Muenster becomes land of Christmas enchantment

In the spirit of Christmas festivity Muenster homes and businesses have been decorated with lights, garland and Christmas figurines. Many places have fulfilled the hopes of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce and look like pages from a storybook.

Winners in the Chamber sponsored lighting contest, "Sparkling Enchanted Storybook Land," have been announced by Secretary Margie Starke. There were seven divisions with prizes in six of the divisions being first, $100; second $75; and third $25. The Best Street Block winner received $175 to be divided among the residents or used as they see fit.

Best Business winners were the Muenster Enterprise with an inspiration from the Bible, ISAIAH 11:6-9 depicting all animals peacefully coming to adore the Christ Child, first; Bayer's Kolonialwaren, second; and Gerald Graham, D.D.S., third.

Best Residential were Danny Bayer's Beary Christmas theme, first; Craig Walterscheid, second; and Chas Bayer, third.

Best Rural was the lifesize Nativity scene nestled against the hillside south of Muenster near the Art Bayer home. James Mollenkopf won second and Butch Fisher third.

Art Bayer's Nativity scene was also selected as Best Religious. The Nativity scene along Hwy. 82 set up by the Muenster Boy Scouts took second place honors and the Muenster Enterprise third.

First place Most Unique was Sacred Heart High School's "Let the Light of Christ Color Our World." There was a three way tie for second place among Ed Otto, Craig Walterscheid, and Joe Kuykendall. Each will receive $25. Third place was a tie between Butch Fisher and the Muenster Enterprise and each will receive $12.50.

Joe Kuykendall's "Cajun Christmas" was chosen Most Humorous. Gary Geb was second and Danny Bayer third. Ash Street from 6th to Hwy. 82 won the Best Street Block prize.

Voting was done by anyone who wished to participate by using the ballot printed in the Muenster Enterprise during the contest judging period. There were 52 ballots turned in.

The Chamber of Commerce is pleased with the response for the first year of the contest according to Margie Starke. "We hope it will be better next year as more people understand how the annual contest will work and how much prize money is given," she said. "Next year we'll ask rural residents who wish to participate to contact the Chamber so their names and locations can be published because people expressed a need for this."

Also deserving credit for many of the decorations around town are business owners and citizens who made donations which allowed the Muenster Kiwanis, led by Gary Fisher and Herman Carroll, to make decorative wooden cutouts. The decorations took many hours of work on the part of Fisher, Carroll, Arnie Wimmer and the many volunteers who assisted them.

Muenster's City Park has taken on a Christmas fantasy look with the help of the Jaycees who put up a large Christmas tree and many wooden cut outs such as Santa and his reindeer.

The special efforts to make Muenster more beautiful at Christmas time were the result of a conversation by several individuals disappointed by last Christmas. They decided to do something to make this Christmas better and the fruits of their combined efforts are now on display for all to enjoy.

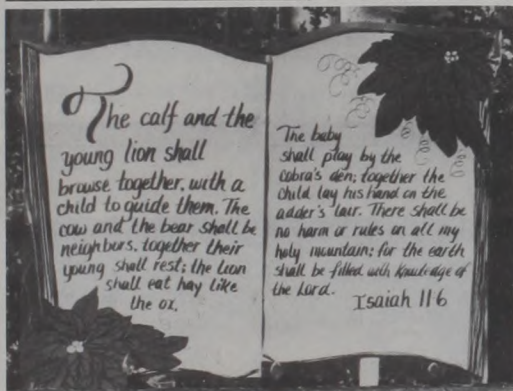

ROSALEE BAYER was honored by her co-workers and county dignitaries Monday, Dec. 17, with a retirement party held in the County Courtroom in Gainesville. She is shown as County Judge Jim Robertson presented an engraved plaque in appreciation of the five years she served as Precinct 4 Commissioner, following the 17 years her late husband, Robert Bayer, served in the same capacity. Judge Robertson praised the dedication of both Rosalee and Robert, crediting them with noteworthy tenure. She said, "I am grateful for this reception, which I am sure is also a tribute to Robert."

THIS LIFESIZE NATIVITY scene graces the hillside south of Muenster along FM373. Art and Frances Bayer have set the figures out for the last four years. It won first place as Best Rural and Best Religious.

INSPIRED by this Biblical verse, The Muenster Enterprise created a nativity scene complete with animals coming to see the Christ Child. It won first place in Best Business, third place in Best Religious, and tied for third place in Most Unique.

CCC Board meets, rejects bids again!

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County College trustees this week for the second time rejected bids for a workroom addition to the CCC activity center.

Three companies, all from Gainesville, submitted bids for the project, but all were rejected because they did not come within the college's budget for the project, said CCC President Dr. Bud Joyner.

The college has budgeted about $37,000 for the project. Excluding an $8,000 contingency added to the bid specifications, B.J. Company Contractors bid $52,800, J.A. Owens Contractors' bid was $49,681, and Gainesville Construction Company's bid was $47,156.

It could be a couple of months before the board will rebid the job, said Joyner. "We're going to have to take a real good look at it and look at alternatives," he said.

In other business, trustees: -Formally accepted the new library and community education - cosmetology buildings, the completion of a major building project on the campus.

-Approved the 1989-1990 college external audit.

-Accepted about $23,000 in bids from Technical Laboratory

Littlest Angel helps brighten Christmas

Giving, sharing, doing for others are all a part of the true spirit of Christmas.

Cooke County developed the Littlest Angel Program in August 1984 to coordinate the communication between donor organizations and families needing help.

Prior to that time some families would receive help from several organizations while other families received no help at all. "There was abuse by some people who made a practice of collecting at every place they could," remarked Debbie Hess, organization board member.

Members of the organizations known for helping the needy in the past were brought together to form the nucleus of the organization now known as The Cooke County Youth Center which sponsors the Littlest Angel program. These included several United Way Agencies, church groups, and some key community volunteers.

The Littlest Angel program sends out applications with every school child in Cooke County in the hope that all who are in need will apply for assistance.

With the information provided on the applications volunteers use computers to check on eligibility. Persons who are accepted are given a number which allows them to remain anonymous.

This number is put on a paper angel with other information such as special needs, clothing sizes, age, and toy preferences. The angels are placed on trees in various businesses throughout Cooke County.

Donors selecting child angels are asked to purchase a clothing item and wrap it and a toy which isn't wrapped. They can spend any amount they choose.

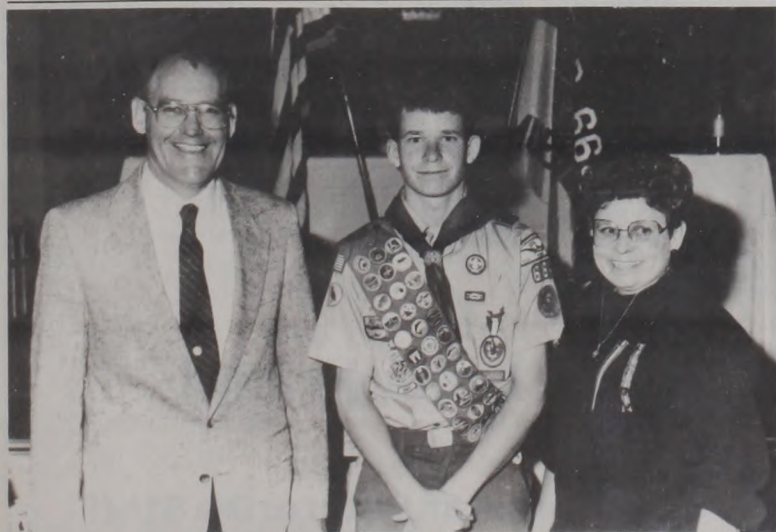

There are now elders who are included in the program. For many of them the gifts from the angel program will be their only Christmas as they have no family.

This year 245 families were helped by the Littlest Angel program. Around 750 to 800 children benefitted by the generosity of those who participated in the giving.

Each year employees of the Joe Walter Workshop in Gainesville put together the food baskets that are distributed by the Littlest Angel program. Other volunteers helped by wrapping presents and making deliveries.

There are 15 members of the Littlest Angels executive board. The

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: This letter was received by the Centennial Committee from a couple in Münster, Germany, referred to them by Editor Korth of one of the daily papers in that city. The writers had sent books on German Folk Dancing and Costumes early in Münster's Centennial Year, and were also Folk Dancing enthusiasts. Their letter stated in part:

Dear Friends:
Last summer we have had the big Folk Dance meeting in Münster with 70 groups from Germany and about ten groups from other states of Europe, even also one group from U.S.A. And some American people with German roots, too. They wanted to learn more about the dances their grandparents danced in Germany a long time ago. What's about your Folk Dance groups in Münster? Do you have success? Best wishes to you all.

Time given is not lost

Time is one of life's most elusive treasures. For those who like to build, create, or make something, time (or the lack of it) becomes the enemy. While those people can see what needs to be done, the clock winds down before progress can be made.

As far as the Christmas decorations this year, those who were interested decided to do something about the lack of time. They decided to band together to build decorations so they could beat time. With strength in numbers, whole groups worked on cutting, painting and set-up of figures throughout town. While one person alone could not have achieved the quantity in six months, in less than one month, the group of volunteers completed the job. Under the guidance of the Münster Kiwanis Club, and with help from Margie Starke of the Chamber of Commerce, people who volunteered were called into action. Graciously, Dave Flusche Sr. donated use of his Structures, Inc. warehouse, and the painting party was on. Others joined in at the hospital warehouse. Daryl Ferber painted during the day at her business, while volunteers donated their evenings. While the Kiwanis had collected funds from various businesses, those donated hours became the important factor as Father Time stole the calendar.

With Christmas 1990 fast becoming history, that lesson of "unity," "strength in numbers," or "no man is an island" should be one we teach our younger generation. For, if we fail to get them involved in the community, the community will fail. It all starts at home by the example we make to our children. If they learn that lesson well, it will be because we were involved. Kids desperately need to belong. Let's show them the way in 1991.

Stenholm co-chairs rural health care coalition

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Congressman Charles Stenholm (D-TX) recently accepted a greater responsibility in the effort to help rural health care when he was unanimously elected co-chairman of the House Rural Health Care Coalition.

The Coalition is a bipartisan organization of 147 members who are interested in improving health care for rural areas. Republican Congressman Pat Roberts of Kansas will share the co-chairman position.

"No single issue is more important to my district as a whole than rural health care," said Stenholm. "This issue has been at the top of my list of concerns and activities for a number of years and getting this new position will enable me to do even more for rural health. I am honored that my colleagues chose me for this role."

The Congressman pointed out that the bipartisan make-up of the group has allowed them to be unusually successful in accomplishing their goals. In the spring of 1990, the Coalition introduced seven bills and by the end of the 101st Congress, five of those bills had been passed in some form. The bills included a section to ensure rural hospitals get a fairer share of Medicare reimbursements. There was also approval of direct Medicare reimbursements for nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists, who play a particularly significant role in rural areas.

"The high cost of health care to individuals and to employers, the number of uninsured in this country, the impact of liability costs on physicians, the financial difficulties that hospitals face, all add up to enormous health care problems," explained Stenholm.

Making state government work for Texas taxpayers

by Governor Bill Clements
December 1990

State government has a golden opportunity to make dramatic changes in the lives of all Texans. After all, it is at the state level that funding is determined for the schools that teach our children, for the human services on which so many of us rely and for the system of justice that protects our families.

Yet with that authority comes tremendous responsibility: to provide taxpayers with simple discipline in the budget process. Indeed, our mandate in the public sector is to maintain fiscal accountability and to ensure that your tax dollars are being spent wisely.

We have taken that responsibility to heart during both my terms as governor. And the fact is, we have achieved significant goals in our efforts to make state government more responsive to the public's demand for good management at all levels.

We have made great strides in reforming our state's budget process. The governor now has the power to shift funds from one state account to another in response to budget emergencies. Our two-year spending plans now are easily modified, and unexpected spending needs are met without forcing taxpayers to foot the bill for special legislative sessions.

We also have enacted a budget stabilization fund - sometimes called a Rainy Day Fund - to help us prevent cash-flow problems and to support vital programs when economic conditions are unfavorable.

To root out waste and duplication, we have re-established operational audits of major state agencies - a practice I initially launched during my first term in office. By using volunteers from the private sector as well as state government, we've been able to keep this program's cost to zero, literally.

At no time in the past four years have we been afraid to oppose the bureaucracy when it wanted to grow for no good reason. In the past four years alone, I used my line-item veto 56 times in scrutinizing state budgets. In all, we eliminated more than $177 million in unjustified spending, including the deletion of individual aircraft operations in seven state agencies.

We've also made historic changes in the organization of two key areas of state government. We've consolidated fragmented operations to create a new, high-profile agency - the Texas Department of Commerce - to generate and retain jobs for Texans. And, we've merged our prison, parole and probation systems. The effect has been a more productive and streamlined operation known as the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Yet another indicator of our fiscal policies - and of our improving economic picture - is the condition of the state's finances. For the third time since we returned to office in 1987, we've closed the books on the fiscal year in the black. At the end of August, we ended fiscal 1990 with a positive cash balance of $767 million - the largest ending balance Texas has posted since 1983!

I know many of you will recall that at the end of fiscal 1987 we were saddled with a $745 million shortfall - the largest in state history. Which means that since we resumed control of the state's finances, we've had a positive cash swing of $1.5 billion.

Let me not doubt, we've returned fiscal sanity to state government. We've introduced modern management techniques and reformed obsolete practices. And frankly, we can't afford to turn back now. The foundation of fiscal responsibility has been laid, and we must not allow it to crumble.

By using these state-of-the-art financial procedures, Texas will benefit from increased efficiency, productivity and savings. We'll increase our responsiveness and effectiveness. Likewise, a leaner state government will consume fewer tax dollars, helping to maintain low tax rates and, therefore, a favorable business climate.

We have made solid progress in the past four years. We have put state government on the right path forward. Let's not stop now.

Muenster Garden Center demonstrates blowers

Last Thursday, Dec. 13, was the day for the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department's regular drill and meeting. The special part about this meeting, however, was a demonstration of several high-speed, backpack blowers, made by STIHL, well known for chainsaws and line trimmers. Roger Taylor, from Muenster Garden Center, and STIHL representative, Tom Harrington, conducted the program, including technical features and operating instructions. The firemen then took turns trying out the units in controlled fires set in high grass in a vacant lot east of the Sacred Heart Cemetery. The blowers proved very effective in literally "blowing out" the fire in knee-high grass and clearing the surface of debris to decrease the possibility of rekindling. Firemen were also able to control the blaze in high grass when two or three ganged up on a hot spot.

The gas-powered blowers move a stream of air at a speed of about 172 miles per hour and can be equipped with a small tank for agricultural spray applicators.

Buckle up for the holiday season!

A safety belt won't keep one from having a wreck - but it will improve the odds if someone does. "Buckling up can make the difference between being a survivor and being a statistic. Members of the Texas Safety Belt Survivors' Club can attest to that," said George R. Gustafson, president of Texas Safety Association and a spokesperson for the Texas Coalition for Safety Belts.

Two hundred fifty Texans joined the survivors' club in 1990. Each survived a potentially life-threatening crash through the use of safety belts or child safety seats. Eight survivors had the extra protection of air bags, too.

"But a safety belt still gives the best all-around protection for adults, even if there is an air bag," Gustafson said. "We encourage all Texans to buckle up and survive this holiday season."

For more information on the Safety Belt Survivors' Club, contact the Texas Department of Health at 800/252-8255.

VVISD students move into new school building

by Elaine Schad

Students are helping to move their desks into a new junior high facility this week, marking the near completion of a $300,000 construction project for the Valley View School District.

The school board this week conducted a final walkthrough of the facility, which was built on the south side of the high school, and will initially house about 100 seventh and eighth grade students.

The board approved a list of minor finish items to be presented to the contractor. Members authorized board President Cecil Neu to grant final acceptance of the facility in behalf of the district when he was sure the items on the checklist had been completed.

With the additional six classrooms the new facility provides, there will be a defined junior high section that can be supervised by the high school principal, officials said.

The new building will result in more available space at the lower grade levels, officials said. The middle school building will house grades four through six when the new semester begins in January, with the elementary building housing kindergarten through third grades.

Still to be negotiated is the final payment to Gainesville Construction Company, contractor of the project. The board last month turned down a request to grant some additional bad weather days. Some of the final payment is expected to be withheld pending negotiation or possible mediation procedures, officials said.

The new junior high building is the third major building project for the district in the past decade due to rapid enrollment growth. Current enrollment is about 550 students. The facility is being paid for with district reserve funds, officials said.

IRS searches people who didn't get refund checks

Earlier this year, the Dallas District of the Internal Revenue Service matched up more than 2.2 million North Texas taxpayers with their refund checks. But 2,197 refund checks were returned to the IRS by the U.S. Postal Service and now IRS is trying to find their owners.

According to Terry K. Green, Chief of the IRS Taxpayer Service Division, "While 2,197 represents only 0.1 percent of refunds claimed, IRS feels that even one undelivered refund check is too many. The most common reasons for the returned checks are that the taxpayer has moved and failed to notify us or the post office of the new address, we were unable to read the taxpayer's handwriting on the address portion of the return, or the taxpayer has deceased. Actually, there are probably 2,197 individual reasons for our inability to get these checks to their owners."

The checks range in amounts from $1.40 all the way to more than $97,000 with the average being $493. "Taxpayers who believe they may be one of those due a check should call us during business hours to claim their refund and provide a good mailing address," said Green. "While our number in Dallas remains 214/742-2440, our toll free number has been changed to 800-829-1040 (800-TAX-1040)."

volunteers number around 25. They spend anywhere from a few hours to many days of work on the program each year. It takes about three days working from early morning until evening to prepare the gifts and baskets for distribution and to deliver them.

One volunteer for 1990 commented that you really realize how much good is done when you make the deliveries. Some families have so very little and are truly appreciative of what they receive.

"Sometimes volunteers come back and tell us about families who could use extra food, coats, or furniture, etc. and we try and help," explained Mrs. Hess.

When asked why she volunteers her time every year for the program Debbie Hess responded, "Because it's the true meaning of Christmas! Christmas is about giving. I get that special Christmas feeling when I help with what is done there. It makes Christmas special to kids who don't always get things."

Couple exchange vows in Sacred Heart Church Nov. 23

MR. and MRS. JACK BRITTAIN
...nee Deborah Felderhoff Fisher...

The wedding of Deborah Kay (Felderhoff) Fisher of Muenster and Melvyn Jackson Brittain Jr. of Denton was held in Sacred Heart Church on Nov. 23, 1990 at 4 p.m., with Father Victor Gillespie OSB officiating for the double ring ceremony and Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vince Felderhoff of Muenster. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Jackson Brittain Sr. of Denton.

The bride was presented at the altar by her sons, Bradley and Greg Fisher. For her wedding attire, she chose an ivory taffeta tea-length formal gown, designed with fitted bodice applied with elegant pearls, iridescents and sequins, scalloped sweetheart neckline and a three tiered slanted peplum waistline. With it was a coordinating brief, long sleeved jacket.

Her bridal bouquet, made by her daughter, Dyan was a cascade of ivory roses, miniature burgundy roses and pearl sprays.

In her hair she wore a delicate wreath with pearl droplet. For sentiment, she wore a pearl necklace borrowed from her sister, Carol Klement.

ATTENDANTS

The bride's daughter, Dyan Fisher, was her maid of honor, wearing a burgundy floral street-length dress made by her maternal grandmother, Trudy Felderhoff.

The best man was Ron Brittain, of Dallas, brother of the groom.

Greg Fisher and Dyan Fisher of Muenster and Rachel Brittain of Decatur, Alabama presented special Readings selected by the couple. Candelighters were Bradley and Greg Fisher, bride's sons.

Wedding music was presented by Pam Fette and Emily Klement, including "Come And Journey With Me," "Like A Seal On Your Heart," "Only A Shadow," and "Beginning Today."

RECEPTION

The reception and dinner were held in the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Janie and Mike Hennigan. House decorations included ivory crocheted hats filled with burgundy and ivory flowers, with crystal candleholders accented with ivory bows. Decorations were made by the bride's daughter.

The three-tiered wedding cake made by Imogene Zimmerer was decorated in burgundy and ivory, with ribbon accents. The chocolate groom's cake was designed in the shape of a Peterbilt truck. It was made by the bride's daughter. Cakes were cut by Melynda Rivers, daughter of the groom, and by Dyan Fisher.

Cake servers were Mindy Hennigan and Kimberly Klement, nieces of the bride.

Jamie Hennigan, Carol Klement and Brenda Felderhoff, bride's sisters, helped serve the dinner.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bride and groom at The Center Restaurant. Since return from a wedding trip to Las Vegas, they are residing in Muenster.

The bride is a secretary for Farm Bureau. The groom is Unit manager for Peterbilt of Denton.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Brenda Felderhoff of Lewisville; Rachel Brittain of Decatur, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Kent Rivers; Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Brittain, Sr. of Denton; Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Radlinski of Oceanside, California; David Lewis of College Station; Ronda Brittain of Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Brittain and Michael of Dallas.

RENEW assists area needy

Members of a RENEW Small Group, influenced by their group's lessons and discussions, distributed food baskets to several area people during Thanksgiving.

As more people learned that there were some Muenster area people who could use assistance, donations of cash and items began to come in for distribution at Christmas. "We have better than $800 now," stated spokesman Harold Flusche. "It's better to get cash because items are harder to place."

People's reactions ranged from tears to "you shouldn't have" according to group members. There is more need in Muenster than you would imagine, they said.

Anyone wishing to make donations or tell of someone in need should contact Mrs. Gene (Linda) Yosten, Mrs. Paul (Susie) Fleitman, or Jeannine Flusche.

FRANKLIN LEON
Franklin is one year old!

A party honoring the first birthday of Franklin Thomas Leon, son of Franklin and Brenda Leon of Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, was held on Nov. 18. His actual birthday is Nov. 15.

After a family lunch at The Center, relatives gathered at the home of the little boy's maternal grandparents. Everyone enjoyed watching Franklin Thomas open his gifts while movies were made and pictures were taken.

A teddy bear cake which was baked and decorated by his "Maw-Maw" Walterscheid, was served with ice cream.

Those helping Franklin Thomas celebrate were his parents, his big sister Alicia; and uncles, aunts, cousins and friends, Carla, Doyle and Stevie Rae Klement; Darren Walterscheid; Shelli Montgomery; Staci Walterscheid; Rick Sandmann; Pat and Tommie Sue Hess; Renate Pangel; grandparents Pat and Booby Walterscheid; special guest, paternal grandfather Fernando of Santiago, Dominican Republic; and maternal great-grandmother, Leona Hamilton.

Give a gift - Texas style

At Christmastime, television commercials, magazines, newspapers and catalogs bombard people with notions of the perfect gift: clothes, jewelry, books. So admittedly, holiday shopping is somewhat taxing not to mention often expensive especially if there is a need to give something really special.

And what about the person who seems to have everything? What kind of gift will be both personal and original yet special enough to delight and surprise them? Gifts of food are a wonderful answer that suit just about everyone. From chocolate fudge to smoked meats, various Texas companies specialize in holiday gift baskets.

These "Taste of Texas" gift baskets are truly special offerings for the most appreciative friends and family. And because the packaging of a gift is almost as important as the food itself, a charming or unusual presentation lends a great deal to its appeal. Many of the "Taste of Texas" companies utilize very unique baskets ranging from ones shaped like the state of Texas to those shaped like an animal synonymous with Texas - the armadillo. Some of the baskets are decorated with Christmas holly and tree ornaments, others are just very attractively wrapped in beautiful, festive looking ribbon in a variety of styles and colors.

Fischer's Meat Market of Muenster is a Taste of Texas member and offers a variety of gift baskets and boxes for holiday giving.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has available a list of approximately 50 Texas companies who offer holiday gift baskets. If interested in saying "Merry Christmas" with a "Taste of Texas," please contact the Texas Department of Agriculture, 1140 Empire Central, Suite 400, Dallas, Texas 75247.

Dec. 15 ceremony unites couple in St. Peter's Church

MRS. BRADLEY TIM WIMMER
...nee Lisa Page Campbell...

Lisa Page Campbell of Denton became the bride of Bradley Tim Wimmer of Krum on Saturday, December 15, 1990 in a double ring ceremony officiated by Father Victor Gillespie OSB at 7:30 p.m. in St. Peter's Catholic Church of Lindsay.

The bride is the daughter of Joe and Sue Campbell of Denton. The groom is the son of Tim and Eunice Wimmer of Lindsay. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Roeder of Colleyville, and Joann Campbell of Denton. Her great-grandfather is C.J. Roeder of Sanger. Grandparents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wimmer and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knauf, all of Muenster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white, all lace gown designed with off-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice beaded with pearls and sequins; sleeves puffed off-shoulder and fitted to the wrists. The gathered skirt drifted softly into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil was held by a band of tiny flowers. She carried a bridal nosegay of dark red roses and green eucalyptus leaves accented with white baby's breath.

The matron of honor was Paige Callaway of Denton, friend of the bride. Bridesmaids were Jolanda Wimmer of Lindsay, groom's sister, and Jennifer Roeder of Sanger, bride's cousin. They were attired in emerald green dresses designed with velvet bodice, fitted V-shaped waistline accented with a bow; and skirt and three-quarter length sleeves of iridescent taffeta. Their flowers were smaller versions of the bridal bouquet.

Jennifer Hoedebeck of Muenster, cousin of the groom, and Autumn Callaway of Denton, friend of the bride, were flower girls.

The ring bearers were Russell Moon of Valley View, cousin of the bride, and Michael Valliere of The Colony, cousin of the groom.

Dan Bezner of Lindsay, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsman were Jeff Wimmer of Lindsay, groom's brother, and Chris Campbell of Denton, bride's brother.

Ushers were Les Moon of Valley View, bride's cousin; T.J. Walterscheid of Muenster, groom's cousin; Jay Anderle of Lindsay and Jim Moore of Thackerville, both friends of the groom.

Candlelighter was Jeremy Moon of Valley View, bride's cousin. Special Readings were given by Sandra Moon of Valley View, aunt of the bride, and by Sondra Hess of Muenster, cousin of the groom.

Wedding music was presented by Fran Schully, organist, and Laura Turner, a friend of the bride. Selections included: "Ice Castles," "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Gift," and "Surely the Presence of the Lord is in this Place."

Church decorations carried out the Christmas theme.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed, hosted by parents of the bride and groom, in the Lindsay Cafetorium.

Lydia Walterscheid and Kelly Wimmer, both of Muenster and both cousins of the groom, presided at the guest book.

The all white wedding cake by Betty Rose Walterscheid was decorated with deep red roses similar to the bridal flowers.

Reception assistants were Dyann Vogel, Sandra Fischer, Joann Hancock, Eydie Beck and Jill Johnson.

A Christmas theme was followed for decorations of the reception area.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home.

The bride is a 1986 graduate of Denton High School and is attending Texas Woman's University. She is employed at Bolen's Hallmark of Denton.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of Lindsay High School. He attended Cooke County College and is a 1990 graduate of Devry Institute of Technology. He is a technician employed by Peterbilt Motors Co. of Denton.

The couple will be at home in Krum upon return from a wedding cruise to the Bahamas and several days spent in Florida.

On Monday, Father Joe Weinzapfel had Mass at 9 a.m. In the afternoon, we played dominoes with Maureen Griggs and Irma Koelzer.

On Tuesday, we had exercise and then Janie Morgan played several videotapes of her grandson, Michael, bowling and in a Christmas play and with Santa Claus.

At the weekly bingo game on Wednesday, Augusta Walterscheid, Lu Vogel and Mr. and Mrs. Dill were the players. At 11:30 a.m., we all left for dinner at Gerald and Betty Rose Walterscheid's home, which they give every year for the residents of St. Richard's Villa. It was delicious. There were 20 residents attending. Rita Russell, Janie Morgan, Betty Gilpin, and Margaret Williams transported the residents out to the Waltersheids'. Those who attended were Joe Weinzapfel and Father Jos. Weinzapfel, Bertha Bewley, Rosie Walterscheid, Estelle Kelly, Theresa Vogel, Philomena Vogel, Ida Hoenig, Laura Haverkamp, Carl Smith, Frances Reiter, Elizabeth Krahl, Opal Cooper, Ursula Herr, Lois Carmichael, and Annie Jostwerner. Thanks to Gerry and Betty Rose for their delicious meal and hospitality. Merry Christmas from all the residents of St. Richard's Villa.

Jerry and Evelyn Sicking brought out the Muenster and Myra 4-H Clubs for caroling and brought homemade cookies and candies.

A large group of the KCs and their spouses, accompanied by Eddie Fleitman on his accordion, sang Christmas carols and mingled among the residents. Each resident received a gift for Christmas. Thanks from all at St. Richard's and a Merry Christmas to all.

The residents judged the decorated doors and the winners were Betty Gilpin, Misty Whitley and Della Ferguson. Each received $5.00.

Mildred Lawson entertained us with her accordion and sing-a-long Christmas carols.

Rev. Elwood Poore and Jim and Ruth Penton, Wilma Richardson and Josephine Berry came over from Rosston and had services. They brought California oranges to the residents.

Out-of-town guests this week were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Laux, Lindsay; Cassie Bullock, Gainesville; Millie Fare of Dallas; Gail Stoke of Dallas; Ed and Helen Halton of Austin; Mark Halton of San Antonio; Jay Tanner of Houston; Larry Kelley of Azle; Dan and Faye Hamric of Montague; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keroda of Gainesville; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoedebeck of Teutopolis, IL; Eulie Hudson and Ruth Hudson of Gainesville; and Cleo, Donna and Megan Hudspeth of Era.

Come out and see St. Richard's Villa before Christmas to see the lighting and wreaths that decorate the place. It's beautiful to see at night.

Merry Christmas to everyone and a Happy, Healthy New Year from all at St. Richard's.

Friends of the Family speaker offers program at hospital

Cindy Etter, Executive Director, and Alicia Woodard, Program Director of Cooke County Friends of the Family presented a program Tuesday, Dec. 19 at the Muenster Memorial Hospital's monthly Medical Staff meeting.

Ms. Etter discussed the organization and purpose of Friends of the Family. She said that the agency will assist victims and their families in dealing with the physical and emotional problems generated by a victimization.

Ms. Woodard discussed a proposed protocol for sexual assault victims and their families. Services provided by Friends of the Family for victims of family violence and other aggravated offenses were also reviewed. Brochures and other written material were given to the hospital staff in attendance.

Garden Club has holiday meeting

The Muenster Garden Club held its December meeting in the home of Herb and Dolores Miller on Sunday evening, Dec. 16. It was a covered dish dinner and members' husbands were special guests.

A brief business meeting followed, with Eileen Luke presiding. Yearbooks were distributed and a report was given by Dolores Miller on the poster and essay contests. Winners will be announced later. Members voted to give a Christmas donation for needy families in Muenster.

Eleven members and spouses attended.

Secular Franciscans meet

Plans for the traditional Crib Services at Christmas time were made by the Lindsay Secular Franciscans, during their Dec. 4 meeting in the home of Henry and Ollie Kuhn. The service will be held following the 10:30 a.m. Mass on Dec. 30.

Members also decided to postpone their usual bake sale until spring. Mrs. Theresa Hermes, president, led the business meeting, which followed ritual opening prayers and procedures.

A letter from Fr. Martin Wolter OFM complimented the fraternity for their observance of the Feast of St. Francis of Assisi on Oct. 4.

A report was given on the successful garage sale held on Oct.

28-29. All members signed Christmas cards to be sent to Bishop Peter and Antony T. Vadackel in Kerala, India. A letter was received from Bishop Peter thanking the fraternity for the box of one thousand rosaries on July 23, 1990. He received the box on Nov. 10, 1990. A letter from Antony T. Vadackel acknowledged the fraternity's monthly contribution; also a letter from St. Francis Village in Crowley thanked them for canceled stamps.

After adjournment the hostess, Ollie Kuhn, served pineapple cake, ice cream and coffee.

News of the Sick

Duane Knabe has moved to a new rehabilitation center. Cards will now reach him at 1801 West Arkansas, Apt. No. 1055, Arlington, TX 76013.

Marilyn Bierschenk underwent surgery at Gainesville Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 18, at noon. Her husband, Kenneth, remains at her bedside. Get-well cards will reach her addressed to Room 231, Gainesville Memorial Hospital, 1016 Ritchey St., Gainesville, Texas 76240.

Muenster Bands offer holiday concert Dec. 17

All school bands of Muenster Elementary and High School participated Dec. 17 in an evening concert presented for parents and friends. Charlotte Taylor is Band Instructor at Muenster Public School.

Fourth graders playing Flutophones introduced the program, with the following selections "Jolly Old St. Nicholas," "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night. They are beginners in the first phase of musical instruction and rehearse once a week with Ms. Taylor.

The fifth grade Beginning Band offered "Up On the Housetop," "Jing-a-ling-a bells" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

They rehearse with Ms. Taylor on alternate days.

The sixth grade Beginning Band played "A Suite For Old St. Nick," "Christmas Cheer" and "Little Drummer Boy."

"Rudolph, The Red-Nosed Reindeer" was the first of five selections by the Jr. High Band. It was followed by "Christmas Medley," "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," "Do You Hear What I Hear?" and "Christmas Fantasy."

The High School Hornet Marching Band concentrated on music for the football season until two weeks ago when they got their first opportunity to work on music for the concert season. For the school's Christmas program they presented "Sleigh Ride," "The Christmas Song," "Merry Bells of Christmas," "Winter Wonderland," "Here Comes Santa Claus," and "White Christmas."

Ms. Taylor extended the students' greetings and wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. She added her own personal remarks, saying "I was very proud of the bands' performances. The members have really improved since the beginning of the year."...and "I would like to thank parents, administration and community for their support this year. Merry Christmas to all and wishes for a Great New Year from All The Bands."

AMPI EMPLOYEES were presented with service pins Tuesday morning by Gary Christian, general manager. Pictured are, l to r, back - Clifford Truebenbach, Lisa Cooper, Sonny Walterscheid, David Estes, Gary Christian and Hank Walterscheid; front - Alan Reyling and Marlin Wimmer. Hank Walterscheid earned a diamond ring for 25 years; Lisa Cooper, Sonny Walterscheid and Marlin Wimmer, with 10 years, received emerald tie tacks or pendants. Five-year employees Alan Reyling, Clifford Truebenbach and David Estes were given sapphire tie tacks.

Both Janet and Sharon are daughters of Rufus and Betty Henscheid and are graduates of Sacred Heart High School. Both did their student teaching under Nell Hess, first grade teacher at Franklin Elementary School of Gainesville.

Beta Kappa parties

Members of Beta Kappa and their husbands enjoyed a Christmas party in the home of Pam and Dave Fette on Friday, Dec. 7.

Thirty three guests were present. Members brought canned goods for a food basket for the needy.

Pam Fette read a book entitled "The Three Trees" in memory of Lynn Dangelmayr. She also read a true story by Taylor Caldwell.

Favorite Christmas memories were shared, and a lovely buffet of pick up foods was served. All enjoyed a sing-a-long of Christmas carols.

Fifty-six 4-H'ers enter Food Show on Dec. 1

Food-Nutrition Program helps young people take responsibility for making healthful food choices. Food-Nutrition learning experiences in 4-H make the fitness-nutrition connection by encouraging 4-H'ers to establish a fitness plan based on knowledge of one's nutritional needs, lifestyle, and physical condition. As they develop skills in planning, selecting, preparing, serving and storing food, 4-H'ers come to understand how our food choices are influenced by psychological, social, economic and cultural influences. They recognize the way in which national and world wide policies affect food availability, personal food choices and the nutritional status of populations. They also explore career opportunities in food and nutrition.

Specifically they learn about nutrients, their functions and how to plan a balanced day's menu using foods from all four food groups. 4-H'ers also learn how to make food more attractive and eye appealing. The importance of variety in planning a menu is also emphasized. Kitchen safety is also part of each project.

Twenty adult and teen leaders lead food and nutrition projects in the community clubs in the county with 116 4-H'ers participating. A project consists of learning at least six new facts, concepts or ideas over a six hour time period. These six hours are usually broken down into three 2-hour sessions.

Saturday, Dec. 1, the County Food Show brought to a close the food and nutrition projects. Fifty-six 4-H'ers entered the Food Show. They prepared their food at home and brought it to the Food Show where they were judged by two judges. The criteria they are judged on includes a menu analysis; a project record form; overall quality and appearance of their food; knowledge of ingredient functions; possible substitutions; preparation principles; knowledge of their day's menu; food habits; personal appearance; and effectiveness of communication. The judges were very impressed by the knowledge of each of the participants and scores were very close.

During the judging those 4-H'ers not being judged participated in four activities, led by Becky Felderhoff, Linda Becker, Carolyn Lutkenhaus and Sandra Champion. Each 4-H'er made a poise-tia napkin holder from felt that will be donated to a local hospital to use in decoration. Christmas cards were made to give to the nursing home and pinwheels were made from wrapping paper to use to decorate the tree in the Courthouse. The fourth activity was making a Christmas stocking which they could keep.

Karen Ward presented a craft demonstration to the adults who attended the Food Show.

Gainesville National Bank sponsored the Food Show which was held at the Whaley United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

There are two divisions - Junior

Wiesman clan gathers for Christmas party

On Dec. 15, the Wiesman clan held its traditional annual Christmas party at the home of Rick and Darlene Stewart. About 50 relatives gathered for a gift exchange, delicious food and a hay ride with caroling through town.

Out of town members came from Austin, Plano, Grapevine and Round Lake, Ill. Don and Marcia Florian were guests of Mel and Henriette Fisch.

The annual gathering is eagerly anticipated by young and not so young alike. This year they were blessed with wonderful weather. They recalled that last year's family gathering was held in weather that dropped well below the twenties.

First Polka music fest to be held March 15-17

The Texas Polka Music Association, through its Executive Director, Mr. Julius Tupa, announced recently the date and site of the First Texas Polka Music Festival. The event is scheduled for March 15-17, 1991 and will be held in the beautiful Bell County Expo Center in Belton, Texas.

The Association, which was recently formed to promote the educational, recreational, and pleasurable activities associated with Polka Music, expects this to be the largest and best organized Polka Music event ever held in Texas. Mr. Tupa stated that he fully expects between 30 and 40 thousand people to attend the three day event.

The Association is inviting many of the greatest Polka bands in Texas to participate in the event. Plans call for three bands to be performing simultaneously on three sound stages. Dance floors will be available in each area. Friday night's events will begin with a superstar performance in the 10,000 seat arena. Saturday will feature 14 hours of nonstop music, eating and great fun and fellowship. Top quality food vendors are being invited to furnish the festival goers with great barbecue, kolaches, sausage, sauerkraut, and other delicacies generally found at events of this kind.

"Sunday will be a day to remember," according to Mr. Tupa. "We are beginning the day with a giant Polka Mass and ending it with the first Polka Music Awards show ever held in Texas. We are going to honor those who have made and are making Polka Music what it is today in our state. No one has ever done it before and it is long overdue."

The Association is currently promoting a membership drive. Membership is open to anyone who loves and supports Polka Music. Those who join in the first year will be honored by receiving the designation of Charter Member. Charter Members will also be memorialized in the future Texas Polka Music Hall of Fame, which will also be sponsored by the Association. For further information about the Texas Polka Music Association, or the upcoming event, please contact Mr. Julius Tupa at (713) 468-2494 or write to The Texas Polka Music Association, P.O. Box 800183, Houston, Texas 77280.

Muenster competes in tourney

Muenster's varsity girls and boys participated in the Chico basketball tournament last weekend and settled for two consolation trophies.

The girls improved their season record with wins over Saint Jo and Petrolia, but lost to Perrin. The boys, now 3-4 for the season, defeated Saint Jo and Paradise but lost by one point to Perrin the opening game.

In girls' action, the Lady Hornets began Thursday with a 43-50 loss to Perrin. Muenster took an 11-8 first quarter lead, but were outscored 4-20 the second quarter, falling to a 28-15 intermission score. "The second quarter was the worst we've played all year," said Muenster Coach Brian Strother. "We turned the ball over and were very cold in our shooting." Muenster remained cold the third period so Strother put in the substitutes. "The bench is what put us back in the game," Strother said. "We made a run at Perrin the fourth quarter, but couldn't get any closer than 4 points." DaLana Walterscheid was high scorer with 12 points.

The next contest matched the Hornets with Saint Jo. Muenster stretched their lead each quarter to take a 54-33 victory. "We were real tired from the night before and it was midway through the third quarter before we started playing," commented the Muenster coach. "Once we started playing, we took it to Saint Jo." Muenster's press gave the Pantherettes problems, keeping their score low.

Melissa Bayer and DaLana Walterscheid were leading scorers with 13 and 12 points.

The consolation game Saturday was with Petrolia. Coach Grady Roller coached the girls the first quarter until the arrival of Strother. The low scoring period was improved the second quarter with Muenster taking a 25-11 halftime lead. Petrolia could score only one point the third quarter, giving the Lady Hornets a 39-12 lead going into the last quarter. "We started scoring, got into our press and things started to fit together," remarked Strother.

"Our defense was really on, this sparked our offense."

DaLana Walterscheid, Danell Reiter and Amy Otto were recognized for playing a fine game. "It was a tough tournament for our shooting, but defense is what wins most of our games. The girls are having a good pre-season and this will make us better for our tough district play," concluded the coach.

The Hornets' first game matched Muenster with Perrin. "We started slow, they started hot," said the Hornet coach. "Our height started to pay off with inside shots and rebounding. We finished the first quarter down 20-14." Troy Pagel and Rajko Jelen led the Hornets the second period to bring the score within one point of Perrin 29-30.

"Terry Felderhoff came off the bench and played well. Perrin stayed close after we took the lead," said Strother. "But we could never put them away." The Hornets missed ten lay-ups, "that's one thing that cost us the game." Perrin hit a basket at the end of the game to take the win.

Rajko Jelen was high scorer with 15, followed by Felderhoff's 14 points. Also scoring were Troy Pagel, Kody Truebenbach, Doug Hennigan, Justin Ramsey, Ryan Sicking and Brad McDaniel.

The Hornets meet Saint Jo in the second round action Friday.

coming out on top 63-42. "Doug started us going and we never looked back," stated the Muenster coach. "We took the ball right at them...we pounded the boards." All 13 Hornets played with 12 of them scoring.

"It was a game we needed for our confidence and to just relax and play," concluded Strother.

Doug Hennigan and Kody Truebenbach were top scorers with 9 points a piece. Also adding to the board were Troy Pagel, Terry Felderhoff, Brad McDaniel, Justin Ramsey, Kelley Colwell, Ryan Sicking, Steven Fisher, Bryan Reiter and Mike Gobble.

Saturday night the Hornets handed Paradise a 90-63 beating for the consolation trophy. "We were bigger and stronger, plus our depth just wore out Paradise," said Coach Brian Strother. "We took the ball right to them...our press really hurt them." Muenster took 18-13, 46-30 and 69-38 quarter leads, with Troy Pagel leading the team with 17 points. Pagel was also the leading rebounder and was nominated to the all tournament team.

Rajko Jelen added 14 points for the Hornets, with Brad McDaniel and Ryan Sicking following with 13 and 12. Terry Felderhoff added 9, Kody Truebenbach 7, Kelly Colwell 6 and Mike Gobble, Bryan Reiter and Steven Fisher 4 each.

Muenster splits games with Bellevue Tuesday

Muenster's roundballers traveled to Bellevue Tuesday night with the junior varsity boys and varsity girls winning, and the varsity Hornets losing their match by two points.

In J.V. action twelve players got on the court with eleven of them scoring. Darren Bindel was leading scorer with 20 points. Mike Hacker added 10, with Kelly Colwell and Brian Knabe hitting eight a piece. Eric Van Swearingen made 7 with the Hornet's Rodney Vogel, A.J. Knabe, Cory Knabe, Harvey Hubbard, Ryan Haverkamp and Scott Hudspeth also scoring.

"Darren Bindel started us rolling and we never looked back," said Muenster Coach Brian Strother. "Our press hurt them, we pounded the boards and had many second shots." Muenster broke the game open the second quarter with 21 points. The second half was much the same press and push the ball up the floor. Van Swearingen was credited for a well played game with four steals.

The Lady Hornets took a 12-2 first quarter lead then relaxed and let Bellevue in the game the second quarter. "We spread our defense too far and they penetrated the middle," stated Strother. "When our defense toughened, their scoring went down."

DaLana Walterscheid was high scorer with 11 points, followed by Danell Reiter and Brandy Debnam with 8 each. Also scoring for Muenster were Theresa Kubis, Dianne Pagel, Amy Otto, Marcia Vogel, Melissa Bayer, Kim Anderle and Leslie Klement. "Our team defense and chemistry have been the two main things to our early success," concluded the coach. The Hornets have a season record of 11-4.

The Hornets led Bellevue for three quarters 17-7, 36-22 and 50-40 before falling behind the final period for a 62-64 loss. "We started off great, then our defense went a little relaxed," said the Muenster coach. "In the fourth they made a run on us and shot the lights out with us missing a few good shots down the wire."

Leading the Hornets were Troy Pagel and Brian Reiter with 11 and 10 points. Brad McDaniel contributed 9 with Steven Fisher, Rajko Jelen, Mike Gobble, Doug Hennigan, Ryan Sicking, Terry Felderhoff and Kody Truebenbach also putting points on the scoreboard.

"We don't have the killer instinct. We will have to get better at this when it comes to district play," concluded Strother.

All-State winners announced

Six Sacred Heart football players were nominated to the TAPPS Class 2A All-State football team. Three earned first team possessions, two on the second and one receiving honorable mention.

The Tiger defense earned four spots, with Chris Hess and Jason Beyer making the first team. Hess, a junior, earned the position of nose guard. He is credited with 33 quarterback sacks, 83 solo tackles and 45 assists. "Chris' speed and quickness caused havoc for a lot of offensive centers," said Tiger Coach John Nasche. "He pursued the ball better than anyone, he's on his way to a fine senior year."

Beyer, a senior linebacker, had 127 solo tackles with 32 assists and 11 quarterback sacks for the season. "Jason led the team in tackles and always gave us a good effort," said Nasche. "He became a force to be reckoned with, he is loaded with talent."

Darrell Mullins and Shawn Dangelmayr were second team picks as defensive lineman and defensive back. Mullins is credited with 61 tackles, 33 assists and 6 quarterback sacks. "We often found teams running away from Darrell's side because he always drew a double team," commented Nasche. "For his size he was quick and aggressive."

"Shawn had unbelievable quickness in getting to the line of scrimmage to make tackles from his corner back spot," remarked Nasche. Dangelmayr, for the season, had 102 tackles with 20 assists; also 6 interceptions and 12 knockdowns on pass defense.

Senior Jason Endres earned a place on the offensive team as lineman. He had 80 percent blocking on the year. "Jason was a leader for the Hogs. His desire to win and discipline are his best assets," Coach Nasche commented. "He was our most efficient blocker off the offensive line with Darrell Mullins right behind him."

Ryan Hess was named to the honorable mention list as a running back. Hess gained 802 yards on 124 carries this season for an average of 6.5 yards per carry. He also had 6 receptions for 60 yards. "Ryan was a dependable runner. I always knew if we gave the ball to Ryan we would get 4 or 5 yards," remarked Nasche. "He is loaded with talent, his speed and strength are his best assets."

Coach Nasche said his seniors will be missed, but he has a lot of talent returning. He wishes the seniors luck and "I know they can all play college football on some level, especially at small schools."

Red snapper limit to be reduced to two daily

AUSTIN - The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council has proposed that the 1991 red snapper bag limit be reduced to two fish daily and the commercial quota be two million pounds annually. If the plan is approved, the reductions will become effective Jan. 1.

In September the Council recommended to the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) a bag limit of six and a quota of 2.5 million pounds and a 50 percent reduction in shrimp trawl bycatch of baby red snapper by 1993. The NMFS regional director did not approve the recommendations and returned the issue to the Council for reconsideration.

Congressional action has prohibited any federal action to reduce bycatch, estimated to be 12.5 million baby snappers annually, until 1994, according to a Council release.

The average commercial landings of Gulf red snapper from 1985-87 was about 3.8 million pounds, but the 1990 projection is estimated to be only about 2.5 million pounds, much less than the current allowable quota of 3.1 million pounds, Council officials said. The average annual recreational harvest during those same years was about 2.3 million pounds. The two-fish bag limit is expected to reduce this catch by 48 percent, the same level of reduction for the commercial fishery.

Tigerettes 20 ticks short

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes traveled to Valley View Saturday afternoon with upset on their minds and came up 20 seconds short. The Tigerettes took an early lead over the host Lady Eagles and held it until the final 20 seconds when two Valley View free shots gave the Lady Eagles the lead and the 37-36 win.

"I am very pleased with the girls' effort," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "We did enough good things to win except the most important, and that is to connect on our free shots. We were 3 of 11 and only one of five in the final period. Nine of ten times the team that makes the most free shots will win." The Tigerettes' inability to connect from the line may be a key to the close losses the Tigerettes have experienced this season.

The Tigerettes roared into the Eagle Nest to a 12-2 first period lead and a 21-8 edge at the half. The Tigerettes only committed three turnovers in the first half, a season's best.

The second half witnessed the Lady Eagles cut into the Tigerette lead 27-21 after three quarters. The Tigerettes and Lady Eagles both turned the ball over in the period with the Tigerettes making eight errors and the Lady Eagles 5. Regrouping at the quarter the Tigerettes' Sharon Fuhrmann pushed the Tigerette lead to eight with a 15-foot jumper. Great defense by the Tigerettes kept the lead at eight until a Cindy Support drive and then three Tigerette turnovers pushed the Eagles back in the game to a 29-27 count.

Fuhrmann again hit for two and J.J. Dowd scored on a drive to push the Tigerettes' lead to 34-30. Lady Eagle Sam Shuppert hit a jumper, sister Cindy a jumper and a charity shot, to counter a steal and hoop by Tigerette Shirley Henscheid for a 36-35 count with just under a minute. Working for a good shot a Lady Eagle foul sent the Tigerettes to the charity line. A misfire gave the Lady Eagles the ball. Defense kept the Lady Eagles on a perimeter and forced a long Lady Eagle shot that missed, but the Tigerettes were whistled for a foul. Two free throws by Tomlinson put the Lady Eagles up 37-26 with 20 seconds remaining. A turnover ruined the Tigerettes' chances for the last shot. With nine seconds remaining good, thinking by the Tigerettes almost caused a Valley View turnover and an ensuing Tigerette foul sent the Lady Eagles to the foul line. A Lady Eagle miss and a Tigerette rebound would result in another chance for a shot at the win, only the quick reactions of the Lady Eagles snared the rebound and the win.

The Tigerette scorers were Sharon Fuhrmann with 14, J.J. Dowd 12, Shirley Henscheid 7, Deann Bayer 2, and Vickie Bayer 1. The Tigerettes won the boards as J.J. Dowd pulled down a season high 16 and Sharon Fuhrmann grabbed 13. After only three turnovers in the first half the Tigerettes ended the game with 19.

Cooke County Classic

The annual Cooke County Classic Basketball Tournament, sponsored by KGAF, will be held Dec. 27-29 at the Cooke County College gym. Teams included to see action are Sacred Heart and Muenster. For a complete list of participants, see the tournament bracket below.

Resolution Run set for Jan. 12, 1991

The fourth annual Resolution Run, sponsored by Ben E. Keith Distributing, will be held on Saturday, Jan. 12, 1991 at 9:00 a.m. The run will include a one mile fun walk and run which will begin at 8:30 a.m. The 5K and 10K runs will follow at 9:00 a.m.

Pre-registration will include a long sleeve T-shirt, towel, water bottle, storage belt, carry bag (for the first 200 registered) and free breakfast for runners. This run will include a Pasta Pig-Out on Friday, Jan. 11 from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. at the Palestine Middle School.

Late registration can be made from 6:00 to 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning at the Palestine Middle School on Loop 256 in Palestine. There will be entertainment, door prizes, a pancake breakfast, trophies, award ceremony and health screening for the runners. Entry fee is $12 per person, $15 for late registration.

Tigers drop close game to Valley View

"It's tough losing another close game," commented Tiger Coach John Nasche. "Sooner or later with our continued improvements we will win these close games." Sacred Heart, in their Saturday game at Valley View, fell 38-45. "Our team is a lot better than our 3-6 record. With some continued hard work and better shooting we will be able to play with anyone," said Nasche.

The Eagles took 7-13 and 11-23 leads the first period, but were outscored by the Tigers during the third period 17-12, to go into the final quarter 28-35. The teams were matched 10-19 on the boards for the final 38-45 score.

Jason Endres was high scorer with 13 points. Stevan Nasche followed with 11 and Shawn Dangelmayr, the leading rebounder, added 6 points. Gary Hess, Joe Bedowitz, Mark Flusche and Jason Frost also scored.

"The Tigers must improve from the free throw line if we are ever to start winning these close games," remarked Coach Nasche. "Each player is going to have to make an effort to practice free shots." The Tigers shot 12-32 from the line; that's 20 points we let slip away," concluded Nasche.

Cubs split with Terral

The Sacred Heart sixth graders played their first basketball game Monday night in the Tiger Den, falling 15-18 to Terral. "I saw a lot of encouraging plays and some good basketball," said boys' coach John Nasche. "This group rarely sees any action in the crowded gym for P.E..."

Paul Swirczynski led the team with 7 points and "single handedly broke their press." Jacob Luke hit four points with Gregg Flusche and Glen Dangelmayr adding two each. Also seeing action were Michael Flusche, John Sparkman, and Bart Sicking. Coach Nasche credits the sixth graders as a talented group.

Jr. High action followed with the Cubs taking a 32-23 victory over Terral and evening their record 3-3.

Sacred Heart jumped to an early first quarter score 15-4, keeping an 11-point lead at intermission. The Cubs gained 2 points the third quarter for a 30-17 score going into the final quarter. Only two points were made by the Cubs the final quarter, but they kept their winning lead. Jason Hess led the young Tigers with 14 points. "No one can stop Jason when he's hot," said the Cubs' coach. Neil Berres, seeing his first action after the removal of an arm cast earlier this week, scored 11 points. "He played sensational, he's got the potential to carry us over the hump," Nasche commented. John Klement, Scott Poole, Trent Trubenbach and Jake McCoy also scored.

"The bench did a fine job. It's encouraging to have so much talent sitting on the bench," commented the coach. "This Cub team has a lot of potential. If they continue to progress they could be the best group of athletes Sacred Heart has seen in a long time." Nasche concluded in that he is looking forward to being their coach for years to come.

Next action for the Cubs will be the Montague tournament, January 3, 4 and 5.

Lindsay beats state-ranked Greyhounds

Lindsay hosted the Slidell Greyhounds last Friday night and earned two victories in the Knights' gym.

The girls started the night with an 18-11 first quarter score, and took a 10-point lead going into the locker at halftime. An even third period score kept the Knightettes' lead at 10 entering the fourth quarter. Slidell attempted a comeback, outscoring Lindsay 11-20, one point short of an overtime game, giving the Lady Knights a 56-55 win.

"This was our best game of the season," said Lindsay Coach George Thomason. "We're making the progress we need." Slidell is the second ranked Class A girls' team in the state. The win improves Lindsay's record 10-4.

Leading scorer for the Knightettes was Gretchen Hoening with 14 points. Cassandra Fuhrmann added 13 and Kristi Krebs 11. Melanie Anderson and Debbie Fangmann contributed 8 points apiece and Laura Lutkenhaus two.

Slidell's leading scorer was Jennifer McLaughlin with 29 points. The Knights improved their season record, 11-2, with a 82-49 win over the Greyhounds. Scott Hermes led Lindsay with 32 points. Kenny Fleitman added 11, followed by Ronnie Deiter's 10 points.

"We had a close game with Slidell before winning by only 7," said Thomason. "This was an easier game...you can tell we're improving."

After a close first period score, 14-11, Lindsay scored 25 second period points to the Greyhounds' 13 to take a 39-24 halftime lead. The Knights outscored their opponents 43-25 the second half to clinch the one-sided victory.

Ray Hamm led Slidell with 23 points. The Knights' next game was Thursday, Dec. 20 at Forestburg, then the Cooke County Classic Dec. 27-29.

Survey shows cattle ranchers employ conservation practices

A survey of the nation's cattle producers shows that ranchers have a commitment to conservation practices that protect and improve land, water and wildlife.

The survey, conducted by POPULUS, Inc. and commissioned by the National Cattlemen's Association (NCA), showed that a large proportion of U.S. beef cattle ranchers are increasing their use of conservation practices, are active in conservation programs, are reducing their use of pesticides in feed crop production and are providing water and habitat that benefit wildlife.

The results of this survey show that conservation and protection of land and water are part of the cattlemen's way of life as well as a vital investment in his business and in his family's future.

Farming and ranching tends to be a family business. According to survey findings 42 percent of cattle operations have been in the same family for more than 50 years, and that 21 percent have been in the same family for more than 75 years.

A cattlemen depends on the land for his livelihood and to assure a livelihood for future generations, he must protect and improve the environment for which he is responsible.

Almost half the total land area of the U.S. is pasture and grazing land, so cattle ranchers own or manage more land than any other industry in this country.

Concentrated on the larger beef cattle producers in 48 states, the survey focused on production that effect the environment. The survey did not involve large commercial feedlots.

The survey found that many cattle producers employ a variety of conservation practices. Since 1980, the survey showed an average of 30 percent have increased the number of stock ponds, areas with newly planted trees, wells and water developments, and areas that support wildlife. In addition, 27 percent planned to increase such conservation practices in the next five years. In the past decade, 42 percent of the ranchers said they have increased areas with newly planted trees, and 28 percent plan to plant more trees in the next five years.

Cattle producers also have been active in conservation programs. Since 1980, 45 percent of those surveyed have put acreage into government conservation programs and 64 percent have put acres into private conservation and land management programs.

By using good management practices such as rotational grazing, 52 percent report that the condition of native pasture and grazing land has improved in the last 10 years.

Thirteen percent reported a decline in land conditions, with drought being the overwhelming reason.

Cattle producers also showed a sensitive need for special conservation practices on fragile lands such as wetlands and riparian areas (land along streams and waterways).

Over the past decade, 29 percent of ranchers have maintained or restored wetlands on their operations. In addition, 62 percent reported that their riparian land has been maintained with no deterioration of condition for the past 10 years, and 25 percent have seen improvements since 1980.

On the use of farm chemicals, 60 percent said they have not increased pesticides in feed crop production in the past 10 years and 25 percent have cut back on them.

The survey also showed that many farmers and ranchers routinely support wildlife populations by providing them with patches of corn, wheat and grass. Ranchers also are planting trees and grass for cover and creating water habitats.

The survey was conducted in July and August by telephone with a random sample of 700 cattle producers. Those surveyed had at least 100 head of cattle, and 68 percent managed 500 or more acres of grazing land. The survey has a sampling error of 3.7 percentage points.

Hay judging winners posted

There's good hay, bad hay and some that's so-so, and more than 100 young people from throughout north Texas gathered recently on the Cooke County College campus to determine who could best tell the difference.

The occasion was this year's annual Cooke County College Hay Judging Contest sponsored by CCC's Department of Agriculture. For many, it was a tuneup for the statewide contest also scheduled this year in Gainesville.

Twenty-nine judging teams representing various FFA chapters and 4-H Clubs from around the region came to compete. Awards were given to both teams and individuals who scored highest in the evaluation and comparative ranking of various grass and legume hay samples.

Topping the list of individual judges with 216 points was John McCoy of Weatherford, followed in second place by Matt Walker of Pilot Point with 214. With 213 points each, Hope Mayo of Whitesboro and Colby Shawn of Bridgeport split third and fourth places.

Other high individuals, in order of finish, were Mace Renfro of Pilot Point (212), Jason Garner of Blue Ridge (210), Doug Smith of Grapevine (209), Jeremy Owen of Lindsay (209), Judson Richardson of Blue Ridge (207), Scott Wandell of Lewisville (207) and Bryan Hemming of Savoy (207). Outdistancing all others for top team honors was Pilot Point FFA

Number One with 618 points. Team members were Shane Diers, Ricky Rogers, Matt Walker and Dirk Webb. Advisor is Tammy Glascock.

Runner-up honors went to the Lindsay FFA Number Two team, coached by advisor Larry Schumacher. Piling up a total of 607 points were team members Rocky Barnes, Mark Williams, Shane Huchton and Jeremy Owen.

Close behind with 604 points was the Bridgeport FFA Number One team in third place. Advisors are Tommy Blessings and Gary Green, and team members are Heath Sparks, Trent Morrow, Colby Shawn and Larry Jennings.

Fourth place team honors went to Grapevine FFA Number Two with 599 points. Coached by advisor Bill Burton, this team is made up of Doug Smith, Michael Bush and Anne Hamilton. Finishing in fifth place with 596 points were Herb Price, Corey Sandmann, W. B. Allison and Leslie Hess, making up Lindsay FFA Number One under advisor Larry Schumacher.

Rounding out the list of top teams was Northwest FFA Number One with 595 points. Team members are Brian Gray, Shelley Faught, Nickey Lindsey, and Ricky Buyers, and the advisor is Kelley Kimmy.

"I take my hat off to all contestants," said CCC Agriculture Department faculty member Doug Robison, director of CCC's Soil & Forage Testing Laboratory. "The differences between a large number of the samples were very slight and very subtle, and I was extremely impressed with their ability to make some excellent comparative judgements."

Texas, US cattle industry numbers are continuing well below normal

by Mary Mahoney

COLLEGE STATION - A relatively low supply of cattle in Texas and the rest of the nation kept prices high during 1990, a situation likely to continue through 1991.

"With this continuing short supply of animals, ranchers saw record prices for virtually all classes of cattle and calves in 1990," said Dr. Ernest E. Davis, livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Davis predicted that in 1991, for the fourth straight year, numbers of cattle and calves in the United States will fall just below 100 million head - between 99.6 million and 99.9 million.

In 1990, prices paid to producers were the highest recorded. This year's prices for feeder cattle will average $4 to $5 per hundredweight more than those received in 1989.

"But high prices don't necessarily translate into high profits," he said, adding that many ranchers have found their costs rising as well.

Davis pointed out that the size of the Texas herd in January 1990 actually declined by 200,000 animals from the 13.6 million head counted the previous year.

As in other parts of country, two or three years of drought has forced numerous cattle sales and put some ranchers out of business in Texas. Ranchers have been reluctant to restock on ranges that have become fragile with lack of rainfall. Tighter credit also has limited investments in cattle.

Beef supplies next year should be about the same as in 1990, Davis said, with increased beef imports likely to offset a slight drop in domestic beef production.

"Fed cattle prices will probably average $2 to $3 a hundredweight below 1990's average because of larger supplies of competing meats, particularly chicken and pork," Davis said.

Higher numbers of cattle on feed this fall and larger feedlot marketings in December, January and February, he said, will create a temporary glut on the market and bring down fed cattle prices in early 1991. Consumers also should see a corresponding temporary drop in beef prices.

Davis predicted that feeder cattle prices will continue strong in 1991.

"Feeder cattle supplies will be tight," Davis said. "Lower feed grain costs will partially offset lower prices received for fed cattle, keeping cattle feeder margins tight but for the most part profitable."

Davis said feedlot profit margins will be further squeezed in 1991 as feeder cattle purchase prices continue at about the same level as this year.

"Cattle prices should stay strong until ranchers get bullish on herd expansion," Davis said.

If the U.S. economy enters its predicted recession, the economist believes that cattle ranchers probably won't be hit too hard by consumer spending cutbacks.

Some positive factors impacting cattle numbers and prices during the past year have been a general improvement in the demand of U.S. beef from international trade, primarily from Japan and other Pacific Rim countries and Canada, and the positive food safety and high quality aspects of U.S. fed beef.

In the coming years, there should be an increasing export demand and generally increasing worldwide demand for U.S. beef. This should provide more stability for the cattle market, Davis said.

He noted, however, that beef export sales could dip in the spring, chiefly because Japan may be buying less U.S. beef. Japan is expected to drop its trade barriers limiting its beef imports in April, Davis said, but the country has so much U.S. beef in storage that it may actually buy less in 1991.

Such an action would make more beef available for U.S. domestic consumption, tending to drive meat prices down.

For consumers, January sales will offer savings of about 10 percent on many beef cuts, said Dr. Dick Edwards, Extension Service food distribution specialist.

He said there will be special sales on beef cuts each week at meat counters of supermarkets throughout the year, many coinciding with holiday observances.

Color your holidays red and green

by Diane Baum

We have incorporated the expression "holiday blues" into our language in order to refer to a feeling, tone or mood that some people experience around Thanksgiving and especially Christmas. The holiday season can be stressful and less than jolly for many people but it need not be. The Scott & White Department of Psychiatry offers several suggestions to help people make the most of the holidays.

First of all, we should think about what aspect the holidays is important to us. Is it getting together with family members, exchanging gifts or spiritual experiences and contemplation? A person who values spiritual reflection may want to turn down a few social engagements in order to leave time for their first priority, while a person who values holiday get-togethers with family and friends may want to make sure that these activities are scheduled during the holidays. We may find that our priorities change from year to year or that life has re-arranged them for us because, for example, of the loss of a loved one.

Handling a recent loss whether due to death, divorce or break-up can make holidays especially difficult, but they can be dealt with by remembering the loved one in some special way, such as giving a donation to a favorite charity in the person's name, or by scheduling time with other family members or friends.

Holiday Stress

Holidays can be especially stressful. They often include extra work, such as gift buying, shopping, cooking, decorating, baking, wrapping, and card sending, in addition to one's usual job and/or household duties. Practicing sound management skills in the home, such as delegating tasks to other family members and allowing adequate time, as well as eating wisely and scheduling time for exercise during the holidays can help us feel more relaxed and in control of things that we want to do during this busy season.

Again, we may need to set priorities according to what we value and want to do. We can assign food to be brought by other family members instead of doing it all ourselves. We can have bakery cookies or share the task with children instead of having them all "homemade" by mom.

Holidays can also mean stress which results from negative encounters with "difficult" relatives or friends. Staying in the present (not reviving old rivalries or hurts) and remembering that we can only be responsible for our own thoughts and behavior, not that of others, can help make interactions with others smoother. It also helps to remember that the holiday time, when expectations and emotions may be at peak levels, last only a short time and that a peaceful holiday season can be a reality.

Finding out what aspect of the holiday season we value most, setting priorities, using good time management skills, practicing "diplomacy" in difficult relationships and continuing wise health practices are all ways to ensure that our holidays are more peaceful and relaxing.

SENIORS and juniors of the Religious Education classes, the CCD of Sacred Heart Parish, conducted a Christmas program Wednesday evening, Dec. 12, directed by Pam Fette in the Community Center. Shown are several who took part, depicting events of the First Christmas. They are, l to r, standing - the Three Kings, played by Stephen Fisher, Jon Fleitman and Hiroki Miura; also Julie Miller, Rajko Jelen, Kristen Klement, Mike Gobble, Raymond Stewart and Scott Hudspeth. At center are Chad Bayer, Kim Anderle and infant Mackenzie Herr, playing Joseph, Mary and the Child Jesus.

Last December's freeze ended era of Ruby Red

by Edith Chenault

UVALDE - A 60-year tradition has ended in Texas with last year's bone-chilling December in the Rio Grande Valley.

Citrus growers aren't replanting the Ruby Red grapefruit, long considered a staple of Texas winter diets and the perfect Christmas gift. The late - December freeze killed Ruby Red trees by the thousands.

"Not very many Rubys are being planted anymore, which I guess is the end of an era," said Dr. Richard Hensz of Weslaco, director of the Texas A&I Citrus Center.

The Ruby Red, discovered in the late-1920s in the Texas valley, differed from previous varieties in that it was seedless, had pink meat and a blush to its peel.

After the freeze in 1983, farmers began replacing the Ruby Red with two other varieties - the Star Ruby and Rio Red - but their numbers were not nearly as great. There were more Ruby Reds, as far as acreage, in orchards than anything else going into 1989.

"Most of them were older trees that had survived the 1983 freeze, but most of these were killed in 1989. There are very few Ruby Red orchards left in the valley," said Hensz.

The Star Ruby variety was released by Texas A&I researchers in the early 1970s. It has been successful worldwide, except that it bears fruit every other year.

Texas A&I researchers finally overcame that drawback in 1984 with the release of another variety, Rio Red. Both newer varieties have dark red meat. By contrast, the meat of the traditional Ruby Red was much lighter and tended to lose color as the season progressed.

All of the grapefruit and oranges on the trees were lost in the December 1989 cold snap, when temperatures hovered around 16 degrees for several hours. Only about half of both crops had been harvest before the freeze.

There were about 35,000 acres of citrus in the valley before the freeze. Estimates place total plantings now at 12,000 acres.

Prewett estimated that it will take years for growers to fully recover from the 1989 freeze. If good prices for citrus continue, he said, growers may be able to break even in five to six years instead of seven to nine years.

The projected harvest for the 1991 Texas citrus crop is about 10,700 tons, down 255,200 tons from the 1988-89 season, Sauls said. It will only be half of the 1985 production (the first harvest year after the 1983 freeze) because of less acreage and younger trees, he explained.

"I predict that the industry will recover," Hensz said. "The problem we have now is that there are simply not enough nursery trees. And we certainly don't need another freeze in the next six years."

CCC students, city officers are ready to aim and fire!

City police officers and students from the Cooke County College Criminal Justice program are ready to aim and fire - safely and conveniently - at a new firing range facility the city and college will be sharing.

Located on property enclosed within the security fence of the city's main waste treatment plant on the blank side of town, the facility was formally opened this past week.

For quite some time, local police department officials had seen the need for upgrading city firing range facilities become more acute. Likewise, CCC criminal justice instructor Chuck Carter had been seeking better facilities for students enrolled in the program's defensive measures class which involves firearm training.

College and city officials came together to discuss this mutual need, and plans were begun to locate a site that possibly could be shared.

"The more we considered the waste treatment plant site," said Carter, "the more it became obvious to us that it would be ideal - not only in terms of location and accessibility to all users but also in terms of cost since much less dirt work would be required than for a range built from scratch. Also, there was already an existing security fence."

Carter reported that the city not only took care of what dirt work was necessary but also supplied target stands. The college provided a large trailer, which once housed the "Wagon Train School" supplied and outfitted by CCC for the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train. It has been refurbished, with benches installed, and will be used for storage of targets and cleaning materials.

"We're very grateful to Lyle Dresher, city manager, to Police Chief Carl Dunlap and Mayor Charles Woolfolk for their cooperation in this project," said Dr. Bud Joyner, CCC president. "It will be of tremendous benefit to our students, and we hope for more of this kind of resource sharing in the future."

Cold, icy weather could pose threat to home LP-gas users

AUSTIN - With the arrival of the winter heating season, Texas homeowners who fuel furnaces and appliances with liquefied petroleum gas should double-check to make sure the regulator on their LP-gas tank is properly installed and protected from snow and ice, say safety officials of the Railroad Commission's Liquefied Petroleum Gas Division.

If the regulator vent ices over, high-pressure gas can be released directly to home appliances. A normal 1/4-inch blue flame on an appliance could suddenly surge, becoming a dangerous torch. Over the past few winters, several home and business fires have been caused by such regulator freeze-ups, officials say.

Regulators on many home tanks are located under a protective metal dome on the top of the tank, shielding them from weather and insects. Homeowners with tanks where the circular regulator has been installed outside the dome cover should check to make sure that the regulator vent is pointing down toward the ground, away from the elements.

For economic reasons, many consumers are buying propane early or for the first time as a supplemental heat source. A dangerous and potentially deadly situation can develop when homeowners unwittingly bring LP-gas portable cylinders indoors.

Commission safety regulations prohibit portable LP-gas containers indoors because of the danger of explosion or fire if stored too close to a heat source.

Over the past month, the LP-Gas Division has been notified of five reported fires in which LP-gas cylinders were either used indoors or in which improperly installed or unprotected gas regulators were identified as the cause.

If homeowners are concerned about whether or not their regulator is properly installed, they should contact the local LP-gas dealer that fills or services the tank.

LP-gas, more commonly known as propane or butane, is used as a residential and commercial fuel in areas where natural gas utility service is not available.

Jay and Gaye Hutson announce the arrival of their son Ross Meridith, born December 5, 1990 at 2:30 a.m. in the Denton Community Hospital. He weighed 7 lbs. 8 ozs. He has a sister Jayme. His grandparents are Ben and Tommie Gunter of Jacksboro, Joann Bell of Alvord. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Couger of Possum Kingdom Lake, and Sybil Nivens of Alvord.

Mrs. Juanita Greanad and Mr. and Mrs. Ran Greanad and Matt and Jayme Houston went to Denison Saturday to help Kevin Holzboog celebrate his second birthday. The party was at McDonald's in Denison Saturday afternoon. Refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream were served with favors. Gifts were brought for Kevin.

Kevin is the son of Doug and Rhonda Holzboog and his grandmother is Mrs. Cornelia Holzboog, all of Denison. Other relatives and friends also attended the party.

Mrs. Louise Shults went to Lindsay, Ok. Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Blankenship. On Monday Mrs. Shults and the Blankenships drove to Elk City, Ok. to attend the funeral of Calvin Blankenship.

Mrs. Louise Shults and Mrs. Shirley Harvill drove to Wichita Falls and Vernon Friday.

Dr. Jerry McKown of Valley View visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berry and James Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Katie Cook and Mrs. Mae Fletcher of Marietta, Okla. had lunch and spent the day Wednesday with the Jack Berrys. Mrs. Odessa Berry met Mrs. Katie Cook in Gainesville Thursday and they had lunch together.

J.Y. and Agnes Brandon visited the Jack Berrys Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mozell Hutson attended the Open House at the Saint Jo Nursing Home Sunday. Mrs. Hutson visited with her mother, Mrs. Jewel Gaston. Refreshments were served with a gift exchange.

Mrs. Josephine Berry, Mrs. Wilma Richardson, Mrs. Marie Ford and Mrs. Agnes Brandon of the Rosston Club attended the Home Extension Club's Christmas Party at the college Tuesday evening. Mrs. P. Dill played a medley of songs. Roger Boyce gave the welcoming address. About 75 guests attended from clubs in the county.

After the party the Rosston group drove to Gainesville to look at Christmas lights.

Mrs. Josephine Berry, Ruth and Jim Penton, Mrs. Wilma Richardson and Rev. Elwood Poore presented their regular singing at St. Richard's Villa in Muenster Sunday evening.

Miss Lois Bewley visited her aunt, Mrs. Bertha Bewley, in St. Richard's Villa Wednesday.

Jo and Janet Sicking, Mrs. Pauline Sicking and Ruth Smith drove to see the Christmas lights at the Jones' place near Decatur Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth and Dawson Ensey drove to Wichita Falls to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harold Phillips Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lovette had as their weekend guests Rev. and Mrs. Dennis Pellet, and Jeff and Corey Pellet and Dieder Ousley. Also Jason Bowman and two classmates from the University of North Texas came by Friday and went to the Lovette's mountain cabin at San Isabel, Colorado. They called when they reached San Isabel and there were four inches of snow there. The boys will go to Conquistador Ski Resort at West Cliff, Colorado. They will spend five days there resting from college.

Linda Bowman of Irving and Barbara Pellet arrived at the Lovette home Saturday for candy making with their mother Mrs. Audilee Lovette.

Vernon Dickson of Sanger and Sam Tipton had dinner Sunday with their aunt and sister Mrs. Bobbie Wylie.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson attended the Eastern Star meeting Tuesday evening at Saint Jo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson attended the Christmas program Sunday evening at the Forestburg Baptist Church. The Phillips then came for a visit with them.

Merry Christmas to all, wishing you peace, joy and happiness throughout the New Year.

Behold, there will come messengers from the East. MATTHEW 2:1

Lawrence Zimmerers relate Missouri trip

Marie and Lawrence Zimmerer of Lindsay have treasured memories of a trip they made several months ago, into the beautiful Meramec Valley Resort Area of Missouri. While there, they visited a number of grottos located in the Ozark foothills, as well as other points of scenic interest, including Missouri's famous cave attractions.

Their particular destination was the Black Madonna Shrine and a series of seven grottos near Eureka, Mo. and Pacific, Mo. and about 35 miles from St. Louis. This area is considered one of Missouri's outstanding showplaces.

The shrine developed from the inspiration and driving force of Brother Bronislaus Luszez, the founder of the Franciscan Missionary Brothers in this country. He was a native of Poland, coming to America in 1927 from the town of Czestochowa, where devotion to Mary, Mother of Jesus, is particularly known under the name of the Black Madonna, patron saint of Poland.

Dating back to Biblical times, the original painting of the Blessed Virgin and Infant Jesus is alleged to have been done by St. Luke, the Evangelist who painted the picture on a tablet made by St. Joseph. The faces are very dark. Legend says that infidels in the fifth century tried unsuccessfully to burn it. The two slashes that appear on the face of the Madonna were put there in 1430 by plunderers who tried to destroy the painting with swords. Reproductions of the paintings always include the slash marks.

When Brother Bronislaus began building the shrine in Missouri in 1938, it was his intention to erect a chapel for worshippers similar to the shrine in Poland. After clearing the land by hand, he built a cedar chapel and hung a picture of the Black Madonna over its altar. People came to pray and admire the shrine.

In 1958, vandals burned the chapel. The altar and shrine now are rebuilt under an open pavilion using rustic stone native to the area. The present painting of the Black Madonna was done in Poland, from the original.

After the shrine was completed, Brother Bronislaus began clearing more sites and building more grottos, including those dedicated to Our Lady of Perpetual Help, St. Joseph, Gethsemani, St. Francis, The Nativity, Assumption and Coronation of Mary, and Our Lady of Sorrows. At the time of his death he had just cleared land for another grotto, Our Lady of Fatima, which he never started. His grottos are unique. Each has glass built into the back to allow light to pass through for effect. Drains were dug around the sides to minimize rain damage. Holes were cut from the top to allow direct sunlight. The grottos are totally handmade by one man.

WE WISH YOU A JOYFUL AND SAFE HOLIDAY SEASON!

As you and your family celebrate during the Holiday Season, we encourage the following wise-energy-use practices:

- ☆ Make sure your tree is placed away from fireplaces, candles, space heaters, electrical appliances and other heat sources that might dry it out, or ignite it.
- ☆ Turn off tree lights overnight or when you're away from home.
- ☆ Keep paper decorations and tinsel away from hot light.

Above all, enjoy this festive time. And, greet the New Year with energy, health and happiness!
