It was a pleasure to see the warm welcome extended to President Reagan at his talk to the Congress and the Nation Tuesday night. It indicates a widespread delight in his recovery from the attempted assassination a few weeks ago, and it indicates also approval of his effort to get the country back in order, along with confidence in his ability to get the job done.

We've heard lately that the Reagan economic plan is encountering strong congressional opposition, and he would likely have to appeal to the people, asking them to get the word to their elected representatives. Now there's word that the public has already received the message and Congress has seen what is happening. The enthusiastic applause on a number of occasions leaves no doubt that the new program has lots of appeal.

As the commentators said after the talk, this does not mean that the president will get all of the economic reform he wants. While approving on generalities the liberals of congress will be insistent on a number of specifics. Nevertheless it can be confidently predicted that the over all trend will be to break away from the present condition, in which "government is too big and spends too much."

Several factors have a bearing in that direction. One is the conviction prevailing among lots of conservative Democrats that in principle they are really closer to the administration than to their own party. They can be counted on to support a more conservative program than the country has known for many years. Presidential popularity is another asset. Reagan has public respect and confidence to a greater extent than any recent president. And at the same time people are sold on the idea. After witnessing the trend of government for many years they are convinced that a change is needed.

Our hope is that the people will not get impatient about the rate of change. Conditions which have been established over a long time require many adjustments in making improvements. We wonder, for instance, how programs and administrators which are a liability to the country can be eliminated without creating special problems. How about the bureaucrats who lose their jobs? How about welfare cheaters who are kicked off the gravy train then find themselves really in need?

Problems like these are inevitable but the country certainly cannot afford to continue the old waste and graft just to avoid them. We have to understand that the evils were gradually established over a long time, so a slow process can be expected to correct them. We have to be patient in working toward success. Maybe we should likewise be aware that the president's economic foes have such problems in mind when they claim that the Reagan program will not work. Difficulties that result from adjustments will be presented as a defense of the liberal ways.

Even so, it seems that, in fairness, the liberals of government should cooperate with the administration in its proposed spending and taxing program. For these many years they have run the show their way and they have developed a mess. It really is time now to step aside and give the opposite ideas a chance.

In fact, the Reagan proposal makes more sense anyway. It seeks to cut spending and also trim the

Bobo and Virginia Jaska Aggie Parents of the Year

Former Muenster residents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest (Bobo) Jaska, now living in Waco, are this year's selection for the prestigious title of Aggie Parents of the Year. The honor, conferred on them Sunday in the annual Parents Day ceremonies at Texas A&M University, is specially significant in view of A&M's enrollment exceeding 33,000.

Along with the presentation they were the honorees at a luncheon and shared a reviewing stand with military dignitaries at a review of the Corps of Cadets. A courtesy to come later is attendance as special guests at an Aggie football game.

The selection took the Jaskas completely by surprise, and apparently developed from their children's 1980 nomination which did not materialize then but received renewed attention this year. Other factors favoring them were letters from friends.

The Jaskas consider the selection a tremendous honor. "Nothing in the world could or would have pleased us any more than this honor."

The title has been earned over a period of more than thirty years, dating back to Jaska's graduation from A&M in 1950. He has been a dedicated supporter and recruiter ever since, and three of their children Bridget '81, Matt '82, and Alexa '83 are attending there now. Also Mike is a 1975 grad. And the family favors the Corps of Cadets. Ernest and Mike were members, Matt and Bridget are members.

Jill Walterscheid Qualifies For State in Shot Put

Jill Walterscheid returned home with a pair of awards from last week's Class A regional track meet at Abilene. She received a gold medal and qualified for the state meet by winning first place in the shot put with a distance of 35 feet 4 inches. The state meet will be in Austin on May 8.

Jill's second award was a bronze medal for third in discus at the regional, which was one place short of qualifying for the state meet. Her distance was 106 feet 4 in. whereas the No. 1 throw was 109 feet 5 inches. Jill's problem was in failing to do as well under pressure as she did in practice. Her best in warm-up was great heave of 121 feet, which would have won by a comfortable margin.

In three other events the MHS girls made a creditable showing without advancing to state. Shellee Zimmerman was third in the 800 meter run, the golf team was fifth and Carla Walterscheid was No. 3 medalist. Also the mile relay team was No. 5 after a fine performance in which it trailed the winner by only two seconds. The runners were Mary Winn, Pam Hermes, Shellee Zimmerman and Carmen Sicking. Members of the golf team were Susan Bayer, Stephanie Richey, Peggy Winn, Kyla Hale and Carla Walterscheid.

In tennis Brenda and Barbie Wimmer won their first match and lost the second. In debate Mary Winn and Brent McElreath had a bye in the first round, won the second and were eliminated in the third. Also in debate Peggy Winn and Rene Stelzer lost their opener and Steve Luke and John Zimmerman likewise were eliminated in the first try.

Others who qualified for the regional were Betty Luttmier, Tricia Kennedy, Glenn Fisher, Ricky Winn, Tom Youngblood, Charlotte Fleitman, Ginny Fisher and Connie Lutkenhaus.

Germanfest Was Great

As Muenster's sixth annual Germanfest became history, the community was immensely proud and pleased. Like the other festivals before it, this one continued the tradition of being bigger and better every time.

The outstanding success can be credited especially to ideal weather, which seemed to come precisely as the committee ordered. Following three days of clouds and rain, Thursday dawned just right and the remainder of the week continued that way. Grounds dried off and temperature was fine, the highest being a balmy 83 on Saturday.

So the crowds came and came. They started on Friday with the largest first day attendance ever, estimated at near 5,000, and they broke the record again Saturday as the number swelled to more than 12,000, then again on Sunday as the German Fun Runners with families and friends plus a big turnout for the beautiful day increased the total to more than 20,000.

The over all estimate of 40,000, includes paid and free admissions, a gain of near 35 percent over last year's total. The figure is substantiated by a report from the Jaycees saying that they used 48,500 of the 20 oz. souvenir beer tumblers to serve 506 kegs of beer. But that's not all of the brew. An additional 52 kegs were served at the Fun Run party following the race.

As regards other foods and drinks, the totals are not available, however some of the concessions have reported. Some of the items on this incomplete list are 3700 pounds of sausage, 1560 fryers, 920 pounds of potatoes, 105 gallons of kraut, 48 gallons of beans, 3450 servings of apple strudel, 1550 servings of nachos, 550 pounds of cheese, 17 cases of wine and 3500 servings of mixed drinks.

Of course there was lots more than eating and drinking. To begin, Germanfest had a new look with three handsome 30 foot tapered flag poles in front of the pavilion. On them were flags of the nation, the state and West Germany. Also, dominating a wall inside the pavilion, was a huge 6 1/2 x 13 banner from the mayor of Munster, Germany. Also the grounds had a new arrangement with the small tent located east of the big tent to provide more space near the pavilion.

Activity consisted of a steady stream of entertainment and contests and games. The pavilion featured accordion music by Sonny and Norma, polka music by Helga Beckman and the Bavarian Woodchoppers, the Brave Combo polka band, and Carl Jones and the Golden Tones.

Thanks to their rhythm, dancing continued practically for the duration. Dancers were on the floor for most of the numbers. Besides, there were dances each of the three nights...free street dances Friday and Sunday, and two Saturday dances; a polka dance at the community center and a Country and Western dance at VFW.

In addition there were lots of games and contests. A horseshoe tournament, motorcycle rodeo, beard contest, legs contest, talent show and chug-a-lug and more.

The biggest event, as always was the German Fun Run, the biggest and best to date. It had 2040 entries of which 1022 finished the 15 Km race and 996 finished the 5 Km run.

Biggest and Best German Fun Run Has 2018 Finishers

The German Fun Run this year was bigger than last year, but just barely. The total number registered was 2040 and the number of finishers was 2018. In the 1980 race 2010 were signed up and 1971 completed the race.

First to reach the finish line in the 15 Km run was Tyler Todd of Bonham, La., who toughed out a humid 80 degree run in 49 minutes and 9 seconds. And the leading lady of the day was Becky McClenny of Waco.

Champs of the Muenster entries were Gary Henscheid and Tracy Klement, and a repeat winner for the youngest finisher was Danna Hamric, who won the prize in 1979 and 80. Youngest of the boys was Derek Zelanzky. Honors for the oldest male finishers were claimed by two contenders, Robert Elston and Ralph Ratcliff, both 58 years young. And the oldest female finisher was Angie Trautham.

The fun run this year continued its tradition of getting bigger and better all the time. According to Co-Directors Dan Hamric and Ronnie Hess the slight gain of 47 in finishers was a let-down when the signs encouraged estimates of 2500 to 3000. But there was a gratifying improvement in conducting the event. Everything went as smooth as silk from late signups to assembling for the start on Main Street and the orderly recording of places as runners crossed the finish line, often in groups. The directors said that awards and paper work were completed faster than ever before.

Slightly more than half of the runners this time chose the 15 Km course. There were 1022 of them whereas there were 996 in the 5 Km race. Also 867 in the long course were males and 155 were females. No record was made of the men and women entered in the short race.

Only four awards were given in the short race. Two were to the first finishers. Tom Vernon, 15:50, of Fort Worth and Martha Sartain 18:01 of Dallas. Also two awards went to the first finishers of Muenster. They were Mike Dangelmayr 17:12 and Tonya Fisher, 23:20. Otherwise there were no rewards. As pointed out by Hamric the short race was strictly a fun run.

However prizes were abundant in the 15 Km event. There were trophies for the first three and medals to the next three of each age group, male and female, also trophies to youngest and oldest finishers and first finishers of Muenster and steins to the first 100 finishers.

The top ten finishers of the two divisions were named as follows:

Male: 1, Tyler Todd, Bonham; 2, Rusty Hageman, Denton; 3, Mark Hunter, Dallas; 4, John Kelly, Dallas; 5, Ken Hardwick, Moore, Okla.; 6, Mike Junkis, Dallas; 7, Marc Dick, Whitesboro; 8, Mark Newkirk, Irving; 9, David Kuehn, Denton; 10, Bill Martin, Fort Worth.
Female: 1 Becky McClenny, Waco; 2, Kathleen Matustick, Richardson; 3, Vanessa Moore, Fort Sill, Okla.; 4, Lindy Goodman, Plano; 5, Leslie Walsh, Denison; 6, Marianne Majors, Arlington; 7, Sue Moon, Rowlett; 8, Mary Winger, Richardson; 9, Carol Holm, Dallas; 10, Melanie Mills, Dallas.

Good News

Galatians 5:19-21 "Now the deeds of the flesh are evident, which are immorality, impurity, sensuality, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousy, outbursts of anger, disputes, dissensions, factions, envying, drunkenness, carousing, and things like these, of which I forewarn you just as I have forewarned you that those who practice such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God."

Parish Will Have Crowning Of May Queen Sunday

All senior girls and boys will accompany the statue of Mary, which will be carried by four senior boys. Senior girls of SHHS and CCD are urged to come to Sacred Heart High Sunday afternoon at 4:00 to help decorate the platform for the statue, with fresh flowers and greenery. Those who have flowers available are asked to bring some along.

For the services Sunday evening, no parking will be permitted on 6th Street in the area where the procession forms and on the

Congressional Comment

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Many people believe that if Congress speaks, then it must be the law. Unfortunately, that isn't necessarily the way things ultimately happen, as the federal government has grown in such proportions that the original intent of Congress is often lost in the shuffle among the three dozen federal departments and independent agencies that issue and administer the thousands of regulations under hundreds of statutes passed by Congress.

Almost every businessman or woman, especially owners of small businesses who may not have the resources (either financial or personnel) to tackle the mountain of paperwork required by the federal government, has cried out for help with this growing problem. These regulations are often complex and extremely difficult for business to deal with and many go beyond original congressional intent. Congress itself must take responsibility for some regulatory burdens and correct past mistakes by rewriting specific regulations, but the regulatory process itself must also be reviewed and perhaps reformed.

An important first step toward such reform would be passage of "sunset legislation" through which the entire range of programs and regulations of each executive and independent agency would be reviewed by the Congress on a present schedule. I am currently sponsoring H.R. 58 in the House that would accomplish this.

I am also sponsoring legislation, along with Congressman Jack Hightower, that would ease the burden caused by federal requirements for citizens, businesses and other groups to retain records for varying periods of time. There ought to be greater coordination of this information retention policy because dealing with the uncertainty of differing requirements makes operating a business more difficult. H.R. 316 would place a four-year limit on any record retention requirement for a business or private citizen.

We live in a society guided by rules and certainly many federal regulations are necessary to the protection of health and safety of our citizens, as well as other areas of responsibility. But the growth of the federal bureaucracy has fed on the stretching of boundaries and intentions set by Congress and we are fast reaching the point of being a nation governed by regulation rather than by law.

It is time to reassess regulatory priorities in terms of costs and benefits of new and existing regulations. Again, I come back to the final yardstick I use to measure the overall benefit of any federal action: Do we really need it? Can we afford it? Can it best be done at the state or local level? All three questions must be answered for all regulatory requirements.

Letter to the Editor...

In the past years my husband and I have always enjoyed Germanfest, but this year we enjoyed it in a different way. We had out-of-town guests, our grown grandchildren, and some of their friends with us, attending Germanfest for the first time. Through their eyes we saw Germanfest in a completely new light.

We saw our town accomplish something that large cities cannot or do not, do. We saw our fellow citizens stand shoulder to shoulder and pull as a team. Because of our guests we became more aware of the hours and hours of hard work put in by many volunteers - we saw a togetherness that is beautiful - our guests were so impressed, they found it difficult to describe and we found it very pleasant.

We saw people going out of their way to be kind and thoughtful to others. We saw our citizens stop to help a lost visitor. And last but not least we saw a great pride exhibited in our people for their community and their German heritage.

So our hats are off to all young and old - who helped in a big way or a little way. To each and every one we say "Thank You" for a job well done. God Bless You All. Sincerely, Martin and Lena Mae Trubenbach

LOVE IS AGELESS. And, the need for love and companionship does not diminish with age. When people enter a nursing home, they have a continuing need for contact with the community. It keeps them interested in life. It makes them more vital and happy. But, nursing homes need volunteers to help keep the residents satisfied.

COULD YOU BE A NURSING HOME VOLUNTEER? It doesn't take special skills. Most importantly, a volunteer must like people and be interested in them.

AS A VOLUNTEER, you would provide companionship and offer your friendship to some very special people who need you. But, the reward is not monetary. Instead, you will be rewarded by the very special feeling that comes from making someone smile.

DO YOU HAVE A FEW HOURS a month to spend on helping others? Could you write a letter, read a poem, take a walk, or sit and chat with an elderly resident? If so, please contact: Shelly Kneupper 759-2219 at St. Richard's Villa. Sincerely, Shelly Kneupper

MONEY VS. WEALTH

Money is absolutely essential for a modern society as it facilitates trade, provides a standard unit in which all goods and services can be expressed and compared, facilitates the use of credit, and provides the framework for storing the results of production for future use.

The value of money to society, however, will of course depend upon its quality. As valuable as money is, it's important to know its limitations. Misunderstandings about money have led to serious problems, here and all over the world, the most notable of which is inflation.

Many people think of money as wealth. Money is not wealth. Wealth is things of value owned, those physical goods which contribute to the improvement of our material welfare and happiness.

Our wealth depends upon our productive capacity. We increase wealth by producing more goods, not by increasing the amount of money in the economy. This is an important fact. Many of our economic problems have been brought about by the erroneous belief that we can improve the economy, increase output and therefore material welfare, by creating and distributing more money.

But all that is accomplished when more money is created and distributed is to raise prices for everyone across the board. It should be readily apparent that this is precisely the process that has been used by the federal government over the last fifty years in attempting to create prosperity by creating and distributing more money.

Prosperity is created by production. Every additional unit of a useful commodity that is produced increases the wealth of society and every member in it.

The more goods that are produced, if there is no increase in the supply of money, the lower prices will be. The lower prices are, the more each individual can buy with his limited spendable income.

Exactly the opposite takes place when the money supply is increased. Because increasing the quantity of money does not increase the quantity of goods and services, prices rise as more units of money bid for the available supply of goods. In the long run this means that everyone will get less for their money.

It is true, however, that those who get the new money first, and spend it before prices react to the new supply of money, do benefit. This small group, whether it is food stamp recipients, defense contractors or Chrysler Corporation does gain for a short time at the expense of everyone else.

"There are some," writes Professor Percy Greaves, "who claim that increasing the money supply puts more men to work. This can only be so when there is unemployment resulting from pushing wage rates above those of a free market by such political measures as minimum wage laws and legally sanctioned labor union pressures. Under such conditions, increasing the money supply reduces the value of each monetary unit and thus reduces the real value of all wages."

America has ended nearly every year for the past fifty, with a deficit. For the last six years that deficit has averaged about 50 billion dollars. This represented money our government borrowed and distributed among the people. It has contributed to inflation, high taxes, business stagnation and unemployment.

Confetti....

tax budget with a view to balancing the budget in 1984. It realizes that inflation has been gaining momentum for years and can't be stopped on short notice. Though not perfect it's a good goal. It seeks to restore economic security in a few years. The liberal way, on the other hand, was pointing to runaway inflation ending in chaos.

We've reached the eleventh hour in this regard, and, unfortunately, we're in the same fix regarding foreign affairs. Critics are wailing that Reagan's El Salvadore policy is inviting another Vietnam. They say US should pull out and let the communists take over.

Reagan's idea is to help the little nation survive as a free country, and our ally in the global struggle. He knows that time is running out, and the free world desperately needs to get together and keep together. Perhaps by reforming our own attitude toward friends, and convincing them that we are on their side instead of Russia's we can gradually work toward a better rating in the free world.

It's good to see that Reagan is not disturbed by the slurring reference to Vietnam. On the contrary he defends our involvement in that war as a matter of principle, saying that America should be proud rather than ashamed. We were right to help Vietnam in the first place, but became our own enemy when we decided to make it a no win war. To make things worse, a hostile press created a hostile public. Men sacrificing their lives were hated at home. The real truth is that America was not disgraced by its fighting men in Vietnam, but rather by politicians who wasted men rather than let them win. The motives behind the debacle remain a mystery but it has to be recorded as a war that was deliberately lost.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Congress is back from its Easter recess, and work is beginning again on the President's plan for economic recovery. Though all indications are the public is still solidly behind the Administration's proposals, it will be a tough fight to get them enacted into law. In a representative government, that may sound like an odd contradiction, and it's logical to ask why there is a problem with a plan the people support.

Much of the increased federal spending that has led to recent massive deficits has been for programs designed to provide small amounts of assistance to relatively small numbers of people. The programs frequently became "entitlements," with virtually unlimited access to federal dollars for people who meet the program qualifications. We have learned the hard way that certain people who were not the originally intended beneficiaries learn very quickly how to qualify for assistance.

The result has been spending at much higher levels than originally envisioned -- and small but vocal, and sometimes well organized, groups with a direct interest in keeping a specific program in the budget.

In addition, each program has spawned armies of bureaucrats who make their livings administering the disposition of benefits. Regrettably, there are unmistakable indications that in some cases these bureaucrats are spearheading letterwriting campaigns among their constituencies. I have even received multiple photostats of letters with a signature scrawled at the bottom, next to a check mark which presumably was placed by the distributor so the signer would know where to put his name.

It is not surprising that the people receiving the money want to continue to do so. Nor is it surprising that the people who have found jobs administering the program want to keep them. Most of the program beneficiaries can show that the money helps them satisfy some need.

But the problem is that the people paying the taxes also need that money to help make ends meet. The tax burden has become so heavy that there is a real risk of doing irreparable damage to the hard-working men and women who must earn the money that is taxed. We must begin to reduce the crushing tax burden and enable the working people of America to decide once again how to spend their own money.

Let me emphasize that the most needy will continue to receive help from the "safety net" programs. Those who do not fit neatly into the safety net also will benefit, however.

As the size of government shrinks, so will the tax burden. More money will be available for private business investment, and more jobs will be created. That will make it possible for those at the end of the economic ladder to get a solid foothold in the job market.

But an even more important benefit will come from controlling inflation, which hurts the poor proportionately more than it does the affluent. This is because those with the lowest income spend almost all of it on necessities. Price increases don't mean fewer luxuries to these people; they mean fewer necessities. The old economics-as-usual has made our inflation problems worse, and more of the same will mean even higher inflation rates.

For these reasons, it would be extremely short-sighted for the people's representatives in Washington to ignore the often quiet working taxpayer in favor of vocal interest groups.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Robert Bernstein, M.D., Commissioner

Texans who are itching to be outdoors this Spring, shouldn't let that itching be the result of poison ivy, poison oak or poison sumac.

"All three of these plants poison on contact," says Dr. Walter P. Peter Jr., director of the Maternal and Child Health Division of the Texas Department of Health. "All parts of the plants — leaves, flowers, berries, twigs, stems and roots — can cause a minor skin irritation lasting a few days, or an itching ailment which may go on for weeks."

Human contamination usually is the result of picnicking, hiking, playing in grass, weeds or woods, or working in overgrown areas.

It's that time of year when outdoor activities are becoming more widespread. "One of the biggest problems is that the people who come into contact with these poisonous plants usually don't know what they look like," said Dr. Peter.

Here the similarity ends. Although the shape of the leaves is generally egg-shaped with a pointed end, even the leaves on the same plant may vary greatly. Their edges may be smooth, deeply lobed or saw-toothed.

Texans normally refer to poison oak as the bushy-type low shrub which is usually under three feet tall. Poison ivy is recognized as a small shrub or woody climbing vine. Poison sumac grows as a shrub or a small tree up to 25 feet in height. It is primarily found in the piney woods of eastern Texas and the leaves are arranged in clumps of seven to 13 leaflets.

All have small flowers, mistletoe-like berries, and leaves of various shades during the growing season.

These things give the plants a beauty belying their toxic touch.

The poison of poison ivy is a phenolic or carbolic substance called urushiol, which appears as a sticky, resinous, saplike fluid. It can be — and often is — transferred to different parts of the face and body by the hands.

Urushiol may be carried from the plant on clothing, shoes, tools, by animals and by smoke from burning plants. It is virtually indestructible. More than one housewife, sorting her husband's work clothes before washing them, has received enough urushiol to cause poison ivy dermatitis.

"In some instances, urushiol has caused skin irritations after being on clothes for more than a year," Dr. Peter said. "It has also rubbed off on humans from garden tools, kites, golf balls and clubs, and from the hair of dogs and cats."

Poison ivy appears to be most virulent in the spring when it is young, frail, easily bruised, and the sap is readily released. As the seasons advance, the plants become tougher. But in winter the twigs, roots and leaves still present a problem. "People should remember this when attempting to pull up poison ivy during the winter months," Dr. Peter said.

Poison ivy dermatitis today is defined as an allergy, and it is estimated that at least half the adult population is susceptible to this health problem. "A person may not suffer any consequences upon the first encounter with poison ivy, but almost everyone will become sensitive after repeated contact," Dr. Peter said.

Some resistance may be obtained to poison ivy by desensitization by an allergist and some people seem to have a built-in resistance.

For those unfortunates who are exposed to poison ivy, a rash may develop as early as six to 12 hours, depending on the sensitivity of the individual and the amount of the exposure. Rarely, it may take a week for the dermatitis to become apparent.

Treatment by a physician may be effective if a rash develops, but often the most that medicine can do is help the victim endure the pain and itching. Some creams and lotions have certain soothing powers, but the most palliative drug is cortisone or one of its numerous derivatives. A physician should prescribe treatment in severe cases.

There is hope even if you inadvertently come in contact with poison ivy and recognize your mistake. "A hurried scrubbing with a strong laundry soap can often prevent or lessen the effects of poison ivy," said Dr. Peter.

Jump From Car is Fatal To Bowie Woman

Lisa K. Burton, 24, of Bowie died instantly about 6:45 p.m. Sunday on FM 1630 about five miles southwest of Muenster when she reportedly stepped out of a moving car. She was pronounced dead at the scene according to Sheriff Dan Tiller.

As told by the Cooke

County Emergency Medical Service, she sustained multiple head and internal injuries in rolling some 60 feet along the shoulder of the FM road.

The driver of the car was Tom Holloway 33, of Bowie, a boy friend, who told county deputies that they were on their way from Muenster to Bowie. They were quarreling and she threatened to jump from the moving car. He disregarded the threat because she had made it before, but this time she jumped, Holloway told the officers.

Witnesses in a car behind said it appeared the woman tried to leave the car at one time but was pulled back. A short time later she appeared to jump from the car as it traveled some 45 to 50 miles an hour.

Germanfest Weather

Weather of the past week was special for Germanfest. While temperature was pleasant the moisture was ideal. Intermittent showers of three days ended with a downpour Wednesday of last week and had people wondering whether the big event would be rained out. But perfect weather came the following morning and had grounds in great condition for the Friday afternoon opening.

Temperature low and high readings of the week were reported as follows by Steve Moster. April 23, 56 and 78; April 24, 55 and 83; April 25, 58 and 82; April 26, 58 and 84; April 27, 64 and 84; April 28, 65 and 86; April 29, 62 and 84.

Moisture total for April to date is 3.84 inches and the total for the year is 9.97, slightly below average for the four months. However it is adequate. Lakes are full and vegetation is thriving.

To become more energy-independent...
let's use what we've got.

We Americans learn early to be independent and self-reliant, and to use the resources we have. But today we're importing oil for nearly a fourth of our energy needs. This is dangerous because it undermines our economy and threatens our national security. And it shouldn't be necessary, because we have the world's largest known energy reserves right here in the United States.

We can help make America self-sufficient by using alternative fuels like coal and uranium. We can stretch our supplies of oil and natural gas by conserving. We'll develop nuclear fusion, while making more use of other sources such as solar, biomass and wind.

But not today. For the next 25 years or more, the energy we need must come from the resources and the know-how we have now.

At your electric company, we're building plants to use the energy and technology we have now. At the same time we're supporting development of other sources of energy, so we'll have them as soon as possible.

To become more energy-independent, let's use what we've got.

Sources: Resources: Ford Foundation, 1979; Consumption: Department of Energy, 1979

This comparison illustrates why Dr. John McKetta, former chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, insists we must develop the domestic energy we have.

There will be a free senior citizens' dinner at the Ross Point Community Center at 6 p.m. on May 2. Live entertainment featuring a country-western band will be included in the program.

Stanley Lovette, president of the Ross Point Community Improvement Club, reports that there will be no regular meeting on the first Wednesday of the month because of the additional activities in the community.

On May 9, the Cemetery Association of Rosston will hold its annual Memorial Day services at the Methodist Church and will provide a dinner at the Ross Point Community Center following a short business meeting.

Rev. O'Dell Harris of Forestburg will give the Memorial Day address in honor of the Veterans resting in the Rosston Cemetery.

May-Mother, Baby Month

May is the month for mothers and for babies. It is a special time for them both. Each year during the week before Mother's Day the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation asks mothers to kiss their babies with special attention.

The next time you kiss your child, if you notice a strong salty taste to the skin, consult your doctor about the possibility of cystic fibrosis (CF). Chances are your child does not have CF, but if he does, prompt diagnosis and treatment are vital to his life.

Cystic fibrosis, a disease primarily attacking the lungs and the digestive system, is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults in the United States. One of the signs of cystic fibrosis is the extremely salty taste to the skin which is often detected in a kiss. Other symptoms include: recurrent coughing with excessive mucus; pneumonia more than once; excessive appetite but poor weight gain; clubbing (enlargement) of fingertips; persistent bulky diarrhea; and nasal polyps.

A brief and painless "sweat test" to detect CF can be performed at the Cystic Fibrosis Centers at Children's Medical Center in Dallas and Cook Children's Hospital in Fort Worth.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation supports research, public education and patient care programs which are lengthening the lives of children with CF. Twenty years ago, the average life expectancy was three years of age. Today it is twenty.

For more information contact the North-East Texas Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation at 214-826-7800 in Dallas or 461-1183 in Fort Worth.

So kiss your baby with special attention during Kiss Your Baby Week, May 3-10.

News of The Sick

Chris Forgey of Dallas was only a few blocks short of the finish line at the Fun Run when he was eliminated by the heat and humidity. Taken to Muenster Hospital, he spent a couple of hours recuperating in the emergency room before going to his grandparents, the Al (Lee) Haverkamps for the night. Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Forgey of Dallas.

Mrs. Wayne Trubenbach was dismissed from Muenster Memorial Hospital on Easter Sunday, after eleven days of medical care.

MOTHER'S DAY MAY 10

Only 11 percent of car passengers ever fasten their seatbelts. Too bad, because accident records show you are 57 percent less likely to be injured if you are wearing a lap/shoulder type seatbelt . . . and 31 percent safer in an ordinary lap belt.

Executive Changes Announced By First Texas Savings Assn.

J. Michael Cornwall, President and Director of First Texas Financial Corporation and its major subsidiary, First Texas Savings Association, has been appointed Chief Executive Officer according to Roger J. Keane, former Chief Executive Officer, who will remain active as Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Executive Committee.

In announcing the change, Keane said that, "The assignment of chief executive officer responsibility to Mr. Cornwall represents an important and very logical step to insure orderly transition at the helm of First Texas." Keane noted that his plans to retire April 1, 1982, were announced earlier. Cornwall has served as president of First Texas since May 1, 1979. He joined Oak Cliff Savings, predecessor to First Texas, in 1959 as a loan officer in North Dallas and later served as Senior Vice President and Executive Vice President. Cornwall, a native Texan, holds a BBA degree from Texas A&M University.

Other First Texas officers moving to new responsibilities include Lynn S. Felps, C.P.A. to Executive Vice President-Finance; Peter J. Link to Executive Vice President - Administration; and Edward C. Laski to Senior Vice President and Director of Product Management.

Felps joined First Texas in 1969 and served as Treasurer, Senior Vice President and Director of the Finance Division prior to his current appointment. He continues as a member of the board of directors. He is active in the Financial Managers Society for Savings Institutions, national and regional, and held the office of national president in 1978-79.

Felps is a graduate of Lamar University in Beaumont and of the Graduate School of Savings and Loan, Indiana University. He is a Certified Public Accountant with valid certificates in Texas and Louisiana.

From 1976-79, Link was President of First Texas, Austin Region. In 1979 he was named Senior Vice President/Director of Branch Operations for First Texas Savings.

Link, a native Dallasite, is a graduate of the University of Texas and received his MBA from SMU. He is also a graduate of the Graduate School of Savings and Loan at Indiana University.

Prior to assuming his present position, Laski was Vice President, Manager of Loan Administration, responsible for identifying and developing new mortgage and construction lending products. He has served as President-First Texas, Austin Region and earlier, as President of Temple Savings Association.

Laski earned an MBA from Eastern New Mexico University and is currently enrolled in the Graduate School of Savings and Loan at Indiana University. He holds the "Certified Review Appraiser" designation and is a member of the National Association of Review Appraisers.

The association will move to its new 11 story headquarters building later this spring.

With over $1.7 billion in assets and 59 offices in 29 cities, First Texas Savings is one of the largest financial institutions in Texas.

Summer, fall storms boost rainfall reading

COLLEGE STATION — Allen couldn't do it. Danielle couldn't do it. Even the rampage that shook Roscoe couldn't do it alone. But together, they succeeded.

On the heels of one of the driest summers ever recorded, heavy showers have boosted July-through-September rainfall averages above normal for half the state and to near-normal levels for most of the rest, according to the State Climatologist's Office at Texas A&M University.

The climatologists credited heavy rains from Hurricane Allen in early August, Tropical Storm Danielle in early September and a wet cold front in late September for the change, but warned against interpreting the rains as a permanent end to the dry spell.

Common Shootingstar (Dodecatheon meadia)

Cooke County Blooms!

By Gary Rainwater

District Conservationist
The shooting star is a perennial herb with clusters of basal leaves. The flower stalk is erect, leafless, and grows up to 20 inches high. The leaves are about 7 inches long, entire, and are in a basal cluster.

There will be several flowers in a cluster at the top of the scape. They are lilac or pale pink in color, 5 lobes corolla that points upward. The anthers form a cone and point downward. Shootingstar blooms from March through May.

Shootingstars are found in open woods in the eastern 1/3 of the state, and in favorable sites in east-central Texas. This plant is one of Cooke County's rare and endangered plants.

This nodding flower plant is often cultivated. Bees, the chief pollinators, must force their tongues between the united stamens to reach the stigma of the pistil. The plant was far more abundant during the days of the prairie settlers, who called it "prairie pointers." Other common names are Mesquite Bill and Bird's bill. There is one small group of this plant near Muenster. Shootingstar is in the Primrose family.

contain 108 calories per 12-ounce serving. (Regular Budweiser contains 155 calories per 12 ounces.)

With Budweiser Light, Anheuser-Busch will be attempting to do, in the light beer category, exactly what it has done with remarkable success in the regular beer category: "Market three distinctly different superior beers as only Anheuser-Busch can brew them, each at its own price level," the spokesperson said, referring to the company's Michelob, Budweiser and Busch brands which compete in the super premium, premium and mid-price categories. "With Budweiser Light joining Michelob Light-the first and only super premium light beer-and with Natural Light repositioned at mid-pricing, we will be testing the validity of the same approach," he said.

The marketing theme for the introduction will be "Break Away."

The spokesperson described Budweiser Light as a "crisp, snappy-tasting light beer."

"We are banking on the Budweiser name to attract increased light consumers, and we are confident that the product will live up to their expectations," he said.

He said Budweiser Light will be brewed from a blend of imported and domestic hops, the choicest two-row and six-row barley malt and rice. Kraeusening, the Old World, extra-long, natural aging process, will be used, and Budweiser Light will be aged on beechwood chips like regular Budweiser.

The other two Anheuser-Busch light beers are the second and third bestselling light beers overall respectively. They are Natural Light, introduced in 1977, and Michelob Light, introduced in 1978 and 1979.

The spokesperson refused to specify or speculate on the length of the Budweiser Light test period or to provide any further details on the plans.

Throw Away The Cigarettes

HOUSTON, TX. - Cigarette smoking remains the number one cause of lung cancer, the leading cancer among men and a steadily increasing cancer in women. The risk of lung cancer increases with the number of cigarettes smoked each day, the depth of inhalation and the length of time a person has smoked.

Dr. Guy R. Newell, director of cancer prevention programs at The University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, says, "The risk of developing lung cancer is reduced a little by smoking less, and by using lower tar and nicotine brands. But quitting is the only effective safeguard."

For self-help material and more information on how to quit smoking, call the Texas Cancer Information Service toll-free at 1-800-392-2040.

Cookie Dough

1 cup butter or margarine
1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup ground oat flour*
1 cup dairy sour cream

Beat butter until fluffy. Blend in flours and sour cream, mixing well. Cover; chill at least 8 hrs. or overnight. Divide dough into thirds; roll out one third at a time on well-floured surface to form 12 x 10 inch rectangle, keeping remaining dough chilled.

WOULDN'T IT BE WONDERFUL IF WE ALL TRIED TO MAKE MÜNSTER THE REAL GARDEN SPOT OF NORTH TEXAS... AND THE CLEANEST!

Wouldn't it be wonderful if all of us began to think more of landscaping and gardens and grasses... plantings of trees, shrubs, flowers, fruits and vegetables... to insure a green America, a green Texas and a green Muenster?

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we thought of such improvements as year-round projects, and not only for Germanfest!
