly.

The seeds will begin sprouting in 7 to 10 days and for weeks afterwards, Abbott says.

Sowbugs especially love Bluebonnet seedlings and an all-purpose insecticide should be used, he says.

CPR Certificate

Persons who completed the recent CPR course at Muenster Hospital are reminded that they can pick up their certificates at the hospital.

Enrollment Funds Increase at CCC

Good news in enrollment and financial standing was reported to Cooke County College trustees at their meeting Monday.

The count of students as of Monday was 1,591 a gain of 64. This includes 53 in the Denton licensed vocational nursing program just taken over by CCC.

Regarding finances, Tom Woods, business manager, said an expected deficit of $181,397 in fiscal 79-80 came out as a $66,000 profit.

as the college had income of $3,401,333 and outgo of $3,334,811. The gain was explained as more tuitions and fees than expected, more tax revenue, and higher interest earnings on bank deposits. At the same time the budget was helped by reduction of expense in maintenance and academics. Woods said higher interest rates this year earned $149,382 for the college whereas the former income was about $80,000.

State Fair Oct. 3-19

After a summer of record-breaking, "broken record" bouts with heat and inflation, Texans are ready to welcome the state's biggest annual celebration, the State Fair, 1980-dated for October 3-19.

This year's theme, "Around the World in '80," has brought renewed emphasis on international participation in the exhibit program and an entertainment lineup that globe-hops from Tahitian fire-dancers and Scottish pipers to Trinidadian steel drummers and Australian folk musicians.

Special days are designated to honor Texans of German, Czech, Norwegian and Mexican heritage, and first-week fairgoers will be offered the stirring spectacle of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride. The Mounties will perform their intricate drill between events at the State Fair Rodeo, participate in the evening parades and be highly visible elsewhere on the grounds.

The rodeo will attract more than 500 cowboys from the professional circuit to compete for prize money and points in the national standings. Bronc and bull riders, calf ropers, steer wrestlers and barrel racers will provide rugged action in the Coliseum, October 4-12.

Richard Burton will recreate his original role in Lerner and Loewe's classic, "Camelot," the 1980 State Fair Musical. The show, which has just completed a two-month sold-out engagement in New York, comes to the Music Hall as part of a limited national tour. "Camelot" opens on September 30 for 24 evening and matinee performances. Joining Burton in the cast are Christine Ebersole, Richard Muenz and Paxton Whitehead.

The most important football game of this or any year, at least in the minds of Texas Longhorn and Oklahoma Sooners fans, is scheduled for the afternoon of October 11, in the legendary Cotton Bowl.

The lure of the latest makes and models is sure to attract thousands daily to the 1981 Automobile Show. Demonstrations by expert cooks, on-the-spot contests and fashion shows are featured in the Women's Building, while the Food and Fiber Pavilion offers a broad overview of Texas products. The Food Pavilion will again showcase exhibits by the giants of that industry with long lines as a testimony to the popularity of sampling procedures.

The prestigious Pan-American Livestock Show and related events provide a forum for breeders and buyers as well as an opportunity for fair visitors to see the finest beef and dairy cattle, swine, sheep, goats and poultry. Horse shows are another important part of the livestock program.

There's an abundance of free entertainment at this year's Fair. Daily performances of a 3-ring circus, parades, fireworks displays, military band concerts, street dances, skateboard competition and gospel sings are among the fairgoers' choice, all without charge.

No fair would be complete without something to ride and something to eat, and the Midway offers both, plus games, souvenirs and shows, along a crowded corridor that stretches from Big Tex to the Comet Coaster. The temporarily tired and the perpetually hungry will also enjoy the concession oasis on Cotton Bowl Plaza and the numerous restaurants located in or near exhibit buildings.

Group tickets to the Fair may be ordered at a 20% discount until September 30. For information, call 214/565-9931. Rodeo tickets will be sold through all Rainbow Ticket Outlets, 214/521-3670. Tickets for "Camelot" are available only at the State Fair Box Office, 214/521-7200. Football tickets should be obtained through the individual universities.

CARD OF THANKS

The kindness of relatives friends and neighbors during the long illness and at the death and funeral of our mother will be a treasured memory for our family. We are especially grateful to Father Denis and Father Stephen, Dr. Antonetti, the staffs of Muenster Memorial Hospital and St. Richard's Villa and to many others for special favors, spiritual bouquets and visits. More thanks are due those who set food for the family dinner and the ladies who prepared it. Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mrs. C. J. (Annie) Wimmer.

The family of Olivia Streng wishes to express sincere gratitude to Father Denis, Father Cleus, Dr. Juarez and the staff of Muenster Memorial Hospital for care given Olivia while she was in the hospital. We appreciate so much all the Mass offerings, prayers, visits, cards and words of kindness following her death. We will always remember your thoughtfulness.

Temperature Drops Below 100

Finally the heat situation is improving, but just barely. As of Wednesday the city has had five temperature readings under 100, possibly stopping the record heat wave with a total of 72 days of 100 or more.

Even so, the temperatures still are in the high nineties. Readings of the week were recorded as follows by Steve Mosler. Sept. 4, 76 and 103; Sept. 5, 75 and 102; Sept. 6, 72 and 98; Sept. 7, 73 and 96; Sept. 8, 76 and 95; Sept. 9, 70 and 96; Sept. 10, 73 and 97.

Readings on 5th and 10th also showed rain measures of .04 and .06 respectively. It's the only moisture to date for September and increases the year's total to 9.85 inches at a time that normally would be about 20 inches. Mosler said the rain total is only 2.09 inches since June 1. It was 1.61 for June, .26 for July, .12 for August, .10 for September to date.

American companies have invested $4.4 billion to clean up our air and water. Another $3 billion is necessary to keep the industry's commitment to meeting federal air and water quality standards established to protect public health.

Subsurface steam spins turbines for largest geothermal plant

SANTA ROSA, Calif. — Subsurface steam developed by Aminoil USA, Inc. is spinning the turbine for what is now the largest geothermal steam-powered electric generating unit in the world.

Rated at 135,000 kilowatts, Unit 13, which is owned and operated by Pacific Gas and Electric Company, recently entered service at "The Geysers" in northern California.

The plant, which is powered solely by steam created from heat deep in the earth's interior, provides the electric utility company the capacity to serve more than 100,000 customers annually.

The geothermal steam also enables PG&E to bypass the use of petroleum which normally is used to spin the turbines of more conventional electric plants. The utility estimates that about 1.2 million barrels of oil would have been consumed annually to generate the same volume of electricity.

The new PG&E plant receives its geothermal power supply from 21 wells drilled by Aminoil. From the wellheads, the steam travels through five miles of transmission lines, which are controlled by computers in the plant. The pipeline carries 2.7 million pounds per hour of steam to the plant.

Geothermal steam is the product of heat generated by molten liquids, or magma — located 20 some miles below the earth's surface. In some places, like The Geysers, this core is relatively close to the earth's surface — rising as close as five-to-ten miles.

Water seeps down through fractures in the rock layers and is heated by the magma. Because of the high pressures below the surface, the water remains in liquid form, despite its temperature of about 375 degrees Fahrenheit.

As the water escapes, rising upward through natural fractures or man-made vents (wells), the pressure drops and the water bursts through the earth's surface as dry, super-heated steam.

Although The Geysers area was discovered over 100 years ago, it was not until the 1960's that the significant application of steam to electric production began. At the beginning of the decade, PG&E initiated commercial operations of its first geothermal unit — an 11,000 kilowatt plant.

Contracts to supply steam to the 135,000 kilowatt plant were signed in 1973. In addition to that contract, Aminoil will be developing and supplying steam to PG&E's Units 16 and 19, which will have respective capacities of 110,000 kilowatts and 55,000 kilowatts, and to a 55,000 kilowatt unit to be constructed by the Sacramento Municipal Utility District.

A subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., Aminoil is an independent oil company engaged primarily in domestic operations. In addition to geothermal activities, the company also explores for and produces oil and natural gas; processes natural gas and markets petroleum products.

Subsurface steam developed by Aminoil USA, Inc. is spinning the turbine of the world's largest geothermal steam-powered electric generating plant.

from the Texas Energy Extension Service

What are some factors or considerations to bear in mind when selecting a site for an earth shelter home? G. H., Mathis.

A total familiarity with the proposed site for an underground shelter is extremely important.

According to Stu Campbell in The Underground House Book, before selecting a final site, you should examine soil samples, take test borings to determine the depth of the soil in various parts of the lot, and determine the ground water depth and movement patterns.

You should also make certain that adjacent homes do not interfere with your access to sunlight.

Regardless of the type of soil the underground shelter sits on, it must have adequate drainage. Excessive moisture in the soil increases the possibility of a damp living area and causes unnecessary pressures to build against the walls. It also conducts more heat away from the sides of the house.

The ideal site for an earth shelter should have adequate space, good digging, superior drainage, and a slight southerly slope with bedrock well below the surface. It should also be located in a seismically stable area with a low water table.

For general information and sources on earth shelters, contact the Texas Energy Extension Service for a free earth shelter packet.

We would like information on energy saving heating and cooling systems. We are particularly interested in the heat pump. R. G., Coleman.

The Texas Energy Extension Service has available a fact sheet on energy-efficient air conditioning units for the home and a fact sheet on heat pumps for homes and businesses.

Both of these are available free by contacting the Texas Energy Extension Service, Center for Energy and Mineral Resources, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Assassin bug can be fatal

COLLEGE STATION — The blood-sucking assassin bug in Texas is infected with a sometime fatal parasitic disease that is passed on to its human victims, and vacationers this summer should take measures to avoid the night-feeding insect, say Texas A&M University researchers.

The infection, known as Chagas' disease, or American trypanosomiasis, is often fatal to infants and young animals. The disease causes enlargement of the esophagus, colon and heart, hinders digestion and results in the thinning of the walls of the heart.

Callisburg Nips Hornets 13-12

With 4 minutes and 17 seconds remaining, the MHS Hornets' game with Callisburg had become a matter of a single play. Following their touchdown they were trailing 13-12, and the try for 2 points would make them winners or losers by a single point. It failed to reach the goal, so MHS went down in defeat in its season opener.

The contest was about as close as the score. Each team had two successful drives but did very little otherwise. And while Muenster led 8 to 7 in the count of first downs, Callisburg led 145 to 116 in total yardage and also had the better record in turnovers and penalties. Each team lost possession once by a fumble, Muenster lost three times and Callisburg once by interception. Muenster was set back 67 yards by penalties and Callisburg 47. Muenster rushing totaled 61 yards but losses of 29 yards left the net at only 32. MHS gained 84 and Callisburg 50 through the air.

The game opened with an exchange of kicks, the second, by the Wildcats, being a dandy which set the Hornets back to their 8. Promptly after that MHS fumbled and the visitors had a set-up on the 15. Hornet defense was good there, but not good enough. The Wildcats got their first down by an inch, then used three more tries in making the last 5 yards. Overstreet scored from the 1. A kick for PAT missed. The visitors led 6-0 with 3:02 remaining in the first period. Muenster responded with a try at its passing game and was delighted with the result. After an exchange of punts, it started at the Hornet 45, where Dale Swirczynski connected with Tim Schneider for 10, and on the next play with David Flusche for 25. Gary Klement's gain of 6 plus 7 free yards on a facemask penalty reached the 7 yard line where two tries yielded nothing. The next was a pass to Tim Schneider for a TD. The PAT attempt was spoiled by a bad snap-back, leaving the count at 6-6.

Early in the second period Muenster seemed to be doing fine as Rusty Serna intercepted and stormed some 20 yards to the Wildcat 30, but an official ruled that a

Rough and Tough Rodeo Scheduled For State Fair

The roughest, toughest, most professional cowboys in the United States will be competing in the 1980 State Fair Championship Rodeo held during the first week of the State Fair of Texas, October 3 through 19. More than 500 daredevil bronc busters, bull riders, steer wrestlers, calf ropers and fearless cowgirl barrel racers will be competing for more than $75,000 in prize money.

The State Fair of Texas has one of the top ten purses on the Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association's (PRCA) circuit and is one of the last major rodeos before the National Finals Rodeo is held in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma during December. At the National Finals, the top 15 contestants in each event for the past year will compete for world championship titles. The contestants qualify based on purse money they win throughout the 1980 season thereby enticing the top cowboys in the world to compete at the State Fair Championship Rodeo as the race for the finals comes to a close.

Rodeo producer Tommy Steiner will supply first-rate rodeo bucking stock while master of ceremonies Don Endsley's professional style of announcing will delight new rodeo fans and satisfy the demands of the rodeo veteran.

The color and pageantry of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Musical Ride will be this year's featured entertainment. The Musical Ride, featuring a full troop of 32 men and horses, is a breathtaking display of intricate figures and movements, set to music, and highlighted by the RCMP Force's regimental colors of royal blue and yellow set off by the scarlet color of the tunics.

Hornet had blocked illegally setting the ball back to the Hornet 43. That was followed by a holding penalty after which Hunter intercepted for Callisburg.

Hornet defense did a fine job in the closing minute of the half. Back to back passes advanced the Wildcats 13 yards to the 17 and the next four plays gained only 5.

Starting the second half Callisburg put on the best drive of the game, overcoming a 15 yard penalty along the way. The 75 yard rush used 14 plays including a 19 yard pass to Schumann, an 11 yard run by Overstreet and a 12 yard assist by a face mask penalty. Overstreet went over from the 4, Hamilton kicked the extra point. The visitors led 13-6 at 3:38 in the third.

Muenster's rally started early in the fourth period from midfield. Gary Klement led the way with a 10 yard romp and an 18 yard pass reception to the 20. Two plays later Serna appeared to be headed for a score but was pushed out of bounds on the 4.

Next two tries failed to gain and Serna on the third was stopped a yard short. On the final play Swirczynski seemed to be going for a right end sweep when he spotted Schneider wide open in the end zone, and tossed the ball over for a TD. The catch was Tim's fifth of the game, his second for a score. Going for the 2 point

Brian Bednorz, 11, was first to get to this loose ball in Sacred Heart's 21-6 loss at Petrolia. John Hartman, 43, and Curtis Hesse, 35, are in the action.

Tigers Lose 21-6 to Petrolia

The magic that carried Sacred Heart's Tigers through a great 10-2 season last year did not carry over to this year's season opener. They were frustrated 21-6 at Petrolia last Friday.

Their big problem was turnovers, as they fumbled the ball away 4 times and lost it twice by interceptions. The Pirates lost possession 3 times by fumbles and once by interception. Another problem was poor field position. After their first period touchdown they spent their time mostly in the far end of the field.

The game started as a defensive standoff with each team stopping the other through two series of downs. Following the second Petrolia punt, the Tigers got started with the goal 47 yards away. Two short gains by Kirk Mollenkopf and one by John Hartman advanced to a first down on the 36, Mike Nash scooted around right end for 6 and then heaved a touchdown pass to Brian Bednorz for the remaining 30 yards. A kick for the PAT missed and the Tigers led 6-0.

The defensive deadlock then resumed as each team booted to the other three times before Kirk Mollenkopf broke the monotony with an interception and 25 yard run-back to the Pirate 35. Following the previous punts Sacred Heart started from the 9, the 11 and the 2.

Rick Hennigan promptly stepped off 15 to the 20 and the Tigers were looking fine, but a fumble on the 19 suddenly turned things around. It was the play that sparked a Pirate drive of 80 yards in five plays using only 1:28 minutes.

Turner made 10 yards and Guice on successive carries gained 8, 11 and 11. That left 37 yards and 33 seconds. Gary Allen was equal to the job connecting with Gerald Majors on a touchdown pass. Tim Gains kicked the extra point 15 seconds before the half ended.

After intermission Sacred Heart advanced on a penalty and punted on the next series and regained possession on a fumble recovery the next play by Ted Walterscheid, however they lost it on an interception two plays later.

Petrolia responded with two successful series then was halted by John Hartman's fumble recovery. Runs by Hartman and Mollenkopf added 16 and the series that followed ended with a kick. Then the Pirates gained one series before Bednorz recovered their fumble.

The turnover inspired several nice gains by the Tigers: 14 by Hartman, 7 by Mollenkopf, 4 by Hartman and 10 by Nash, and then disaster as the nice drive ended with a fumble just 12 yards away.

From there the Pirates put together their second sensational scoring drive. On the third play Allen passed to Majors for 53 yards and five more plays covered the remaining 35 yards, the scoring play being a 16 yard left end sweep by Guice. Gains added a point giving the Pirates a lead of 14-6 as the clock read 9:57.

Back on offense the Tigers had brief success. They completed one series and survived the second with the help of a roughing penalty, and fumbled the ball away on the third series.

Four plays later Petrolia punted and two plays after that it regained possession on Sacred Heart's fumble... on the Tiger 25 yard line.

Petrolia's effort on the series that followed was handicapped by an offside penalty and barely fell short of the first down yardage.

With 1:27 remaining on the clock and the ball on their 15 yard line, the Tigers made a final desperate effort to get back in the game. A touchdown and 2 point conversion would salvage a tie out of the struggle. But it backfired.

A pass, Nash to Mollenkopf, gained 6 and another was incomplete. And the third was swiped by Wright, who intercepted on the 20 and returned to the 3 before he was hauled down.

The remaining time of 47 seconds was more than enough. On second try Guice went over from the 3 with 8 seconds to spare. Gains kicked the PAT for the win of 21-6.

Tigers, Knights Clash Friday

Lots of football is expected here Friday night as both of the teams concerned strive to make up for miserable games last week. The Lindsay Knights barely salvaged a 6-0 win in their deadlock with Era, and the SH Tigers were dumped 21-6 at Petrolia.

In the opinion of Assistant Virgil Henscheid, Lindsay was lucky to pull out a late win after lousing up a number of opportunities with mistakes, and the team actually is a lot better than the game indicated.

The same applies to his Tigers, whose performance was a solid disappointment from that of pre-season scrimmages. Defense was below par, allowing the Pirates to get many unearned gains, especially the big ones which showed up on the score board. On the other hand the boys spoiled their own opportunities by a rash of fumbles, interceptions and penalties. Another fault was the inability to kick their way out of trouble. They played much too much in terrible field positions.

Henscheid said it's going to be different this week. His players are working hard to correct mistakes, and the same can be taken for granted at Lindsay. There's going to be an added dimension to the traditional epic clash. This time both teams have something to live down.

Hornets vs Nocona Friday

After a pleasing start in last week's season opener with Callisburg, the MHS Hornets and their coaches are confident as they get set for their encounter at Nocona Friday.

According to Coach Stinson it was a moral victory to match the Wildcats in touchdowns and over-all performance even though the Hornets failed on the conversion that could have won. He was especially proud of the defense which allowed only one drive for the visitors.

As regards offense, he was happy about the developing aerial game with Swirczynski completing eight passes, five of them to Tim Schneider. Those gains compensated for the very limited success in the running department. The Wildcats had a strong weight advantage enabling them to control the line offensively and defensively.

About the same situation can be expected at Nocona. The Indians include a number of huskies whereas the Hornets have an average weight of only 157. Furthermore the largest player on the team, John Walterscheid, will be out of action because of an eye injury. He's expected to be out three or four weeks.

Classification favors the Hornet's opponents just as it did last week. Nocona like Callisburg is AA whereas Muenster is Class A.

Another factor which may have a bearing is Nocona's apparent slow start in the season. It was clobbered in its opener with Henrietta, a 3-A powerhouse.

Completes Class in Golf Club Repair

Mark Hess has just completed one week of training in Austin on the manufacture and repair of golf clubs. A part of the course consisted of making clubs from scratch, including details on proper length and weight and types suited to special golfers. Training on repairs consisted of repairing damaged clubs and re-finishing scarred clubs.

Mark has been admitted to an association of golf professionals and manufacturers.

If white or pastel clothing is beginning to look gray or dull, it doesn't tell the neighbors that you seldom do the laundry. It can happen even when you've washed clothes frequently!

"This grimy buildup is called 'soil redeposition,'" says Laura Wenger, consumer information specialist for Johnson Wax. "During the wash/rinse cycle, particles of soil originally removed by the detergent float back and 'redeposit' themselves onto the fabric. They build up very gradually and the soil distributes evenly over the fibers, rather than concentrating into one isolated dirt spot."

The problem is usually noticed after using an aerosol or liquid pre-spotter; it cleans so well that loosened soil may sometimes migrate to the areas around the original stain during washing. It looks as though the stain has spread or left a ring around the originally stained area, even though the "unstained" areas had soil particles on them all along.

The remedy: apply a deep-cleaning laundry soil and stain remover to the entire piece of clothing, and then wash it with the properly measured amount of detergent in the hottest possible water the garment will accept.

For more help with laundry jobs, write for a free copy of "The Shout Working Mother's Guide to Family Laundry" to: Laura Wenger, Johnson Wax, 6901 Corporate Dr., Ste. 111, Houston, TX 77036.

Hearing Loss Is Not A Sign Of Old Age

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike... and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 52516 Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646. 43-XD1

PUBLIC NOTICE
BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS GENERAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1980

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 35 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Legislature to permit banks to establish and operate unmanned teller machines within the county or city where the banks are located and to share the use of teller machines on a basis consistent with anti-trust laws, if it finds such operation will serve the convenience of the public. The Legislature has already passed enabling legislation (H.B. 1510) for this proposed amendment. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to authorize banks to use unmanned teller machines within the county or the city of their domicile on a shared basis to serve the public convenience."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 97 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant the State and the accused the right to an interlocutory appeal from the following trial court rulings in criminal cases: pretrial rulings on the constitutionality of a statute; on a motion to quash, dismiss, or set aside an indictment; and on a motion to suppress evidence. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment authorizing appeal of certain pretrial rulings of a trial court in a criminal case by either the state or the accused."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 98 proposes a constitutional amendment that would require a single appraisal of all property subject to ad valorem taxation and would provide for a single board of equalization within each county. The constitutional requirement that the county commissioners court sit as a board of equalization would be eliminated, and elected officials of the county or governing body of the taxing unit would be prohibited from serving as members of the board of equalization. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment requiring a single appraisal and a single board of equalization within each county for ad valorem tax purposes."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 18 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Legislature to authorize the conduct of bingo games by certain specified groups for charitable purposes, subject to the limitations that operation of the games must be approved in local option elections and that all proceeds must be spent in Texas.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 86 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Legislature to authorize the Governor to exercise fiscal control over the expenditure of certain appropriated funds, subject to any conditions and limitations provided by law and subject to the approval of a budget execution committee that would be composed of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and Chairman and Vice-chairman of the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 8 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Governor who appointed a previously confirmed official to remove that official from office subject to the advice and consent of the Senate; and if the Legislature is not in session, to call a special session of the Senate which may last no longer than 2 days for consideration of the removal.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 121 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize counties with a population of 5000 or less to construct and maintain private roads if they impose a reasonable charge for the work. The Legislature by general law may limit this authority. Revenue received from private road work may be used only for the construction, including right-of-way acquisition, or maintenance of public roads.

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 36 proposes a constitutional amendment that would change the jurisdiction and authority of the State's appellate courts. The amendment would change the name of the Courts of Civil Appeals to Courts of Appeal and provide that these courts have intermediate appellate jurisdiction over both criminal and civil cases. The amendment would change titles for the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court to Justices and would require members of the Supreme Court to be attorneys licensed in this state while holding office. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to change the name of the Courts of Civil Appeals and the names and qualifications of the justices of the Supreme Court and to prescribe the jurisdiction and authority of the appellate courts."

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment to change the name of the Courts of Civil Appeals and the names and qualifications of the justices of the Supreme Court and to prescribe the jurisdiction and authority of the appellate courts."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment which defines separate property owned by either spouse as all property, both real and personal, of a spouse owned or claimed before marriage, and that acquired afterward by gift, devise or descent. Persons about to marry and spouses, without the intent to defraud pre-existing creditors, may by written instrument from time to time partition between themselves all or part of their property. Spouses may exchange a community interest in property owned or to be acquired for a community interest in other community property. The amendment would allow spouses to agree in writing that income or property arising from any separate property is to be separate property rather than as community property as it would be in the absence of an agreement. The amendment proposes that a gift from one spouse to another is presumed to include all income or property deriving from such gift. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows: "The constitutional amendment allowing spouses to agree that income or property arising from separate property is to be separate property."

Haverkamp and Mrs. Ben Luke, both of Muenster. Mrs. Melvin Luke is the former Terry Stulz.

Children's Showcase On Display

The International Children's Showcase which includes approximately thirty display units featuring children's art from seventeen nations will be on display during the month of September at the Gainesville Area Chamber of Commerce, sponsored by Chamber's Human Resources Council, Mrs. Sandy Yarbrough, Director, in conjunction with the Arts Activities group, Patty McLeroy, president.

The International Children's Showcase is part of a collection of one hundred paintings selected from almost three thousand paintings which the Texas Cultural Alliance has received since the founding of the "Hands Around the World" program in 1975 as a national Bicentennial project. The Texas Cultural Alliance is a non-profit organization created in DeSoto, Texas in 1975 in response to completion of several educational and cultural exchange programs between Texas communities and the country of Guatemala. Since its founding, citizens in over sixty Texas communities have participated in Alliance programs who seek to build a better world through better understanding.

As an international citizenship project for Texas children, Hands Around the World is a two part program. Each year, Texas children in public and private schools paint pictures reflecting the theme "Texas Over Texas". Paintings reflect their interpretation of Texas history, folklore and current lifestyles. Texas citizens traveling abroad for business or pleasure serve as alliance couriers. Frequently, commissioned as "Ambassadors of Goodwill" from Texas by the Governor, the couriers present the paintings to the students of foreign countries through meetings arranged for them with foreign educational authorities by officials of United States Embassies. They return to Texas with reciprocal exhibitions from the countries they have visited.

The second part of Hands Around the World program is that volunteers in the Alliance mount the pictures and create them for annual tours in Texas communities. Each child in Texas or abroad contributing artwork receives a "Certificate of Merit" for his or her participation. Hands Around the World makes possible for Texas students an opportunity for positive active and personal investments of themselves in a larger world community. Through Hands Around the World, students discover other countries and become more sensitive to their own culture and American values.

The International Children's Showcase is made possible in part by grants from the Texas Commission on the Arts, the Texas Committee for the Humanities, and patrons of the Texas Cultural Alliance. For further information regarding the display of the International Children's Showcase, contact the Chamber of Commerce, 101 S. Culberson, phone 665-2831.

Confetti... for appropriation ought to show how much was spent and when and for what. If that shows that unspent money was dumped the next appropriation ought to be reduced accordingly. The same applies to fraud. There ought to be ways to identify the cheats and a clear understanding that they will be penalized. This refers to people on the official payroll as well as those who get the handouts.

Here are some of the cases listed by Conservative Digest of hurry-up year end buying to justify a high budget request. Of 80 TV sets purchased at the year end at Fort Riley Kans., 50 were still in cases almost a year later.

A similar incident took place in the Department of Interior where $378,000 of furniture was bought in the last month of fiscal '79 when the department had more than $300,000 of furniture on hand and was paying more than $200,000 a year to store it. And in the final month of fiscal '78 the HUD office of San Francisco spent $319,000 for unneeded furniture, typewriters, calculators and other office equipment.

On orders to "obligate all funds" by year's end, a Youth Conservation Corps Camp of the Department of Interior really splurged in the final quarter of fiscal '78. For fewer than 300 enrollees it bought 1,000 pairs of riding chaps, 4,000 pairs of gloves, 10,000 fence posts, 181 chain saws and $120,000 in lawnmowers and lawnmower parts.

These incidents, included in a report by the Subcommittee on Oversight of Government Management of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, states that additional tens of billions of dollars worth of contracts for products and services are rushed through at year end to beat the spending deadline. For lack of time these are sent through on "sole source" or other non competitive procurement short cuts, adding more estimated millions because of failure to get the lowest prices.

A related expense caused by this year end splurging is the government's need to spend millions of dollars for overtime paid to procurement personnel for processing the flood of late papers.

Christmas in November Committee Meeting Scheduled

A committee of interested women will meet on Tuesday morning, September 16 at 9:30 a.m. to make plans for the Annual Christmas in November Exhibits. For many years a Christmas Event has been held in early November featuring homemade Christmas decorations and gift ideas. Christmas in November is planned and carried out by clubs and individuals from over the entire county. Added features have included demonstrations on a variety of crafts or Christmas decorations.

Any club or individual who is interested in having "Christmas in November" this year is invited to attend the planning meeting to be held in the County Extension Office in the Basement of the Courthouse.

With many people participating and helping, Christmas in November can be an outstanding exhibit as it has been in the past. Anyone interested in planning Christmas in November is invited to attend the meeting on Tuesday.

You lose when you go

Metro Shopping

...a hazardous and costly practice

It pays to trade in Muenster.

Today's rising perils and costs of travel, plus modern merchandising facilities putting comparable goods at about the same prices in stores here at home, make the old fashioned practice of going to some bigger city to shop as out of date as low taxes. And ... every time you shop at home you make home a better place to shop... and to live.

The 26-Week Money Market Certificate

Put in $10,000, and get back

$10,530

26-week return reflects interest earned on $10,000 principal and accumulated interest for 26 weeks at current rate.

Current rate of 10.484% yields 10.912%***

Staying ahead financially has always been a race. But the 80's present new, tougher challenges.

At First Texas Savings, we have ways to beat the 80's. Like our 26-Week Money Market Certificate. It offers the maximum rate allowed by law for maximum yields on amounts from $10,000. Rates for new certificates are set weekly and are good for the entire term.

Sure, our 26-Week Money Market Certificate is a good investment, but it's also a no-risk investment. Your money is insured up to $100,000 by a federal agency. And your deposit is backed by First Texas' over 1.6 billion dollars in assets.

Best of all, at First Texas Savings, your money is always available. Penalty on early withdrawal is 3 months' interest** and only on the amount withdrawn. And as a convenient reminder, you will be automatically notified prior to renewal.

Also ask about our 2½-Year Money Market Certificate.

So, before you put your money anywhere, remember: Others may keep you even in the 80's, but First Texas Savings will keep you ahead.

* Effective September 11 thru September 17, 1980

Federal regulations prohibit compounding of interest on 26-Week Money Market Certificates. Annual yield assumes reinvestment of principal and interest at maturity at the same annual interest rate. However, the annual interest rate is subject to, and likely to, change at maturity.

**Recent federal regulations require principal reduction if sufficient interest does not exist.
